SMELT JAMBOREE IS RARIN' TO START

Canners Win Three In A Row

NOW IN LEAD OF TOP O' MICHIGAN INDEPENDENT LEAGUE

Coach Alex Sinclair's East Jordan Canners dished out the Cheboygan Merchants their first league defeat of the season on their own court last Thursday evening, as the Jordanites, after trailing for nearly three periods, came from behind to win 34 to 28.

Cheboygan, with a team averaging better than six foot per man in height, and weighing close to 200 pounds per player, with a set brand of basketball, gave the Jordanites a real tussel throughout. Coming from behind near the close of the third period, the Red and White finished up in grand style as the tired out Cheboygan men tried in vain to overcome their disadvantage.

The win was the 21st of the season for the Sinclairmen, and their 5th win in the Top O' Michigan Independent League. Gayle Saxton with 17 led the local offensive attack. Clark with 12 tallied high for the losers.

The local Independent Canners basketball quintet turned in one of its outstanding performances of the season here Monday evening in downing the Gaylord IOOF Independents 55 to 44, in a thrilling, free scoring encounter.

Although handicapped by Gaylord's advantage in height, the Sinclairmen really put on an exhibition of fine passing and excellent team play. The visitors were by no means a weak aggregation, and the Red and White really had to get out and dig for all they got. Coach Alex Sinclair's alternating lineup also saw considerable service, turning in an all around performance.

"Hud" Sommersville, firey local pivot man, ran wild, tallying an even 20 points to turn in the high scoring performance of the evening. Benser and H. Noriot tallied high for the losers each with 11 points.

In winning their 22nd game of the season the Sinclairmen gave signs of being ready for the all important battle here Monday evening, March 20th when the Northport Independents come to town to give the Jordanites a chance to redeem themselves after losing 30 to 29 at Northport a few weeks ago. This game promises to be the basketball classic of Northern Michigan this winter as both aggregations come together with almost identical records each representing their section of the state.

The local Red and White clad Canners cage aggregation added another victory to its string Tuesday evening at Harbor Springs where they trounced the Harbor Merchants for the second time this season, this time winning 51 to 33.

The Harbor men were all set for the Jordan tilt and were bent on taking the locals, but the fastbreaking tactics of the Sinclairmen said no as the Cannors won handily, and always holding a comfortable lead and at no time being threatened.

Sacred Concert Sunday Night

The "A Capella Choir" of Alma College will give a sacred concert at the Presbyterian Church Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

This choir consists of 22 voices and has sung in some of the large churches in Detroit and over the radio. The choir has had a fine reputation for several years, and this year it has received especially fine commendations.

This concert is possible because the choir is to give a series of concerts in the upper peninsula and is making this stop on the way north.

Mrs. Phoebe Coon-Beyer Passed Away, Monday

Mrs. Phoebe Coon-Beyer passed away at her home on the West Side, Monday, March 13th from a complication of diseases. She was 76 years of age. The remains were removed to the Huffman Funeral Home.

Funeral services will be held from St. Joseph Catholic church Friday forenoon, March 17, conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. Malinowski.

An Honor Student At Mich. State College

East Lansing - Gertrude L. Sideman, graduate of East Jordan High School, will be honored by Michigan State College at a special convocation this Thursday night as one of 34 students who will receive awards won during the last school year.

She will receive the Home Economics Club Scholarship of $50 awarded annually to the Junior Home Economics student who best exemplified the ideals of home economics training.

Honor students and their parents have received special invitations to attend the convocation which will be addressed by Clare Griffen, Dean of the School of Business Administration, University of Michigan.

MARRIAGE

Vogel - Slade

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vogel announce the marriage of their daughter, Betty, to Ernest M. Slade of Grand Rapids, at Grandville, Saturday, March 4. Rev. John Cermak, former East Jordan pastor, officiating. The young couple are living at 127 Waverly Ave. S. E. Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Slade was a member of the Class of '35 graduating from the East Jordan High School and later attended the Davenport-McLachlan Business Institute of Grand Rapids, and since her graduation has been employed in Grand Rapids.

Mr. Slade is employed by the General Electric Supply Corporation. The best wishes of their many friends are extended for a happy and prosperous future.

danites, hoisted the Sinclairmen into the lead of the Top O' Michigan Independent League as the Cheboygan Merchants edged out the Boyne City Please-U-Bread quintet 34 to 33 at Boyne City Tuesday evening.

Cruikshank and Blohm starred for the losers with 11 and 9 points respectively. The former, a Presbyterian minister, really turned in a gut standing performance with a hard-fought and heads up ball game.

The Jordanites travel to Mackinaw City Thursday evening to play a return engagement there, in a game that means plenty as far as the final standings of the league are concerned.

ANNUAL GALA CELEBRATION TO GET UNDER WAY NEXT FRIDAY

As countless inquiries continue to pour in regarding the 1939 National Smelt Jamboree, final plans are ironed out, and the smelt have been given the password to go anytime they wish from now on.

The celebration gets under way Friday evening, March 24th, with the wildlife banquet in the High School Gym., which is held each year in commemoration of National Wildlife Week (March 19 to 25th). This banquet which was sponsored for the first time last year and is attended by both men and women, has proven a very popular feature of the Jamboree. At that time, various outdoor writers, photographers and celebrities will be introduced to the local people. The only person who will not make his bow at that time is the new King whose identity, as is customary, will not be known till coronation time Saturday.

The Saturday program will be practically the same as in other years except for the elimination of the stag banquet. This banquet, with its famous bun fights, has gone to join the Dinosauria, peace pipes, quilting parties, pony express and other great institutions of their day. However, the coronation of the King of Smeltium, the National Spitting contest, the street acts, fireworks, the Smelter's Ball and the "Charge of the Night Brigade" on the banks of the Jordan have been preserved for posterity, and will tend to keep the celebration rolling from one event to another.

Bill Hawkins will again have charge of the list of rooms to rent and people having rooms should get in touch with him immediately. The Jordan Inn is almost entirely reserved already.

East Jordan has received much fine publicity on the Jamboree the last few weeks from outside sources. The Pere Marquette Railway has had cards advertising the Jamboree in the coaches of all their Chicago, Toledo and Detroit trains, as well as their system throughout Michigan and Ontario. These placards have also been placed in their major terminals including Grand Central Station, Chicago; Toledo Union Station; Fort St. Station, Detroit and the Windsor and St. Thomas, Ontario stations. This week's mail brought a copy of the travel and resort page from the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, with a long account of the Jamboree and its various features. The various Chicago papers have also carried fine accounts of the gala event.

One face that will really be missed this year will be that of our good King Steve, Duke of South Bend. Steve was one of the most popular kings ever crowned here and, it was a real blow to his many friends when word was received he was on his way to Texas with TB. We all hope for a speedy recovery so you can be with us next year, Steve.

Newsreels have already announced their intention to be here and "shoot" the affair, and negotiations have been discussed regarding a broadcast of the high spots of the Jamboree, so hold on to your hat, for next Saturday the lid comes off as the Jim-Jam Jamboree rolls around once more.

CARE OF HOUSE PLANTS

HOUSE PLANTS MUST BE FED. Plants, like people, need food. The importance of feeding house plants regularly is apparent when the small amount of soil which nourishes the plant is compared to the relatively large size of the plant growing in it.

Since the roots of the plant are confined to a small area within the dish and cannot forage for food over a large area like the roots of plants in a natural environment, it is necessary to add plant food to the soil of house plants.

It is important, too, that they be fed the right kind of food. The food, says Walter Kleinschmidt of the University of Michigan Botanical Garden, should be one that is complete and properly balanced to supply all of the elements needed for normal healthy development. In addition, he says, the food must be readily available, that is, in such form that it may be absorbed promptly by the roots of the plant.

Garden Club Meets Tuesday, March 21st At The City Building

The East Jordan Garden Club will meet on Tuesday, March 21st at 2:30 p. m. in the City Building. The subjects will be "Gladiolus" by Mrs. Laura Malpass. "Flowers of California" by Mrs. Eva Porter. Visitors are invited.

Flying Club Being Organized For This Section

A Flying Club for prospective aviators is being organized for this section of Michigan at Petoskey. It is under state supervision. Instructions are to be given at cost. The course, covering about 15 months will cost around $170.00. Any person over sixteen years of age and an American citizen is eligible for training after passing a physical and mental examination. Students under age must have the written consent of parents or guardians.

A Taylor Cub airplane will be used. Pilot Rudy Pekrul, now flying mail, etc., between Charlevoix and Beaver Islands, will be the instructor and to whom applications are to be made.

Training Course For Scout Leaders Starts Next Monday

Fred Schmitt, Chairman of the Northern District of the Northwest Michigan Boy Scout Council, announced today that final plans had been made for the training course for Scout leaders which will open at the Court House in Petoskey, on March 20.

The course will be instructed by Chas. A. Boyer, Scout Executive of the Council, and will be open to all Scoutmasters, Assistants and Troop and District Committeemen. Mr. Schmitt also stated that any person who is not affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America, who might be interested in taking the course, will be welcomed. It is expected that at least fifty men will be at the first session.

Electric Usages Can Show Profit

Michigan's farm women are getting their kitchens and households so well equipped with electrical appliances that they actually are retarding advance of rural electrification into the barns and other portions of the farms where real profit can be made from the use of feed grinders, milking machines and water pumps, electrical brooders and similar pieces of equipment.

That is the observation of D. G. Ebinger, rural electrification specialist of Michigan State College.

He finds on many farms the initial investments too often include electric ranges and pieces of equipment of high initial cost.

The men in the households look at the bills, find that charges are not high but that the farm is getting no profit back from devices that could be used with poultry, crops and livestock.

Thus the investment, says Ebinger, often looks like a luxury to a farmer. He is discouraged from purchasing the labor saving devices that could earn profit that could be used to pay for the household purchases.

Mr. Mellemcamp has arranged for a moving talking picture from the Conservation Dept to be shown this evening.

BREAD MAKES YOU FAT? NONSENSE, SAYS SCIENCE

Neither bread nor cakes, pies, potatoes, milk or candy makes you fat because it all depends on what and how much you eat with them, is the contention in an exceptionally interesting article revealing many facts you probably never heard about "The Staff of Life" in The American Weekly, the great weekly magazine with the March 19 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.

water. In this case, a level teaspoon of food should be stirred into one quart of water.

Care must be taken to avoid getting the plant food on stalks or foliage of the plant. At the time of planting or repotting a completely balanced food can be mixed with the potting soil at a rate of one teaspoonful for each gallon of soil.

Two Amendments To Constitution

TO BE SUBMITTED TO STATE ELECTORS THIS SPRING

There will be submitted to the electors at the Biennial Spring Election, April 3, 1939, two proposed amendments to the Constitution.

Amendment No. 1 provides that in all primary elections and in elections of Justices of the Supreme Court, Judges of the Circuit Courts, Judges of Probate Courts and all County Judicial offices, provided by the Legislature under Section 21 of Article VII of the Constitution, shall be non-partisan. Nominations for these offices will be made at primary elections. Nominating petitions for candidates shall be filed at least 35 days prior to such primary election. Nominating petitions for Judge of the Circuit Court shall be filed with the Secretary of State and for all other Judicial offices affected by this amendment with the county clerk. There will be a separate ballot used in the primary election for the election of these Judges. There will be no party designation used by the incumbent or other candidates. This proposal will add a new Section to Article VII of the State Constitution.

Proposal No. 2 provides for the vesting in Circuit Court Commissioners, such powers as exercised by Justices of the Peace. It gives the Legislature power to provide by law for the election of one or more persons in each organized county with judicial power, not exceeding those of a Circuit Judge at chambers with judicial powers of a Justice of the Peace with power to hold court and perform judicial acts anywhere in the county. This proposal would amend Section 21 of Article VII of the State Constitution.

Rotary Hears Mayor Bridge of Charlevoix

The Rotary Club of East Jordan met at the Jordan Inn for the first time on Tuesday. The management of the Inn had the tables decorated with appropriate St. Patrick's Day decorations and in recognition of the Club's first meeting there presented each Club member with an attractive place card and menu with the Rotary insignia stamped on it.

Mayor Robert Bridge and City Manager Donald Heric, both of Charlevoix were the guest speakers. They explained what Charlevoix was doing to improve their City in the way of carrying out an intelligent program of WPA and PWA projects. Among the projects now under way are a new City Hall, a new power plant, a park development project, a sidewalk and curb project, a sewer project and a new bathing beach. Many helpful suggestions for East Jordan were given by the speakers.

The Club has recently received word that Rotary International has granted them a charter. The charter will be presented by the Boyne City Rotary Club sometime during the first part of April. Rotarians and their wives from many clubs in neighboring cities will attend the presentation which is expected to be the red letter day for the local club.

"Spawn of The North" is Sunday Temple Attraction

A week of rousing entertainment is in store for Temple patrons with mystery, adventure and comedy all represented. Opening the week with Peter Lorre starring as the Saturday Evening Post detective, Mr. Moto, in "Mr. Moto's Last Warning" as the Saturday attraction. Ricardo Cortez and George Sanders provide able support and a color cartoon, novelty and latest news complete the bill.

Sunday and Monday abound in virile action and robust thrills as George Raft, Henry Fonda, Dorothy Lamour and Lynn Overman enact that grand adventure epic, "Spawn of The North." A Robert Benchley comedy and a Pete Smith novelty add a dash of variety and humor to this interesting program.

Tuesday and Wednesday are Family Nights and provide film-fare as follows: Glenda Farrell, Barton MacLane, and Tom Kennedy in "Torchy Blane in Chinatown." Added are "Cartoon, Spotlight and Shapter 9 of "Hawk of The Wilderness."

Pat O'Brien and Joan Blondell are the Thursday and Friday stars in the laughter-loaded "Off The Record." A gay comedy of love and errors with Bobby Jordan appearing prominently in the cast. Features include a musical-comedy and novelty.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—Lester P. Barlow, temperamental inventor of bombs and other war weapons, recently said he wasn't going to congress with his bad news about the degenerating German air bomb, because they "put him in the dog-house" when he tried to tell the house naval affairs committee something last year. But his story gets into the Record, via Senator Bennett C. Clark, who relays to Maj. Gen. H. H. Arnold the news of the bomb, as he had it from Mr. Barlow, and asks the general what about it. The general tells of army reports that the German bombs in Barcelona "killed every human being within the range of a quarter of a mile."

The U. S. A. was supposed to have used about $300,000,000 worth of Barlow bombs and weapons in the World War. Several weeks ago, the senate voted him $592,719 in royalties for the wartime use of his patents. He is a prolific inventor, now consulting engineer for the Glenn L. Martin Co., of Baltimore, builders of bombing planes. He describes the new German bomb as truly horrendous, basically a combination of liquid oxygen and carbon, but with other ingredients, such as magnesium and aluminum. He thinks he can just about match it with his L. O. X. bomb.

In 1932, he offered to President Hoover a simple button-pushing rig which would wipe out a city hundreds of miles away. Even with the backing of Senator Frazier of North Dakota, he failed to get the government interested and was said to have offered his device to Russia and Germany. Later, he had other disappointing encounters in congress, offering, among other things, a shock-proof battleship, on whose ribs the heaviest projectile would be just the pat of a powder-puff.

Bucko Giuseppe Creatore, puffing smoke from a cigar as unfading as Vesuvius, makes a grand comeback, as he hears 79, to his own and everybody else's complete satisfaction. The Bronx recently celebrated its 300th birthday with a big splash of 40-cent grand opera, with Signor Creatore finding in "Aida" something in the range of his titanic energies. The opera company will be permanent, financial wind and weather permitting, to be supplemented by a series of symphonic concerts.

As a band conductor, Signor Creatore used to earn as much as $5,000 a night. He slipped out of sight, and then, in June, 1935, was conducting one of the park bands of the New York Emergency Relief bureau. His cigar and his baton were still bold and unwavering and he told the reporters he was pacing the country back to better times. "He had with him about half of the players in his old band of the days of their tuneful and triumphant national tours.

He arrived in this country from Italy in 1902, with a lush black mustache and a heavy mane, but little else worth mentioning. Two days later, he was playing on Hammerstein's roof. A contemporary of Sousa, he became one of the country's most famous bandmasters, only temporarily clipped or eclipsed by the depression, it is to be hoped.

WHEN Britain and the United States begin to exchange cooking recipes, they are really getting neighborly. Carlota, the British poetess, who arrived here recently, not averse to favoring friendly relations, prefaced her trip with a radio appeal for American recipes. She got more than 2,000. When we get to telling each other about our operations, the entente will be complete.

Carlota is the wife of Louis Oppenheimer, managing director of the South African diamond syndicate. She has published many books of poetry in many countries, speaks seven languages fluently, and finds time to convert old houses into charming dwellings or "mews," for working people.

Her London home is one of the great social and political salons of England. She knows the proverbial way to the now somewhat intransigent American heart. Her visit marks a pleasant departure from the customary exchange of recipes for cooking TNT and the like.

Weekly News Analysis European Crisis 'Postponed'; Delay May Be Fatal to Axis

By Joseph W. La Bine

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst, and not necessarily of the newspaper.

Domestic

In 1787 the constitutional convention wiped out trade barriers between states. Since then financially pressed commonwealths have sought to protect their own tradesmen and taxpayers from competition with non-residents by licensing, inspection, labeling and a host of similar regulations. By 1939 the barriers have grown so high that Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace claims it causes an incalculable economic loss to the nation. Forwarding a report by the bureau of agricultural economics, Secretary Wallace made these charges:

(1) New York city's inspection requirements bar milk and cream

SECRETARY WALLACE
He would hurdle the barriers.

from points west of the New York and Pennsylvania state lines, thereby raising prices on the metropolitan market.

(2) Trucking "wars" thrive in Arizona, Kansas, Oklahoma, Wyoming, Colorado, Georgia, Missouri, Maine and South Dakota, where restrictions are imposed against trucks from neighboring states.

(3) Many states virtually bar produce of other states by establishing unique trading, labeling and packaging regulations, quarantines, embargoes and "a bewildering maze of other impositions."

Though the administration has thus far left remedial action up to states themselves, there is little reason to hope that 48 individual legislatures can work out a nation-wide system, or labor hand-in-hand to solve a problem in which each has a selfish interest. But federal intervention is broadly hinted in the Wallace report, one phase to cover interstate commerce of motor vehicles. The proposed plan: A vehicle property registered in its home state and with the interstate commerce commission would be exempt from further registration.

Europe

The Ideas of March brought disaster for Julius Caesar. The same Ideas were scheduled by European observers to bring 1939 disaster to England and France via (1) conclusion of the Spanish war, (2) Italian territorial demands against France, and (3) a subsequent impasse in which London and Paris could choose between appeasing the Rome-Berlin axis or going to war. The two major hitches in this schedule came in Spain, where Loyalists did not capitulate as expected following the surrender of Barcelona, and in the Vatican, where Pope Pius XI died. Obviously Italy could not free her hands for demands against France until she could withdraw troops from Rebel Spain. The pontiff's death brought a respectful pause in diplomatic warfare, coupled with international conjecture over the choice of his successor.

Whether the axis ever had a "plan" for March is questionable, but certainly the natural course of events would have brought a crisis. Today's most moot question in Europe is whether the unforeseen delay may not weaken the Rome-Berlin position. Speeding, rearmament, forcing Germany into world trade submission, pledging aid to France, Great Britain has emerged a much stronger power the last 30 days.

One idea of the crisis-to-come has been offered by Journal Des Debats, conservative Paris newspaper. The alleged plan, which Berlin described as "ridiculous and laughable": Fascist states (Germany, Italy and Japan) would diffuse trouble for democracies throughout the world, part of that campaign being Tokyo's recent seizure of Hainan island in defiance of France. Other troubles would include Italy's Mediterranean demands and agitation against Britain in already troublesome Palestine and Syria. This done, and mobilization completed, Adolf Hitler would make a "great speech" setting forth ultimatums, shocking the world next day by making "territorial security" marches into Holland and Switzerland. This done, London and Paris would be given their choice of capitulating or watching Holland and Switzerland remain under Nazi domination.

Housing

Despite federal stimulus, home building has remained at low ebb since 1929, providing a good index of the times. In 1937 a hinted up-trend was cut short by rising material costs and labor troubles. But by the current spring U. S. housing has reached such deplorable shape that renewed building activity is inevitable.

Some idea of the industry's expectations has been voiced by L. Seth Schnitman, consulting economist and member of the army industrial college, who predicts the greatest residential building volume since 1929. Activity for the first three months of this year is 75 per cent greater than during the comparable period last year, representing total expenditures of $325,000,000.

Housing experts agree the initial stimulus was given by New York's Bowery savings bank, which recently cut about one-seventh in the interest rate for mortgage money on Federal Housing administration insured home mortgages. Picked up by other New York banks, then spreading westward across the country, the plan has given impetus to investment building operations.

England

From mid-May to mid-June, Great Britain's King George and Queen Elizabeth will be guests of the North American continent on a junket which most good Americans regard as a simple, friendly gesture. But as travel time approaches, the royal expedition is meeting with far more distracting bogeymen than Toronto's Dionne quintuplets, which are being shipped 180 miles under protest to curtsy before their queen.

From June 8 to 11 the royal party will visit the U. S. Because the entire journey was planned last winter in the heat of international chatter about "democratic solidarity," more than one anti-Chamberlain writer has tried to place the prime minister in a difficult position. A sample, by one Peter Howard in Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express: "Now the royal visit puts Chamberlain himself on trial. If it succeeds, Chamberlain goes up. If it fails he goes down."

What Englishmen mean by "success" or "failure" of the American visit was finally brought into fairly close focus, but it still remained a doubtful quantity. Probable meaning: The visit will "fail" if U. S. citizens get the impression that King George and Queen Elizabeth are making a begging expedition to gain American aid in pulling England's chestnuts out of the European fires.

Defense

Six thousand airplanes would effectively darken the sky. Nose to nose, they would reach 45 miles; wing to wing, 52 miles. To build and maintain 6,000 planes, plus personnel and equipment, would cost about $300,000,000. Authorization for such a U. S. army air force has already passed through congress and the appropriation will follow close on its heels. This done, American aviation will be in good shape. But even today both army and navy boast new accomplishments:

Army. Principal delight of Maj. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps, is the five-man, twin-engined, high speed "Airacuda," designed by 34-year-old Robert J. Woods after he "consolidated" the ideas of 500 army experts and 45 civilian engineers, draftsmen and engineers. Features of the Airacuda: Tremendous cruising range, two anti-aircraft cannon, four machine guns and aerial bombs which explode like anti-aircraft shells when dropped near enemy planes. General Arnold's opinion: "It's the most striking example of airplane development of the past year, anywhere in the world."

Navy. In choppy Caribbean seas some 600 navy planes—one-third the entire force—recently provided "eyes" for U. S. battlewagons solving Fleet Problem XX. One spectator, President Roosevelt, watched the conduct of these planes and reportedly asserted the U. S. had naval air forces as good or better than any other. Said Adm. William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations: "The performance was the best I ever saw. They carried out their mission without an accident."

Congress

Most Americans do not realize that the bulk of New Deal reform measures have been adopted in one form or another. But practically everyone realizes the cost of reform has been tremendous, that the public debt now stands at $40,000,000,000, that the treasury has a current deficit of $2,200,000,000. With reform achieved, President Roosevelt is willing to join conservatives in two mutually desired ambitions, balancing the budget and helping business get back on its feet.

Chief arguments concern the method. New Dealers, whose program is voiced by Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins, would remove oppressive taxes and hope that the resultant boom would swell federal coffers, balancing the budget without eliminating "necessary" activities. "Most businessmen and many congressmen would take an additional step—economy.

Total 1939-40 budget estimates are $8,995,000,000, creating a new $3,326,000,000 deficit and zooming the public debt smack against its legal limit of $45,000,000,000—unless congress raises the limit. Far from willing to raise it, or even to approve the new budget, congressional Republicans have found strong support in rebellious Democrats. Their spokesman is Mississippi's Sen. Pat Harrison, who came out for a flat 10 per cent budget cut and a warning: "The country's credit is good and I don't think we have reached the debt danger point, but the stop-and-listen sign is up... A lot of this emergency stuff could be cut, and I'm in favor of cutting."

Senator Harrison has already found support in two studies:

Brookings. Surveying the new governmental reorganization bill (to consolidate and abolish executive agencies for the sake of economy and efficiency), Washington's thorough-searching Brookings institution claimed it was ill-conceived, that no economies would result. Of 132 agencies listed for reorganization, only 54 require legislative authority, and no legislation is necessary unless congress wants to "give the President authority to make laws by executive order." Suggestions: (1) Prune all present activities "rigorously"; (2) develop a "more consistent" program.

National Economy League. Reason for this survey was that "before lasting recovery and increased employment can be a reality... all doubts about national credit must be removed. The plan: Reduce next year's deficit from $3,000,000,000 to $500,000,000. Comparative budgets (000,000 omitted):

So potent are economy's new friends that the administration may well find its cautious business-wool program a boomerang. Wading half way across the pond of conciliation when opinion favored a complete passage, Mr. Roosevelt has been left behind and confronted with charges of insincerity because Harry Hopkins—the man who started his program—would need business support to win the 1940 nomination.

MARSHAL HENRI PETAIN

The "hero of Verdun" emerges from retirement to serve France in another crisis. Now 82, Marshal Henri Petain has been named ambassador to newly reorganized insurgent Spain in an obvious gesture to win Gen. Francisco Franco's friendship by emotional appeal. Many years ago, as instructor in the French war college, Marshal Petain instructed Spain's new iron man, himself a famous Twentieth century militarist. Later, in 1925-26, Marshal Petain joined forces with Franco in leading the expedition that defeated Abd El Krim, Rif leader in Morocco. Petain also went to Madrid and negotiated an agreement with the governor of Premier Prima de Rivera.

Congress Takes Bit in Teeth to Restore National Confidence

Vast Resources of Nation to Be Made Available Again for All People; Old-Line Democrats Responsible for Sudden Determination to Assume Congressional Leadership.

WASHINGTON.—The dictionary defines the word, "confidence," as meaning: "trust in, or reliance upon, another; a belief in a person or a thing." The dictionary might well have added that confidence is something quite intangible but yet it is a condition of national or state thought about its governmental policies as well as a condition of individual thought. It might have added, further, that confidence can be destroyed more easily than it can be maintained, or recreated when it once has been destroyed.

In any event, the thing about which we have heard most in Washington lately is the necessity for establishing a feeling of confidence throughout the country. The necessity exists, it is explained freely, because the depression continues and millions of persons, who would like to work, are not working. In some places, where political face-saving is important, the movement is called "business appeasement," but that is a difference between tweedle-dee and tweedle-dum. It remains as an effort to recreate national confidence so that all of the vast resources of the nation can be made available again for all of the people.

All of this is only a prelude to the declaration that:

Congress has taken the bit in its teeth with a determination that indicates rather a unified effort to restore the country's confidence. It apparently is going to guide the policies and work out solutions for the various problems that are viewed as destructive of a feeling of assurance among the bulk of the people. In other words, congress seems to have assumed a leadership in national life that it has not had in recent years, and is moving sincerely to bring back prosperity.

President Hoover's Plans Wrecked by Stock Market

The course of events that has led up to the latest development (a development that has both political and economic significance) has been rather a wandering trail. It had its headwaters back in 1930 and 1931, when Herbert Hoover, then President, sought to stem the tide of rushing waters of depression by inviting dozens of business leaders to Washington for consultation. He was seeking to restore confidence, to encourage the country to feel safe. Those were days, it will be recalled when "prosperity was just around the corner." Mr. Hoover wanted to bring it out where it could be of some use.

Well, Mr. Hoover fatted because the stock market crash had so destroyed the confidence of the country in him and in his policies of government that there was no possibility of recreating it. The folks simply would not believe in him, nor in any of his works at that time.

Along came the elections of 1932 and Mr. Roosevelt took over the job in 1933. Those days need not be reviewed, except to point out that no man ever had the complete confidence of a people as the new President held it. Congress did as it was told, thereafter. Of course, there were ups and downs but the scene was dominated by the personality of Mr. Roosevelt, a condition that continued through about six years.

That brings us to the mistakes in politics which Mr. Roosevelt made in 1938—reorganization of the government, proposed expanding of the Supreme court by appointment of six justices of his own choosing, charges that business leaders were attempting to subvert the New Deal policies and destroy the Roosevelt administration. This was the beginning. In quick succession, there came important gains for the Republicans in the 1938 elections, fear among many old-line Democrats that their seats in congress were being jeopardized by mistakes of various New Deal agencies and laws, and in general a doubt that their party should be allowed to remain under New Deal leadership.

Old-Line Democrats Decide To Assume Leadership

And I believe it is the latter condition of belief among the old line Democrats that is chiefly responsible for the sudden blossoming of congressional determination to take leadership. Some observers hold the conviction that many members of the house and senate feel they should protect their own hides and that, to accomplish this, they must assume national leadership instead of leaving the policies to be theorized and blue-printed by such as Jerome Frank, Thurmond Arnold, Tommy Corcoran, Secretary Ickes, and others of that type. That is only saying numerous house and senate members believe the country has lost confidence in that sort of leadership.

Only recently, it may be recalled, Mr. Roosevelt voiced an assurance that business would have no new taxes to burden it. He spoke confidently about the future. Others, reflecting the President's position, including Secretary Hopkins and Secretary Ickes spoke pieces of an assuring nature. This is the same Mr. Hopkins who used to be head of the relief spending.

What happened? The stock market that ruined Mr. Hoover's administration showed its confidence in the new statements of 1939 with only a little less feeling than it did in the years when prosperity was just around the corner. The market dipped down only a few days, but if the stock market can be regarded as an answer for any question, the stock market must have said, "pfooye."

Anyway, there arose immediately the new and very potent movement in congress for a program of "business appeasement." One of the first things to happen was a declaration by Senator Harrison, Mississippi Democrat and one of the really powerful men in the senate, for a cessation of spending. Or, specifically, Senator Harrison demanded a curtailment of spending, a start toward a balancing of the national budget, in the belief that the whole country is fearful of the gigantic national debt.

Shows Days of Rubber Stamp Congress Are Gone

The foreign policies of the administration were dragged out onto the floor of the senate for examination under a magnifying glass. Of course, the senate did not force any real change in the international relations which Mr. Roosevelt has established. From long observation in Washington, I doubt that the senate's criticisms of these policies was any too sound, but it had to engage in debate on the subject to let the country know it was watching everything that was being done. It obviously had the effect of demonstrating to the country that the days of the rubber stamp congress are gone, and it constitutes another bit of evidence of the new Washington leadership.

The real demonstration of congressional vitality, however, came the other day when Senator Harrison, as chairman of the senate finance committee, and Representative Doughton of North Carolina, as chairman of the house committee on ways and means, joined in a letter to Secretary Morgenthau, requesting a treasury statement on a tax program. The two congressional leaders urged a new and sound tax program and an administration re-assurance against further heckling of business to the end that business would try to go ahead. What they were asking, therefore, were some signs which could give business, great or small, a feeling of confidence that the government at Washington would quit pulling hair.

It was a natural request of the treasury. The treasury always has provided the fundamentals of every tax program. Capitol Hill had read Mr. Roosevelt's pronouncement concerning "no new taxes" as meaning there would be no changes in the tax structure, however, and there were a good many legislators who felt revision of some, and abolition of other, taxes were advisable.

Congress Will Go Slow on Increasing National Debt

There are numerous signs that congress is not going to be in any hurry at all to pass a law that will allow an increase in the total national debt. Present law provides that the treasury may issue notes and bonds up to $45,000,000,000. The current total is not so far below that figure, and Secretary Morgenthau has asked congress to boost the limit to $50,000,000,000. Congress apparently is not so sure that there should be an increase in the debt limit. It is a type of confidence—rather, a lack of confidence—that is plainly visible. I believe the debt total will have to be increased because there is no provision made for enough taxes to offset the vast spending program for relief and national defense upon which Mr. Roosevelt has launched. There is no place to get that money, therefore, except by borrowing. So about the only good that can come from congressional barking on this score is to awaken the country as to the dangers of its great national debt.

From all of these things, one is pretty likely to get the hebejeesbees. One can hardly help wondering where we are headed. But it seems to me that there probably is need for a confidence that thus far has not been mentioned in this discussion. This is a confidence in fundamental Americanism. The voters of the country can compel sound government on the part of those who make the policies and, on the surface, it appears now that the voters are telling congress what to do.

Rabid Dogs Do Not Avoid Water
Dogs with rabies do not avoid water, although this erroneous opinion is common among the laity. Mad dogs are often very fond of water and will rush into it, thrusting their heads and swallowing with great difficulty. Rabid dogs have been known to swim streams in their ravings.

China Fashions New Province In Center Asia

Mysterious Borderland Har- borns 'Tea Road' to Inner Tibet

Prepared by National Geographic Society,
Washington, D. C.—WNU Service.

With Japanese armies pushing into China's territory in the east, Chinese governmental machinery is expanding in the west. Recently a full-fledged twenty-eighth province—Sikang—was set up when for the first time a governor was installed over the wild and craggy borderland state between China and Tibet. Sikang should not be confused with Sinkiang, westernmost extremity of China north of Tibet.

The newly organized province places a million people and some 372,000 square miles of mystery under the organized authority of the Chinese Republic. Although caravans from Lhasa, forbidden sacred city of Tibet, and Peking, once the forbidden imperial city of China, have tolled back and forth across Sikang for centuries, the region is no better known than a building through which one walks down a corridor without looking into any rooms.

The ancient tea road to Tibet traversed Sikang by cutting across 13 river gorges and climbing the snow-capped mountain ranges between them, clearing ridges through passes 15,000 feet high. The titanic white bulk of Minya Konka, one of the highest peaks man has ever scaled, soars to an elevation of 24,891 feet on the eastern border of the new province.

Panda Originates Here.

Mountain fastnesses shelter that rare bearlike raccoon, the giant panda, and the amber-haired little musk deer whose "musk pod" is precious caravan-freight bound for Chinese and French perfumers. Green and tawny pheasants trail their yard-long tails through mountain-side woods, including the 40-inch white-eared pheasant, called "horse chicken" by Chinese.

In the new Chinese province, perched upon the eaves of high Tibet, only 34 per cent of the sparse population is Chinese. Carrying the silk costumes and the Confucian classics and the lacquer rice bowls of the cultured East, they have settled at the trading posts along caravan routes. Their neighbors are mainly tall Tibetans—high-booted fleecy-coated followers of Lamaism, with their prayer wheels and Buddha images and butter lamps in gilt-roofed lamaseries.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, whose government is being driven back into China by the invading Japanese, and who was responsible for formation of the new Sikang province.

In June, 1914, a treaty between China and Tibet (with Great Britain participating because of India to the south) divided the Tibetan "roof of the world" into "Front" Tibet (facing China, of course) and "Rear" Tibet. The former submitted to Chinese rule, while the latter remained a dependency with almost complete self rule. In 1928, Front (or Nearer) Tibet was further divided into two special districts, Sikang in the south and Chinghai in the north. Now Sikang's provisional government has been replaced by a regularly appointed governor.

Boundaries of the new province gather into a knot, like a drawing, the frontier regions of Szechwan, Yunnan, and Tibet. Sikang reaches from the Tung river in the east into the "Land of Deep Corrosions" to the west, where three famous rivers, in a rugged tract not 50 miles wide, run through parallel gorges for over 125 miles before fanning out across all of southeast Asia. The Mekong goes to French Indo-China, and the Salween pours through Burma past "the old Mouleim pagoda." Mightiest of all, the Yangtze winds through the entire breadth of China to empty at Shang-hai.

Italy Builds Model Community For New Coal Mining Industry

Prepared by National Geographic Society,
Washington, D. C.—WNU Service.

Italy has a new coal-burner from which to draw energy for her developing industrial life, according to reports of extensive coal fields recently inaugurated by Premier Mussolini at Carbonia, Sardinia.

Across the Tyrrhenian sea from the Italian "boot," shaped roughly in the form of a giant parallelogram more than 9,000 square miles in extent, the island province of Sardinia is one of Italy's chief mining centers.

In addition to lead, zinc, copper, silver, and other mineral areas, are the new coal districts along the southwest coast of the island. First industrial town to appear in the wake of "black gold" is Carbonia ("Coal City"), whose surrounding mines are already employing an average of 6,500 workers producing coal at the rate of 60,000 tons a month.

Town 'Made-to-Order.'

Linked by narrow-gauge railway with the nearby port of Sant' Antioco, also being expanded as a result of increased shipping demands, Carbonia is at present a town of some 12,000 inhabitants. Made-to-order were its city hall, school, hospital, theater, and nearly 400 buildings to house workers, technicians, and administrative officials.

Mineral deposits of iron, copper, and silver—plus the fertile soil of its western plains—attracted Phoenician colonists to this island long before the birth of Christ. Later the Romans came, and made Sardinia one of the Mediterranean great granaries that fed the empire's armies and its citizenry. Its geographic location along the path of Mediterranean exploration and conquest gave Sardinia an inevitable role in the continuous drama of war and exploitation that followed. After the Romans, the Goths, Byzantines, Vandals, and Arabs overran Sardinia in successive waves of conquest.

Part of the crowd of Black Shirts and miners who listened to the speech of Premier Mussolini dedicating Carbonia, southern Sardinia's model mining community.

English Came in 1708. Pisans and Genoese drove out the Saracens and then disputed between themselves for the prize. Spain took over around the end of the Thirteenth century and kept the island until, in 1708, the English fleet captured the port of Cagliari, and turned Sardinia over to Austria.

Later, in return for Sicily, Sardinia was ceded to the dukes of Savoy, who adopted the title of king of Sardinia, eventually exchanged (1801) for king of Italy.

Today, the strategic location of Sardinia brings it more and more into the spotlight of European affairs. About 125 miles west of the nearest point of Italy, it is one of the stepping-stones between Africa and Europe. It is only seven-and-a-half miles south of Corsica, and not much more than a hundred miles north of Tunisia, both of which French possessions have been lately in news headlines as Italian objectives.

PETER DELIVERED FROM PRISON

LESSON TEXT—Acts 12:1-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Prayer was made without ceasing of the church unto God for him.—Acts 12:5.

"Prayer Changes Things," says a popular motto. "More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of," is another much-used quotation. Still another is, "Satan trembles when he sees the weakest saint upon his knees." We say the words, but how often we fail to practice the truth. Prayer seems to be such an interesting topic for discussion, and yet so seldom do we really pray. The teaching of God's Word and the testimony of thousands of His children down through the centuries, yes, even our own experience, demonstrates that the greatest power for good that we can wield is prayer. God give us grace to use it in our daily walk and life and for His glory!

I. Prayer for a Prisoner (v. 5).

The members of the early Church knew what to do with their problems and troubles. They prayed. The same solution is available today. Whatever else we may do by way of planning and working, it must follow prayer if we are to succeed. We really cannot do anything else until we have prayed.

Troubles may be a blessing if they drive us to our knees. Peter was in jail for the gospel's sake. Prayer had been made for his deliverance, and yet the last night had come and he was still not free. However, his friends prayed on. God had given them faith to believe and the conviction that they should continue in prayer for him. Under such circumstances we must never cease to pray. Even though the very "zero hour" has come. "Man's extremity is God's opportunity."

II. Deliverance by God (vv. 6-10).

God does answer prayer. Some presumably brilliant folk would have us believe that prayer is merely a subjective experience, a sort of spiritual exercise, which does the individual who prays certain good, but never reaches God or changes things. How would they explain what happened to Peter, and the hundreds of thousands of other definite prayer answers throughout the centuries?

The answer in Peter's case was so remarkable that even he thought he was only dreaming. Apparently God gave His persecuted servant sweet sleep that night, while He kept Peter's friends alert in prayer. But when Peter found himself outside the prison he knew something had happened.

There are many interesting things to note in this incident. Observe that what Peter could do for himself God did not do, but what Peter could not do, God's angel did. Note also that when God works, the spiritually unenlightened know nothing of it. The guards did not know what had happened until morning. Consider, also that the angel took Peter as far as the open street, then left him to himself. God may meet a special need by miraculous intervention, but that does not mean that from then on we are to live by constant miracles. There are many practical and precious spiritual lessons which we may learn from these verses.

III. Results of Answered Prayer (vv. 11-17).

God does not answer prayer or perform any of His mighty works simply to make people marvel or to add to someone's comfort. It is true that He does thus manifest His loving consideration for us, and that men do marvel at His greatness, but there are other purposes in the workings of His grace and power.

In this case the first result was the freedom of His witness. He had been in prison and that was for God's glory; now he was to be free, and that too was to be for His glory.

Then, His deliverance was a great testimony, not only to those who were praying in the upper room, but to God's people down through the ages. Answered prayer is one of the great testimonies to the Christian faith.

Fellowship resulted from Peter's liberation. He went at once to meet with his fellow believers. Although he did not tarry long with them, he did share with them his remarkable experience, and admonished them to tell the others. If God has done something for you, share the good news with your brethren.

Service also resulted from this answer to prayer. Peter was not delivered that he should go about the city boasting that he was too strong for Herod's jail. Nor was it merely that he might go from place to place to lecture on his unusual experience. He was set free to go about his normal life of witnessing for Christ. We are "saved to serve." The normal expression of a life in Christ should be service for Him. God delivers us from trouble, sorrow, even death, that we may serve Him.

WHAT to EAT and WHY

C. Houston Goudiss Reveals Several Reasons Why Food Sometimes Disagrees; Warns Against Eating When Tired or Worried

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

A GREAT many people have the unfortunate habit of warning friends and acquaintances against this or that food, on the ground that it is "difficult to digest," or "is almost sure to cause digestive distress, especially if eaten at the wrong time of day or in combination with the wrong foods." Indeed, to hear some men and women recount the various dishes that are best left alone, is to wonder how they manage to find anything to eat at all, in view of the many good foods they consider taboo!

Certainly there is no objection to food as the topic of conversation.

It is so basic to good health that it should be uppermost in the mind of every individual who desires to promote physical and mental efficiency. And it is also natural for a person to be guided by past experience in determining what he should eat, and what it may be advisable for him to avoid.

But it is a grave mistake for one person to warn another against any food or combination of foods on the ground that it will cause digestive distress. For the truth of the matter is that under proper conditions, a normal, healthy person should have no difficulty in digesting almost any food that has a place in the well-balanced diet.

Food Dislikes Often Unfounded

I once met a woman who told me that her contented-looking husband could, and did, eat most everything 'cept horseshoes. Menu planning was simple for her! And how different from the problems of the home-maker who must try to reconcile her menus, both with the food dislikes of various members of the family, and with the foods that they declare they can't eat, for fear of digestive distress. It is true, of course, that individuals differ greatly, and occasionally a food that can and should be eaten regularly by most people, will cause distress in an individual case. But that is no indication that the food will have the same effect on another person, and it is misleading either to proffer or accept advice of this nature from friends.

It may be that the victim has an allergy to the food in question—that he reacts to it differently than the majority of people. But there is also the possibility that the prejudice exists because of some previous distress, caused, not by the food itself, but by the circumstances under which it was eaten.

Perhaps a clearer understanding of some of the mental and physiological factors influencing digestion would dispel many of the bugaboos that cause people to avoid various, wholesome foods and food combinations, and to warn others against them.

Emotions Influence Digestion

Scientists have established that the stomach is capable of reacting to almost every emotion and sensation that is experienced by men and women. Thus, how you eat becomes quite as important as what you eat. And any food or combination of foods consumed to a large meal when exhausted from too much physical or mental work. A brief rest before eating will put the body in much better shape to receive and assimilate the food.

Then, if the meal is served in pleasant surroundings, and if the food is flavorful and well cooked, the chances are that it will be digested satisfactorily by all normal individuals.

Be Tranquil at Mealtimes

In view of the fact that tranquility of mind is essential to the proper utilization of food, homemakers should remember never to discuss unpleasant subjects at meal times. Don't nag the children about eating, or choose that time to discuss their lapses from discipline. Don't talk about finances or take up real or fancied grievances with your husband. Let such matters wait until the meal has been digested.

If these suggestions were more generally followed, it is almost certain that we would hear much less conversation about foods that cause distress, much more wholesome talk about the pleasures of the table.

Questions Answered

Mrs. G. M. B.—Perhaps the most important single improvement that could be made in our dietaries would be to include more calcium-rich foods.

So many of our staple foods are poor in calcium that a diet may be abundant and varied, and still lack this bone and teeth building substance. In general, milk is the best source of calcium and should be the cornerstone of the diet. Fruits, vegetables and eggs also help to increase the supply of this mineral which has such a far-reaching effect upon health.

To Check Constipation Get at Its Cause!

If constipation has you down so you feel heavy, tired and dopey, it's time you did something about it. And something more than just taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat the super-refined food most people eat, the chances are the difficulty is simple—you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean heavy food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.

If this common form of constipation is your trouble, eat Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. All-Bran isn't a medicine—it's a crunchy, toasted, nutritious cereal. And it will help you not only to get regular but to keep regular, day after day. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Change of Mind

No well-informed person ever imputed inconsistency to another for changing his mind.—Cicero.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Use for Leftover Velvet.

Cut in the form of a small pad, leftover velvet may be used to brush bits of fluff from hats and dark suits.

Shine Off Serge.

The shine on the dark serge suit can be removed to a certain extent by sponging with vinegar and then pressing in the usual way.

Steam Brazils.

Brazil nuts are easier to remove from the shells if they are steamed before cracking.

Sweeten Coffee Pot.

If the morning coffee seems to have lost its pep, perhaps the pot needs attention. Scald it at least once a week—twice is better. Purify for an hour or longer directly in the sunlight.

For Baby's Bath.

A good soap substitute, if the baby has sensitive skin, is a pound of oatmeal or a quart of bran, tied securely in a gauze bag and allowed to soak in the bath water.

Sewing Tip.

Before mending, with new darning wool hold it in the steam of a kettle for a few minutes and let it slowly dry. This shrinks it so it will not "pull" or pucker when the mended garment is washed.

BETTER CROPS

Larger yields . . . richer feed . . . more fertile soil with NOD-O-GEN Inoculator. Easily applied to clover, alfalfa, other legume seeds. Spend pennies, reap dollars. Ask your Seed Dealer or The Albert Dickinson Company, Chicago, Illinois.

NOD-O-GEN

No. 1691 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 6 requires 2 1/2 yards of 35-inch material, with 7 yards of braid or ribbon to trim, and 2 1/2 yards ribbon for belt.

No. 1686 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size

EXTRA

Remember—when you take a Smith Brothers Cough Drop you get Vitamin A—extra!

Smith Bros. Cough Drops are the only drops containing VITAMIN A. This is the vitamin that raises the resistance of the mucous membranes of the nose and throat to cold infections.

The Health of Our County Compared To The Nation's Health

While public health has advanced more in the past two years than in any comparable period, according to Surgeon General Thomas Parran, the lower economic third of the population, comprising about 40,000,000 persons are unable to provide themselves with medical care during serious illness.

Yet, despite an estimated shortage of 360,000 hospital beds, the death rate fell from 11.8% in the first six months of 1937 to 10.8% for the same period in 1938 throughout the nation. Only 46 mothers in 10,000 now die in childbirth in United States as compared with 53 in 1937. In this county last year there was a total of 3 mothers who died from childbirth.

Less than 54 babies in 1,000 live births die within their first year as compared with 57.1 in 1936 throughout our nation. In Charlevoix County 64.0 babies in 1,000 live births died in 1938.

The diseases that showed a mortality decline in United States last year were tuberculosis, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, malaria, pellagra, nephritis, and puerperal fever. The chief causes of death continued to be heart disease, cancer and malignant tumors, pneumonia, cerebral hemorrhage and softening of the brain, tuberculosis and accidents other than caused by automobiles.

In Charlevoix County last year a total of 174 deaths occurred and among the ten leading causes of death were: heart disease 42, apoplexy 18, cancer 18, pneumonia 11, nephritis 11, violent and accidental 9, premature birth 9, senility 7, diabetes 5, other diseases of circulatory system 4.

There were no deaths resulting from diphtheria, smallpox, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, measles or whooping cough in this county during 1938.

Appreciable progress had been made in the control of venereal disease but Dr. Parran holds that the $3,000,000 appropriated by Congress for this purpose should be increased gradually to $25,000,000 a year.

Studies being conducted by government and private agencies promise the eventual elimination of many industrial hazards, particularly those encountered in industries concerned with pottery, granite, lead storage batteries, fur and manganese. Progress is also being made in a better understanding of the nature of and treatment of such infectious diseases as Rocky Mountain spotted fever, typhus fever, Weil's disease, leprosy and poliomyelitis.

Valuable information is being collected with respect to trichinosis infection and its prevention. The rheumatic type of heart disease is also being intensively studied. Dr. Parran reports that the nation's health record would be far better than it is if all states pursued satisfactory programs against pneumonia, cancer, tuberculosis and malaria. Some states, it is said, almost entirely lack organizations to combat these diseases.

Presidents' Book Tastes Poles Apart, Librarian Reveals

Wilson Liked Fine Literature; Theodore Roosevelt Most Avid Reader.

WASHINGTON. — After a busy day in the White House, what does a President like to read? The man in a better position than anyone else to know says that the tastes of the last seven chief executives are as far apart as the poles.

Tom Marshall, dubbed "Librarian of the White House" back in Theodore Roosevelt's administration, has not only catalogued many Presidents' personal libraries, but checked out the books they wanted from the Congressional library. Marshall has just retired after 38 years of service.

Woodrow Wilson "was very careful about his reading—chose only fine literature," while with President Harding, "all was grist that came to his mill—good and bad." The 72-year-old veteran recalled.

An ex-bookbinder with library training, Marshall joined the staff in McKinley's time as a messenger. There were only ten White House employees then. Letters were written in long hand. Tom was alternately doorkeeper, newspaper clipper, social bureau assistant, file clerk and general handy man.

Roosevelt I Loved Books.

President McKinley, he said, wasn't much of a reader. "He let Mark Hanna do most of it for him."

"But Theodore Roosevelt loved books more than any man I ever saw," he continued. "I've known him to absorb a book's content in an hour and discuss it page by page with the author. But no trash, mind you."

Theodore Roosevelt once took Marshall to Oyster Bay when he moved his library there, the little white mustached man recalled. "He was so devoted to those books that he helped me rip the boards off the boxes down in the basement and carry the books upstairs to the library."

President Taft, Marshall said, "had a legal complex. I honestly believe he never read a book while in office but legal books."

Calvin Coolidge measured up to his reputation as a "very austere man" who had no use for anything frivolous or humorous.

Roosevelt II Prefers Stamps.

Marshall said he had seen little library work during the Hoover and Franklin Roosevelt administrations. "But Hoover read very little—scientific things mostly," he said.

"And I don't see how President Roosevelt has any time to read," Marshall observed. "He's the dullest stamp collector I ever saw—even has them bring them to him in bed."

Divers Reach 500 Feet Using Synthetic Air

WASHINGTON.—The navy department has revealed that the possible depth to which deep-sea divers can descend safely has been extended to 500 feet by the use of synthetic air.

World record sea dives—to 500 feet under artificial conditions and to more than 400 under actual conditions—have been made by navy divers using standard rubber diving suits and a new mixture of helium and oxygen for breathing purposes.

Navy officials said the new synthetic atmosphere is the result of more than 10 years' research. They said that the oxygen-helium mixture "considerably advances the art of deep diving" and has no harmful effects upon the diver.

The 500-foot depth was attained by Master Divers J. H. McDonald, Las Animas, Colo., and William Badders, Annapolis, Md. in the Washington navy yard diving tank. Sea conditions were simulated by applying air pressure to the water in the tank equivalent to sea pressure at 500 feet.

Man Rescued from Bog; Mired to Neck for Week

BELLEVILLE, ONT. — Hugh Jones, 44-year-old farmer, was rescued from a bog in which he had been mired to the neck for six days. Clinging to a log with one arm, Jones was forced to watch searchers pass within a few feet of him. With only his head visible above the muck and prevented from crying out by the pressure of the mud on his chest, he was unable to attract their attention.

The efforts of several men were required to extricate him from the morass. He is suffering from exhaustion and starvation.

50,000 Carp Fattened On Corn for Markets

FOND DU LAC, WIS.—The conservation commission put 50,000 carp on a diet of soaked corn to fatten them up for the eastern market. When the last shipment arrived in New York, dealers complained that the fish were too thin. The carp, ranging from 4 to 35 pounds in weight, were seined from Lake Winnebago to protect game fish and kept in land-locked ponds and marshes. They are fed 1,100 pounds of corn daily.

Watch Those "In-Between" Days

Believe it or not, more automobile accidents occur in good weather than in bad.

The reason, says the National Conservation Bureau, accident prevention department of the Association of Casualty and Surety Executives, is that drivers are keenly alert when rain, snow or sleet make roads hazardous; but they "let down" when it clears.

To be more vigilant when there is ice on the road, or rain, snow or sleet pelts the windshield, is the right attitude for accident-free driving; hazards are intensified by abnormal climatic conditions, and call for extreme care. But it is equally dangerous to "let go" too much when weather hazards are absent.

To "let down" is good, but the business side of a steering wheel is never the best place to practice it.

"My Skin Was Full of Pimples and Blemishes from Constipation" says Verna Schleppe: "Since using Adlerika the pimples are gone. My skin is smooth and glows with health." Adlerika washes both bowels, and relieves constipation that so often aggravates a bad complexion. Gidley & Mac, Druggists.

say the National Conservation Bureau's safety experts. Drive relaxed, and without strain, but alert and with your car always under absolute control.

WASTEFUL DUPLICATION OR UNITED EFFORT

Suppose the Michigan Bell Telephone Company maintained its own separate research laboratory in which to develop improvements in telephone service. And suppose each of the other 23 telephone companies of the Bell System did the same.

All these laboratories probably would be trying to solve the same problems; this would be wasteful duplication of effort and expense which would increase the cost of your telephone service.

In the Bell System, Bell Telephone Laboratories does the research work for all. Each company pays only a fraction of the cost, but gets full benefit of a research program that no one company could afford to maintain.

This economy is one of the advantages of our membership in the Bell System. It is an important reason why all America, including you in Michigan, enjoys the best, most reasonably priced telephone service in the world.

Louse Powder Proves Bargain

Heavier than usual infestations of lice on cattle in Michigan's dairy herds has led an entomologist at Michigan State College to use pencil and paper to prove surprising profit for dairymen using a little louse powder and five minutes of time.

Usually the lice operate to cut milk production in February and March. C. B. Dibble, college entomologist, figures the fall of 1938 was so open and cattle out in pastures so late they developed heavier coats of hair.

So he estimates the damage from lice will continue later this spring. Treatment should have been applied last fall, but lousy cattle can still be treated with profit.

If half of the 934,000 dairy animals are being milked and half of these are infested with lice, as Dibble supposes, then 58,250 gallons of milk a day is not being produced, although dairymen are using up the extra feed. At 10 cents a gallon, that's $5,825 a day.

To balance this must be some means of profit, for a louse powder application would cost but 10 cents an animal and five minutes time each of two treatments. Four ounces of the powder makes a treatment.

Dibble also thinks Michigan farmers could save feed on young stock by treating those infested with ex swarbles.

When a calf or heifer has enough warbles to cause damage, it takes 5 to 15 per cent more feed to attain growth. Treatment is simple at this time of year. A stockman can run his fingers along the back of the animal, find a warble, pick off the scab and with another finger rub on derris or pyrethrum ointment or a wash made of the same powders.

New Words
While he was visiting with a neighbor, little Tommy saw his friend drop and break a dish.
"Well, now, isn't that a fine kettle of fish!" she exclaimed.
When Tommy went home he was anxious to use the new words before his parents. He slipped off the davenport, falling to the floor.
"Wasn't that a good dish of fish?" he asked.—Indianapolis News.

Toucing
The Scotsman had lost a pound note. Sadly he entered the advertisement office of the local newspaper and handed in the notice he wanted inserted in the "Lost and Found" column.
The clerk read: "Lost, a £ note. Sentimental value."—Sarnia Observer.

Adventure in the High Sierras

Mountain Man

By HAROLD CHANNING WIRE

You'll thrill to the action of this authentic, well-told outdoor story . . . the tale of Gordon Breck, young forest service ranger who avenged the murder of his pal by a band of outlaws in the hidden canyons of California's Sierra Nevada mountains.

You'll warm to the love story of Breck and Louise Temple, "cowgirl" who knew the byways of Greenwich Village as intimately as the ranges of her native mountains, but who preferred horses to taxicabs.

You'll be missing something if you don't read "Mountain Man" . . .

She looked up at him with eyes that begged his forbearance. "Not tonight, Kelsey, dear. Do you mind?" "Why not tonight?"

"That's easy. Remember the canoe that Martin picked out of a bush?" "With a hole in it as big as our two heads?"

TIPS to Gardeners

Flowers for a Purpose

GARDENERS want flowers for house bouquets, for beautification of the yard, or both. To be certain of an abundance of flowers for cutting throughout the growing months, however, the gardener need plant packets of only three or four of the following flowers:

Annuals—snapdragon, aster, calendula, calliopsis, candytuft, carnation, bachelor button, cosmos, dahlia, larkspur, annual lupin, marigold, nasturtium, salpiglossis and zinnia.

Perennials—columbine, coreopsis, gallardia grandiflora, perennial lupin, pyrethrum (painted daisy) shasta daisy and delphinium.

For earliest bloom, the following are recommended by Gilbert Bentley, flower expert: Calliopsis and candytuft among the annuals, and coreopsis, delphinium and pyrethrum among the perennials.

For late-blooming cut flowers, grow zinnia, marigold, gallardia, snapdragon, aster, cosmos and dahlia.

HEALTH

● Rapid heart beat is often found in healthy individuals of all ages.

—By Dr. James W. Barton

THE term paroxysmal tachycardia is when the heart rate suddenly becomes rapid and after a variable time—a few seconds, hours or days—just as suddenly goes back to its normal rate. During an attack the heart rate may go as high as 250 beats to the minute and then drop to a rate of 72 to 76.

The cause of this very rapid beating of the heart is unknown but something—shock, worry, disappointment—interferes with the "starter" of the heart beats and the beat gets out of its regular rhythm or irregularity.

Fortunately the great majority of cases occur in the two heart chambers—the auricles—which receive the blood, not the two chambers—ventricles—from which the blood is pumped to lungs, and to all the other parts of the body. This auricle type is not dangerous.

Dr. W. Ford Connell in Canadian Medical Association Journal states:

"Paroxysmal auricular tachycardia is found in healthy adults of all ages. Heart disease may or may not be present. This very rapid beating may be just for a few beats or it may go on for as long as six days. Attacks lasting a few minutes are much the commonest. Neither exercise nor drugs makes any change in the rate whereas in a normal heart or a diseased heart, drugs and exercise affect the rate."

Attacks Stop Suddenly. Most persons feel discomfort during an attack—a fluttering in the chest or pounding in the neck.

Usually no treatment is necessary as the attacks stop suddenly without treatment. Many of these individuals have learned some method of preventing or shortening an attack by stimulating the large nerves supplying heart, lungs, and digestive apparatus. Thus holding the breath or pressing with the fingers on first one eyeball and then the other, or pressing firmly on the large blood vessel in front of neck which can be seen to bulge if watched closely, or the drinking of ice water, or by bringing on a vomiting spell often stops an attack. The drug that has been found most useful is quinidine (not quinine) and it can be given by mouth, five grains every hour for 10 hours.

As this very rapid heart beat naturally alarms the individual, Dr. Connell suggests that its lack of danger be explained.

Excess Tissue Water May Cause Epilepsy

It is sometimes difficult to tell whether a patient is hysterical or having an epileptic attack or "fit." However, in epilepsy the patient is always unconscious and may do harm to himself—biting his tongue or others if not protected. In hysteria the patient is not unconscious and is aware of all that he is doing and all that is going on about him. He is usually, but not always, trying to be the center of attention. This is called a defensive mechanism.

While the cause of epilepsy is still unknown, investigators have found that food is a factor in causing attacks, as a group of 11 epileptics, having one or more attacks a day, were kept entirely free of attacks by being starved for 10 days. Other investigators then found that if liquids were reduced the epileptic attacks stopped, occurred less often or were not so severe. From this finding—excess water in the tissues causes epilepsy—a test for epilepsy has been discovered.

Epilepsy Test Perfected. Drs. McQuarrie and Peeler, in Journal of Clinical Investigation, tell of their study of the effects of using extract of the pituitary gland in cases of suspected epilepsy. This extract—pitressin—has the effect of preventing the escape of water from the tissues by way of the kidneys. The patients were forced to drink water and were then given the pitressin. In cases of true epilepsy this forced drinking of water and the keeping of it in the body by means of the pitressin brought on epileptic attacks. A series of other individuals who were forced to drink large quantities of water and were also given pitressin did not have any attacks.

The point then is, that before giving the regular treatment for epilepsy to patients it should first be learned, by this method, that the case is really epilepsy.

The present successful treatment: 1. Cutting down by one-half on all starch foods—bread, sugar, potatoes, pastries. 2. Cutting down by one-half on all liquids—water, tea, coffee, milk, cocoa, soft or hard drinks. 3. Increasing the fat foods—butter, cream, fat meats. 4. A daily dose of phenobarbital as prescribed by a physician.

Easter Costume Is Prettied With Beguiling Accessories

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

IN PLANNING your Easter outfit remember that fashions this season have gone utterly, enchantingly feminine. The whole story is one of softly styled suits, dresses and coats that are garnished with brain-storming accessories and breath-taking color schemes all of which bespeak womanly wiles and witchery.

It matters not how fundamentally simple and demure your costume starts out to be, by the time it has been accessoried in accord with fashion's idea of things for spring, it will have become a masterpiece of sophistication.

And so, in the forthcoming Easter fashion parade, eyes will shine from behind romantic veils as gaily colorful as blossoms in springtime. Gloves will be worn that look as if they may have been dipped in Easter egg dyes, hats will be as sweetly feminine as flowers and wing trimmings and ribbons can make them. However, for news that is biggest news there's nothing quite so exciting as the irresistibly lovely lingerie touches of frothy frills and dainty lingerie neckwear fantasies that give a freshness to spring outfits.

When it comes to the costume-ideal to wear on a gladsome Easter day choose a suit. Style-leaders have already declared this to be a suit season. This year suit enthusiasm reaches a new high, especially because the wools that fashion them are beyond a doubt the handsomest that ere glorified the fabric realm. It would be beyond human imagination to conceive of weaves more eye-appealing than the gorgeous plaids and stripes that go to make up the jaunty jackets that partner with pleated or gored swing suits registering as "little girl" fashions for grown-ups on the new style program. And tweeds! We have gone so completely English on the subject of tweeds. There are suits and ensembles and gowns galore to choose from made of the daintiest most fetching woollens that ever you saw.

So, if your fancy turns to other than tweed why not a superbly tailored pencil-striped lightweight wool crepe suit such as centers the group pictured?

To the right in the picture, see what white violets and frothy white organdie do in the way of toning a sheer black wool dress up to a fascinating degree of feminine allure. The draped cowl of embroidered organdie with veiling as here worn is real news as to what's doing in the neckwear realm this spring. Top this costume with a white violet crowned hat, add a violet corsage and you couldn't look sweeter on a bright Easter morn.

To the left is a charming suit in navy serge with collar and cuffs of pique. With a greater than ever suit season heralded for spring one can't possibly have too many blouses, and the big news in the blouse realm is the revival of the sheer handmade "baby blouse" exquisitely tucked and frilled, hand-embroidered and lace trimmed. See the picture of one of the newest lingerie blouses inset in the group below. It is of self-printed organdie. Note the new fluted collar with its tiny narrow lace-trimmed edge to add to its sheer daintiness.

Back Comes Sheer Lingerie Blouse

All signs point to one of the biggest, best and most exciting blouse seasons that has ever gone on record. Which of course is the same as telling you that suits are "tops" this spring and to meet the demands of a suit nothing less than a well-stocked wardrobe of blouses will suffice.

The most important message about the exciting blouse furore that is now going on is the revival of the exquisitely sheer lingerie type which is that naive and innocent and young looking it registers on the style program under such endearing terms as baby blouse and it is just that—a confection of finest batiste or organdie all handwoven with wee tucks, embroidery and lace edgings, just too lovely for words.

For practical daytime wear you'll be wanting several washable crepe blouses and the gypsy-stripe blouses are practical too and flamboyantly colorful—tuning perfectly into fashion's mood this spring.

Gloves Are Worn In Dashing Shades

Your gloves must tune to the color scheme of your costume. The shops are showing doveskin slippers, also fine fabrics in all the new tones, tints and hues. Fuchsia shades lead and violence is also popular. Very smart are the new pink tones as well as a range of blues.

Seasonal Shades Greens and browns will be leading shades for sports clothes.

ADVENTUROUS AMERICANS

'Pegleg' Smith

FOR an example of chilled steel nerve, consider the case of Thomas L. Smith. He and his partner, Jim Cockrell, were trapping in the Green river country of Wyoming in the 1820s when Smith fell over a cliff and broke his leg. It was not an ordinary fracture. The bone was shattered and a piece of it protruded through the flesh. Prompt action was necessary to prevent blood poisoning.

"Guess we'll have to cut 'er off, Jim," said Tom Smith, calmly.

Their only instruments were a three-cornered file and their hunting knives. Cockrell used the file to make a saw of Smith's knife. Then Smith took his partner's knife, cut through the flesh, tied up the arteries, sawed the bone, seared it with a red-hot iron and sewed up the stump.

When the wounded leg healed, Smith made a wooden leg for himself and thereafter he was known as "Pegleg" Smith. Before the accident he had been a famous horseman. Now there was all the more reason for going mounted and the wooden leg apparently made little difference in his horsemanship.

At any rate he became the most successful horse thief on a large scale in the history of the West. He spent most of his time organizing expeditions into California to rob the Spaniards. He and the famous Jim Beckworth made one foray into the land of the dons that netted them 3,000 head of horses!

But when California came under the Stars and Stripes it changed the habits of "Pegleg." "I won't never steal from my fellow-Americans" he declared virtuously. Temperance, however, was not among his newly acquired virtues. He ended his days, a victim of strong drink, in San Francisco in 1866.

A Perilous Journey

CAPT. RANDOLPH B. MARCY halted with his party of 40 soldiers and 25 mountain men at the junction of the Uncompahgre and Gunnison rivers on his way to Fort Union, N. M., in 1837. "Me no guide you ever San Juan mountains in winter time," declared the old Ute Indian chief.

Capt. Marcy had orders to join the forces of Col. Albert Sidney Johnston, near Salt Lake City with animals and supplies. The orders said to proceed without delay so there was nothing for Captain Marcy to do except proceed. In spite of the Indian warning that none of the men would get through Cochitopa pass alive, the party left December 11 for Fort Massachusetts near the present Fort Garland.

Four days later, when they reached the mountains, winter's fiercest storms were raging. Snow swirled and beat against their faces. It piled in deep drifts and hung heavily on the legs of animals and men. The cold became intense.

Captain Marcy's detachment pushed on, although animals fell dead in their tracks and men had to abandon equipment. Before they reached even the summit of the pass their rations were exhausted and they had to eat the flesh of the mules as the animals died.

On January 12 couriers from a relief party arrived and announced that help was close at hand. Shortly thereafter aid came. So starved were the men that Captain Marcy issued strict warnings to eat sparingly.

His orders evidently were only partly obeyed as one man died from overeating—the only fatality in one of the most trying adventures of American history.

The Scholar-Builder

IN 1798 Gabriel Richard, a French priest, arrived in Detroit, whose muddy streets were lined with log huts and shacks housing its 1,200 inhabitants. But most shocking of all to Pere Richard, who had been a teacher in France, was the utter lack of educational opportunities for the children of the village.

With what funds he had, he founded private schools and began a campaign to establish public schools. Music was lacking, so he gave the people their first organ, brought piece by piece on pack horses almost 1,000 miles through the wilderness. He succeeded in getting Detroit its first public library.

He made a journey to Washington to get federal funds for other projects and brought a printing press with him when he returned. With it he established the first newspaper in Michigan.

In the election of 1823, Pere Richard was chosen delegate to congress from the Michigan territory which included all of Wisconsin and Iowa, part of Minnesota and a small strip of Ohio.

When the Asiatic cholera swept the city in 1832, Pere Richard visited the sick and dying without thought of himself. He died September 12, the last victim of the epidemic, and leaving behind him many monuments of accomplish-

TO RELIEVE PAIN AND DISCOMFORT OF A COLD

Follow Simple Method Below Takes only a Few Minutes When Bayer Aspirin is Used

1. To ease pain and discomfort and reduce fever take 2 Bayer Tablets—drink a glass of water. Repeat in 2 hours.

2. If throat is raw from cold, crush and dissolve 3 Bayer Tablets in 1/2 glass of water... gargle.

Starts to Ease Pain and Discomfort and Sore Throat Accompanying Colds Almost Instantly

The simple way pictured above often brings amazingly fast relief from discomfort and sore throat accompanying colds.

Try it. Then—see your doctor. He probably will tell you to continue with the Bayer Aspirin because it acts so fast to relieve discomforts of a cold. And to reduce fever.

This simple way, backed by scientific authority, has largely supplanted the use of strong medicines in easing cold symptoms. Perhaps the easiest, most effective way yet discovered. But make sure you get genuine BAYER Aspirin.

JUST THE THING

A woman went into a shop to choose a book for her husband, says Tit-Bits Magazine. When the assistant asked her what she wanted she said: "I want a book for my husband—a birthday present—show me what you have—nothing too expensive, but I don't want anything cheap either. He's not fond of sport, so don't show me anything in that line and I don't want any trashy novels or any poetry, and I won't have anything in the way of history, biography, geography. Come on, suggest something. I'm in a hurry!"
The assistant handed her a book and said: "Here's a little work entitled 'How to Manage a Loudspeaker.'"

Homemakers' Corner

By Home Economics Specialists Michigan State College

MEN CAN EXPECT FURNITURE SHIFTS

Is the house ready for spring? With the coming of spring almost every homemaker likes to make some changes in her house to herald its arrival.

It is possible with slip covers to change completely the mood and color scheme of a room, suggests Frances Reis, instructor in related arts at Michigan State College. The room can be changed from formal to informal, from dark to light or from severe to more attractive.

Materials should be selected with some definite plan in mind. One can work out attractive combinations of colors, of patterns and of textures in fabrics. If plain materials appear in draperies and a plain rug on the floor, floral patterns or stripes may add a suitable note of variety. Patterned materials must be kept appropriate to the size of a room. The bolder patterns will fit best in larger rooms and smaller patterns will seem to be in scale with small rooms.

"Plain areas" in a room are just as important as decorated areas. Nothing can be so confusing, says Miss Reis, as too many patterns in one room.

The modern slip cover, to look right must be smooth as smooth! And it can't be that way if there is an allowance for shrinkage. So every washable slip cover should be made from material which has been preshrunk. All the rest should be dry cleaned, for if slip covers fit badly, if they bag, droop, wrinkle, ride or pucker, the house will certainly not have that desirable well groomed appearance.

Another idea to bring the freshness of springtime indoors is to brighten up cupboards and shelves. With scissors, wall paper leftovers and nimble fingers, these cupboards can be changed into gay corners by lining them with an all-over patterned paper. Worn books or worn wastebaskets also can be covered with wall paper scraps.

American Boy Magazine Companion To Thousands

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY.

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 15c a copy. Subscription prices are $1.50 for one year or $3.00 for three years. Foreign rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address

Milk Leads Farm Cash Income

The rising tide of farm cash from milk has added nearly $440,000,000 to the dairy farmers' income since the low of 1933. Figures on the milk cans show total farm cash income for each year in millions of dollars.

MILK led all products as the largest single source of farm cash income in 1938 with a total of $1,430,000,000. This was only 6.5 per cent less than the 1937 figure of $1,530,000,000 according to the Milk Industry Foundation and was $440,000,000 greater than the low of 1933.

All farm cash income dropped 12.9 per cent, government reports show, from $8,208,000,000 in 1937 to $7,150,000,000 in 1938, excluding government payments, the statement said.

"These figures show the importance of milk as a mainstay of farm purchasing power. They are particularly impressive because milk production was estimated to be 4 to 5 per cent greater during 1938 and sales of fluid milk were down approximately 4% per cent from 1937.

"Milk delivered to homes and stores in bottles, which brings farmers the highest price, probably would have suffered greater consumption declines but for determined efforts by milk distributors to push sales.

"Cash income from milk is also important as it is chiefly cash paid monthly to farmers," the Foundation points out, "and this is cash that is used in the current purchases of merchandise and supplies.

"The milk industry is a huge buyer and milk distributors and producers in many markets account for one of the largest single outlays for cars and trucks, feed, oil, gas, tires, groceries and other supplies."
