Football Team Scalps Frankfort and Charlevoix

LOCAL TEAM PROVES ITS STRENGTH PAST TEN DAYS.

Frankfort came a week ago Friday with a supposedly strong aggregation, outweighing the locals ten pounds to the man but lacked the punch to hold Cohen's men.

Although heavier and playing on a slippery, muddy field the locals received and marched 70 yards down the field almost through the center of the Frankfort aggregation. The locals seemed to be able to score whenever they took a notion even after most of the substitutes were in the game and Frankfort was pushed all over the lot.

The playing was characterized by line smashes and end runs. LaLonde, Sommerville, Hignite and Heinzelman in the backfield alternated carrying the pigskin. Victor Heinzelman played a stellar game against Frankfort and seems to be improving with every appearance. On the line Martin Sommerville proved to be a tower of strength as also did Frank Sweet and Gilbert Joynt. In fact the local line is very strong. The game was even more one-sided than the score would indicate and that was 27-0. The Frankfort aggregation, Coach and all proved to be good sportsmen as they always have in the past. Their team was simply outclassed and did not seem to be in the condition that would warrant a good battle against the locals. Score by quarters:

East Jordan.....6 7 7 7-27

Referee—Ferezee of Traverse City

H. Linesman—Swafford, W. S. T. C.

Last Saturday the local High School football team took on their friendly but keen rivals at Charlevoix and proved altogether too strong for the resort town boys. Most of the Charlevoix fans did not have much doubt about the results of the game; thinking of course that with the 205 pound Struthers and 190 pound Arvilla, as one of the good sportsmen told the writer, they would run all over East Jordan.

Rather a rude awakening was due Charlevoix fans for a touchdown was made on the second play of the game. East Jordan kicked off to Charlevoix who fumbled and Sweet recovered. LaLonde grabbed a pass from Sommerville and trotted across the Charlevoix goal line. They missed on the play for the extra point. East Jordan kicked off and on the first play, Arvilla was turned in with such a vicious tackle by young Lorraine that he spilled the ball all over the lot. An East Jordan man recovered. It is actually unknown who recovered the ball for there were about three East Jordan men on it when the Referee tried to find it. From that on to the end of the half it was simply a wearing down process on the part of East Jordan who played defensive football entirely, using the fine booting of Sommerville to play the ball almost all the time in Charlevoix's territory. Although Sommerville made long beautiful kicks, the ends, Clark and Lorraine were down stopping the safety man in his tracks time after time. This work caused two or three most costly fumbles in the second half.

The only time that the Charlevoix team showed to any advantage was near the end of the first half and the beginning of the second.

To open the second half East Jordan kicked to Charlevoix. Charlevoix opened by making two nice first downs followed by a beautiful kick over East Jordan's safety man's head putting the ball in East Jordan's territory for the first time in the game. East Jordan immediately kicked the ball down the field, Charlevoix returned, followed by another kick by Sommerville, putting Charlevoix on their own 20 yard line where they were soon stopped and forced to kick. After a couple of plays, Hignite on an end run to the left carried the ball, behind perfect interference, 40 yards for a touchdown. Following five to six feet within the side line all the way with six Charlevoix men in succession taking a dive at him, each missing. Two or three beautiful pivots and hip twisting showed as nice a piece of backfield running as has been seen in northern Michigan in a long time.

Struthers, the back bone of the Charlevoix team was injured and taken out of the game, practically worn out by the vicious tackling and blocking of the locals. The Charlevoix team replaced two or three pretty badly jarred football men by substitutes. This was followed by the substitutions for East Jordan, with the exception of two old veterans, Sommerville and LaLonde.

The last quarter was all East Jordan. Charlevoix was simply worn out and unable to keep up the pace.

REBEC-SWEET POST AND AUXILIARY INSTALL OFFICERS

A good time was reported by all who attended the meeting at the Legion Club rooms Friday night, Oct. 2nd, when some 25 members of the Boyne City Legion were over and installed local officers for the ensuing year. Refreshments was served by the Mess Sergeant and his K. P.'s.

East Jordan Legion members are invited to Boyne City next Monday night.

Following were the officers installed by Rebec-Sweet Post No. 227 and Auxiliary:

Commander—Ole Olson.
Vice Commander—Ed. Kamradt.
Adjutant—Thomas St. Charles.
Finance—Russell Barnett.
Chaplain—Leslie Miles.
Sergeant-at-Arms—Oscar Light.
Welfare Officer—Dr. B. J. Beuker.

Auxiliary
President—Iva Miles.
Vice President—Vera Olson.
Secretary—Mildred St. Charles.
Treasurer—Mrs. Beuker.
Chaplain—Agnis Woodcock.
Mistress-at-Arms—Hilda Bathke.

East Jordan scored two more touchdowns and had a couple more taken away on account of too over anxious linemen. These scores were made on long end runs and passes. LaLonde carrying one over 40 yards, not being touched by a man and Sommerville on a beautiful 30 yard pass trotted over the Charlevoix goal line. The extra points were made by running over the line on end runs. Struthers and Arvilla were the main stays on the Charlevoix team, also their left tackle. For East Jordan it was difficult to pick out any particular star, for a spirit of unity and a smooth working football machine is the answer to the 27-0 score. The whole line showed up very well. The kicking of Sommerville was a feature as was the work in the backfield. Score by quarters:

Although East Jordan won in rather a one-sided manner from Charlevoix, does not mean that they are so strong, rather it may mean that Charlevoix is weak. In fact the local aggregation can not for one minute rest on its laurels so far won, for the real test of their ability will take place when they play at Harbor Springs this Saturday. Then against Gaylord the following week, and possibly against the re-vamped Boyne City team which always puts up a good scrap besides a fighting Mancelona aggregation. Therefore it behooves the locals to keep in condition and keep heads up until after the four above teams are met. As already stated, the real test of the team begins at Harbor Springs followed by the strong Gaylord aggregation. There is not one minute for Coach Cohen's men to decide they are now "pretty good." For no game is won until after it is played.

A large delegation of fans, headed by a fifty piece band goes to Harbor, Saturday. It has been arranged to take the band and a large crowd of rooters. Anyone interested in going to Harbor should call Mr. Roberts, Mr. Cohen, or the School. The students are able to go to Harbor for 25c, grown-ups likely could get by for 35c. The above arrangements are made especially for the championship game at Harbor, for Harbor is still the 1930-31 football champs of the Tip of Michigan Conference. It would be a very fine sight to see the locals take them into camp Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

REPRESENTED COUNTY AT ROAD COM- MISSIONER'S MEET

W. E. Byers, F. H. Wangeman and R. Davis represented Charlevoix County at the unemployment relief conference conducted by the Northern Michigan Road Commissioners Association at the Park Place Hotel in Traverse City, Friday. A survey conducted during the meeting among road officials of the approximately 25 counties that were represented indicated that a third more men will be employed on county road work in Northern Michigan this winter than last, so complete is the co-operation of the county commissions in the unemployment relief campaign. Many counties will advance their contemplated spring and summer road work into the winter. L. A. Burridge, Division Engineer of the State Highway Department at Cadillac, told the meeting that clearing can be done more economically in winter than summer. Other speakers were former Senator William Connelly of Grand Haven and J. W. Hannen of Lansing, Editor of the Magazine Michigan Roads and Airports.

MOSES LALONDE WAS AMONG OUR EARLY SETTLERS

Moses LaLonde passed away at his farm home north of East Jordan in South Arm Township, Saturday night Oct. 3rd, 1931, following a three years' illness from heart trouble.

Mr. LaLonde was a resident of this locality for some 62 years. He was born at Guelph, Ont., May 5, 1855, his parents being Moses and Delena LaLonde. He came to Michigan with his parents at the age of ten years, first locating at Detroit, two years later they moved to Northport and at the age of 14 years came to this locality when it was only a wilderness. On Dec. 5, 1875 he was united in marriage to Mary Roy at Traverse City.

Deceased is survived by his wife and a daughter, Mrs. Frank Russell of Eveline Township. Also by three sisters and two brothers—Mrs. Eliza Roberts and Mrs. Harriet Bush of Detroit; Mrs. C. C. Burnett of Boyne City; Augustus LaLonde of Pentwater, and Thomas LaLonde of Detroit. Also by six grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Mr. LaLonde was of a very kind and patient disposition and will be greatly missed by his family and a large circle of friends and relatives.

Funeral services were held from St. Joseph's Catholic Church Tuesday morning, Oct. 6th, conducted by Fr. Liebek. Interment at Calvary cemetery in this city.

NOTICE!

EAST JORDAN & SOUTHERN RAILROAD COMPANY, hereby gives notice that on September 25, 1931, it filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, D. C., its application for a certificate that the present and future public convenience and necessity permit the abandonment of its railroad which extends from East Jordan to Bellaire, a distance of 18.6 miles, all in Charlevoix and Antrim Counties, Michigan.

PUREBRED RAM TRUCK COMING WEDNESDAY, OCT. 14

For the fourth time in as many years, plans have been made for the Purebred Ram Truck to again visit Charlevoix County. This affords a real opportunity for our sheep raisers to personally see a fine group of rams, to know the points to look for in a proper selection, and to understand real type.

The first meeting will be held at the farm of Bert Lumley, located on the Deer Lake road, three miles south of Boyne City on Wednesday forenoon, Oct. 14th, at 10:00 o'clock fast time. The second meeting will be held at the farm of Ed. Graham, located on Barnard road and about 4 miles south of Charlevoix on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 14th, at 2:00 fast time.

The kind and grade of ram used this fall will determine to a large extent the grade of lambs to be marketed next year, and this in itself will have an important bearing on whether the enterprise of sheep husbandry will show profit or loss. Prices on rams this fall are much lower than last. On the truck you will see rams all the way from $20 and up to around $40, so you will have the opportunity of selecting the kind of ram that you can afford.

Remember the ram is half of your flock and for best results use a good ram. Mark down the dates of these Purebred Ram Truck meetings on your calendar and be sure to attend your nearest meeting on Wednesday, October 14th.

County Agr'l Agent.

Everything Routine in Life of Modern "Bossy"

Golf has crowded the cattle out of the pastures and the cow of tomorrow will be lucky if she ever gets a look at the green fields. The production of milk has been reduced to a very mechanical operation and the cow's life will consist of a ramble, three times a day from her stall to a revolving milking platform and then back to her stall. The animal is kept so immaculately clean that her sisters of the fields would not be able to recognize her. It is the latest method of producing milk and is based on the observations of a group of scientific gentlemen who have given much thought to the subject and the new method has been in operation for a time at one of the plants of a well-known company specializing on super-clean milk for baby's use. It represents a complete revolution of the life of the cow, but the animals soon get used to the routine and are said to like it. The cow is released from her stall and she walks along a tile-coated corridor to a revolving platform which accommodates 50 animals. As the platform revolves the animal is washed and then dried in a current of warm air and given other attentions to secure her perfect sanitary cleanliness and after this she is milked by machinery. By the time the great turntable makes a complete revolution the operation has been completed and the cow is automatically released and she steps from the moving platform and back to her stall. Her drinking water is sterilized and her food is analyzed and electricity supplies a substitute for the deficient sunlight.

Humble Egg Hailed as Foundation of Cookery

The French chef says: "All cookery rests on an egg. The egg is the Atlas that supports the world of gastronomy; the chef is the slave of the fresh egg. What is the masterpiece of French cookery, the dish that outlines all other dishes, the thing that is found on his majesty's table no less than upon the table of the bourgeoisie, the thing that is as French as the Frenchman, and which expresses the spirit of our people as no other food can express it?—the omelette. Could you make an omelette without breaking eggs? Then cast your mind's eye over this extraordinary Monsieur Egg and all his antics and evolutions. Now he permits himself to be boiled plain, and even like that, without frill, he is excellent. Now he consents to appear in all ways from poached to perdu, now he is the soul of a vol-au-vent, now of a sauce; not a pleasure fit to eat but stands by virtue of my lord the egg, and should all the hens in the world commit suicide tomorrow, every chef in France worthy of the name would fall on his sword, for fish is but a course in a dinner, whereas the egg is the cement that holds all the castles of cookery together."—Kansas City Times.

REV. D. T. WILLIAMS WILL GIVE LECTURES AT L. D. S. CHURCH

The Rev. D. T. Williams, a member of the traveling high council of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, will begin a series of lectures on the fundamentals of his faith next Sunday afternoon, Oct. 11th, at 3:00 p. m. This series, six in number, will be delivered on an average of one a month.

Mr. Williams, who is the minister in general charge of all the activities of his institution in Michigan, Wisconsin and northern Indiana, will attempt, says the local pastor, to show the splendid character and organization of the ancient Christian church and to prove the continuance of these qualities in the church of these modern times. He asserts that the cure for the ills now depressing civilization is a matter of the recognition of spiritual values rather than the possession of material advantages.

The Rev. Mr. Williams is one of the outstanding ministers of his organization, says officers of the local church, and will speak on the subjects under consideration with authority. The title of the first lecture is "Adventuring With God."

The East Jordan congregation, through its pastor, Elder Dudley, extends a most cordial invitation to the community to participate in this series of lectures.

Seaman Is Remembered as Rescuer of Crusoe

William Dampier is one of the most extraordinary figures in the story of exploration. He was a great navigator and a great explorer; but he was also a buccannier with a reputation for cruelty. His name is remembered for two reasons. First, because he was undoubtedly the first English seaman to set eyes on Australia and the first explorer to do any hydrographical surveys there. Secondly, while buccannier, he took part in some of the most amazing exploits of the so-called Brethren of the Coast, crossed the Isthmus of Darien and was present at the sacking of Santa Marta. Twice the government sent Dampier to the South seas. The second time he returned poor and ill, wrote a "Vindication," and lived to sail again on the famous voyage that thrilled the world by the rescue of Alexander Selkirk, the sailor who was marooned on Juan Fernandez Island and became immortal as Robinson Crusoe.—Montreal Family Herald.

Chinese Awarded Palm as World's Best Cooks

The best cookery in the world comes from central China. I trust there are few readers who still believe that the chop suey and chow mein concocted by the half-Malay Cantonese for American tastes are Chinese dishes.

The fine flower of the cuisine of the middle empire was cultivated in the regions where the best silk, the most beautiful paintings, the most imperishable ceramics were achieved.

The Chinese kitchen takes precedence over the French because of its exceeding delicacy and its grasp of the chemistry of food. In the preparation of vegetables the former are incomparable.

It was they, for instance, who invented sauerkraut, which came into Germany by way of Russia. But after you have eaten Chinese sauerkraut you will have lost your inclination for any other kind.—Kansas City Times.

Diary Shows Washington as Successful Hunter

Many people are under the impression that George Washington's hunting experiences were confined to foxes in the vicinity of his home in Virginia.

Such is not the case. In the autumn of 1770 he hunted buffalo while on his trip to the Ohio with his friend, Doctor Craik, according to the division of information and publication of the George Washington bicentennial commission. In his diary of November 2 of that year is found this interesting item on buffalo hunting:

"We proceeded up the river (Kanawha) with the canoe about four miles more, and then incamped and went a hunting; killed five buffaloes, and wounded some others, three deer, etc. This country abounds in buffalo and wild game of all kinds as also in all kinds of wild fowl, there being in the bottoms, a great many small grassy ponds or lakes which are full of swans, geese and ducks of different kinds."

It will be observed that Washington modestly refrains from stating how many of the five buffaloes fell from bullets from his rifle.

On New Year's day, 1772, some friends called on Washington at Mount Vernon. Several days later he entertained them with a little hunting trip in the nearby forests which he tells about in his diary in this brief way:

"Went a-hunting with the above gentlemen. Found both a bear and a fox, but not neither."

Altered Laws Face Hunters

WILL COST MORE FOR HUNTING AND FISHING LICENSES.

A set of Conservation laws which materially differ from those of other years face hunters this fall.

By action of the 1931 Legislature, several changes were made in existing statutes, while other laws will remain the same this year as in past seasons. At the request of Gov. Wilber M. Brucker, advances were made in hunting license fees.

Chief among the law alterations is that of the pheasant season. Last year it opened Oct. 25 and closed Oct. 31. This fall the opening date is Oct. 15 and will close 11 days later. The change was made to have the season conform with several others which open the middle of October.

The small game license fee was advanced from $1.25 to $1.75 for resident hunters. The deer license will cost $3.50 this year instead of $2.50 as in past seasons. Fishermen next spring will pay $1.75 to fish for trout, an advance of 75 cents, while it will cost the non-resident angler $4.00 instead of $3.00.

The opening gun of the 1931 season was sounded the first of this month when it became lawful to take ducks. Opening with the duck season was the fox squirrel season in the upper peninsula which runs to Oct. 10; geese and brant; jack snipe and coots; woodcock in the upper peninsula; and Florida gallinules and rails.

Under the law passed by the Legislature the duck season was to remain open until Dec. 15, but federal emergency regulations requires that the season be closed on all migratory waterfowl, including ducks, geese, brant and coots, Oct. 31.

The deer and bear season opens Nov. 15 continuing until Nov. 30, as in former years. One male deer may be taken under a hunter's license and one may be shot for camp purposes.

In the lower peninsula rabbits may be taken Oct. 15 to Jan. 31, while up-state the season opened the first of the month. It is unlawful to shoot black and gray squirrel at any time and fox squirrel can only be taken from Oct. 1 to 10 in the upper peninsula and in the lower from Oct. 15 to 24.

The beaver season is open from Dec. 5 to 20; other fish and martin are protected until 1932; muskrat can be taken in the upper peninsula from Nov. 1 to 30, (in the lower peninsula different locations govern the season.)

The racoon season in the upper peninsula is closed while in the lower they may be shot Nov. 1 to 15; opossum Nov. 1 to Dec. 15; mink, lawful to hunt anytime, but can be trapped only during open season on muskrat; ruffed grouse, Oct. 15 to 26, (season closed up-state.)

Prairie chicken may be hunted from Oct. 15 to 26, north of the line of counties of Kalamazoo, Van Buren, Calhoun, Jackson, Washtenaw and Wayne. Woodcock, Oct. 15 to 26 in the lower peninsula and Oct. 1 to 12, up-state; and Florida gallinules and rails may be taken from Oct. 1 to Nov. 30.

HOME FURNISHING PROJECT LEADERS HOLD SECOND LESSON

The second lesson of the 1931 Home Furnishing Project will be given by Miss Gertrude Reis, Extension Specialist in Home Furnishing, from Michigan State College, at Charlevoix and Boyne City on Oct. 14 and 15 respectively.

The second lesson in the project will deal largely with color in the home. Miss Reis believes that every home can be made more attractive by adding more color. By following a few simple guides, beautiful color combinations may be made that will add beauty to home decorations. Color may be used to conceal conspicuous and ugly furnishings. We take pleasure in harmonious colors because they introduce cheer, interest and restfulness into the home.

Our classes and groups are not filled to capacity so we are anxious to organize additional groups to carry on the work. This work is entirely free of charge and touches the problems of home life that all homemakers are deeply interested in. Notify your County Agent if you think that your community should be taking advantage of this splendid opportunity. Do it at once so that no time will be lost.

Los Angeles Boy Needed Help

Leroy Young, 1110 Georgia St., Los Angeles, is a "regular fellow," active in sports, and at the top in his classes at school. To look at him now, you'd think he never had a day's sickness but his mother says: "When Leroy was just a little fellow, we found his stomach and bowels were weak. He kept suffering from constipation. Nothing he ate agreed with him. He was fretful, feverish and puny."

"When we started giving him California Fig Syrup his condition improved quickly. His constipation and biliousness stopped and he has had no more trouble of that kind. I have since used California Fig Syrup with him for colds and upset spells. He likes it because it tastes so good and I like it because it helps him so wonderfully."

California Fig Syrup has been the trusted standby of mothers for over 50 years. Leading physicians recommend it. It is purely vegetable and works with Nature to regulate, tone and strengthen the stomach and bowels of children so they get full nourishment from their food and waste is eliminated in a normal way. Four million bottles used a year shows how mothers depend on it. Always look for the word "California" on the carton to be sure of getting the genuine.

When PAIN Comes

WHAT many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes the acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips Milk of Magnesia. One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water neutralizes instantly many times that much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

He Knows Old Man River's Every Twist and Turn

IT TAKES a veteran river man to pilot his craft up or down the Mississippi river at any time, and this is especially true when the river is at as low a stage as it is this autumn. Our illustration shows one of the best of the veterans, Capt. George O. Rogers, in the pilot house of the towboat Herbert Hoover, approaching the great Eads bridge. His craft is the largest towboat in the world, is powered with Diesel engines and makes regular trips between St. Louis and New Orleans. Captain Rogers, who is sixty-seven years of age, knows "Old Man River" like a book and can point out every one of its crannies and nooks, some of them dangerous and others safe. He has spent a lifetime learning the Mississippi, but because of its frequent changes of channel his "studies" are never completed. Every trip there may be something new to learn in the way of twists and turns of the mighty stream. Readers of Mark Twain's tales of Mississippi river pilotage will appreciate this.

BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

OLD MAN COYOTE WARNS PETER

PERHAPS you think that when Old Man Coyote just missed catching Peter Rabbit because Peter managed to reach the old bramble-tangle first he lost his temper. That shows that you don't know Old Man Coyote. If Reddy Fox had been in his place very likely Reddy would have lost his temper and finally gone off in a rage. Old Man Coyote did nothing of the kind. No sir, he did nothing of the kind. He just spat out the little tuft of white hair which he had pulled out of the middle of Peter's tail, so near to catching Peter had he been, and then peered in through the bramble and grinned at Peter. If he was disappointed, and of course he was, he didn't show it. And as for being angry, why, there wasn't the least trace of a temper.

"Do You Know, Peter, That It's Bad Business to Meddle in the Affairs of Other Folks?" Continued Old Man Coyote.

"Almost got you, Peter, that time," said he breathing very hard, for he had had a long run. "It's lucky for you you've kept your legs oiled up and haven't let them get rusty." He grinned again, and Peter, panting for breath there in the bramble-tangle, felt almost like grinning back in spite of the fact that he had been so terribly frightened and that he had lost that little bunch of hair right out of the middle of his nose too big tail. "Do you know, Peter, that it's bad business to meddle in the affairs of other folks?" continued Old Man Coyote. "Now tonight you meddled. You warned Honker the goose through Paddy the Beaver and so cheated me out of a good dinner. People who meddle generally get into trouble. You came pretty near furnishing me with that dinner you cheated me out of, Peter; pretty near. One jump more and I'd have had you. You wouldn't have made me as good a dinner as one of those geese but you would have done very well."

Old Man Coyote licked his chops and Peter had a little shivery, crawly feeling all over. "And now I am going to give you fair warning, Peter," went on Old Man Coyote, still grinning, "that unless you get me a goose, a fat one, mind you, to make up for the one you cheated me out of you'll never get back to the dear Old Brier Patch. You see I'm giving you fair warning I must have a goose or I will have you. Now don't you wish you hadn't meddled?" "No," replied Peter bravely enough, though inside his heart sank as he thought of how far away the dear, safe Old Brier Patch was. "I'm glad I did it. If that was meddling it was a good kind of meddling and I'm glad I had the chance and wasn't afraid of it. Of course I am sorry if you are hungry but if you would learn to eat grass and clover and bark and berries as I do you never would need to go hungry. But I'm glad, ever so glad, that I saved those geese and I'd do it again if I had the chance. Perhaps it was bad business for me, but it was good business for them and I'm glad I meddled."

"All right, Peter," replied Old Man Coyote as he turned to trot away. "Remember what I said and get me a fat goose if you want to get back to the dear Old Brier Patch," and with a parting grin he disappeared. "It's a queer world," sighed Peter. "It's certainly a queer world when helping others gets you into trouble yourself. But I'm glad I did it. I am so."

Corduroy Skirts

Some one had a bright idea when she introduced corduroy skirts to wear with pastel suede jackets. They come in white or bisque shades and are beautifully cut and fitted—and they have the great virtue of washing well without needing to be ironed.

FAVORITE RECIPES

HERE is a delicious salad for a bridge luncheon or for a hot Sunday evening supper. Heat two cupsfuls of crushed pineapple, add the juice of a lemon and one cupful of sugar. Stir until dissolved. Soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in one-half cupful of cold water for ten minutes. Add to the hot mixture and cool. When cool and beginning to set, add one cupful of grated American cheese, and one-half point of cream beaten stiff. Mix thoroughly, put into a mold and leave in a cold place to mold. Serve with a mayonnaise dressing to which two tablespoonfuls each of chopped green pepper and celery have been added to a cupful of the dressing.

Mock Pate de Fois Gras.

Put one pound of calf's liver, one pound salt pork, through a food chopper. Beat two eggs until light and fold in one cupful of bread crumbs, one-half cupful of milk, one medium-sized onion finely chopped or grated, four sprigs of parsley, salt and pepper to season. After mixing well turn into a greased pudding dish. Cover tightly and steam four hours. This may be served hot or cold.

Butterscotch Pie.

Take two cupfuls of brown sugar, the yolks of three eggs lightly beaten, four tablespoonfuls of flour, one tablespoonful of butter and cook until thick with two cupfuls of milk, a pinch of salt. Pour into a baked crust and cover with a meringue, using the egg whites and two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Brown in a moderate oven. This makes enough filling for two pies.

Almond Cheese Cakes.

"Briskly beat to lightness beat—Eggs a few; With the eggs so beaten, beat—Nicely strained, for this same use—Lemon Juice. Adding milk of almonds, sweet. With fine pastry dough, rolled flat. After that, Line each little scalloped mold; Round the sides, light-fingered, spread Marmalade; Pour the liquid egggy gold Into each delicious pit; Prison it In the oven—and, by and by, Almond cheese cakes will in gay Blond array Bless your nostril and your eye." —Ragueneau in "Cyrano."

Fresh Lobster Salad.

This is a peerless salad when prepared from a freshly boiled lobster. The lobster should be boiled with a tablespoonful of salt and a few pep-

EQUALITY

Explorer Sets Forth

Sahara as Man's Cradle Upon his return to the United States after an 18,000-mile exploration trip through Africa Dr. Arthur Torrence, Los Angeles explorer, announces his belief that the southern Sahara desert was the cradle of the human race. Not only did he make extensive investigations of the primitive tribes and the geological history of the Sahara, but he claims to have found evidence refuting the Darwinian theory of the origin and perpetuation of new species. While he does not deny that man evolved from a lower type of animal, he thinks this evolution took place in the southern part of the Sahara.

45,000,000 Visit Parks

The state parks of the country, now numbering more than 300, were by no means idle acres last year. Figures gathered by the National Park Service indicate that there were 45,000,000 visitors in the reservations last year, making an average of 15,000 per park. The parks, incidentally, averaged 1,000 acres each although naturally many were much larger and many much smaller.

Tells sister easy way to wash clothes whiter

"I CAN'T understand it, Elsie—a sensible girl like you scrubbing clothes! Change to Rinso, the famous 'no-work' soap. It soaks out dirt—all you need to do is rinse. That saves your strength—saves the clothes, too!"

Rich suds—in washers, too

Even in hardest water, Rinso suds are thick, creamy, lasting. You need no bar soaps, chips or softeners. Cup for cup, Rinso gives twice as much suds as light-weight, puffed-up soaps. These rich suds get clothes so white, even boiling isn't necessary.

The makers of 40 famous washers recommend Rinso. And it's great for dishwashing. Get the BIG package.

MILLIONS USE RINSO in tub, washer and dishpan.

THE STORY

Six bandits hold up the steamer, Midnight Sun, on the Mackenzie, kill Jimmy Montgomery, and escape with gold dust and furs.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued

"Snakes!" Bill breathed to himself, as he thanked Haskell and went out the door.

With no suspicion of the ugly truth, he turned up the twilight slope.

When Whipple came in, Haskell ordered him to close the door and pull down the window, to guard against possible eavesdropping.

"You go down to the river bank now to those two tepees and get that Indian called Ogi-Tomax.

"You and the Indian had watched Bill steal more gas and oil from the stores. They had shadowed him to the temporary cache two miles up the Mackenzie.

He had cached the fuel on a headland called Goose point; and was waiting there without the faintest suspicion that he had been trailed and was being watched.

As Haskell listened to the report, he forgot the haggard day and night just passed. He had scarcely dared hope for such news as this.

After careful thought, guarding against any slip-up, he ordered Whipple: "Go get your rifle and belt-gin. I'll take mine, too.

He and the Indian had watched Bill steal more gas and oil from the stores. They had shadowed him to the temporary cache two miles up the Mackenzie.

After the despatch of their last week's after his helpless festering anger at Baker, it was a new lease on hope to know he was going to smash Baker's venture and throw him into prison and make his marriage to Elizabeth impossible! Baker was walking all unknowingly into a deadly trap.

CHAPTER IX

Wings Over the Wilderness

On that first day of flight, as dawn broke full and the sun chased away a layer of gossamer clouds beneath the White Speedair, Alan looked down with marvelling eyes at a strange panorama.

Knowing that if he and Buzzard showed up at a police post or larger trading center, it would mean a quick and sorry end of their flight, Alan planned to avoid such places religiously.

Eventually he and Buzzard were going to be caught. It was as inevitable as sunset. Soon or late they would have to return to civilization and face the music.

As they worked on north, they made moderately good time, but only by incessant care and worry. Engine trouble caused them delay.

Alan was looking forward to his rendezvous with Bill as the end of all this worry about gas and oil.

With the heavy rains stopped and the insect scourges abating, Alan knew the bandits were on the move again or shortly would be.

He Tried to Look Steadily at His Looming Marriage to Elizabeth.

sides the fuel there at Goose point, Bill had promised to cache some supplies up the Alooska near Joyce's home.

Alan was fervently looking ahead to meeting Bill at En Traverse lake, to getting those precious supplies, to seeing Joyce again there on the Big Alooska.

With Haskell refusing to extend her any protection whatsoever, Alan felt that he and he alone stood between her and a terrible danger.

blankets for a few hours of desperately needed rest.

"Tomorrow's the day of days," Buzzard remarked, thinking of the supplies and a base to maneuver from.

"It's the day of days," Alan agreed, but he was thinking of Joyce running down the path, bareheaded in the sun, to greet them.

Buzzard was asleep almost instantly, but Alan, tossing in a useless attempt to sleep, finally got up, built a tiny fire, and sat beside it, thinking, a dead pipe in his teeth.

As he sat there under the solemn spruces, he tried to look steadily at his looming marriage to Elizabeth, and decide his course.

The prospect of marrying her, when his respect was gone, made Alan wince. And his respect was gone with a vengeance.

Now he was groping to see the honest and righteous thing for him to do. He wondered whether it would be courage, or a weak yielding to desire, for him to break with Elizabeth and sweep aside the obligations binding him.

In the lonely anguish of his thoughts he laid his decision more or less in the hands of time.

Later, when they skirled out to the plane, Buzzard glanced at the tanks and remarked tersely:

"I hope your buddy, this Hardsock, has got some gas and oil out to that lake. It'll be our finish if he hasn't."

"Bill will have it there," Alan assured. "He may not be there himself, he's probably on duty; but we agreed exactly where to cache it. It'll be waiting for us."

They climbed in, taxied twice around the lake to warm the spluttering motor, took off and headed north toward Goose point at Lake En Traverse.

Ever since he came to believe that Dave MacMillan knew nothing of the crime, he had been puzzling about that pack of stolen furs.

Alan reasoned: "Those furs didn't get in that shed by accident. Those men might have had a grudge against Dave MacMillan and planted them there.

Baths of Diocletian

Near the Termini railway station, the visit to Rome will find the famous and immense ruins of the baths of Diocletian. They were constructed by the Emperor Maximianus, A. D. 302, in honor of his colleague Diocletian, and were the largest baths in Rome. They were frequented by the citizens until the sixth century and then neglected, until they fell into decay, some parts being put to other uses, and others buried under constructions. Twenty years ago the hidden ruins were brought to light and the ancient halls and pavements were seen again. It can be recalled that the monks of Certosa received the ruins in 1561 for their monastery and Michelangelo had the task of changing the Tepidarium into the S. Maria degli Angeli.

Capital's Attractions

Every American should at some time visit the National Capital, not necessarily from a patriotic point of view, but because of the historic and educational value of what is to be seen there. The Capitol itself, the senate chamber, the house of representatives, the supreme court room, for instance, The Library of Congress with its 8,000,000 volumes and 50 miles of shelves where may be seen the original of the Declaration of Independence and the original Constitution of the United States. Here, too, are the Smithsonian Institution, the various government bureaus, Washington monument, the War and Navy building—Exchange.

Care for Harness

Every spring before farm work begins, the harness should be taken apart, loose dirt cleaned off, washed thoroughly with warm water and mild soap, hung up until the surface is barely dry, thoroughly oiled with good harness oil, allowed to dry in a warm room, and all excess oil wiped off. It should then be gone over carefully and all rips and breaks carefully sewed with good waxed thread.

Elaborate Fad of a Wealthy Western Man

PROBABLY the most complete miniature village in the United States, this tiny settlement near Denver is a source of much pleasure to its owner and builder, George Turner, millionaire business man of Denver. Several years' time and a large amount of money were spent in bringing the Lilliputian village to completion. It includes beautiful little lakes spanned by bridges, a complete municipal lighting system, miniature residences, store buildings, barber shop, garages, a railroad station, and most of the other establishments to be found in a flourishing town. The buildings are all from four to six feet in height.

Coronation King's Rose and Her Triplets

AN UNUSUAL event took place the other day on the estate of George D. Widener at Chestnut Hills, Pa., when Coronation King's Rose, a blueblooded Jersey cow, gave birth to triplets. Our photograph shows the proud mother and her offspring.

What Do We Care?

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WHAT do you care if skies are gray? Even the best ones get that way. What do you care if gold takes wings? Even the rich man's does such things. What do you care if plans go wrong? Maybe you thought so all along. What do you care (and you do, no doubt), What is all of the care about?

What do you care the most of all? It isn't winter, it can't be fall. What do you care in your heart of hearts? It can't be money, when that departs. What do you care when you care a lot? Not if you have your way or not. What do you care, and I know you do, Just as long as I care for you?

What do you care? For I believe Just as much, though the rest receive. What do you care? Not much endures, But whatever I have is yours. What do you care? You care for me And I for you, as it's plain to see. So it's all right here, and it's all right there, So whatever happens, what do we care?

(©, 1931, Douglas Malloch.)—WNU Service.

Mother's Cook Book

How many a man has dated a new era in his life from the reading of a book. The book exists for us perchance which will explain our miracles and reveal new ones. The at present unutterable things we may find somewhere uttered. These questions which disturb and puzzle and confound us, have in their turn occurred to all wise men; not one has been omitted; and each has answered them, according to his ability, by his words and his life.—Henry Thoreau.

QUICK DESSERT

WHEN nothing seems available for a quick dessert, are crumbled cookies or bits of cake, adding nuts and a few finely cut dates. Serve with Caramel Nut Sauce.

Melt four tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, and one and one-fourth cupfuls of brown sugar and two-thirds of a cupful of corn sirup, boil to a very soft ball stage or to 230 degrees F. Add three-fourths of a cupful of evaporated milk and one-half cupful of pecan meats. The nuts may be omitted when they are used in the pudding itself.

Cookies for picnics should be of the durable variety, which packs well. Bake them any time and pack in a box that may be carried right along to the picnic. These are a kind that will be liked:

Orange Bread.

Mix and sift three cupfuls of flour, six teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, then add one egg beaten, one and one-half cupfuls of milk, three-fourths cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of candied orange peel chopped fine, with the juice and thin rind of an orange. Chop the rind.

Lemon Sirup.

Add the juice of six lemons to the grated rind of one, four cupfuls of sugar and two cupfuls of water. Boil together for ten minutes, cool bottle and place in the ice chest. When serving use one to three tablespoonfuls of the sirup with chipped ice and cold water. This is ever ready lemonade.

FLOORWALKERS-IN-PRINT

SUAVE . . . Courteous . . . inviting you to "Step this way, please," the advertisements in this paper are floorwalkers-in-print. They show you the way to merchandise that serves your needs, and saves your money.

Do you read these advertisements?

Make it a regular habit. Do not skip an advertisement, lest some priceless opportunity be lost. Read even the smallest advertisements and the smallest print. Gems of rare worth are often buried where you have to dig for them! Size alone is not an infallible guide to value.

Read the advertisements in your newspaper, with pencil and paper at hand, to list those things you wish to look up when you start to the stores. It is trite but true, that this method saves time and saves money.

The Old Gardener Says:

RHUBARB is easy to grow in the cellar but does not force very readily until after the first of the year. Strong clumps several years old should be dug. If they are very large, they can be divided and a part of the clump set back into the ground. Rhubarb roots must be frozen solid before they are forced but they make tops quickly after being planted in boxes of earth or set on the cellar bottom with earth piled around them. Sometimes a little bed is made on the floor by setting boards on edge. If the roots are dug with considerable soil adhering to them, very little extra soil will be needed. Forcing the plants in darkness results in a top growth, which is almost white, and which is very palatable. A temperature of from 40 to 60 degrees is required, and a light sprinkling of water must be given from time to time. (Copyright.)—WNU Service.

Americans' Interest in Sleepy Little Sulgrave

There is great charm in the little town of Sulgrave of not more than 400 inhabitants so far from the ways of railroads and modern traffic. It is of old houses of the Tudor times, although there are of course a few modern dwellings. Sulgrave was mentioned in the Domesday book, that earliest record of our Saxon ancestors which William the Conqueror had compiled to show how rich was the land of his conquest. But the town, although greatly interesting to the historian, does not especially concern us until it was purchased by Lawrence Washington when he was twice mayor of Northampton. It has been conclusively proved by recent investigation that this Lawrence Washington was the direct ancestor of George Washington and that Sulgrave manor by right of descent belonged to him. As a gift to cement the hundred years' peace between the two great English-speaking nations it was purchased by the British peace centenary committee in 1914, along with ten acres of land and handed over to the Sulgrave institution to be an active center of work for the furtherance of Anglo-American friendship.—Boston Herald.

Eskimo Women Put Up as Poker Game Stake

Eskimos of the Canadian Arctic along the Thelon river while away the long winter days gambling and it is a more or less common event for a man to gamble his wife or daughters, apart from foxes, rifles and equipment. Corp. H. G. Nichols, reporting to Royal Canadian Mounted Police headquarters at Ottawa, Canada, has this to say: "A native Soodyyalluk, an ex-Utkuhik-Halinguuk, had lost by card playing to another native, Ishnootmata of the Kraimemut, his tent, rifle, ammunition, one dog, deer-skins, snow knife—all his worldly possessions. Upon making inquiries Ishnootmata produced a pack of cards and I discovered that the game played was draw poker. I had these articles returned to the former owner and informed all natives that gambling was wrong and must therefore cease. "It was at this inquiry that I heard of the more serious gambling inland. I am unaware whether polygamy or polyandry exists among any other of the tribes. The exchanging of wives is a more or less common occurrence. The women apparently have no voice in the matter whatever, but merely obey the husband."

Bornholm

For fantastic rock formations on a wild coast, for the most beautiful castle ruins of Denmark, it is useful to journey by water to the rocky Isle of Bornholm, south of Sweden, but belonging to Denmark. For centuries the island belonged to the archbishopric of Lund, and was the cause of many a battle with Danish kings, but since 1658 it has been part of Denmark. Whether you go to the little fishing villages along the coast, or visit its larger towns, such as Ronne, Rø or Nexø, this last being the birthplace of the novelist Nexø, you will find it a delightful place for a holiday. It has fine ethnological and archeological remains, beautiful forests and heather-clad moors which stretch for miles. During the summer the gardens are ablaze with color.—Exchange.

Rome's Downfall

The Roman empire originated after the battle of Actium, B. C. 31, and the decline began with the death of Marcus Aurelius, 180 A. D. Contributing causes through the centuries were the aggressive influx of large numbers of German peoples; hostile advance of the Persians; internal dissension; revolt of the provinces; ingrafting under Hellogabalus of oriental rites and practices, repugnant to the Roman people; a pestilence which lasted 15 years and carried off one-half of the inhabitants of the empire; the invasion of the Goths and Huns, and the final aggression of vandals from Africa. The end of the Roman empire of the West was practically complete by A. D. 476.

Erosion Worse Than Drought

In a year of drought it is hard to remember that in normal seasons there are usually many million-dollar rains, that is, torrential downpours which carry tons of top soil off the farms into the streams and rivers. In some especially rainy years the annual loss is reckoned in millions of tons of good farming land which eventually is carried out to sea. This unhampered erosion is largely due to the denuding of forests at the headwaters of streams, and, too, the farmers generally have done little to prevent heavy washouts in their own fields. The money loss is said to reach $200,000,000 a year.—Exchange

Picturesque Governor

When George Mitchell Troup appeared before the Georgia legislature in 1823, to take the oath of governor, though it was a raw, cold day in November, he wore a round jacket of cotton cloth, a black cassimere vest, yellow nankeen trousers, silk hose, dancing pumps and a large white hat, writes Jane Roberts Smith in the Atlanta Journal. This white hat he held in his hand and gestured with while he made his speech to the legislators. Truly, this erect, virile, red-headed, blue-eyed man with his sideburns and his peculiar attire must have made an unforgettable picture that day.

Real Purpose Served by Cultivating Hobby

If more people had real hobbies there would be fewer cases of nervous breakdown, according to Dr. H. F. Klander, writing in Hygeia, the Health Magazine. Hobbies keep children out of mischief and they relieve the monotony of routine life for adults. It is well to be able to lose oneself for an hour, an evening, or even for a day in something that is not related to the daily tasks, this author believes. A desirable hobby should furnish enjoyment, pleasure and gratification; it should require a minimum of equipment and expense, in Doctor Klander's opinion. Many hobbies may be distinctly educational. Literature, music and astronomy are examples of that type. Physical as well as mental health may be improved by a hobby; sports are of distinct value. Many hobbies are started accidentally without forethought. It is well, however, suggests Doctor Klander, that parents and educators should plan indirectly to guide children in certain desirable interests in order that their leisure time may be wisely spent. Recreation has become a necessity, writes Doctor Klander. The trends of the times indicate that the schools must include more training in the use of leisure time not only for the years that the student is in school but also for the time when he is an adult.

Old Hand-Woven Linen of Marvelous Fineness

Twelve dozen of everything—that was the quantity which the proper continental bride of a century ago received in her trousseau. It sounds lavish, but it was actually common sense, because our great-grandparents had a grand laundering only once every three months! A relic of those brave days appears on special occasions now, in a smart New York home. The linen damask cloth was woven by hand in the days when George Washington was more than a memory, and hand woven so finely that linen experts of today marvel at it. Narrow looms compelled the weavers to make their cloth in two strips, which are sewn together down the middle of the table. An interesting feature of this setting is that the ancient damask creates a background of harmony for the latest silver, whose design identically matches the china.

Coffee in 1634

As to the precise date when coffee was introduced into England, authorities differ, and very little of real value on the subject can be found, wrote Edward R. Emerson in "Beverages, Past and Present." Sir Henry Blount visited Turkey in 1634 and in one of his letters says: "The Turks have a drink called 'cauphe', made of a berry as big as a small bean, dried in a furnace and beat to a powder of a sooty colour, in taste a little bitterish, that they see and drink, hot as may be endured. It is good at all hours of the day, but especially at morning and evening, when to that purpose they entertain themselves two or three hours in 'cauphe-houses,' which, in Turkey, abound more than inns and alehouses with us."

Corn's Many Products

Not much more than half of the great corn crop of the country finds its way to the dining table. The remainder goes to the refineries to be made up into a large variety of materials. These include the "sparklers" which do Fourth of July duty, explosives, face cream, soap, artificial rubber and silk, varnish, tanning extracts, radio batteries, textiles, paper carpet, mullage, salad dressing, sirup, cooking oil, vinegar and milk acids. Some considerable success has attended the manufacture of paper from the stalks, and it is probable that at no distant day a profitable use will be found for the piles of corn stalks which accumulate each year on the farms of this country.

Famous Dinosaur Skeleton

The dinosaur on exhibition at Peabody museum of Yale university is nearly 70 feet long, 16 feet high, and the skeleton weighs six and a half tons. Its estimated weight when alive was between 37 and 40 tons. The specimen was discovered by William Reed in Wyoming in 1881, and the bones were brought to Yale under the direction of Prof. Othniel C. Marsh, whose research resulted in this type's being known as Brontosaurus excelsus. At Yale's bicentennial in 1901 a portion of the skeleton was mounted and exhibited. Lack of space prevented the erection of the rest, which remained in storage. A few years ago the mounting was begun anew, the hall of Peabody being especially constructed to house this one animal.

Cake for Indigestion

Claudius Galenus, commonly known as Galen, was born at Pergamum, Greece, in 130 A. D., and is supposed to have died in Sicily. He was a celebrated philosopher, pharmacist and physician, and was for many centuries the supreme authority in medicine and pharmacy, wrote Charles H. LaWall in "Four Thousand Years of Pharmacy." A bride's cake used at weddings during Galen's time and described by Otto was called "moustacea." It contained aromatics and carminative and was served at weddings to reduce the chances of indigestion caused by the usual over-indulgence on such occasions.

PETER RABBIT THINKS THINGS OVER

PETER RABBIT sat looking over his shoulder mournfully. He was looking at that funny little tail of his, which, since Old Man Coyote had pulled a tuft of hair out of the middle of it, looked funnier than ever. You know that tail always has worried Peter. If Peter ever is envious it is when he sees some one with a beautiful tail. It was bad enough to have nothing but a little white bunch for a tail, and now to have that torn and ragged—oh dear! Peter felt so badly that he almost forgot to be thankful that it was only his tail and not he himself that Old Man Coyote had got hold of. But Peter isn't the kind to worry for very long over things that cannot be helped. "The hair will grow out again and then my tail such as it is, will be as good as ever. Besides, when I am sitting on it no one can see it," thought he.

The Little Stars Looked Down on Him and Winked and Twinkled.

So he stopped worrying about his tail and began to think over the warning Old Man Coyote had given him.

"He says I've got to get him a fat goose to make up for the one I cheated him out of by waking Honker and his followers over there in the pond of Paddy the Beaver or else I never will get back to the dear Old Brier Patch," thought Peter. "He knows very well that I couldn't get him a fat goose if I would and that I wouldn't if I could. It's just his way of telling me that he is bound to get even with me and that he's made up his mind to catch me. Probably he's hiding somewhere along the way to the dear Old Brier Patch this very minute."

"Now, if it were Reddy Fox, I wouldn't mind so much. But Old Man Coyote is so very smart and clever that I'll have to use all my wits to keep out of his way. I could fool Reddy, but I'm not so sure about Old Man Coyote. He knows I can't stay here forever. There isn't enough to eat in this old bramble-tangle. And he knows, too, that I will want to get back to Mrs. Peter. She'll be worried most to death. Peter, you've certainly got yourself into a peck of trouble this night. It won't be safe for you to poke your nose outside of this bramble-tangle, tonight, that's sure. But you're glad you saved those geese even if it did get you into a heap of trouble. Now you've got to think of some way to get out of it."

So Peter made himself as comfortable as possible and settled down to do some hard thinking. The little stars looked down to him and winked and twinkled, which was their way of trying to tell him to keep his courage up. And so the night passed. The little stars winked themselves out and disappeared. The Black Shadows retreated deeper and deeper into the Green Forest until at last the first Jolly Little Sunbeam came stealing along and crept into the old bramble-tangle and kissed Peter on the nose. Day had come and still he had thought of no plan to get safely back to the dear Old Brier Patch. It was time he was there now and little Mrs. Peter would begin to worry.

"Perhaps," thought Peter, "Old Man Coyote was just trying to scare me. Usually he spends the day in his house up in the Old Pasture. But you never can tell what he'll do. I wish I had wings and could fly. I wish—hello! What's Sammy Jay making such a fuss about?"

Peter pricked up his ears and listened. Finally there came to him the harsh voice of Sammy Jay. "Thief! Thief! Thief!" screamed Sammy, and his voice came from over near the edge of the Green Forest. Peter sighed.

"I guess there is nothing to do but to stay right there," he muttered. "Sammy has found Old Man Coyote hiding over there. I know it just as well as if I were there and could see him with my own eyes. Sammy always screams that way when he sees Old Man Coyote. I guess he did mean what he said after all."

That topknot on this animal's fibbert head is a ball from one of the cloves that answer for his feet. The wings, made out of single peanut half shells stuck to his almond body with chewing gum, aren't much good, so a bent pin in his back will help to keep him up. The innocent look on his face just after eating a lutefish is put on with a pen.

Keeping Business Accounts

Business records of some form or other were probably employed in the earliest times in the history of trade and credit. Practically nothing is known, however, of the earliest forms of bookkeeping. From the works of Leonardo da Pisa it appears certain that the merchants of Italy, France and Spain practiced systematic bookkeeping for some time prior to the thirteenth century. We owe the present system of bookkeeping, however, to the Italian traders of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth centuries, particularly the merchants of Genoa, Florence and Venice. In 1404 Luca Pacioli, or Luca di Burgo, a Tuscan friar, published a work which contains a treatise on double-entry bookkeeping. From Italy the system spread to the Netherlands, thence to England and from there to all parts of the world.

WHEN FOOD BURNS

THE really good cook seldom allows food to burn, because careful attention to actual cooking is quite as important in good cooking as combining and mixing ingredients. But once in a while even good cooks have interruptions or distractions that call them from the kitchen at critical moments. Very frequently prompt action will remedy matters even after scorching of food has begun.

If vegetables have burned, do not add water at once. Remove the dish quickly from the fire and then carefully take out any of the vegetables or parts that show no marks of scorch. Lay these in a colander and rinse quickly in running water. If you add water directly to the pan in which they have been scorched you will cause the scorched flavor to be carried by the water to all the vegetables.

Meat that has stuck should be treated in the same way. Sometimes a very slight flavor of scorch can be entirely concealed by judicious use of seasonings and flavors. Curry powder may be added to lamb or other meat to cover up the merest suspicion of scorch. But of course it is always a waste of materials to progress further in the preparation of any food that you know to have any more than the merest suspicion of scorched flavor.

Usually any dish containing milk or flour that is slightly scorched takes on a flavor that cannot be eliminated. It is folly to attempt to remedy matters then.

As for the dish in which food has been burned, it is better not to plunge it at once in cold water. Put it in the sink and fill first with warm or hot water. If cold water is used first it may cause it to crack badly. Let this stand for some time and then scrape out the "largest bits of the burned food, but do not scrape the surface of the utensil. Now add cold water and a teaspoonful or two of washing soda and set it on the stove, allowing it to come slowly to the boil. Remove and let it cool. Now pour out the water and much of the burned food will come with the water. Usually very little additional scouring will be necessary.

Mankind Really Knows Little About the Seas

An outward spinning whirlpool is an oddly added to the long list of unexplained mysteries of the sea, says a bulletin of the National Geographic society. It is half in jest and half in awe that old tars refer to the bounding main as "that old devil sea." In olden days the sea was believed to be peopled with strange monsters which devoured both ships and men. Even today, with all the safeguards and comforts of modern travel, a ship voyage is not without its hazards. Mother Ocean constantly plays new and unexpected tricks because man's knowledge of the sea, for all his centuries of study and experience, is extremely meager.

Explorers and geographers who have been sighing for new lands to conquer may find their best field, paradoxically, in the sea. When it is realized that nearly three-quarters of the surface of the globe consists of water, it is rather remarkable how little we know of the vast surface of the solid sphere which lies under this screen of liquid.

The most impressive thing about the sea is its shallowness as compared with the size of the earth, and its depth as compared with the height of the land. If one were to take a globe six feet in diameter and excavate the deepest trench of the ocean thereon, it would be a bare pinscratch deep—about one-twentieth of an inch.

Royal Soup Calls for Variety of Ingredients

The recipe for the famous "ollo" soup made for the Austrian court "since the time of the Empress Maria Theresa's father" has been printed in Budapest. It is said to have originated in Spain, and the secret was revealed by a pensioned court chef. The stock consisted of veal or ham, mutton, venison and other game roasted in butter and then hotted. Calves' feet and ox feet, turned into jelly, were added, together with white cabbage stewed with smoked and fresh pork, maize seed, chestnuts, lentils, pearl barley and carrots roasted with sugar.

The combination was laid on ice for four hours, so as to remove every trace of grease. Next a bouillon was prepared of beef and veal bones, mushrooms and other vegetables, making a liquid to be cleared by the addition of hashed beef, ox liver and white of egg. The boiling bouillon was strengthened by cooked fowls, ducks, turkey, pigeons, pheasants, goose and wild duck. It took two days and two nights to complete the process.

The last thing done was to drain the concoction through muslin bags. When porcelain jugs were filled, the guests were served in small china cups.—New York Times.

Almost Colorless Ink

There is, however, a certain form of camouflage in which figures and letters are painted on a background of the same color. This is done by coloring the paints with pigments, or mixtures of pigments, which match one another in color but which are of different chemical composition. They match one another because the impression made on the retina of the eye is the combined effect of all of the light rays that are transmitted to it from the painted surface. A piece of colored glass partially analyzes the light by absorbing some of the light rays and letting others through. What gets through to the eye is not the same in both cases, hence the background and the design do not appear the same color.

True Story

An excited foreign gentleman was awaiting the arrival of his first-born in one of our hospitals.

He was so certain it was going to be a boy that he had invited all his friends to an elaborate banquet that evening and had broadcast the joyous news all over town. Thus, when the nurse came to tell him that the arrival was a girl, his rage knew no bounds. Hurdled, he made several telephone calls, cancelling the feast.

Then, summoning the nurse, he announced: "I'm going to get into my automobile and go home. You tell the wife when she's ready to come home to take a street car."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Speed on Railroad Lines

Under special conditions railroad speeds of 90 miles an hour and over were attained more than 23 years ago, for short distances. A train on the Plant system in 1901 made 120 miles an hour on a test run between Fleming and Jacksonville. Among regular scheduled American passenger trains today there are several that average over 50 miles per hour. The World Almanac states that first-class German and French trains now average 50 to 60 miles an hour over long runs. A regular train on the Great Western in England makes 66.3 miles an hour.

Day of Hearty Eating

During the administration of John Quincy Adams, evening assemblies were popular at the homes of congressmen and cabinet members. The parties began at eight o'clock. Promptly at ten o'clock everybody went out on the back porch for "light refreshments." At one end of the table would be a roast ham; at the other a saddle of venison. In between came the wild ducks, and the pastries. And scattered about were cakes and puddings. A large side table held the punch and the madeira.

Hapsburg Jaw and Lip
The Hapsburg jaw with its hanging lips has been traced, by Dr. F. D. Woods, back through eighteen generations to a long-chinned, thick-lipped patriarch of Hapsburg castle, who married a virile woman with a lower lip that touched her chin. Since these two hanging lips came together, the Hapsburgs—in Austria as well as Spain—have transmitted both the hanging lip and protruding jaw to their descendants, particularly to their male progeny.

When Philip the Handsome of Austria married Mad Johanna, daughter of Ferdinand and Isabella, it was his lips and not her thin ones that dominated the dynasty which ended with Alfonso.

Whoever wishes to learn the whole story of the Hapsburg jaw and lip will find it in books on Mendelism.

In certain families, Darwin wrote, some ancestors "have had great power in transmitting their likeness through the male line; for we cannot otherwise understand how the same features should so often be transmitted after marriage with various females as has been the case with the Austrian emperors."

Marquette—Roy Buchanan, lumberjack and dock hand, finally has quit work. Last summer he was notified that his uncle had died and he was an heir. He decided inherited money usually failed to materialize, so he went on with his job at the ore docks. The other day a telegram came telling him he was needed in New York City to settle a $700,000 estate. Buchanan left at once.

Kalamazoo—A hand-wrought key, weighing three pounds, nine ounces, has been discovered by Walter Delanter while excavating in the basement of his cottage at the west end of Austin Lake, south of this city. The key is 9 1/2 inches long. Delanter states he will send the key to the Field Museum in Chicago to learn if possible to what period and nationality it belongs.

Petoskey—Carl O. Weaver Post, American Legion, inaugurated its general welfare department with a plea that farmers having a surplus potato, apple or bean crop give the crop to the Legion, which will harvest and store it for winter use of Emmet County needy families. This is the first Legion effort of its kind in Upper Michigan. Legion dues also may be paid in farm crops and these will go into the welfare department.

Lansing—Funds for the construction of a State police post in Ypsilanti, to replace the headquarters in the Village of Wayne, have been voted by the administrative board. The board allowed $4,000 for a building and will make another appropriation after Oscar G. Olander, commissioner of public safety, has chosen a site. The board also voted $14,000 for the construction of a State police division headquarters building on State Hospital property in Traverse City.

Lansing—Atty. Gen. Paul W. Voorhies upheld the constitutionality of the new law prohibiting the issuance of hunting licenses to violators of the game laws and providing that a deer license cannot be issued to a hunter who has shot another game-seeker. Under this statute, persons who violate the deer laws lose their hunting privileges for three years. The attorney general said game belongs to the State and such regulations are not contrary to the rights of individuals.

Detroit—The official estimate of attendance at the American Legion convention is 202,000. The figures were arrived at as follows: 92,000 in the parade, clocked as they passed the reviewing stand; 35,000, estimated, who did not pass the reviewing stand, dropped out on the line of march, or stood without entering the parade, or were visiting in Canada; 50,000 wives and families of Legionnaires, who did not parade, and 25,000 visitors in the city, attracted by the convention, but having no connection with the Legion.

Ed. St. Charles and Alice Kempton of Muskegon Heights visited over the week end at the home of Thomas St. Charles.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Strong and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Miles are visiting relatives in Lansing this week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Miller and Miss Henrietta Severance of South Haven visited friends in East Jordan over the week end.

J. E. Strong who has spent the summer months here, left last week for Toledo, Ohio to spend the winter with his daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas St. Charles and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kaley and family were recent visitors in Muskegon Heights.

M. E. Ladies Aid will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Nina Bowen, Wednesday, Oct. 14th, at 2 o'clock. This is the annual meeting and all members are urged to attend.

Attention Farmers! If you have anything in the line of produce you cannot sell or use yourself, please notify any member of the American Legion so it can be utilized for those in want. Call phone 18 or 158.—Dr. Beuker, Welfare Officer.

Plymouth—Clifford Smith is recovering from a scalp wound received when a fishing bait cast by David Bolton, a companion, struck his head. A physician removed the hooks.

Quincy—The McKenzie Milling Co. has been ordered on a 24-hour basis, as the result of demands for the concern's products. It is the first time in several years that the plant has operated on full time.

Free Soil—Carving of miniature designs of furniture from cattle bones occupies the time of Anton Alexander, 71 years old, former Grant Township farmer. At the Mason County Fair this fall he exhibited more than 50 models.

Northville—When the Globe Furniture Company closed its doors, bankrupt, it threw Spencer Clark out of employment for the first time in 56 years. He had worked continuously for the company, making church furniture.

Muskegon—Donald Soper, 19 years old, died after an 18 months illness believed to have been due to a football injury while playing as regular guard on the Muskegon High School team two years ago. Soper was also a star weight man on the high school track squad.

Benton Harbor—Herman Witkowske, 34-year-old farmer, is dead here, the 30th victim of 1931 automobile accidents in Berrien County. He drove his automobile, in the darkness, into a wagon loaded with brush, his head being pierced by a branch. He is survived by a widow and four children.

Jackson—Walter Macek, 21, Detroit, was in Foote Hospital here, the toes of his left foot severed when he fell under a Michigan Central passenger train. Macek was en route to Chicago. He told police he stepped to the station platform when the train stopped and some one pushed him as he started to get aboard the car.

Battle Creek—Norman Burlingame, 7 years old, learned what happens when a cartridge is exploded without a gun. Norman placed a shiny new cartridge on a rock and struck it with another rock. "And I had it pointed the other way," he said to the Nichols Hospital physician who removed the bullet from his leg.

Muskegon—As a result of an automobile accident here, Mrs. W. H. McFarland, 55 years old, regained her power of speech lost two years ago when she suffered a stroke. No one was hurt in the accident, but the shock of the collision is believed responsible for Mrs. McFarland's speech recovery. She is the wife of the veteran village clerk of Hart.

French Watchmakers

The French have been watchmakers for many years and have shipped fine watches to all parts of the world, and they have made the claim that the product of that country excels that of any other. The French factories ship parts into Switzerland, where they enter into the manufacture of timepieces accredited to that country. There are about 22,000 watchmakers in France, and nearly all of them are said to represent a high order of workmanship, as they learned the trade in one of several excellent horological schools in that country.

Cities Use Radio in War on Crime

Police Broadcasting Stations Prove Effective.

Washington.—A rapidly increasing use of radio in the nation-wide battle against crime and racketeering is shown by records of the radio commission. These disclose that in the short space of three years twenty large cities and several smaller ones have installed special police broadcasting stations and equipped patrolmen on duty with apparatus enabling them to receive orders from headquarters within a few moments.

The proved value of the radio in facilitating rapid communication and in many cases assisting in the capture of murderers and other criminals whose activities cost the nation hundreds of millions of dollars annually, has prompted thirty additional cities to make preparation for joining in the radio war against crime. Of this latter group, twenty-two hold construction permits for the establishment of radio stations and communication systems.

Finally realizing the importance of drafting the radio for service in the crime war, the radio commission has set aside eight channels especially for police work. The bands are all within a few meters of each other and lie below normal broadcasting channels. In some quarters it is predicted that ultimately so many cities will utilize the radio for police work that it will be possible to evolve a nation-wide network for the broadcasting of police alarms.

The success achieved by police in Chicago and Detroit was largely responsible for the rapidly growing popularity of police broadcasting systems. As far back as 1928 Detroit inaugurated its first broadcasting system, one of the first big ones in the country. To date, Detroit officials credit more than 800 arrests solely to the speed with which radio facilitated broadcasting criminal reports to officers stationed throughout the city and outlying districts.

Chicago's first experiments, initiated by WGN, a newspaper station, were so successful that that city now has three stations.

Cities now covered by police radio stations are Pasadena, Calif., Washington, Chicago, Louisville, Detroit, Minneapolis, Cleveland, Toledo, Rochester, Omaha, Kansas City, Kan., San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Atlanta, Indianapolis, Memphis, St. Louis, Pasadica, N. J., Dallas, Texas, Miami, Fla., Flint, Mich., Cincinnati, West Reading, Pa., Philadelphia, and Buffalo.

One of the most extensive police radio installations is that inaugurated by the state police of Michigan last winter. After a strenuous fight a 5,000-watt transmitter was opened at Lansing last November. All state troopers' headquarters and cars were equipped with apparatus and a signaling system was set in operation.

NEW HEAD OF FIDAC

Edward L. White of New Haven, Conn., is the new president of "Fidac," the inter-allied veterans' federation of which the American Legion is the member society in the United States. Mr. White was a national vice commander of the American Legion in 1928, and is the second American named to head the Fidac. He is a graduate of Yale and served as an officer in the ordnance department during the war.

Wild Life Is Driven Into Open by Drought

Bakersville, Calif.—A shortage of grubs and other succulent dainties to be found under boulders and logs, plus general poor mountain foraging, has caused bears to invade the lowlands, stockmen from the Kernville district complain.

The cattlemen say the bears have raided many pigpens and a number of unoccupied summer cabins.

From Wasco, 25 miles northeast, come reports that coyotes have become so bold as to remain in the open in the daytime and on several occasions have tried to fraternize with dogs.

Several coveys of quail have forsaken the mountains for the outlying districts of Bakersfield, residents have reported, and at Wasco a covey of Japanese pheasants has taken possession of a eucalyptus grove, where food and water is plentiful.

Sultan of Sulu Sits as Filipino Senator

Fez Only Distinguishing Mark of Former Ruler.

Manila, P. I.—A visitor to the Philippine senate these days is quick to mark one member from the rest by a single distinguishing mark—a blue fez.

Otherwise he appears to the casual observer little different from the other senators. He is a sturdy-looking man of sixty-four, who goes about very much as if he knows his business.

This man is Sultan Jamalul Kiram II of Sulu, senator of the Twelfth district, who was a civil ruler in his own right until 1915, when he abdicated, to end a dynasty which existed for more than 500 years.

Gov. Gen. Dwight F. Davis has the privilege of appointing several members of the legislature from regions and provinces where conditions make it difficult to hold elections, and the governor chose the sultan as a senator from Mohammedan Sulu.

The senator is reputed to have had more than 1,000 wives, but he has no children. Also, he is the last in the line of famous sultans whose history was interwoven for centuries in the colorful Moro history of the southern islands.

As a boy Jamalul was a prince, and his elder brother, Badaruddin, was sultan. The latter died in 1882 and Jamalul sought the succession, aided by his mother. A long conflict developed, however, and the Spanish government intruded and named Datu Harun al Raschid of Palawan as sultan of Sulu. He ruled until 1894, but supporters of Jamalul grew so strong that Harun finally returned to Palawan. Meanwhile Jamalul had been a fugitive, but he finally was formally recognized as the sultan in 1894.

In 1915 he abdicated and accepted American sovereignty without reservation, although he continued to hold an extremely important place among his people. Now he has taken another step and become a cog in a democratic government far removed from the traditions of his family.

Berwick, Pa.—Neighbors of G. A. Hilley, farmer at Raven Creek, assisted him in moving a barn 30 miles to a new location.

Hilley's own barn was destroyed by fire. He purchased a barn on the Cressy farm at Millville, 30 miles away. Eighteen of his neighbors joined him in dismantling the Cressy barn, transporting it to the Hilley farm and re-erecting it.

Seven trucks were used in transporting the structure.

The First Presidential Convention

HENRY CLAY

WILLIAM WIRT

ANDREW JACKSON

THEIR GOAL

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

ALTHOUGH the 1832 Presidential campaign is already in the air and it won't be long now until the two major parties will be deciding where they will hold their conventions to select the standard-bearers in next year's race. So it is appropriate at this time to recall that the first Presidential convention was held just 100 years ago and the story of that historic gathering is one of the interesting incidents in our national history which is but little known to most Americans.

Most Americans, no doubt, believe that we have had Presidential-nominating conventions ever since American political parties came into existence and that such a method of selecting candidates was originated by one of the two major parties which have always dominated governmental affairs. But the fact is that neither belief is correct. The republic had been in existence more than four decades and had already chosen six Presidents when this procedure, which was regarded as a startling innovation at the time, came into existence. More than that, it was not the invention of one of the then leading parties but it was brought into being by an obscure organization which played a minor role in one Presidential campaign and then quickly passed out of existence.

Not even the fact that the two leading parties of that period immediately adopted the national convention idea, as have all later parties, until now it is an essential part of the American political scheme, has been sufficient to keep alive the memory of the Anti-Masonic party, a religious-political phenomenon, which in September 1831 held in Baltimore, Md., the first authentic national Presidential nominating convention. And to round out the paradox of this historic incident which is filled with paradoxes, it should be recorded that the nominee of the Anti-Masonic party was himself a Mason!

It is probable that a national nominating convention would have come about eventually in the process of American political evolution, even if there had never been an Anti-Masonic party. But it so happened that this organization came on the scene at a time when the growth of the Democratic spirit in the American people was rising to a high tide and the dissatisfaction with the previous method of choosing Presidential candidates had reached its peak. So whether by design or by chance, this party responded to a popular demand with a new and acceptable method and thus gets the credit for inaugurating a custom which is a milestone in American political history.

During the first two decades of our history as a nation, it became the practice for each party to hold a congressional caucus and nominate candidates for President and vice president.

But gradually the caucus grew into disfavor. The dictum of the party members of congress was not always accepted by everybody. In 1808 two powerful competitors for the succession to Jefferson appeared—Madison and Monroe—and both were put forward by state legislative caucuses in Virginia. The congressional caucus decided in favor of Madison. Several members of congress who did not favor Madison appealed to the country, not only against the regularity of the procedure, but against the caucus system itself. But the caucus won out in that instance, and Madison was elected President.

Though the congressional caucus continued to make presidential nominations until 1824 "King Caucus," as it was now called, continued to be regarded with more and more disfavor. In 1824, William H. Crawford of Georgia was the caucus nominee of the Republican party, but the rank and file of the party refused to accept him, and he came out third in the list of candidates in the election. So "King Caucus" was dethroned and Democratic America was ready for a new and more representative method of choosing its candidates for President. This was furnished by the Anti-Masonic party which was brought into being by the following events:

In 1824 a certain William Morgan settled in Batavia, N. Y. He had been a Mason but, becoming dissatisfied with the fraternity, he published a book which purported to reveal the secrets of the order. In 1826 Morgan disappeared and the rumor was started that he had been abducted and murdered by the Masons. There was no proof that they had anything to do with his disappearance but the incident was capitalized upon by enemies of the order and through New York, New England and Pennsylvania spread the suspicion that the order, whose membership was mainly from the wealthier classes, was a secret political society as well as a fraternal order whose influence swayed juries and legislatures. So America had a first class "menace" to get excited over and the politicians were quick to seize upon it to promote their own ambitions. The result was the formation of the Anti-Masonic party at a national convention held in Philadelphia in September, 1830, attended by 96 delegates from 10 states. There it was decided to hold a national nominating convention the next year.

Of this party Prof. William O. Lynch in his book "Fifty Years of Party Warfare, 1789-1837," published recently by the Bobbs Merrill company, writes: "The Anti-Masonic strength was greatest in the East. The movement made little headway in the West, save Ohio, and was weak in the South. In the New England states, New York and Pennsylvania the number of Anti-Masons was great. The strongest leaders appeared in these commonwealths. Among the political leaders who had some prominence in the Anti-Masonic party were: William H. Seward, Thurlow Weed, Millard Fillmore, Albert H. Tracy, Francis Granger, John Crary and Frederick Whittlesey of New York; Thaddeus Stevens and Richard Rush of Pennsylvania; Edward Everett and John Quincy Adams of Massachusetts. Other leaders who looked with favor on the party were William Wirt, John Marshall, John C. Calhoun, John McLean and Daniel Webster."

Andrew Jackson, who was then President, was a Mason and seemed certain of re-election unless some strong combination could be formed against him. So an effort was made to induce Henry Clay to lead the new party, or at least to unite the Anti-Masons with the wing of the National Republican party, of which he was the leader, under his banner. The only trouble with this effort was that Clay himself was a Mason and although he was not an enthusiastic member of the order the efforts to get him to renounce it failed.

In September, 1831, Clay wrote a letter in reply to a committee of Anti-Masons in Indiana who had asked him for his sentiments on Masonry, which may possibly have vitally affected his political fortunes and kept him from realizing his fondest ambition of going to the White House. In this letter Clay said that should he give his views on Masonry it would imply that individual sentiments on the subject formed a proper consideration in regard to voting for persons to fill federal offices. He declared that Americans should vote for President without regard to religious, social, benevolent or literary associations. Further than that, he made a statement which was a criticism of Anti-Masonry when he said "If indeed you, gentlemen, will point to a provision in the Federal Constitution which can legitimately be made to operate upon the subject in question, I would not hesitate to comply with your request."

This was a definite turn-down for the Anti-Masons and years later Thurlow Weed declared that, if Clay had not written this letter, the Anti-Masons would have joined the National Republicans and would have defeated Jackson. Such a combination, he declared, would have given Clay New York, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Georgia, North Carolina and Louisiana in addition to the states that he did carry, enough to have insured him a safe majority in the electoral votes.

Turning to their next best bet, the Anti-Masons picked upon William Wirt of Maryland as their choice. Wirt had been one of the attorneys who had prosecuted Aaron Burr for treason, had served as attorney-general in the cabinets of both Madison and Monroe and was widely regarded as an able and outstanding man. So when the first national nominating convention ever held in the United States assembled in the old Athenaeum in Baltimore in September, 1831, it selected Wirt as its choice for candidate for President and named Amos Ellmaker of Pennsylvania as his running mate, for vice president. And this despite the fact that Wirt was a Mason of many years standing and had never renounced his allegiance to that order!

His letter of acceptance has often been cited as a "practical renunciation" of Masonry but it was far from that. In it he said in substance that both in conversation and in letters to friends, he had spoken of the contentions over Masonry as a subject more fit for farce than tragedy and "had been grieved at seeing some of my friends involved in what appeared to me such a wild and unjust persecution against so harmless an institution as Freemasonry."

The candidate of the Anti-Masons then admitted his ideas upon the subject had undergone some modification, however, and that he did find some cause for alarm in the actions of "overzealous members of the order." Concerning the new party he was asked to lead, Wirt wrote, after describing his own affiliation with Masonry extending over a period of 30 years:

"I had supposed that the very principles of your union was a war of indiscriminate proscription against all persons throughout the United States who had ever borne the name of Mason; that you would put in nomination no persons who had ever been a Mason and who would not moreover pledge himself to become a party to such a war of indiscriminate extermination and wield the appointing power of the office under your dictation; who would not, in short, become the President of your party instead of being the President of the United States. I am happy to find that this is an error."

This attitude of their candidate was far from satisfactory to the more earnest of the Anti-Masons and they became even more dissatisfied when the campaign got under way. For Wirt made no attempt to carry on an active campaign. How plainly he felt that an unpleasant job had been "wished off on him" and that there was no hope of his being elected is shown by a letter which he wrote to Judge Carr, an intimate friend. In it he said:

"I had thought I had no right to object to the Anti-Masons proposing me to the consideration of the people for the office of President. Every other chance of uniting the opposition (to Jackson) had vanished. This alone remained and, faint as it was, I considered it my duty to permit the offer to be made. It has been made. . . . The National Republicans have declared against the union, which alone I had in view, I can perceive neither dignity nor decency in continuing the nomination."

"It is true that when I accepted the nomination I knew that this state of things might arise. But it is not true that I knew, if it should arise, the anti-Masons would still persist in the nomination. It never entered into my imagination that they could wish to do so vain and foolish a thing. What end can it answer to themselves? It will only expose their weakness. They cannot carry a single state, except, perhaps, Vermont. . . . In such circumstances what a figure will they and their candidate make in a Presidential contest. It will annihilate them and me, too, by the mere force of ridicule."

He was a true prophet. Not only did Clay fail to beat Jackson, as Wirt had hoped, but, as he had also predicted, Vermont, with its seven electoral votes, was the only state carried by the anti-Masons. Even John Floyd of Georgia, who ran as an independent, did better than that. He got 11 electoral votes. After the election of 1832 this party disappeared from the national scene. Most of its members were absorbed by the Whigs, although in Pennsylvania it continued its identity for several years and elected a governor in 1835. But even though it played such a small part on the American political stage, the anti-Masonic party and its standard-bearer, William Wirt, are deserving of remembrance as the party which gave to the country the national convention system.

Lesson for October 11

PAUL IN PHILIPPI

GOLDEN TEXT—Rejoice in the Lord always: and again I say, Rejoice.
LESSON TEXT—Acts 16:16-40; Phil. 4:4-9.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul in Prison.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul in Prison.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Jailer Led Captive.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Initial Victories in Europe.

I. Paul and Silas in Jail (vv. 16-26).

1. The occasion (vv. 16-24) As the missionaries went out from day to day to the place of prayer they were accosted by a young woman possessed by a spirit of divination. She was owned by a syndicate of men who derived large gain from her soothsaying. Her utterances as she followed the missionaries became a great annoyance to Paul who in the name of Jesus Christ commanded the evil spirit to come out of her. The evil spirit immediately obeyed Paul's command. When the demon was cast out the supernatural power of the maid was gone. Therefore, the source of revenue was at an end, and this so exasperated her owners that they brought Paul and Silas before the magistrates on a false charge.

Without any opportunity to defend themselves, Paul and Silas were stripped and beaten by the angry mob and then remanded to jail where they were made fast by stocks.

2. Their behavior in jail (v. 25). They prayed and sang hymns to God. It seems quite natural that they should pray under such circumstances, but to sing hymns is astonishing to all who have not come into the possession of the grace of God in Jesus Christ. Even with their backs lacerated and smarting, with their feet fast in the stocks, compelling the most painful attitude in the dungeon darkness of the inner prison with extreme uncertainty before them, their hearts went up to God in gratitude.

3. Their deliverance (v. 26). The Lord wrought deliverance by sending a great earthquake which opened the prison doors and removed the chains from off their hands. The earthquake cannot be explained on natural grounds. Earthquakes do not throw bolted doors open and unclasp fetters from men's hands.

II. The Conversion of the Jailer (vv. 27-34).

The jailer's sympathy did not go out very far for the prisoners, for as soon as they were made secure he went to sleep. Being suddenly aroused from slumber by the earthquake, he was about to kill himself, whereupon Paul assured him that the prisoners were all safe. What he had heard of their preaching, and now what he experienced caused him to come as a humble inquirer after salvation. He was convicted of sin and felt the need of a Savior. Paul clearly pointed out the way to be saved. He said, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ." The word "believe" means "to trust and fully obey."

The following facts prove that the jailer was saved:

1. Transformation from brutality to tenderness (v. 33). He who a little while ago could with impunity lay on the cruel lashes is now disposed to dress the wounds of the prisoners.
2. Confession of Christ in baptism (v. 33). Those who have experienced the saving grace of God are willing to confess their faith in Christ under all circumstances.
3. He set meat before them (v. 34).
4. His whole household was baptized (v. 33). When a man's family is willing to follow him, you may be sure that his conversion is genuine.

III. The Magistrates Humbled (vv. 35-40).

1. The prisoners ordered released (vv. 35, 36). The earthquake brought fear upon the magistrates and thus moved them to release the prisoners.
2. Paul's refusal to go (v. 37). The ground of his refusal was that their rights as Roman citizens had been violated. They demanded public vindication. The magistrates were guilty of serious offense. Paul was willing to suffer for Christ's sake, but he used the occasion to show them that persecuting men who preached the gospel was an offense against the law of God and man.
3. Brought out of prison by the officers (vv. 38, 39).
4. Returned to the house of Lydia (v. 40). Upon their public vindication, Paul and Silas left the prison and entered the house of Lydia. After ministering comfort to the brethren, they took their departure.

IV. Always Rejoicing (Phil. 4:4-9). The presence of the Lord Jesus Christ gives such peace that singing God's praises is possible even in prison.

DAIRY FACTS

CATTLE LICE TAKE HEAVY DAIRY TOLL

Eradicate the Pest Before Heavy Infestation.

Cattle lice, which run up a heavy toll in the form of reduced milk yields and slackened gains, are likely to be more troublesome this winter than usual, according to a report to the University of Illinois by an assistant entomologist of the Illinois state natural history survey. There has been a gradual increase in louse population on dairy animals and other stock in the past two years, owing largely to lack of proper control measures. Fortunately, the lice are not hard to eradicate until a heavy infestation is allowed to develop.

From the standpoint of cheapness, availability and effectiveness the best treatment is raw linseed oil. Boiled or refined linseed oil is likely to injure the skin and should not be used. The oil may be applied with a handbrush or in the case of short-haired animals, with a wad of cloth. A brush having uneven bristles is best adapted to this work. A second treatment should be given two weeks following the first and then monthly applications should be made until spring. The oil should not be applied too vigorously but enough should be put on to reach the skin. It is a good plan to keep treated animals out of the sun for a day.

Time and Work Saved by Use of Milking Machine

The man labor used in caring for dairy cows in Nevada varies all the way from 81 hours to 250 hours a year for each cow, as indicated by detailed farm records secured by the experiment station of that state. The average chore time for herds which were machine milked was 106 hours as against 141 hours for all herds of 15 or more cows, milked by hand. The average time required in all hand-milked herds—which on the whole had fewer cows than the machine-milked herds—was 151 hours, which showed that where labor-saving equipment was not available labor costs were higher. For a 25-cow herd, a milking machine will make a net saving in labor of $290 each year according to this experiment station. This calculation assumes that labor is valued at 40 cents an hour and allows an expense of $60 annually for the machine.

Fall Calving

Fall calving is here. It brings certain problems that need unrelenting attention. The act of bearing young requires great sacrifices on the part of mothers. It brings about rapid and extreme changes in the physical body of the mother. Instinctively the mother is willing to make extreme sacrifice for her young. She is not always physically fit or capable of doing so.

Heifers calving for the first time should be watched carefully as they approach calving. Breeding dates are essential. Most heifers will bring their calves along without help. What they need is clean, sanitary surroundings, the right feeding before and after calving, and some attention to their udders. Heifers that need help in calving should not be denied the advantage of the help of one who understands what to do and how best to do it.

Warm the Drinking Water

Water which has had the chill removed from it will be consumed more readily by dairy cows in winter and will cause heavier milk production, according to C. A. Smith, Colorado State college.

"Every 100 pounds of milk contains 87 pounds of water. In order to produce the maximum quantity of milk a cow must consume large amounts of water," Smith says. "It has been found that producing cows consume much more water than dry cows. They will not drink much water when they have to break the ice, but drink large quantities of water if the chill is removed. A small tank heater will do the work at a very small cost."

DAIRY NOTES

Whole milk will be delivered daily or twice a day while cream will likely be delivered just two or three times a week. Every 48 hours is better unless conditions for holding are very good.

Continuous testing for production in dairy herds provides the only means of intelligently weeding out poor cows and improving the milking ability of the herd. This is especially important when prices are low.

By culling and breeding stock, dairymen of California increased butterfat production from 186 to 265 pounds a year.

Only comfortable cows can do justice to themselves at the milk pail. As far as possible flies must be controlled.

It has been found that cows that have the individual water cups in their stalls produce more milk than those that just get their water morning and evening.

EXHIBIT OCT. 22-23 IN GYM

Owing to the fact there will be no fair here this year plans are being made for an exhibit to be held in the High School Auditorium of canned goods, sewing, things made by the Manual Arts Department, and Agriculture products. The Agriculture department will also feature displays of diseases of fruits and farm crops, and their control.

County 4-H Club projects will be held at that time too. This event is being advertised early so everyone can be sure to come. It will be very much worth while. Further information will be given later.

YELL LEADER

Last week election for Yell Leader was held. Robert Joynt received 114 votes which makes him the Yell Leader for the year. Dorothy Best received 82 votes, which was second highest.

WEST SIDE

Ball Game

The boys in the fourth and fifth grades are having a ball game. The boys who come in on the bus will compose one team, and their opponents will be the boys from town.

"A" Students in Spelling

Students who got "A" in Spelling all last week are: Robert Morford, Lucinda Moore, Marion Hudkins, Anna Nelson, Jean Carney, Glen Gee, Helen Nicholls and David Hignite.

—Gwen Malpass

ENGLISH

Freshman

The Freshmen have been busy for the past week on written and oral composition. This week they have turned to grammar and are working on sentences.

Sophomores

The Sophomores are still in the poet sphere. At present they are studying Holmes, Longfellow, Lowell.

Seniors

The Seniors are now studying the Elizabethan period, and they find that the nearer they come to our own times the more interesting it becomes. We are saying that they have something to look forward to.

JUNIOR PLAY

Millionaires are lacking at present we find. So are dollars and nickles and dimes. So folks, save your pennies to pay your fare. To see the Juniors' "Millionaire."

—Margaret Bayliss

Eighth Grade

Eighth grade English students are taking inventory of grammatical forms which they had last year to prepare them for the work of this year.

—Helen Kotovich

ASSEMBLY

Last Wednesday morning we had an Assembly in which Paul Sutton of Central Lake sang. The first number was "Over the Summer Sea," when translated in Italian meant Woman is Fickle. He also sang another number accompanied by Miss Clark. The audience was so enthused over them they clapped for an encore, but seeing Mr. Sutton had not practiced any more with the accompanist, he sang a love song entitled "When Apples Grow on a Lilac Tree."

Mr. Duncanson then gave us a talk about the football game at Charlevoix. The Charlevoix team thought they would have an easy time of winning from East Jordan.

—Eloise Davis

THE ELEVEN DEFEAT CHARLEVOIX.

Saturday, our Football team went to Charlevoix to play against the Charlevoix team. The local team proved to be the better than the other team, whose men were twice the size of ours.

The game was very well played from beginning to end when the final score was 27 to 0.

The locals have proved themselves a very good team so far this year, winning all three of the games.

We are hoping for a large crowd of boosters to be back of the team at Harbor this Saturday, and the boys will do their part if the school will do theirs.

—Eloise Davis

SEVENTH GRADE

The Seventh grade History class is studying about "The Discovery of America," and the life of many of the explorers, such as Columbus, Cabot and Ponce De Leon.

The Eighth grade class is studying Andrew Jackson and of his administration, they find this very interesting.

The Seventh grade Geography class are studying about the British Isles.

Mr. Cohen is up to his usual hobby and is teaching the seventh grade boys the fundamental principals of football and is trying to arouse the spirit in their minds so when they get in High School they will be so enthused over it they will go out for a good time and wholesome fun.

—Eloise Davis

SENIORS ENJOYED PARTY

The Seniors entertained themselves at the Three Bell Schoolhouse, Sept. 30th. Did they have a good time, ask them. All danced to the tune of the old wheezy organs as the victrolas sounded in the distance. Such a scramble there was when the last call for lunch was heard above the music. Miss Brown chaperoned the party and also ate her share of the hamburger sandwiches.

—Phyllis Woerful

Seventh Grade

The seventh grade class are studying about the British Isles and find it very interesting. In English they have been describing different birds of Michigan. In their History class they are reviewing the Spanish men who explored some part of North America.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

The Commercial Club is giving it's first entertainment in Assembly, Oct. 14th, at 1:15. The program will consist of a one-act play—"That Awful Play" and a few musical numbers. The public is cordially invited. Price of admission is 5c and 10c.

JUNIOR PLAY

The Cast of the Junior play, "The Millionaire" has been chosen and play practice will begin soon. The play is one of the higher class of plays, thus insuring a better play in every way.

—Phyllis Woerful

GRADES

First Grade—They have new health pictures in their room. They also have autumn leaves and squirrels as a part of their decoration.

Second Grade—The Michigan Children's Health Fund has been sending a Dentist around to different schools to inspect children's teeth. They visited us this week.

Third Grade—A pupae which they watched for a long time hatched into a butterfly over the week end. They are watching another pupae which will probably hatch soon.

Fourth Grade—They are learning some poems in Language which they find very interesting.

Fifth Grade—We are taking a trip around the world. Each row represents a plane. The cities that are being visited are New York, London, Paris, Rome, Cairo, Hongkong, Tokyo, Nome, San Francisco and Chicago. The row which receives the highest mark in spelling for the week reaches the city first. We are collecting pictures and reading things of interest about the cities.

During recess the boys and girls have relays and other games which we enjoy very much.

We have started a search for Roman numerals. We are studying them now.

We are beginning the study of North America.

We are learning two part songs this year in Music. Some of them are "The Circus Parade, See My Kite, Old Daddy Crow.

Section II—Last week we received our report cards and we were quite pleased to have the following people on our honor roll—Helen Burbank, Edmund Premoe, Faith Gidley, Jean Stroebel, Shirley Bulow, Artie Houtman and LaVera Trumpour. We hope to see more of our names here next month.

We are starting a collection for nature study and before long shall be regular biologists.

—Marian Kraemer

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation of the many acts of kindness extended by friends and neighbors during the illness and death of Mrs. Mose LaLonde. Also for the many beautiful flowers that were such a comfort during his illness.

"Like a Battle"

"It was my first engagement. The road from the front was horribly new to me. Our assailants, who outnumbered us 20 to 1, were yelling like fiends, and their ammunition seemed unlimited. I was struck several times. My company, which had stood gallantly till now, turned and fled. It was more than flesh and blood could stand. The—"

"What battle did you say it was?" asked the man next to him.

"Who said anything about a battle?" replied the first speaker in a surprised tone. "I was describing my first appearance as Hamlet in an amateur theatrical society."—Exchange.

Excitement

The two hikers sat down outside the old country inn and surveyed their surroundings.

"Well, here we are, right off the beaten track," said one. "No sign of any traffic or traffic congestion."

The village constable emerged from the inn door at that moment and overheard the conversation.

"Oh, I dunno," he chimed in, "only last week we had a bit of a collision."

"Oh, and what was that?" asked one of the hikers.

"It was between old Parker's wheel-chair and the postmistress' tricycle," the constable proudly informed them.

State News in Brief

Pontiac—Strangled to death when her, scart caught in an electric wringer, the body of Mrs. Hattie Thompson, 65 years old, was found in her home. James Thompson, her husband, said the wringer was turning when he found his wife.

Lansing—Atty. General Paul W. Voorhies received notice that the Interstate Commerce Commission will hold a hearing, Oct. 15, in Detroit, on the State's petition that railroads be operated on Eastern Standard time, in view of the new law making eastern time legal throughout Michigan.

St. Ignace—Officials of the Hiawatha Sportsmen's Club, owners of 44,000 acres of private fishing and hunting grounds in Mackinac County, have asked that beaver trapping be prohibited on their property this coming year. In all probability this will be granted, even though the property is unenclosed.

Algonac—For the third time in the last five years, expansion has made it necessary to add to the Chris-Craft Marine Motor Co. plant. The building with 77,000 square feet of floor space now under construction will house a new administration division and show room. The structure will be completed in 60 days.

Bay City—Twenty-one times in the past several years Lawrence Angstman, local bowler, missed a 300 score by one frame. Recently, for the first time in his life, he scored the 12 straight strikes for the third perfect game ever rolled in Bay City. Angstman at one time pitched for teams in the Mint, Three-Eye and Blue Grass baseball leagues.

Midland—Traveling 7,000 miles for $18.50 is the record of Lovell Eastman, 20 years old, who went to California this summer. He made the trip by hitch-hiking in two and a half weeks. He took 10 days going out by way of the Santa Fe Trail and came back in seven days over the Lincoln Highway. The rest of the month he was en route, was spent visiting relatives.

Port Huron—Love may laugh at locksmiths, but it is not so facetious about gunsmiths, James Howarth, 19 years old, of Flint, discovered. He came to Port Huron to see a 15-year-old girl and confided to a friend that he brought a .38 caliber revolver along because he thought the parents might object to an elopement. The friend told officers and Howarth went to jail.

Charlotte—A quantity of large, old-fashioned currency was obtained by the Government when officers took George Conter, of Delta Township, into custody. Neighbors reported the aged man was in need of medical attention. When he was searched officers found 68 old $20 bills and 25 $10 bills in his clothing. He was sent to a Lansing hospital and the money was put in a bank.

Monroe—The Government is experimenting in a dozen farm products on a farm one mile south of Monroe along the Laplaine Road. It was learned here. Included is a beautiful patch of cotton, on which many bolls are fully developed, while the flower is still in bloom on other plants. There are four varieties of sugar cane, two varieties of grass unknown in this locality and also a patch of peanuts nearly ripe.

Lansing—State and Federal trappers removed 5,501 predatory animals from Michigan's woods and fields during the year ending June 30, 1931, according to a report received by the Department of Conservation from H. P. Williams, leader of predatory animal control. Among the more important predatory species killed were 71 wolves, 666 coyotes, 161 bobcats, 104 foxes, 44 bears, 319 skunks, 112 weasels, 16 badgers and five mink.

Allegan—Some church will gain two saintly and regular-as-the-clock attendants if Aubrey Snyder, 17 years old, and Clinton Plotts, 19, both of Otsego, keep the terms of their three years of probation given to them by Fred T. Miles, circuit judge. Pleading guilty, to breaking and entering and stealing beer, they were told to attend church every Sunday; to keep company with nice girls, if any; to cut out liquor, tobacco and profanity, and to shun bad company.

Grand Rapids—Eleven of 14 Western Michigan counties promised to increase their highway payrolls at a meeting here recently. The Kent County Road Commission said it could add 2,000 men if the board of supervisors would withdraw opposition to the county road mill tax. Ottawa County promised to increase its payroll from 40 to 100; Muskegon, 50 to 75; Ionia, 50 to 75; Allegan, 26 to 34; Barry, 60 to 75; Kalamazoo, 100 to 130; Mecosta, 28 to 45; Montcalm, 30 to 40; Newaygo, 30 to 50. St. Joseph, Van Buren and Cass Counties reported no increases are possible.

Grand Rapids—The city commission voted to remain on Eastern Standard Time throughout the year in accordance with the Conlon Law which makes Eastern Standard time the legal time for Michigan. Some days ago the commission voted to return to Central Standard Time, as in other years, for the winter. Several other Western Michigan communities had indicated they would be governed by Grand Rapids. The more recent action is expected to insure uniform Eastern Standard Time in Western Michigan.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

COMPANY ON MONDAY

IF YOU have company on Monday you will have company every day during the week. As perhaps you know, for this superstition is general throughout the United States. It arises from that impulse in man, as old as the race itself, to "seek for a sign" at the beginning of any new enterprise, or the beginning of a new epoch or specified division of time; to " Pierce the veil through which we may not see." The savage seeks for a sign from his medicine man before setting out on the warpath, and for this, when the Grecian fleet lay becalmed at Aulis ready to sail for the plains of Troy, did Iphigenia see around her the "stern black-bearded kings, waiting to see her die." And the Roman Augurs sought not only for a sign "when the eagles marched to Rimini" but at stated intervals forecast the welfare of the Roman people. A new enterprise, a new week, must have a sign at its commencement. Though Sunday is really the first day of the week in practice we regard Monday as the week's beginning; and something innate in us makes us regard a happening at the beginning of anything as a prognostic. If you have company on Monday it is "a sign" that you will have company every day of the week.

In some sections of the country people say that if you have company on Sunday—not Monday—you will have company the rest of the week. These people might be called the "strict constructionists."

It seldom pays any individual to put too much trust in anybody. Good advertisers know that writing an advertisement is a job that requires care, even if it is going to be inserted in The Charlevoix County Herald where results are almost certain.

Considerate of Her Money's No Object
 First Chorine—Did you tell anybody of your secret marriage?
 Second Ditto—No, I'm waiting for my husband to sober up—I want him to be the first to know.
 Doctor—"Lady, your son has the measles in the worst form."
 Wealthy Mrs. Green—"Why, doctor, we are rich enough to afford the best."

Good Printing Is Read

There is no getting away from the fact that if you want your printed message to be read by the men with the money to buy, it must be well printed. That's the sort of printing we really pride ourselves upon doing.
