Ancient Indian Guards

Ritual of Ponca Tribe

Ponca City, Okla.—Only one member of the Ponca Indian tribe is left who knows the secret ceremonies of the medicine men of the Poncas.

Little Dance, who does not know the exact date of his birth, but does know he was a small child when the meteor group of 1833 passed over the United States, lives on the reservation south of here, with his sons and daughters, and will not talk to white men.

From historical records, which verify his story of the comets, telling of a meteor showed on November 12 and 13, 1833, the ancient Ponca must be well over one hundred.

Among the secrets of his tribe, which he alone could reveal and which will probably die with him, are the clan secrets of the Poncas. The seven clans of the Poncas—the Medicine band, Buffalo band, Ice band, Deer band, Snake band—all have lost their rituals. They are known only by the medicine man.

Little Dance takes as active a part as possible in the sacred dances, and always helps with the arrangements. Alone, he holds hundreds of secrets, from the mixing of paint to the ceremonies of the forbidden sun dance.

Ditched Beer Car Prey

of "Meanest" Policemen

Ridgefield, Conn.—Two state policemen, driving their motorcycles along the highway, encountered three men laboring to get a huge truck out of a ditch. The troopers stood by for three hours while the truckers perspired at their task. Finally the truck stood again on the road.

The officers then arrested Joseph Tobin, Henry Friedman, and Max Williams, all of the Bronx, New York, on charges of transporting 100 barrels of beer.

Constable 42 Years;

Then Meets Defeat

Henning, Tenn.—Joe B. Jordan, eighty-one, has learned that the job of constable isn't perpetual.

For 42 years he held the position of constable in the Eighth civil district of Lauderdale county without having suffered a defeat.

Then along came this election year and Deputy Sheriff Tom C. Meeks defeated him. The election for constable was more keenly contested than state and other county offices.

First fights occurred in a number of precincts as a result of the race.

Stop Getting Up Nights

Physic the Bladder With Juniper Oil

Drive out the impurities and excess acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. Juniper oil is pleasant to take in the form of BUKETS, the bladder physic also containing buchu leaves, etc. Works on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. Get a 25c box from any drug store. After four days if not relieved of "getting up nights" go back and get your money. If you are bothered with backache or leg pains caused from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. Gidley & Mac, Druggists, say BUKETS is a best seller.

PONTINE MARSHES

WILL BECOME FARMS

Italian Engineers Reclaim Vast Areas of Land.

Washington.—The Pontine marshes, renowned through history as a breeder of malaria, are being reclaimed in one of Italy's major engineering projects. Vast areas of fertile land only 30 miles from densely-populated Rome will be thrown open to colonization as soon as roads and rural centers can be built in the newly-drained sections. The land will be sold on easy terms in an effort to make the project pay for itself.

"While the Pontine marshes lie within commuting distance of the capital of Italy, and are crossed by the Appian way, one of the world's most famous roads, the region has remained one of the strangest and least-known corners of Italy," says a bulletin from the National Geographic society.

"The Via Appia, (Appian way) built by Appius Claudius about 300 years B. C., starts from Porta San Sebastiano, the southern gate of Rome, and leads toward Naples. For the first 6 miles it runs as straight as a taut string, until it reaches the town of Terracina, where it passes under the cliff of Monte Sant' Angelo that overhangs the sea.

"Old Roman Monuments. "When you leave the Eternal city on this classic road, you pass at first along a wonderful array of old Roman sepulchral monuments; then you climb up the Alban hills, extinct volcanoes of prehistoric times, and from there you gradually descend upon a great plain, some 30 miles from Rome, known to history as the Pontine marshes.

"On the left, as you travel toward Terracina, are the olive-covered Lepine mountains, of gray limestone, that at sunset are veiled by that beautiful purple haze one sees so often reproduced on the background of the early Renaissance paintings. To the right is the Tyrrhenian sea, along the border of which runs a large sand dune covered by an oak forest some 30 miles in length. Between the dune and the sea is a series of lagoons.

"At the extreme end a solitary mountain rises, to all appearances from the sea. It is Mount Circeo, the cornerstone of the Pontine marshes. This mount was an island in bygone ages, as geologists have proved, and Homer, eight centuries before Christ speaks of it in the 'Odyssey' as an island, though probably it has already ceased to be so in his day.

"The large quadrangle formed by the foothills of the Alban volcanoes, by the Lepine mountains, by the wooded sand dunes of the coast, and by Mount Circeo, measuring some 150,000 acres of extraordinarily fertile land, embraces the entire area of the Pontine marshes. The water, hemmed in on all sides, could not flow out.

Breeder of Malaria. "In winter the mountain streams poured their foaming, muddy torrents upon this lowland, flooding thousands of acres; the rich mud slowly settled, coating the fields with a silt which is the finest of fertilizers; then the waters gradually ran out through narrow channels until, in summer, only the lowest portion of the land, that which lies practically at sea level, remained in a swampy condition.

"A dense, luxuriant growth of water plants sprang up with the approach of the warmer seasons; the stagnant, lukewarm waters teemed with life of every description, and toward the month of July the treacherous anopheles mosquito dropped its flimsy larval veil, rose out of the marshes, and flying around in search of a living for itself, sowed death upon humanity.

"By stinging a malaria-infected person the mosquito infects itself, and then, stinging some healthy individual, it communicates the disease to him. Malaria is not deadly in itself, but its repeated attacks so weaken the human organism that frequently fatal illnesses take hold of the fever-stricken body.

"The inundations in winter and the malaria in summer drove the population out of the plain; but the unparalleled fertility of the soil enticed some people back to defy the disease. The lowlands of the Agro Pontino are deserted; there are no cities or villages, but some lonely hamlets and, scattered here and there, farm buildings, in which a few persons live in summer.

"Many centuries ago most of the inhabitants fled to the mountains, built their towns on some steep hills, and from these vantage points made dashes into the plain to work the fields and tend the cattle. Soon these people will be able to take up permanent homes in reclaimed areas of the former marshes."

Famed Louvre of Paris Spreads Over 50 Acres

Paris.—The Louvre in Paris can easily claim to be the largest composite public building in the world, for it occupies an area of nearly 50 acres. But its size and even its architectural features are of far less importance to humanity than the superb art collections within its walls, which had their beginning in the reign of Francis I, the great art patron, who tried to make Paris the Mecca of the cultured world by attracting thither the leading artists of the day.

The second great importance is its importance as a home of great royal scenes, for here Catherine de Medici lived after Henry II was killed and it witnessed the marriage of Margaret of Valois to Henry of Navarre, later Henry IV of France.

A Romance of the North Woods

By Harold Titus

OLD TOM BELKNAP, powerful timber baron, needed a manager for the Kampfest operation, but refused to give his son the job, even though the boy was thoroughly qualified to handle it. "Too young," he said. The boy thought differently. They clashed, and Young John went out to prove his father wrong. . . . Back in the woods he heard strange tales. His father was reported to be using violence, treachery and the power of his wealth to break a smaller rival concern. Young John could not believe his father capable of such methods, but he proposed to find out for himself how matters stood. As John Steele, he offered his services in the fight of right against might, and discovered to his amazement that a courageous girl was playing a lone but losing hand against his father's company!

HERE INDEED, is a situation to grip and hold your interest, and here is a writer who has done more than ample justice to his plot. BELOW ZERO is a robust story, crammed with action and thrills, and in the person of its heroine, Ellen Richards, the author has presented one of the most appealing heroines in recent fiction.

It will appear serially in these columns, and we assure you it is well worth reading.

TAX BOOST SPURS TOBACCO RUNNERS

Spain Confronted With Smuggling Problem.

Malaga, Spain.—The blue waters of the Mediterranean, famous for the activities of pirates, corsairs, and contraband runners, still is the busy scene of smuggling of tobacco.

Since the republic has raised the taxes on tobacco, the price of cigarettes legally acquired in Spain is higher—hence the added incentive to the fleet of tobacco runners.

In an area only as big as that of a handful of American states, there is a gamut of varying jurisdictions, which handicaps the authorities and, conversely, renders the task of the tobacco runner easier.

Within sight of Malaga on a clear day lies Gibraltar, which is British, and a big trading center with the orient, especially India. To the east of Tangier is Spanish Morocco, nominally under the jurisdiction of the sultan, through his intermediary, the jaffa. A little farther to the east is French Algeria, with its tobacco center of Oran, which lies nearly directly south of the Spanish port of Cartagena. In other words, within a half day's cruising distance from this city one may place one's self within the jurisdiction of Great Britain, France, Spain, Spanish Morocco, or of the international city of Tangier.

The contraband of tobacco is operated more or less along the same lines as that of rum-running off the eastern coast of the United States. The tobacco is purchased legally in French, British, or international territory and loaded onto what we might call a "mother ship."

This boat, in turn, unloads its cargo onto smaller tobacco runners, doing so in many cases in the calm waters of some bay in the islands of Majorca, Menorca, or Ibiza (Spanish), which lie conveniently situated just across from the ports of Valencia and Barcelona. Then, comes the task of running the tobacco ashore and evading the vigilance of the carabinieri; whose posts are stretched all along the coast.

The Spanish government has delegated to the "Compania Arrendataria de Tabacos," one of the tobacco concessionaries, the task of maintaining a fleet of small boats to watch for contrabandists. But there are a lot of difficulties in their way. In the first place, the contrabandists have jurisdiction only over Spanish craft, and hence, when a contrabandist is sighted, it takes the precaution to put aloft a foreign flag—whether its registry be Spanish or foreign does not make any difference.

German Village Boasts World's Biggest Shoe

Nuernberg.—Nuernberg, home town of the old poet cobbler, Hans Sachs, boasts the biggest shoe in the world. That does not mean that a German citizen has the biggest foot in the world. The shoe is an exhibit at the German shoe exhibition opened recently in Nuernberg. It weighs 550 pounds, is 9 feet 7 inches long, and 5 feet 2 inches high. Three apprentices worked on it for three weeks. The creator of the giant shoe is Josef. Schratz, leather artist from Oberstdorf, the town that runs a close competition to Venice in its leather creations.

Another entry at the Nuernberg fair is a giant sport shoe weighing 700 pounds. It is over 6 feet long and is a product of the Barthelmes shoe factory of Nuernberg.

Box "Detector" Tells Speed of Automobiles

Hartford, Conn.—A little box with a reflector has taken the place of motorcycle cops to check up on speeders. The "speed detector," used by the state department of motor vehicles to determine the average speed of motorists on Connecticut highways, consists of a box in which a mirror is set across the angle at 45 degrees. The operator, concealed from the highway, catches the reflection as an automobile starts over a measured course, and opens a stop watch, which he closes when the vehicle passes him. Knowing the distance and the time in which it was traversed, he quickly computes the speed. Experiments showed the average speed 26 miles an hour in cities and 36.5 on highways.

2 Pavements on Street to Satisfy Aldermen

Lockport, N. Y.—When two aldermen, Timothy J. O'Shaughnessy and Donald Jones, failed to agree as to whether a certain street separating their two wards should be resurfaced with brick or macadam, a center course was chosen—one side of the street was resurfaced with brick and the other with macadam.

Lobsters Made Big to Protect Lives

Noank, Conn.—Connecticut is speeding up the babyhood of lobsters to save their lives. At the state fish hatcheries here, the baby lobsters are fed liver every two hours. This cuts in half the period of infancy in which lobsters float and are subject to preying fish and other damage. When the shells mature and become heavy the lobsters sink to the bottom of the sea.

The Fable of the Bust-Over

By GEORGE ADE

(© Bell Syndicate.)—WNU Service.

There is an old saying that every old Nag slips the halter at least once during the clover season. Suggesting that even the most docile Work Animal sometimes gets tired of tugging away in the harness and having all sorts of Drivers yelling Giddaps at him.

In the case of Mr. Irving J. Whamm it would be difficult to find a more domesticated and tamed Old Dobbin. It just seemed that he had been dropped down to the Earth in order to do all of the Heavy Pulling for Elvira and the two Debs and the soft-collared Argentine Prince who was Her Apparent and didn't work at anything else, seldom calling for his Coffee before 10 A. M.

Any down-trodden Money-Grubber who has three Gimmies to keep in fine Raiment and Lavender Water and high-powered Cars and whatever One happens to see in Shop Windows, seldom is inclined to learn the Saxophone, eat Welsh Rarebits at 2 g. m. or devote Hours and Hours to penetrating the hidden Mysteries of the Charleston.

Therefore, Mr. Whamm, aside from being a Meal Ticket, was, so far as the other Whammms were concerned just a Comic Strip. They figured that he had only two Accomplishments. He could make Money and Social Errors. His place was in the Background except when it was time to write checks. The Ideal Arrangement would have been to keep him in a Cage somewhere and let him pass out the Needful through the Bars.

Grooming Up Papa.

You can imagine the Consternation which prevailed among the Whammms as the time drew near for Mrs. Chauncey Wainwright's annual Bid for Publicity. Every Mid-Winter, about the Time that Folks were recovering from the Holidays, Mrs. W. threw a Party which was a combination of Reception, Dance, Street Carnival and Indian Uprising. The principal idea was to make the World sit up and take notice and she got her Wish.

It was the kind of Party which no Woman could attend unless she had Everything new including that which does not show; Intentionally. It was the sort of Celebration for which the Participants go into training, usually sleeping all of the Day before. It was organized to turn Night into Day. What you might designate as a Wow.

What worried the Whammms was that Papa would be compelled to attend the Doings, because Mrs. Chauncey Wainwright's Mother had been a Whamm and the Hostess had exacted a solemn Promise that Irving would be brought along, she evidently laboring under the Delusion that he was a Human Being. He told Serena, otherwise known as Mrs. Wainwright, that he would check in early, wearing a Boyish Bob and some Sleigh Bells.

The Wife and the two Lip-Stickers and the proud Aristocrat with Glue on his Hair started in two Weeks ahead to warn him and prepare him. They told him that this was going to be a real Party, with Palms in the Corner, Chicken Salad, Punch Bowl and Everything like that. The Guests were not expected to pull Taffy, pop Corn or play Kissing Games. It was suggested to Mr. Whamm that he had better not wear his Comforter and Yarn Mittens and to be sure and remove his Ear-Muffs before entering the Ball Room.

Straw That Broke the Nag's Back.

Susie, the elder of the two Junior Feminine Inabilities, asked him if he knew what kind of Tie went with Full Dress and did he have any Studs other than the Little Wooden Ones sent back by the Laundry? Chlorine, the younger, begged him, for the Love of St. Patrick, not to wear heavy Street Shoes with the conventional Regalia and if he had to appear in the old Dress Suit, purchased when the Reception was given to President Taft, for the Sake of his Family, to remain backed up against the Wall all during the Proceedings.

"You know, of course," said the Son, looking down at him from Heights above, "that there will be no square Dances—not even a Virginia Reel. If you are wise you will take that new Sabatini Book with you and remain in the Upper Apartment where the Gentlemen leave their Things."

They hopped him just once too often. They rode him ragged and finally he Bucked. As he retreated to his Den, followed by Peals of Scornful Laughter, there came to his Face a stern and set Expression of Resolve such as David wore just before stepping into the Roadway to face Goliath, such as Spartacus showed to the hundred Gladiators in the basement of the Colosseum, such as you see on the face of Washington in the Steel Engraving of Crossing the Delaware and such as Charley Dawes used to assume just before entering the Senate Chamber.

On the Night of Nights, the Stranger who came early in the evening, ostensibly to see Mr. Whamm on a Matter of Business, was none other than a trained Valet and Dresser who had devoted his Life to the impossible Task of making men beautiful.

After he had backed Mr. Whamm into the new Garb turned out by a Tall or who enters to Young Men, and had tied the Bows on the Glossy Pumps, and inserted the sure-enough Pearls and put the Bitterly effect on the Choker and touched up the Eye-brows, and combed the Hair so as to cover up the Hazard between the Rough and the Fairway, Our Hero was ready to go in front of a Camera and play the Lead in a Movie Version of that tender and wholesome Drama known as "The Great Lover."

Papa's One Glorious Evening.

He kept his Hat down and hid inside of his Overcoat, so the anxious and worried members of his Flock did not get a square Flash of him until he sauntered out on the Ball Room Floor and then they realized that Oscar Shaw, in the Second Act of the Revue, had merely been pretending to wear something Snappy in the way of Evening Habilliments. Father made the Lilies of the Field look like Weeds. All who saw him, and especially those who were near enough to smell him, agreed that he was the He-Belle of the Occasion.

He didn't go near any of the Whammms during the long Night. He was too busy telling the other Boys that Congress shouldn't have passed the Law in the first Place.

He did not know any of the new Dances, so he mastered all of them in about Ten Minutes and after that everything was Hotsy-Totsy until about 4:30 when he Sent Word to the Whammms to beat it, as he was booked for Ham and Eggs at a Dump down near the Railway Tracks. He had been reading up and he knew that all Nice People must welcome the Dawn in a Beanyery kept open for Taxi Drivers.

The Day after the Party was the Happiest Day of his Life in spite of the Fact that the inside of his mouth felt like an Oriental Rug and he could hear Bells ringing. Not one of the Beloved Ones would speak to him.

After years of timid Yearning, he had succeeded in being a Disgrace. It was all to the Good. Better be a Rouse than a Rubie.

On the Second Day the good Work-an did step out of the Snow Bank long enough to tell him that such-and-such. Didoes were bad enough for a Young man, but for a crumbling Wreck about to be condemned by the Building Department, they were unspicable.

Whereupon he said that a Man is just as old as his Arteries and, speaking for Himself, he had Arteries that were as pliable as cooked Macaroni and as elastic as Rubber Bands, and, if there was such a thing as Reincarnation, possibly he was a Second Edition of Peter Pan.

The upshot of the whole Scandal has been that, so far as he is concerned, Rough Parties are out and Son is using the form-fitting Soap and Fish Ointment.

Pupils in Flying Must

Learn Full-Flight First

It may seem rather like putting the cart before the horse that the pupil in flying is taught thoroughly how to handle a machine in full flight before he even knows how to take off or to land, writes Alan Warwick, in Pearson's Magazine. The point is, of course, that at several thousand feet in the air errors of control can be made more or less with impunity. There is ample time for the pupil to correct them or, if he gets himself tied up into knots, the instructor can straighten things out.

Landing a machine, or taking-off, on the other hand, gives no such latitude. The machine is very near the hard, hard ground. Therefore, both these phases of flying an airplane—more particularly the landing—call for a precision of judgment that the pupil obviously cannot possess until he has become thoroughly familiar with the controls, a familiarity he only acquires in mid-air.

To the beginner it may well seem that the delicate work of landing a machine—achieving the ideal three-point landing, tail-skid and two wheels setting gently on the ground together—is something far too difficult for him ever to accomplish. But as his lessons proceed he soon modifies his views. Such is the confidence and self-reliance he acquires that, when at last he comes to mastering the take-off and landing, the control-column has become almost part of himself, and he finds they are problems well within his compass.

Before taking the tests for his "A" license, the new pilot must have flown at least three hours solo. The tests themselves, in addition to showing flying skill, include a simple medical examination. The additional questions put by the medical examiner are searching enough.

The qualifying pilot must also display knowledge of the elementary rules relating to air traffic. For instance, he must know the correct method of approaching a landing ground, and what he has to do when meeting another machine in mid-air.

As one quickly realizes, the "rule of road" in mid-air is as important for the safety of aircraft as are rules and regulations for road traffic. Being of a three-dimensional nature they are rather more complicated.

Land Elevations

A mountain is any elevation of land high enough to be very conspicuous in its surroundings. In general, an elevation higher than a hill and often rising with a comparative abruptness, but without great extent of surface at its summit. Popularly, the term is variously used; hills which rise 100 to 200 feet above essentially flat surroundings are sometimes called "mountains," as in southern New Jersey and the plains of Texas, while in a mountainous region, as near the Rocky mountains, elevations of 1,000 or 2,000 or more feet are called hills.

Now Fringe Lends Its Enchantment

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

IT'S fringe on this and fringe on that in the style parade this season. To live up to the fashion pace set by smart Parisiennes something or other in your wardrobe really must be trimmed with fringe.

As to just how many yards of fringe should be lavished on a garment, there is no limit. Some frocks are literally covered with fringe, yet withal, handied that artfully one does not feel they are getting too much of a good thing. Illustrating this point, we refer to the handsome fringe-laden dress in the picture. It is black crepe with a satiny sheen. The row upon row of fringe on the skirt subscribes to the diagonal movement which is so characteristic of trimming treatments at present.

The draped capelet scarf achieves a high neckline effect as it should to conform with the dictates of fashion. Then, too, observe that the ends of the scarf are brought to the back instead of the front in latest approved manner. This same frock repeated in white is perfectly charming.

Here is a suggestion for the woman who must make one formal evening dress do duty for many occasions. Suppose in order to give a concrete illustration, your gown is of velvet or crepe in one of the rich tones of red which are so beloved this season, or black or white, if you prefer. It is made very simply, we will say, the skirt cut on the bias lines which make it snug-fitting, slenderizing, tall and stately. The bodice is semi form-fitting and extremely décolleté with simple straps of the velvet over the shoulders. In such a frock there lurk untold possibilities in the way of interchangeable effects, one of the most intriguing being the making of a detachable draped cape-scarf of the same material as the dress, following the lines of the one which graces the black fringe-trimmed model pictured. Thus you have an exquisitely simple gown which depends on fabric elegance to distinguish it and which can be transformed into a dinner gown or less formally by covering the shoulders with the fringe-bordered capelet.

Other ideas for little capelets and shoulder fancies which are trimmed with fringes are shown in the tiny sketches. The cape in the upper right corner is particularly interesting. It is made of white transparent velvet (it can just as well be in any preferred color or black). As you see, rows and rows of narrow white silk fringe cover it from neckline to hemline. Little evening muffs and bags are also very cleverly ornamented in this way.

To vary the theme some designers are using two kinds of fringe in alternating rows. The black dress pictured would be very effective trimmed in alternating rows of beaded jet fringe together with the usual silken type.

A most dramatic play is made in fringe treatment for the evening costume shown to the right. Here the creator of this stunning model achieves a high waistline by means of a scarf and girde combination made of red crepe in contrast to the white crepe frock. The long fringe is handied. Often very severe silhouettes are relieved by sections of long knotted and tied fringe which is worked in panels or sections here and there.

CROCHET IN VOGUE

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Many of the choicest Paris frocks are trimmed with crochet, perhaps in the form of a yoke done in mercerized cotton either in contrasting or matching color or possibly insertions or crochet motifs or bandings and other equally as attractive ideas. The vogue for lingerie collar and cuff sets which are crocheted is reflected throughout neckwear sections. The edge on the set pictured is done in mercerized cotton. This smartly clad young woman carries a pocketbook crocheted of bright-red mercerized cotton. Note the cunning sailor hat with its shallow crown. It is up-to-the-moment in chic. The scarf pictured is crocheted in lacy stitch of mercerized cotton. Smart specialty shops display scarfs of this type among their newest style items.

ODD NEW FEATURE IS VELVET JEWELS

As far as the Paris styles go, this is a year when velvet practically runs away with fashion. It is being used in Paris for dresses, daytime or evening, and for wraps and suits. But that is only half of it. The shoe matching a black dinner dress may be velvet; the muff worn with a winter ensemble may be velvet; hats, bags, scarfs, even bracelets, all may be velvet.

"One reason for the dominating position of this fabric is the challenging variety of new weaves," says the Countesse Tolstol in the Woman's Home Companion. "There are dull mat velvets and rough velvets, ribbed velvets and corded Angustbernard's afternoon dress is in the rough crinkled 'peasant velour,' and it is smart with one of Descart's velvet caps bordered in handmade cording. Molyneux's white evening gown is ribbed and he uses the material effectively, with the ribs going up and down, around and diagonally."

Velvet jewelry might seem odd if it weren't done in Paris, and attractively a set of three bracelets in bright velvet, rolled like a cigarette, is perfect for sleeves that fit tight at the lower arm.

Plump-Figured Ladies Adopt Two-Piece Dress

The sculptural lines have evidently been too great a tax on the figures of many women, or rather the figures have taxed too greatly the nerves of dress sculptors, because of a sudden now, one is discovering a good many smart women wearing two-piece dresses. This is a great break after the past seasons of trying to look like a plaster relief. And those who aren't adopting the two-piece news are almost gulping down the lowered waistline.

Warmth in Color

This is the season of the year to select warm colors for frocks and coats. So avoid steel grays and certain colorless, chilly tones of green. Burgundy is a fashionable color and it is becoming to blonds, bruhettes and between shades.

Barnyard Manure Helps Pay Taxes

Much Can Be Saved by Using Lots of the Smallest Possible Size.

Prepared by Ohio State University, WNU Service.

Manure saved by a sound management program at the barn will yield enough more crops to pay the first installment on Ohio's farm taxes, and leave money in the bank, according to J. A. Slipper, specialist in soils for the agricultural extension service at the Ohio State University.

Ohio farmers, he says, are keenly interested in building the soil at little or no cost in cash outlay. There is no place or no device by which they can do this better than by thoughtful management of the farm's supply of manure.

Much manure can be saved in lot feeding by using a lot of the smallest possible size. In this way it is possible to eliminate hundreds of tons of rain water which otherwise would find its way through the thin blanket of manure and remove its soluble load of valuable nutrients. Most lots can be reduced to one-half or one-fourth, and oftentimes one-fifth, their original size, with gain for the value of manure. The area, Slipper believes, should be so small that the depth of manure accumulated for the season will be 2 to 3 feet. This can be done by allowing each head of cattle not more than 60 square feet of area.

By shifting livestock to inside quarters it is possible to preserve the manure through the addition of ordinary superphosphate, which is the fertilizer commonly applied in the field for crops. It can be applied in the stable at the rate of three-fourths pound per day, or 5 pounds per week, for each 1,000 pounds of live weight of animal.

Manure so treated is the best balanced fertilizer the farmer can use. An application of six to ten loads of this manure per acre means the addition of about 200 pounds of superphosphate per acre for land going to corn, which is the crop that is most responsible for its use.

Oil From Soybean Seed Valuable Part of Crop

Brought here from the Orient, the soybean has proved a valuable addition to American crop plants. However, the problem of developing it to its full possibilities is complicated and will take long and patient study.

The oil that is pressed from the seed is one of the most valuable products of the soybean crop and naturally has received part of the major attention of investigators. Studies have established that in breeding for quantity and quality of oil in the soybean, the best procedure seems to be to analyze adapted varieties and then isolate the best line from the best variety. After the best line has been isolated, further selection is ineffective. Differences in oil content are believed to be inherited, but attempts to obtain types with increased oil content by crossing lines from the same variety were unsuccessful.

Hog Ration

At the Illinois experiment station some years ago, two lots of 70-pound pigs were fed in dry lot till they reached a weight of 237 pounds per head. Lot 1 was fed shelled corn, alfalfa meal and tankage, while Lot 2 was fed corn, soybean oil meal, alfalfa meal and a mineral mixture composed of equal quantities by weight of ground limestone, steamed bone meal and salt.

These two lots both consumed exactly the same amount of feed per hundred pounds of gain. Lot 1 ate 390 pounds corn, 24 pounds of tankage and 8 pounds alfalfa meal per hundredweight of gain, while Lot 2 ate 352 pounds corn, 50 pounds soybean oil meal, 13 pounds alfalfa meal and one pound of mineral. Soybean oil meal contains about 40 per cent of protein while tankage contains 60 per cent. Thus while tankage has heretofore been considered superior as a protein supplement for hogs, this test shows soybean oil meal, cost considered, more valuable when it is fed with a mineral mixture.—Exchange.

Intercepting Ditches

Where high land discharges considerable flood water onto lowland, it is often possible to cut off this flow with an open ditch at or near the foot of the hill and carry it away to some nearby outlet stream, thus preventing the flooding of the lowland. These ditches are usually made wide and shallow. The excavated material is all thrown to the lower side, thereby increasing the capacity of the ditch. The bank and sides of the ditch are then smoothed off and sown to grass. As the capacity of such a ditch is required only occasionally and for short periods, no crops will be killed and no land is wasted by the ditch.

Value of Mixed Farming

The great lesson of the crisis is the utter condemnation of one-crop cultivation. If the objection is made that beasts, poultry and dairy products are not fetching a better price than wheat, they do at least contribute in great measure to balance the farm budget by reducing the expense account. Our farming population must learn to be self-sufficing. The progress achieved in this direction will be profitable and may avert other crises.—La Liberté Canada.

Easy to Draw Applause From Nero's Listeners

The expression, "Go Hire a Hall" apparently had its beginning in ancient Rome at the time of Nero, according to the research staff of one of the leading moving picture producers, who explored ancient history in preparation for the filming of "The Sign of the Cross."

Nero was extraordinarily proud of his musical accomplishments, which really were very ordinary, and often hired a hall and invited his friends to come and listen to him perform. If they didn't come they received a polite note asking them to commit suicide the next day. If they did come he locked the doors upon them. Then he would play and sing for hours, happy in the steady applause and the shouts of approval which were wrung from his listeners. On one occasion it is reported that a member of the audience was so desperately bored that he jumped through a window and broke his neck.

"Utopia" as Planned by Men of Science

A colony or kind of Utopia entirely peopled and managed by scientists, engineers and economists has been proposed before the British Association for the Advancement of Science by Prof. Miles Walker of the University of Manchester, who has made a study of the subject.

This noble experiment would be tried with 100,000 persons who would endeavor to free themselves from the wastefulness and inefficiency now prevalent in a democracy where the level of general ability is that of the average human being; also from the selfishness, greed and tyranny which generally result in an aristocracy when human society as a whole is dominated by those of greater than average ability.

Here we would have a different world—an opportunity, it would seem, to demonstrate what kind of world our own could be if science were put in full untrammelled control of it.

If such a demonstration is worth anything it will show the advisability of subsequently reconstituting the world so that it is all of a piece with the small sample set up in the experiment. This could be done permanently only by disposing of the remainder of the human race.

In our belief such a colony would become a failure. Moreover it is doubtful whether the scientists involved in it would long tolerate the economists.—Scientific American.

Cherry Trees Gift of Tokyo to Washington

In November, 1909, the municipality of Tokyo, Japan, presented to the city of Washington 2,000 Japanese cherry trees as a token of the high esteem which was held by the people of Tokyo for the people of the United States. The trees arrived in Washington in January, 1910, but upon careful inspection by experts in the United States Department of Agriculture were found to be infected with the rootgall worms and other insect pests and with certain fungus diseases; this necessitated their being destroyed, which was done by burning. In February, 1912, another shipment of trees was made from Tokyo to replace those destroyed. This shipment arrived in Washington in March, 1912. The trees were in splendid condition and were immediately planted. The first tree was planted by Mrs. Taft personally in the presence of the Japanese ambassador. At the invitation of Mrs. Taft the Viscountess Chinda planted the second tree.

DISBANDED

A Georgia storekeeper, who is also a justice of the peace, was sitting in front of his store when a colored man drove up. "Say, judge," said the man; "dat woman you married me to las' week had ten chillun' in' ebry one ob dem plays some kind of a musical instrument."

"Why, that gives you a full band right in your family, Mose; you should be highly pleased. Do you want me to send off and get you a horn?"

"No, sah," was the gloomy reply; "Ah wants to get disbanded."

Sinus Trouble

Makes Life Unbearable

Last year a prominent New York judge and his wife committed suicide because sinus trouble made life unbearable. Prevent sinus infection. If nose is stuffed, head hurts across the front, throat is lined with phlegm, use SINASIPTEC, the marvelous discovery of a St. Louis doctor. SINASIPTEC makes breathing easy, keeps head and throat clear and protects against colds, catarrh, hay fever and sinus infection. Fear this out. Get a large bottle of SINASIPTEC from your druggist and use it in warm water as directed. Say it:—Sina-sip-tec.

HOW TO STOP A COLD QUICK AS YOU CAUGHT IT

A New Method Doctors Everywhere Are Advising

Take 1 or 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets.

Drink Full Glass of Water.

If throat is sore, crush and dissolve 3 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in a half glass of warm water and gargle according to directions.

Almost Instant Relief In This Way

If you have a cold—don't take chances with "cold killers" and nostrums. A cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

The simple method pictured above is the way doctors throughout the world now treat colds.

It is recognized as the QUICK-EST, safest, surest way. For it will check an ordinary cold almost as fast as you caught it.

That is because the real BAYER Aspirin embodies certain medical qualities that strike at the base of a cold almost INSTANTLY.

You can combat nearly any cold you get simply by taking BAYER Aspirin, and drinking plenty of water every 2 to 4 hours the first day and 3 or 4 times daily thereafter. If throat is sore, gargle with 3 BAYER Aspirin Tablets crushed and dissolved in a half glass of warm water, repeating every 2 or 3 hours as necessary. Sore throat eases this way in a few minutes, incredible as this may seem.

Ask your doctor about this. And when you buy, see that you get the real BAYER Aspirin Tablets. They dissolve almost instantly. And thus work almost instantly when you take them. And for a gargle, Genuine Bayer Aspirin Tablets dissolve with sufficient speed and completeness, leaving no irritating particles of grittiness. Get a box of 12 or bottle of 100 at any drug store.

NO TABLETS ARE GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN WITHOUT THIS CROSS

"THIS IS MY BEST TABLE-CLOTH BETTY—AND JUST SEE HOW GRAY IT IS"

"YOU'D NEVER GET ANYTHING WHITE IN THOSE SUDS, AUNT ROSE."

"JUST LOOK AT THIS LOVELY, SWEET, WHITE WASH! NOT AN INCH OF IT WAS SCRUBBED EITHER. ALL THE DIRT SOAKED RIGHT OUT IN RINSO'S RICH SUDS"

"BETTY TOLD ME YOU WERE GOING TO TRY RINSO. IT'S WONDERFUL, ROSE, ISN'T IT? YOU'LL LIKE IT FOR DISHES, TOO"

"THEY'RE FLAT AS A PANCAKE! YOU OUGHT TO SEE THE THICK SUDS MOTHER GETS WITH RINSO. SHE NEVER USES A WASH-BOARD ANYMORE!"

"WHAT! NO WASHBOARD? GLORY BE! IF THAT'S TRUE, I CERTAINLY WILL TRY RINSO"

Why don't YOU change to safe, scrubless washdays?

WHY WASTE your strength and ruin your hands scrubbing clothes—when the new kind of suds soaks them 4 to 5 shades whiter?

Why make clothes old and shabby before their time, rubbing them against a board, boiling them over a hot stove—when the new safe way makes them last so much longer?

Change to Rinsol! See for yourself how it soaks out dirt—safely. See how it saves your hands.

Cup for cup, Rinsol gives twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps. Lasting suds. Makers of 40 famous washers recommend Rinsol. Great for dishes, too. Try Rinsol NOW.

 In Detroit the Y. W. C. A. has just completed its new Lucy Thunman branch for colored girls. The building is modern, attractive, and well appointed with an auditorium, swimming pool, cafeteria, private dining rooms, lounge, chapel, gymnasium, game room and residence rooms for 72 people. It is peculiarly interesting to find that the building in a large part has been made possible by the efforts of those who will occupy it.

There has always been quite a field for this sort of work, but there is much more at the present time because of the large number of unemployed. The Y. W. C. A. is very fortunate in being able to open this branch at the special time and should be congratulated for sponsoring this movement.

S. B. F. C.'S MEET AT MISS PERKINS' HOME WEDNESDAY

Each girl sat with a big word on her tongue ready to answer roll call at exactly 8:30 Wednesday night when they had their regular meeting at Miss Perkins home. It was rumored around school that very day when roll call was taken. So if you heard murmuring voices Wednesday night you can very well guess that it was those girls reciting their words.

Then in keeping with the New Year each girl had to make a New Years Resolution and put it into effect at once.

A birthday book was made by each girl drawing a picture representing the month of her birthday. Miss Milliman, a guest, was the judge of the Drawings.

Helen Strehl received first prize and Gwen Gray the second prize. Helen drew a log cabin in one corner of her paper and the United States capitol in the other, representing what month? Gwen drew a bride and groom at the altar, representing what month?

Lunch of creamed chicken, jello, rolls, and tomato juice was served. At ten o'clock the meeting adjourned.

"RED AND BLACK" LOST FROM HARBOR SPRINGS 31-13

"RED AND BLACK" traveled to Harbor Springs, January 4th, but was defeated in their first conference game 31-13. Our boys fought on even terms the first quarter, the score being at 4-4.

In the second quarter Harbor Springs made baskets from all angles on the floor and were leading 19-9 as the half ended. They piled up twelve points while we were held to only four at the last half. As the gun sounded, ending the game, Harbor Springs had won, 31-13. The reserves kept up their winning streak by downing Harbor Springs second team 22-13 in the preliminary.

The points were just about evenly divided up. Our "Red and Black" plays Mancelona next Friday night on the local's floor. Let's all turn out and cheer our boys.

TOBOGGAN SLIDE 250 FEET HIGH HAS BEEN STARTED

A toboggan slide 250 feet high has been started by the High School boys, one teacher, and some of the alumni. It is on the north west slope of Mt. Lookout and about 1 1/2 miles from town.

It will, no doubt, be the highest toboggan slide in this part of the state. It is 115 feet higher than Grayling's. It is about 1/4 of a mile long and has an average grade of 25%. It reaches a maximum grade of 30%.

There is an excellent view from the top which is 500 feet above the lake. One can see Charlevoix and Lake Michigan on a clear day.

MEETING OF PARENT-TEACHERS ORGANIZATION HELD

Thursday afternoon at 3:45 the regular monthly meeting of the P. T. A. was held in room 15 at the high school.

The program was opened by some of the children from the West Side who sang some very clever songs.

Dr. Brenner explained the difference between the old method of vaccination and the modern. He demonstrated this by vaccinating two students of the Junior High School. Dr. Brenner expressed his regret that more people did not take advantage of this last offer to be made through the COUZENS Foundation to vaccinate school children without charge, and thus give them insurance against disease. He also made the suggestion that parents should be more careful and not allow their children to come on the bus when they are broken out with rashes or suffering from severe colds.

The subject of the White House Conference called two years ago by President Hoover for a study of child care problems was discussed by Mr. Wade. The Children's charter, an outgrowth of this conference, was presented and discussed by Mrs. Brintnall.

An out of town guest, Miss Wilma Milliman, who teaches 5th grade at the Jefferson School, Battle Creek, was present at the meeting.

It was announced by the President, Mrs. Smatts, that the next meeting will feature the annual Open House from 7 o'clock to 8 when teachers will be in their rooms to meet and confer with parents.

It is expected that Professor H. Y. McClusky of the University of Michigan will be the speaker of the evening. The program will begin at 8:00. It is desired that a large number will attend this meeting.

Gift Overalls Returned; Cause Is the High Duty

Elyria, Ohio.—A pair of overalls which had been sent as a gift to a friend in Germany was recently returned to Jose Frassel, tailor here, because it requires a week's wages to pay the import duty on them.

Accompanying the returned overalls was a letter in which the German friend stated that the import duty amounted to eight marks and 60 pfennig, or $2.10 in American money, which amounted to a week's wages.

Advertising will convert depression into prosperity.

Swedish Police May Use Movies in Riot Trials

Stockholm.—The police here are seriously thinking of using moving picture cameras during public disturbances to help them gain convictions. Stills taken during political riots and the like, have often been produced in court as evidence to show some person or persons in the act of stone throwing. The trouble with stills, however, is that although a person may be shown with a stone in his hand, there is no actual proof that the stone was thrown by that person. A moving picture camera would record every movement of the throwing, or as the case may be the striking of a blow. Experts are working on a camera of the baby type which can be carried easily, worked easily, and operated from a distance.

Man Evades Army Duty by Using Feminine Name

Kemmerhissar, Turkey.—By mis-spelling his name a peasant of this village made himself officially a woman and for seven years escaped military service and taxes. Hansel gave his name the feminine twist of Henife when he registered at his coming of age. He was heavily fined.

Family of Twins

East St. Louis, Ill.—Three sets of twins are included in the family of Mr. and Mrs. William Fallon, a city fireman here. The latest set of twins were born several weeks ago.

Stock Boom Brings Out Hoarded Cash

Gary, Ind.—The stock market boom is lifting hoarded cash from caches here. Proofs offered by W. W. Gasser, president of the Gary State bank, in pointing out that money from his own safety deposit boxes is being taken out and placed in the stock market.

Gasser recalled a recent instance when a patron placed $1,000 in gold coin, somewhat oxidized from long storage, on the counter in exchange for industrial stocks.

Increasing quantities of the old "brick size" bank notes of $50 and $100 denominations are turning up, he said.

Gasser said he was of the firm opinion that the "dehoarding" symptoms were genuine omens for a gradual return of "good times."

Nobody is perfect—not even you.

Clean Shave Almost Cost Him Rhodes Scholarship

Columbus, Ohio.—For want of a mustache, Fred Fricken, mathematics instructor at Ohio State university, almost lost a Rhodes scholarship, which includes two years study and living expenses at Oxford university, England, he sent in a portrait of himself with a mustache. Later he shaved it off. Then upon his appearance for examination, the judges failed to identify him. However, a former professor vouched for Fricken. Now, just as a precaution Fricken is regrowing the mustache.

Fix Dead Man's Curve

Sau Benito, Texas.—State highway workers are spending $6,000 eliminating the famous "dead man's curve" on the Brownsville road near here. Twenty persons have been killed and several hundred injured at the fatal "S" curve.

Good advertisers know that writing an advertisement is a job that requires care, even if it is going to be inserted in The Charlevoix County Herald where results are almost certain.

THEN SPEND YOUR MONEY WITH CONFIDENCE

For someone, every day, the biggest news is not on the front page. It's not even in the news columns.

There may be an earthquake in Italy or a revolution in Central America. There may be a hot election campaign or a million dollar fire or a metropolitan crime wave. But for Jim Jones, who has decided to buy a new Sedan, and for Mrs. Thompson, who needs some school dresses for little Mary Lou, the big news of the day is in the advertisements.

Even the doings of Congress and the big league baseball results pale into insignificance beside the news of something you really want.

The advertising columns bring you, each day, sound information about quality, style and price. They announce new products and new developments that save time, trouble or expense for millions of people. They point out healthful habits of eating, sleeping, exercising.

Constantly advertised goods are safe to buy. Behind them stand the manufacturer and the merchant, guaranteeing their uniform quality. Read the advertisements before you buy.

DO YOU READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS?
