City To Have New Log Bldg.

WEST SIDE WPA PARK PROJECT HAS BEEN APPROVED

Official word has just been received from Congressman Fred Bradley and also from State Headquarters for the Works Progress Administration that the project for additional improvements to the Tourist Park has been approved. Work will be started almost at once.

The project includes the construction of a 40 ft by 60 ft. recreation building out of logs, tennis and shuffle board courts as well as considerable additional grading, landscaping and construction of revetment wall. This will not only insure the City of East Jordan of the best tourist park in Northern Michigan as well as additional resort recreational features which will be much appreciated by all of the citizens of East Jordan and their tourist guests.

Surprise Birthday Party Given R. E. Nowland At Afton Grange Hall

Tuesday evening, March 5th, a surprise birthday party was given for R. E. Nowland at the Afton Grange Hall. A plate supper was served, including two birthday cakes. There were 54 present. Mr. Nowland received many nice gifts.

Basil Holland won the door prize. There were nine tables of king pedro in play, also one table of bunco. Ladies 1st prize went to Mrs. Roy Nowland, second prize going to Mrs. E. W. W. Mens first prize went to Rocco DeMaio, second prize going to Claude Pearsall. In bunco, Mrs. Julius Roberts won first prize, the second going to Miss Esther Shepard.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Colter Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Colter quietly celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary at their home on Second street, Wednesday, March 6th, 1940.

Mrs. Colter, formerly Miss Mary Johnson, was born in 1866 at Ridgeway, Ontario, and came with her parents to Central Lake in 1876.

Mr. Colter was born at Redford, Mich., in 1865. In 1888 his parents came to Antrim County and homesteaded the present Colter farm, where Mr. and Mrs. Colter spend the summer months, and where they set up housekeeping, following their marriage in Central Lake, March 6, 1890.

Mr. Colter is the oldest member of East Jordan Lodge No. 379, F. & A. M., having been raised to the Master Mason degree December 12, 1888. Both were in the first class to be installed in Mark Chapter, O. E. S. No. 275, in 1900.

They are also two who have been members of the local Methodist Episcopal Church the greatest number of years.

During the day friends called and extended greetings, gifts and flowers. Yellow daffodils were presented by the neighbors in their immediate block.

Canners Are Set For Wednesday

GOOD BATTLE IS FORECASTED

The East Jordan Canners will travel to Northport Friday evening and play the Northport Merchants in their final game before meeting Helen Stephens Olympic Co-eds here next Wednesday evening, March 20th.

The battle Wednesday will probably be the climax to another highly successful Canner season. They have now scored 979 points this year and the Northport game should put them well over the 1000 mark.

Reports continue to come in regarding the girl's ability. Last Thursday evening, Ione Riley scored 25 points single handed to defeat a fast Terra Haute, Ind., team 67 to 22. It all goes to mean a busy night for the Red and White.

Tickets for the game are now on sale and can be secured from various members of the team.

Camp Wolverine will play the East Jordan Coffee Cups in the preliminary at 7:30 p. m. The main game gets under way at 9:00 p. m.

Due to inquiries from outside newspapermen, a press table may be set up on the band platform for the game. However, it looks like a packed house as the time draws nearer.

Remember the date. Next Wednesday evening, March 20th, at the High School Gym.

Telephone Hookup Will Bring Play-by-play Account of Remus Game

The State Tournament basketball game between East Jordan's Crimson Wave and Remus, will be brought play by play to local basketball fans, in the High School Auditorium here this Thursday evening, commencing at 7:30.

Through the co-operation of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., a wire direct from the gym floor in Midland will be connected with a loud speaker in the local auditorium, and Gayle Saxton will give a play by play account of the entire game. The game will commence at 7:15 p. m.

An admission fee of 10c will be charged here to help pay for the hookup. It should prove popular, as students and townspeople who cannot attend the game, will have an opportunity to know at first hand just how it is progressing at all times.

Canners Take Alba 54 - 20

GAIN MOMENTUM AFTER SLOW START

The East Jordan Canners turned in their 20th victory of the season here Thursday evening, with a well earned 54 to 20 victory over the Alba Independents. The 54 points brought the Canners total for the season to 979.

The locals had trouble sinking dog shots during the early part of the game and, for five minutes it was a scoreless tie.

Alba opened the scoring by sinking a free toss. The Canners came back immediately with a field goal and, from then on, it was all Canners. They led at the half 23 to 9, and staged another of those last quarter rallies to really salt the game away, scoring 19 points.

Friday the Canners travel to Northport for their last game before they meet Helen Stephens' squad as few teams have expressed a desire to play them lately.

Former Local Man Killed In Mill Blaze At Cadillac

Wm. Atkinson, 56, former East Jordan resident and latterly of Manton, was burned to death in a blaze at Cadillac on February 29th.

"Charred bones, tentative identified as the remains of Jack Ranville, 45, Cadillac, and William Atkinson, 56, of Manton, were found by firemen, Thursday, Feb'y 29, in the burning ruins of the Ensign-McGovern Lumber mill.

"No trace has been found of a third man missing in the spectacular, $175,000 fire—John G. Johnson, 52, who was last seen in another part of the mill from where the first two were located.

"The employees were believed trapped in the fire by smoke and machinery. The blaze, of undetermined origin, broke out Wednesday and raged for nearly eight hours before firemen could bring it partially under control.

"Nearly 100 others working for Ensign-McGovern and the Cadillac Wood Parts company, which leased a section of the grounds, fled to safety when the fire broke out, apparently near a recently-installed machine. Only one, Don Trowbridge, was severely burned.

"Dry pine lumber stacked over the company's two-acre plot, as well as buildings, burned rapidly and at times flames shot more than 100 feet into the air. Only concrete dry kilns and a brick boiler house remained standing."

Mrs. Atkinson, who survives her husband, was formerly Miss Zella Gay of this city and a sister of Mrs. Vesta Cihak. The latter attended funeral services at Manton on Wednesday, March 6th.

Proposed Community Building

HOW IT CAN BE FINANCED WITHOUT ADDITIONAL TAXES

The article on the proposed Community Building last week set forth in general terms the kind of building proposed, and some of the advantages the building will be to the City of East Jordan.

Questions have been asked as to how it can be financed. Here is a plan that is feasible and that will work hardship to no one.

The proposed cost is about $70,000. To be exact $69,000 is the latest obtainable estimate. The amount should not vary from this to any appreciable extent. The Federal government will contribute about $50,000. The building will not be possible without this. That leaves a figure something like $19,000 to $20,000 to be raised locally. How can it be done?

The project is to be set up on a basis of 1000 man months, which in round figures would mean employment for 100 WPA workers per mo. for 20 months. (WPA workers work only about half a month — 50 men working during each half makes 100 men per month.)

The building will be about two years in building. At present the City is spending between $2,000 and $3,000 a year on WPA projects. To keep WPA men employed the sponsors must furnish projects. If the City sponsors the Community Building as a project the men will be so employed. If the money is not spent on the building it will have to be spent elsewhere. In this manner the City can spend about $6,000 on the building in the next two years.

The city will vote on a bond issue for $10,000 at the City election. The bonds are to mature during a period of twenty years and can be paid out of current receipts of the city.

How can the remaining $3,000 or $4,000 be raised? The City is out of debt for current expenses, and has money in the treasury. With the current expenses running the way they have been the past few years the city will be amply able during the coming two years to take this amount of the current receipts. If this is done the building can be erected, and when it is completed the only indebtedness would be the bond issue of $10,000 which can be taken care of during the 20 year period out of current receipts. But it must be understood that if the city is ever to have a suitable community building it must be while the Federal government is making appropriations for WPA projects.

The question has been asked as to who can vote on the bond issue? Qualified electors who are tax payers. To carry, the issue must have the approval of three-fifths of the votes cast.

The erection of the building will be a boon to WPA workers. It will mean that during the erection of the building their work will be in East Jordan, not in some other part of the county.

The proposed building is to cost about $70,000. It will not fulfill impossible expectations. It is doubtful if a building costing a quarter of a million would meet all the dreams of everyone. The plan is to do all that can be done within the financial limitation. To attempt to do more would call for the expenditure of more than the committee can see the way to raise, but East Jordan will be getting the fullest possible returns for the money to be invested.

The building is to be a community building under the control of the city. There will be the friendliest co-operation between the school system and those in charge of the community building. All questions as to the staging of events planned by those in the school system must be cleared through the school authorities. This makes for fullest co-operation, and this is understood in asking aid of the Federal government.

The present plans are tentative. They cannot go beyond that until after the bond issue is approved, and then an architect will be instructed to proceed with the definite plans. The committee has spent much time and work on this project. The members have done this cheerfully for they believe that the erection of a Community building will be the biggest forward step that East Jordan has taken in several years.

MARRIAGE

Keaton — Sandeen

Wm. Denver Keaton and Miss Alice Sandeen, both of Mancelona, were united in marriage at the East Jordan Presbyterian manse Wednesday evening, March 6th, by Rev. C. W. Sidebotham. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Foster, also of Mancelona.

Union Good Friday Service

WILL BE HELD FRIDAY, MAR. 22, IN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

This year the Union Good Friday service will be held from 2 to 3:30 p. m. in the Presbyterian Church. All of the resident pastors will have a part in the service and the public is invited to attend this service which has grown in interest and devotional spirit the past few years. For several years all of the business places of the county have been closed during the time for the services in the three cities. The program is:

Hymn, "According to Thy Gracious Word."

Prayer by Elder C. H. McKinnon.

Scripture, John 3:14-21, Rev. A. Ragsdale.

Address, "The Love of God and the Cross, Rev. H. C. Matteson.

Benediction, Elder C. H. McKinnon

Farm Account Co-operators To Check In Books on March 18 and 19

All farm account co-operators will meet by appointments with representatives of the Farm Management Department on March 18th and 19th. Each record keeper will spend approximately an hour in carefully checking through the various divisions of the book to insure accuracy and completeness.

Several new co-operators have started keeping a farm record so that approximately fifty books will be kept for this new year beginning March first. We can still handle several more so kindly get in touch with your county agent if you would like to start a book this new year.

"Nothing in the world will give you such vital information about your farm business as keeping a record. The Farm Management Department of the State College performs a wonderful service in summarizing the results shown in each book and in developing a report which shows the strong points about your farm operations. Those who want a farm account book without our extension assistance may have one, free of charge, upon request. We hope to hear from all who are interested.

B. C. Mellencamp, County Agr'l Agent.

THE SEVEN BEST WAYS TO GET A JOB

There are seven ways to get a job, and the beautiful part about the scheme is that all seven ways can be put into operation at the same time! Lyle Spencer, famous employment authority, explains them in an article everyone, whether employed or not, should read. Watch for his article in this week, the Sunday Detroit News magazine.

New State Law Says Townships Shall Publish Annual Election Notices

In the revisions of the 1938 Election Laws of Michigan — issued by Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly in 1939 — Township Clerks should give notice of Annual Township Elections by publication at least twice in a newspaper, and posting notices in two or more conspicuous places. First publication and posting of notices should be at least ten days before election.

The Herald Publisher has checked Election Laws in Michigan for nearly fifty years and this is a new one on him. This notice (or order) is published on Page 87 of above volume now in the hands of all City and Township Clerks. Heretofore publication in a newspaper of such notice has been merely advisory — now it is mandatory.

All-Conference Honor Teams

SELECTED BY COACHES AT ROYNE CITY, SATURDAY

Although Coach Abe Cohn's East Jordan Crimson Wave finished its Conference schedule as the most powerful cage aggregation in the Northern Michigan Class C circuit and then went on to win the District & Regional championships. They failed to land a single berth on the All-Conference Honor Team as selected by the coaches of the teams representing the conference at their annual spring meeting held in Boyne City last Saturday afternoon.

Deckrow of Grayling and W. Deitz of Boyne City were picked at the forward berths. E. Deitz, lanky Boyne center, landed the pivot post; with Davert of Harbor Springs and Fesler of Gaylord getting the guard berths. The second team was as follows: Forwards, Mathews of Gaylord and Bulow of East Jordan; center, Glasser of Gaylord; guards, Stackus of Boyne City and Antoine of East Jordan. Crowell and Isaman of East Jordan were given honorable mention.

This goes to show that East Jordan went places on team play alone, but many will argue that East Jordan has a right to demand one if not possibly two positions on such a team.

Crowell, Isaman, Antoine and Bulow are all seniors. Antoine and Isaman are winding up a career of four seasons with the Red and Black as regulars.

United States Civil Service Examinations For Stenographers - Typists

For appointment in the Field Service. Open to both men and women. Applications must be on file by March 25. Examinations for positions to be held in Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan. Nearest point to East Jordan is Traverse City.

For further particulars apply at the East Jordan Postoffice.

Jamboree Plans Shaping Up

INQUIRIES ARE BEGINNING TO COME IN

The annual National Smelt Jamboree took a more definite form here Tuesday evening, as the smelt committees met in the City Hall to review their plans thus far.

Gayle Saxton, in charge of the street sports and contests, has a full program lined up. An added feature to this year's afternoon program will be an archery contest. Gayle also has a rolling pin throwing contest for women. This is only two of the new features.

The main attractions such as the coronation of the King of Smeltium, the Newaygo Bell spitting contest, the Smelter's Newt, and The Charge of the Night Brigade, will be held as usual.

The Pere Marquette Railway is again placing display cards of the Jamboree in their various large city stations, and in coaches on all their main line trains.

The Wildlife banquet Friday evening, March 29th, in the High School Gym, will be better than ever this year. The Latter Day Saints ladies are serving the banquet. The program is in charge of Jos. Bugaj, Geo. Secord, and C. H. McKinnon, and they are lining up a very full schedule. Besides the usual celebrities on hand for the occasion, there will also be more natural color motion pictures, plus some surprise features.

All in all, it looks like a bigger and better Jamboree on March 30th.

Temple Entertainment

Saturday only — Zane Grey's "Knights of the Range" with Jean Parker and Russell Hayden.

Sunday and Monday: Fred Astaire, Eleanor Powell, George Murphy and Frank Morgan in "Broadway Melody of 1940."

Tuesday and Wednesday: Family Nights: Jackie Cooper and Betty Field in "Seventeen" from Booth Tarkington's hilarious comedy of youth.

Thursday and Friday: Kay Kyser and his Orchestra, May Robson, Edward Everett Horton, Dennis O'Keefe and Adolph Menjou in "That's Right — You're Wrong."

Planning A Garden? Attend Next Meeting of our Garden Club

The March meeting of the Garden Club will be held at the City Building Tuesday afternoon, March 19th, at 2:30.

This meeting should be of interest to all ladies planning a garden. It is not too early to begin making your plans.

Roll Call — What different annuals do you expect to plant this year? Annuals — Mrs. M. B. Palmister. Experience with Annuals — Mrs. Eva Vitruva.

Garden Center — Esther Porter and Mary Glenna Malpass. All members expected to attend.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features-WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—Sam Houston Jones, the comparatively young David who toppled the Huey Long Goliath in Louisiana, is a corporation lawyer, representing 'High-Hat Sambo' 43 corporations, and says he is proud of it. He never took his coat off while he was campaigning, never talked swamp talk, kept his shoes shined, dishes good grammar and never tore his hair. Defeating Gov. Earl K. Long, brother of the Kingfish, in the run-off primary, he gets the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, which means election in Louisiana.

However, he fought like a wildcat, made a half dozen speeches a day, swarmed all over the state and developed a carefully organized state, parish and precinct organization. He is 42 years old, good looking, well-educated and convincing. He is a political newcomer, little known when the Kingfish called him "High-Hat Sambo." He replied that he had no high hat, but would not hesitate to get one if he needed it, and would dress as he pleased. So he did and he made them like it.

Born in a log cabin in the deep, piney woods of southwestern Louisiana, he worked in a sawmill until he was 17, with sketchy education. He entered the University of Louisiana, waited on table to help pay his way, went into the World War as a private, but never reached France, and returned to continue his education in a country law office. He has been on both sides of corporation law practice, winning the fight for the rice farmers against the millers, and has engaged in some stiff fights with public utilities. On several occasions he defended cases for labor organizations.

TROUBLED observers of world disaster, seeing no light or hope, might do well to compare Dorothy Canfield Fisher's children's crusade with the two children's crusades of the Thirteenth century. In the latter about 50,000 children went from France and Germany to fight the Saracens. Many thousands died and many others were captured and sold into slavery at Alexandria.

Something seems to have happened in the centuries between. Miss Fisher, the novelist, finds eager co-operation throughout the country as she launches a campaign to gather a penny a year from each of the 30,000,000 American school children for child refugees in all countries of the world, of all races and beliefs. The pledge will cover the entire life of the child. The fund, totaling $300,000 a year, will all go to the children, with private pledges covering the cost of administration.

Miss Fisher, author of about 25 books, including novels, educational and social studies, has been engaged in such humane enterprises all her adult life. During and after the World War, she spent three years in France in relief work. In 1934, she became chairman of the Advisory Conference of Jews and Christians to Oppose Race Prejudice and Religious Intolerance. Her unceasing battle has been against a standardized and materialized society.

A native of Lawrence, Kan., she could call herself Dr. Fisher, but never does. Her doctorate in philosophy came from Columbia university in 1904, after her graduation from Ohio State university. She probably wears more academic garlands than any other American woman, with honorary degrees from Middlebury college, Dartmouth, the University of Vermont, Ohio State, Northwestern and Williams.

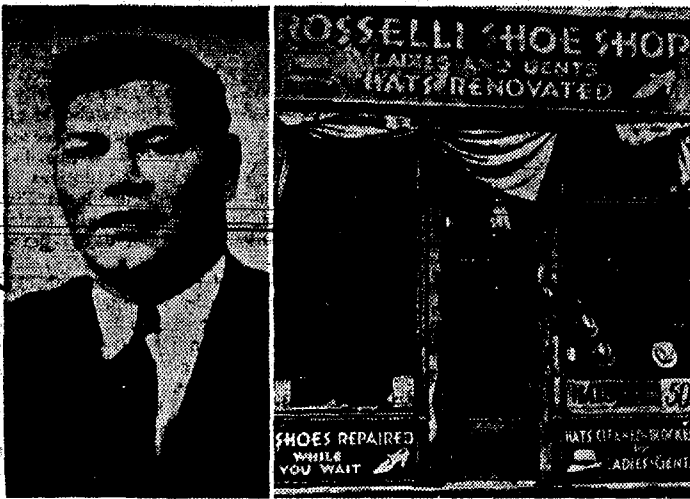

Her home is in Arlington, Vt. Noting that her crusade is much more humane and sensible than that of Etienne, the shepherd boy of Cloyes, who led the ragged, hungry children to crush the Saracens, one might also note the upsurge of "Snow White" and "Pinocchio" as revealing a new adult entente with the child world. Miss Fisher might do well to make Walt Disney one of the generals of her new crusade.

WHEN the writer was in Paris a few years ago, style bootleggers were moving through plots and stragatems as melodramatic as any spy business. It was an old story then. Currently, Lucien Le-long, the Judge Landis of the Paris dressmakers, pegs a new outbreak of the old established custom of sneaking a camera shot of a gown—perhaps bribing a delivery boy—and making the model a dime a dozen all over Europe before the buyer can wear it. That's just one device. There are dozens.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS BY JOSEPH W. LaBINE

Battle Over Income Questions Threatens Entire 1940 Census; In Europe; Peace Talk Revived

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union

SHOEMAKER ROSSELLI AND HIS COBBLING SHOP
"I'm answer census questions when they put polite."

CONGRESS:

Census Censure

From Washington to his Racine, Wis., office Census Director William Austin rushed a telegram:

"Withdraw Rosselli charges immediately. You have disregarded instructions that before taking legal action such cases must be submitted to Washington office for disposition. You will be held strictly responsible for this procedure..."

Thus was closed the latest in a series of eruptions which threaten to wreck Uncle Sam's 1940 decennial census. James Rosselli, a Kenosha, Wis., shoe repair man, had been handed a federal warrant for refusing to answer census questions about his business. The census taker also charged Shoemaker Rosselli had thrown him out. Answered Rosselli:

"I'm answer census questions when they put polite. Everyting can be explain. I walk out on him, yes. But I don't chase him."

Gaining steam at Washington was the fight of Sen. Charles Tobey (Rep., N. H.) to have personal income questions stricken from the 1940 nose count. Franklin Roosevelt had denounced it as "an obviously political move," and the census bureau was willing to let citizens refuse the question if they wished. But Senator Tobey was adamant. Said he: "The American people cry out, 'Hold! Enough!'... Those in authority will do well to face the issue..."

After several days of this, the senate commerce committee voted 10 to 5 to postpone temporarily its consideration of an anti-personal question resolution. Meanwhile Census Taker Austin wrung his hands, for his house-to-house canvass is to start April 2. Should congress continue to squabble, he knew not what would become of the decennial census.

Also in congress: Wagner Act. Twenty-one changes in the present act were recommended to the house by a special investigating committee, but defeat was predicted. Chief proposal: Divorcement of NLRB judicial and administrative functions.

'Clean Politics' Act. The senate killed a move to repeal the Hatch law's prohibition of political activity by federal employees, then began arguing a proposal to extend the act to state workers who get part of their pay from federal funds.

Agriculture. While the President signed legislation extending the farm mortgage moratorium, five Democratic senators introduced a bill to restore independence of the farm credit administration, recently placed under the department of agriculture.

TREND

How the wind is blowing...

RELIEF—Patterned after the successful surplus foods stamp plan, a cotton stamp plan for distributing clothing among relief families will be started this month in five or six cities.

AGRICULTURE—According to Chicago crop authorities, U. S. winter wheat prospects in early March showed "some improvement" over the December 1 condition thanks to better-than-normal winter moisture and snow protection against sub-zero weather.

ARMY—The war department announced surplus and "unstandard" munition supplies were being sold to neutral nations. Item: 90 six-inch World War guns stored at Aberdeen, Md., proving ground since the World War, were sold "as is" and "where is" to Brazil.

JEWRY—To prevent Arab uprisings, Britain restricted sale of Palestine land to Jews. When riots followed, Neville Chamberlain's government won its first wartime censure move in the house of commons. By 292 to 129, the house upheld the Palestine decree.

THE WARS:

Peace in the North?

Early March found Finland's warriors valiantly trying to save Viipuri from the invading Reds, who let off excess steam by "deliberately" bombing a hospital in south-central Finland. Biggest news of the Russo-Finnish war, however, was the effort all Europe seemed making to bring these belligerents to peace.

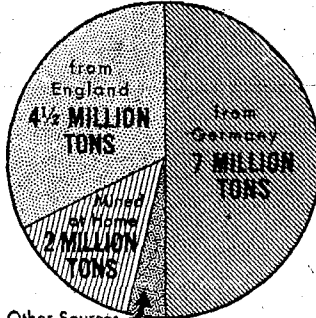

Background for this peace was the obvious fact that every European nation would gain by it. Scandinavia would gain by side-stepping the combined pressure of France, Britain, Germany, Russia and Finland. Russia would gain by turning her attention to a sorry domestic situation.

Knowing this, observers were not surprised when London, Berlin, Brussels, Paris and Stockholm began bustling with reports that Sweden was mediating, that the Russo-Finnish war might be called off at any moment.

Most likely terms: Surrender of the Karelian isthmus (including Viipuri), part of Lapland, Petsamo and the Hango naval base. As a "deadline" drew near, the Finns practically admitted such overtures had been made, yet there was small chance they would be accepted.

More War in the West?

For the moment, northern peace talk had no effect elsewhere. In what was a day of wild and woolly warfare for the western front, 20 Britons were captured by the Nazis.

A new wave of torpedos, bombings and mine expeditions cost the neutral Dutch 12 ships.

But Britain's foe-of-the-week was Italy, which protested furiously when the allies clamped an embargo on Italian coal imports from the Reich. Within 48 hours 18 Italian ships were hauled into British ports and their coal cargoes discharged. Rome threatened the situation would become serious unless Britain backed down, but there was no sign of this. Already getting more than a fourth of her coal from Britain (see chart) Italy seemed faced with the choice of declaring war (an improbability) or swapping her munitions and airplane motors for British coal.

Welles Mission

Completing the first half of his European fact-finding junket, U. S. Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles left Berlin, gathered his strength and his luggage in Lausanne, Switzerland, then headed for Paris. In Rome he had talked with a mild-mannered Benito Mussolini. In Berlin he had met a tough and determined Adolf Hitler.

Still on the calendar were two more visits. Mr. Welles was to fly from Paris to London, where Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain would probably restate his war aims. Principal aim: (Destruction of the Nazi rule.) Then Mr. Welles would return to Rome for more conversations with Il Duce before catching the Conte Di Savoia for home. Before he walks up the gangplank, observers thought Sumner Welles could not possibly avoid planting his foot in the potentially dangerous British-Italian coal squabble.

in the news...

GEN. GEORGE C. MARSHALL, U. S. army chief, was welcomed to Hawaii by a flight of 80 army planes. Embarrassing note: Two ships collided in mid-air, but pilots parachuted safely.

FRANK ASHTON-GWATKIN, Britisher, and CHARLES RIST, Frenchman, constituted a speciallised apple-polishing expedition to soothe U. S. anger over difficulties arising from the German blockade.

Biggest complaints: (1) censorship of U. S. mails; (2) taking U. S. ships into contraband control ports. Arriving in Washington, the delegation was closeted with Secretary of State CORDELL HULL.

MOST REV. SAMUEL A. STRITCH was enthroned new Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago.

POLAND:

Atrocity News

From three sources this month came news of trouble in Nazi-occupied Poland and Czecho-Slovakia:

(1) In Berlin it was revealed that deportation of Jews to the newly established state southeast of Lublin, in Poland, has been stopped because local administrators complained about lack of facilities. At the same time Berlin announced that time of worship in Polish Catholic churches was being limited because priests "misused divine services for political purposes..."

(2) In Paris, Poland-in-exile claimed that 136 Polish schoolboys had been executed at Bydgoszcz; that 6,000 men and women had been executed there up to December 31; that 350 Poles from Gdynia were shot after being forced to dig their graves.

(3) Paul Ghali, writing from Paris for the Chicago Daily News, had "authentic sources" for his information that Polish landowners have been dispossessed, and that Czech children must submit when little Germans in the same school bully and tease them.

RUMANIA:

Prayers

Keystone of Balkan security is Rumania's neutrality, often threatened the past six months by the economic tug-of-war being waged between Russia, Germany, France and Britain. Cognizant of this, Pope Pius prayed in early March that Rumania might be preserved "from the scourge of war." What happened in the next three days made no sense, but it did indicate that Rumania was also praying:

First day: Rumania was reported rushing a little Maginot line along her Bessarabian border fronting Russia.

Second day: It was announced by Russia that Soviet Premier Vicheslav Molotov will soon visit Bucharest to initial a non-aggression pact. This was a shocker, for Russia has made no secret of her designs on Bessarabia.

Third day: King Carol opened his parliament, promising to maintain a permanent 1,600,000-man army regardless of cost.

Adding it up, observers wondered if King Carol might not at last be withering under pressure from all sides.

POLITICS:

Biggest Barrage

For months Franklin Roosevelt has parried third-term questions. But each parry is more difficult for each press conference brings more definite questions. In early March the President returned from his Caribbean vacation to face the biggest barrage yet. Only the day before his name had been entered in Pennsylvania's Democratic primary and correspondents were hungry for a comment. But they got nothing except his remark that all third-term rumors fell into one of the four newspaper categories suggested by Thomas Jefferson: (1) news; (2) probabilities; (3) possibilities; (4) lies.

Nobody knew into which of these categories the latest rumor fell, but it bore authentic earmarks. Out of Washington came reports that Franklin Roosevelt feud with John Nance Garner would burst into flames before Illinois' April 9 primary, first crucial Roosevelt-Garner contest support. Somehow, the wisecracks learned Mr. Roosevelt will plump this month for a New Dealish presidential slate, thus forcing an answer from the sphynx-like Mr. Garner.

Advocates of Public Ownership Make Real Bid for Their Plan

Group of Government Officials and Other Interested Individuals Mix 'Movement' Into National Affairs and Politics.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART
WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—Behind the thick veil of official secrecy, a thoroughly active group of individuals is developing a broad plan of public ownership. It is using the established machinery of government and it is mixing into national politics to an amazing extent.

We, here in Washington, have heard recurring and increasing rumors of late that a new public ownership drive was contemplated by the extreme radicals nesting in the New Deal henhouse. It was a situation, however, where few details were obtainable. The leaders were making use of the veil of official secrecy that always is available for use by those supposed to be servants of the public. Suddenly, however, the magnitude of the movement became discernible. Its scope is astounding. It strikes me that it is a situation that contains elements of greater danger than did the infamous plan to pack the Supreme court of the United States.

Exposure of the group's intense effort came largely through stupidity of some of its members. Proof of the underlying motives came in the form of a sudden and slimy attack on John W. Hanes, former undersecretary of the treasury. Mr. Hanes was slated to become trustee of the gigantic, but bankrupt octopus, the Associated Gas and Electric company. Mr. Hanes has not been named as trustee, although his official record has not a blemish on it so far as has been found. Instead, Dr. Willard Thorp, economic adviser to Secretary Hopkins, of the department of commerce; Denis J. Driscoll, chairman of the Pennsylvania Public Utilities commission; and Walter H. Pollak, New York lawyer, were named.

Billion-Dollar Utility Property Was to Be 'Proving Ground'

The public ownership group wanted to swing the trusteeship for this billion-dollar utility into the hands of the Securities and Exchange commission, as might be done under the SEC law. They proposed to use this great property, so badly muddled up, as proving ground for their public ownership ideals. It was contemplated that the Associated properties eventually would be welded into TVA, and a great north-and-south system under government ownership would have become a fact.

To accomplish this program, however, it was necessary to dispose of Mr. Hanes, who favors private ownership in industry and who wants to see America retain its fundamental traditions. In due course, we were treated to publication of the views of Senator Norris of Nebraska, who was the father of TVA. I doubt very much that the aged Nebraskan knew that he was being used in the fashion that was the case. But the scheme worked and the Norris' criticism that Mr. Hanes had been a stock broker smeared the former treasury official who had done more to prevent New Deal financial mistakes than most of the others.

The attack on Mr. Hanes, however, failed to get the trusteeship into the hands of the Securities and Exchange commission. The schemers failed to cover up their tracks. But, while they failed on one track, Public Ownership?

A group of government officials in Washington are strong advocates of an extensive plan of public ownership, according to William Bruckart. And he believes that these officials are using the cloak of government secrecy to formulate their plans. The plans have only recently come to light because of attempts to smear John W. Hanes, former undersecretary of treasury.

they did succeed in getting the gravy of trustee fees for men of their own choosing—Thorp, Driscoll and Pollak. Dr. Thorp's beliefs were so contrary to sound views that only a few years ago the senate refused to confirm his nomination as assistant secretary of commerce. Mr. Driscoll's affiliations in Pennsylvania show how he has been linked consistently with nearly every wild-eyed proposal that had New Deal ownership. He was licked for re-election to congress a term or two ago and became a lame duck appointee to the Pennsylvania commission by the then Governor George H. Earle. So, while it is accepted that the gravy is important, it was much more important that the trustees should think right, according to radical lights.

Third Term for President Was in Political Strategy

Such is the picture of how the public ownership crowd operates. That picture fails, however, to disclose what is going on beneath the surface. Here is that story:

The strategy to be used, politically, contemplates that support of the payrollers, who seek to nominate President Roosevelt for a third term, shall be had for the public ownership theories in return for support of the third term program. A good political horse-trade. It is good because the public ownership segment figures that an apparent national political party endorsement will be available, or folks will be induced to believe there is such an endorsement. My information is that the public ownership crowd is counting on a repetition of conditions in 1932, when, it will be recalled, Mr. Roosevelt's political wings covered 57 varieties of political thought and theory.

Important members of the Washington group that heads up the public ownership group are placed in nearly every department of the government. They are in key positions. Whether they are influencing national policies is a question I cannot answer, but I can say they are in a position to use such influence very effectively. A decision here and a ruling there could be of vast help to such a program without there being any visible connections.

Then, as to rumors, again. We hear a great deal of gossip about some members of the Supreme court serving as advisers to less experienced agitators in the executive branch of the government. I repeat that I do not know whether these stories are true. There have been many signs indicating that frequent conferences take place, and no one denies that close ties of friendship exist between several of newer Supreme court justices and their proteges in Washington's downtown section. The rumors, therefore, are very disturbing to those of us with the old fashioned idea that the Supreme court should be an agency to serve the people in a judicial capacity and that its members should confine their activities to that field.

Advocates of Public Ownership Are on Government Payroll

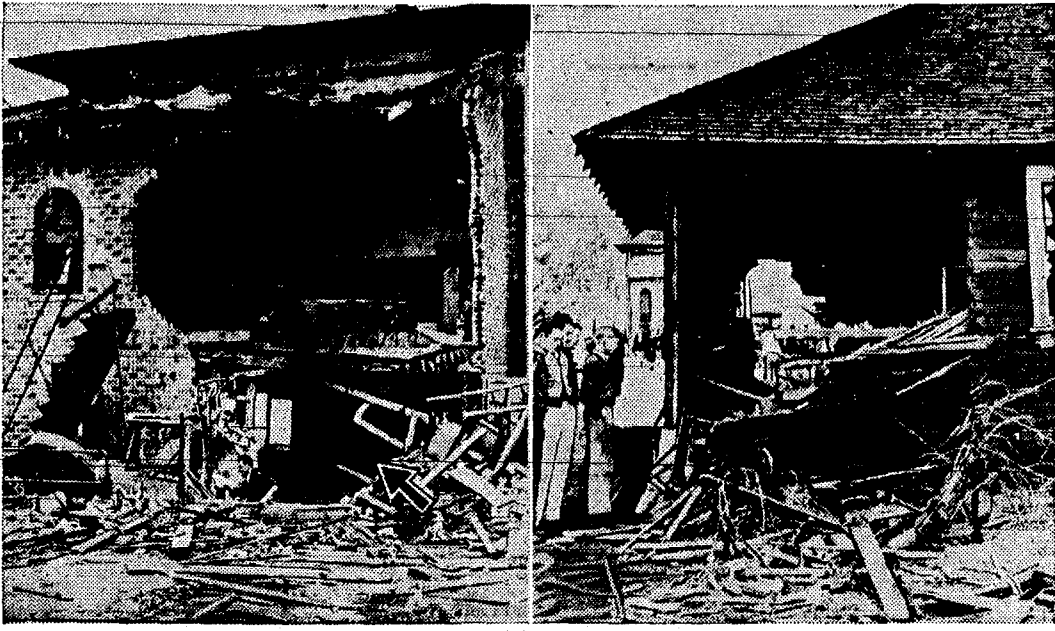

The general situation becomes all the more threatening, in my opinion, when it is known that there have been numerous advocates of wholesale government management of private industry operating on the government payroll. Some of them have taken the position that the way to obtain government ownership of private industry is to get industry so far into debt that the federal government would have to assume control. That is to say, only the federal government would have sufficient credit and borrowing power to pay off the debt.

As I said earlier, many details of the snakelike operations of this gang remain in deepest secrecy. Some facts have leaked out, however, that cause shivers to run up and down my spine. The thing that none of us here know about, definitely, is whether Mr. Roosevelt has been persuaded to adopt the program. Some of my informants assure me that it does not matter whether Mr. Roosevelt even knows about the plan, because its tentacles extend like those of a jellyfish into many hidden places. In other words, a few of the cocky leaders believe the movement has grown so large that it is beyond the President's control.

I recall that, in 1934, the public ownership group was determined to take over the nation's railroads. They had a bill drawn by which the rail lines would be bought for $13,400,000,000, that being the amount of the outstanding bonds of the companies.

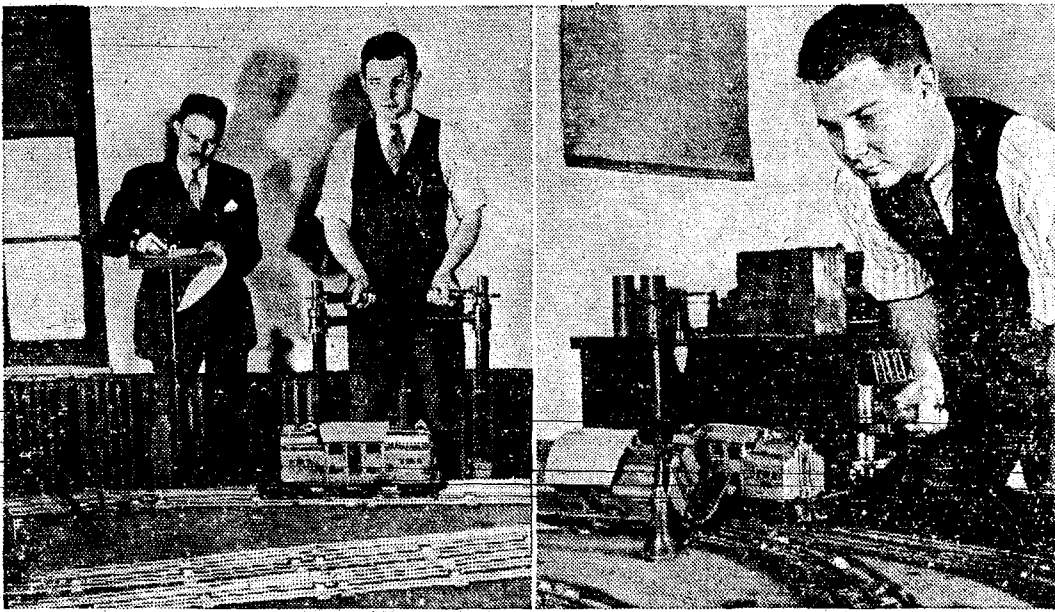

At that time, there was talk also of nationalizing the coal mines and the oil wells. But Mr. Roosevelt put his foot down on the idea. He did yield numerous concessions in the direction of cutting deeper gashes into private management, but stayed away from the fatal step.

Death Misses Classroom Mark by One Hour's Time

Death was cheated by one hour's time recently when a water heater exploded in the Ripon junior high school at Modesto, Calif. The heater blew up at 6:55 in the morning and ripped out a whole corner of the athletic building, left. It sailed 150 feet through the air and was projected through the agricultural building, right, piercing both walls of the structure like a giant cannon ball. It sailed another 150 feet before burying itself in the ground. There were no casualties as classes were not scheduled to gather until one hour later.

Model Railway Helps Make Cleveland 'Safest City'

A model railway, in use for the past 10 years, is used to test all applicants for motorman's jobs on the Cleveland, Ohio, street railway. The model railway is an exact replica of conditions the men will face on the city's streets. Left: A test is made of Applicant William Murray's reaction. Right: According to the scoreboard, Murray used "poor judgment" in permitting this "crash." Authorities claim the job test has made Cleveland's streets the safest in the country.

Sol Bloom, committee chairman, holds a paper as Hoover makes notes.

PATTERN DEPARTMENT

SEWING CIRCLE

Easy to make, to put on and to iron, this pattern is just as useful and practical, in both its guises, as it is charming. For the wintry weather remaining, make it up in challis or flannel. For Spring it will be adorable in chintz, gingham or percale. It's really a style she'll enjoy the year-round.

Pattern No. 8633 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2 1/2 yards of 39-inch material in frock length, with short sleeves; 3 1/2 yards in housecoat length with long sleeves; 3 3/4 yards with short sleeves without nap; 1 1/2 yards trimming.

MUCH INTEREST IN FORESTRY

At the four forestry meetings held last week throughout the county an unusually large number of people attended and through the questions asked and order blanks for trees obtained, there is no doubt but that an unusually large number of forest trees will be set out this year. Increased interest has been manifested yearly since the work was initiated two years ago into our schools in the form of 4-H Forest Planting Clubs. At the present time, six schools in Antrim County, Bellaire, Alba, Mancelona, Central Lake, Ellsworth and Elk Rapids have school forests. Others will be added as land is secured. Reports from the State nurseries indicates that a total of 87,700 seedlings were planted last year in the county.

Through the impetus given the planting program through the added $30 payment that can be earned this year by any farmer, many more thousands of trees will be planted during the coming spring. The recent action of the County Road Commission in offering to buy upwards of 10,000 transplant seedlings to be furnished farmers for planting along county highways upon which snow removal is being carried out has also helped. Applications for these seedlings are being received daily at the office of the County Agr'l Agent. Anyone interested in this should make application at once as no more trees will be available for this purpose after the supply is exhausted.

An Outstanding Cage Aggregation

E. J. H. S. COP REGIONAL MEET. AT MIDLAND THIS THURSDAY

Coach Abe Cohn's Crimson Wave high school cage aggregation brought to East Jordan still further basketball honors by copping the regional Class C crown, for the first time in the history of the school, at Petoskey Friday and Saturday of last week.

In carrying off the title with victories over Lake City 27 to 13 Friday evening, and over Gaylord 17 to 7 in the finals Saturday evening, the Jordanites still remain in the running for the state championship along with seven other schools, they are: Remus, Keego Harbor, Williamston, Cedar Springs, Bridgeman, Wyandotte, St. Patrick, and Saginaw Sts. Peter and Paul.

The Cohnmen are scheduled to meet Remus Thursday evening at 7:15 in the Midland High School gym. Traverse City in Class B and Alpena St. Anne in Class D were the other Regional survivors at Petoskey.

As the Jordanites took to the court Friday evening, the largest delegation of local supporters ever to follow its team was on hand.

Lake City furnished very little opposition for the advancing Crimson, who piled up a long lead during the first three periods of play. With a 25 to 7 lead at the close of the third stanza, an entire new combination replaced the starting quintet for the Jordanites. Those who saw action Friday evening were: Woodcock, V. Gee, Isaman, Crowell, Antoine, D. Gee, Dolezel, Hammond, Hayner and Sturgell. Bulow, senior forward, was not

RE A BULLETIN BOARD

FINE MEETING AT MARION CENTER

Friday, March 1st, the writer had the privilege to meet with the Tri-County farm bureau at their annual meeting in the Marion Center Grange Hall.

The spirit of the co-op was sure displayed, as the hall was filled to overflowing. It shows the splendid attitude the members have toward the Farm Bureau co-op, and hope they feel the same about their REA co-op, of which we think they do.

We want to thank the speakers, the ladies that got the very fine meal of oysters and hot dogs. And let's not forget our very good song leader, Mrs. Chas. Masco.

Again we want to thank the members for everything, and let's keep up that good old co-operative spirit.

ELECTRICITY SAVES FARM HOME

On Friday evening, February 16, Arthur Pettifore, a very prosperous farmer of ours, was wired and connected to the REA line and with very good judgement had installed an electric pump. Sunday evening, February 18, just two days later, his home caught fire from an overheated chimney and had quite a start on the roof before it was noticed. By the help of his brother, Walter, and sisters and the new electric pump, that started with a press of a button, he saved his house. Mr. Pettifore states that if it had not been for the electric pump his house would have burned to the ground. Electricity pays? Ask Art.

URGES $100,000,000 FOR FARM POWER

An appropriation of at least one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000) will be asked for rural electrification at the present session of Congress, Rep. John E. Rankin of Mississippi, leader of the public power bloc in the House and co-author of the TVA act, announced shortly before the session opened.

"Rural electrification is doing more for the farmers of America than anything else this Government has ever undertaken," Mr. Rankin said. "More miles of rural power lines have been built, and more farm homes electrified in the last 5 years than in all the history of the country up to that time. We are still far behind, and it will take at least one hundred million dollars to keep the program going for another year."

"This money will all be paid back with interest, and it will add untold millions to the wealth of the Nation, and say nothing of the comforts and conveniences it will provide for the people living in the rural districts."

"This program must go forward until we place electricity in reach of every farm home in America, at reasonable rates."

Gaylord, by winning a 29 to 27 overtime thriller over Frankfort Thursday evening had earned the right to meet the winner of the Lake City - East Jordan tilt in the finals Saturday evening.

Crowell was high with 11, followed by Isaman with 10 points for the Jordanites. Jankovick counted thrice near the end of the fracas and as a result was high man for the losers with eight, having previously made good his two attempts from the foul line earlier in the contest.

GAYLORD GAME

In a game which featured close defensive play, East Jordan's Red and Black trounced Gaylord 17 to 7 before a record crowd of 2,584 spectators.

So close was the defensive play that neither aggregation was able to count a single field goal during the first half, East Jordan leading 2 to 1 at the quarter and 3 to 1 at the intermission. The Crimson tallied 4 points to 3 for Gaylord in the third quarter but made a run away of things in the final stanza with 10 points.

Isaman made 5 points to lead the scoring of the winners with Crowell and V. Gee picking up 4 each. Glasser with 3 Lovelace 2, and Mathews 2 compiled the scoring of the losers. Antoine was the spark plug of the local machine throughout the tourney. Bulow got back into action some Saturday night and will be ready to go this week end as the Jordanites make their drive toward the championship. Woodcock, replacing Bulow in the starting lineup, also performed creditably both nights.

C. H. (He calls 'em close) Nickel of Alabaster, G. W. Tabraham of Cadillac, and D. E. Bates of Harbor Springs were the officials, all turning in excellent jobs throughout the tourney.

Traverse City beat Manistee 37 to 12 in the Class B finals. St. Anne of Alpena upset Onekama 40 to 33 in the Class D finals.

East Jordan is to be congratulated for following its team on such large numbers. More power to you Mr. Cohn and your gallant boys, who have come back after losing a couple early season games, to establish themselves as one of the outstanding cage aggregations in the North.

Seventh Anniversary of Farm Program Observed In Charlevoix County

The seventh anniversary of the National Farm Program, was observed in Charlevoix County, Friday evening, March 8, at the Barnard Grange Hall. This meeting was sponsored by the Junior Farm Bureau, and was attended by 87 persons. Numerous counties throughout the United States held similar meetings to commemorate the date of March 8, 1933, as the beginning of a new era for the American farmers, derived through the benefits of the Soil Conservation Program.

Following the splendid dinner served by the ladies of the Barnard Grange, a most attractive program was introduced by Mrs. Hazel Murray, which consisted of a variety of music and other entertainment. A very clever play was presented by various members of the Grange. Music was furnished between acts by William Parsons and the Lyon brothers.

The radio broadcast from Washington was tuned in at 10:00 o'clock for the purpose of hearing President Roosevelt, Secretary Wallace and Postmaster General Farley, address the farmers in observance of the anniversary of their Farm Program. Norrine L. Porter, Sec'y, Charlevoix County ACA.

TALBOT MUNDY—WNU SERVICE

THE STORY THUS FAR

Captain Carl Norwood has been sent from his native England to the Kadir River district in India, along with his indispensable manservant, Moses O'Leary...

Norwood laughed. "Not about, but abed. It's late. However, let's hear Rundhia."

"Yes, please sing," Lynn knew she hadn't even scratched the surface of Norwood's humor.

Rundhia smiled and plucked a chord or two: "Ever hear this one?" He sang beautifully.

Norwood interrupted: "Damn that stuff, Rundhia! Sing something decent."

Rundhia passed him the guitar. He thought he had him at a disadvantage.

"You sing," he answered. "Perhaps you know something for good little boys and girls."

Norwood surprised both of them. He took the guitar and changed the tuning, struck some chords at random...

He had a fine voice, baritone, and he could whistle the chorus instead of repeating familiar words.

"As usual, the Army roars its slogans to the sky," said Rundhia. "I can imagine you in love with a Burmese woman, Norwood."

"And miss this?" Norwood answered. He was looking at Lynn.

He offered Lynn his arm and she was too astonished to refuse.

"The Maharane is a dotard on Rundhia. You can't depend on her for that reason."

"Oh, you can't guess—" "Yes, I know. I was an orphan."

"I was raised on stupid discipline and fossilized injustice—Oh, hello, Rundhia, you there? Thought you'd stayed behind to pray or something."

Rundhia was grinding his teeth. He didn't answer.

"When will you show me the treasure room?" "When we're alone," Rundhia answered.

"You mean the others were plundered?" Lynn asked. "Pawnd," said Norwood.

"After that they walked in silence to the palace front door." "Good night," said Rundhia pointedly.

Norwood smiled. "I'll ask you to be kind enough to see me to the gate, Rundhia. The guard let me out once tonight."

"Is that a conundrum? No, why?" "Because good-looking Indian men would be ashamed of 'emselves if they couldn't make Casanova look like a mere amateur."

"Are you being rude?" Rundhia came to her aid: "Excuse him, Lynn! Soldiers told their tents and leave their girls behind them."

Lynn stood at bay on the palace steps. It was on the tip of her tongue to insult Norwood so thoroughly that he would never presume to speak to her again.

But she glanced from one man to the other and changed her mind.

"How about a stroll as far as the guesthouse to find out how your aunt is?" Rundhia suggested.

"Thanks, no. There's a phone in my bedroom. I will use that. Good night. Good night, Captain Norwood."

CHAPTER VI

Norwood changed into khaki and followed O'Leary's lantern. O'Leary was nervous, talkative, deliberately disrespectful.

"Someone," said O'Leary, "must have overheard us talking near the palace gate. I was followed to camp."

"Shut up." "All right, strafe me! That's the Army for you. I'm not Army. I'm an underpaid civilian supernumerary."

O'Leary resumed his discourse: "Then believe this—white you was performing an officer's job with a banjo and a beauty, I sat thirsty by the camp-fire, so the smoke 'ud keep the skeeters off me, hoping for one of my spies to show up."

"Gave you money?" "Not one anna! He wanted to know your price to side with the priests against the Maharajah."

"What did you tell him?" "Nothing." "What did you do?" "He was gone too quick. I missed him with the new iron skillet what the cook had stuck to clean itself among the embers."

"Not now on, I eat nothing. Even whiskey ain't safe. They can drill and plug the bottle; but it kills more comforting than ground glass or bamboo fiber."

"Wait here," said Norwood. O'Leary picked up a stick. He shadowed Norwood along the footpath, until Norwood peered beneath the waterfall.

"Look out!" yelled O'Leary. Norwood jumped. A living cobra, flung by an unseen hand, struck his face—fell writhing—struck—missed. Norwood almost fell into the pool beneath the waterfall, but O'Leary crashed him, shoved, almost fell in, too, but scrambled—regained his footing—attacked the cobra—beat it with the long stick, slew it.

"Now are you satisfied? Lied to you, did I? Going on in through the hole, or acting sensible? Want to know how it feels to be pitched in the dark down a diamond mine?"

"Back to camp," said Norwood. "Thank you, I'll take whiskey! Watch your step, and watch your Uncle Moses. If I signal, don't call me a liar, duck quick!"

As foster-mother, Aunt Deborah Harding had neglected no detail of Lynn's social education.

One of the Maharajah's thoroughbreds, in the early morning cool, she looked worthy of the splendid animal that she controlled with no visible effort.

Lynn seemed to have forgotten the previous night's disagreement. She appeared glad to see Norwood: "What are you doing up so early?"

"The sight of you on horseback is better than sleep," he answered. "I had dreams about you."

"Come along for a gallop." "Can't. Sorry." Looking at Lynn's eyes, thinking about Rundhia, Norwood spoke unguardedly: "My man is signalling—some people waiting for me near the waterfall. I must go. I will call as soon as I can."

"Should I introduce you?" she suggested, laughing. Norwood saluted her, wheeled his horse, and rode away, not looking backward.

O'Leary met him by the river, full of self-importance: "You should send me to Geneva! I'm a diplomat. They're waiting. If you're nice, and no one's looking they may let you see the mine. I convinced 'em that all you're here for is to blow the government's nose. It needs blowing. I told 'em, on account of some sneak squealing on 'em that their mine isn't safe for laborers, and you're here to muzzle the talk."

"I would like to muzzle you," said Norwood. "Same as it says in the Bible about muzzling the ox that grinds your corn," O'Leary answered.

"I get you! Smell a rat—just smell him and I'll catch him. This isn't much money." "It's all you're going to get."

"One of these days," said O'Leary, "I'm going to hire a secretary and take a chance with the Official Secrets Act and dictate my mem-oils. Page one, I'll tell 'em the Intelligence is run by cheap 'uns. They'd make a Scotchman feel like multiplying loaves and fishes, free for nothing!"

Norwood rode alone along the river bank until the path grew narrow near the waterfall and he could no longer see the huge bulk of the temple, nor even the city wall that followed the curve of the river beyond the dam.

There were four men seated near the ledge on which Norwood had nearly lost his life the night before. They stood up, greeting him respectfully. They were Brahmans but not priests; they looked like responsible men of affairs who might, perhaps, be trusted with the financial details of some of the temple business.

He reported having glimpsed an open opit surrounded by those outlying buildings near the temple area. It's an open secret that the priests have been working a diamond mine for centuries. We have heard the mine is dangerous. I want a secret look at it. Perhaps I can advise you how to make it safe.

One of the Brahmans looked a lot too pleased. One of them, pushing past him, slipped a tiny black paper envelope into Norwood's left-hand tunic pocket. He apologized for having brushed against him. Norwood had hardly noticed that he did.

The four held a whispered consultation. Then their spokesman said, in excellent English, but with a trace too much sisk in his voice: "We appreciate your honor's courtesies. But we are intermediaries, on whom it is incumbent to convey the message to the proper quarter. It shall doubtless have immediate consideration." He paused, then added, as if choosing an innocuous polite phrase: "We know well that your honor's report will have great weight. We hope that your honor's judgment may not be influenced by worthless arguments."

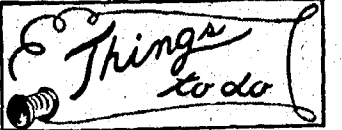

Back in camp, Norwood sat under the tent awning to have his boots polished by his servant, while he gave orders for the day.

"Sergeant Stoddard," he said suddenly. "There's a middle-aged lady in the Maharajah's guesthouse who had a rather bad spill yesterday. Bruises. Perhaps abrasions. Might be complications if she isn't careful. A Bengali doctor is attending her, and you can't always depend on those fellows to use fresh antiseptic."

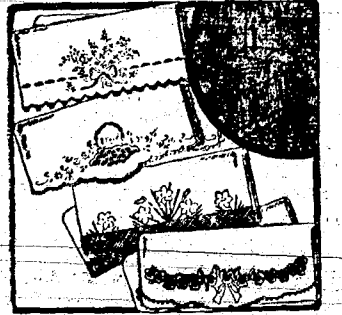

"I'd be awful sick, before I'd let one of 'em dose me, sir."

"Well, before you go down to the river, take a look in my medicine chest. You'll find a new two-ounce bottle of iodine. I think I'll take it to her. Wrap it up so that it won't break. I'm going to see the Resident."

Labor Organizations Had Early-Day Origin

In reviewing the history of labor unions the Americana points out that organizations of laborers have existed from time immemorial and that the guilds of the Middle ages were exclusive and monopolistic, caring nothing for other workers. This form appeared among the shoemakers of Massachusetts in 1648, organized mainly to control interior workmen. Similar organizations in other industries were always local and more or less temporary. The birth of the modern trade union movement may be assigned to the closing years of the Eighteenth century, though it never attained the dignity of a movement until the Nineteenth century was well under way. Famous First Facts gives 1792 as the date for the first local craft union, that of Philadelphia shoemakers. The labor movement grew out of the industrial revolution which brought about a change in the manner and means of production, and so caused a wider separation between master and journeyman. The Americana states that trade unionism reached the "coming out" stage with the organization of the Mechanics Union of Trade Associations at Philadelphia in 1827. Modern trade unionism in Europe began with the industrial revolution in Great Britain during the Eighteenth century. The American Federation of Labor in August, 1937, claimed a membership of 3,271,728 and the Committee for Industrial Organization in September, 1937, estimated a membership of 3,718,000 in 32 unions; we find no estimate of membership in independent unions. The oldest known sitdown strike has been traced back to 1585, when journeymen bakers in Lyons, France, struck. The first American sitdown strike is reported to be that of 3,000 General Electric company workers at Schenectady, N. Y., in December, 1906. More recently it was revived first in Akron, Ohio, in 1934. Europe Uses Most Fertilizer Consumption of fertilizer in the United States is at the rate of five pounds per acre per farm. Nations of Europe rank far ahead of this country in fertilizer use. Holland uses 99 pounds of chemical plant food per acre annually, Belgium 80 and Germany 67. Then come Denmark with 40, Norway with 29 and Sweden with 22 pounds. France uses 21 pounds per acre, Italy 17 and Great Britain 12.

Just why left-overs should be considered the problem children of the kitchen, is a mystery to me! They're a challenge to one's housewifely imagination, of course, but cleverly combined and judiciously seasoned, they may become a distinguished dish, around which to build an attractive and satisfying meal.

If they're served as left-overs there's nothing particularly inspiring about the little dabs of vegetables that accumulate in the refrigerator. But when they're seasoned with care, combined in a smooth, creamy cheese sauce, and served in an unusual bread ring, they become a totally new, delicious and nourishing main dish for a meal. Left-over vegetables combine, too, to create "vegetables a la king," or a hearty lunch or supper salad.

Odds and ends of vegetables and meat unite to make a meat loaf of distinction, and scraps of Sunday's roast can be used to advantage in tasty appetizers or "buffet supper rolls."

Even the bits of yesterday's cake and pie contribute to the success of today's dinner. Not-so-fresh cake, served with a hot sauce, becomes cottage pudding; from dry cake slices, dried or candied fruit, and a custard, a cabinet pudding is evolved; and that quarter of berry pie left over from last night's dinner is the basis of a truly delicious "Cinderella Dessert."

Left-overs are time and budget savers—much too important to be merely heated and served as "scraps." Use them wisely and well to add variety to meals, to save time, and to cut food costs.

Surprise Frankfurters.

(Serves 5-6)

- 2 1/2 cups mashed potato
- 1 egg (beaten)
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 tablespoon parsley (minced)
- 6 to 7 cold, cooked frankfurters
- 1/2 cup bread crumbs

Combine the mashed potatoes with the beaten egg and the seasoning. Cover each frankfurter with the potato mixture, forming a "blanket" about 1/4-inch thick. Roll in crumbs. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for 20-25 minutes, or fry in deep fat (390 degrees) until golden brown.

Biscuit Meat Loaf.

(Serves 4-5)

- 1 cup carrots (chopped)
- 1/2 cup celery (chopped)
- 1/2 cup green pepper (chopped)
- 2 tablespoons onion (chopped)
- 2 cups left-over beef roast (ground)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 recipe biscuit dough

Combine the vegetables, put through meat grinder and cook in 3/4 cup water until the vegetables are tender. Drain. Combine with meat, add seasonings, and form into a roll. Cover with biscuit dough and place in a shallow, greased pan. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) for 20-25 minutes. Serve hot, with left-over gravy.

Vegetable and Egg Croquettes.

- 1 cup mashed potatoes (left over)
 - 1 cup peas
 - 1 tablespoon onion (finely cut)
 - 3 eggs (hard cooked and finely cut)
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - Dash pepper
 - 1/4 cup butter (melted)
- Combine the potatoes, peas, onion, eggs, salt and pepper and shape into croquettes. Arrange in shallow baking dish and brush with melted butter. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) for 15 minutes.

Buffet Supper Rolls.

Put left-over meat or fowl through the meat grinder, twice. Moisten with a little gravy, to spreading consistency. Make a batch of biscuit dough, and roll out to 1/4-inch thick.

ness. Spread the meat on this and roll up like a jelly roll, to about 1 inch in diameter. Cut in 3-inch lengths. Place the rolls in a greased baking pan and bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) for 15-18 minutes.

- ### Sauce for Croquettes.
- 1/2 teaspoon brown sugar
 - 2 slices onion (finely cut)
 - 1/4 cup butter
 - 1/2 cup flour
 - 1 cup milk
 - 1 cup bouillon stock
 - 1 tablespoon raisins

Melt brown sugar in a skillet. Add onion and butter and cook until onion is slightly browned. Add flour and blend thoroughly. Add milk and bouillon stock and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Add raisins and serve with the croquettes.

Vegetables a la King.

(Serves 6)

- 6 slices bacon
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup mushrooms (canned or fresh)
- 3 cups milk
- 1/4 cup green pepper (chopped)
- 1/4 cup pimiento (chopped)
- 1 cup celery (chopped)
- 2 cups whole kernel corn

Cut bacon in small pieces, and cook until crisp. Stir in the flour, salt, and pepper, and blend well. Add mushrooms. Gradually add the milk, stirring constantly. Fold in remaining vegetables, and cook for 15 minutes over low heat, stirring frequently. Serve on buttered toast.

Cinderella Dessert.

With a fork, break up left-over pie or cake. Place in a buttered baking dish. Top with fruit (fresh, canned, or stewed), and add sugar if desired. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for 25-30 minutes. Serve with custard sauce.

Left-Over Dinner Ring.

- 8 cups soft bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup fat (melted)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons onion (minced)
- 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 4 eggs (slightly beaten)
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 cup peanuts (chopped)

Combine ingredients in order listed. Pack into a well-greased ring mold and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for about 30 minutes. Turn out onto large platter. Combine left-over vegetables in a cheese sauce and serve on the ring mold.

Of Course You Want a Copy of 'Household Hints'!

In spring a home maker's fancy turns to thoughts of crisp curtains, and clean, sparkling windows, rugs that are fresh and bright, and walls that aren't ashamed to face the light of a sunny day! That means housecleaning, of course, and all the odd jobs that go with it—what to do to make the dining room curtains last one more season, how to renovate the kitchen linoleum; or how to wash chintz window shades. You'll find the answers and other puzzling questions, in Eleanor Howe's useful booklet "Household Hints." To get it, just send 10 cents in coin to "Household Hints," care of Eleanor Howe, 919 N. IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

CALVARY: TRIUMPH THROUGH SACRIFICE

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 27:33-50.
GOLDEN TEXT—He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief.—Isaiah 53:3.

At Calvary, reverent and thoughtful readers of God's Word stand speechless, and confess themselves to be powerless to explain or to expound the awe-inspiring story, and yet just because it is such a story, because on that cross the divine Son of God gave Himself in sacrificial atonement for sin, we must do our utmost to understand it, to explain it, and certainly to declare it to all mankind. For when He who knew no sin became sin for us, it was for our sin that He died. Here alone do we find redemption.

We approach this scene therefore with reverence, and with the prayer that we may so present the dying Saviour to dying men that some may believe and be saved. We center our thoughts around three expressions taken from the text.

I. "They Crucified Him."

All of the gospel stories are remarkably reticent when they speak of the cross. Details of surrounding events are given, but when they speak of the cross itself, they can only say that He was crucified. Let us look at the One who hung on that sacred tree, for He is the Saviour of the world. Refusing the stupefying potion (v. 34) and facing death fully conscious, we hear Him crying out of the darkness which covered all the land, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" That cry indicates the depth to which our Saviour went for us.

Does it not seem that the Father in that darkest moment of history turned His back upon the One who knowing no sin Himself had become sin for us? And yet we know that it was God who hung upon the tree, God the Son. Here is divine mystery, the meaning of which we cannot fathom, but we know that it was for us.

Then came the cry with the loud voice, "It is finished!" This was not the death of the languishing martyr. The Son of God, having wrought out redemption on the cross, cried out in powerful tones of victory, "It is finished!" and yielded up His spirit.

II. "They Watched Him."

Soldiers, priests, the two thieves, the women—how different was the purpose and the spirit of their watching. The soldiers had made sport of Him and mocked Him in the palace. They took a passing curious interest in the crucifixion. They gambled over His garments, and finally settled down to perform their duty as guards with stolid indifference. How much of humanity is just like that!

The priests who professed to know about God and His Word stand out in appalling wickedness and ignorance. Being members of the highest and noblest of callings, they fell when they sinned to the lowest depths.

Of the two thieves, one believed and the other railed at our Lord (Luke 23:39, 40). The cross has ever since been the dividing line, part of humanity turning there to life eternal, the rest going on its railing way to destruction.

The women waited. No doubt they were perplexed and troubled in heart, but they stood faithfully by until His precious body was in the grave. We read of no apostle who did as much, and we give all honor to the faithful women.

III. "He Trusted in God."

This was the sarcastic taunt of the priests. "When the King was hanging upon the cross and the interpreters of religion, the priests, misinterpreted God, there was a great silence. God's noninterference is the first thing that impresses one as the story is read, but that is not all the story. It was, not wholly noninterference. 'From the sixth hour there was darkness over all the land until the ninth hour.' That seems to have been the act of God. It would seem that in infinite tenderness God wrapped the land in darkness in the hour of His Son's supreme suffering" (G. Campbell Morgan). We also read in verse 51 that the veil of the temple was torn from top to bottom, opening the way for all men in Christ to enter the Holy of Holies.

"He trusted God." Yes, even to the sacrifice of Himself in death. Because He could not save Himself (v. 42) in thus doing the will of God the Father, He did save others. The scoffing priests told the truth in spite of their wicked purpose to falsify. "They crucified Him," "they watched Him," but "He trusted God" and became the Saviour of the world.

Plain Twills, Checks, Plaids Are 'Top' Wools for Your Suit

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

AS A starter to the new spring wardrobe one can make no better move than to invest in a stunning suit tailored of the perfectly gorgeous wools that are bringing glory to the fabric realm this season.

Not that the word suit limits in any way, no indeed, not with the now-two-alike look that designers have contrived to achieve in the multiplicity of types that run the gamut all the way from the simple jacket-and-skirt classic to the new long-jacket effects with pleated skirts, the softly styled bolero models, the smart long-coat ensembles, the casual sports two-piece with its flaring skirt and interchangeable jacket of vivid wool stripes or plaids.

Whipcords, twills or wool crepe in navy blue is outstanding suit news for spring. Navies with white lingerie accents are having a stupendous success. Latest word is white hats with the navy outfits, some of which are trimmed with navy or the order may be reversed—navy hat with white trim. Chic, too, to wear with your navies are the hats carried out in red, white and blue color schemes.

Centered in the picture is one of those simple classy suits that women of discriminating taste adore. Tailored of fashionable navy twill (it is also available in black) its sophisticated simplicity bespeaks style personified. Of course it takes on the inevitable white touches that fashion insists upon this season, which in this instance are expressed in terms of white pique cuffs and collar. To tune to dressier mood lace or befrilled organza will take the place of the pique. Then, too, for a pretty feminine gesture most likely a dainty lingerie blouse with a frothy jabot will grace this suit. Her white flower toque is not rushing the season for flower hats are coming out in endless parade, in answer to fashion's call.

A characteristic feature of tweeds this spring is that they present a finer, smoother texture and are lighter in weight. Their colorings take on new lure. The smart note this spring is the use of complement tweeds. The suit to the right interprets the idea. Here handsome tweed in gray and white herringbone weave is used for the suit. The topcoat is of gray and white plaid (huge plaid's the thing this spring) that gives it definite color relation to the suit.

This idea of wools in "families," so to speak, is being promoted throughout current suit styling. Suits of color-related and weave-related wools go so far as to give you a skirt done in tweed, topped with either a flannel or wool jersey blouse in vivid color contrast and for the long cape (cape suit is a last word fashion) or the topcoat that ensembles with the suit you are given your choice of a monotone luxurious wool or that which is strikingly new a wool in big, bold plaid that picks up the colors in blouse and skirt.

Illustrative of the new vogue for check used with plain, note the fetching suit to the left in the group. Here you see a bright checked button-up tweed bolero topping a black circular skirt with insets of the check introduced to give it the desired flare. This typically spring 1940 model comes in several color combinations. The hat of matching wool fabric is a smart item this season.

Pocket Belt

Pockets, pockets everywhere, and style at high tempo in every one! Straight from Paris to America sweeps the pocket fashion, and presto! the pocket rage is on. The young woman pictured is keyed up to the 'nth degree on the pocket theme. She begins with two decorative pockets on the blouse of her rayon shirtmaker frock. Then what does she do! She does just as fashion would have her do—buys one of the new cash and carry belts, designed by Criterion, to complete her pocket ensemble. For your satisfaction we are telling you that within the recesses of this practical pocket attached to its matching belt, there is plenty of stowaway space for hanky, keys, money and other feminine gadgets. With such perfectly good arguments in its favor as being supremely smart at the same time that it is as utilitarian as can be, small wonder that this new "cash and carry" belt is registering record sales.

Do It With Mirrors

An evening bag that is a circle of silver metal cloth is given a jeweled look by the application of mirrors.

Collarbone Accents Go in for Whimsy

You're going to have lots of fun this spring with the collarbone accents—this year's name for what used to be called lapel gadgets. You can wear them on the lapel of your new spring suit or set them near the collarline of your frock (winter or spring).

Consider these: A big green enameled frog with goggling rhinestone eyes (set on springs to make them jiggle), an enameled rooster, whose wing is set on a hinge to make it stand out, or a white lamb with "ruby" eyes and gold chain "fleece" swinging from its back. Other tricks are jewel-breasted gold robins and gold rooster heads with enamel combs.

Black With Color For College Wear

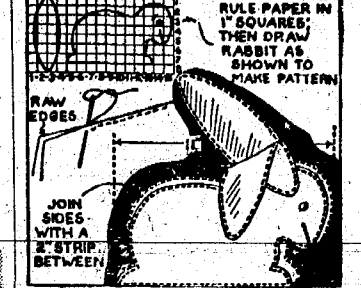

Black frocks with accents of bright color are excellent selections with which to replenish the college girl's wardrobe at this time of year. Some, made of heavy black crepe, have wide, flared skirts with shirred border details around the hems, while others have simulated collars and cuffs of white beads. Short velvet skirts can be teamed with plain shirred velvet tops, and black wool skirts have white sweater tops embroidered in colored raffia.

Background Dress Is Best in Colors

Because they combine with so many other fabrics, satins or smooth-surfaced crepes seem to be the most successful materials for the background dress for evening wear. With a satin background dress one can wear jacket or bolero tops in crepes, wool, velvet, fringe, feathers, marabou or beads. Dark, rich shades of satin—garnet red, deep sapphire, pine green—are smartest; or, in a light shade, gold.

Easter Bunny Stays As White as Snow

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS
STUFFED toys of oil cloth or water-proof bath curtain material are something mothers have been dreaming about. Just wipe them off with a damp cloth to keep them fresh and clean.
The Easter bunny shown here is 11 inches long. He is white, hand-stitched in heavy pink thread and has pink bead or button eyes. Make your own pattern for him by following the diagram. Rule paper into 1-inch squares; number them; then draw the pattern outlines. Cut two body pieces; four ear pieces and a 2-inch strip to be used between the two sides of the body. Interline the ears to make them stand up. Join all raw edges, as shown, leaving an opening in the body for stuffing tightly with cotton or bits of soft cloth; then finish sewing.

NOTE: Mrs. Spears' Sewing Book No. 2 contains numerous gift and bazaar items, including a doll's wardrobe; men's ties; purses; baby's bassinet; 32 pages in all.

It Must Be Admitted That Was a 'Fare Do'

Four men were seated facing each other in a railway coach. One of them seemed to be monopolizing the conversation. All of his talk was about himself as he told how clever he was.

This went on and on, mile after mile, till at last one fellow could stand it no longer, and without due apology he burst in upon the conversation of the boasting one. "Say," he said, "tell us something you can't do, and I'll do it for you!"

There was a moment's silence, then up spoke the chap who had been interrupted, a smile on his face: "Well, I must admit that I can't pay my fare."

ANTRIM COUNTY INFIRMARY
PURCHASE TWO REGISTERED
O. I. C. SOWS

Following out the newly adopted plan of the Social Welfare Board and their consulting committee of the Board of Supervisors in stocking the County Infirmary Farm with well bred livestock, Robert Helms, Director and James McKinney, Farm Manager, journeyed to Michigan State College to attend the Michigan Swine Breeders Pure Bred Sow Sale and Swine Management program Mar. 1. Two choice Pure Bred Sows, O.I.C. Lady No. 153774 and O.I.C. Sally No. 153775 were purchased by Mr. Helms and Mr. McKinney. These sows are due to farrow in April. Several farmers have already asked that a male pig be reserved for them indicating that farmers are pleased to have a source of such livestock developed by the County. A limited number of sow pigs will also be offered to the public. While at East Lansing arrangements were completed to purchase an O.I.C. male from one of the leading herds in the state although it will be several months before it is received at the farm and will be available for use.

Hits That You Will Enjoy

The spring array of motion pictures soon to play at the Temple is indeed one to stir the imagination. Mr. Drew, who spent several days in Detroit last week, announces the following outstanding productions will be shown in the next few weeks: "Northwest Passage" in Technicolor with Spencer Tracy and Robert Young; "Virginia City" in Technicolor in Technicolor with Errol Flynn and Miriam Hopkins; "Young Tom Edison" with Mickey Rooney; "Grapes of Wrath" with Henry Fonda and an all star cast; "New Moon" with Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy; "Forty Little Mothers" with Eddy Cantor; "The Blue Bird" with Shirley Temple; "Three Cheers for the Irish" with the Lane Sisters and Alan Hale; "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" with Raymond Massey; "Swiss Family Robinson" with Freddy Bartholomew and Terry Kilburn; "Road to Singapore" with Bing Crosby and Bob Hope; "Gone With the Wind" will also reach the Temple screen, probably in April, and will be shown in its entirety, exactly as presented at the Atlanta and Detroit premieres. Definite dates will be announced shortly for this epical production.

F. S. A. Inspects Books
Kept by Farm Borrowers

E. E. LaBerge, local representative of the Farm Security Administration, a branch of the United States Dept. of Agriculture, states that his office has just finished the summarization of a number of farm account books kept by borrowers in this area and that some interesting facts have been brought to light.

These records show as far as possible all of the transactions occurring in the farm and home business for the past year. Probably the most significant item shown is the average gain in net worth of $188.91 per family in 1939. The average cash receipts per family amounted to $545.23 and the value per family of farm produce used was $151.94. The total of these three basic items shows an actual income of $886.08 which is comparable to the average farm income of established farmers in this area.

In considering these figures, it is well to remember that these borrowers of the Farm Security Administration were unable to secure credit from any other source and were either on relief or about to ask for assistance when they entered this program.

In addition to the above information, it is possible, from the summarization of these account books, to discover the weak points in the farm program, the enterprises that did not show adequate returns on the investment, and to correct them when planning the coming year's operations.

Garden Gossip

Edited by Caroline Harrington
Letters and questions on garden topics will be welcome. They will be published and discussed in this column.

Dear Garden Gossipers:

Though snow and ice are still under foot, we have only to lift our eyes to the deep blue of the sky and the soft clouds floating here and there to know that spring has not forgotten us and is well on the way.

The sparrows daily inspect the apartments in the bird houses about, and are noisy over necessary improvements. The seed catalogs no doubt have been well gone over by this time, and at the roll call of our Garden Club, March 19th, each member should be prepared to name some unusual flower she will try out this year (Remember how last year we all wanted to plant Scarlett O'Hara morning glories?). From my neighbor's garden came my most enjoyed flower of last summer, — just a simple little blossom that worked up so well in old fashioned bouquets! This would be my choice, but its name, "dimorphothecha," is so much like that of some prehistoric animal I have almost lost heart.

Year books for the Garden Club's 1940 program, complete with committee and membership lists, have gone to press, and will be ready for distribution to members at the next meeting.

Mrs. Palmer will discuss annuals, a timely topic to those who are planning new borders and color schemes. Tea will be served by the hostesses for the day, Mrs. Gus Muma and Mrs. Joseph Bugai.

So . . . remember the date, and with a flower in mind for roll call, be present at next Garden Club meeting, Tuesday, March 19th, at 2:30 in the City Building.

Program Committee,
Chairman.

Dear Mrs. Harrington:

Just a word in answer to "Interested Reader." I'm afraid her methods were all wrong. The bulbs must be kept "cold and dark" at the beginning instead of "warm and light." I think the sunroom was too warm and it certainly was too light.

My bulbs were all planted October 11th, except the tulips, which I purchased at the Garden Club meeting, and I buried them at once.

About the middle of December I brought in about half the pots and the remainder the week between

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage and the note accompanying the same dated January 3, 1939, made by Leslie R. Horn, a single man, of Detroit, Michigan, to the Utica Milling Company, a Corporation of Utica Michigan, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan, on January 5, 1939, in liber 77 of Mortgages, on page 495, and default having been made in the payments of the interest and taxes due on said mortgaged premises, and said default continuing and the whole sum unpaid and claimed to be due at the date of this notice for principal and interest, being the sum of Eight Hundred Two Dollars and fifty ($802.50) cents, and no suits or proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted for the recovery of the debt now remaining, secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now Therefore By virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the premises therein described at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of the Charlevoix County Courthouse, in the City of Charlevoix, Charlevoix County, Michigan (said building being the building where the Circuit Court for Charlevoix County is held), on the eighth day of June, 1940, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage and all legal costs. The said mortgage premises are situated in the township of Chandler, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, and are described as follows:

The Southeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter (SE 1/4 NE 1/4) of Section Fourteen (14), Town Thirty-three (33) North, Range Four (4) West, containing forty acres more or less.

Dated this third day of March, 1940.

Christmas and New Year. The earth was frozen but the bulbs started growing as soon as they thawed out. I've had blossoms since the middle of January and from a dozen hyacinth bulbs have had between two and three dozen stems of blossoms.

I'm planning on a better outdoor place next winter in order to lengthen the period of bloom. Stored in such a way they can remain later than December and I am going to try more tulips. Studying for the Garden Club made me interested in them. Perhaps it was a challenge, for the bulletins all said the tulips were harder than other bulbs to force into bloom.

Hoping this will help some one else who is interested,

Yours, Mrs. E. H. C.

Your letter will encourage and help many of us. I like what you say about the challenge of doing what is different. All progress has been made just that way.

Garden Gossipers will want to clip your letter for reference next fall. And all of us will want to learn about the "better outdoor place" you are planning for next winter. Please share your plans with us. I think "bulb forcing" is due to become very popular in East Jordan another winter.

Dear Mrs. Harrington:

I noted a paragraph in Garden Gossip of February 23rd regarding the stretch of road on the Ferry-Advance sector, whose sylvan beauty seemed threatened. Perhaps you will be interested to know that the principal reason advanced for straightening and widening this road was that the State Highway Department is contemplating the extension of M-75 to form a trunk line between US-27 and M-66 running from Boyne Falls, through Boyne City to Ironton, via this road.

Naturally, Boyne City is anxious to have this done, but I wonder if the state will ever incur the heavy expense of building a bridge at Ironton or trying to maintain a ferry system adequate for a trunk line to cross there, when we already have a cross road, connecting not only these two highways, but also several others. This is M-32 which starts on M-23 at Alpena, crosses M-33, US-27, US-131, and M-66 (at East Jordan) to connect with US-31 at Atwood.

The scenic drive, winding through virgin forest, is NOT needed for a trunk line, but it IS vital to Charlevoix County as an attraction for luring tourists to this region.

You have brought to light a significant angle of Ferry-Advance Road controversy, an angle Garden Gossipers should not forget if they are to keep their pledge and preserve this road "as is." The road is adequate as well as surpassingly beautiful now. Certainly it would be difficult to justify the heavy expense necessary to maintain it as a speedway. Yours is another letter that "Garden Gossipers" will wish to clip for future reference.

I don't find "attractual" in the dictionary, but it is a grand word and somebody should have invented it before this. Thank you, M, for your letter and for your contribution to my vocabulary.

Shantytown Owners
Asked To Co-operate

With the spring break-up in the near future, all owners of fish shanties on the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix are requested to make provisions for removal. Shanties must not be placed on private property without the property-owners permission. Unless taken care of by the owners, the shanties will have to be taken to the city dump at the City's expense.

WHY ALL THIS FUSS OVER ME?

HUSH, little rebel—it's worth a million dollars a minute to fuss over you!

We're glad you weren't born thirty years ago, Sugar, because then we couldn't have made all this fuss over you. In those days folks had very little time to spend with their babies. Thousands of precious hours were stolen away by back-breaking labor.

When we were babies, Monday was the day our mothers scrubbed clothes. On Tuesdays they wore themselves out with ironing. Every day meant hours in a hot, stuffy kitchen. Our mothers swept our homes with brooms—a tiresome dirty job.

But that's all over now, honey. Thousands of people—scientists, engineers, managers, inventors and many others—have been working for years to change it. They're the people of your electric company.

Today your mother gets more done than was possible thirty years ago—and what's more important, she does it quickly and easily. Her electric washing machine makes Mondays easy days. Tidying the house is easy with her electric vacuum cleaner. Milk and food are kept fresh and healthy in her electric refrigerator. Because electricity is at her beck and call every hour of the day and night, performing endless household duties, she has priceless hours left to make all this fuss over you.

Your father's happy, too, because electricity costs so little he can easily afford the service that keeps your mother young and pretty and makes your home a brighter, cheerier place for him to come home to—a better, healthier place for you to grow up.

These changes didn't just happen. They came about through the constant efforts of the men and women of this company and the electrical industry as a whole, who do things the American way. Their work makes this country a better place—for babies, mothers, and all of us.

MORE FOR YOUR MONEY

In the last 10 to 15 years, the engineering improvements and operating economies of your electric company have made it possible to cut the average price of household electricity just about in half. Many customers now using more household appliances, lots of light, a radio, and refrigerator pay very little more to operate all of these than they used to pay for light alone.
