Large Enrollm't In Our Schools

TOTAL NOW REACHING THE EIGHT HUNDRED MARK.

Since the last check up on the local school enrollment, a big change has taken place. In fact the East Jordan Public School has the largest enrollment in its history by a substantial margin. It is almost unbelieveable that the enrollment should jump from 753 about the first of October to 785 Nov. 13, a gain of 32. There are 227 in High School, which is a substantial high school. Every teacher is working to capacity to take care of the above enrollment.

Much of the additional enrollment is the result of many more farms being occupied. In many cases people expect to remain on the farm and are improving it.

It looks very much now as though the enrollment would go over the 800 mark for the first time in the history of East Jordan. These figures are presented for your perusal as an item of interest to every school patron.

To be able to handle the children of thirty-five to fifty extra families on top of all the other things that the consolidation has done is certainly a credit to all boosters for consolidation. For no one even promised or expected the school could take care the present enrollment without greatly added expense and additional teachers.

TRUCK OWNERS REQUIRED TO USE WEIGHT RECEIPTS

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 16-Approxinately $500,000 will be added to the State's revenues in 1932 through closer supervision of the sale of truck license plates, Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald estimates.

In past years, truck owners have been allowed to use any sort of ren, under the direction of Miss Jean Almighty God for all the blessings of weight slip in certifying to the weight of trucks when securing inclusion plates. Starting with the 1932 plates, truck owners will be required to use official Department of State weight receipts. Without a Department receipt, license plates will not be issued. In every city where the department has a branch office, one or more scales are to be designated as official and the owners will be supplied with department weight receipts. Before applying for licenses, it will be necessary for owners or drivers to weigh the truck in actual operating condition.

The owner and scale weighmaster then sign the receipt which will be accepted by the department in issuing plates. Last spring, several instances successful football season, as a rule, a large squad reports. This will likely be the case at East Jordan for State. Almost $60,000 in additional weight taxes were collected by department investigators from these sources. In addition, it is believed that many others pay less than the legal fee because of ignorance of the actual weight of their truck. -

Truck and trailer license plates will be on sale at all branch offices of the department Dec. 1.

1931 SEAL SALE FUNDS TO HALT DISEASE GAIN

Facing the threat of greatly in creased tuberculosis, arising from the hardships of the past two years, the twenty-fifth annual sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals will begin on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 26. At that time sixty-six million seals will be released throughout the State.

With the State and County Sana-toriums filled and long waiting lists at most of them, the threatened increase in tuberculosis must be met at once by greater preventive work, according to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. Tuberculosis Christmas seals are the only support for antituberculosis organizations in Michigan.

Urging the people of Michigan to buy Christmas seals more generously than ever before to meet the greater for immediate tuberculosis need work, T. J. Werle, executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, said: "Insufficient food, poor housing, and inadequate clothing the City donate a sum not in excess have opened the way for increased tuberculosis infection and disease among our people, particularly children.'

BENJAMIN MADILL PIONEER RESIDENT TAKEN BY DEATH

Ellsworth lost one of its oldest ettlers in the death of Benjamin Madill, Thursday evening, Nov. 12th at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bess Russell of Chicago.

Deceased was born in Canada, Nov. 27th ,1855. He moved here with his parents at the age of 15 years and resided in this vicinity until two years ago when they left to make their home with their daughter. He was united in marriage to Abigial Frink on Aug. 27, 1879 at Elk Rapids, and to this union were born children, Herbert, who preceded his father in death six years ago, ar Mabel, who died 13 years ago, Ray of Washington, Mrs. Lila M. Kiddy of Jacksonville, Florida, and Mrs. Bess Russell of Chicago.

During his years of illness, Mr. Madill still kept his sunny disposition and had a ready smile and word of cheer for everyone.

The remains were prought to Ellsworth and funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the M. E. Church, of which he was a member. Rev. Kendall and Rev. Harris offitery. Those attending the funeral from Mr. and Mrs. Lewis out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hockin, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hoopfer, Mr. and Mrs. Darm Hockin, Mrs. Amy Hollenbeck, Mrs. Geo. O'Dell, Dermis Hubbell, E. P. Hubbell, of Kewadin; Mrs. Clyde Dean, Dorothy Gee, and Will Gee of Elk Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Frink, Mrs. Maggie Cramer, Mrs. Mary Dean and Mr. E. Dean of Traverse City.—Ellsworth Tradesman Mr. and Mrs. Madill were residents of East Jordan some twenty years ago, and for some time managed the hotel, since destroyed by fire, just north of Hite's Drug store.

In accepting a post on the committee, Dr. Slemons called for sup-port of the tuberculosis Christmas seal:

"It is the personal duty of publicspirited people in Michigan to join the fight made possible by Christmas seals against one of Michigan's greatt public health enemies-tuberculosis. Last year 2912 people died from this disease and 1320 of these were less than 30 years old. __Greater support of the Christmas seal is to be encouraged this year so that this annual loss can be stopped."

Officials of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association declare that they must prepare for an increase in the tuberculosis problem which will result from present living conditions. Tuberculosis is known to have 'increased sharply in every period following prolonged wars or situations causing a deficiency in the variety of foods supplied to children and mothers, they point out.

The 1931 seal sale is the 25th since the adoption of Christmas seals for financing anti-tuberculosis work. This year's campaign will be State-wide in extent and will provide funds for the 1932 health program of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated local societies.

The 1931 tuberculosis Christmas seals, which feature an old-time coaching party scene, will be supplied locally and through the mail as in Day.

Slemons, State Health Commissioner, FARMERS GROW GOOD ALFALFA SEED CROP

Enough Michigan grown alfalfa eed was produced this year to plant most of the fields needed by the thousands of State dairymen who now work at a disadvantage because they have no alfalfa hay to feed their cows, according to the farm crops department at Michigan State College. Farmers in Michigan have inreased the acreage planted 800 per cent since 1919 and the State now is he leader in the group east of the Mississippi river, but the amount of hav produced here is still far short of the amount needed to feed local dairy herds. Alfalfa, as a hay crop, vields better, has a higher feeding value per ton, and sells for higher prices than competing crops.

Most failures to secure successful lfalfa stands are due to the use of inadapted seed which can not pro-duce plants which will withstand Michigan winters. The unusually arge Michigan crop of alfalfa seed his year makes it possible for State farmers to secure seed which eliminates this gamble from seeding.

Hardigan, Crimm, Cossack, and Ontario Variegated are the varieties recommended by the College crops department but common Michigan varieties will be satisfactory for seedings which have a place in a crop rotation and are to be plowed down in two or three years.

S. MISSIONARY IS U. CAPTIVE OF CHINESE

Last Reported to Be "Teacher" of Red Army.

Peiping, China .- Bert Nelson, American missionary whose home is Minne apolis, has finished a year in the hands of Communist bandits in Honan province.

Nelson, a worker for the Lutheran United mission, was captured at Hwangchan, Honan, on October 5, 1930, by members the "first red army" of Honan, and has been held captive ever since.

For several weeks nothing has been heard from Nelson, who wrote the last letter received by his family in July, reporting he was not badly treated, and that the Communists had appointed him as their "English teacher."

At that time, Nelson was held in the Communist camp within two days' journey from Hankow, and within 40 miles of a large camp of government troops. The latter have never made any serious attempt to obtain his release.

Nelson's family has waited in anxiety for the last year in Hankow, hoping daily that he might escape or be released. The mission of which he is a member has made determined efforts to release him, and paid a ransom of more than $10,000 to the Communists, who had promised to let the missionary loose when this sum" was deliveređ.

But after getting the money, they changed their minds, and said they would keep him until they had also received tennis balls and racquets. volley balls, a radio set, English books, a supply of gasoline and arms and ammunition.

The mission sent most of the ar-ticles demanded, but said they could not supply arms and ammunition, because it was contrary to mission principles. Even after receiving the articles they asked, the Communists decided to keep Nelson a captive. They sent back word that they needed an English teacher, and no one else was available.

A Norwegian missionary worker, Rev. A. Tvedt; was captured with Nel-son, but the Communists let him go after the mission paid $10,000 for his release.

The American legation in Pelping and the consul-general in Hankow have written dozens of notes to the Chinese government asking that troops be sent to rescue Nelson, but nothing has been done. The Chinese government agreed on several occasions to send a relief expedition, but nothing came of these promises.

It is believed that the length of Nelson's period of capture constitutes a record in China. At the time he was captured, more than forty missionaries of different nationalities were held cap tive in different parts of China, but all of these have since died, been killed or released.

TO LIFT RESORT'S WATER 3,000 FEET

Engineering Task Will Require Gigantic Pumps.

Flagstaff, Ariz .-- The gigantic englneering task of bringing water from springs near the bottom of the Grand canyon to supply the tourist resort on the south rim will be started soon. Water will be pumped from Garden creek, 3,075 feet under the canyon rim, to the park headquarters and iourist hotel, M. R. Tillotson, superintendent of the Grand Canyon National park, has announced. The project will be completed in four months. Contracts were awayled to a Los Angeles firm recently to lay almost two miles of 5-inch steel pipe from the springs to the top of the canyon The project will be one of the most unlage attempted in Arizona, because of the dangerous route laid out for the pipe line and the great pressure necessary to force the water more than a half-mile almost straight upward.

Since the establishment of the resort on the rim of the Grand canyon nany years ago, water has been shipped by railroad tank cars for 100 miles. Plagstaff and Del Rio, Ariz., have been the sources.

Erection of an 8,000-foot transportation cable, extending from a point near the springs to the village on the canyon brink, will begin operations. The cableway is to be in four sections.

His gray eyes, which through forty years of self-sacrificing service, had looked upon human weakness and hardships and heroisms, were filled with a profound sorrow. What cut him to the quick was this blow at his faith in Alan Baker. He had always liked Alan, had trusted him as he trusted few men; and had fought for his promotion. He, who had given forig years of his life to the service at a miserable salary; who with his brother officers of the old guard had unselfishly watched other men of their generation carve out fortunes in tim ber, ranches, land and mines in the developing West-he had thought of Baker as of one to carry on that tradition and spirit of loyalty to the Force. Now, according to Inspector Has kell's account, Baker had quit because his commission last fall had not come At the beck of a higher salary he had tossed aside loyalty and his invaluable work here in the North. He had made a miserable failure of a patrol, had imbued the other men with insubordination, and then bought out,

Stern and impartial. Williamson could not help feeling that Haskell, though a newcomer and not fully ex perienced yet, had been fair, and more than fair, in this trouble with Baker and these other men. Baker had cer tainly had a fearful moral lapse from the man he used to be. Without doubt his failure to get commissioned had set him brooding and had worke! a pernicious harm on a once-superla tive man.

As he looked thoughtfully at Has Williamson considered it very kell, creditable of him to praise a man who had done him so much injury. And he thought it showed exceptional stuff in the inspector to remain in service, to stick with his hard thankless work here in the North, when he had come into a large inheritance and might be leading a pleasant life in Ottawa Playing no favorites whatsoever but trying to give every man his just dues, the old officer felt that his former uncharitable opinion of Haskell had been entirely wrong, as wrong and misplaced as his faith in Alan Baker.

Presently, in slow decisive tones, "You did right to demote he said: Baker after that patrol. It was fool hardy of him to split his detail. Constable Younge over there will pay the price of that mistake for the rest of his life And about those other men. I think the rough sledding you've with them is easily explained. Baker was in charge before you came; he was rather lax on discipline so long us the work got things urged against him when he was up for commission was the fact that was too familiar with his subordinates. When you came and insisted on stricter discipline, I presume they resented it. The fauits is theirs, not I'm backing you to the limit yours. against them and against Baker, too. if he tries to stir up any further trouble." Haskell drew a deep breath. His across En Traverse lake to destroy their plane and stop their venture. Alan rose up, with an expression on his face that frightened Buzzard.

"It's Haskell. He's coming to smash us. He didn't quit with that one attempt. I don't think-even if he knew that you and I are all that stands between Joyce and a horror—I don't think he'd hesitate a second. Buzzard, you stay here. I'm going down to the landing. I don't want you'to be involved in-I suppose it'll be called murder."

He went out through the trading hall and down to the landing, and crouched there behind the machine gun. With his hand on the spade grip, training the weapon down river, he waited.

But, as he listened to the launch tearing wide open up the treacherous Alooska, he grew convinced that Whipple never would or could drive it at so demoniac a clip. Frank Pedneault was the man behind that wheel.

Uncertain, in a dilemma, he rea soned: "Haskell might have forced him to make the trip. But Ped would never throw himself into it like that he'd never risk his life that way, unless it was something he felt like putting all his heart into."

Lifting the binoculars, he focused them on the first bend below. When the launch came tearing into sight and thundered on up toward the post, he saw at a glance that it carried but one man-a man with his hat fammed low on his eyes and a dead pipe in his

Swinging the taunch around in midstream like a toy. Pedneault gently nosed it in beside the plane. "Thank Lord, you're here, Alan. . . . Was afraid you'd be gone-" breathless and excited. "I caught onto your idea. Elizabeth told me about it. too. She's aching for you to win out. Larry and I talked it over. I said.

Meeting Buzzard in the trading hall, he introduced Pedneault and explained They went on back to the kitchen and worked out their nians.

Pedneault was to leave at dawn in the launch. Then the plane would leave at ten o'clock. Passing Ped-neault just inside the Thal-Azzah, the plane would fly on ahead, locate the bandits and bring them to bay. The two craft would thus close in together for the battle.

There was but one hitch in the plan, All three men were aware of it, but no one mentioned it. Those bandits had Joyce with them; they could and would use her for protection. How could they be swept with a machine gun's deadly spray when she was with them?

It was something which had to be left to luck or fate.

Alan gave final instructions: "If anything happens to the plane, don't try to fight those five men by yourself. edneault. Swing wide of them, go on east to that hig lake I mapped for you, and join Bill there. Then the two of you fight them to a finish.

"One other thing. I don't want Buzzard or myself to be charged with murder. You're in service, Pedneault; you'll not only be on a legitimate pa trol, but you have the power to deputize us as special constables. We'd better put that down in black and white."

It seemed strange to Pedneault, who had sworn in half-breeds and Indian scouts and dog-team drivers on emer gency occasions, to be swearing in his former officer commanding in so lowly a capacity. He wrote out the forma authorization: James A, Fetherof status, special constable temporary capacity, aviator. Alan McCleod Baker; status, special constable temporary; capacity, scout and machine gunner.

At the earliest hint of dawn they went down to the landing, inspected the launch and lashed Joyce's light canoe on the stern half-deck.' Pedneault shook hands with them, slipped into the wheel seat, and set out alone a solitary figure, up the Big Alooska.

Waiting, nervous and jumpy, as both had waited for zero hours in France, Alan and Buzzard stalked about the unutterably lonely post. At nine o'clock, drawn d +h landing, they went over the plane for the third time, and Alan mounted machine gun in the cockpit. When their zero hour came, he towed the craft out into midstream, held it there while Buzzard warmed the spluttering motor; and then, sending the canoe spinning with a kick, he sprang up into his seat.

Buzzard lifted the plane out of the river, climbed to five thousand feet, and headed into the northeast.

CHAPTER XII

The Swan Nest

Thirty miles above the Alooska forks, they caught up with Pedneault. When he saw that all was going well with him, Alan turned his glasses ahead again, sweeping the dozen waterways within vision. He picked up two tiny black objects creeping up s broad blue channel ten miles on into the Thal-Azzah.

Signaling Pedneault that they had sighted the canoes, Buzzard slowed down to stalling speed. Pedneault an swered back that he understood and they saw him open out the launch till a long narrow V-wake of white froth stretched behind it. Then, winging n ahead, they closed in for the battle As they drew near and dropped to a couple thousand feet, Alan began to make out figures in the two craft. His heart leaped as he counted six persons. Nearer still, he distinguished a slender girlish figure in the prow of the lead canoe. They must have found that gun on Joyce or else she had clung to her faith that he would save her. Half-raising, Alan glanced back westward to find how near Pedneault

REMAIN TOO LONG IN BUSINESS LIFE

Writer Argues for Earlier Retirement Age.

Nobody has taken into account the increased productivity of average human being. In the last century medical science and modern sanitation have added about twenty years to the effective period of human life.

Every modern man is really living two lifetimes, as lifetimes used to be. He is producing twenty years longer than men used to produce. be sure, he is consuming also, but, since every man produces some-thing in excess of his actual consumption, we have a steadily mount-ing total of overproduction. A few illustrations:

Shakespeare retired to Startfordon-Avon at the age of forty, an old man, his work completed. He died at fifty-two. Montaigne retired at thirty-nine, to spend his ancient years in study and contemplation in his tower. Alexander had conquered the world at thirty-three, and cried because there were no more worlds to conquer. Napoleon was ruler of Europe at thirty-three, banished to Elba at forty-five, and died in St. Helena at fifty-two.

were always openings, always jobs enough to go around.

Contrast this with the record of Judge Gary, who stayed on the job until after eighty, and kept at least three other men from being chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation. Or George F. Baker, who passed away at ninety-one and who, if he had stepped out at the same age as Shakespeare, would have made it possible for four other men to succeed to his job.

We have the silly idea that evel erybody must keep on producing. Even when we all realize that we are overproduced. My remedy, as I say, is simple and fundamental. . .

For Alan and Featherof there at MacMillan's trading post after their discovery of the catastrophe, the waiting was the worst of it-the long hour after hour of grim, self-enforced delay.

"We've got to let them get out of timber country into the oper Thal-Azzah," Alan spoke to Buzzard, who was looking to his experience and leadership in this fraught crisis. "There we can be sure of sighting their canoes. They'll have no shelter there, when we drop down on them. We'll make ourselves give them a fifteen hour start on us."

It was his cold man-hunting wisdom that spoke: but all his being clamored to start instantly, flinging himself against those men and tearing Joyce away from them before twilight fell.

He forced himself to go up to the trading store and cook a meal, for they had eaten nothing since dawn. . . .

He remembered the little automatic Joyce always carried; remembered the hard bulge of it that time he lifted her down from the window. Knowing her spirited pride, her passionate nature, he had fearfully imagined her choosing a proud escape from her hor-

When he and Buzzard had forced themselves to eat supper and were putting the things in order again, as though for Joyce to come back and find, they heard a far-away drone miles down the Big Alooska. A breeze whipped the faint sound away for several minutes. When they caught it again, the sound was clear and unmis takable. They once had heard that same low throaty drone approaching

'By Lord, I'm going, Larry! I'm going to be in on that with Alan and Bill !' So I euchred the launch away from Haskell, pitched off, and streaked for here. Brought you some extra gas if you need any."

Alan was staggered.

"Good Lord! And you've deserted, too, Ped !"

"But I couldn't miss out on a trick like this, could I?"

Alan winced. Here was Pedneault mixed up in his trouble. Like an eager wolf-hound whom his master has left behind, Ped had chewed his collar and come along on the hunt.

"Where's Bill and Joyce?" Pedneault's face grew long, his eager excitement sobered down. He decided it was better to say nothing just now about Dave's suicide. Alan had enough anxiety preying on him.

thankful for that gasoline." "I'm Alan said. "And for you throwing in with us, Ped, at the price you'll pay. But I don't see how you can help. W can't carry a third person on this trip. I'll have to have room to work the ma chine gun-"

"Then I'll go in the launch."

"You, can't make it. Above the Alooska forks there's twenty miles of low water that you can't get through. "I can make it now. I know the launch can do. After all these heavy rains, draining down that left fork from the-Thal-Azzah . . . Look there-" he pointed at the water stage on a pier-"that's eighteen inches higher than when we made our first patrol after them. I can get through; and once I'm in those deep-water channels of the Thal-Azzah—" "All right," Alan agreed. "You'll be a mighty big help. If they put us out of it, you'll be in position to carry on with them. Let's go up to the post and make our arrangements. You'll be leaving shead of us."

A puzzled expression crept over was. his face as he failed to glimpse the launch in either the Alooska branch or the broad blue channel. With a premonition of disaster clutching him he whipped up the glasses, focused on the connecting creek, and caught the hig boat in clear vision.

The thing he saw brought a cry into his throat.

The craft was not moving. It lay on its side, half out of water, hope lessly stranded. Either from reckless piloting or from an accident no man could have averted, Pedneault had struck a mud bar hidden under the treacherous muskeg water; and now the scarlet-and-gold launch, lodged solidly in the muck by the momentum of its headlong dash, was out of the battle for good and all. Pedneauli could not even go and help Bill.

Alan<sup>d</sup> tore his gaze away from this disaster. It was all up to him and Buzzard now. Pedneault was out, the launch was out; Bill was a hundred miles away, and alone.

Denominational Ravens

Are ravens religious? Apparently the army thinks that they are. There are four ravens at the tower of London which are regarded as "on the strength" of the Guards battalion on daty there. And as Tommy Atkins' religion is recorded, so is that of the ravens. One is reckoned as Church of England, one as Roman Catholic, the third as Free Church, and the fourth as "General." Whether they turn out for church parade and never make a mistake and parade with the wrong denomination-is not quite certain .-Montreal Herald,

Detroit-Mildred Simons, six-month old daughter of Leonard Simons, attorney, was smothered to death by the covers of her crib on the porch of the Simons home. Efforts to revive the child with a pulmotor failed, Owosso-Junior Fattal, Owosso high school cheerleader, who vowed several weeks ago that he would not shave until the football team won a game, was caught by about 150 students, and part at least of his growth of beard shorn from him. Despite his experi-ence, he insists he won't shave until the team wins.

St. Helen-Construction of the concrete dam at the mouth of the AuSable River, in Lake St. Helen, to raise the waters of the lake to the legal level has been completed. A bridge will be constructed across the dam, which will afford access to Michigan hunters to virgin hunting grounds in the country not previously available.

Adrian-Farmers near Tipton are speculating on the recent appearance of strangers who have inquired as to the prevailing price of land in Franklin Township. Airplanes have been reported as flying very low over Tipton and vicinity, men have driven very slowly by the farms and often have investigated the crops and soil. The country in the vicinity of Tipton is largely devoted to sheep raising.

Ionia-John Balderson, justice of the peace, held court on the roof of his silo and fined a traffic violator. The respondent, given a ticket by State troopers, found the judge painting the silo on arriving at the Balder son farm, and not wishing to disturb "I'm guilty," he him, climbed up. said, handing Balderson the ticket. "All right," Balderson smiled, "I'll send you down instead of up. The fine is $2."

-Mio-Preparation of Oscoda County's airport, which is to be one of the best fields under construction by the Michigan Board of Aeronautics, is well under way and one runway a half mile long has been completed. Walter Thomas and E. J. Mannier, Detroit airmen, were the first to land on the new field. The site comprises 65 acres and was presented to the State by John H. Holmes, prominent citizen of this section.

Grand Rapids-When James W. Deman, 12 years old, became ill, he refused to be taken to Butterworth Hospital for treatment of an infected leg unless guaranteed that he could be taken to Sunday school and thus not break a five-year record for perfect attendance. True to their promise, police removed the boy to Bethel Reformed Church Sunday school in the police ambulance and on conclusion of the services, took him back to the hospital.

Saginaw - Democratic leaders of Saginaw, led by Miss Evelyn S. Mer-shon, national committeewoman and chairman of the Democratic County Committee, plan to seek the selection of Saginaw as the 1932 spring convention city for the minority party. Miss Mershon said that Alfred Debo, chairman of the State Central Committee had assured her that as far as he knew no opposition would develop against naming Saginaw as the convention city for the meeting.

Grass Lake - John O'Connor, 62, who chose initials for his six sons, rather than names, ended his life here by shooting himself with a rifle. He was found unconscious in a wood shed at the rear of his home shortly after he had finished his dinner, and died a half hour later. The reason Saginaw-Struck by the trailer of an automobile, Joseph Masalski, 63 years old, was killed. According to officers, Masalski was attempting to beg a ride when a car driven by G. H Buckler, of Gaylord, towing a trailer, passed him. Buckler swerved to miss Masalik, but the trailer struck him.

Niles-Returning from a high school football game. Dale Chubb, of Buchanan, 22 years old, was instantly killed when a small coupe driven by his brother, Dick, ran into two cows on the road, three miles north of Bu-chanan. Maynard Post, another passenger, was slightly hurt. Dick Chubb was unhurt.

Kalamazoo-The Rev. Peter Kuien, pastor of the Community Church at Twin Lakes, recently saw his wife for the first time, an operation at University Hospital in Ann Arbor having restored his vision to about 5 per cent of normal. Surgeons be-lieve he will regain full use of his right eye soon. Mr. Kuiken has been blind since he was 11 years old.

Mayville-Lee Fowler, Mayville, is the champion potato grower of the Thumb district. Fowler's yield of 276 bushels an acre gave him first prize in the growers' contest in the Thumb of Michigan Potato Show held here recently. Sample Wells, Caro, won first prize in the variety class. John Valentine, Fostoria, won first prize for growing the best russet Burbanks.

Lansing-Following is the list of all the counties open to deer hunting in Michigan for the 1931 season: Alcona, Alger, Alpena, Baraga, Cheboygan, Chippewa, Crawford, Delta, Dickinson, Gogebic, Houghton, Iosco, Iron, Kal-Keweenaw, Luce, Mackinac, kaska, Marquette, Menominee, Montmorency, Ogemaw, Ontonagon, Oscoda, Otsego, Presque Isle, Roscommon, and Schoolcraft.

Grand Rápids-A dog has the same right to consideration from a motorist. as a child, and, if properly licensed, its owner may recover damages from a motorist who negligently runs it down, Harry L. Creswell, justice of the peace, instructed a jury. The jury returned a verdict of $90 and costs in favor of John C. Hankiewicz against Herman Straub. Straub ran down the dog purposely, a motorcycle policeman testified.

Detroit-Motorists in Michigan used 333,370,258 gallons of gasoline during the first six months of 1931, an increase of 0.3 per cent as compared to the same period last year, according to Richard Harfst, manager of the Automobile Club of Michigan. Mr. Harfst pointed out that there was a total of 7,117,874,233 gallons of gasoline used by all motorists in the country during the first six months of this year, an increase of 4.5 per cent as compared to last year.

Harrison-Jack Myers is making ar-rangements to import six buffalo from Yellowstone National Park to his private game reserve near here. It is expected that the animals will arrive at their new home within the next two weeks. Mr. Myers' property covers about 3,000 acres of land. Already he has two elk within its boundaries that are so tame they will come to his cabin and take food out of his hand. There are also a large number of deer on the property.

Marshall-A retired farmer of Tekonsha died at Oaklawn Hospital here from the effects of eating pancakes poisoned with arsenate of lead, acci-dentally substituted for baking powder. The victim, Frank Whittaker, 79 years old, of Tekonsha, ate the poisoned cakes for breakfast while he and his wife were guests at the home of Mrs. Clara Wilson, 46, a blind woman.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL CUNDAY CHOOL Lesson (By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Mem-ber of Facuity, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

Lesson for November 22

(C. 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

PAUL IN ROME

GOLDEN TEXT-I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth LESSON TEXT-Acts 25:1-12; 28; PRIMARY TOPIC-Paul in the Great-PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul in the Great-est City of the World. JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul's Life-long Ambition Fulfilled. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC—A Prisoner Proclaims the Gospel In Rome. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC—Paul's Ministry in the World's Capital.

Paur Appeals to Caesar (25:1-12). In order to appreciate this action on the part of Paul it is well to get a synthetic grasp of the experiences which forced him to make this appeal. 1. His trial before Felix (Acts 24). The officials of the Sanhedrin were represented by Tertullus, a Roman barrister. He brought a fourfold charge against Paul:

A pestilent fellow (v. 5). 8, An inciter of rebellion (v. 5), b.

The ringleader of a sect (v. 5).

с, đ. A profamer of the temple (v. 6) To this charge Paul replied in a clear and dignified manner, setting forth the facts of his life, and demanded that his adversaries bring proof of their accusation. Felix was greatly moved by Paul's testimony concerning Christ, but postponed decision, expecting to receive a bribe from Paul.

Trial before Festus (25:1-12) 2. Festus was the successor of Felix. Two years had elapsed, but the Jewish hatred had not abated. Paul's foes in Jerusalem sought to have him brought there for trial, intending to lie in wait and kill him on the way. Festus, willing to please the Jews, purposed to send him to Jerusalem for trial. For this Paul rebuked him, declaring that he very well knew that he was innocent. Seeing that it was impossible to get justice at the hands of Festus, he made use of his right as a Roman citizen and appealed to Caesar. Festus was taken by surprise and found himself in an embarrassing po-sition, as he was unable to explain to Caesar as to why an innocent mar should go to Rome for trial.

Trial before Agrippa (25:13-3. 28:32). This was occasioned by the visit to Festus of Agrippa and Bernice. Upon their arrival, Festus told them of his perplexity. Therefore, they expressed a desire to hear Paul. Paul gladly made his defense before them and appealed to them to accept Christ

TI. Paul's Journey to Rome (27:1-44). 1. The ship (v, 6). It was in a vessel of Alexandria sailing from Myra to Italy.

2. The company (vv. 2, 37). Two of Paul's friends, Aristarchus and Luke, were permitted to go with him. Besides these three there were 273 in the ship.

3. The storm (vv. 14-20). The ship made little headway on account of un-favorable winds. Paul advised that they winfer in Fair Haven (vv. 9-12). but his advice was unheeded. In s 14 to 20 we have a most graphic description of the storm. Tempestuous winds as well as soft breezes await God's faithful ones.

Paul's serene faith (vv. 21-26). God is as near to his faithful ones on a stormy sea as in the quietude of the home. Paul was not only calm, but hade the people be of good cheer (v, 22). He promised them safety though the ship would go to pieces.

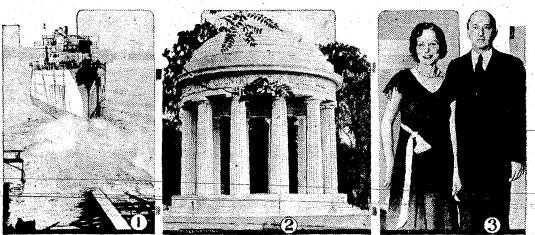

5. The ship's crew safe (vv. 27-44). All turned out as God had promised.

Women of Poland Are Prepared for Next War

Some of the hundreds of feminine residents of Warsaw marching in a propaganda parade staged by military organizations of boys, girls, men and women of Poland. The women are shown wearing gas masks, in the use of which they are being instructed with a view toward the next war when gas will be used more profusely than in the last.

As most of the mail was dated Oct. 16, it is believed the theft occurred about that time Many checks and money orders were untouched.

Escanaba-A purchase by the Ford Motor Co. of a tract of 500 acres of muck land just west of Gladstone which is to be cleared and drained at once, was announced by E. G. Kingsford, Iron Mountain, Upper Peninsula representative of the company. It is the plan of the company to offer this acreage in small plots to men who will be employed at the industrial plant to be built on the Gladstone site acquired by the firm. The immediate clearing work will give employment to about 100 men who will be selected from unemployed in Escanaba and Gladstone. using the staggered shift method.

Charlevoix-The fight between commercial fishermen and packers ended here and miles of trout nets were set on Lake Michigan spawning grounds by operators from Charlevoix and eaver Island. An independent Detroit buyer, whose connections were not revealed, contracted for the en-tire catch of Charlevoix and Beaver Island fishermen at 8½ cents a pound, the figure for which fishermen were holding out. Spawn will be taken in accordance with State regulations, thus insuring eggs for propagation in State and Federal hatcheries.

Mrs. Wilson and her brother-in-law, 28:15-31). for whom she is housekeeper, also partook of the meal and were made

critically ill

Saginaw-A seven-month-old baby was burned to death near here while sleeping in a tent that had been the summer home of her parents. Rescue attempts by the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Near, were thwarted when shotgun shells in the tent exploded as the flames spread. The Near family, with Mr. Near's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Near, camped out all summer on the farm of Adolph Neuman, in Spaulding Township, two miles southwest of Saginaw. The baby was sleeping in a bed in the tent.

Lansing-The State's corn crop this year will amount to 43,000,000 bushels against 25,000,000 last year. Wheat yields were the greatest in history with an output of 18,000,000 bushels, 1,500,000 above 1930. Oats reached 46,000,000 bushels compared with 53,000,000 last year. Michigan pota-toes gained 10,000,000 over last year with a production of 23,750,000 bushels. The bean crop is estimated at 6.136.-000 bushels compared with 4,202,000 bushels last year. The apple crop of 10,000,000 bushels is nearly double that of 1930.

Detroit-Detroit holds an important position in the Nation's hotel business, the Census Bureau announced at Washington in making public results of a survey of this field. Almost a third of the hostelries open all year are located in 37 cities with a population of more than 250,000, the survey showed, and in this group Detroit stands seventh with 220 establishments containing 27,942 guest rooms. Chicago leads the Nation with 604 hotels but New York with only 509 establishments has the largest num ber of rooms, 126,632.

Welcomed by the brethren (v 1. 15). They met him at the Appli forum, a distance of about forty miles from Rome. This was the first time he was thus welcomed.

2. Paul's lenient treatment (v. 16) He was allowed to hire a house and live apart, being guarded by a soldier. 3. Conference with the leading Jews (vv, 17-22). He allowed himself only three days to test. His object was to have a fair understanding with the Jews. He explained the reason for his being there. The result was that the Jews took neutral ground, but expressed a desire to hear what Paul could say in defense of a sect which was evil spoken against.

4. Paul expounding the kingdom of God and persuading concerning Jesus (vv. 23-31). He pointed out a real kingdom, the Messianic Kingdom, with the historic Jesus as the King. The kingdom to Paul meant a definite reign of a definite person, not merely an improved state of society. This he showed from the Scriptures. He went through the Old Testament, carefully showing the kingdom teaching to be in harmony with the law and the prophets.

Personal Consecration

There is also need of a clear understanding of what consecration means. It is not an indulgence in pious yearnings and smug phrases. It is the will-ingness to face facts squarely, to deny one's self in behalf of others, to give, to work with one's heart and soul that God's kingdom may come upon earth.

Pleasures Not Lasting The pleasures of sin are but for a

THANKSGIVING-An Old Indian Custom

Indian Dance at Taos during a thanksgiving festival

By EDITHA L. WATSON

ANDING on the edge of his little cornfield, the Hopi farmer ooks at his crop and smiles. His lips move, and gentle words come from them—words which carry so much of heartfeltness that we might guess their meaning from the warmth with which they are uttered, and know, because they are spoken softly as well as earnestly, that they were addressed to Those Above, whom we call the Almighty. "Kwa kwi, kwa kwi," is what the Hopi says: "thanks, thanks!" And in these words he ex-presses one of the most characteristic of Indian customs, that of giving thanks on every occasion and no matter how slight the pretext. We may smile at the thought of uttering thanks for the presence of a visitor; that his bealth is good; if a child who has fallen and burt itself slightly, begin to smile again; if rain comes—for any or all of the small matters which fill every day. Yet we, who pride our-selves on our manners, and who are prompt to acknowledge the slightest favor from a fellow-human, cannot help but admire the etjuette which calls for acknowledgment to God also; and when we realize that all these seemingly slight events are beyond the unaided power of man to bring about; we feel that we have been ungrateful to take so much for granted without bothering to acknowledge the source.

Not content with unending thankfulness, the Indians also said grace, sometimes both before and after meals. To the words of the little prayer were added an offering of food, which "Receive, oh source of my ancestry, and eat!" said the Zuni as he performed the rite. "Spirit, partake!" murmured the Dakota woman, and her husband echoed the whispered prayer and offering of gratitude.

In the Pueblo land, no cooking was undertaken without an offering. A pinch of meal pre-ceded the bread into the oven; a bit of each of food was placed in the fire, with a thought of thanksgiving for past and future, before meals. The smallest children had their hands guided in this little ceremony, for the spirit of gratitude to Those Above for every-thing, and for food above all, was strong in every Indian heart. Clothing they could skimp, if necessary; shelter they could do without, but life itself depended on food, and they were grateful for it.

It is strange how nearly the grace before meals of white men and red coincide. Both express thanks, the white man by words, the Indian by his offering of food as well, and both ask blessings to come. A Zuni grace runs as follows:

"Makers of the trails of our lives and ye spirits of our ancestors, of this add ye unto your hearts after the manner of your own Inside the Pueblo and did not neglect either. There is a little Cherokee tale which illustrates the custom of celebrating before feasting:

Seven wolves went out hunting and caught a fat groundhog. Their prey, considering that with presence of mind there might be a chance absence of body, reminded them that peo ple always danced for gratitude when they had something good to eat, giving the Green Corn dance as an example. He arged the wolves to do likewise, and offered to teach them steps and to sing for them. The wolves, although they were very hungry, eagerly agreed to hold this dance of thanksgiving, and during their celebra-tion the groundhog escaped.

The Green Corn dance, to which the animal alluded, is one of the favorites among Indian ceremonies of thanksgiving, although it is held at the time of green corn-late summer. Among the Creeks this festival was the occasion of forgiveness, when injury and hatred were forgotten. The ceremonies lasted from four to eight days and were marked by rejoicing over the first fruits of the year.

But do not think that hunger was the neces sary ingredient of an Indian meal. Cooking was not the haphazard operation we might believe it to have been. There were fifty-three ways of preparing corn, and, we should offer lieve it thanks on our own accounts for this Indian food, as we eat succotash, hominy, and other corn dishes prepared, long before our time, by the "savages" of America.

of Shungopovi Pueblo

There were deer and mountain sheep for change from buffalo, and fish from the many streams, and ducks and other birds were numer ous, and varied, so that no one need live or The great "kitchen middens" found turkey. along the coast prove that oysters were a greatly enjoyed Indian food, and turtles also helped in the menu.

While we are hunting for Indian dishes to place on the Thanksgiving dinner table, we may give thought to the appropriate beverage for this truly American meal. Of course, the average man will demand coffee, which is not a native drink, but mate, which has a high caffeine conirest Teas made from dried flowers or flavorous twigs and roots would be truly Indian decoctions, but scarcely enjoyable to our trained palates. Tis win, the Apache beer made of sprouted corn, would be appropriate, but it is alcoholic to a considerable degree. The only real Indian beverage which appeals to modern tastes is chocolate. favorite drink of the Aztec kings. After dinner, in that hour when it is too early for the football game and every one is too contentedly filled to care about exertion any way, the air begins to grow hazy with tobacco Here, too, is an old Indian custom closely associated with the giving of thanks. Few tribes used tobacco to smoke as we do: rather it carried messages to the gods in its clouds of smoke. The pipe was presented, the smoke blown, to the four world-quarters. above and below, to symbolize the offering of prayer in all directions. It was puffed during ceremonies, and at councils, The Chippewa and many other tribes use tobacco as a thank offering. When they cut a birch tree for its bark, they bury a little tobacco at the roots, giving thanks as they do The Pueblos tie small parcels of tobacco to their prayer-sticks, and the tribes which have dog-killing ceremonies fasten bundles of tobacco to the legs and neck of the sacrificed animals bidding them to carry these to the spirit land with them, there to present them with prayers for health and plenty for the tribe." Little of that ancient gratitude is left; and we, in our hard modern shells, celebrate the day of thanksgiving by feasting without ceremony. Yet in our hearts we have studied the question 'what are we thankful for?" and find many things which made us glad to be alive-among them, perhaps, the fact that we are not In-We owe acknowledgment to Providence, that much is certain. And because we, after all, are a thoughtful and a courteous people, some time during Thanksgiving day we will echo in our hearts the words said by our predecessors, centuries ago:

Matter of Profit in Corn Breeding

Individual Grower Will Benefit by Advice of Experts.

Corn breeding by the newer and highly intensive "selfed-line" method is not feasible for the ordinary in-dividual grower, because of the time, labor, and expense involved, declares G. H. Stringfield, agent of the United States Department of Agriculture at the Ohio Agricultural experiment station. Although many young farmers may contemplate corn breeding by the "selfed-line" method, it seems more practical for most of them to depend upon the results of the experiment stations, he says. He points out that if a man's in terest is strong enough and if he is of a painstaking, observing nature and naturally interested and willing to make a study of the job, he has much in his favor as a corn breeder. How ever, if he is interested chiefly in prof. it and quick returns, he may lack the patience necessary for successful corn breeding.

There are four angles the prospec tive corn breeder should consider First is the investment in land and In the "selfed-line" method, labor. each plant is pollinated with its own pollen and after highly inbred (per haps for 10 generations) uniform strains are thus produced. These strains are crossed to get commer-cially valuable hybrids. It is neces sary to test several hundred selfed lines to get a few that are worth continuing.

-Another consideration-is time. At least 10 years are necessary to get good, reasonably tested hybrid strains. There is also some question as to the profit in corn breeding. No variety can be patented, and the best are usually made available by the experi-ment stations. By using these the individual avoids the investment and uncertainty of private corn breeding. Finally, the corn breeder must be individually suited to the task. He must have patience and a natural interest in the work.

Protect Small Fruits

From Cold by Mulching Small fruits that may be injured by the cold should be mulched for protection during the winter, according to C. V. Holsinger of Iowa State college. Red raspberries and even black raspherries should be mulched. If they are bent over while the sap is still in the cane there will be little breakage and the tops of the plants should be covered with soil. Less hardy but desirable varieties of grapes should be mulched during the winter. The varieties that need protection are the Brighton, Agawan, Green Mountain and the Diamond.

Strawberries should be mulched after the first freeze, since the purpose of this mulch is to keep down the alternate freezing and thawing. Wheat straw from which the chaff has been shaken or shredded corn fodder may be used. Manure should not be used. as it becames a mat under the snow and carries many weed seeds .- Exchange

Stops Erosion

Rows of corn or other cultivated crops which run across the slope are much less likely to wash out during heavy spring rains than where the rows run up and down the slope. Soil erosion from the field will be greatly reduced by this method of planting and cultivation, and more water will be absorbed by the soil. In many fields the rows can be run approximately on the contour with very little more trouble than where they are run with the

Prove Bulls Before Putting Them to Use

Only Method of Assuring Herd Improvement.

It is some considerable degree of satisfaction to us that breeders and dairy farmers recognize more and more the value of dairy herd improvement associations for securing better sires. Breeders who have advanced their herds in production through keeping records and systematic culling do not desire to select a bull that many decrease the production of the herd. This leads them to seek ways and means to prove the bulls before used extensively in their herds.

In Iowa we find that the herd im-provement association is attempting to prove 1,374 bulls. This activity is named the "better sire, contest," and and 64 associations have entered. It has caused three or four farmers to own a bull together, to build safety bull pens, and provide paddocks where the buils can exercise so they may be kept in good health. At the proper time awards based on pedigree, type, records of daughters over dams, will be given. This kind of work will help to save the good bull which, up to now, too often has been sent to the butcher before his value was known. Further, if carried out in the proper way it will ultimately eliminate from our breeding cattle the low producing blood and establish characters that will breed true for high production and good type .- Hoard's Dairyman.

Early Breeding Sure to Hold Back Development

Many heifers that have been well fed fail to make proper size at maturity because they have been bred at too early an age. Not only is size lost by this practice but ability to produce milk as well. The heavier the breed the more is the time required for development before the animal is bred. Holsteins, for instance, may be bred at the age of eighteen to twenty-one months depending on their development. Ayrshires at eighteen to twenty months and Jerseys at fifteen to seventeen months. This is a general rule. The best breeders may prefer to hold their heifers a little longer. One of the greatest Ayrshire breeders once said that the best heifers he ever owned were not bred till twenty-one months, and he considered this quite early enough. In al-together too many cases the lighter breeds come in at twenty months and the heavier breeds at twenty-four months.

Need for Deep Plowing

Land can be made rich in the plowed soil by the addition of manure and green immature clovers plowed under, or by plowing under any of the peas and beans; but-land-can be made rich with manure and these crops, only as deep as they are plowed under. When the surface soil is made rich, the roots of plants form largely in the plowed or surface soil and roots are shallow and weak. When roots are shallow and weak the crops are likely to suffer from drought when the surface soil beomes dry, and the crop is reduced in size and quality, because full maturity is not reached. Legume crops grown ind removed from the land are likely to leave the soil poorer than before they were grown, except for a slight temporary stimulation.

Made $27.58 an Acre!

A net profit of $27.58 an acre was earned last year by Charles Green of Monrovia. Total expenses to the acre for his year's operations amounted to $10.69. Money received grossed $38.27 an acre. The difference of $27.58 was left to pay for Mr. Green's work, and interest on the investment, which is a good record for a tough year. Of the SO acres Mr. Green farms, 27 acres are in alfalfa, with small amounts of other legumes. Sweet clover is used tor pasture. Here is a dairyman who produces quality cream that is sold on a steady price basis, and all of his crops are fed to his herd of nine Jersey cows, some chickens, hogs and sheep .- Kansas Farmer, knowledge, and bless us with fruitful seasons, needed water, and age of life."

It must have been a very lovely world in which the ancient red men lived. There were all the beauties of untouched nature to behold; there were tasks to keep the hands busy, and prayers to occupy the heart and mind. The Naváho prayer:

"Make beautiful all that is before me, Make beautiful all that is behind me. It is done in beauty."

was answered daily to all the tribes, and out of this serene beauty of their Earth Mother, there grew a very strong religion, the essence of which was thanksgiving.

There is a beautiful Tewa ceremony which occurs about harvest-time-that of giving the perfect seeds in charge and allowing the Earth Mother to rest for a while. The finest seeds of all sorts are searched out by the Kossa, a summer priesthood, and a few of each kind are satetified, guarded, and planted about ten days before the rest of the crop is put in. In the fall, the perfect seeds of these selected plants are gathered, and at the conclusion of a feast of thanksgiving, the Kossa give them to the Quarrano, a winter priesthood, to guard until the next planting-time.

At this time, out of gratitude to the Earth Mother, strong medicine is made that she may sleep after all her toil. All spring and summer she has given of her flesh in all forms of nature to her children. Surely she is tired and needs to rest. The feasting is done, the next year's seeds laid by, and now comes a period in which the grateful Indian people keep quiet, making no noise that that beloved Mother may sleep. No loud talking is allowed in Tewa towns, and every noise is hushed, uptil she has had her rest. Here is true thanksgiving-primitive, naturally, but singers, and expressed in terms of human-kind.

The dances and ceremonies which preceded various feasts were something like an enlargement of the grace before meals. Harvest-time meant happiness, and it also brought with it the obligation of giving thanks, so by combining the celebrations with rites the Indian enjoyed both

The Pueblos also hold a green corn festival, beautiful and symbolical, a sort of gruce be-fore the harvest. Then later in the year, about the time of our own. Thanksgiving day, there are harvest festivals, when the prayers of gratitude rise endlessly to Those Above, as the happy people celebrate with ceremony and feasting the gifts which the Earth Mother has bestowed In one ancient Pueblo dance, great trays full of the finest vegetables, bread, and meats, were thrown about and trampled into the earth, forming a great offering to express the thanks of the people.

Although shelter and clothing are as im portant to us as food, we have not left off the age-old association of food with celebration. Indeed, Thanksgiving day centers around the dinner table. At first a fast-day, the early American colonists gradually assimilated the old Indian customs, and today the annual feast of gratitude is a real American institution. Hence it seems all the more fitting that most of the dishes which are traditional to the day should be those which the Indians themselves enjoyed and celebrated in the eating.

First of all, there is that grand American bird, the turkey. Nothing like him was ever seen before, and the newcomers thought that he must be some relation to the peacock, as he strutted in his iridescent finery. Perhaps there is nothing more delicious than young wild turkey fed on pinon-nuts, which the Indians of the Southwest knew. With this noble bird always go potatoes, an American product which the natives enjoyed long before the coming of Colum-In fact, in those pre-discovery days bus. America furnished some of the choicest and most palatable foods which we know of. Some of them grew, also, in the eastern hemisphere, but many were distinctly and distinctively American

The Indians had real cause for thanksgiving in the variety and tastiness of the food. True, there was no beef, but buffalo humps were a delicacy which has been celebrated in prac tically every history of early Americans, and ribs, juicy and tender; roasted over coals, would rival the famous cookery of the Old world, yet requiring no other sauce than hunger.

"Thanks, that it is so !" (@ by Western Newspaper Union.) slope. If erosion is to be checked and the loss of stands prevented the grower should change his ideas regarding the necessity for corn rows being straight and in the direction of some point of the compass. A row across the slope aids in insuring the stand and protects the land from much serious erosion.

Protein Content of Forage

Contrary to general opinion, pernaps, there is not as much difference in the protein content of the early of various legume and nongrowth ternine forage commonly used for pig pasture as many suppose. For examite, the protein content of several of these forages, as given by Smith of the Purdue (Ind.) station, is as follows: bluegrass 7 inches high, 4.66 per cent; green rye, 6 inches high. 4.51 per cent: green wheat, 5 inches high 8.54 per cent; green onts. 8 inches high, 4.9 per cent; edible portions of rape, 5,37 per cent; red clover, 11 inches high, 4.31 ner cent: ed thie parts of alfalfa, 7.44 per cent; nlfolfa, 8 inches bigh (whole plant). 4.71 ner cent; edible parts of sweet clover, 6.56 per cent; sweet clover, 9 Inches high, 5.3 per cent,

Testing for Soil Acidity The New Jersey experiment station s recommending that soil tests for acidity he taken in the fall rather than in the spring They base this statement on the fact that spots in fields develop in the cover crops, especially the clover and alfalfa, indicating the need for additional applications of lime. By staking these spots where the legumes fail to grow properly and then take the soll tests they are more likely to find those sections of their farms that need lime.

Agricultural Notes

A successful sailor studies his compass and a successful farmer studies market conditions.

At present prices for corn and tankage, skimmilk is worth about 25 cents a 100 pounds, to feed hogs.

Ordinarily the meat from hogs sixto twelve months old will combine the most desirable features of weight, yield and eating quality.

Forty-four men, managers of county live stock marketing associations, pitted their skill against one another to find which can ship live stock to market this year with the least transit losses.

Pruning of young trees from one to three years old takes very little time and can be left until all danger of winter injury is past.

Alfalfa as a forage for winter feeding supplies the necessary bulk for a hog's ration. Alfaifa contains valuable vitamins, minerals and protein.

Colorado's total dry bean crop is estimated at 1.074,000 bushels, as of October 1, compared with 3.927,000 bushels last year and a 5-year average of 1.776,000 bushels.

take for granted! In defense of this judge, however who again to'd us these things which sound so easy and are yet so very difficult, it must be added that he gave point to his words in a most spectacnlar wav.

"I have been on the bench long enough to know from cases that pass before me that little spats and tiffs often lead needlessly to the courts where a little kindness and affection might have sufficed." So said a Supreme court judge in White Plains, N. Y., the other day. But kindness and affection, one is impelled to say, require thought. And thought sometimes requires sacrifice Unless of course one is the rare per son with natural genius for that sort of thing. Being kind and affectionate would frequently conflict with what one wants to do at the particular moment -because it implies thinking of some one else even before thinking of our selves! It might even involve giving up a game of golf because one's wife man who could rise to such heights would have a wife who would gladly throw herself on his funeral But why sacrifice a game of golf for anything so far removed?

This judge is only telling us again what we heard so often. Treat your wife as you did when you were court ing her. Why, when you were court ing her you had an object-she was quite properly the business on hand But now you've got her. Whoeve heard of being diverted from today's business in hand by some one you can
