Annual Charlevoix Co. Picnic

PLANNED FOR LABOR DAY, SEPT. 7, AT WHITING PARK

Communities are making great preparation for the huge crowd that will be enjoying the 14th annual County Picnic on Labor Day, September 7. This is the one day when all folk in the county, both city and farm, unite for the occasion.

There will be something doing every minute of the day. Beginning in the morning soft ball games will be staged. Already leagues have been formed in the county and there will be not less than three games played to select the champion of the county. In the afternoon, sports, running races, and many new stunts will be thrown in for good measure. The quilts contest will be staged. Also all of the best talent in the county will be secured for the amateur contest. The participants will come from all sections of the county and it will be the greatest gathering of talent ever assembled in the county.

Another big feature of the day will be the 4H club canning exhibits, in which there will be 9 or 10 different clubs competing for top honors. There will be at least 500 quarts of fruit, vegetables, jellies, jams, and canned meats on display. In addition there will be over 40 dairy animals exhibited by 4H members throughout the day.

Music will likewise be featured by the appearance of two or three bands within the county. Free coffee, sugar and cream will be furnished during the noon hour. The various American Legion posts in the county will be on hand to quench your thirst and to satisfy your appetite.

Whiting County Park has been developed from year to year until all Charlevoix county can be justly proud of possessing such a beautiful spot. This picnic is for you and yours. Make your plans now to attend. More details will be presented next week, but don't forget Labor Day.

County Agr'l Agent

Pony Entrant

Little Walter Rix, 7, of 1143 West Six Mile Rd., Detroit, is the first to enter a pet in the Michigan State Fair pet show. He brought his pony, Ginger, to the Fair Grounds and said he would enter his pet if Ginger were given grazing privileges on the Fair Grounds. The request was granted. Ginger is here shown taking a lump of sugar from Miss Virginia Lyon. The Fair will be held this year Sept. 4 to 13 inclusive.

Where Grant Lived

This is the house in which President U. S. Grant lived when he was an obscure army lieutenant stationed in Detroit. The house was recently moved from Fort street to the Detroit Fair Grounds where it will be open to visitors to the Michigan State Fair, Sept. 4 to 13. Workmen are shown restoring the house to its condition when Grant lived in it. The house will be stocked with Grant relics.

Next Sunday the churches here will be open and, if you feel that way you can listen to the preacher of your choice without any expense.

East Jordan Public Schools Will Open Monday, Sept. 14th

Owing to the delay in the contractors getting the science and home economics rooms finished, the opening of school will be postponed until Sept. 14.

Several new teachers will be added to the high school staff. We hope to be able to publish a complete list next week.

The new addition will be ready for occupancy about Oct. 15. At that time it is planned to again establish a kindergarten. Children who will be six years of age by Jan. 1, 1937, will be admitted to the first grade when school opens.

Dr. E. C. Lobenstine Preaches Sunday

Dr. E. C. Lobenstine, of New York City, will preach at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning at 10:30.

Dr. Lobenstine was for some years Executive Secretary of the International Christian Council of China, and probably has a better knowledge of Christian work in China than any other living person. He has visited mission work in several countries, and was a member of the Jerusalem Council of missionary representatives from all denominations and from practically every country of the world. This is the first time Dr. Lobenstine has spoken in Michigan, and East Jordan is fortunate in being able to have him speak here.

All of the members of the Sunday school who meet upstairs are invited to be present at this service, and there will be no meeting of the Sunday School above the Primary department.

MARRIAGES

Lavanway - Pfeiffer

The home of Rev. and Mrs. James Leitch was the scene of a very pretty and neat wedding Saturday afternoon, Aug. 22nd, 1936, when he united in marriage Mr. Vern W. Pfeiffer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pfeiffer, of Detroit, to Miss Olive Avis Lavanway, also of Detroit. Miss Lavanway, a former East Jordan girl, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lavanway of East Jordan.

In uniting these young people in marriage Rev. Leitch used the ring vows. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Lavanway. The young couple will make Detroit their home.

To Take Part in Program

The advanced pupils of the WPA violin class will take part in the program given at Whiting Park in the afternoon on Labor Day, Sept. 7.

Import Labor While

Texas Pays Relief

Chicago.—The necessity of importing Mexicans to pick a bumper Texas cotton crop while 138,404 persons are on work relief in the Lone Star state is too much for one former Democrat. He is E. F. Baxter, of Chilton, Texas, who wrote to the Republican National Committee headquarters here announcing his conversion and enclosing newspaper clippings which described queer goings on in his home state.

"The article striking me most forcibly is that where right here in Texas with thousands on relief the people in the lower valley section are asking for permission to ship in Mexicans to pick a bountiful crop," Mr. Baxter wrote. "So much for the Roosevelt relief."

The story to which he referred, an Associated Press dispatch in the Dallas News, said the Mercedes chamber of commerce had asked Congressman Milton H. West to seek suspension of the immigration rulings to meet the labor shortage. Growers feared damage to the crop if it were not picked at once, but no local labor could be obtained.

Straight From the Heart

"It would be well for politicians to remember that there are still more people off relief than on it. These will have a say about the building of a political machine with their own hard-earned dollars. — Charles Francis Coe."

"Nearly everything has been explained except why there are more unemployed this year than there were last year. — The Lynchburg (Va.) News, Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, owner."

The chronic hand-shaker usually has something up his sleeve.

First Primary Money To Come Early In September

State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, announced Saturday the first installment of primary school interest money this year will amount to $10,766,509, which is $272,020 less than last year's installment. The second installment will also be proportionately lower. It will provide an average of $7.70 for each census child compared with last year's $7.93.

The State Legislature provided for a total distribution of $37,400,000 including the Primary School Interest Fund to the 6700 school districts of the state for this year. This is an increase of $1,360,000 over last year. With the shrinkage in the primary interest fund, it will be necessary to appropriate over twenty-three million dollars from the State General Fund, which derives its revenue largely from the sales tax.

Dr. Elliott said the first installment of Primary School Interest Fund would come early in September.

Basic Science Bill Favored By State Medical Society

A Basic Science Bill for Michigan, similar to laws already on the statute books of nine states and the District of Columbia, was favored by the Executive Committee of the Council of the Michigan State Medical Society meeting last week in Detroit.

The first law of this type was passed in Wisconsin in 1925. Connecticut's Legislature adopted a Basic Science Bill the same year. Within five years, Minnesota, Nebraska, Oregon, Iowa, and the District of Columbia followed suit.

Essentially, the Basic Science proposal would set minimum educational standards, in non-clinical subjects, for those who aspire to practice. The examiners would be teachers and not practitioners of healing.

CAN SOUP NOW FOR EASY MEALS

Recommendations that housewives with extra garden produce will find it worthwhile to can soup mixtures for use when fresh vegetables are not easily available is made by the home economics extension department at Michigan State College.

It is often a convenience to put up soup mixtures when other canning is being done. Good soup vegetables include tomatoes, corn, lima beans, okra, carrots, turnips, celery, onions, pimentos and green peppers. One of the combinations that are popular can include equal portions of lima beans, corn and tomatoes.

Processing under pressure has become the recommended practice for canned soup made in home kitchens. Studies also have been made so that the process can result in the best possible flavor in the products.

For putting up vegetable-soup mixtures the home economics staff suggests the following procedure: Wash and trim the vegetables. They should be cut into small pieces or cubes to get the flavor into the soup and permit better processing.

Bring the soup to the boiling point and pack the vegetables hot with sufficient liquid to cover and prevent too dense a pack. A steam pressure cooker should be operated at 10 pounds pressure or 240 degrees Fahrenheit through the time recommended. For pint glass jars, 60 minutes of processing is necessary. Quart jars need 70 minutes; No. 2 cans require 50 minutes and No. 3 cans 65 minutes, according to the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

HOME LIGHTING CAN BE SCIENCE

Prevalence of much eyestrain and the need for wearing glasses is proof of the importance of the slogan "Better Light for Better Sight," suggests Miss Helen Noyes, extension specialist in home economics at Michigan State College.

"When you buy a lamp," Miss Noyes advises, "look for the tag which says 'Compliance with I. E. S. Specifications.' The letters stand for Illuminating Engineering society, which makes a careful test of bulbs and shades to determine which give best results in the amount of light and the ease in treatment of the eyes."

"A coat of white paint on the inside of a dark lamp will do wonders for the eyes and incidentally will save you money by giving more light for the electric energy burned. A shade must give 75 per cent of the light from the bulb through the shade before it merits the I. E. S. tag."

The reflection of light is best from light colored walls and ceilings, which leads to the suggestion to keep all walls and ceilings light for economy in lighting and for better preservation of eyesight. By the use of bulbs of 100 to 150 watts and a reflecting bowl, according to Miss Noyes, the lamp with a light shade gives maximum light in a room that has light walls and ceiling. Sufficient light with no bulbs in sight is the recommendation of the I. E. S.

No longer does the modern homemaker shirk navy blue georgette over a rose alk foundation and sew heavy fringe on the bottom. If she knows paper illumination, says Miss Noyes, she may paint the dark shade white or look for new lamps which bear the seal of approval of the lighting society.

The Great Ziegfeld Opens At Temple This Sunday

Fresh from sensational road-show engagements at $2.50 per duet, "The Great Ziegfeld" will start a three day showing at the Temple on Sunday bringing the entire road show attraction (running three hours) to this section at popular prices. The following schedule will be in force during this engagement and you are urged to attend at starting times if possible: Sunday matinee at 2:30, prices 10c-25c. Evenings at 6:30 and 9:45, prices 10c-40c.

The Temple is currently announcing several other extra fine programs and we give you the complete week below: Friday and Saturday: Gene Autrey, the singing cowboy, in "Comin' Round The Mountain."
Sun., Mon., Tuesday; 60 stars in "The Great Ziegfeld."

Stacking Beans Cuts Cull Loss

Growers of beans in Michigan receive nothing for cull beans and in fact are docked for the labor charges in hand picking. Because many cull beans are the result of conditions prevailing during the first two weeks in September when beans are harvested and in the stack for curing, H. R. Pettigrove, assistant professor in farm crops at Michigan State College, has compiled a new bulletin "Field Stacking for Michigan Beans," Special Bulletin No. 276, available within a few days by writing the Bulletin Room, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

"Pick is the term used by bean growers and shippers in this state to designate cull beans," says Pettigrove. "The term includes foreign material and all diseased, discolored and damaged beans. The average pick on Michigan beans from 1914 to 1934 was 8.16 per cent. Obviously pick is an important factor in beans prices and bean profits.

"A typical transaction shows why a reduction in pick is worthwhile to a grower. Take a price of $3 per hundredweight for choice hand picked beans. For eight pounds of culls there would be a deduction of three cents per pound because of loss in net weight, or a loss of 24 cents. There would be a cull picking charge of five cents per pound for labor, or another deduction of 40 cents. Subtracting 64 cents from the $3 quotation, the grower actually would receive but $2.36 cents for the hundredweight."

Weather conditions are not subject to human management but harvest practices are, says Pettigrove. The method used in the harvest can do much to overcome the disadvantage of unfavorable weather. A full description with illustrations includes details of using the McNaughton system of stacking, which is one of the means which Pettigrove suggests for cutting the percentage of culls. The results would be better returns from the bean crop in which Michigan ranked first in quantity in 1935 in the nation.

Speed Plans For Knox Visit To Alma, Mich.

Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher and Republican party nominee for vice president, is to return to the scene of his college day activities in Alma to give an address Labor Day at Bahke Field that will be the feature of a big statewide Republican rally. Incidentally the event will be a homecoming for residents of this vicinity. Other central Michigan counties are cooperating heartily in plans for the assemblage.

The Young Men's Republican Club of Gratiot county, which has been active in efforts to assure a visit of Col. Knox to his Alma Mater as the main drawing card for the biggest political rally to be held in central Michigan in years, was notified that the date was set for Labor Day, Sept. 7.

Officials and prominent Republican party leaders from all parts of Michigan will contribute to the rally program.

WPA Progress

East Jordan will be represented at the softball tournament at Potoskey Aug. 27-28-29-30 by the Coffee Cup team managed by Chas. Dennis, recreational leader. The Coffee Cups have won seven games so far this season.

Hiking and several games for boys from the ages 10 to 15 will begin this week with recreational workers in charge. Any boys wishing to hike and play softball see C. Dennis or G. Saxton.

E. Jordan Team Breaks Even

LOSES TO BOYNE CITY AND WINS ST. IGNACE GAME

LOCALS LOSE

The local baseball nine were again given a severe licking by Boyne City, this time by a 11 to 8 count. The game took place before a large crowd who attended the Central Lake Homecoming Saturday, Aug. 22nd.

The locals again without the services of their ace hurler, Amos Johns, looked far from being the strong nine who so far this year have mowed down stiff opponents. Their play afield Saturday was slow and wobbly, as they committed ten costly errors. "Ike" Denemy of Charlevoix was on the mound for the locals. He hurled a fine game of ball but was constantly put in tough spots by the locals fielding misplays.

Peters hurled for Boyne setting the locals down with but seven hits while giving up three runs. "Spin" Chhak, local fielder, made the outstanding hit of the day when he slammed out a triple into deep center field and only very fast fielding prevented it from being a home run.

Raymond Swafford, WPA recreational leader and manager, played his last game as a local this year. Swafford having one of his best years, has been leading the locals both afield and at bat. His final batting average of the year is .375, with his play afield being errorless.

Next Sunday the locals will travel to Frankfort. Amos Johns will pitch with Guy Johns, his brother, doing the catching.

JOHNS WINS

The East Jordan baseball nine, with Amos Johns returning to the lineup, defeated St. Ignace, Sunday, AUG. 23, at the latter's diamond. Johns, although hit hard managed to come out on top by a 6 to 4 score. Guy Johns performed behind the plate catching the slants of his brother. Guy is in there trying to fill the shoes of Chirp Swafford, who played his last game at Central Lake. He did a fine job and he will improve as he goes along.

The locals were out hit 14 to 8. With Swafford out of the lineup the locals hits do not total as many as before. Chas. Dennis was in charge of the team Sunday. The defeat at the hands of the locals was the first that St. Ignace has been beaten in the last three years on their own diamond.

Russian Conspirators Against Stalin Plead Guilty—Italy and France Sparring Over Spain—Roosevelt Primed for Drouth Area Tour.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

© Western Newspaper Union.

SIXTEEN men, arraigned in Moscow on charges of plotting the assassination of Dictator Josef Stalin and the seizure of power in the Soviet republic, calmly pleaded guilty. Two of them, Gregory Zinoviev and Leo Kamenev, were members with Stalin 13 years ago of a triumvirate that governed Russia and are well known to the outside world. The confessions did not end the trial, for the defendants contradicted and accused one another until the case was in a jumble. Some of them, like Zinoviev, proudly accepted responsibility for the plot, which was said to have been engineered by the exiled Leon Trotsky. It was believed all sixteen would face the firing squad.

Twelve more men and one woman, the government announced, were held for examination and probable trial. Some of these were involved by the confessions of the sixteen conspirators.

In the case on trial the defendants revealed the fact that not only were they plotting the assassination of Stalin and four others, but planned also to betray Trotsky and place Zinoviev and Kamenev in supreme power.

Trotsky, at Hoenefoss, Norway, scoffed at the Moscow proceedings as "humbug." "For political vengeance," he said, "the trial puts the Dreyfus scandal and the reichstag fire in the shadow. The confessions were forced by the 'Ogpu' (secret police), which gives the accused a choice between confession according to the Ogpu's desires and taking lesser penalties or death."

PREMIER MUSSOLINI, insisting that neutrality in the Spanish war must mean absolute nonintervention, suddenly put Italy's air force of 1,500 war planes in readiness for flight to the aid of the Spanish rebels if France would not abandon her support of the Madrid regime.

News of this stirred the People's Front government of France to indignation. Officials in Paris said if Italy sent arms and munitions to the rebels in Spain or otherwise openly aided them, France would have to abandon her neutral position and help the socialists.

For a day this situation alarmed the statesmen of Europe, but soon it was stated in both Rome and Paris that negotiations for the neutrality accord were going forward nicely with prospects for a satisfactory agreement that would include both Italy and Germany. Whether Germany would come in, however, was still in doubt. Berlin was further provoked against the Madrid government by the stopping and search of the German steamer Kamerun by Spanish warships off Cadiz. German warships were ordered to protect German shipping "by all means" and the German charge d'affaires at Madrid was instructed to "protest immediately and in the sharpest form against the action of the Spanish warship, which constituted a violation of all international law."

DISPATCHES from the French border said Spanish rebel warships finally had begun the long threatened bombardment of San Sebastian and Irun, and that the loyalists were carrying out the threatened execution of the 1,900 Fascist hostages they were holding there. The battleship Espana fired a lot of heavy shells toward Fort Guadalupe but for a time at least was apparently not trying to hit that stronghold because many of their sympathizers were held prisoners in the fort. The Guadalupe garrison was hesitant in returning the fire for fear that shells would fall on French territory. Already the French government was angered by the dropping of bombs on French border towns, though it was disputed whether they came from loyalist or rebel planes.

The Fascists captured the important town of Badajoz, near the Portuguese border, at the point of the bayonet, and were reported to have executed 1,500 government adherents taken there. The rebels also reported a victory near Zaragoza after a bloody battle. General Franco met General Mola and "President" Virgilio Cabanellas at the northern rebel headquarters in Burgos and planned for further advances of their southern and northern columns on Madrid. These will be supplemented by 4,000 Moors and foreign legion veterans marching eastward from Badajoz.

CATALONIA, which for four years has been an autonomous region within the Spanish state, and which has been supporting the Madrid government against the Fascist rebels, sees in the present conditions the opportunity to establish its full independence. The generalitat or government council decreed confiscation of all private property; and then, "to eliminate dual control and place all responsibility in one place," all magistrates, judges and others appointed by the Madrid government were relieved of their duties. The council also announced it would act henceforth in complete independence in maintaining order.

The Catalonian decree promulgated plans for a single tax and speedy suppression of multiple taxation. The basis for the new tax plan, although undecided was presumed to be income, not land, as the large agricultural properties are to be collectivized.

POPE PIUS XI, addressing pilgrims from Malta, took another whack at communism. Alluding evidently to the civil war in Spain, he says: "The world is upside down, and sick from a grievous malady which threatens to become graver and more dangerous still. It is not necessary to say to you Maltese what this illness is, because you have a definite part in the tribulation."

"There is only the hand of God to aid humanity and put an end to the horrible massacres which are going on and all the offenses against human fraternity, against religion, priests and God."

PREPARATIONS for President Roosevelt's trip through the drouth region of the Middle West were practically completed and the Chief Executive was supplied with all the facts and figures needed to give him a comprehensive understanding of the situation before starting. This information was furnished mainly by WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins, who was selected to accompany Mr. Roosevelt on the tour. Mr. Hopkins told the President that in the drouth area 90,000 persons already are on the WPA payrolls and that the number eventually will be 120,000 to 150,000, the relief work being continued through the winter. At this time the cost per man is about $50 a month. Estimates of the amount of money deemed necessary to meet the situation in the "dust bowl" were given the President by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and Acting Budget Director Daniel Bell.

NEITHER Fascism nor Communism will be tolerated in Czechoslovakia, which is "a firm, indestructible lighthouse of democracy," said President Eduard Benes in a speech at Reichenberg. But he told the German minority which he was addressing particularly, that he hoped that in the fall "the Locarno powers will be able to work out a plan for general European co-operation and that good neighborly relations will be established between Germany and Czechoslovakia."

Leaders of the German minority in Czechoslovakia charge that unemployment in their part of the country is greater than anywhere else in Czechoslovakia—73 unemployed per 1,000 population, compared with the state average of 38 per 1,000. They charge that this is partly the result of the government's failure to place orders in German Bohemian factories and failure to give state jobs to members of the German minority.

SOIL conservation compliance is to be checked by a system of aerial photography, if the experiments now being carried on by the AAA are satisfactory. The plan is still only on trial but several millions of acres have already been photographed, it was learned today. So far it is proving cheaper and more efficient than the usual way of checking farmers' soil conservation compliance. The air pictures also are being extensively used by the soil conservation service to map erosion and soil depletion and to determine remedies.

SEVEN minutes of lively fighting put Joe Louis of Detroit once more on the road to the heavyweight championship. He made his comeback by knocking out Jack Sharkey, one time title holder, in the third round at New York. The Lithuanian sailor from Boston was plucky enough but proved no match for the much younger negro. Louis now wants an immediate return match with Max Schmeling, but the German insists his next fight must be with Jim Braddock.

THERE is enough wheat in the United States for the usual domestic requirements of the season of 1936-37, according to the mid-summer report of the bureau of agricultural economics, but the supply of red spring wheat and durum is short and consequently importation of those varieties will be continued. The amount, however, will not be large, Secretary Wallace stated.

"It is probable the spring wheat mills in the 1936-37 season will use a larger percentage of hard red winter and Pacific northwest wheat than last year," said the report. "A larger than usual quantity of soft red winter wheat is also likely to be used in bread flour. As a result, imports of milling wheat may be less than in 1935."

Wheat prices in the United States may be expected to average about as high relative to world price levels as during the 1935-'36 season, when the price of No. 2 hard winter at Kansas City was 15 cents over Liverpool, the bureau said. During the last three years short crops together with other influences resulted in wheat prices in the United States being maintained unusually high relative to the world market price.

"Farm prices probably have been 20 cents to 30 cents higher than might have been expected with more nearly normal yields in the United States," the report continued. "A return of average or greater than average yields in the United States would result in an export surplus and prices would adjust toward an export basis."

"The acreage seeded for the 1936 crop, 74,000,000 acres, was the second largest in history, and seedings as large for the 1937 crop would produce fully enough wheat for total domestic utilization even if yields should turn out to be one-fourth below average."

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT was at his best as a radio orator when he addressed the summer camp at Chautauqua, N. Y., on foreign relations. He expressed his deep concern about tendencies in other parts of the world and spoke bitterly about the violation of both the letter and the spirit of international agreements. "Without regard to the simple principles of honor,"

"Our closest neighbors are good neighbors," the President said. "If there are remoter nations that wish us not good but ill, they know that we are strong; they know that we can and will defend ourselves and defend our neighborhood."

Mr. Roosevelt said he had seen war on land and sea.

"I have seen blood running from the wounded," he said. "I have seen men coughing out their gassed lungs. I have seen the dead in the mud. I have seen cities destroyed. I have seen 200 limping, exhausted men come out of line—the survivors of a regiment of 1,000 who went forward forty-eight hours before. I have seen children starving. I have seen the agonies of mothers and wives. I hate war!"

Germany felt that Mr. Roosevelt's speech was aimed at them and resented his criticism. A Mexico City newspaper saw in it evidence that the Monroe doctrine was to be revised.

STARTING its 1937 building program, the Navy department opened bids on twelve new destroyers and six submarines. The bids came from private shipyards and estimates were submitted by navy yards, according to law. The latter were not made public.

It was found that the cost of construction has advanced approximately $1,000,000 per vessel in the last year. A year ago contracts for destroyers averaged $4,000,000, and $2,500,000 for submarines. Present bids were about a million dollars higher on each type of craft.

FOLLOWING the recommendation of Father Charles E. Coughlin, the National Union for Social Justice, in convention in Cleveland, endorsed the candidacy of Representative Lemke and O'Brien, heads of the Union party ticket. But, also on the advice of the priest, the Lemke platform was not endorsed. The 25,000 members of the N. U. S. J. present enthusiastically and unanimously elected Father Coughlin president of the organization. Lemke and O'Brien both appeared before the convention, delivered speeches and were given a rousing reception.

AN EQUITY suit attacking the constitutionality of the commodity exchange act, chiefly on the ground that it seeks to regulate interstate rather than intrastate commerce in violation of the Constitution, was filed in the federal district court in Chicago.

The suit was instituted by William S. Moore, a member of the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, and names the exchange, its board of directors, and the following as defendants: Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture; Leslie A. Fitz, supervisor of the commodity exchange administration in Chicago; Daniel C. Roper, secretary of commerce; Homer S. Cummings, United States attorney general; Michael L. Igoe, United States district attorney of the northern Illinois district, and Ernest J. Krutegen, Chicago postmaster.

In his petition Mr. Moore asked that the commodity exchange act be declared unconstitutional, void, and unenforceable.

FROM AROUND MICHIGAN

Ionia—Inmates at the State Reformatory here numbered 1,105 on August 11th, the lowest number since 1934.

Saginaw—The Saginaw post office has moved into temporary quarters to remain until the present post office has been remodeled and enlarged.

Menominee—Michigan's new pike hatchery, on the Menominee River near Twin Falls, is expected to be completed this month. It will devote all of its energies toward the production of pike and wall-eyes.

Petoskey—Directors of the Western Michigan and the Top-O-Michigan potato shows have decided to combine the two exhibitions this year. The show probably will be held at the Gaylord Four-H Club camp.

Fulton—This Kalamazoo County village can boast one of the few remaining ox teams. A local resident, Clarence Hendrickson, raised the animals from calves and now uses them regularly on his farm near here.

Charlotte—Albert Aalbers, Bellevue Township, is in line for Eaton County's oat king honors. He reported a yield of 668 bushels from nine acres, an average of 74 an acre. He used no commercial fertilizer. Last year the field was planted to corn.

Cheboygan—This city is all agog over its smallest citizen, Shirley Ann Boda, born on August 8th. At birth, Shirley Ann weighed 24 ounces and was seven inches long. It is believed that she has a fair chance of survival unless wintry blasts prove too much for her.

Caro—Local police officers became convinced that a pyromaniac was at large in this community after the ninth incendiary fire within a month broke out here recently. The fires were all set in Tuscola County, within three miles of M-46. Total loss is estimated at $40,000.

Jackson—The first graduates of a merit system training school here were 37 young men who studied to serve as prison guards. Six of them were to be stationed at the Ionia Reformatory, two at the Marquette branch prison and 29 at Jackson. The guard training consists of four weeks of schooling. Another group will be formed soon.

Lansing—A program of health education for expectant mothers and for the care of infants has been launched by the state health department. A corps of 25 public health nurses will travel through 32 counties spreading medical information on motherhood problems. Reduction of the death rate of mothers and infants will be the primary goal.

Grand Rapids—Last year, Jack Locks, 17, of this city, left home with $7 and traveled 12,000 miles. He plans a similar jaunt this year, with only the promise of a ride to Rochester, N. Y., and his camera for a stake. He expects to hitch-hike to New York and there hire out on a steamer, earning enough to buy a bicycle on which to continue his travels when the boat drops anchor.

Mt. Pleasant—The State's oil output for July totalled 985,533 barrels according to tabulations of the Michigan Producers Committee, thereby breaking the long string of successive million-barrel months begun in January, 1935. Declines of 25,264 barrels in Crystal and 13,329 barrels in Porter, from the previous month were not offset by the gains made in the smaller Yost, Beaverton and Ogemaw fields.

Sault Ste. Marie—Holding that the Michigan truck drivers' license law was virtually meaningless, Judge John N. Fegan recently refused to sentence an offender who had no license. The judge defended his action by stating that under the present law "persons unable to see, hear or act efficiently may operate a car on our highways," and that he therefore could not conscientiously sentence a person for not possessing any license at all.

Jackson—Jackson's schools will soon become the first in Michigan to be guarded by the new type "traffic boy" safety signs, according to announcements by the local police department. The signs, representing a schoolboy holding a placard reading "Danger, School Zone," and above whose head another sign reads: "Single Traffic—Slow" will be purchased by various business houses and civic and business organizations and individuals for replacement at the City's schools.

Milford—Mickey Cochrane, the gentleman farmer of Oakland County, and popular baseball player and manager, has entered his bull in the Aberdeen Angus class at the Michigan State Fair, Sept. 4 to 13, and although it seems certain he will win no American League pennant this year, he still has a chance for a blue ribbon. The sum of $3,329 is offered this year in the beef cattle department of the fair. The name of Mickey's bull is Eloquent Bandler II from Scripps Wildwood Farms at Lake Orion.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted by William Bruckart
National Press Building Washington, D. C.

Washington.—President Roosevelt has come out again with a statement that the burden of the new taxes is regrettable. No New Tax Levies and that there must be no new levies nor tax increase by the next congress. He chose to get his views to the public by staging a conference at the White House the other day when he summoned Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee and Chairman Doughton of the house ways and means committee for a breakfast meeting to discuss the subject. He followed this almost too quickly by releasing a statement, a letter from Secretary Morgenthau that substantiated the spoken word of his two congressional leaders.

But somehow the word from the White House prompted many observers here to pick flaws in the pronouncement; they began at once to find several places in the new picture that appeared to have been smeared over by the paint brush, and, in addition, there was a sudden yelp from the Republican national committee which did not help Mr. Roosevelt's plans to show the country that the tax burden had reached its peak.

The Republicans were quite harsh because they called attention to the fact that Mr. Roosevelt on three previous occasions had assured the country there would be no new taxes, and that in each instance new tax legislation somehow or other had been enacted by congress.

Aside from the presidential declaration that there would be no new taxes nor increases in the present levies and that there would be a study of the general tax structure, the President made the point through Secretary Morgenthau's letter that there were a good many hundred millions in "recoverable assets." He also urged upon the country that business has improved so rapidly that additional federal income may be expected from the present tax rates. This latter, of course, is true providing business holds its own or moves to higher levels but it is with respect to the recoverable assets that many questions now are being asked. For the sake of clarity, it may be explained that the recoverable assets to which Mr. Roosevelt referred consisted of the loans of federal money by the various emergency agencies for relief and recovery purposes. There are the millions loaned by the Reconstruction Finance corporation; the equally large amounts loaned by the Works Progress administration and the Public Works administration to states, counties and cities for relief or for job-making construction. In addition, there are loans by the Home Owners' Loan corporation, the Federal Farm Credit administration, loans for crop production, for marketing and countless other types. These are all carried on the books as recoverable assets and their total may amount to as much as $8,000,000,000.

The policy of the New Deal administration is to consider these at their face value. It is the claim of the White House consistently that these loans will be repaid and that they can be used to retire an equal amount of the national debt, which, indeed, is true if the loans ever are repaid.

So, whenever the New Deal is called on to defend itself against charges of imposing a gigantic burden of tax or an equally gigantic burden of public debt, its spokesmen attempt to demonstrate that the public debt figure as well as the taxes must be considered in their relationship to these recoverable assets.

To explain the Roosevelt position further, one may recall that a month ago when the public debt reached the staggering total of $33,779,000,000 the Treasury secretary contended in a public statement that against this sum there should be offset the cash assets in the general fund of the Treasury, then totaling $2,681,000,000 and the $2,000,000,000 of gold that is sterilized in what is known as the exchange sterilization fund.

"In addition," Mr. Morgenthau added in his statement, "we have certain assets representing obligations due us upon which the Treasury will realize cash and which will ultimately be available for debt retirement. These recoverable assets—millions to home owners, to farmers, to railways, to banks and insurance companies, to states, and cities—now total more than $4,000,000,000. These three items—cash on hand, stabilization fund and recoverable loans—provide an offset of $8,750,000,000 to the $33,779,000,000 public debt."

It thus is made to appear directly in issue how completely the Roosevelt administration calculates using these recoverable assets in retiring the public debt. Having gone so thoroughly on record, it is difficult to see how there could have been such a mistake made as developed from the White House conference on taxes. I refer to the inclusion in Secretary Morgenthau's letter of a reference to the recoverable assets as one of the reasons why no new taxes will not have to be levied. Some critics have stated boldly that the White House statements on the recoverable assets cannot be justified. Their assertion is that if the Treasury properly included recoverable assets as a thing to be used in offsetting the public debt, then by the same token those recoverable assets, or repayments of them, cannot be used to reduce the tax burden. In other words, the money represented by those assets cannot be spent in two different ways. Either it must be used to retire public debt or it must be used for current spending by the administration. It seems to be simply a refusal to believe the old adage that you cannot have your cake and eat it too.

If I should attempt to analyze the situation in the light of a personal equation I think I might properly say that if I loaned $500 to a friend and at the same time if I borrowed $500 from a bank, I might properly say the $500 loaned to the friend could be used to pay off the bank loan. So far, so good. But if the friend repaid $250 to me and I spent that $250 and had no other resources, I can't quite figure out how I would pay the bank the $500 I had borrowed from that institution.

Although perhaps my worries as an individual about government policies may not be very important because I am just one individual, I entertain considerable fear about those recoverable assets in another respect. For some reason—and I think I can state it—I doubt that a very large portion of those recoverable assets ever will be collected. I have a hunch that in the next fifteen or twenty years the bulk of those debts which the Roosevelt administration counts as repayable will be cancelled or defaulted. In either event, I think I see how politics is going to play an important part and I am convinced further that Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Roosevelt as well, if he shares Mr. Morgenthau's belief, is overlooking that very vital influence when he holds these loans as likely to be repaid.

I recall that the late Albert C. Ritchie, four times a Democratic governor of Maryland, predicted that the money loaned for the various purposes outlined above, would never be paid back. Indeed, Governor Ritchie, who was a very practical man and who thoroughly disliked deluding himself, used the word "repudiation" in connection with these debts. He said they would be handled just like the $11,000,000,000 of war loans made to European nations.

It is a noble thought, of course, that the loans will be repaid, yet it is quite apparent that a cancellation drive is already under way. I think most of those who do me the honor to read my column will recall that more than a year ago I directed their attention to the reduction in interest rates which congress had ordered on many of the loans. That is simply the first step. Cancellation proposals, undisguised, are bound to follow.

Unless I am mistaken, the astute Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and a man who never kids himself, already has kissed good-bye to many of the millions that have been loaned by his agency. Of course, the Reconstruction Finance corporation carries those loans on its books and counts them still as valid. But I am of the opinion that Mr. Jones probably regards those items as dead debts.

But to go further with the idea of cancellation, it takes no stretch of the imagination to say that the Home Owners' Loan corporation, for example, will soon have a good many thousand foreclosed properties on its hands. It takes no more imagination to say that politicians who have ridden into office with promises to help those people whose homes have been foreclosed will carry out their promises by further voting interest reduction or curtailment of principal.

A more striking illustration, it seems to me, can be found in the case of the loans to states, cities and towns. Who among the politicians is going to have the courage to resist the tumult and the voting of their constituents to avoid increase in their local taxes when they call for cancellation of the loans?

While the bonus for the ex-service men is a dead issue, every one knows how representatives and senators capitulated to the demands of the veterans' lobby. Picture for yourself, if you will, how much stronger the demand will be when a whole community sets up a howl to have the funds it has borrowed from the federal government finally declared to have been just a gift and not a loan.

Reading His Speech

This hitherto unpublished picture of Governor Alf M. Landon was taken at his desk in Topeka, Kas., as he was making the final revision of his speech of acceptance.

"By Deeds Performed and Promises Fulfilled"

Topeka, Kas.—Excerpts follow from the address by Representative Bertrand H. Snell notifying Governor or Alf M. Landon of his selection as the Republican presidential nominee:

"Here and now this nation turns its back forever upon broken promises and hollow oaths!"

"The spontaneous expression of popular sentiment from coast to coast, which culminated in your nomination at Cleveland, offers eloquent testimony that your authority is rooted in the silent, secret hearts of the whole people."

LANDON DOES IT AGAIN!
Topeka, Kas.—Gov. Alf M. Landon has balanced his budget again! When Kansas closed its fiscal year June 30, there was on hand a cash balance of approximately $1,250,000, according to the estimate of A. R. Jones, state accountant. This is nearly a quarter of a million dollars more than the cash balance at the close of the 1935 fiscal year.

U. S. Is Far in Red as 1936 Fiscal Year Closes

WASHINGTON, D. C.—This was the record of the Roosevelt administration as the fiscal year 1936 came to a close June 30:

A federal debt of 33 billion 913 million dollars.

Spending of 8 billion 793 million dollars during the fiscal year, more than two dollars for every one taken in.

A budget bureau estimate of expenditures of $8,272,554,370 during the new fiscal year, without any alibi such as the veteran's bonus or invalidation of processing taxes.

A federal debt that would be 38 billion 600 million were it not for expert juggling of the figures by the New Deal treasury department, which does not include in its estimate a total of $4,688,733,645 in government guaranteed bonds. Reason given for the omission of the bonds is that some day they will all be repaid, a conclusion which is at least arbitrary.

Knox Will Be Notified in Chicago on July 30

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Col. Frank Knox, Republican nominee for the vice-presidency as Gov. Alf M. Landon's running mate, will accept the nomination in Chicago July 30, John D. M. Hamilton, fiery, red-haired young chairman of the Republican National committee, announced here. This will be one week, to the day, following the notification of Gov. Landon.

U. S. Loses Trade by New Treaties

Foreign Nations Dump Products Here Under Latest New Deal Policies.

Washington, D. C.—American foreign trade balances are shrinking rapidly as a direct result of the New Deal Party's reciprocal tariff treaties, latest figures released by the Department of Commerce show.

The United States is losing daily with every country with which the New Deal treaties have been put into operation, the figures show.

At the same time, United States imports jumped upward, from $1,644,055,000 in 1934, before the treaties went into effect, to $2,047,287,000 in 1935 after the agreements were in operation.

Only Germany Barred.

Germany is the only country in the entire world that does not reap the benefits of the tariff reductions in the New Deal treaties, because Secretary of State Cordell Hull ruled Germany out of the reciprocal tariff system.

All in all, for the first six months of 1936, foreign trade books of the United States were in the red $9,011,000 as compared with a black ink showing of $29,645,000 for the corresponding period in 1935. Meanwhile, the American trade position with Germany improved more than 400 percent.

The report reveals that with 14 of the 51 nations of the world, American exports actually declined in the first six months of 1936, causing Americans to lose millions of dollars.

Cuba Shows Gains.

The negative balance of trade with Cuba, which is always present because of heavy United States sugar purchases, jumped from $31,628,000 to $51,935,000 under the reciprocal treaties.

The favorable balance of trade with Brazil dropped from $26,111,000 to $24,712,000. The favorable balance with Canada dropped from $28,038,000 to $24,662,000.

With Sweden, in 1935, the United States had a favorable trade balance of $851,000, the report shows, but in 1936, after the New Deal's tampering, the United States had a negative balance with Sweden of $1,337,000.

Famous Historian Hits New Dealers on Broken Pledges

New York, N. Y.—America's most famous historian, James Truslow Adams, in his latest volume on current history, discloses that from the nonpartisan viewpoint of the historian the New Deal administration has broken more pledges to the people than any other administration.

"I cannot recall any other president and party which has gone so far in the solemnity of their pledges," Mr. Adams writes in his new book. "Nor do I recall any other such repudiation of them."

"That repudiation has not been the result of overwhelming circumstance, but has largely resulted from the endeavor to make over the whole pattern of our social and economic life to meet the personal approbation of a president."

"The question at once arises, how can self-government continue if a people cannot put trust in the most solemn pledges of the party and candidates for whom the majority vote?"

"If we cannot do so, then the system of party government must crumble and we have nothing to take its place, except dictatorship or revolutionary chaos."

The book, "The Living Jefferson," is published by Scribners. Mr. Adams is the author, among others, of "Founding of New England," a Pulitzer prize winner, and "The Epic of America."

Landon Leading 2 to 1 in Six-State Radio Poll

Chicago, Ill.—Reflecting the nationwide swing away from the New Deal Party, Governor Alf M. Landon, Republican Presidential nominee, is maintaining a two-to-one lead over President Roosevelt in a poll conducted by the midwestern radio station, WIND.

Covering six states, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Iowa and Wisconsin, the poll requires that all votes must be written and sent in through the personal interest of the voter.

With Governor Landon showing better than 12,000 votes at the latest count and President Roosevelt trailing with less than 6,000, the minor candidates of Lemke, Browder and Thomas divided another 1,500 votes.

Evils of Restricted Production
No policy of restricting production and artificially raising prices is sound policy. Reduction of production inevitably affects the real wages of everyone; therefore, it lowers the standard of living. And, more than anything else, it leads to the bread lines, to ration cards and, to a form of government that is not a democracy but an autocracy. (Frank Knox, Worcester, Mass., speech.)

Farmers! Insure In Michigan's Largest Farm Mutual Fire Insurance Company

Assets and resources nearly $300,000, over half of which is in cash, Government Bonds and Bonds guaranteed by the U. S. Government. Have paid farmers in Michigan over $5,182,383.00 in losses since organization. Losses satisfactorily adjusted and promptly paid.

Blanket policy on farm personal which often pays double a classified policy. Credits in assessments allowed for approved fire extinguishers, fire resisting roof on dwellings and lightning rods. Assessment as low as $2.94 per $1,000. Careful underwriting and systematic inspection reducing overinsurance and eliminating undesirable risks and fire hazards.

Constitutional Democrats

Who are they? What are their object? Who is the power behind the throne?

Answering the first question, they are a bunch of disgruntled onetime Democrats. At their head is ex-Senator Jim Reed of Missouri, supposed regular until people of his state got wise and elected Bennett Champ Clark in his stead and he has been very irregular ever since. Ex-Governor Ely of Massachusetts, the people of that state tiring of him, elected Governor Curley in his stead and of course he is bad natured over his exit, and some other big wags from eastern states that we know are closely allied with Wall Street, not forgetting our own ex-Governor Comstock, who was turned down two years ago by the Democrats of this state when he asked for re-election. Oh, yes! And Al Smith is expected but he doesn't like to come because he got so much "booming" over his Liberty Day speech. He will be there in spirit but hasn't the nerve to come in person.

These men say they believe in the Constitution. We all do. But they say Roosevelt signed bills that were declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. We don't deny it, that is not an uncommon thing; nearly all presidents did the same thing and because of these U. S. Supreme Court decisions (some of them 5 to 4) they are going to support Landon.

Now let us do a little thinking on their excuse.

The Supreme Court of Kansas reversed more of Landon's laws than the U. S. Supreme Court did of Roosevelt's.

It seems that what is a great sin for Roosevelt is a virtue for Landon.

Now my "ex" friends, let me tell you this: You are not fooling the voters. You must think up a better excuse for your supposed ire. If you can't support Roosevelt because of constitutionality, how can you support Landon?

But possibly it is bodily constitution that you are referring to. Being formerly in high office your constitution may require champagne and lots of other condiments that you are not getting now and of course in that case, we think you should get into the Stop Roosevelt Movement with some kind of feasible excuse and you will feel better for the time being anyway.

Now kindly remember me in the Primary Election.

Tax-payers:

Keep your tax record clear make second payment on the 10-YEAR PLAN
by September 1st, 1936

TAX-PAYERS of Michigan last year set a notable example for the people of America by paying or reviving their taxes on hundreds of thousands of pieces of property.

And remember: if you failed to put your taxes on the ten-year plan last year you can still do so by making the first two payments, plus 4%, and a small extra charge on the first part.

Many thousands of tax-payers cleaned up their back taxes in full. Other hundreds of thousands put them on a ten-year plan by paying one-tenth of their total indebtedness for 1932 and prior years.

Note:

By paying up your taxes now on the 10-Year Plan you save 8% to 36% on future payments.

Now the second payment is due. It amounts to only one-tenth of the amount involved, and to it must be added a carrying charge of 4%.

MICHIGAN'S 10-year plan, as enacted by the legislature, provides that on unpaid balances the taxpayer is to add interest at the rate of 4% per annum from September 1, 1935. In other words, on this year's installment the interest charge is 4%. On next year's, 8%. In 1933 it will be 12%. In order to save these advancing costs you can now anticipate all payments by adding only 4%.

Don't miss making this payment.

Players! Learn with The American Boy

Boys and young men who want to improve their crawl stroke, their basket shooting, their hurdling, their tennis backhand, or their ball carrying, can enlist the aid of the nation's foremost coaches and players by subscribing to The American Boy magazine and following the sports interviews and fiction stories that appear each month.

For the coming year staff writers have gone to two of the greatest football teams in the country — Minnesota and Southern Methodist — for first hand tips on strategy, blocking, ball carrying, passing, and the fine points of line play. They have written the story of Bobbie Wilson, All-American halfback.

They have interviewed famous track coaches like Bernie Moore and Bob Simpson. Have gone to the University of Oklahoma to learn how college champions wrestle, to Notre Dame for the story of the building of a great basketball team. They have sought out famous baseball players, swimmers, tennis champions and All-American backs, to get their story of how to play the game.

American Boy fiction is jammed with instructive background details telling how to play a better game. And the rest of the magazine is jammed with adventure, exploration, vocational help and articles vital to boys.

Ohio State University's track head, coach of the famous sprinter and low hurdler, Jesse Owens and himself a former hurdling star, first learned to hurdle from articles in The American Boy. "I used to cut out hurdling pictures and duplicate them in front of a mirror. Then, on the track I'd follow that form."

Today thousands of future champions are just as eagerly following The American Boy. Send your subscription to The American Boy, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Mich. Enclose with your name and address $1 for a year's subscription, $2 for three years, and add 50 cents if you want the subscription to go to a foreign address. On newsstands, 10 cents a copy.

THE SECRET OF SAVING MONEY

Save BEFORE You Spend

Every person who labors to earn money—farmer, factory worker, clerk, etc.,—enjoys the thrill of "pay day." But, what happens when you get your "pay"? Do you pay a bill here, and a bill there—and find your money gone?

Others get something to show for your labor. What do you get?

The only way to prove to yourself that you are getting anything, is to deposit immediately in a savings account, some definite, reasonable amount, BEFORE you let anyone else get one cent.

It can be done. It must be done if you are ever to make any real progress.

THE SAGA OF SAM BASS

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

On July 21, 1851 a boy was born in a farm home in Lawrence county, Indiana. His father and mother, Daniel Bass and Elizabeth Sheeks Bass, gave him the name of Sam.

On July 21, 1878 Sam Bass died in the little town of Round Rock, Texas, from wounds received in a gun fight with Texas Rangers.

The date, you will notice, was his birthday and he was exactly twenty-seven years old. Yet in that short span of time he had achieved an enduring fame denied many a man who had lived twice or even three times as long and who, moreover, had lived a much more useful life.

During his lifetime he was regarded as a sort of American Robin Hood, or, more specifically, a Texas counterpart of that famous English outlaw. After his death he became a half-legendary figure and the story of his career has been told and retold innumerable times, often embroidered with fanciful details that have little foundation in fact. The latest honor that has come to him is to be made the subject of a full-length biography. It is the book "Sam Bass," written by Wayne Gard, a Texas newspaper man and published by the Houghton Mifflin company. (The publication date, appropriately enough, was July 21 of this year.)

"To winnow fact from legend in the story of Sam Bass has not been easy, especially since most of the people who knew him have died and since courthouse fires have destroyed many records that might have thrown light on his exploits," says the author in the foreword to his book. "Unlike some desperadoes who lived to old age and wrote autobiographies, Bass died illiterate as well as young. Despite the efforts resulting in this book, there are still gaps in his story. To fill these gaps with fictionalized details is a strong temptation, but in this instance the temptation has been resisted." The result is a well-rounded story of the making of a second-rate bad man whose subsequent fame is all the more difficult to understand because he was second-rate.

Left an orphan at the age of thirteen, Sam Bass went to live with an uncle who proved to be

Bass and Jackson Make Their Escape—The Rangers in Pursuit.

(Special Telegram to the News.) Round Rock, July 10.—Major Jones arrived here yesterday evening. None here know his business.

Bass, Jackson and Barnes, the train robbers, came in today to make arrangements to rob the bank. Deputy Sheriff Grimes, not suspecting who they were, went to arrest them in a store for carrying arms, where they were purchasing tobacco, when the three drew their pistols from their saddle-bags and shot him. He got out of the store, and fell dead in the street with his pistol in his hand.

Maurice Moore, deputy sheriff of Travis, who came here with Jones, came up at the time and fired several shots, wounding one of them, and was himself shot down.

Three of Major Jones's men, all he an unsympathetic and stern taskmaster. So at the age of eighteen (not seventeen, as the song has it) young Bass started for Texas, "a cowboy for to be". He didn't get there at once. Instead, he spent a year working in a saw-mill in Mississippi but in the late summer of 1870 he set out for the Lone Star state accompanying a family of Texans, named Mayes, who were returning to their home in the little frontier town of Denton.

After working for a while on cattle ranches and discovering that the life of a cowboy wasn't nearly so romantic as he had pictured it—Sam drifted back to Denton where he got a job as hired man for Sheriff W. F. Egan, who did a freighting business on the side. "Dad Egan never worried about Sam when he was gone on a freighting trip. He knew that Sam was as honest as could be and would account for every penny."

But it wasn't long before a change came over the young Hopsler. "Sam caught a contagion for the sport of kings and cowboys; he acquired a passion for horse-racing". He bought a

THE BALLAD OF SAM BASS

Sam Bass was born in Indiana, it was his native home; And at the age of seventeen young Sam began to roam. Sam first came out to Texas a cowboy for to be— A kinder-hearted fellow you seldom ever see.

He made a deal in race-stock—one called the Denton mare. He matched her in scrub races and took her to the fair. Sam used to coin the money and spent it just as free; He always drank good whiskey, wherever he might be.

Sam left the Collins ranch in the merry month of May With a herd of Texas cattle, the Black Hills for to see. Sold out at Custer City, and then got on a spree— A jollier set of cowboys you seldom ever see.

On their way back to Texas, they robbed the U. P. train, And then split up in couples and started out again. Joe Collins and his partner were overtaken soon; With all their stolen money, they had to meet their doom.

Sam made it back to Texas all right side up with care— Rode into the town of Denton, with all his friends to share. Sam's life was short in Texas—three robberies did he do; He robbed all the passengers, mail and express cars too.

Sam had four companions, each a bold and daring lad— Underwood and Jackson, Joe Collins and Old Dad. Four of the boldest cowboys the ranges ever knew— They whipped the Texas Rangers and ran the boys in blue.

Sam had another companion, called Arkansas for short; He was shot by a Texas Ranger by the name of Thomas Floyd. Tom is a big six-footer, and he thinks he's mighty sly. But I can tell you his racket—he's a rascal on the sly.

Jim Murphy was arrested and then released on bail; He jumped his bond at Tyler and took the train for Terrell. But Major Jones had posted Jim and that was all a stall; 'Twas only a plan to capture Sam before the coming fall.

Sam met his fate at Round Rock, July the twenty-first; They pierced poor Sam with rifle balls and emptied out his purse. Poor Sam he is a corpse and six foot under clay; And Jackson's in the bushes, trying to get away.

Jim had used Sam's money and didn't want to pay; He thought his only chance was to give poor Sam away. He sold out Sam and Barnes and left their friends to mourn— Oh, what a scorching Jim will get when Gabriel blows his horn!

And so he sold out Sam and Barnes and left their friends to mourn. Oh, what a scorching Jim will get when Gabriel blows his horn! Perhaps he's got to heaven, there's none of us can say; But if I'm right in my surmise, he's gone the other way.

share in a sorrel mare named Jenny, descendant of the famous "quarter horse." Steel Dust, Jenny was about the fastest animal in that part of the country and for a time Sam coined money by betting on her. Then the people around Denton became "mare-shy" and Sam drifted south to seek new fields of conquest with his swift mare.

In San Antonio he became acquainted with Joel Collins, a saloon-keeper about his own age who had a none-too-savory reputation. For a time the two men prospered, thanks to the fleetness of Jenny and the gullibility of the Mexicans along the border who bet against her. Then that game played out and Bass and Collins drifted north into the cattle country again. They borrowed money to take a trail herd north, went up to Deadwood, S. D. when the drive was over.

In Deadwood Sam worked at freighting again—and made a little money at it. But it wasn't enough for his needs, so he and Collins tried their hands at gambling only to learn that "instead of fleecing the miners they were losing a large part of their cattle money to lily-fingered professionals." The next step in Sam's downward path was stage robbing but that didn't pay well either. One stage out of Deadwood that year carried $350,000 but Sam and his friends missed that one entirely. In one hold-up they got only $11 and on another occasion their loot was a dozen peaches!

Eventually Sam and some of his fellow-robbers "lit out" for Texas and en route decided to try train robbery for a change. On September 18, 1877 they held up a Union Pacific train at Big Springs, Neb. and secured $50,000 in gold $20 pieces from the safe. After dividing their loot and splitting up into small parties, they continued on their way. Joel Collins and another robber named Heffridge were shot and killed while attempting to escape from a detachment of cavalrymen who were aiding local officers in pursuing the U. P. bandits. Jim Berry was wounded, captured and died of his wounds.

But Sam Bass made his way safely back to Texas where he established himself in true outlaw fashion in a "deep, wild, over-grown ravine." Here he gathered recruits and the "Sam Bass gang" started on its career of train and bank hold-ups (few of which were very profitable).

Aroused by their depredations the Texas Rangers under Maj. John B. Jones and Capt. Junius Peak, and local officials, including Sam's old boss, Sheriff Egan, set to work to wipe out the gang. Several of them were killed or captured and one of the latter, Jim Murphy, was released on nominal bail on condition that he would rejoin the gang and betray Sam and his followers.

Soon afterwards Murphy was able to send word to Major Jones that the Bass gang was planning to rob the bank at Round Rock on a certain day. The Ranger leader made his plans to receive them but those plans miscarried somewhat. So when Bass with two companions arrived in town, to look the situation over, the Rangers weren't ready for them. Deputy Sheriff Grimes attempted to arrest the trio and was shot dead. Immediately three Rangers, Connor, Harrell and Ware, joined in the battle. Ware killed Seaborn Barnes, one of the bandits, and Harrell shot and seriously wounded Bass. But the bandit leader was picked up by Frank Jackson, the third member of the trio, who carried him safely out of town through a hail of bullets from the Rangers' guns.

Knowing that he was mortally wounded, Bass persuaded Jackson to leave him and make good his escape, which Jackson did. The next day the Rangers found the wounded bandit leader lying under a live oak tree some distance from where Jackson had left him. They carried him back into Round Rock and there on Sunday, July 21 he died.

"While his riddled body lay in the grave at Round Rock near the site of his last camp, Sam Bass lived on in song and legend," writes his biographer. "He had been a likable youth who—deprived of early schooling and of parental guidance—fell into evil ways to become in turn gambler, highwayman and train robber. In folklore, he soon became a cowboy hero who refused to be tray his pals, a Robin Hood who eluded his pursuers with ease and shared his stolen gold without stint. Of the many desperadoes of the frontier, he was remembered as the "beloved bandit".

"The generosity of Sam with the twenty-dollar gold pieces he brought back from the big train robbery in Nebraska gave him fame as a Robin Hood even while he was living; and after his death the stories of his giving and spending were enlarged. Payments of twenty dollars for a dozen eggs or a pan of warm biscuits were reported from many directions.

"The most persistent of all the Bass legends have been those of buried gold . . . For more than half a century, men-armed with maps and spades—and sometimes with divining rods—have been looking for chests of gold they believed Sam buried. (His biographer lists a score of places where this "buried treasure" has been sought and then continues:) Where the searchers will strike next, no one can tell. As long as Sam Bass legends persist, no Texan can be sure that he will not awake some morning to find a ton of earth removed from his front yard by some romanticist who has just come into possession of the one authentic treasure map."

All of which makes more understandable the fact that Sam Bass is one of the legendary heroes of Texas. But why his fame outside the borders of the

The End of the Trail of Sam Bass—Capt. James B. Gillett of the Texas Rangers Standing Beside the Monument Over Bass' Grave at Round Rock.

Lone Star state? For a reading of Gard's biography only confirms the belief that Bass was a second-rate bad man and had, few, if any, of the attributes which have given others of his kind their place in the pantheon of the Wild West. Certainly he was not as picturesque a figure as Joaquin Murieta of California. He didn't have the cold-blooded ferocity of Billy the Kid of New Mexico. As an exponent of superlative skill in the art of handling a six-shooter, he can't be compared with "Wild Bill" Hickok. Except for the Big Springs robbery (at which, incidentally, Joel Collins was the real leader), he wasn't much of a success as a hold-up man. (Black Bart would probably have considered him a piker in that respect.) And measured by any standard, he doesn't compare with that other American Robin Hood—Jesse James of Missouri.

Perhaps that last name affords a clue and perhaps, too, the answer lies in this quotation from Gard's book:

"Cowboys in their evening camps told and retold the story of the Indiana orphan who thought he had 'the world by the tail, with a downhill pull' and who played fox with sheriffs and Texas Rangers until sold out by the traitor. The Bass of the campfire narratives became an embodiment of bravery and generosity, while the name of Jim Murphy was continuously spotted until, in a Western pulp magazine in 1935, he was termed a 'six-gun Judas'."

Both Jesse James and Sam Bass "played fox" with the authorities until "sold out by the traitor." That fact is emphasized in the ballads which were written about both men and those ballads were authentic American folk songs. "Not long after his death in 1878, cowboys on the Western Plains were reading paper-back biographies of Bass and were singing about him as they watched their herds at night or drove them up the Kansas trails," writes Gard, who quotes Charley Siringo as saying that "Sam Bass was the hero of more young Texas cowboys than any other bad man and the song about him was the most popular. This song seemed to have a quieting effect on a herd of long-horns during a thunderstorm."

That song is still sung today—on phonograph records, over the radio and around dude ranch campfires. It has been included in standard collections of cowboy songs and it is probably the principal reason why the name of Sam Bass has been enshrined in the Wild West hall of fame. © Western Newspaper Union.

A Smartly Simple Frock

Swingin' down the lane with a bit of a zip and a full quota of what it takes, this smartly simple frock goes pieces without effort—an engagingly youthful and chic affair which can be made in a trice (first cousin to a jiffy) and make you the belle of the campus.

Its simplicity is totally disarming, yet it has all the aplomb of a professor in English—just one of those frocks which can't miss. Delightfully cool and as chipper as a breeze, it requires just seven simple pieces in the making, in any fabric from the A's to the Z's. The yoke and sleeves cut in one and the collar is just long enough to take the prize.

Woes of French Hotelkeepers.
SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—As he gazes forth on a boulevard full of rampaging Reds and thinks about his empty bedrooms, I'll bet there isn't a hotel keeper in Paris who wouldn't trade a great gross of assorted French communists, including all the standardized grades, such as the comparatively rare slick type, the partly haired-over hybrid and the common fur-bearing variety, for just one old-fashioned easy-going American visitor—the kind that was tea carefree to check up the weekly bill.

Private Olympic Games.
ORIGINALLY these Olympian games were based upon the ideal of strengthening inter-racial friendships through competitive sport.

But when, in dispatches from Berlin a fellow reads of disputed decisions, questioned reversals, alleged discriminations against some winning contestants on account of color, and the unnecessarily brutal publicity, or so it appeared at long distance, that was given to the disciplining of an indiscreet woman athlete; and then the threatened withdrawals of aggrieved teams from certain Latin countries, he gets to thinking, the reader does, that maybe it would be better if each national group held its own little private Olympian show on the home grounds and barred out the riffraff, meaning by that, all foreigners.

Uncle Sam's Alien Burdens
NO matter which party controls congress, watch at the next term for this: A campaign for legislation opening the doors to millions of aliens now barred out under the quota laws, which also would legalize the presence here of a great mass of the foreign-born, some of them criminals, some misfits and malcontents, some avowed enemies of our government, some paupers on Federal relief, who already are biding amongst us through whole-sale smuggling-in, through fraudulent immigration papers, through carelessness to use a gentle term—on the part of public servants charged with the duty of guarding at the gate.

In the years before us, it will be a sufficiently heavy burden to care for such of our own worthy home-folks, whether native or naturalized, as otherwise would go destitute.

Cleverness of the Chinese.
ONCE, long ago, I being a reporter, was detailed to accompany to police headquarters in New York a Chinese prince who'd come over to study our police methods. We were in the Bertillon bureau, presided over by the famous inspector Faurot.

"Ah, yes," said the courtly visitor in faultless English, "this same system has been in vogue in my land since time immemorial, except that we use fingerprinting in addition to legal signatures and official seals, for further validating important documents."

"Don't you also use it for recording habitual criminals?"

"I do not think so."

"Well, then," asked Faurot, "how do you identify them?"

"Very simple," said the prince and smiled a gentle smile. "When we catch a chronic offender we immediately cut off his head, and then anyone may recognize him at a glance."

The Spanish Extravaganza.

A FELLOW picks up the paper and reads in the news dispatches from Spain that the Loyalists licked the Royalists, or vice-versa; and the Leftists tied into the Nationalists again—or maybe they're both the same.

Whereas the insurgents walloped the radicals, but elsewhere the government forces drove back the rebels; and meanwhile the Reds or the Centrists or somebody did something unpleasant to the Republican outfit, as opposed to the monarchial group; and at all points south and west the anti-clericals and the church, the Agrarian party, the Fascists and the Communists, the besiegers and the defenders, the peasants and the townspeople, the laboring classes and the aristocrats, the land-owners and the tenants, etc., etc., etc., were snarled into various hard knots. So what?

If, after all, there are but two main sides engaged—only I wouldn't know about that—the correspondents could confer a great boon by just naming one set the Hatfields and the other set the McCoy's. Or would you prefer calling them the Callahans and the Murphys?

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for August 30

BEGINNING OF WORLD MISSIONS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 11:19-26, 13:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. Mark 16:15.
PRIMARY TOPIC—On a Journey for Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Gospel Starts Around the World.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—New Adventures With Christ.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Holy Spirit in Missions.

The normal expression of salvation in the life of a believer is a passion for the conversion of others. The early church soon began to fulfill the great commission of its Lord and Master. Its first missionary enterprise was in the great and wicked city of Antioch, only 150 miles from Jerusalem, but far from God. In this unpromising soil we find growing:

I. A Model Mission Church (vv. 19-21).

Its establishment was in accord with the plan of God, for it was:

1. The result of a faithful testimony (vv. 19, 20).
 Those who were scattered abroad by persecution had but one crowning purpose—"preaching the Lord Jesus."

2. A gathering place for all God's people (vv. 19, 20). The truth was preached to both Jews and Gentiles.

3. A living witness in a wicked city (v. 21).
 "The hand of the Lord was with them." Little wonder then that "a great number believed and turned unto the Lord." Note in verse 26 that it was in Antioch that the followers of Christ were first called by the beautiful name "Christians." In the midst of the most evil and degraded surroundings the sweet flower of Christian faith may grow.

II. The Model Mission Church Becomes a Model Missionary Church (13:1-12).

We have here the first step in the world-wide missionary movement which continues to our day and which has influenced the destinies of men and shaped the course of world history.

This first missionary enterprise presents the essential principles and methods which are vital to true missionary work, even in our day. To begin with, there must be a proper base of operation, namely:

1. The home church (vv. 1-3).

God calls his messengers right out of the church membership. On the Sunday that this lesson is taught missionary leaders of the next generation will be in the classes of some crossroads Sunday school. How important it will be that the teacher present the truth of God's Word plainly and faithfully.

Notice that this church was spiritually alive. It was a church that prayed, fasted, and ministered the Word of God. It was responsive to the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

Next we have indicated the type of men called to be:

2. The missionaries (vv. 2-4).

a. The strongest men in the church (v. 2).

When you want something done, ask a busy man to do it. God's missionary program calls for the best the church can give, not misfits or failures.

b. Spirit-led men (vv. 3, 4).

God chooses and sends men into service. He separates and places them.

3. Missionary experiences (vv. 5-12).

a. Minister to all people (vv. 5-7). Paphos was a Greek city of high culture and low morals. It was ruled by Sergius Paulus, a Roman officer of noble character. With him was Barjesus also called Elymas, a wicked Jew. The missionary messenger rejoices in the opportunity to preach to Greek, Roman, and Jew.

b. Meet satanic opposition (vv. 8-10).

The devil has his servants who live only to oppose the gospel. Notice that even as God has children so also there are children "of the devil" (v. 10). We choose our spiritual family connections.

c. Proclaim judgment on sin (v. 11).

This is not an easy thing to do but is required of one who is "filled with the Holy Spirit."

d. Lead men to Christ (v. 12).

In this case it was the result of fear, which is a powerful factor in the conversion of some men.

The Master's commission "to go into all the world and preach the gospel," has never been altered, modified, or abrogated. It is still the great "unfinished business" of the church.

Hog Calling Contest Conditions

Perhaps the most humorous aspect of the Michigan State Fair is the hog calling contest which will be held in the grove on September 11th, at 2:30 P. M.

Fifteen dollars will be awarded to the three highest scoring contestants as follows: $7.50 to first, $5.00 to second, $2.50 to third.

All Eligible
We know no East, no West. Any farmer in the wide world is eligible. No entrance required. The following percentage will prevail:

1. Volume, loudness or carrying capacity of voice—30 points. Volume is necessary to reach the ears of the hogs, especially if they are in the back eighty, and the wind is blowing from the wrong direction. It also enables the neighbors to know one is at home and "doing the chores."

2. Variety, 20 points. A varied appeal is always more effective than a monotonous, uninteresting call. Variety in calling might be correlated with a variety of feelings.

Charm Counts
3. Charm or appeal to the hog, 20 points. The hog caller's voice must have the ring of sincerity and honesty. It must carry conviction to the porkers or the calling is not a success. Truth will out.

4. Originality, 10 points. Originality creates interest. The hog should be able to distinguish its master's call from those of the neighbors.

5. Clearness, or musical quality, 10 points. Happiness aids digestion and hogs enjoy music. A clear musical call will bring them in happy and light-footed to eat with more enjoyment and more profit. Singing school lessons thus are not wasted.

6. Appearance and facial expression of caller in action, 10 points. Facial expression and general appearance of caller are the surest ways of judging the extent of the effort.

Same for Husbands
Practically the same conditions which govern the hog calling contest will prevail in husband calling contest.

Stop Roosevelt

The "hue and cry" has again gone out to "Stop Roosevelt".

Four years ago, when the people of our country, regardless of party politics, were looking for a statesman, not a politician, to redeem them from the calamitous condition we were in at the time with every officer of the ship of state absolutely helpless, all eyes turned to one man.

The members of every party were looking for the man that could possibly save us, and many possible saviours were held out to us, but on scanning their political history, they didn't measure up, but when the name of the then Governor of New York was mentioned all eyes were turned toward him; they had studied his history and they liked it, further, they found that "Predatory Wealth" was opposed to him, and the people of all parties decided that he was the one great hope of the American people and immediately was born the "Stop Roosevelt" movement. Was it the common people that started that movement? No. It was "Predatory Wealth" that started that movement and in their wily ways they even secured the help and aid of Al Smith to go out to fight his friend of years and many others that should have resisted temptation, but efforts were of no avail, the die was cast, the common people elected as their President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and in four years he has more than fulfilled our greatest hopes of prosperity, and he is again the candidate for the common people, but "Predatory Wealth" fights until death; they again resurrected the "Stop Roosevelt" movement.

As Governor of New York he was not afraid of the privileged class and as President he shows no change, and it being necessary to add many improvements to the "Stop Roosevelt" machine, they have added "Share the Wealth" Smith, "$200-a-Month" Townsend, "Cheap Interest" Lemke and "Printing Press Money" Coughlin.

And did you notice that they started them all working the very moment the Rockefeller candidate was nominated in Cleveland?

I am a candidate for Congress. Vote for me in the Primary Election and if elected you will find another official that will not be tempted by the wiles of "Predatory Wealth."
