Third Annual Ice Carnival

EAST JORDAN EVENT. SATURDAY, FEB'Y 24, AT MUNICIPAL RINK.

The afternoon and evening of Saturday, February 24th, has been set as the date of East Jordan's Third Annual Ice Carnival to be held at the State Street Municipal Skating Rink.

The local Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the affair and its appointed committee of Bill Porter, chairman, Len Swafford and E. E. Wade met at the high school last Thursday afternoon and set up plans to cover this year's undertaking, which is hoped will be as good as last winter's splendid attraction. The following committees were set up as follows:

Program — Merton Roberts.
Recess — Abe Cohn, Gayle Saxton, and Raymond Swafford.
Prizes — E. E. Wade.
Public Address System — Earl Clark.

Construction of throne — Bill Porter and Len Swafford.
Publicity — Gayle Saxton and George Secord.
Lighting — Ole Hegerberg and Earl Clark.

Securing outside talent in Figure, Fancy and Exhibition speed races — Merton Roberts.
Reception committee — Bill Porter, Chairman.

The program has been outlined chiefly for local interests and all races will be for local talent with prizes going to the winners. All boys and girls expecting to participate in races are asked to leave their names with Mr. Cohn at the high school or with Raymond Swafford, WPA Recreational Leader, who superintends the rink.

Miss Eleanor Griffin, a sophomore, has been chosen by the student body to rule over the festivities as East Jordan's 1940 Winter Queen.

Mr. Roberts is endeavoring to line up the Potoskey Figure Skaters to put on an exhibition here Saturday evening. Invitations have also been sent out to the Charlevoix Figure Skating Club.

Local recreational leaders now have the rink in fair shape and with a few cold nights, the rink should be in first class condition the week end of the Carnival. Already large crowds are enjoying the skating afforded them by the huge rink.

Remember the date: East Jordan's Third Annual Winter Carnival, Saturday, February 24th, afternoon and evening.

IT'S A DUBIOUS HONOR

Elsie — When village fathers decided Elsie needed a new fire truck, they purchased it from a local garage, S. B. Keys & Son. After the truck was delivered, S. B. Keys and Son had the dubious honor of being the first to use it when their garage caught fire.

Mrs. Thos. Wetzell, 81 Passed Away Tuesday, Feb. 13th

Arvilla Chandler Wolcott-Wetzell was born in February, 1859 in Jefferson Co., N. Y., later coming to Michigan, and passed away at her home on State St., Tuesday, Feb'y 13 after an illness of about three months.

On July 15, 1926 she was united in marriage to Thomas Wetzell who preceded her in death by less than two weeks.

Brief funeral services, conducted by Rev. Homer Matteson, will be held this Thursday evening at the Watson Funeral Home at 7:30. The body will be taken to Saginaw for burial.

Farmer-Businessman Banquet

AT PENINSULA GRANGE HALL LAST THURSDAY. A SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

The farmer-businessman banquet and program held at the Peninsula Grange on Thursday evening, February 8, was greatly enjoyed by a fine attendance of over sixty people. Various professional and business men representing East Jordan, Boyne City, and Charlevoix were guests of the County Soil Conservation township committee. This was the second year in which the city and rural people assembled together for the purpose of discussing the objectives and benefits of the Farm Program.

An excellent discussion of the objectives was led by Cliff W. Wing, district fieldman. He outlined the fundamental purposes of the Agricultural Conservation Program, and pointed out that after only 100 years of extensive cultivation, millions of acres of cropland have become depleted and seriously damaged. He stated that in order to have effective soil conservation there must be crop acreage adjustments. Mr. Wing clearly indicated the methods being used to bring about this adjustment through soil-depleting acreage allotments.

A splendid banquet was served at 7:30 by the ladies of the Peninsula Grange. Following the banquet a few introductory remarks were made by Walter H. Henley, County Chairman, who then introduced Geo. C. Ferris as the program chairman. Juanita and Shirley Middleton entertained with special song and dance numbers. Charles D. Shepard, member of the County Committee, assisted by Mrs. Shepard and Carl Prohaska, in a very clever skit, clearly illustrated the need of the Farm Program.

It was felt by all those present that a meeting of this type should be planned for the future, where the farmers and their city friends might get together to discuss their related problems.

City Plans Reduction In Water Rates

NEW RATES AND REGULATIONS BEFORE COUNCIL NEXT MONDAY

At its regular meeting to be held Monday, February 19th, 1940, the Common Council will consider the enactment of a new City Ordinance revising in some respects the present method of management of the City Water Works and substantially reducing the present rates. Such proposed action on the part of the council is in line with the efforts of city officials to provide the City with an adequate water system, and make the supply available to all those who wish to take advantage of it at as low a rate as possible.

Briefly the proposed ordinance provides for management of the water works by one of the councilmen, assisted by the Chief of Police, sets up rules for users of city water to go by as far as use of water is concerned, provides for shutting off water in the event of non-payment of bills by a user, reduces the rate charged for water and provides penalties for violation of the ordinance. The two features of the proposed ordinance of most interest are the reduction of rates and the elimination of definite sprinkling hours during the summer months.

A comparison of the old rate and the proposed new rate is as follows:

Old Rate Per Quarter
Meter rent	25c
Minimum charge	$1.50
15c per 100 cu. ft. from 1,000 to 5,000
12½c per 100 cu. ft. from 5,000 to 10,000
10c per 100 cu. ft. from 10,000 to 25,000
9c per 100 cu. ft. from 25,000 to 50,000
8c per 100 cu. ft. for all over 50,000
Proposed New Rates Per Quarter
Meter rent	25c
Minimum charge: $1.50 for 1000 cubic feet or less.
9c per 100 cu. ft. from 1,000 to 5,000 cu. ft.
8c per 100 cu. ft. from 5,000 to 10,000 cu. ft.
6c per 100 cu. ft. from 10,000 to 25,000 cu. ft.
4c per 100 cu. ft. for all over 25,000 cu. ft.

Another difference between the old and new rate is that under the old rate a user was charged the lowest rate possible on all water used while under the proposed new rate the users will all be charged alike. An example of one of the things the Council thought was unfair under the old system of charging as provided by the old City Ordinance would be a case where a user used 4,999 cu. ft. during a quarter and would, therefore, be charged 15c per 100 cu. ft. for all water used while his next door neighbor happened to be lucky enough to use 5,001 cu. ft. during the quarter and would get off for 12½c per 100 cubic feet. The first user's bill would be $7.48 while his neighbor who used 2 cubic feet more would get by for $6.25. Under the proposed new rate each user will pay the same except that the larger users will gradually pay a smaller rate as they use more water. In other words everybody has to pay the minimum charge of $1.50 per quarter plus 25c per quarter meter rent. Those who use more than 1,000 cubic feet but less than 5,000 pay the meter rent, minimum charge plus 9c per cu. ft. for all water used over 1,000 cu. ft. Those who use between 5,000 and 10,000 cu. ft. of water per quarter would pay meter rent, $1.50 for the first 1000 cu. feet, $3.60 for the next 4,000 cu. ft. and 8c per 100 cu. ft. for all water over 5,000 cu. ft. The old ordinance has been in effect since October, 1922. It is possible that at the time it was enacted the rate and the method of charging was fair — however, the council now feels that to allow the old rate and method of charging to continue longer would be unfair and they are accordingly proposing to eliminate the unfair features as well as make the water cheaper to users.

A check of the water rentals paid during the past year shows that water users can be divided into four classes as follows:

1. Those who use less than 1,000 cubic feet per quarter the year around and thus pay the minimum charge of $6.00 per year plus $1 per year meter rent. About 30 per cent of the users are in that class.

2. Those who use more than 1,000 cu. ft. per quarter but do not do very much sprinkling on lawns or gardens. An average user in this classification would use about 1,500 cu. ft. per quarter and would pay about $8.50 per year.

3. Those who do quite a bit of sprinkling during the summer months. An average user in this classification uses about 1,500 cubic feet for 3 of the 4 quarters but from July to August on an average lawn and garden the use jumps up to about 8,000 cu-

Pellston Stop Crimson Wave

IN AN OVERTIME CONTEST THERE LAST FRIDAY

In an exciting overtime battle Coach Bob Simm's Pellston Brown and Gold won out over the local Crimson Wave 26 to 25 there last Friday evening.

Pellston, one of the stronger Class D quintets in this section of the state, and powerful contenders for the regional championship in Potoskey, led the Jordanites throughout the first three periods. A determined local drive in the final stanza knotted the count at 23 all at the close of the regular playing time. The score at the halftime was Pellston 16, East Jordan 15.

After each aggregation had added a field goal in the extra session, it took Croff's successful try from the foul line to decide matters.

Bulow tallied 15 points for the Jordanites and Scott's 8 led the winners. Scott is rated by many as the outstanding high school player in Northern Michigan this winter. He is plenty fast, shifty, has a good eye and is an exceptional ball handler.

Pellston's Reserves made the evening complete as far as Pellston followers were concerned, in coming from behind to defeat the East Jordan Seconds 19 to 17 in a closely matched encounter.

McDonald of Alpena, an up and coming official handled both games Friday evening, turning in an excellent performance from the viewpoint of both players and spectators alike.

Friday evening of this week Coach Cohn's squad will entertain a scrappy Mancelona quintet, who earlier in the season turned back the Red and Black. The Mancelona Reserves, and Junior High Teams will also be on hand. Remember this Friday evening, plenty of basketball between Mancelona and East Jordan.

bic feet for the one quarter. Under the new rate persons in this classification if they are anywhere near average would pay about $14.35 per year.

4. Factories, School and Creamery. These users all use a large amount of water when they are operating or open. To have a few users who take large quantities of water is considered a good thing for all users because it keeps the water mains flushed out and clean so that we have cold water at our taps the year around. In the hot summer months cold water from the tap is a decided asset as compared to the warm, sluggish water that comes from the mains in some cities.

Another change in policy which is incorporated in the new ordinance is the discontinuance of the practice of allowing a discount if the water bill is paid within 10 days or the adding of a penalty if it is not paid within 30 days. The practice of shutting off the water if the bill is not paid within 30 days will be continued however, and, since other penalties are eliminated, will be very strictly enforced.

All users now have meters. There are in all about 425 water meters installed. It is estimated that under the new rates sufficient revenue will be derived to pay current operating expenses, existing indebtedness when due and leave a small balance each year to take care of unforeseen expenses and emergencies.

Before even considering the reduction in water rates the council made a survey of rates in surrounding towns and other cities in the State of approximately the same size as East Jordan. The results of the survey showed that even our old water rate was lower than the rates in other towns. The Council is showing a willingness to do the right thing. They propose to enact the new ordinance Monday night. Before doing so, however, they would be glad to discuss its features with anyone who has any criticisms to offer. Anyone wishing to read a copy of the proposed ordinance can find one at the office of the City Clerk.

Farm Women To Learn More About Home Uses of Electricity

Of particular interest to the many farm women who now have the advantages of using electricity, is a series of three meetings scheduled for next week. Miss Noyes will discuss the many appliances that can be profitably used in the home and the approximate cost for best results. The amount of energy used will be given. The arrangement of the kitchen and time saving and labor saving will receive attention.

The first meeting will be held in the Barnard Grange on Wednesday afternoon, February 21st, commencing at 2:00 o'clock. The second meeting is scheduled for Thursday, February 22nd, in the Horton's Bay Town Hall, at 10:00 a. m. The third session will be at the City Building, East Jordan, on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 22nd, at 2:00 o'clock.

All farm women will certainly look forward to having this opportunity of discussing their electrical problems. Electricity certainly adds to convenience and comfort. Before you invest money in appliances, why not make an inventory of what you would like to have and then really select the ones that should be purchased first and through which you would obtain the most service. Don't fail to attend your nearest meeting. It will be worth your while.

B. C. Mellencamp, County Agr'l Agent.

Beloved Teacher Passes Away

MISS BERTHA M. CLARK WAS ILL FOR MANY MONTHS

Miss Bertha M. Clark passed away at a Potoskey hospital, Tuesday, Feb. 13, following an illness of some nine months from an obstructed colon and complications.

Bertha May Clark was born at Corunna, Mich., Sept. 22, 1873, her parents being Edward A. and Emma P. Clark. The family moved to Shelby, and, in 1899 came to Charlevoix County. Miss Clark has resided in East Jordan since 1919.

Miss Clark graduated from the Shelby high school, studied at Albion College and then taught in the Shelby schools. Later on she attended the Aldrich Memorial Deaconess Training school, Grand Rapids, completed a course there and was engaged in settlement work for a number of years. Miss Clark then attended Central State Teachers College, taught in rural schools, and for nearly twenty years has been identified with the East Jordan Public Schools. Of late years she has served as grade principal and sixth grade instructor. A woman of wide experience and deep understanding her passing is a matter of sincere sorrow to our entire community. She was a member of the Methodist church for many years.

She is survived by her brother, Earl H. Clark.

Funeral services were held from the brother's home, Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. C. Matthews, pastor of the Methodist church. The remains were taken to Shelby where services were held Thursday forenoon and the remains laid to rest.

Among those here to attend the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Allan Burkland of Cheboygan.

St. Ann's Altar Society Banquet Feb'y 12

The members of the St. Ann's Altar Society held their annual banquet in St. Joseph's School, Monday, Feb. 12, at 6:30 p. m.

The dining room was fittingly arranged for the occasion. The tables were decorated in red, white and blue and American Beauty roses adorned each table.

A large picture of the Lincoln family, loaned to the Altar Society by Mrs. Pray, hung on the wall over a small table on which stood a log cabin surrounded by a rail fence. Mr. and Mrs. James St. Arno constructed the cabin and fence. After the dinner the evening was spent in a sociable manner by the forty-three members who were present. This event takes place each year, at a convenient time, following the election of officers.

Very Few Tickets Left For Father and Son Banquet

Since the announcement by the local Rotary Club last week that Fritz Crisler, Head Football Coach and Assistant Director of Board in Control of Physical Education, was to be the principal speaker at the annual Father and Son banquet to be held here Tuesday night, there has been an unusually large advance sale of tickets. The committee in charge urges all those who wish to attend to get their tickets by not later than Saturday noon as there are available all together only about 125. They may be secured for $1.00 for a father and son at either Healey Sales Company store or at the State Bank of East Jordan.

Due to the fact that Coach Crisler is going to show motion pictures of the 1939 Michigan - Pennsylvania football game, it is expected that local dads and sons will be more than pleased with the program that has been arranged. Coach Crisler is an outstanding figure in the athletic world and an excellent after dinner speaker. His athletic career started as a student at the University of Chicago, where he received All-American honors under Coach Alonzo Stagg. He was head coach at the University of Minnesota for a number of years and transferred to Princeton where he experienced a great deal of success with his football teams for several more years. He has been head football coach at the University of Michigan during the last two seasons.

In order to make it possible for everyone desiring to do so to attend the banquet, the committee in charge has made the price of tickets as reasonable as possible. They regret that no more than 250 can be comfortably served at the banquet, but feel that they have done all they can to make it possible for those to attend who wish to do so by giving them ample notice to get tickets early.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS BY JOSEPH W. LaBINE

German 'Peace Drive' Eclipsed By War Threats in Near East; Politicians Hold U. S. Interest

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Spotlighted on the Washington Scene:

POLITICS:

In the background since congress reconvened, presidential politics stole the show again when the Democratic national committee selected Chicago as its convention site. Republicans, who scheduled their meeting later in the hope that Democrats would set a convention date, were outfoxed. This resulted in minor dissension among G. O. P. leaders, who debated whether to set a date immediately or keep stalling.

Since third-terms dominated the Democratic meeting, observers guessed there would be a strong fight to renominate President Roosevelt in the city where he was first chosen in 1932.

ACCUSER HOOK
He apologized.

As Chicago became a political focal point, so did Illinois. There were signs that both President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner would be entered in the April 9 preference primary, while in New York the G. O. P. backers of young Tom Dewey challenged Ohio's Sen. Bob Taft and other Republican hopefuls to a contest in the same primary.

UN-AMERICANISM:

Ended was the episode in which Michigan's Rep. Frank Hook charged that Martin ("un-Americanism") Dies was working in cahoots with William Pelley, leader of the anti-Semitic "Silver Shirts." When Pelley surrendered and admitted that letters used as evidence were forged, Hook apologized on the house floor. If this had been a campaign to smear irrepressible

Martin Dies, it had only served to strengthen him and the cause of his "ism" committee. Next day FBI rounded up 12 persons charged with recruiting Americans for service with the Communist forces in Spain.

CONGRESS:

The house continued lopping millions from President Roosevelt's budget, and the senate continued restoring them. The senate voted down a $1,000,000 cut in Civil Aeronautics authority funds, bringing the independent offices bill back to $1,139,693,528. But it was still 55 million under budget estimate, providing a good start on the 460 million congress hopes to save by way of avoiding new defense taxes. Meanwhile the house slashed away at the state-justice-commerce department appropriations bill.

LABOR:

John Lewis' C. I. O., which has been striking at the New Deal lately, turned a partial about-face by defending a national labor relations act against A. F. of L.-inspired changes. Before the house NLRB committee, C.I.O.'s Philip Murray read a statement in which Lewis charged "reactionary and anti-labor" corporations are dictating A. F. of L.'s proposed amendments. At Miami, A. F. of L.'s executive board was also getting hostile toward the New Deal, urging encouragement of private enterprise and charging the administration with trying to place labor "under its thumb." The entire labor-government picture was pretty complicated.

WOMEN in the news . . .

At Paris, the duchess of Windsor was credited with inventing a new knitted "trench mitten" with zipper attachment to free a soldier's trigger finger.

THE DUCHESS

In the frozen Klondike campaigned Mrs. Norman Black, one of Canada's two women parliament members, seeking votes in the forthcoming special election.

At Baltimore, Mrs. Robert A. Taft announced she would hit the campaign stump trail for her senator husband, who hopes to win the G. O. P. presidential nomination.

At New York, Merry Fahrney, patent medicine heiress, shed her fourth husband.

NEUTRALITY:

Aid to Finland

Early this month a Gallup poll showed the majority of U. S. citizens (58 per cent) favor a non-military loan to Finland. Same day as the survey was released, the senate began consideration of a bill to double the Export-Import bank's capital, permitting an additional $20,000,000 non-military loan to the Finns (they already have $10,000,000).

The same Gallup poll showed 61 per cent of the nation opposed a loan to Finland for purchasing war supplies. Day after the survey was published, Michigan's—Prentiss Brown proposed in the senate that all of Finland's $5,891,000 war debt payment should be made available for munitions purchases. There was a good chance the Brown measure might pass.

(The senate did adopt 65 to 3 a resolution asking the securities and exchange commission to expedite registration of any government bonds which Finland may try to sell private U. S. investors. Prompting factor was Secretary of State Cordell Hull's revelation that Russia had violated two pledges of its recognition agreement with the U. S.: (1) Permitting Communist interference with U. S. affairs; (2) failing to safeguard U. S. citizens' rights in Russia. Still, a congressional effort to break relations with the Soviet failed.)

Meanwhile the state department was rubbing noses with Britain's smooth-working Ambassador Lord Lothian, recipient of many a fiery protest in recent weeks. In exchange for better treatment of U. S. ships at British contraband ports, the two governments decided to keep future quarrels quiet. One reason: Recent strong U. S. notes to London have stirred up too much American opinion against Britain, to Adolf Hitler's benefit.

JAPAN:

One Way Out

As Tokyo's war in China entered its thirty-first month, northern forces reported they had entered distant Ningxia province for the first time. In the south, armies were locked in bitter battle near Wunging, Kwangsi province. Two more discouraging signs for Japan were (1) a naval spokesman's warning that Chinese planes may soon begin raiding Japan, and (2) the report that 300 Jap troops were killed when Chinese artillery sank a transport on the Yangtze river.

Mostly, however, Tokyo's troubles were with the western powers. Immediate source of trouble was a combined U. S.-French protest against Jap bombings of the Kuning-Hanoi railway in southwestern China. Both protests were rejected, and the Japanese parliament found itself seriously considering two drastic steps to avoid future protests. First, it was suggested Japan should junk the nine-power treaty guaranteeing Chinese territorial integrity. Second, Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita admitted Japan is asking U. S. citizens to leave China, probably as a threat to make the U. S. renew its expired trade treaty.

AGRICULTURE:

Cotton for Stamps

Having successfully disposed of surplus foods through the stamp plan, Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace announced this system will be adopted to help solve his No. 1 farm problem, cotton. Exports having decreased since Britain stopped taking U. S. surpluses under the barter arrangement, cotton will be offered under the stamp plan experimentally within a few weeks. Plan: Relief clients purchasing $1 worth of cotton goods at retail stores will be given $1 worth of cotton stamps free.

Other farm news:
The weather bureau announced frost damage to truck crops in southern states from January's unexpected cold snap had been overestimated, although losses were heavy all the way from Florida to Texas.

U. S. farmers watched with interest and mixed emotions as the house ways and means committee approved a bill renewing the administration's authority to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements. Officially the American farm bureau approved: National Grange dissented.

Bruckart's Washington Digest

Latest Blasts of Political Oratory Are Devoid of Substantial Facts

Honest Abe Gets Many Fine Tributes From Republican Speakers, but U. S. Voters Receive Minimum of Basic Governmental Information.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART
WNU Service, National Press Bldg.,
Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON—About half of the Republican representatives and senators in congress, most of the Republican governors and scores of lesser lights are back home as these lines are printed. They have been away on speech-making trips. They used Abe Lincoln's birthday as the rallying point. They concentrated on February 12 just as their arch rivals concentrate annually on Andrew Jackson's birthday for ballyhoo and money raising.

Honest Abe received many, many fine tributes. His services to his country were told by good orators and bad. The tributes were justly deserved. But I could not help wondering, as I read page after page of these speeches, just how Abe Lincoln would feel about some of the things that were said, some of the national policies that were advocated, some of the solutions that were offered for national problems.

It may have been just my imagination, but I thought Honest Abe was a bit restless as his great statue sits out its unending days in the vast memorial on the banks of the Potomac river. The memorial is so arranged that Honest Abe gazes through daylight and darkness at a vista that includes the tall and imposing monument to George Washington and, beyond, to the capitol of the United States. The things that have been going on beneath the capitol dome and the things that were said by Republican flag-wavers and represented as being Lincolnian, it seems to me, have been quite sufficient to make the Lincoln eyes heavier, to make the lines of his stony face deeper.

Just as the Democrats, last month failed to convince very many people that Jackson would do as the New Dealers have done, so the Republican orators failed to prove they are sticking to Lincoln's traditional philosophy. The tragedy is that each major party is attempting to streamline a national figure, and the result obviously is that neither Jackson nor Lincoln has been presented to the newer voters in the light of the genuine services which they rendered their country.

Republican Presidential Nominee

Aspirants Have Field Day

These speeches, to which I have referred, included, of course, resounding statements by five or six of the men who aspire to be the Republican presidential nominee. There were Senators Taft of Ohio, Vandenberg of Michigan, and Bridges of New Hampshire, and New York's racket-busting district attorney, Thomas E. Dewey, Governor Bricker of Ohio, Republican Leader Martin of the house of representatives, and former President Herbert Hoover.

Anyone who heard the speeches or read them must have come to the same conclusion that I reached. The day's oratory, with the possible exception of Mr. Hoover's speech, was as devoid of good substantial facts as a frog is of feathers. There was outburst after outburst of bitter criticism, reference after reference to New Deal failures, repetition upon repetition of charges of waste and assertions of danger to our national welfare. All of these things were said, with the usual pounding of the table and slapping of hips. But the Republican orators either forgot their facts or neglected to use them in the excitement of the occasion.

What I am seeking to say is that no campaign is worth much in any political battle unless the attacking forces base their charges in the simple facts that individuals understand. Generalities mean nothing any more. President Roosevelt has been the greatest generalizer of all history, and the folks have been digging up some of his earlier general statements to ask about them. Such presentation of attack or defense leads definitely to a lack of confidence on the part of the voters.

I referred above to Mr. Hoover's speech. Let us take one section of it as an illustration of what I mean about generalities. Mr. Hoover talked about the $45,000,000,000 national debt. He went further. He

REPUBLICAN FIELD-DAY

Republican politicians who used Lincoln's birthday as an occasion to fill the air with speech-making, failed to stick to the real facts says William Bruckart.

Attempting to streamline Honest Abe as a national figure, as the Democrats have done to Andrew Jackson, they failed to prove that the G. O. P. is sticking to Lincoln's philosophy.

figured out that the annual interest on this debt is about $1,100,000,000 a year. And thus, according to the calculations, each man, woman and child in the United States is paying almost $8.50 per year in interest. Going further, if there is a family of five, that family's share of the interest on the national debt is roughly $42.50 a year, or a little more than three dollars a month.

Now, most of the speeches contained a few plain and simple facts like that. Most of them hit around the mark. But not a single one of the speeches laid down a real barrage of facts. They failed miserably to apply the facts to the affairs of the individual voter. So, even though the Republican orators did not ask me for advice, I am going to offer some: if they really want to restore this nation to its native, conservative way of doing things, they will tell the factual story of the New Deal and its theories and dreams. And the voters ought to ask for facts instead of general statements! In these conclusions, I believe Honest Abe likely would agree.

Taft Challenges President's Handling of Budget

Senator Taft lately got right close to specific statements when he challenged President Roosevelt on the question of balancing the budget. He took many of the federal agencies that have come into being under the

SENATOR ROBERT TAFT

New Deal alphabet and pointed out the cost of each and how little worthwhile he believed them to be. It was something Mr. Roosevelt could not answer without resorting to generalities. The Senator, however, has slipped away again from the channel he appeared ready to paddle. Like the rest of the candidates on the Republican side, he is no longer using the ammunition available.

These references to the necessity for the use of facts recalls how thoroughly the National Labor Relations board has been discredited by a special house committee which is investigating the funny looking activities of the board. Thus far, the investigation has had very little in the way of sensational statements except those from the record of the board, itself. Its own papers, its own writings, the exchanges between its own members and staff workers has served to show better than volumes of argument what ridiculous policies the narrow-minded officials and employees have inflicted upon an unsuspecting public. Why? These were facts.

Another illustration: the administration is determined to gain congressional approval for another three-year extension of its right to negotiate trade treaties. Now, there is no doubt that the trade treaties help in some places and hurt very much in others. But I sat in the house ways and means committee room one day listening to administration testimony in support of its request for the three-year extension. The witnesses, all government officials that day, had the facts. It is true that they used those facts to show what they wanted to demonstrate. They were careful that the sordid side of the story was not told. They failed also to break down the facts to individual application, but they pieced together a story that was understandable. It was effective and opposition was difficult because the opposition was not equipped with a complete record. On the story thus built up, it is likely the extension will be voted.

I have observed the activities of the Republican national committee for some months. It has flopped completely in the most obvious of its jobs, presentation of factual information to the country about what the New Deal has been doing. Day after day, delivery boys bring copies of speeches to my office, and day after day, I look vainly for facts. I do not mean to say there are no facts at all; I do insist, however, that there are heaps of opinion that convince none whereas the facts underlying those opinions would have important weight.

EUROPE:

Rumors

While the western front remained quiet, and while Finland continued making a shambles out of Russia's vaunted armies, two diametrically opposed offensives were taking shape—one for war, the other for peace.

Peace Drive. Berlin denied it, but reports persisted that Nazidom would offer the allies a settlement via the League of Nations' economic committee at The Hague. Terms: (1) no reparations; (2) return of ex-German colonies; (3) Nazi retention of Sudetenland and the Polish corridor; (4) an Austrian plebiscite, neutrally managed; (5) restoration of Czech, Polish and Slovak states.

If the Reich's denials were sincere, observers wondered why Herr Hitler tried so hard to minimize his relations with Moscow, arch-foe of the democracies. No military pact exists, said the Reich, nor will Germany help Russia fight the Finns. Peace gossip only increased when Berlin called home its envoys to Finland and Russia. Would Germany try to settle this war? If so, was it a prelude to peace in the west?

War Drive. Overnight the Balkan states mobilized their armies to full strength, members of the Little Entente backing Rumania against the territorial demands of Hungary. Italy was seen joining them. Across

NEW TROUBLE SPOT
But will the allies attack first?

the Black sea Turkey concentrated troops on the Russian frontier, Iran and Afghanistan doing likewise. One explanation was that Russia planned a drive into this British sphere-of-influence (see map). Another explanation was that the allies planned a deliberate attack on Russian oil wells in the Caucasus region, thereby drawing Soviet troops from the beleaguered Finnish front and cutting off Nazi petroleum sources. Observers asked themselves whether this was the reason French authorities had raided the Russian commercial office in Paris, deliberately inviting Soviet reprisals. Also, was it the reason Turkey, a British-French ally, unceremoniously seized the German-owned ship yard in the Bosphorus?

The Wars

In the West. France reported the quietest period since the war began almost six months ago, and Nazi raids on North sea shipping were slackened perceptibly.

In the North. Finnish troops repulsed one Soviet attack after another, most activity being confined to the area around Lake Ladoga. Finnish military observers estimated that reckless use of manpower had cost the Reds 20,000 dead and wounded in a single week.

Nevertheless, increasing rhythm of Soviet attacks was wearing the Finns down, a situation that disturbed the allies increasingly. Following a meeting of the British-French war council, it was announced concrete aid would be rushed at once. Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons as much, while France kept relaying Italian warplanes which Germany refused to let cross the Reich.

How Italy is cooperating with the Finns was revealed in Rome by Finnish Minister Eero Jaernefelt, who reported 5,000 Italian volunteers have been turned down because no visas were available. But hundreds have been granted, too.

How the wind is blowing . . .

BONDS—At Chicago, Barcus, Kindred & Company surveyed the municipal bond field and found 1939 had brought a drop of $364,454,000 (or 24 per cent) under 1929 in total bonds issued. Among reasons: (1) Pay-as-you-go financing; (2) diminishing birth rate, which requires fewer schools.

RATION—Britain announced that meat would be rationed effective March 11. Already rationed are butter, sugar, ham and bacon.

RISKS—Because Europe's war has steered clear of Pan-American waters, marine underwriters have lowered war risk insurance rates in that area.

WHEAT—Twice as many (320,000) farmers have taken out federal all-risk crop insurance on wheat for 1940, compared with last year.

SKIRTS—The U. S. census bureau figures short skirts have snipped one million bales off the cotton farmers' annual market.

HEADLINERS—Here and Abroad

Appointed: Pennsylvania's ex-Gov. George H. Earle as U. S. minister to Bulgaria; Florida's David Gray as minister to Eire.
Threatened: Irish Premier Eamon de Valera's government, because he still fights the outlawed Irish Republican army, two of whose terrorists were executed by Britain. I. R. A.'s aim: Seizure of Ulster.

Enthroned: Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy, President Roosevelt's fifth appointee.
Defeated: Earl Browder, Communist leader convicted of passport fraud, who ran a poor third in a New York congressional by-election.
Filed: Tax liens for $2,644,954 against Howard C. Hopson, head of the giant Associated Gas & Electric octopus, and several of his relatives.

Only one of its kind in the world is the United States board of tea tasters. Here members are gathered in an eastern sampling session which may be their last owing to a budget reduction by the house appropriations committee. The board, established in 1897, guarantees that the United States maintains the highest tea standard in the world. Left: Expert Robert A. Lewis apparently didn't relish the taste of his sample. Right: Board members, left to right: Robert Lewis, Boston; George Mitchell, Brooklyn; Charles Hutchinson, New York; A. P. Irwin, Philadelphia; Walter Hellyer, Chicago; J. G. Dutch Soldiers Test Value of Icy 'Blitzkrieg' Barrier

Because of the prolonged cold spell in The Netherlands, it was feared that the great area which was flooded as an obstacle to possible invasion, was sufficiently frozen to permit passage of mechanized units. Pictured here are the results of a test made by the Dutch army. The amphibian tank, attempting to negotiate a crossing over the flooded area, crashed through the ice and was forced to "swim" for safety.

SOUP GIVES THE FIRST IMPRESSION

See Recipes Below.

Satisfying Soups

Soup, like the front door, gives a first impression, good or bad, that is difficult to overcome, whatever follows.

It's the cook's fault if this first course at dinner isn't good, for a great many wholesome ingredients can be made into delicious soups if they are knowingly handled.

Beginning with good ingredients and finishing off with skillful seasoning, there's no reason why you can't produce a soup that is tempting, delicious and wholly satisfying.

Soup is more than just a means of using up left-overs and remnants of meat and vegetables, but left-overs may be the starting point for a cream soup that's a masterpiece; season it with discrimination, thicken it smoothly, serve it hot and nicely garnished, and you have evolved the perfect beginning for a dinner, or a satisfying mainstay dish for lunch.

Finely chopped parsley, paprika and croutons are familiar garnishes for soups; newer, and just as attractive are these: a few grains of popped corn; minced chives; toasted and lightly buttered puffed cereals; a spoonful of unsweetened whipped cream, salted and sprinkled with minced parsley, chives, or finely chopped salted peanuts; very fine strips of thin, well browned pancakes; thin slices of frankfurters.

Quick cooking tapioca is a new thickener for soups; it's quick and easy to use, and it adds unusual texture and taste as well.

Corn Soup.

(Serves 4)

- 1 1/2 cups canned corn
 - 1 cup meat broth, or 1 cup water and 2 bouillon cubes
 - 2 1/2 cups rich milk
 - 1 1/2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon onion, minced
 - 1 1/2 tablespoons butter
- Cook corn in broth 10 minutes; force through sieve. Combine with milk, quick-cooking tapioca, salt, sugar, and onion in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water and cook 10 to 12 minutes, stirring frequently. Add butter. Garnish with popcorn if desired.

Vegetable Soup

- 1 lb. soup meat, cut in small pieces
- 3/4 lb. veal bones
- 2 quarts cold water
- 1/4 cup sliced onion
- 3 cloves garlic
- 1/4 cup sliced carrots
- 1/2 cup potato cubes
- 1/2 cup shredded cabbage
- 1 stalk celery (cut in pieces)
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 1 sprig parsley
- 2 tablespoons celery leaves (chopped)

Place meat, water and vegetables in saucepan. Cover and simmer slowly for two or three hours. Remove from flame and put through sieve.

Cream of Tomato Soup.

- 2 cups canned tomatoes
- 2 slices onion
- 1/4 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 cups milk

Heat tomatoes with onion, soda, sugar, salt and pepper. Rub through sieve; reheat. Place butter in top of double boiler and melt. Add flour and mix thoroughly. Add milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Pour tomato mixture slowly into white sauce. Mix thoroughly and serve at once.

Fish Chowder.

- 4 pounds white fish
- 2 cups cold water
- 1 cup salt pork (diced)
- 1 onion (sliced)
- 4 cups potatoes (cut in 3/4 inch cubes)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 3 cups canned tomatoes
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1/4 cup coarse cracker crumbs

Clean fish. Remove head, tail and bones, cover with cold water and cook slowly for approximately 20 minutes. Drain and reserve stock. Place salt pork in skillet, add sliced onion and saute until onions are brown. Add to fish stock. Add potatoes and cook until almost tender. Skin and cut flesh of fish in 2-inch pieces, add to mixture and cook until tender. Then add seasonings, tomatoes and butter and heat thoroughly. Add cracker crumbs and serve immediately.

Onion Soup au Gratin.

Wash, peel, and slice thinly 5 medium-sized onions. Brown in 1/4 cup of butter in a heavy frying pan. Cover and cook slowly until tender, but not brown—about 10 minutes—adding more butter if necessary.

Add 1 quart beef broth, brown soup stock, or bouillon, and heat through thoroughly.

Place slices of crisp dry toast in petite marmite—or small earthenware pots. Cover generously with grated Parmesan—cheese, grated Swiss or grated American cheese. Pour hot soup over all, place under broiler flame just a moment to melt and brown cheese, and serve immediately.

Parsley Dumplings.

- 2 cups bread flour
 - 2 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 cup lard
 - 2 tablespoons parsley (chopped)
 - 3/4 cup milk (approximately)
- Sift together dry ingredients, cut in fat and add chopped parsley. Add milk and mix gently with a fork. Drop by spoonfuls into boiling stew. Cover and continue to steam for 15 minutes without lifting the cover.

Peanut Butter Soup.

- 1 quart sweet milk
 - 3 tablespoons peanut butter
 - 4 thin slices onion
 - Salt and pepper to taste
- Add small quantity milk to the peanut butter and mix thoroughly. Heat remainder of milk, and stir in the peanut butter mixture. Add onion—and season to taste with salt and pepper. Serve with toasted croutons.

Women in Majority

In most countries the female population exceeds the male. For every 1,000 males there are 1,088 females in England, 1,071 in France, 1,058 in Germany, 1,103 in Russia, 1,097 in Portugal, and as many as 1,139 in Esthonia. Only a few countries have a larger male population than female. They include the United States, with 976 women for every 1,000 men.

And in Cuba the women are comparatively scarce, with only 888 for every 1,000 men.

SONG IS UNPOPULAR

Iron River — "My Prayer" is a popular song that is decidedly unpopular with Dr. Alfred Miller. Approaching a slippery curve while driving near Stager Lake, as a radio singer crooned "My Prayer", Miller's car rolled over. Although the top of the car was crushed, the radio crooned continued to sing, "My Prayer." Miller escaped without serious injury.

Garden Gossip

Edited by Caroline Harrington

Letters and questions on garden topics will be welcome. They will be published and discussed in this column.

Deep snow covered our southern states during the recent storms, and brought death to many of our migratory birds. Miss Leila Clink who with Mrs. Clink is spending the winter in Florida has sent us a clipping from a Florida paper from which I quote.

"Exhausted by their flight across 1500 miles of ice and snow thousands of robins have been arriving in Florida during the last few days in a pitiful state of exhaustion — innocent victims of the unparalleled cold that has gripped the eastern half of the United States.

"Over the Carolinas, Georgia and Alabama, where usually these feathered travelers find food plentiful, this year they discovered the ground covered by deep snow.

"Helpless and starving they winged their tragic way south toward Florida's open country where relief was promised from their desperate plight. Tens of thousands of birds must have been in the annual migration from the cold weather country. How many died enroute cannot be estimated, but it must have been a staggering number.

"Arriving in St. Petersburg, thousands of these birds on a recent morning perched in the trees in Williams park. It was an unprecedented sight.

"Major George D. Robinson, local bird authority, called to the scene, estimated the flock at from 5,000 to 6,000 robins. Occasionally a crippled bird would fall from a tree and flutter helplessly to the ground. Many of these died within a few minutes. Others were picked up by kindly on-lookers who carried them home in the hope they could be revived by warmth and food.

"Since many of the birds had been feeding on camphor berries, some persons thought this diet was killing the robins. However, Major Robinson, after a careful examination of several of the little bodies, declared that cold and exhaustion on their long flight southward, and not the camphor berries, were causing them to die. "I dissected one dead bird and found there was not a thing in its stomach," Major Robinson explained.

"It is impossible," he added, "for birds to fly long distances without rest or food." And the bitter weather they were forced to fly through on their way to Florida probably made rest impossible as well as eliminating food. Here in Florida robins feed almost exclusively on fruits and berries especially those of the cabbage palm, China tree, camphor tree, dogwood, gillberry and mangrove. Food is plentiful for them here, and of course the weather was not severe enough here to harm the robins. It was simply a case of these thousands of robins becoming exhausted on their flight south, over the vast areas covered by snow and ice, a tragic result of the severe winter weather," Major Robinson said.

Doubtless robins were not the only migratory birds to perish because of the unusual weather that has prevailed throughout the northern hemisphere. There will be fewer songsters to return to their nesting spots in Charlevoix County when spring comes. It is a pity. We had all too few birds without this catastrophe.

Ice Queens Travel in Style

The fact that this luxurious "traveling court" is among the perquisites of Michigan's Ice Queen may help to explain why competition for the royalty job is so keen. Two of the young women who traveled in style during Michigan's Winter Sports Carnival, held at Petoskey Feb. 2 to 11, were Veron Robde (left), Petoskey's own Winter Queen, and Adelyne Eustrum, of Boyne City, who was selected as Michigan's official Winter Queen this year.

house the other day, Mrs. Sidebotham sent a daffodil — one that she had "forced" according to instructions given the Garden Club last fall by Mrs. Earl Clark. A single bud was showing when the daffodil arrived, but in time for tea it came into full bloom like a burst of spring sunshine. On Sunday the same plant attended church with two daffodils in bloom and a fat bud showing. Now I am told that this plant is to make a third appearance on Tuesday at a social gathering in East Jordan. At the Study Club which met with Mrs. Muma I saw a lovely pink hyacinth that had been "forced" in accordance with the same directions, and Mrs. Palmiter tells me that she too has "forced" plants about to bloom. Please report to Garden Gossip any other personal appearances of these spring messengers. They should have publicity.

ACCURACY

There are several factors of vital importance in maintaining the high quality of Michigan's telephone service. One is the experienced skill of the Western Electric Company, manufacturing department of the Bell System. Another is the constant research of the Bell Telephone Laboratories. Of even greater importance is the highly trained group of Michigan men and women who assume a personal responsibility in seeing that your telephone message goes . . . swiftly and dependably . . . straight to the mark.

Lead World in War Material

Our Country Has Potential Production Capacity Without Equal.

PITTSBURGH. — The United States leads the world in potential production capacity of explosives, both for peace and war purposes, according to a former World War Austrian chemist, now a professor at Carnegie Institute of Technology. Dr. Ernst Berl, research professor at Carnegie Tech and former chief chemist of the Austro-Hungarian war ministry, listed a number of factors which, he said, would assure an almost unlimited manufacture of shells and other artillery ordnance in an emergency.

The abundance of raw material in the United States, he explained, is an important factor, but is not the only reason. Other factors include an efficient and extensive transportation system, and a highly trained personnel in all branches of the work.

Reserves of Petroleum. Among important available raw materials, he listed huge reserves of petroleum, natural gas, coal and cellulose—all of which are vital in the manufacture of explosives. In all these, he declared, the United States excels all other countries.

Also helpful will be the abundant output of fats and sugars, which form the foundation for certain munitions, Dr. Berl said.

On the personnel side, he pointed out, there are 13,000 chemical engineers in the country, and also a smaller number of chemists to staff an explosives industry, if necessary. "In short," Dr. Berl declared, "we have both brains and the stuff to use them upon."

Essential Minerals Available. Another source of strength to the United States munitions industry is Berl's opinion is the availability of raw materials are deficient, of nickel from Canada, borates from Chile, mercury from Bolivia, Chile and Mexico, platinum from Canada and Colombia, and tin supplies from Bolivia.

At home, also, the country's enormous supplies of cracking gases enable cheap production of glycol and glycerin.

Romantic Moss Becomes Million Dollar Industry

NEW ORLEANS.—Spanish moss, hanging from ancient oaks that are associated with the South's famous plantations and shaded lanes, has furnished a setting for romantic novels from the Civil war period to the present day.

But there is a story about the moss that few people know—the epiphyte or air plant alone has brought a million dollar industry to Louisiana.

For more than 50 years, Cajun fishermen and swamp dwellers have penetrated Louisiana's dense swamplands, shinned up the cypress, gum, oak and other trees upon which the moss grows and loaded it into their pirogues for the trip home.

There, fishermen pile the moss in a pile, wet it and then let it dry. The next step is the moss gins, where it is cleaned, ginned, and packed into bales of 60 to 150 pounds or more.

Manufacturers of upholstery, mattresses and similar products buy it for about seven cents a pound. It is commercially valuable because of its tough, central fibers.

No estimates have been made of the quantity of moss available in the state, but it has been reported that as the virgin timber has been cut, the quantity has increased.

The species is very prolific, reproducing both vegetatively and by seed, and gin owners see little reason for a diminishing supply.

'Real Son' of Revolution Observes 92nd Birthday

SOUTH WOODBURY, VT.—Still spry and keenly interested in the current European war, the only living "real son" of the American Revolution celebrated his ninety-second birthday recently. He is William Constant Wheeler, whose father fought under Gen. George Washington in the war of independence more than a century and a half ago. The father, Comfort Wheeler, was born at Rehoboth, Mass., March 13, 1768. He enlisted in April, 1780, at the age of 14, and served as orderly to Gen. Nathanael Greene. The son, William, was born to Comfort's third marriage, which took place when Comfort was nearly 80 years old. William, a veteran in his own right by virtue of his Civil war service, lives with his 79-year-old wife, Evelyn, and their two sons on a 20-acre farm on the outskirts of this village.

BY TALBOT MUNDY

TALBOT MUNDY—WNU SERVICE

SYNOPSIS

Captain Carl Norwood has been sent from his native England to the Kadur River district in India, along with his indispensable manservant, Moses O'Leary, soldier of fortune. Norwood's job is to survey the district to determine whether a valuable secret diamond mine belongs to the temple priests or to the ruler, the Maharajah of Kadur.

CHAPTER I—Continued

Noor Mahlam chuckled. It was like the gurgle of dirty water and it swallowed the silk of his voice. Even his gesture changed. He became as hoarse as an auctioneer encouraging a doubtful bidder:

"Sahib, there is newness at the palace such as never before was! There is a godsend in the guest-house. She has money, and a niece worth more than money. Oh, such loveliness! And oh, such ill temper! The aunt is never satisfied unless she is humiliating someone. She humiliates even His Highness. And the niece is never happy unless she can be as kind as her aunt is cruel."

"Why are they there?" asked O'Leary.

"It is a mystery. Nobody knows."

"Who wants to know?"

"Ah, sahib, you must not ask what I may not tell you."

"I'll bet a month's pay," said O'Leary, "that the temple Brahmins have sent out a call for information."

"Would it make any difference to you, Mr. O'Leary, where the two hundred ruppes came from, supposing you had it?"

"Two fifty might tempt me. I'd think it over."

"Even that price might not be too high for exact information as to why Captain Norwood is in Kadur; and also why Mrs. Harding and Miss Lynn Harding are here at the same time. There is some connection. What is it?"

"I'll find out," said O'Leary.

"And you will sell me the information?"

"I'll think it over. If I can't find a higher bidder, maybe you and I can do business. You'd better watch out for me. I'll take a stroll through the bazaar later on."

"Very well, Mr. O'Leary. My office is—"

"What do I care where your office is. D'you think I'd let myself be seen calling on you? You keep a dekho lifting. You've plenty o' spies. Find out where I go, and follow, and bring your money with you. Three hundred."

"But sahib, we agreed to—"

"I said three hundred. You'd better go before I'm seen talking to you. Captain Norwood might be back any minute. If he should ask me who you are I'd have to tell him, and it wouldn't sound nice. Him and me never lie to each other."

CHAPTER II

Captain Carl Norwood was in nothing yet that he or anyone could recognize as trouble. On horseback, followed by a mounted native orderly, he was entering the ancient gate of Kadur City. A good-looking fellow, young to be a Captain of Royal Engineers. He looked more like a cavalryman. Inside the city gates, there was a stinking herd of loaded camels. They blocked the street. Norwood's horse that wasn't used to camels went into a panic. When he had calmed the horse he dismounted, gave the reins to the orderly, and told him to let the horse get used to the smell of camels and follow as soon as the camels were out of the way. He wanted to stretch his legs anyhow. It was only a mile walk to the Residency, on the far side of the city. The swarming streets were interesting, just before sunset, with the night life just beginning.

The Residency stood in a vast compound amid neem trees. Guard-house—flagpole—Union Jack. The Residency guard of native Indian infantry was turning out to pay the customary honors to the flag at sunset. The Resident was on the front steps, middle-aged and military looking. Norwood had to wait until the brief ceremony was over. His reception was not cordial. The invitation to dinner was perfunctory, so-phrased that it was easy to refuse.

"I'm tired, sir. Long march. I would like to turn in early."

"Very well, Captain Norwood. Don't let me inconvenience you. I was informed, of course, that you were coming. Can't say that I approve of this survey of the Kadur River. The priests will resent it bitterly. There may be trouble enough as it is over the temple boundary dispute. The Maharajah claims ownership of certain buildings, beneath which it has been an open secret for centuries that the priests have a diamond mine."

"That's why I'm here, sir. I was told that Prince Rundhia started the argument."

"Yes, he's heir to the throne. He had to start it in the Maharajah's name, but it was Rundhia's idea.

The Maharajah is a quiet old gentleman, thank heaven. No initiative. Satisfied to let things take their course. I believe the quarrel would settle itself, if we would let it alone. The diamond mine is one of those open secrets that do no harm until they're aired by busy-bodies. The arrangement has worked perfectly well all these years. The priests don't win many diamonds from the mine. Sometimes years go by without their finding any stones worth putting on the market. But they make an occasional find. They turn over a certain percentage to the Maharajah, and sell the remainder for temple revenue.

"Yes. There's a rumor the mine is dangerous."

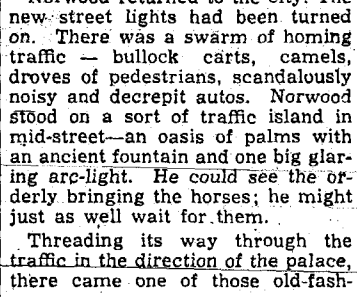

"Good God, man! They don't let anyone near the mine—not even the Maharajah!"

"Provision has been made for that, sir."

The Resident squirmed. "Well, take care that you—" he selected a word; he used it tartly: "—spies don't make trouble."

Norwood returned to the city. The new-street lights had been turned on. There was a swarm of homing traffic—bullock carts, camels, droves of pedestrians, scandalously noisy and decrepit autos. Norwood stood on a sort of traffic island in mid-street—an oasis of palms with an ancient fountain and one big glaring arc-light. He could see the orderly bringing the horses; he might just as well wait for them.

Threading its way through the traffic in the direction of the palace, there came one of those old-fashioned carriages in which zenana ladies take the air. It was magnificently horsed. Two mounted men rode ahead to clear the way, and they were followed by two runners armed with sticks. Two men in splendid livery on the box. Two footmen on a platform behind the carriage. Two more horsemen bringing up the rear.

As the carriage drew near Norwood, a terrifically noisy truck frightened the horses. Almost at the same moment, two elephants loomed into view from a side street. The horses plunged. The driver had hard work to control them. The carriage swayed violently. The right front wheel struck the curb, close to Norwood. The shock jerked open the door. The electric arc-light shone in, revealing the occupants. The coachman reined the horses to a standstill, shouting to the footmen to seize their heads.

Diamonds, pearls, zephyr silken saris of the hue of Himalayan dawn. Two women. The older, stout one raised a fan to hide her face. It was the other who held Norwood spellbound.

She was young. She was full of laughter. She had mocking, excitable, generous eyes that looked wild to lose their innocence and revel in what shouldn't be, but is, and is amusing. She saw no evil, only humor in being stared at by a man who shouldn't see her, and hadn't expected to. Indian zenana ladies are supposed to shrink from men's eyes. Hers met Norwood's full, and full of laughter.

Norwood, of course, recovered self-possession. He was in uniform, so he saluted. He was about to speak; he had thought of a properly gallant remark that would sound almost like a quotation from the "Arabian Nights," when the palace servants took the situation in hand.

The driver recovered command of his horses. The carriage moved on. The footmen jumped up behind. Norwood was left wondering. He had had a vision. He had never seen such a beautiful girl.

The older, stouter woman, who had used the fan to hide her face, should be the Maharanee of Kadur. But Norwood knew she was childless; otherwise Prince Rundhia, the Maharajah's nephew, would not be heir to the throne. The ladies of Kadur have black, not golden hair, so the younger girl could hardly be a relative. She might be a princess on a visit from some northern Indian State.

The orderly, selected because he was a native of Kadur, rode up with the led horse.

"Has Prince Rundhia taken a wife?" Norwood asked him.

"No, sahib." One does not discuss zenana ladies—not with men of an alien race. The orderly grinned himself into the kind of silence that suggests the subject is forbidden.

Norwood rode back to his camp, where Moses Lafayette O'Leary lied, like three men of three different races, about who had drunk the whiskey.

"It was an emergency," said O'Leary. "Yes, sir, I took the liberty. But how can I get information if I mayn't count on your knowledge o' my honesty, and take a chance now and then on your overlooking what would be impudence if someone else should do it? I have to treat my informants decent. Have you heard who's staying at the palace? There's a guesthouse in the garden full o' women. Americans. Two. A young one. And an aunt who'd fill a hotel. Truck-loads o' luggage. I've heard say the aunt could make a brace of tigers wish they'd looked the other way. They say she's a holy terror. But they tell me the young one 'ud melt your heart to look at her. They call the young one Miss Lynn Harding."

"What else have you found out?"

"Not much."

"You're about due for an Irish promotion. You're getting too fat. I've my eye on a man who knows what work is."

"All right, sir. If you want me to talk before I know what I'm talking about, I'll do it. Here goes. The whole bazaar's as full o' dirty rumors as Stoddard's dog is o' fleas. There's a game on, and it's all set. They're laying for us, and the way they figure it we're in the bag already. I've been offered a bribe to tell you you're in Kadur."

"Cash?"

"No. Promises. Man name o' Noor Mahlam."

"Beyond that you were offered a bribe, did you get any other line on their intentions?"

"No. I know we're being spied on. There's a saying in Kadur that diamonds see in the dark. We're being watched now. We can't afford a mistake. But they'll try some more bribery first before they act ugly."

"Don't take their money. Don't take a gift of any kind from anyone."

"Me?"

"Yes. You."

"I'm incorruptible."

CHAPTER III

Mrs. Deborah Harding, in leggings, a short skirt, and a wide pith helmet, wearing goggles, and with a camera suspended somehow from her portly figure, prodded ruins with the ferrule of a green silk sunshade. Two palace servants danced attendance on her, doing their obsequious utmost to prevent calamity.

"Sahiba! Not good! Much too many cobra—kerat—scorpions—too bad. Come, look this way. Plenty ruins this way."

But Mrs. Deborah Harding wasn't in the habit of taking the advice of anyone less than a Supreme Court Justice; nor would she hesitate to question that if it didn't agree with her own convictions. She was dynamic, opulent, willful dignity personified. As honorary special correspondent to The Woman Citizen, of Aaronville, Clarendon County, Ohio, she was being an authority on ruins. She looked like authority. She had authoritative gestures, and a notebook.

It was close on sunset. Mrs. Deborah Harding's goggles were dusty.

Old Fort Laramie Proclaimed National Monument

Old Fort Laramie, in Wyoming, army general headquarters during the Indian wars on the plains and long-time capital of the wilderness west of the Missouri river, has been proclaimed a national monument. The score of crumbling buildings that still mark its site at the junction of the Laramie and North Platte rivers are to be preserved and restored as a memorial to the dauntless traders and soldiers who maintained this greatest of all refuges along the covered-wagon trail by means of which the West was won.

The first known white men to visit the site were members of the Stuart party of the Astorians in the winter of 1812-13. Later it was a fur-trading post. In 1849 the United States army purchased Fort Laramie in order to establish authority over the streams of emigrants who were passing through the fort en route to California. By 1865 the Indian situation became so troublesome that Fort Laramie was made general headquarters of "the military district of the plains."

When the arteries of transconti-

The blood-red sunrays confused her vision. She was one of those people who always believe what they see but nothing that they don't see. She saw a cobra. She did not see that the stone, on which she set her foot, was loose, curved on its under side and resting insecurely on a flat rock. So she twisted her ankle and sat down—hard. It jolted every bone in her corpulent body.

Two hundred and eight pounds of widow with bankers' references and one hundred per cent opinions, can sit down harder than a crate of groceries.

"I never saw such people—such a country. I have travelled all around the world from America. I have visited numbers of countries. I have not seen your equals anywhere for inefficiency and lack of human intelligence. What shall I do now? I am in pain. Have you no ideas? Can't you suggest something?"

One of them mounted the pony and cantered away for assistance. Mrs. Deborah Harding sat fanning herself and making impudently harsh remarks about the swarms of flies that were looking for a last, lazy meal before going to sleep.

The cantering servant drew rein at an outlying police kama and, after a heated uncompromising debate with the policeman in charge, phoned the palace. The Maharanee was out. It entered no one's head to consult the Maharajah; it was his hour of the day to study postage stamps, so he was incommunicado, except to the physician who should bring him his evening tonic. However, Prince Rundhia had returned that afternoon, from a visit to Delhi. Someone phoned him. Things happened.

There are two palaces. Rundhia's is separated from the Maharajah's only by a high wall and two widths of glorious garden. Rundhia's imported patent automatic garage-door swung open. His imported ex-Czarist chauffeur whirled a Rolls-Royce to the front door. Rundhia took the wheel. They opened the front gate just in time. Another split second and he would have crashed it, sacked the lot of them, and bummed a new car from his aunt.

There was a whirl of dust, a din of tooting. Headlights flooded the narrow roads with blinding glare. Three dogs and some belated chickens died the death. Three villages gasped and called on thirty gods to witness their piety. Rundhia rammed on the brakes and got out of the car to bow to Mrs. Harding just as calmly, as blandly, as amusingly courteous as if he were entering her drawing room.

"Well, I am glad to see you," said Mrs. Deborah Harding. "I don't know who you are, but—"

"Prince Rundhia, your host's nephew."

"How d'you do. You took your own time, didn't you? I had begun to think no one was coming."

The garden guesthouse was a copy of a cottage at Juan les Pins. It had been Rundhia's idea. The Prince had persuaded his aunt the Maharanee to go thoroughly modern for once.

The Maharanee almost worshiped Rundhia, but she had compelled him to return from Europe by cutting off the supplies of cash. She wanted him to learn to be fit for the throne. But Rundhia was always threatening to go to Europe again unless she made things tolerable; so she had to make good his gambling losses and to humor his whims.

No one had stayed at the guesthouse until Mrs. Deborah Harding heard about it during her tour of India. She knew exactly how to contrive invitations. She considered she conferred a favor on the rules of Kadur by accepting their hospitality for herself and her niece.

"The Name Is Familiar"

BY FELIX B. STREYCKMANS and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Solon

WHEN we want to say that a man is wise we call him a solon and we call lawmakers solons, too. This doesn't mean that we think all lawmakers are wise men—heaven forbid! The reason is that the world's original lawmaker on a big scale was a very wise man and his name was Solon.

That name isn't just a first name or a last name—it is all the name the man had and all he needed. He lived so long ago that the population was small enough to let men get by with one-word names. Solon was one of the original Seven Wise Men of Greece and was born in Athens about 640 B. C.

He wrote or rewrote practically all the laws that were in existence during his time and was the first lawmaker to devise a code that gave people rights instead of merely prohibiting them from doing this or saying that they must do that. Besides regulating private and public life, his code reformed the calendar, the system of weights and measures, the monetary system. It relieved the burdens of debtors without curtailing the rights of creditors. (He could be elected on either ticket today!)

His laws were crudely written on wooden cylinders and set up in public places for everybody to read. This must have been just a matter of form, because in his day about the only ones who could read were the ones who wrote the cylinders.

Kelvin's Law

THE kelvin, a commercial unit of electricity; Kelvin's law for measuring the most economical diameter of an electric wire; Kelvin, or absolute, temperature scale, which begins at 561 degrees below zero Fahrenheit; and the Kelvinator, the first electric refrigerator for household use, were named for Lord Kelvin of Largs, Scotland, one of the greatest and most practical scientists of all time.

He invented flashing signals for lighthouses; designed an oil-floated self-leveling magnetic compass which allowed this instrument to be used on steel ships; invented the ultra-sensitive detecting and recording apparatus that made the trans-Atlantic cable possible—and became chief executive of the cable company to supervise its laying; reduced temperature to a mathematical basis and announced absolute zero where there is no heat and where molecules stand still.

His name was William Thomson and he was born in Belfast in 1824, the son of a professor of mathematics at the Royal Academical Institution of Belfast. As early as 1852 he foresaw the practicability of heating and cooling buildings by means of currents of air. When he built a mansion of his own in 1874 on the Scottish coast, he built in heating ducts and ventilating facilities. When he died in 1907, he had received every degree a scholar could obtain and had made a fortune of many millions of dollars.

'Rich as Croesus'

WHEN a man is so rich that he actually reeks with wealth, we call him a Croesus. The word is pronounced like those things in a man's trousers—and we don't mean wrinkles, like in ours. But don't misunderstand—we don't call a rich man a Croesus because he is the only one who can afford them in his pants. Perhaps we never should have brought the matter up.

Croesus is a word for a rich man and goes way back to 560 B. C., when the original Croesus, a Greek king of Lydia, was born. He was richer than any king before him, hence the use of his name. Living in the time when men wore togas, you can see that he didn't even wear pants—or did they wear pants with togas? Now we are sorry we brought the matter up.

Lydia, at the time Croesus was king, included practically all of Asia Minor, and his wealth was obtained mainly from the mines and gold dust of the river Pactolus. Proud of his treasures, he carried his love of splendor to extravagance and thought he was the happiest of men.

All of which proves it isn't the number of pairs of pants you have that makes you wealthy. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Comfort, Style, Color, Novelty In New Spring Shoe Fashions

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

AS a prologue to the season before us the National Shoe fair, held in Chicago recently, launched many new styles for the Easter parade, and for the spring and summer months to follow. It is not possible to tell of all the shoe fashions exhibited, so in the next few paragraphs we will cite a few outstanding highspots.

First, one is impressed with the striking originality that marks the styling of shoes this season. The big news is the swing toward back decoration. The newest models are styled with all sorts of fancy cutouts in heel and side-back sections. Open toes appear in a substantial percentage, with good taste using a restraining hand.

In leathers there is decided ingenuity in combinations, especially with fabrics. In the forefront are leathers from the reptilian family. Patent is a top-honor contender, dividing its style prestige with gabardine. Suede is also definitely in the picture. The steps are prime favorites. The majority of these, and of pumps, carry elasticized sections. For the initial purchase smart women will select black or the new bluejacket blue, a dark navy. Malt beige is also a color you will be parading. Gray is due for a decided revival.

Heels introduce more novelty in their heights and shapes than in any previous year. They will "click" from flat platforms to new spike altitudes. Wedges in medium and high heel versions promise a great vogue. When you see the new play shoes you won't be able to resist. Wedge shoes with soles in brilliant red kid and tops of Paris blue, buck piped in red, with a red drawstring around the top will embark you gaily on that all-American spring which fashion advises will be here, with patriotic colors flagging interest from head to foot.

Ready to step out for spring are bluejacket pumps with bows and moccasin-effect fronts edged in white as shown to the left in the picture, worn with a navy and white print frock and navy and white accessories. Gay stripe wool for coats is a spring promise. To wear with your striped coat choose shoes such as accompany the coat illustrated.

Describing the shoes shown in the inset, beginning at the top, No. 1 is the new double platform type. The alligator pumps next below are real smart. They are in the new taupe gray, have the latest square toe and heel design, with stitching in brown. Shown next is a significant style forecast. It combines alligator with suede or gabardine. Two pert bows of alligator add swank. Comfort plus style is the very important message conveyed by the shoe that concludes the group. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Pastel Blouse

A sheer crepe blouse in monotone pastel, pale blue, muted pink, grayish green or the new wheat color with a dark skirt of rich fabric is a dress formula that carries style conviction. The blouse pictured observes the newest styling details. High neckline, long generously full sleeves, the wide corselet effect that gives a hipped-in waistline, they are marks of fashion-wise dressmaker touches. A matching turban is late fashion decree.

Neptun is launching new styles in chemisier blouses, making them of silk or cotton novelty-shirting and trimming them with old-time featherstitched braid and nacre shell-shaped buttons.

Milliners Turn Out Cunning Spring Hats

A pastel felt or a gay fabric turban make good "starters" for spring. The sailor theme is a most important one. As for turbans you can wear no smarter headpiece. The latest is to have a turban match either blouse or bag or match something that has to do with your costume.

The outstanding feature about the cunning hats that tilt over the face, some not much larger than the palm of your hand, is that they all throw the spotlight on back views. Milliners have devised all sorts of schemes in the way of snoods and fitted deep bandeaux and ribbons, cap-fitting contrivances not only to insure a comfortable fit on the head but to give chic and charm to back views.

House Coats to Fit Your Personality

House coats and hostess gowns, like all other costumes, should be chosen to match your personality. Once in a while the tall, stately woman may find it amusing to go frilly and feminine at home and the hoyden may try her hand at elegance, but these are the exceptions rather than the rule.

Ordinarily the woman who spends many hours in her home likes pretty, cheerful pastels, while the career woman who keeps an eye on the practical side chooses the darker red, wine and blue shades.

Wet Day Ensemble Chic and Sensible

Copper and white are attractively combined for a rainy day ensemble. A trench coat of copper-toned gabardine is teamed with white rubbers and a transparent copper-toned umbrella. The umbrella has an old-fashioned ivory tusk handle. An amusing lapel pin for this coat is a pair of white celluloid ducks.

GOOD CITIZENS AND GOOD NEIGHBORS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 22:15-22, 34-40. GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.—Matthew 22:39.

Character is determined by what a man is in his heart, not by the profession of his lips. This is eminently true in spiritual matters, for we know that it is not by much testifying, hymn singing, or even by church attendance that a man proves himself to be a Christian. The question is, Is his heart right with God? It is also true in his relation to his country. Patriotism is not a matter of speech-making and flag-waving, but an inward devotion to the good of the nation. Most assuredly it is also true that being a good neighbor is not something accomplished by smooth talk or the shedding of a few tears; it is a matter of that right attitude toward our neighbor, whether he be the man next door or in China, which results in a sacrificial effort to serve and help him.

I. A Right Attitude Toward God (vv. 21, 37-39)

No man will make any real progress in the direction of being either a good citizen or a good neighbor until he has a right attitude toward God.

The questions which were asked of our Lord, and which brought forth such precious teaching from Him, were not asked in good will nor with a desire to glorify God, but rather to entrap or snare the Lord and thus give occasion for denouncing Him. Had the Pharisees, Sadducees, and Herodians (the ritualists, the rationalists, and politicians of our Lord's day) really known God and Jesus Christ, His Son, their problems of patriotism and neighborliness would have been solved in the light of His Word and, what is perhaps even more important, in His spirit.

Is not the crying need of our world today, gone mad as it has with misdirected and perverted patriotic fervor and forgetting all responsibilities of good neighborliness, that it should hear and heed the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ?

II. A Right Attitude Toward Government (vv. 15-22)

The subtle hypocrisy of the question in verse 17 lay in the fact that these leaders were not interested in knowing the truth, but only wanted to make Jesus out either to be disloyal to His own people because He advocated paying tribute, or a traitor to Caesar because He advised rebellion against taxation. They coated their clever bait with unctuous flattery—a device which is still common among those who would mislead God's people. Observe that even though they did not believe what they said, they did speak the truth about the Lord Jesus (v. 16).

His answer is complete, final, and unanswerable. He has that kind of an answer to every honest question of man. In this case He clearly states that one who lives under an established government, enjoying its protection, using its money in trade, and so forth, is to be loyal to every proper obligation to that government. God and the things of God must come first, but a right attitude toward God will reveal itself in a proper attitude toward government.

Why does not some nation realize that the answer to destructive political and social theories is—win the destructive agitator to a living faith in Christ and he will become your strongest force for God and country. The real answer to communism (and every other anti-Americanism) is Christ.

III. A Right Attitude Toward Our Neighbor (vv. 34-40)

We have talked a good deal of late about being good neighbors, and certainly everyone should do everything possible to encourage the good neighbor policy in his own community and throughout the earth. But why does not the good neighbor policy work? Read the parallel passage in Luke and you will see how man tries to dodge his responsibility. See Luke 10:29 and observe the answer of Jesus in Luke 10:30-37.

A good neighbor is not one who is seeking some kind of "You favor me and I'll favor you" arrangement. He does not see the barriers of race, creed, or color. He is ready to help anyone, anywhere, at any cost. It is recognized that only the man who loves God with all his heart will be able thus to love his neighbor as himself.

The world does not so much need treatises on neighborliness as the winning of men and women to faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thus to a whole-hearted love for God which will inevitably express itself in a love for his neighbor. When this comes to pass, we shall have true neighborliness in the world. Let us send the gospel to all nations, that they may become first of all good Christians, then good citizens, and good neighbors.

Whose Signature? 'Proxy Parents' Live to Collect

In a recent experiment the Chicago Police Crime Detection laboratory had seven college professors differentiate between four samples of their signatures, one being genuine, one an expert forgery, one a tracing and one written with no attempt at imitation. Only one man identified his own signature as genuine and recognized the other three specimens as nongenuine.

A new organization in New York supplies capable young women between the ages of 20 and 30 years to act as "proxy parents," taking children to theaters, schools, parties, dentists' offices and on shopping tours. They also stay with children while parents are away for the week-end, and meet trains and chaperon girls who come to the city for a visit.

County Land Survey, Inventory

THIRTY REPRESENTATIVES ON LAND PLANNING COMMITTEE GIVE APPROVAL

A most far-reaching step was taken last Wednesday when the county land planning committee discussed the desirability of having an intensive land survey and inventory taken of Charlevoix County. Never before has such a large group of leaders met together and discussed the development of such a worthwhile program.

Mr. H. A. Berg, Chairman of the State Land Planning Committee, very efficiently outlined the objectives and results that might be expected from taking an inventory of land and its proper uses.

This survey will doubtless start the latter part of this month and will continue for a period of eight or nine months.

With the assistance of township committeemen, every township will be surveyed and recommendations made to the county committee as to adjustments and activities that will make for a more prosperous agriculture. It is too early yet to announce just what information may be included in this survey but there is no doubt but what all factors associated with the welfare of each township and the county in general will be stressed. The cooperation of all organizations and associations throughout the county has been promised. Facts and statistics will be developed all of which will enable the public to know more about the wonderful possibilities in this county.

The discussion brought forth many suggestions and recommendations. The audience entered into the spirit of the occasion by adding comments throughout the session. Look over the following list of rural and urban leaders and you can readily judge the value of this pooling of opinion in regard to what we have in the county and its future development.

What! Canners Lost A Game!

PELLSTON WINS RETURN GAME THERE MONDAY NIGHT

The high flying East Jordan Canners were momentarily slowed down at Pellston, Monday evening, where they dropped a 41 to 39 decision. Last Wednesday they went to Charlevoix, winning 41 to 26. The next night they met Pellston here and again were victorious 56 to 29. Pellston has asked that they play a third game. The Canners are willing providing they can agree on the floor: Pellston wants to play at Harbor Springs, the Canners holding out for Petoskey.

Wednesday evening, Feb. 7th, the Canners went to Charlevoix. The Charlevoix boys were bent on giving the Red and White one good pasting, and the locals were slow in getting under steam, after their runaway with Grayling the night before. Charlevoix started out at a terrific pace and ran up a 14 to 4 lead at the end of the first quarter. The Canners played at their usual pace, realizing the home team could not stand the lead at the half and were still in front 23 to 21 as the final quarter opened. They held up for three minutes, then they collapsed completely and the Canners ran wild, scoring twenty points in the last seven minutes, to win 41 to 26.

In this game, the Canners showed their cool headedness under fire. Even when Charlevoix was in front 14 to 4 at the end of the first period, the Canners were looking at the scoreboard and joking among themselves and with the spectators. Their easy going attitude made, spectators and team alike feel that fireworks were liable to cut loose at any minute as it did in the final quarter.

PELLSTON LOSES
Thursday night, Feb. 8th, the Canners met the Pellston Broncos on the local floor, and had no trouble winning 56 to 29.

Pellston, led by their towering center, Sims, played a game battle but could not stand the fast pace set by the locals in the final two quarters. The first quarter was a neck and neck race with the Canners on top 12 to 9. However, at the half the locals were in front 25 to 15.

Sims was the spark of the Pellston attack, as the big former Western State star sank 20 of their 29 points.

— AND WINS
Monday the Canners played a return game at Pellston and were edged out 41 to 39, after a wild last quarter which saw the locals come from far behind to tie the score in the final minute.

Inability of the locals to cash in on their dog shots is the chief reason for the defeat. The Pellston floor is as long as ours, but is somewhat narrower, thus the Canners had a hard time getting their fast break under way.

Pellston jumped off to a 12 to 4 lead in the first period, and were ahead 20 to 13 at the half. During the third quarter they increased their lead to 33 - 19.

In the final period the Canners threw caution to the winds and opened up with their fast break. Using the fast break on the narrow floor turned the game into a rough-house brawl, as the locals sank basket after basket, cutting the lead down all the time.

Finally with fifty seconds to play, the gang sank the basket which tied the score at 39 all. A few seconds later Shonibin sank a side shot to give Pellston the lead again. East Jordan was called for running with the ball and the home team was able to stall the few remaining seconds.

Pellston wants to play a third game on a fifty-fifty basis in a neutral gym, preferably Harbor Springs. The Canners want to play in the Petoskey gym on a winner-take-all basis. Just what the outcome will be has not been decided as yet.

The Canners may go to Northport for a return game this Monday, Next Thursday, Feb. 22, Washington's birthday, the Cheboygan Merchants will play the Canners here. Cheboygan has already beaten Pellston at Pellston and comes here with a strong team.

Pie—The Great American Dessert

Here's Further Proof Why Pies Are Considered The Nation's Favorite Dessert You'll Want To Try This Grand New Cherry Creation—Cherry Cream Pie

What is your favorite dessert? The odds are two to one that it will be pie. If a national survey were to be made on this question, it is pretty certain that this popular form of dessert would lead by a wide margin, not only among men, but among women and children as well.

While it is true that of all the hundreds of different kinds of pies that are known today, most homemakers limit the list of those they make most frequently to five or six. However, there is one pie that would win a first or second choice in most any home—you've guessed it—cherry pie.

There's something about canned cherries that makes them a favorite in almost any recipe in which they are used. Their natural bright red color adds to their eye appeal and their taste and flavor are almost universally enjoyed.

The month of February is, of course, a most appropriate time of year to discuss cherries, for who could let this month slip by without remembering the incident of George Washington and the cherry tree?

In spite of the fact that pie is the great American dessert, it is certainly true that many homemakers do hesitate to bake pies often. If the old saying, "It's as easy as pie" refers to it's eating, then it's probably true, but many cooks would hardly call the baking of a good pie an easy culinary task.

Why is it that some cooks seem to have no difficulty in turning out the most mouth-watering pies and others have such dismal failures? Is it the fault of the ingredients, the method of preparation, or just lack of knowledge of some of the finer points of good pie baking?

In a majority of cases the difficulty will not be found in the ingredients, but rather in the method. In the preparation of pie crust, too much handling and too much water are the most frequent causes of poor crusts, providing, of course, ingredients used are standard.

Cherry Cream Pie
Custard Filling:
1/2 cup sugar 2 cups milk
5 tbs. flour 3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1/2 tsp. salt 2 tps. vanilla
Combine sugar, flour and salt in top of a double boiler; add the milk and egg yolks, mixing well. Cook over rapidly boiling water for 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and cool slightly. Then pour into pre-baked pie shell.

Cherry Glaze:
2 cups sour pitted cherries (1 No. 2 can)
1/2 cup cherry juice
1 cup sugar
Dash cup corn starch
Drain juice from cherries and heat to boiling point. Combine sugar and corn starch, add enough cold water to make a smooth paste. Pour this into the boiled cherry juice, continue cooking until mixture boils for 3 minutes and is smooth and thick. Allow to cool slightly. Pour this mixture over the cream filling already in the pre-baked pie shell. This pie may be topped with either a meringue or whipped cream.
