Good Friday

The Battle Hymn of the Jordan

(Dedicated To All Loyal Survivors of "The Charge of the Night Brigade." Jordan will shine tonight, Jordan will shine. Jordan" alive tonight all down the line. We're out for smelt tonight and'a good time.

When the sun goes down

And the smelt come up, JORDAN WILL SHINE!

The king will soon be dead! Long live the new one (at least till March, 1938). No! It's not quite that bad but King Ike's reign is almost at an end and tomorrow will see the crown placed upon the brow of his successor. Whoever he may be or wherever he may hail from, we wish him the best of success.

Yes! Tomorrow is the day when hilarity will reign supreme in East Jordan; laughter will be given away by the ton and anyone who doesn't get their share will be en-rolled as charter members of the "Sunny Side Up Pessimist Club."

The ball starts rolling at 1:00 P. M. and won't stop rolling till it's worn out. Dinty LaLonde, who is commander-in-chief of the free acts and parade has been spending all his time whipping a real entertainment together. The other committees working under him, have also been go-ing full force and they believe it will be the greatest National Smelt Jamboree in history. There will be boxing acts, various clown acts, Indian scenes and war dances. Harry Saxton is getting up a real lumbering demonstration and many of its features will also be included in the parade.

The 1937 National King of Smeltium will be crowned in front of the Russell Hotel at 4:00 P. M., with all the pomp and ceremony due such a noble and inspiring occasion. East Jordan may well be proud of the thoroughness with which its Smelt Kings have been crowned; thus far there have been no abdications.

The coronation will be followed immediately by the Smelters Parade which is destined to be bigger, better and funnier than ever before. I

A new feature to the afternoon program will be the Newaygo Newt Spitting Contest, with Newaygo Newt here in person to defend his crown. Newt will also give one of his breath-taking demonstrations in the parade, and by his side will ride his famous spitting black cat, Tobias. Tobias is also a famous marksman but, due to his recent illness, and his youth (he is only 14 years old), he will not be seen in action on the firing line this year.

All during the afternoon and evening, Mr. Drew is co-operating to help keep the ball rolling. The Temple, always on hand with the latest productions, will have real entertainment and would be a good place for the boys to send their wives while they (the men) are at the banquet.

The famous Stag Smelt Banquet will be held in Legion Hall at 6:30 P. M. and another great program is in store. Newaygo Newt will act as toastmaster and those who were there last year know he is good as they make 'em. The new king will speak to his subjects and many well-known outdoor writers and celebrities will be present. Among those who will be here for sure are Jack Van Coevering, Ed. Dreier, Ben East, Floyd Peterson, Lee Smits, Bob Becker and representatives from the Conservation Dep't. At 9:00 P. M. comes the Charge of the Night Brigade on the banks of the Jordan, as the sportsmen declare their nightly war on the smelt. Never has the river been in as fine condition for dipping as it is now; new boardwalks have been built and all logs have been taken from the riyer, thus removing much of the interference in getting nets caught on obstacles other than smelt.

P. T. A. Program For Monday, March 22nd

The public is cordially invited to attend a P.T.A. program to be pres-ented at the School House on Monday, March 22nd, commencing at 8:00 p. m. Brass Trio.

WHY THE JORDAN TOPPED ITS BANKS WITH BROWN WATER

Citizens of this community who nave been greatly puzzled and concerned over the brown colored, rising waters of the Jordan river, for no apparent reason, have at last had their minds set at rest for the mystery has been solved....

A gang of lumberjacks were discovered up stream throwing chips in the river and spitting at the targets as the up their quids in practice for the Newaygo Newt Spitting Contest to be held as one of the big feature attractions of the National Sportsmen's Smelt Jamboree that takes place here March 20th. Practice was stopped by local conservation officers, Leslie Miles and Jack Bowman, as it was feared the tobacco flavored water might interfere with the smelt run; or, at least, get the smelt in the tobacco chewing habit, where they might go in for a little practice spitting of their own and direct their aim at the eye of some unsuspecting smelt dipper-upper. Now that the amber flow has been checked, the river is receding very fast and is expected to reach its normal level within the next twelve hours. Local health authorities, headed by Dr. Ramsey, the official smelt physician, who were at first op-posed to the Newaygo Newt Spitting Contest have finally been con. vinced that the contest will be run off with a strictly sanitary manner and have withdrawn all opposi tion.

To Develop Our City BOOSTER DINNER PAVES WAY FOR FUTURE ACTIVITY

The second Booster Dinner sponered by the local Chamber of Commerce was held Tuesday Evening at the high school. Guests in attendance included a large number of ladies of our City, Dr. Clark, Mr. Lamb and Prof. Warner, all of Ferris Institute, and the Ferris Institute Male Quartet. A wholesome and well prepared din-ner was served by the Presbyterian Ladies Aid Society, after which a short business meeting was held.

After a short speech of welcome by the President the meeting was turned over to Mr. Joe Bugai who in turn introduced the quartet, Dr. Clark, Prof. Warner and Mr. Lamb. The selections rendered by the quartet were well received particularly the base solos. Dr. Clark's address on the History of the Constitution was exceedingly interesting and very timely in view of the present National controversey being waged over our Federal Supreme Court. Mr. Bugai is to be congratulated in being able to secure such fine speakers and entertainment and also in arranging for such a lively meeting.

Among the things discussed at the meeting was the launching of an intensive campaign to clean up and improve all business property on Main Street. The project seems to be worthy one and with the cooperation of our business men we should be able to improve the appearance of Main Street so that we will not be ashamed to have our visitors see it. Joe Nemecek and Clarence LaLonde are the committee in charge. Suggestions and offers of cooperation are solicited by them

The possibility of conducting Cityvide beautification program was also discussed. Mr. Eggert has been appointed chairman of a committee to promote a general cleanup campaign. Other members of the committee are Ole Olson and Harry Simmons. Plans already formulated call for a City wide clean up week set for April 19 to 24th and a City cleanup day set for April 30th. It is hoped that on April 30th the business men and the school will declare a general holiday so that all men, boys, ladies and girls can join together in a common effort to clean up and beautify the lake frontage and other places which at present are scars on our otherwise heautiful city.

Still another program which Mr. Eggert, through the cooperation of Mrs. John Porter, hopes to launch is a City wide flower garden and lawn contest. The plans at present have not been definitely drawn up, however, tentatively, they call in part for prizes to be offered for the prettiest garden and lawn, the garden and lawn showing the most improvement, and the garden and lawn receiving the est care. Definite plans will be an nounced later. The next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held sometime in April and will be in charge of Mr. Robert A. Campbell. He plans to invite all farmers from surrounding territory and hopes to conduct a program which will show both the people of the City and the farmers how, through their united efforts, this very Jordan Valley can become the best place in the world to live. It has all the aspects of being a meeting well worth attending. The exact date will be announced later. The Chamber of Commerce urges all people whether members of the organization or not to attend. Mr. Campbell states that he invites and solicits all suggestions and ideas which anyone may have that would be of interest or valne at such a meeting.

9:30 P. M. The Smelters Ball in Legion Hall - favors, more hilarity and more Jamboree spirit.

From the inquiries coming in, it looks as though Detroit was going to get the run of its life, if it intends to keep its title of sending the largest delegation to the Jamboree; and the town that is giving it a race is none other than the little village of Chicago, Ill. situated somewhere around the south end of Lake Michigan, (or is it Lake Michigan somewhere in the heart of Chicago?)

Our sister cherry metropolis of Traverse City has organized an "East Jordan National Smelt Jamboree Auxiliary", with Sheriff Dave Core acting as chairman, and they say they will invade East Jordan en masse. The Charlevoix crowd is also planning to make themselves known. News reel men and photographers will be on hand to "Shoot" the entire Jamboree.

The National Smelt Jamboree is Michigan's fun frolic of the year, so be on hand; have your "chuckle spar-kling plugs" cleaned and your "laugh valves" ground for tomorrow is the Jingling, Jovial, Jolly, Jubilant, Jim-Jam Jamboree.

Newaygo Newt, when approach-ed on the subject, scoffed at the idea of sanitary precautions. Claiming no self-respecting germ would go into tobacco juice in the first place, and even if he did, (quote) "If them ther' contestants expect to come any where near my world's record, they've got to spit with sech force the concussion will kill any lurkin' germs when the charge lands, or, at least stun 'em so they won't be able to bite anybody. If the phrase "packing the court" means that, then, said the President "I say that I and with me the vast majority of the American people favor doing just that thingnow.

"The court, in addition to the proper use of its judicial functions," said Mr. Roosevelt, "has improperly set itself up as a third house of the congress—a super-legislature, as one of the justices has called it reading into the constitution words and implications, which are not there, and which were never in-tended to be there.

'We have, therefore, reached the point as a nation where we must take action to save the constitution from the court and the court from itself. We must find a way to take an appeal from the Supreme court to the constitution itself. We want a Supreme court which will do justice under the constitution-not over it. In our courts we want a government of laws and not of

Mr. Roosevelt divided the opponents of his plan into two classes. The first, he said, includes those "who fundamentally object to social and economic legislation along mod-ern lines" and opposed him in the last election; and of them he spoke with supreme contempt. The second group, those "who honestly believe the amendment process is the best," were told they could not expect faithful support from their "strange bedfellows," and that even if an amendment were passed and rati-fied, its meaning would depend on "kind of justices who would be sitting on the Supreme court bench.'

Ionia-One of those oddities that happens once in the proverbial life time was revealed here. It seems that a year ago Forrest Kuhtz, local mechanic, dropped his eye-glasses on the floor. They broke. Last fall, his new glasses blew off as he rode in an airplane over his father's farm near here. They fell 4,000 feet to the ground. The glasses were found recently by his brother, unbroken, in a field.

Ann Arbor-This city's first sitdown strike lasted but half an hour recently. A local bakery gave 11 striking drivers assurance that a pay raise would be granted. The drivers, who are not union members, made their demands informally. The proposed wage and commission increases will equal prevailing rates in Detroit. The bakery owner remarked that only competitive conditions had prevented an earlier increase.

Machinery from the first well, which was abandoned after drillers reached a depth of 2,200 feet without success, has been moved to a place that Beck believes looks promising.

Washington .- It has always been groups in Germany and Soviet Rus said that politics makes strange bedfellows. Histo-

Strange ry has shown this Bedfellows statement to be true because in every political battle one can note unusual combinations, odd types working together, personal enemies fighting side by side-in truth, bedfellows for the time being. Never has the truth of this old adage been better demonstrated, however, than in the current politi-cal fight that was precipitated by President Roosevelt's demand that congress pass a law which will al-low the Chief Executive to add six pay members to the Surrene court new members to the Supreme court of the United States. The real congressional fight on the President's bold move has not yet gained full headway. But time enough has elapsed since Mr. Roosevelt offered his history-making demand for power to add enough judges to the Supreme court, judges of his own selection, to give him a majority, that those close to the congressional scene are now in a position to predict probably the most heated controversy since the days immediately preceding the Civil war.

Already, it can be stated, one can see senators and representatives who are known for their liberal views standing side by side with hard-boiled conservatives in opposi-tion to the President's plan, which they describe as a move "to pack the Supreme court." Likewise one can see conservative Democrats from the old South following President Roosevelt, and joining hands secretively with the wildest radicals in the senate. One will see Democrats and conservative Republicans in earnest conversation planning ways and means to halt the Presi dent's drive for control of the court and at the same time one can see radical Republicans planning with Democrats in support of the program-strange bedfellows, every

While this condition is interesting, it is by far less striking as I watch the proceedings than the extreme bitterness that is now developing. While, as I said, the controversy is hardly under way, there is even now personal animosity evident in the senate to a degree that I never have seen before. I had the privi-lege of observing the famous League of Nations fight at close range. There was personal bitternéss in that senate battle. Old friendships were crushed and close relationships torn asunder. Yet, I think that the current controversy is likely to cause the League of Nations bitterness to pale into insig-nificance. In other words, there lies ahead for the congress a raging fire that is bound to destroy pulitical lives and political ambitions. Which lives and which ambitions depend, I think, upon the answer which the country's citizens give to the now direct question:

Are we to have a system of courts and judges, independent and free of politics, or are we to have puppets that will do the bidding of political masters?

I said above that the result of the Editorials from the Catholic press are being circulated privately among many legislators and against these are some Protestant preachers who take the position that the Supreme court is out of date and ought to be reformed. Numerous Jewish leaders are opposing the reform but among the Jews are many who feel that President Roosevelt is right.

Then there is the split among the farm leaders. I refer to farm or-ganizations with national spokesmen. Some are for the change and some against it.

Uppermost in the minds of all of the opponents seems to be a funda-mental fear that to change the court will open the door through which dictators may walk. To illustrate the type of statements coming forth from observers of national reputation as regards this point, I am going to quote from a recent expression by the distinguished columnist, Westbrook Pegler, Lately he wrote:

"All of a sudden, Mr. Roosevelt discovers that the Supreme court is largely senile and demands quick action on a proposal which, if adopted, would create an easy precedent for the most cynical packing of the Supreme court by someone of the type of Huey Long or Warren Harding, Mussolini or Hitler in years to come. It might not be many years either . . . All dictators pack the courts by legal means as a pre-liminary to the promulgation of their dictatorial laws. After that it is comparatively easy to take over, because the courts belong to the dictator and do as he orders."

There can be no question, of course, that the thing Mr. Roosevelt proposes to have congress do for him is legal. Since, however, it is legal in this instance, it will be legal, of course, for someone else come along after Mr. Roosevelt and pack the court with men of his own choosing, men who will decide survey of the second se the Montana Democrat who has long been outstanding in the liberal character of views he holds, has added to this thought the expression that if the door is to be opened. the people must do it not the con-gress that was elected without voters having heard the proposition mentioned. . . .

As the fight of packing the Su-They Make can not help not-ing how even Mistakes clever reliation make mistakes. There are many who believe that Mr. Roosevelt made a grievous error in proposing revision of the Supreme court in the fashion he chose while there are others who say that he was elected by such a tremen-dous majority that he will have the people behind him regardless of the character of proposition advanced to congress.

It is interesting to note how many congressmen and senators are dodging the issue. Their silence is nosi tively thunderous because they do not know how the people back home feel about the general proposition. There are others who have come out boldly for one reason or an-other in support of the plan and there are some 33 or more in the senate who have determined their position already and are ready to fight to the finish to stop passage of such a law. Then there was the mistake which Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, made in the senate the other day. He vigorously denounced what he termed propaganda and a conspiracy to defeat-the President's plan. He called attention to much newspaper and edi-torial comment in opposition and accused all of those people indiscriminately with being part of a gigantic conspiracy against the court pack. The humor of the Robinson outburst seemed not to be apparent to the otherwise kindly mannered senator whom I very much admire. What he did by an hour-long attack in the senate was to re-emphasize all of the criticism of the President's plan. One might refer in this connection also to the explosive type of speech made by Harry Hopkins, re lief administrator. Of course, ev-eryone knows that Mr. Hopkins has made his life's work that of looking after suffering humanity. He is on the government pay roll in such a job. Mr. Hopkins attacked all opposition to the President's plan he-cause he said it was in the interest of humanity to do so. The relief administrator made his appeal direct to all of those receiving federal money through relief rolls and that obviously will be taken up by opponents of the President's plan who undoubtedly will say as some al-ready have hinted that Mr. Hopkins is trying to muster relief clas as to bring pressure upon congroos.

SATISFIED with the way his ad O ministrative plans are going for-ward, President Roosevelt left Washington for a two weeks' stay in Warm Springs, Ga. He went directly to his white cottage on Pine mountain from which he looks down or the foundation for infantile paraly sis sufferers. It was announced that he would see few officials or other visitors there, conducting all essen-tial public business by telegraph and telephone. Temporary execu tive offices were set up in Kress hal at the foundation.

Before leaving Washington Mr. Roosevelt said at a press conference that he and Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada had discussed the St. Lawrence waterway treaty during King's visit. Whether the treaty will be submitted to the senate at this session, he said, is not yet known. It was rejected a few years ago.

THE Committee for Industrial Organization has declared oper warfare on the American Federa tion of Labor by authorizing its erecutive officials to issue certificates of affiliation to national, interna-tional, state, regional, city and central bodies and local groups whenmander in the Madrid area, charged that 7,000 Italian troops were taking part in the attack on Guadalajara. hese men, he asserts, were landed in Cadiz on February 22, two days after the international neutrality committee's ban on permitting ''vol unteers" to enter Spain was delared effective.

The shelling and capture of the Spanish liner Mar Cantabrico by a rebel vessel was a spectacular event in the war. She was carrying à cargo of planes and munitions from the United States for the loyalists and sought to evade the insurgent cruisers by taking the name of an English ship. But, according to a story printed in New York, the complete plan of her movements was revealed to the agent of the rebels in that city and abled to their headquarters in Spain. Also, according to the only member of the crew who escaped canture, the crew found the captain was communicating with the in-surgents and executed him at sea. The Mar Cantrabrico, with fire in her holds, was taken to Ferrol. It was presumed most of the Spaniards aboard were slain.

LARENCE A. DYKSTRA, city manager of Cincinnati since 1930, was selected as president of the University of Wisconsin by executive committee of the institution's board of regents. If he accepts the place he will succeed Dr. Glenn Frank who was ousted because he was not satisfactory to the La Follette regime. Dykstra is fifty-four years old and a graduate of the University of Iowa.

WITHOUT a record vote the VV house passed the new Duffey-Vinson coal bill, which takes the place of the measure knocked out by the Supreme court. It would set up government regulation of the soft coal industry through a commission in the department of the interior.

FIGURES supplied by the Department of Commerce show that the live stock producers who predicted the United States would be forced to depend on foreign meat imports this year were right. During Jan-uary the arrivals of foreign pork at domestic ports set an all time record for any month, and the imports of meat were far in excess of those a year ago. This condition is blamed on the drouth and the four-year federal crop control program.

Meat imports in January aggregated 30,387,000 pounds, compared with 19,922,000 in January of 1936 and only 7,14,000 pounds in 1935. Dressed pork imports alone reached the record figure of 5,580,033 pounds compared with 2,250,389 in January, 1936, and only 265,000 in 1935. Heavy imports of pork continued during the first three weeks of February, government figures for re-ceipts at New York indicated. During this period foreign nations shipped 2,988,500 pounds of pork to New York, which exceeded imports for any February. Canada proved to be the largest source of supply for the American market. Imports of all kinds of meat from Canada during the first month of this year were approx-imately 17,102,000 pounds, an increase of 190 per cent over the 5,-884,000 pounds imported in January of last year.

which rapidly is breaking down control, and recommended that Class C licenses be substituted. Local communities could veto saleby-glass under the Gormley plan. At any rate, it seems that teeth are needed in the act.

Pontiac-The latest, and perhaps the best, safety drive, has been in progress in Oakland County. Deputies make nightly roundups on county highways of motorists who have faulty lights or no operators licenses. "Courtesy" tickets a r e licenses. "Courtesy" tickets are issued. The drivers who receive these tickets are given five days in which to fix their lights or apply for a license. If these "warnings" go unheeded, says the sheriff, the drivers will be prosecuted on the same basis as those who receive regular violation tickets.

Parma - Keeping up with the times, this community saw its first strike recently. It seems that stulents in Coach John Tomshack's history class at the high school went on a sit-down. Studies were out and books placed on the floor. Smart handling came from Coach Tomshack, who lectured them on the history of strikes, in place of regular work. Next day the students were back for regular classes. Tomshack gave them an examination on the previous day's lecture. 23 of the 28 students flunked.

Owosso-Front page news of New York's "Prosecutor of rackets," Thomas E. Dewey, recently appointed by Governor Herbert H. Lehman, brings to light an interesting local biography. Born in Owosso, Dewey left to enroll at the University of Michigan. He didn't know whether he preferred to be a lawyer or a singer, but proved his musical talent by winning two singing scholarships. Then on to Columbia University went Dewey, to graduate in law. Now, at 34 he is a "crime and gang-buster."

will be Up to the mined by the attitude of the coun-People try. It is vital that the citizens realize this fact. Since President Roosevelt made no men-tion during the campaign for reelection in 1936 of plans to reform the Supreme court, there has been no public expression on the subject. There will not be another opportunity for the voters to express their views until November, 1938. The only way, then, open to those who want to express an opinion for or against the court change is by sending their views to their congressmen and senators. Conversations that I have had with members of the house and the senate convinces me that the representatives and senators will appreciate word as to how their constituents feel.

Further evidence of the desire of congressmen and senators to know the feelings of the voters is given in the tremendous propaganda that is going on. Friends and foes of the Supreme court reform program are on the air nightly; scarcely a day goes by that some senator and usu-ally several of them and numerous congressmen participate in debate or issue statements concerning the great controversy, and from the tremendous source of propaganda supply at the command of the President come countless statements and interviews and radio speeches praising the President's plan. Even the President himself has made one of his famous "fireside chats" telling why he should be given the new power.

In the meantime-and some more strange bedfellows-we find the most peculiar cross currents operating. Among some of the religious groups, there are many who fear that the court packing plan will void constitutional guarantees of religious freedom. They fear even-tual control of the churches by the state, having in mind, no doubt what has happened to religious Purse from Sow's Ear A feature of the exhibit of Arthur D. Little, Inc., at the National Exposition of Chemical In-dustries in 1921, was a silk purse actually made out of a sow's ear. The ear was made into glue, softened with water, brought almost to the point of precipitation with acetone, then forced through a warm container into a spinneret, and through this into a hardening solution of formaldehyde and acetone in a V-tube. It was picked out of the V-tube, reeled, dried, treated to a 40 per cent glycerin bath in which it was also dyed, then reeled and dried again, woven and sewed up.

Don't Try to "Save" on Home Remedies-Ask Your Doctor

There is one point, on which prac-tically all doctors agree. That is: Don't give your child unknown remedies without asking your dactor first.

All mothers know this. But some-times the instinct to save a few pennies by buying "something just as good" overcomes caution.

When it comes to the widely used children's remedy — "milk of mag-nesia" — many doctors for over half a century have said "PHILLIPS." For Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is the standard of the world. Safe for children.

-Keep this in mind, and say "PHIL-LIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA" when you buy. Comes now, also in tablet form. Get the form you prefer. But see that what you get is labeled "Genuine Phillips' Milk of Mag-nesia." 25f for a big box of the tablets at drug stores.

Lesson for March 21 JOHN'S PICTURE OF THE TRIAL AND CRUCIFIXION LESSON TEXT - John 19: 4-9, 14-18, 25.30. GOLDEN TEXT — Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren. I John 3:18. PRIMARY TOPIC — When Jesus Died for Us Us. JUNIOR TOPIC — On a Hill Far Away. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC— Christ's Cross and Its Meaning for Me. YOUNG FEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC— Christ's Cross and Mine. The cross is accepted throughout the world as the emblem of the Christian church. The death of the Son of God for the sins of the world is a focal point not only in history but in theology. It is for this reason that we give so much study to the cross and its meaning.

Calvary comes between Christmas and Easter, Jesus came as the Babe of Bethlehem-God incarnate in the flesh. He died for you and me. Death could not hold him. He arose in victory. He is now at the Father's right hand, an Advocate with the Father. He is coming again. Each statement is an indispensable truth!

The assigned text gives only a portion of the moving account of the trial and crucifixion of Jesus but suffices to bring before us in graphic contrast four pictures-

I. Pilate—Convinced but Afraid. Pilate was in a most difficult position. To turn one way meant to incur the wrath of the Jews he gov-erned. To turn the other meant that he would be accused of disloyalty to Rome. He was convinced that Jesus was innocent, but was afraid to follow his own convictions.

Many there are who follow in his steps. They know what they ought to do with Jesus, but fear the comments of friends or loss of earthly advantage, and take their place with Pilate.

II. The Jews-Hostile and Hardnearted.

The common people heard Jesus gladly. They loved him and would have followed him. But the Jewish leaders, and those whom they had misled, hated him with malicious hatred.

They are typical of those who in our day have long and repeatedly rejected the claims of the Lord Jesus on their lives. They have hardened their hearts against him Paul says, "They received not the love of the truth that they might be saved, and for this cause God shall send them a strong delusion, that they should believe a lie" (II Thess. 2:10,11). Let those who have long rejected the Saviour be warned lest they also crucify afresh the Son of God. III. The Disciples-Remembered by the Saviour. The thoughtful tenderness of Jesus in providing for his mother even in his own hour of deep suffering, moves upon our hearts and urges us to follow his example. This is a hard world; let the followers of Jesus be tender and kind.

In thus caring for his mother, Jesus gives thought also to the new responsibility of the disciple "whom, he lowed." What a sacred and retrust,

No like prohibition governs the railroads' land, air and water competitors, and none is contemplated for them. It applies to the rails alone, with the original need for it non-existent--imposing a handicap on them while it confers advantages on their competitors.

Repeal of this clause will hurt no one; will make lower rail rates eventually not improbable; will create an additional 100,000 railroad jobs.

Nor will it reduce the ICC's powers; or enable the rails to charge rates that are unreasonable or unduly low so as to eliminate competition, or to raise rates if competition did disappear.

The bill is favored by great bodies of shippers, by trade organizations, by the railroads and railroad labor. It is opposed by steamship interests and coastal industries who would retain unfair advantages over inland competitors.

America's railroads face the most unprecedented competition in their history. Unneeded restraints, like this obsolete clause, should be removed that the lines may better be able reasonably, and legally, to compete.

Michigan, and its railroads, will benefit from the repeal. Support for the Pettengill bill should be asked of the State's delegation in Congress.

Self-Reliance

It is easy to see that a great self-reliance must work a revolution in the offices and relations of men; in their religion, in their education, in their pursuits, their modes of living, their associations, in their property, in their specula-tive views.—Emerson.

gle fever. Burning with fever, he dragged himself to the edge of a stagnant pool to quench his thirst, only to find that a quina-quina tree had fallen across it. Although the medicine men of his tribe had always supposed the bitter-tasting bark of the tree to be poisonous, the Indian was so far gone he preferred the swift death by poison to the lingering one from fever. So he drank deep from the pool. In a few hours he miraculousfelt better, and soon he was cured.

Returning to his tribe, he carried his story of the marvelous curative powers of the quina-quina bark. Others tried it, and found it had both curative and preventive powers. By 1640, news of the new drug had been transmitted to Europe, where its name was shortened to quinine.

For a time the bark sold at fab ulous prices, as royalty and wealthy merchants bid frantically for the meager supply to cure their aching limbs. Within a century the tree had been domesticated and was being grown commercially in many parts of the world.

CONVENTIONAL picture of the A typical Englishman to most Americans is a pompous, be-spatted individual sporting a tightly furled umbrella and a monocle on a long black ribbon. As a matter of fact, none of these bits of haberdashery originated in England, and the monocle especially has been accepted there only in relatively recent times. Monocle is a hybrid word of French origin, which suggests that the single eyeglass may have been a French invention. The word originally came from the Greek monos, sole, and Latin oculus, eye, and literally means one eye. The term was not even mentioned in the Eng-lish Oxford dictionary before 1858, and—that was considerably before it became very popular. The first recorded case of a person wearing a monocle to ordinary social functions was a diplomat named Phillip von Stosch who wore a single eye-glass while on a mission to Rome. At first he was looked upon as being a little queer, but before long he had the diplomatic corps there practicing before their mirrors with pieces of silver, and soon it became quite the rage in Italy. But new fads and fashions did not spread as rapidly then as they do now, and it took over a century for the new sophistication to reach England. And after many of sneering bogus counts and "stuck-up frills" here at home, a number of Americans in the larger cities may now be seen occasionally trying out monocles themselves.

have its good points as a cow's errand boy, but the horse not only has a self-starter, it has a self-stopper. Once a horse has delivered even half a pint of milk at a house he stops there of his own accord the next time he passes.

For years there has been a hot controversy raging between the scientists and the milk-wagon drivers as to whether or not the horse did this stopping because he knew there was a customer in the building or because he was simply too darned lazy to miss a chance to rest.

Well anyway, the horse-lovers will all be delighted to feel that their four-footed friends have not been displaced but merely slightly mislaid, and feel grateful to the milkcompanies who have not only reinstated the horse but given him rubber-shoes to wear even in fine weather and quite a few notices in

But for the benefit of the younger generation who don't really know much on the subject, perhaps I had better explain what a horse is. It's the thing that statues of generals sit on. You may not know the name or nationality of the general but you can always be sure that it's a horse he is sitting on.

Horses of Myriad Hues. A horse is an oblong platform with supports at the four corners, an outsized set of teeth in front and a whiskbroom behind. It looks

At this point, we take up the racehorses. Well you take them up, I can't afford to. The race horse is a different animal from the honest though sophisticated cab horse. The race horse may perform in the country but he's a city-slicker just the same. It is the race horse who originated the terms "horse-cents" and "horse-laughs." If you put your money on its nose, the money generally slides off. If you play the horse to show, he generally shows you up, and when you play him to place, he puts you in your place.

Streamlined Horses.

Race-horses are generally streamlined models, sprung for speed, and with an extra gear or so, bucketseats, a swell)varnish job and sporty looking. They don't make a family model and over-interest in 'em don't make a model family, either. But a taste for this species is guaranteed to keep both you and your pock-etbook out in the open.

Down in dear 'ole-Virginny and even on Long Island, there are peo-ple who ride to hounds. Some even get beyond the hounds, as well, but that's not considered sporting. These foll's ride riding-horses. The custom of riding to hounds is an old English one and you have to be red in the coat to do it and usual-ly end up red in the face on your back in some field. When this happens, well that's where your ridinghorse shows his affection for you by sitting on your chest, getting you in a scissors hold, patting your face with his hoofs and generally showing you where you got off. Would I like that? Neigh, Neigh! Pauline! When I want to go flying over fences I'll get me an airplane. Horse, Rider Start Together. But don't think I haven't tri riding. There was a bargain sale of riding clothes at my favorite store, and I couldn't resist getting me one of those outfits that start at a derby-hat and end at a pair of khaki-colored bandages around the legs. At the time I didn't realize they were bandages, I thought they were puttees. But in the end they held my legs together until the doctor came. When I put on the derby I was just like Al Smith-all ready to take a walk. And I wish now I'd had sense enough to stick to that idea. But no, I had the clothes so I had to have the ride. I got one, all right. Of course, I must admit that I asked for a horse that had never been ridden because I'd never rid-den a horse and I thought it only fair to start even. But the man said no, he thought I'd better take a used one because I wouldn't have to keep under twenty-five miles an hour for the first five hundred miles. This horse had four gears, knee-action and free-wheeling. This last discovered when I borrowed a bicycle to come home on. It was free and I did the wheeling. Well anyway, I got the habit of standing up after meals out of the experience; in fact I also stood during meals for quite some time, because the horse had no springs and he would toss me in the air and when he caught me again there was no give to the understuffed saddle From the ground, he looked reasonably low, but when I got into the saddle I thought I was in the Rainbow Room. I didn't know how to steer and his brakes needed relining and he had different ideas from mine about where to go, and yet the man had the nerve to charge me five dollars for the afternoon. Yeh, the horse was on me all right-I wasn't on him long enough to even mention.

Need for stretching the supply of legume seed as far as possible is found in the lower yields obtained from unadapted foreign strains. Carefully conducted experiments have shown that on an average foreign red clover produces only 65 per cent as heavy yields as home grown strains. When compared to yields from good northern grown common alfalfa, yields of Argentine alfalfa ranged from 50 per cent to 100 per Substituting legume varieties that are available for those that are scarce this year, mixing legume seed with grass seed, and growing soybeans and cow peas as green manure crops are suggested for meeting the legume seed shortage emergency.

The practice of buying seed in which even small amounts of foreign grown seed have been mixed, especially if the legume crop is to be harvested for seed, is not a good plan. Since the low yielding foreign strains cross with the adapted domestic strains, years are required before winter killing, insects and diseases have eliminated the weaker strains. Large importations of foreign seeds come at irregular intervals and are dependent upon short crops in the United States and large crops in the exporting country. In any case, importations are greatest when the price relations are satis-factory. Importations are expected to be extremely high this year, following a period of three or four years of low importation.

The federal seed act requires that imported legume seed be stained. Foreign seed of mixtures can be recognized by this stain which in no way affects the germination of the seed.

Build Sash Greenhouses

Now for Spring Sowings With an investment of a few hundred dollars, a sash greenhouse can be constructed in time for sowing seeds for early tomatoes, eegplants and peppers, says C. H. Nissley, extension professor of vegetable gar-dening at the New Jersey College of Agriculture, Rutgers University.

Of the thousands of vegetable growers who have sash greenhouses, Nissley reports, there is not one who says he would be willing to go back to the old hotbed method of growing plants. It does not require much time to construct one of these buildings.

When selecting the site for a sash greenhouse, it is important to hoose a well-drained location. If possible, have the greenhouse run-ning north and south so that the in-side of the house will receive the full benefit of the sunlight both morning and afternoon and the sun's rays will shine directly on the center of the house at noon. Concrete or cinder blocks used as a foundation are permanent and will last considerably longer than wood.

Legend of Billy the Kid

I N HIS six years as a Western desperado, Billy the Kid shot and killed twenty-one men, not counting Indians. Billy, whose real name was William H. Bonney, was called "The Kid" because of his extreme youth. He shot his first man at the age of twelve, and he had just passed his twenty-second birthday when he was ambushed and killed by a sheriff's posse in Lincoln coun-ty, New Mexico.

Like many another Western out law, Billy was born in the East. Although brought up in Kansas, his home town was New York City. Shortly after his father died, young Billy drilled a man because he had allegedly insulted his mother. the time he was sixteen, Billy

By had helped another man kill three Indian trappers to get their furs. Two years later he had blazed his spectacular trail all over the Southwest, and had twelve notches in his gun.

He became so feared by local police authorities that, like Black Bart, the famous stage-coach robber, the governor of New Mexico territory promised him a pardon in case of conviction if he would give himself up. But Billy the Kid had made too many enemies by then, and said he would be killed immediately if he disarmed, even though protected by the govern-

Instead, he embarked on a new series of cattle-rustling and killing expeditions. Shortly before he was brought down by Sheriff Pat Garett, he expressed a wish to kill two more men, all the notches his gun would hold.

as if you could sit on it, and some can. Others don't even try to get on personally, but put money on the horses instead. This is an even more dangerous practice, especially if the money is put on the nose. But more of that anon.

A horse can be one of several colors. Black, rain-spotted, bay, chest-nut, or merely dark. A dark horse is one that you thought wouldn't do anything and then he does it. So far as I'm concerned every horse is a dark one, because only a bookie can tell you what a horse is going to do, and then he's lying.

At present, the horses extaunt, or exhaunt or ex--oh well, I mean the only horses which are not ex in this country today, come under four headings. Milk, cab, riding and race. Up to a short while ago the cowboys out in the great open spaces, where men are men with hair on their pants, used horses. But like the rest of civilization they now work with flivvers. It must be quite a sight out there on the plains to see them rounding up a herd of wild flivvers, breaking them in and all that.

However, to get back on the horse for a moment — which is record time, at that. The cab-variety of horse is still to be found in the wilder parts of our cities: the wilder the part, the more chance there is of people on an alcoholiday hiring him and his driver, or even acting in place of the regular driver. These horses know Life. That is to say they never saw the country except in Central park and wear their blinders on account of the white lights of Broadway. They are bored from having met so, many prominent people and people who were merely making themselves promwere inent for the moment. These cab horses have an average speed which ranges all the way from two miles an hour downwards, and many of them know Lily Langtry and Diamond Jim Brady well, to mention only a couple of celebrities. It's a lucky thing horses can't talk.

trial carried on at University farm, St. Paul, it was found that fillies made larger gains with less grain when fed canary grass than when fed prairie hay. Prairie hay is just about as good, if not a little better, than timothy hay for horses. I do not know whether canary grass would excel alsike clover hay for horses, but I think it would be almost as high in feeding value. Alsike clover might prove a little more valuable than Reed canary grass for young stock because it is a little higher in crude protein. If Reed canary grass is not too coarse, it is excellent hay for horses .- A. L Harvey, Division of Animal Husbandry.

Bluegrass

Bulbous bluegrass, once thought practical only in regions of heavy rainfall and mild temperatures, has been found adapted to northern areas of moderate precipitation, according to a correspondent in Suc-cessful Farming. A patch has been growing for 15 years at Dickinson, North Dakota, where it has pro-duced a good stand in dry years and has successfully resisted low winter temperatures (47 degrees below -zero). It is suggested as suited for early poultry and sheep pasture and for pasture mixtures to be grazed by other. livestock. It is distinguished by fleshy, bulb-like roots and also by a bulb-shaped seed pod.

Wood Ashes as Fertilizer

Wood ashes are a valuable fer tilizer and the gardener with a fireplace will do well to save his own. Keep them dry, storing in tin cans for use in the spring season, says a writer in the New York Herald Tribune. As they are quite caustic in action, mix them well with the soil previous to sowing or planting. It is their potash content that is of help to the plants. Add some nitrogenous and phosphoric fertilizer to make it a balanced plant food.

THE CHARLEVOIX COUNTY HERALD, (EAST JORDAN, MICH.), FRIDAY, MARCH 19, 1937

SYNOPSIS

Victoria Herrendeen, a vivacious little girl, had been too young to feel the shock that came when her father. Keith Herren-deen, lost his fortune. A gentle, unobstrusive soul, he is now employed as an obscure chemist in San Francisco, at a meager salary. His wife, Magda, cannot adjust her-self to the change. She is a beautiful wom-sen, fond of pleasure and a magnet for an. fond of pleasure and a magnet for men's attention. Magda and Victoria have been down at a summer resort and Keith joins them for the week-end. Magda leaves joins them for the week-end. Magda leaves for a bridge party, excusing herself for be-ing such a "runaway." Later that night Victoria is grief-stricken when she hears-her parents quarreling. The Herrendsens return to their small San Francisco apart-ment. Keith does not approve of Magda's mad social life and they quarrel frequently. Victoria asks her mother why her dad is sa worried so worried.

"Why, he's been so glum and si-lent these last months I hardly know. Ever since you and I went down to Santa Barbara last summer he's seemed to feel he has a grievance." Again the beautiful affection ate eyes filled with tears.

Victoria's heart ached for her with a fierce wrench of pain and sympathy. She knew of what her mother was thinking on these hot days; she was thinking of her friends at Tahoe, and up on the Klamath river, and down on the cool shores of Pebble beach and Santa Barbara.

Presently Magda came back to the question: "You do see that it's hard for me,

Victoria? What would you do?'

"Oh, yes; oh, yes," Victoria agreed. "It's—it's hard on us all!" "Hard on you, too, dear?" Her mother asked quickly, in a tone that shrank away from pain. "Hard to see you unhappy and see him unhappy," Victoria said, her eyes watering.

There was a ring at the door. Victoria was glad to go, to answer it; the conversation had gotten completely out of hand. She came in with a great box of flowers; there were often boxes of flowers, but not often as large as this.

Victoria ran about getting vases for them. "And what's in the box, Mother, the little box?"

Mrs. Herrendeen was smiling superbly, shaking her head. The card, twisted and wired in a wet envelope. was in her hand; the little square jeweler's box with it. "What's in it, Mother?" Victoria insisted. "I hate to look," the woman said.

"I know it's going to make me angry.

"Angry?" "I think so, Oh," Magda mur-mured, under her breath, "he has no right to do that!" "Do you know who it is before you even read the card, Mother?" "I think I do. I think it's my very rich friend, Mr. Manners," ""The Sensite me?"

'The Spanish one?' "He is half Spanish, I believe."

Magda slowly brought forth the card, glanced at it, crumpled it to pulp Victoria's eager eyes were upon her as she opened the little box, cutting its heavy cords and breaking away the wax seals. There were a cardboard box, a light wooden box, a lined jewel case in she had had time to dress, time to draw shades and set the flowers about advantageously. "Are you going up to Helen's?" he was presently asking. He paid no attention to Victoria. Magda shook her head. "You're not?" the man demanded surprised. "My little spare tire," Victoria's nother said, her arm about her.-"But good gracious, take her! Connie's girl must be about her age." "No," Magda said, gently shaking her head. "Not just now, any-way. But it must be lovely up there! I've never been there, you know. Phyllis was telling me of some place-the Braverman place right on the water-"

"But that's just the place I am going to buy!" Ferdinand Manners exclaimed. When Magda presently went out of the room to bring him her Spanish shawl, he asked Vic toria if she knew that she had a very beautiful mother. He bent his russet head over the shawl. "Yes, that is a fine shawl," he said. "What does the man offer you?"

Victoria was shocked. Was Moth er going to sell the famous old shawl? She saw that her mother hadn't wanted her to know

"He offers me three hundred-Marsh. It's to be edged with fur for a wrap. They'll take all this off." Magda ran her fine thin hand through creamy silk fringes so stiff that they looked like cotton.

Just a week later Victoria brought in a great box just delivered from Marsh's; the shawl was inside. It had been changed into a sumptuous evening wrap with a border all the way about it of soft white fur. And this gift her mother did not return. She put it away in the great trunk that always stood in her room; there was small closet space in the apart ment.

That same week, on another sticky sultry night, Keith Herrendeen came in looking tired and pale at six o'clock, apparently more than ordinarily wearied by the burden and heat of the day. He sank into a chair in the sitting room that was also the dining room, where Victoria was already setting the table.

"I brought you a little present, Magda," he said, his face suddenly bright with a smile. "It's not much, my dear.'

It was an Emporium box; a white linen jacket, unlined, with a smart dark blue stripe about the collar and cuffs. The tag was still on it; he explained that she was free to exchange it if she liked. Victoria sent a quick apprehensive glance toward her mother. The bracelet that had cost thousands had been sent back, but the remains of the great crate of flowers, and fresh flowers, were everywhere, and deep in her mother's trunk was the beautiful shawl with its new border of pure white ermine.

Mrs. Herrendeen stood fingering the linen jacket. The staring "$3.95" on a tag was in her hand, as the fringe of the shawl had been a few days ago.

"It's very sweet, Keith," she said, holding her tone low. But it was ho use; in a minute she was crying convulsedly, bitterly, senselessly, standing at the window, with her shaking shoulders to the room. "Don't mind me," she said thickly. "I'm crazy. Don't pay any at-tention to me!" "I'll be damned if I understand you sometimes, Magda," Keith said wearily. It was on this night that there was the first talk of sending Victoria to a boarding school. Victoria's heart rose on a bound of joy at the thought.

the most enchanting adventure of their lives. All day long, and far into the beautiful summer nights, the two girls talked and laughed, swam and cooked and walked together, giggled their way through adventures that supplied them with endless material for laughter and reminiscence. The little cabin was on the east side of the lake; it was so small that the happy party had the feel-ing of living out of doors.

A mile or two to the west was the hotel, in a settlement of informally grouped lake homes; the Brock place was all by itself, with a little triangular sandy beach of its own. Anna and Magda and the/two girls concocted for themselves the sort of meals that women love in summer: salads, bowls of berries, boxed cookies, fruits.

Victoria's beautiful mother had for a friend one of the homeliest of women. But Anna Brock had an odd abrupt charm of her own, and she was extremely brilliant. She spoke French and German, and in September she was going to New York to teach Latin in a boy's school. And then Catherine-joy of joys!--would be placed with Vic-toria in the San Rafael boarding school. They would still be together!

"Mother, how can we afford that?" Victoria asked one day. Magda and her daughter had swum out through the shallow clear water to a great rock and were basking on it.

"This is a good chance to talk to you, Vic, without Anna or Kittsy hearing," Magda said, by way of reply, after a moment's hesitation. "Vic, I don't want you to feel-badly about this," her mother presently began. I'm getting a divorce from Dad. We're in Nevada-did you realize that? Aunt Anna's cabin is well over the line, and on that day when we took a long drive we went to Reno and arranged it."

Victoria was looking at her mother steadily; she had not moved a muscle. Now she swallowed with a dry throat.

There were tears in Magda's eyes and in her voice; and she stopped short and looked away over the dazzle of blue water.

"Oh, the break is terrible, I know that-I know it now! But after a few weeks-after a month or two everyone gets used to it-and the two persons who have grown nervous and irritable and wretched together are free!'

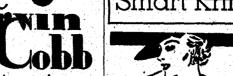

"But then when will I see Dad?" Victoria asked, tears gushing from her eyes. "Can I write to him?"

her eyes. "Can I write to him?" "My darling, of course. And he'll come to see you at school, take you out to movies! Why, I'm writing him today, and I'll put your love. in.

It seemed less strange the next day; Dad and Mother separating. Still Victoria tried to adjust her thoughts to all the amazing angles of this new turn of affairs, thought that she would go and see Dad often, too, if she could get away from school. And perhaps next year he and she would have their from little dream house on the shore for a few weeks, and cook waffles and scrambled eggs.

This was late August. It was in and busy and happy in the dark blue Dominican uniform, with the dazzling collar of her bluejacket's blouse turned back at the neck, and the pale blue scarf that marked her as a freshman blowing in the autumn wind, was stopped as she was racing in Catherine's wake across the school playground. "Letter for you, Victoria,"

SANTA MONICA, CALIF. -Since our diplomatic group must shed the half-portion breeches they've been wearing. at official functions abroad. that means others present will quit mistaking them for footmen and start in again mistaking them for waiters, as formerly.

But the under-rigging doesn't make so much difference anyhow. In the best plenipotentiarying circles, it's the top dressing that counts - the gold - plated cocked hat; the dress coat loaded with bullion; the bosom crossed with broad ribbons: the lapels and the throat latch so decorated with medals that, alongside one thus costumed, Sol- Irvin S. Cobb omon in all his glory would look absolutely nude.

End of the Holdout Season. THE baseball season couldn't start off properly unless a certain catastrophé impended before-hand. Every self-respecting player who made a hit last year insists on more salary for this year, else he'll never spit in the palm of another glove. This makes him a hold-out. The manager declares the player will take what's offered him and not a cent more. This makes him a manager.

But fear not, little one. They'll all be in there when the governor or the mayor or somebody winds up to launch the first game and tosses the ball nearly eighteen feet in the general direction of the continent of North America.

Changing Style Capitals. OLLYWOOD and not Paris is H now the world center for fashions, if you can believe Hollywoodand not Paris.

At any rate, both for men and women, we do originate many style creations which, in the best movie circles, frequently make the women look mannish and the men look effeminate, maybe that's the desired effect; an oldtimer wouldn't know about that. However, there's a new hat out here for masculine wear which fascinates me. It is a very woolly hat -a nap on it like an old family album - and the crown peaks up in a most winsome way, and there's a rakish bunch of tail-feathers at the back which makes it look as though it might settle down any minute and start laying. I think they got the idea for it from the duck-billed platypus.

Civilizing Ethiopia. CONQUERED Ethiopians attempt to assassinate their new over-which a heavy diamond bracelet was flashing and gleaming on a satin cushion.

'What does the note say. Mother?"

"Just-well, nothing, really. Ridiculous!" the woman murmured, her expression partly amused, part ly pleased, partly impatient. "It's beautiful," Victoria said, of the bracelet. "Are they expensive?

"Only a few thousand," her moth er answered carelessly. She fitted the bracelet carefully back in its case; replaced the wooden box, the cardboard box, and yawned.

"Don't you like him, Mother?" 'Who? Ferd Manners?'

"Is that his name? It doesn' sound very Spanish."

'It's Ferdinand de Something Manners. I believe his mother was an Argentine heiress. He's lived there a great deal."

"You might know he was Span ish." Victoria said brightly. "or he wouldn't think he could send a mar-ried lady jewelry!"

"True for you, Miss Herrendeen!" her mother agreed, going into the bedroom with the box. Until she could return it, she would hide it, Victoria knew. Dad must know nothing of this.

The afternoon dragged. After a while Victoria put on her old white serge skirt and a white thin sweater, pulled a small white hat over her bobbed head, and went to the library to get a new book. When she came back at five, her mother was entertaining a caller. It wa a square, dark - skinned man, sprawled in a low chair, a glass of champagne between his big brown hands.

"This is my little girl, Mr. Man pers."

"Come, it was to be Ferdinand!" the man said, his voice and accent instantly betraying the Latin. "It was not," Magda countered simply, smiling. She was in something soft and cool and pale blue; | care, for they were embarked upon

This seemed to be a time of thrilling plans. It appeared almost immediately that she and her mother were going up to Tahoe to visit Anna Brock. Mrs. Brock was an old friend who had a daughter Catherine; Victoria and Catherine had known each other, not very in-timately, all their lives. They had always rather shyly liked each other.

"Dad, will you be up at all, weekends?

"That's a pretty expensive trip, Vic.

"But once? If we can afford to stay there, surely you can afford to come up once?"

"Till try." "It isn't going to cost us very much," said her mother. "The cottage belongs to Anna's sister, and our food won't be much."

"Oh; are we sort of Boarding, Mother?"

"Something like that,"

Keith Herrendeen, putting them on the train, gave Victoria a little box in parting.

"That belonged to my mother, and her mother before her-you've seen it, the pearl and onyx set. I want you to have it."

Victoria clung to him. "Dad, you're not going to have much fun.

you're not going to have much fun. I wish you were going!" And she called back to him over her shoul-der: "I'll write you-I love you!" For the first day or two Mrs. Brock and Magda talked together confidentially and inexhaustibly. Catherine and Victoria did not care, for they were embarked upon cool hand.

"Oh, thank you, S'ter," Victoria gasped, seizing it. It was from her mother, who was down in Santa Barbara with the Arnolds. It told her happily, simply, that her mother and Ferdinand Ainsa y Castello Manners, "for you may as well have his whole name, my darling, although I've only got the first and the last on my new cards," had been married that day at noon.

Her father came to see her now and then, on Sundays. They were oddly silent, oddly ill at ease with each other.

Victoria saw her stepfather only in flying glimpses for the remainder of her school life. He and her mother were at the big Manners cattle ranch down in the Argentine for two years, and when they came back Victoria was preparing for a second trip to Europe. Mother Ray-mond had written to her mother about leaving her in the school there for the final year of French and music and culture generally, and Victoria had only one real visit with her mother before it was time to go. Ferdinand Manners had leased the big Chalmers place in Burlingame; Magda was baok among her friends again and giddy with happiness and triumph. (TO BE CONTINUED)

Chows Good Sledge Dogs

Natives of Northern China, born and reared to draw sledges over frozen wastes, the chow's steadfast, purposeful eye is indicative of their inbred ability to keep their gaze on the trail and their minds on the destination ahead. They have an amazing instinct to find their way through a country that is entirely new to them; and if they become separated from their masters in a crowd, they do not become con fused as many dogs do, running this way and that, but very calmly and confidently thread their way through the throng until they find the man for whom they are looking.

The Public's Short Memory. A FINANCIER, whose exposed devices are as a bad smell in people's nostrils, summarily is oust-ed from his high place and the shadows swallow up his diminished shape. A little time passes, and, lo, in a new setting, he bobs up, an envied if not an exalted personage. So-called exclusive groups welcome him in; newspapers quote him on this and that; he basks again, like some sleek and overfed lizard, in the sunshine of folks' tolerance-yes, the admiration of some. No evidence that he has repented of his former practices; no sign of Intent to repay any broken victim of those fiduciary operations. The private fortune which he took with him when he quit is still all his. And maybe there's the secret of this magical restoration to the favor of the multitude. IRVIN S. COBB. &--WNU Service.

Budapest Catacombs

The Budapest catacombs date back to the days when the Fort of Buda was held by the Turks, marking the farthest fortified advance of the forces of Islam into Christendom. They were probably intended as avenues of escape for a beleaguered garrison, but they also have fresh water wells in them, and some of the chambers were used as repositories for great numbers of human skulls and bones, as in the case of the catacombs at Rome.

THE SENIOR PLAY

The senior play was a big success Thursday evening, March 11. The cast consisted of Virginia Saxton, Donald Johnston, Wylon Payne, Stella Stallard, Alston Penfold, Clif-ford Gibbard, Ruth Hott, and Arthur Cronin. It was a three act play, with lots of laughs, Everyone enjoyed himself and there was a good crowd out.

GRADE NEWS

Mrs. Carson brought a surprise to school. All the boys and girls tried but could'nt guess. When she showed the goldfish they named them. Their names are Popeye, the black one with the bulging eyes; Olive Oyle Gray, one with the orange on its side and with a fan tail; and Wimpy, an ordinary orange gold fish. They are making wren houses.

HOLLANDERS

The fourth graders have turned Hollanders. They are taking a unit of work over Holland. Evadiena Ter Avest brought in two cups from Holland, over 100 years old. They have a book and some writing in Dutch.

SPRING

The sixth graders have some Spring pictures on the bulletin board. They have a fine map of Africa, Tommy Lew is back in school after being out convalescing.
