Joshua—"That caught me too—until I noticed it was always the same sock."

A swelled head seldom contains a strong mind.

POTPOURRI

The Glacial Period

The glacial period was that immediately preceding that of man. Ice covered 8,000,000 square miles of the earth's surface sometimes a mile thick. The ice mass was over 2,000 miles long and half as wide, half of which was in North America. The Ohio and Missouri rivers mark its southern boundaries and all of Canada was included.

"Mrs. Jones Had On a Wonderful New Dress"

THE Mrs. Jones we're talking about is the sort of woman who, in spite of only moderate means, is always well dressed . . . whose home is furnished with exquisite, though not extravagant, taste . . . whose table is frequently graced with some appetizing new food product . . . whose housekeeping equipment, kitchen requisites, all seem to have been chosen with rare good judgment.

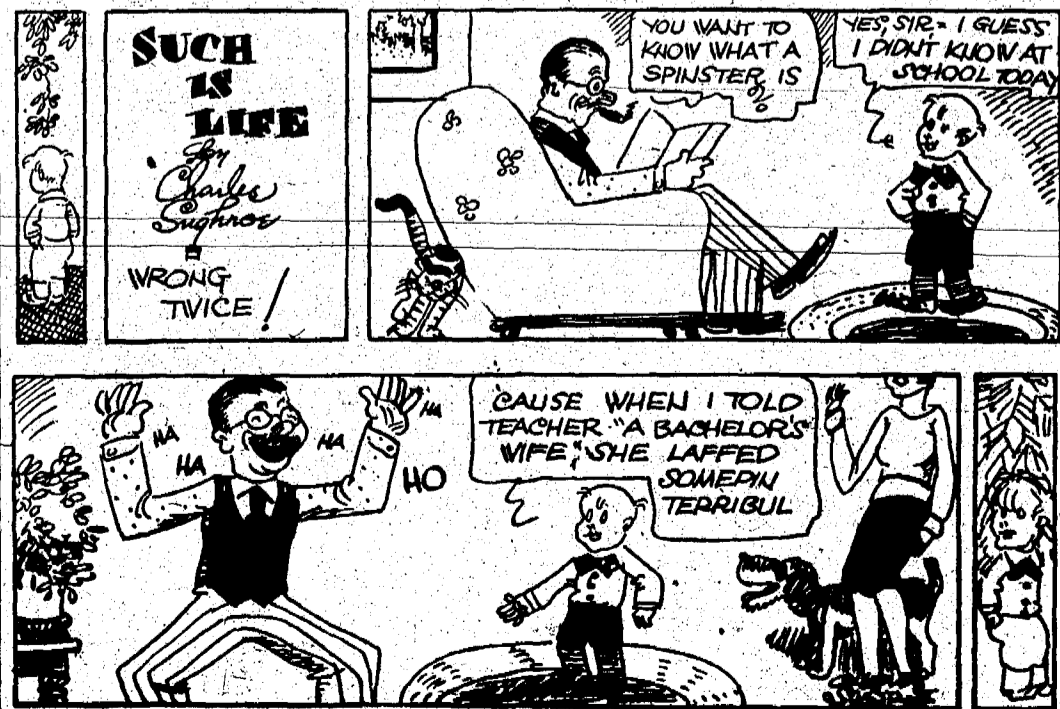

Mrs. Jones is an observant woman. A well-informed woman. A keen judge of values. A careful buyer. She reads the advertisements in her favorite newspaper.

Whatever is new or improved is the realm of merchandise, Mrs. Jones most likely knows all about it. She reads the advertisements.

Whatever store is putting on an unusual sale, Mrs. Jones has probably heard about it. She reads the advertisements.

Are you Mrs. Jones? Or a woman like her?

To get the newest, the best and the most for your money . . . read the advertisements.

WHERE WOMEN ARE LIKE PEARLS—RARE!

ALL aboard for the Balkans! For that's where the millennium has arrived.

Believe it or not, in the Balkans there are more men than women—far more. That means more eligible young men and more husbands than girls who are looking for them!

Not only is there no competition for husbands, but the young men actually pay to get wives. Yes, we have it from absolutely authentic sources in Belgrade that an old Balkan custom still in force under the present conditions of supply and demand is the paying of a "bride-price" by the suitor to the father of the girl whom he wishes to marry.

If news from England about the preponderance of women since the war, and hence the dearth of eligible young men, has been discouraging, let us concentrate on the good news from the Balkans!

And let those young men beware who have the feeling of a rarity and are inclined to be "high hat!" For a girl can always board ship for the Balkans, where she will be properly appreciated!

How interesting it would be to observe the effect of this situation on married life in the Balkans, to see if the value of a wife, as a precious stone, rises in the eyes of her husband in proportion to her rarity. In a situation where for every wife there are three or four wifeless men who are proud to admit, "if you don't want her I want her," it is quite conceivable that every husband would be a good husband!

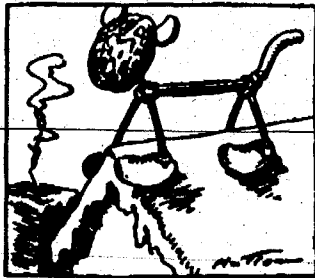

The situation is interesting, to say the least. All aboard for the Balkans. (© 1931, Bell Syndicate.)—WNU Service.

NUTTY NATURAL HISTORY

BY HUGH HUTTON

THE RIDGE-POLE YAMMERKAT

THIS pestiferous creature is found in some of the smaller Holland villages, where it perches in large numbers on the house tops and yammers all night long. In the olden days when storks were plentiful, they would not stand for the racket, and the roofs were cleared of the pests every night by raiding storks. The beast is very hard to exterminate, as it has around nineteen lives, although a direct hit from a Dutchman's shoe will knock out seven or eight of them. The yammerkat never eats, so it cannot be starved out.

The creature, as the picture shows, is as thin as a rail, having a matchstick for a body and a spaghetti tail. The head is a single peanut, with split navy bean ears and popcorn nose. Toothpicks answer for the legs and split lima beans for the feet. The different parts are fastened together with chewing gum.

SCULPTORS

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THEY will not matter such a lot. A year from now, the things to-day.

Alas, we think that they will not. I know that every word we say, Kind or unkind, no matter what, Makes some heart sad or some heart gay, Leaves on some life a bloom or blot.

Yes, day by day we shape our own And others' lives in all we do. We cannot live our lives alone, For you mark me and I mark you. As does the sculptor shape the stone, Our words, our deeds, are shaping, too, The days to come and years unknown.

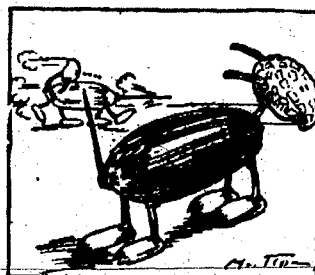

We get our wrinkles one by one, Some made by smiles and more by tears. The good or evil we have done Upon the countenance appears—Alas, not only ours, my son, For all the furrows of the years On others were by us begun. (© 1931, Douglas Malloch.)—WNU Service.

THE AMBIDEXTROUS INDEX

THE index is a special breed of pointer developed by the partridge hunters of Terra Del Fuego. On seeing a partridge, it points in the direction with its tail, and reverses its feet in the same direction. In case the hunter's shells are frozen by the cold winds blowing off Cape Horn, the word of command is given and the index, throwing its head back over its shoulders, dashes off at the quarry and impales him on the sharply pointed tail. As it is more adept in this position, biologists have not been able to determine whether its feet grow backwards or its head and tail have been interchanged.

In any case, there is no doubt that its feet are split peanuts with clove legs. The body is a paper-shell pecan, the head a single peanut, and the neck and ears are cloves. The tail is a highly tempered toothpick, ground down to a fine point.

KEEPING shoes in shape is quite possible without the aid of shoe trees if you buy a pair of kid-covered corset bones. They cost only a few cents. Slip them into your shoes, bending them into shape like a bow. They will keep the leather taut and prevent sagging.

ON MATRIMONIAL AGENCIES

IT MAY surprise you to learn that thousands of Americans each year arrange marriages through agencies by mail. It surprised me to learn that the percentage of success is greater in these unions than among those preceded by the traditional romantic courtship.

That is from an article on "Marriage by Mail" in a current magazine which one of our readers sends us with this question: "Can you imagine marriages between people who know each other only by correspondence turning out more successful than those which take place in the regular way? Can you imagine people who came together because they were looking for some one to marry being happier than those who knew each other before they decided on matrimony? Isn't it ridiculous?"

The longer we live the more we are drawn to the conclusion that anything is possible and hardly anything should be dismissed as "ridiculous."

The author of the article to which our reader refers, after investigating the workings of the so-called matrimonial agencies, tells us that most of their clients seem to be conservative folk, honest and hard-working, usually in isolated places, and that their sincerity in looking for the right kind of life partner is unmistakable.

And if we believe him, dear reader, it is not at all difficult to imagine a large percentage of success. It is just the old story of not-expecting too much. These people, since we are to take the proposition seriously, come together in no rarified atmosphere of romance and illusion. They don't put each other on pedestals and expect of each other what is impossible. They are very seriously and bluntly looking for a life partner, and in that spirit they concentrate, as one does in a business partnership on the qualities that are likely to make a successful partnership. They know what they want, they see without rose-colored glasses, and according to our informant, they get it.

Just a little personal digression. If I may be permitted—to say that for my part I still believe in taking one's chances on marrying in the conventional way and make no recommendation of matrimonial agencies for my readers.

AVIATION AIDED BY MAN NEVER IN SHIP

Contributed More Than Most Famous Flyers.

Washington.—Although John W. Currell, sixty, ex-marine and veteran of two wars, has never flown in an airplane, he has contributed more, perhaps, to the field of aviation than some of the world's famous flyers.

Three new aerial bomb inventions he perfected were submitted recently to Maj. Gen. Samuel Hof, chief of the army ordnance department. All dealt with bombs of a type to be used chiefly against anti-aircraft batteries and airplanes, parked on the ground. These three inventions are the latest of the former enlisted man of the marines, who is regarded as a wizard in his line.

With Marine Corps. While serving with the United States Marine corps in China during the Boxer rebellion in 1900, Currell saw a contingent of Russian troops launch an observation balloon over the city of Tsin-sin.

During the battle he foresaw the advantage of a high powered explosive which could have been dropped from the aircraft, and with the thought was born the idea of the aerial bomb.

After consulting his commanding officer Currell started working on a bomb which in 1911 was accepted by the War department.

The ex-marine began his research in an improvised laboratory at Pekin in 1901, and three years later he was sent to Washington where he obtained patents for the first aircraft weapon to be invented.

Enlisted in Navy. Lack of money forced Currell to abandon his attempts at further invention, and in 1917 he enlisted in the United States navy as a gunner's mate.

He was assigned to the Seamen Gunner's school at the Washington Navy yard by special order of Assistant Secretary Truman E. Newberry and ordered to complete his research in high explosives.

In 1928 Currell had perfected a submarine bomb that was immediately adopted by the navy and used with success in the North sea.

When, in 1919, Currell was honorably discharged from the navy, the Post Office department had under consideration a plan to carry mail by air. The chief objection was that the mail could not be carried by planes at night.

Currell in a few years perfected a system of beacon lights whereby air mail pilots could be guided while flying at night. This system was adopted by the Post Office department, for which Currell was given a congressional vote of thanks.

Story of Hard Summer Told in U. S. Reports

Washington.—It was a long, hard summer, to say the least. Forty states had less than normal rainfall.

Seven of them were drier than they had ever been before. Five others were drier than they had been since 1894.

These figures, telling the story of the 1930 drought, were assembled by the weather bureau for its annual review.

Other figures collected include: Twenty-four states reported temperatures of more than 100 degrees for more than 20 days during the summer. Texas, with 111 days of over 100 degree temperatures, led.

Nine states set new high temperature marks for July. Eight set new records for August.

Arkansas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, West Virginia, Virginia and Maryland set new records for lack of rain. Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania hadn't been so dry since 1894.

Peasants Freed of Debt as Wedding Present

Sofia, Bulgaria.—Instead of sending a wedding present to the king and queen of Bulgaria, a wealthy peasant of Plevna, to whom about 20 villagers owed comparatively large sums of money, decided unconditionally to release them from their debts.

His action was due to his interpretation of King Boris' wish that no money should be spent on gifts to them in view of the hard times throughout the country. His example has been followed by several other peasants.

Engineer Says Mile-High Steel Tower Practical

Pittsburgh.—Not only are our present skyscrapers practical, but a steel tower one mile high is entirely practical from an engineering standpoint, according to Gilbert D. Fish, structural engineer for Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company here. Such a tower would require 19,000 tons of steel, would stand on a base 628 feet square and have four huge main posts supporting it.

ENGLISH

The first year English class is now taking up the study of adjectives. They are learning the great descriptive power of adjectives and we imagine they will be using some of them. Here come the "Freshies."

The second year English class is on the study of that great element in our land, "Conversation." They have been writing up different conversations. We imagine that some of them must be quite interesting if the truth be known. We know the "Soph's."

The fourth year English class is finishing the study of "Modern Poetry." Quite an intense study of Masfield was made during the past week. Many of his poems were brought to class and discussed. Alfred Noyes his contemporary was also discussed and many interesting facts were discovered.

Something New

In Manual Training room Gwendon Hott was asked to get a four foot yard-stick. After some time at the tool cabinet he came back and told the boys he was unsuccessful.

CIVICS

The Civics class has had interesting classes the past few weeks. Some of the important things which they studied are as follows: first, powers and duties of the President; second, powers of appointment, etc.; third, duties of different cabinet members.

They also studied about the Ambassadors of different countries. Some interesting things about them are these:

They must be millionaires in order to hold their job.

Their salary is $17,500 a year.

A few years ago the rent of Ambassador Page's residence in London was $20,000 a year.—Marian Kraemer

GLEE CLUB

Friday, May 1st, the Girls' Glee Club went to Traverse City to compete in the Glee Club Contest for Northern Michigan clubs. Although we had never done anything of that sort before we tied for third place with Elk Rapids. We have now built a foundation which will enable us to have a better club and we hope to do better next year in the Contest.

SPORTS

Great interest is being aroused now in Tennis and drawings for boys Singles have been made. The first round was played with 19 boys and the winners were Claude Lorraine, Francis Votruba, Jason Snyder, Walter Ellis, James Sherman, Gilbert Joyn, Preston Kenny, Robert Kenny, John Vogel, Wm. LaLonde. The scores varied some—6-0; 6-0; 6-3; 6-3, and others. A trophy will be presented to the winner.

There have been no drawings yet for girls Singles, but there will be some soon and the same gold medal or trophy awarded to winners.—Eloise Davis

New Baseball Sensation

Joe Vosmik, the young Cleveland outfielder, who has been the biggest sensation of the major leagues to date. Up from the Cleveland sandlots, this youngster has been hitting brilliantly and also has starred in the field.

State News in Brief

Jackson—John Fogarty, of Jackson, died in Foote Hospital of injuries suffered when high winds blew his car off the road five miles north of Jackson. The car plunged down an embankment and turned over.

Sturgis—Patricia Blough, 6 years old, died of burns suffered when her clothing was ignited while burning rubbish in a furnace at her home several days ago. A year ago the child's brother, Ralph, 2, was scalded to death.

Battle Creek—Carl Rond, 35-year-old theater organist, hanged himself in the City Jail an hour after he had been sentenced to the Michigan State Prison at Jackson for two to five years on a statutory charge. He pleaded guilty before Circuit Judge Blaine W. Hatch.

Saginaw—There will be no wages cuts for Saginaw municipal employes, the council decided. Action was taken when the council filed a resolution by Commissioner John B. Baum for a 20 per cent wage reduction for city employes receiving between $1,500 and $5,000 a year.

Bay City—Decision to operate the Bay City plant of the Columbia Sugar Co. this year has been reached by a group of Bay City men. Operation of the plant is contingent on 15,000 acres of sugar beets being placed under contract. Approval of the plan has been given by the Detroit Trust Co., the receiver.

Lansing—Widows outnumber widowers 2 to 1 in Michigan, according to an analysis of the 1930 census made public in Washington. Widows number 154,241 while the widowers number but 78,749. The census bureau insists, however, that this is common to most states and among all classes of population.

Flint—Tiring of picking flowers along the right-of-way of the Grand Trunk Railway near the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Simmons, George and Billy Simmons began taking rides on freight cars being shunted about by a train crew. George, 4 years old, grasping at a ladder on the side of a car, fell in front of the wheels and was crushed.

Grand Rapids—Health authorities are continuing an investigation of a paralysis of the wrists that has seized a half dozen students in Grand Rapids schools within the last few weeks. Cause of the malady was as much a mystery as it was when the first case was reported. The paralysis is marked by severe cramps in the wrists, followed by a loss of power of controlling the muscles. Authorities believe the effects will be only temporary.

Manistee—A claim for $6,000,000 has been filed in Probate Court here by John H. Rademaker against the estate of his late business associate, Charles F. Ruggles. The claim originated in the Rademaker-Ruggles litigation of 1929. At that time Circuit Judge Hal L. Cutler arranged a settlement but a decree never was drawn up. Probate Judge Frederic H. Stone has ordered that the will, which leaves large sums to charity, be kept open until the case is decided.

Jackson—Because his elder brother had been instructed in life saving methods, Robert Porter, 13 years old, will survive the effects of gas poisoning. When Maxon Porter returned to home from school, he found his younger brother unconscious on the bathroom floor, overcome by gas. He dragged him to a porch and started resuscitation. The victim was responding when two passing motorists noticed the boys and took Robert to Mercy Hospital, where a pulmotor was used.

Mt. Clemens—Bob Fraley and Don Meldrup, of New Baltimore, accidentally uncovered three human skeletons in the sand near the Hubbard Lumber sheds. Fraley was idly poking a stick into the sand when he uncovered a bone about eight inches from the surface. Further digging revealed three skulls and an assortment of bones, browned with age. Through one of the skulls was a cleanly drilled hole that suggested a bullet hole, the only clue as to the circumstances of the death of the trio.

Ann Arbor—Beasts, birds and fish, as well as insects and mollusks and crustaceans, to the number of 242,750 were added to the specimens of the University of Michigan Museum of Zoology during the season of 1929-30, according to the recent report of Director Frederick M. Gaige. Largest among the accessions was that of the Division of Fishes which added 132,500 specimens. Of these, 75,000 were the product of the Asiatic trip of Curator Carl D. Hubbs. Thousands of specimens were presented to Dr. Hubbs by Japanese scientists while he was visiting that country.

No unregistered person shall be allowed to vote at any school election unless such person has qualified under oath under the provisions of law regulating voting in general elections. The first registration of voters shall be made in said district at least 30 days previous to the date of the annual school election as fixed by law, or of any special election that may be ordered or provided by law, such registration to continue until eight o'clock p. m., on the second Saturday, and subsequent registrations shall be made at any time until eight o'clock p. m., second Saturday preceding any election in such district, and whenever the Board of Education may provide for a general registration therein.

The Board of Education may provide for a particular day or days at some particular place or places when any unregistered voter may register, and it may appoint two or more persons who shall act as a board of registration and whenever the Board of Education makes provision for such registration, board of registration shall be in session in the place or places established by the board of education continuously between the hours of three o'clock and eight o'clock in the afternoon on registration days, and such additional hours as the board of education may direct. Dated May 7, A. D. 1931.

CHAS. H. PRAY,
 Secretary of Board of Education.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our dear son, Shirley R. LaCroix, who passed away one year ago—May 6, 1930. Surrounded by friends, we are lonesome, In the midst of pleasures, we are blue; With a smile on our face, but our hearts ache. Longing dear one for you. Mother, Dad and Family.

"Remember that cherry tree you sold me last fall?"
 "Yeah, how is it?"
 "A peach."

"That's a good looking suit you have on, Joe, old boy. Mind giving me the address of your tailor?"
 "Not at all. But only on the condition that you do not tell him mine."

"I say, isn't that a beetle on your trouser cuff?"
 "Can't say. I'm a stranger here myself."

"No, I can't give you an appointment this afternoon; I have 18 cavities to fill," said the dentist as he turned from the telephone and picked up his golf clubs."
