Farm Women To Tour County

NEXT WEDNESDAY PICNIC DINNER AT COUNTY NURSERY

Everything is in readiness for a wonderful county tour to be held on Wednesday, June 19th. The stops will include modern and up-to-date kitchens, proper use of electrical appliances, scenic points of interest, and beautifully landscaped farm homes. At each stop sufficient time will be taken to explain the interesting features.

Mr. O. I. Gregg, Landscaping Specialist who is well known in this county and who is largely responsible for the increasing interest in home beautification, will be present and discuss the choices of shrubbery and identify the beautiful specimens to be seen. Miss Helen Noyes, who gave the lessons in our recently completed Home Management Project, will likewise discuss kitchens and their convenience.

The tour will start promptly at 10:00 a. m. on Wednesday, June 19th and will continue until probably four o'clock in the afternoon. This will be a wonderful opportunity for the many folks in the county, interested in landscaping and beautification, to see the various points of interest that we have in Charlevoix County. In fact, can you imagine a more enjoyable day than this will be, not alone in meeting your friends and neighbors again, but in driving through our beautiful county. The entire public is cordially invited to join the tour. The noon stop will be at the Charlevoix County Nursery where a picnic dinner will be enjoyed at 12:30 and a short, interesting program will be held. Following is the itinerary and the approximate time at each point of interest:

First Stop: Home of G. A. Lisk, East Jordan, at 10:00 a. m. Here you will see landscaping at its best featuring a large group of peonies and a beautiful hedge as well as many rare specimens. It will be well worthwhile to see what Mr. and Mrs. Lisk have accomplished.

Second Stop: Home of W. K. Straw at Charlevoix, at 11:00 a. m. This farm is located on the Marion Center Road just south of the Belvedere Golf Links. This home has always been an attraction. It was landscaped by Mr. Gregg several years ago and has been splendidly developed. A lovely lawn, surrounded by a beautiful border of both native and nursery specimens, makes this place one of the show places in the county.

Third Stop: Home of Frank Oleksy, Charlevoix, at 11:30 a. m. This home, located at 419 corner of Park and Antrim Streets just east of the Charlevoix Tourist Park, will show a modern up-to-the-minute kitchen. Mr. Oleksy has recently redecorated and revamped the arrangement of the kitchen. You will be interested in seeing adequate and ample cupboards, a built in sink and everything arranged to save time and effort. You will also be interested in the type of material used in the cupboard construction and color harmony.

Fourth Stop: Charlevoix County Nursery at 12:30. Nothing needs to be said about this beauty spot as you have to see it to really appreciate the wonderful specimens of practically everything grown in this section. Mr. Hemingway, the proprietor, is noted for being a fine host and you will certainly enjoy the picnic dinner and program which follows. Sufficient time will be allowed to really view all points of interest in the nursery.

Fifth Stop: Home of O. F. Walker, Boyne City, at 2:30 p. m. This home is located opposite the Boyne City Library and is being landscaped this spring but the big point of interest is the kitchen. Here you will see plenty of cupboard space, latest type of sink, built in stove, and artistic decoration. Again you will note kitchen convenience to the highest degree.

Sixth Stop: Home of Ben Gardner, Boyne City, at 3:00 p. m. For many years this has been one of the outstanding points of interest in the Boyne City community. It is located about two miles north on the Wildwood Harbor Road. This home is noted for its completeness and beauty. Also you will be interested in the little nursery included in the unit. Nothing has been left undone to keep the home attractive and up-to-date in every particular.

Don't forget that, as we drive between the various stops outlined, we will see many other points of scenic interest. Please mark down this date right away as I know you will not want to miss this rare opportunity of seeing Charlevoix County at its best. If you cannot start the tour at the first stop, join with us any place along the line but you will be sorry if you do not make all six stops. Remember! We meet promptly at 10:00 a. m. at the home of G. A. Lisk, East Jordan, and I certainly hope to see you there.

Juniors Drop Opening Game of Season Pulling A Shutout

Committing a total of nine errors, East Jordan's Junior baseball team dropped its opening game of the season to Barnard 5 to 0 at Charlevoix last Sunday afternoon.

Henley, former southpaw twirler of the Charlevoix Red Raiders, proved invincible in the pinches as the Jordanites were shutout for the first time in four years. Henley gave up 8 hits, while striking out 12 and was credited as the winning twirler, although his performances did not overshadow that of Richard "Tich" Saxton, who allowed but 6 hits, struck out 11 and walked 1, and did not give up an earned run. Shaky infielding kept Saxton in hot water throughout the contest as the local kindergardeners bobbled several easy chances.

Henley and Saxton also shared offensive laurels with two hits each. R. Bennett also connected safely twice for the Jordanites.

Henley and K. Ager formed the winning battery with R. Saxton and Holley toiling for the losers.

The locals meet the Wolverine CCC Camp team at the Fairgrounds this week end Sunday at 2:00 o'clock.

BENJ. BUSTARD

MUSICAL THIEVES?

Eaton Rapids — It's possible the burglars who robbed the band instrument storage room at the local high school recently were musically inclined. Loot included three cornets, two or three clarinets, an alto saxophone, and two drum sticks.

Homecoming Time Is Near

LET EX-EAST JORDANITES KNOW ABOUT CELEBRATION

With only three weeks until the Homecoming celebration July 4th, 5th, and 6th, the committees are asking everybody's cooperation in letting past East Jordan people know about it.

Geo. Secord now has the cards and, although some have been mailed out, the reception committee feels many have not been contacted as yet. You may obtain the cards from Secord or give him the addresses and he will see they are notified.

The celebration is lining up better all the time and visitors will be assured of three full days of entertainment.

The Red Cross Needs Your Help

EUROPE'S WAR-RIDDEN MILLIONS ARE IN DIRE NEED

To aid Europe's war-ridden millions, the American Red Cross is now embarked upon a relief operation greater than any previously attempted in its peacetime history. This gigantic task is exceeded only by the organization's operations during the first World War.

As representative of the strongest nation not engaged in war, the American Red Cross has become the only hope for victims of the European holocaust, particularly the 5,000,000 civilian refugees. As their own resources become exhausted, only the Red Cross stands between these hordes of sufferers and starvation.

The size of the European relief task may be appreciated by a comparison with the Ohio-Mississippi Valley flood of 1937, the greatest natural calamity in which the American Red Cross has operated in the 60 years of its history. In that disaster 1,000,000 persons required assistance. Twenty-five millions of dollars were contributed in response to Red Cross appeals in this relief operation. Several foreign countries sent funds in another example, public contributions of $10,000,000 were spent in relief of drought sufferers in 1930 and 1931. The New York - New England hurricane of 1938 required a Red Cross expenditure of $1,700,000 for emergency and rehabilitation care for 14,000 families.

As in other great catastrophes the American Red Cross must "follow through" on the European job. It has been estimated that $20,000,000 will be needed if minimum needs of the victims of war are to be met. The problem before the American Red Cross means providing emergency food, shelter, clothing and medical supplies until the gap is somehow bridged.

Contributions from the East Jordan area may be made at the State Bank of East Jordan.

AS A FAMOUS ACTOR SEES LIFE, LOVE, ART — AND WOMEN

An article in The American Weekly with the June 16 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times, will disclose brilliant examples of the epigrammatic philosophy of Monsieur Sacha Guityry, the John Barrymore of France who, after four marriages, concludes that one woman can be adorable — but two, terrible. Mr. O. I. Gregg To Speak At Charlevoix Wednesday Night, June 19

The Garden Club of Charlevoix is happy to announce that, in cooperation with the extension service, they have scheduled Mr. O. I. Gregg, Landscape Specialist from the Michigan State College, to give an illustrated lecture in the community room of the new City Building on Wednesday night, June 19th, starting promptly at 8:00.

This is the first time in several years that Mr. Gregg has spoken in Charlevoix and it will be a wonderful opportunity for all folks interested in landscaping and beautification to hear this important message. By the use of colored slides he will give you a program that cannot be duplicated. His slides cover close-ups of all types of shrubbery and flowers. Many views of Michigan farms and homes are included.

His suggestions will be of great assistance to all people interested in making their homes more attractive. Now is the time of year when this information will be most welcome because all vegetation is at its best. The Garden Club of Charlevoix, urges the entire public to enjoy this evening with them. Remember! This is entirely free and it will be to your advantage to attend.

Fruit Specialist Here June 20th

T. A. MERRILL, HORTICULTURE SPECIALIST, AT COMMUNITY BUILDING

We are glad to announce that Mr. T. A. Merrill, Specialist in Horticulture, will spend Thursday, June 20, in this county and will meet with all fruit growers in the East Jordan Community Room at two o'clock that afternoon.

Right now fruit growers are concerned with their spraying operations, with the types of materials to use, and the correct time for greatest control. Recently there has been made available a good many different types of spraying materials. Some of them are so new that our experiment station has had insufficient time to try them out properly. With our cherry leaf spot apt to be serious again, it would seem that every fruit grower should spend an hour or so Thursday afternoon, June 20th, to discuss the spraying program which usually means profit or loss in the business.

The meeting will start promptly at two o'clock so let's all be on time and spend a profitable two hours.

Garden Gossip

Edited by Caroline Harrington
Letters and questions on garden topics will be welcome. They will be published and discussed in this column.

Dear Garden Gossipers:

I am glad to be able to publish in today's Garden Gossip Column a letter received from the Ford Motor Company. Please read it. It immediately follows this notice. This is a letter deserving of your thoughtful consideration, and I hope you will clip it, quote it in your campaign against billboards, make copies of it to include in your correspondence with other advertisers concerning offending billboards as an example of what they, too, can do if they only will.

In my correspondence with advertisers concerning their billboards, this letter from the Ford Motor Company stands out by contrast. Few indeed are the advertisers who are interested in scenic beauty to the extent that they are willing to limit advertising to the commercial centers. When other advertisers fall in line with the unselfish attitude taken by the Ford organization, then we shall see our highways free of unsightly billboards.

Please notice and comply with the request of the Ford Company that we notify them of Ford advertising situated outside of the corporate limits of any of Northern Michigan's towns.

Ford Motor Company
Dearborn, Michigan

Mrs. H. M. Harrington,
East Jordan, Michigan.

Dear Madam:

We sincerely appreciate your sentiments regarding billboard advertising. The fact is that billboards in their proper place constitute a logical medium of advertising. To that end, and in order to avoid the possibility of creating a hazard to driving, or marred the scenic beauty of highways, we have issued instructions through our advertising agency to the billboard posting plants that Ford Motor Company billboards are not to be placed outside the corporate limits of cities, towns or villages.

If you can give us specific data as to location, etc. of any Ford Motor Company billboards that violate such regulations, we shall appreciate hearing from you again so that the matter may be investigated further.

We thank you for your kind interest in writing.

Yours very truly,
Ford Motor Company

Dear Mrs. Harrington:

I have a chrysanthemum in my garden which has lots of buds each fall, but each year the buds have been killed by frost before they blossom out. I had about decided to pull the chrysanthemum up when I read an article in a garden magazine which told me what to do. The "mum" is a plant that likes short days and long nights. When the plant is six inches tall prune it back and keep this up until about July 1st. Then, on July 15th, at four o'clock in the afternoon, cover the plant with a heavy black cloth. Sateen is recommended. Stakes can be set up around plant and cloth put over them, and it must be tied down around the bottom so no light can penetrate. Keep this up until shorter days come.

Yours for Better East Jordan

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Farnham F. Dudgeon

Full Strength of German Army Hits New French Defense Line; First Nazi Bombs Fall on Paris

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

In Madrid, Spanish students, no doubt prompted by Rome and Berlin, recently staged demonstrations urging return of Gibraltar, world's greatest fortress, from English control to Spain. Until shortly after the Munich crisis, when England learned what she might some day have to face, only this high rickety fence separated the mighty fortress from the Spanish mainland. Since that time engineers have labored unceasingly to protect this Achilles heel of the key to the Mediterranean. In a war with England Italy may strike one of her first blows at Gibraltar. Its surrender may be asked as an alternative to a German blitzkrieg on England, some war oracles claim.

MORE WAR: Big Push

With the same deadly technique that has humbled Poland, Scandinavia, Luxembourg, The Netherlands and Belgium, Adolf Hitler turned from his "triumph" in Flanders to launch a mighty drive through central France—aimed directly at that nation's capital, Paris.

As usual this technique included the thousands of well-equipped troops, supported by the now-famous and highly feared dive bombers, strongly armored tanks and the mightiest of heavy artillery.

Full strength of the drive struck at the heart of the French line which stretches across 200 miles of French soil along the Somme and Aisne rivers. This line of troops, under the command of Gen. Maxime Weygand, was hastily bolstered while the Nazis were busy with their attack on the British and French forces escaping from the Flanders battlefield via Dunkirk and the English channel.

But if the allied line of battle had been bolstered it was done with French soldiers and not British Tommies.

For from London came word that for the time being France would be forced to bear the brunt of the German attack as the English in escaping the Nazi trap in Flanders, following Belgium's capitulation, had been forced to leave behind huge stores of equipment. Until these could be replaced the British army could do little to help their allies on the continent.

Wings Over Paris

Not only were the German bombers doing their work on the battlefield—they penetrated much further than the troops. For the long expected bombing attack on Paris was carried out.

Evidently the first air raid was not aimed at the city itself but at airports and other military objectives on its outskirts. Even French officials admitted that it did not look like the "bombing of an open city" and while they promised to repay Germany, bomb for bomb, their attacks would also be directed at strategic military points, they added.

In this first raid about 1,000 persons were killed, at least that many

NAMES

... in the news

President Roosevelt became a grandfather again as a boy was born to Mrs. Anne (Clark) Roosevelt, wife of John, his youngest son.

Movie Executive Joseph Schenck was indicted in New York by a federal grand jury on 24 counts of income tax fraud. A $400,000 tax evasion is involved, according to the government's charge.

Acting president of Smith college and mother-in-law of Charles A. Lindbergh, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow has urged immediate aid to the allies, asking that we send them "everything that could help win their struggle against Germany."

Ambassador William C. Bullitt cabled the secretary of state, Cordell Hull, a dramatic account of his escape from a Nazi bomb during a raid on Paris. Heavy bombs fell on all sides of the building in which he was attending a luncheon and one "dud" that did not explode struck within a few feet of him, he said.

Running Mate?

Prime favorite in the current vice presidential nomination stakes for President Roosevelt's running mate (should he "choose to run") is Sen. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina. It is understood that the President made definite overtures to the senator to become his partner on the ticket during a conference on a recent Potomac cruise.

STARS AND STRIPES: Salute

If state laws so require, U. S. school children must salute the American flag, according to a decision handed down by the Supreme court. Reasoning: The flag symbolizes a national unity—which transcends all internal differences—religious or otherwise. In its ruling the court upheld action of a Pennsylvania school board which had expelled two children for refusing, on religious grounds, to salute the flag.

In the little coal mining town of Moweaqua, Ill., four men, said to be members of a religious sect known as "Jehovah's Witnesses," were rescued from a group of aroused citizens who threatened violence after one of the four allegedly defamed "Old Glory."

In Waxahachie, Texas, 90 members of a religious sect were jailed after attempting distribution of literature described as of "a pacifist nature." Officials were forced into action after a deluge of phone calls objecting to the literature which urged non-allegiance to "man-made" government.

PAN-AMERICA: Mr. Dies Goes South

Rep. Martin Dies, chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities, announced that his probe will be extended to take in all of the 21 American republics. This news reflects congressional concern over reports reaching Washington that German fifth columnists are active in South America. Mr. Dies said that his investigators are already gathering information along the Mexican border.

Closest co-operation with other Western hemisphere nations is being sought, he added.

Indelible

Voters of the Republic of Panama turned out in record numbers to elect Dr. Arnulfo Arias as their next president. This election had taken on particular significance because of reports that the government had nipped an abortive scheme to disrupt the election and turn the day into an occasion for a revolution. In addition, the other presidential candidate, one Dr. Ricardo Alfaro, leader of the oppositionist popular front, withdrew his name at the last moment and urged his backers not to vote as they were being "denied the right of franchise." Just what he meant wasn't exactly clear but one thing was evident. Election officials were taking no chances on "repeaters" voting. Each voter had to present his identification certificate and have his forefinger dipped in indelible ink.

Dr. Arnulfo Arias

POLITICS: Clear Field

As the roar of Europe's war becomes louder, its effect upon the American political scene is daily becoming more pronounced. In the main, it has been most decidedly felt in the Democratic party, where party leaders feel these war conditions will surely "force" President Roosevelt to seek a third term.

It appears that he has the nomination of his party safely tucked away should he want it.

Paul McNutt has withdrawn from the opposition; Vice President Garner is quiet and his boom apparently has fizzled; Senator Wheeler of Montana has said, "It looks like Roosevelt."

Still there are many insiders who believe Secretary of State Cordell Hull will get the nod, come convention time. Amid all this guesswork this much stands out as fact: International conditions have plopped the choice of the Democratic party's candidate directly in the lap of the nation's Chief Executive. He can have the nomination if he wants it and if not he can name the fair-haired boy he wants to make the bid. Until November, then, Franklin Delano Roosevelt has a clear field.

Bruckart's Washington Digest

National Preparedness Drive Encounters Political Bickering

Washington Correspondent Sees Defense Program Being Turned 'Into a Vehicle for Selfish Use'; Racketeering Labor Leaders Climb on Bandwagon.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART
WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON—It is exceedingly difficult to maintain a balanced viewpoint in the national capital these days. War hysteria is flowing at higher tide than in any other city of the land. Washington is the nerve center of the plans for a great and proper national defense scheme. That is bad. Yet, a calm perhaps would settle down and the serious job confronting the nation probably would be accomplished more effectively and efficiently if some other and more dangerous factors were not horning in on the situation.

It may not yet be so clear to the folks outside of Washington, but I must report that the urgently needed national defense program is being turned into a vehicle for selfish use. There is no longer room for doubt. The tragedy is that many otherwise sincere and honest individuals in places of responsibility are lending aid to this chicanery and boring-from-within.

The cold fact is that while patriotic and far-seeing folks are giving the best efforts available to the development and execution of the national defense program, fumes and stench are beginning to arise from the midst of this very serious business. The condition is upon us and thus far there is no apparent effort on the part of anybody in authority to check it.

HERBERT HOOVER
He chose to disagree.

One hears and sees how the defense program is being speeded. One naturally offers commendation. But hardly is that applause given when through the cracks and the crevices comes the information that politics is preying upon the whole scheme. Some of it already smells to high heaven. The length to which some men will go to further their selfish political aims at the expense of all of us is beyond comprehension.

And in the midst of these serious endeavors, also, comes the shouts and the threats of some racketeering labor leaders. As usual, that type is simply getting on the bandwagon for the sake of publicity that they can get for their mouthings. It makes them appear important to benighted followers.

Opponents of Democracy Are Boring From Within

Behind and beneath all of these things that are to be deplored is the creeping and gnawing of the termites who would be most happy to destroy our form of government. They are seizing upon the hysteria and the patriotism of the day to worm themselves into the spots where their concealed efforts will attract the least attention until the floor falls in. I have complained about these fellows many times before, and I shall continue to write about the dangers from them. They are in our government to the tune of several thousands. Again, little is being done about those, or the thousands that are at large.

Let us begin with some details of the politics of the situation as it has existed now for several weeks. We should begin at the top. President Roosevelt is not less guilty than many of his supporters in the matter of playing politics. The President's speech to congress was a good speech, a speech that should have aroused a sleepy nation. It did. But there were some parts of it about which there could be, and was, disagreement. Of those who disagreed, the President immediately said, in effect, that they were playing politics. He wanted

Defense and Politics

With the national drive for U. S. defense gathering steam, the unnecessary element of politics is rearing its ugly head, according to William Bruckart. He feels that if this trend of political bickering continues it will seriously affect the entire military program. He urges that the nation's leaders forget their silly, selfish interests and get down to the grim business of making America a secure place in which to live.

ed a united people behind the program. The President hinted broadly in various utterances that anyone disagreeing with him was pretty much of sourpuss.

Former President Herbert Hoover disagreed, as did a considerable number of representatives and senators, with some phases of the defense program. The President sought to quiet them all by making another speech—a fireside chat. There were holes in that speech, and scores of newspapers pointed at them, editorially. Mr. Hoover took issue with some of the President's plans in a radio speech.

Two days after Mr. Hoover's radio speech, Assistant Secretary Johnson, of the war department, went on the air with a "reply" to Mr. Hoover. Notwithstanding the President's contention that there was no politics in the defense program, Mr. Johnson's speech was released by the Democratic national committee.

President and His Friends Have Right to Back Plan

At least, the copy which came to me was on the stationery of the committee. I do not mean to say that either the President or Mr. Johnson should not defend the program which is their responsibility. I do insist, however, that there is no excuse for accusations of politics when they, themselves, are playing politics.

In addition to the Roosevelt-Hoover interlude, any observer must have seen the deluge of propaganda coming from various places in the government. The press agents have been working overtime in thinking up ideas that link their department's job with the development of a national defense program. Some of the efforts are pretty ridiculous, as silly as trying to make the love life of a bull frog appear important in the training of a soldier. That sort of thing is going on—the promotion of President Roosevelt's candidacy for a third term.

On top of this situation, comes another request from President Roosevelt for congress to appropriate additional money. He started out by asking something over a billion dollars. One hundred million of this was to be turned over to him, personally. But now, he has asked for one billion more. He told congressional leaders that the terrific debacle among the allies, the surrender of the Belgians by their king, Leopold, and some other successes of the Hitler murder drive necessitated faster spending.

Those needs may be genuine. Army and navy people tell me—and they ought to know—that we have no army that is "ready to go," ready to carry on if we are attacked. But those same army and navy experts said this was not a new condition. They insisted that rebuilding of the army and the navy should have been undertaken a dozen years ago.

Cost of 50,000 Planes Is Ten Billion Dollars

Strangely, the request for additional money did not reach congress until newspapers throughout the country began calling attention to the total cost involved in the President's call for 50,000 new planes. Mr. Roosevelt subsequently had said that the planes ranged in cost from $133,000 to $350,000 each. Well, if one takes an average that must be below the minimum and figures the cost at $200,000 per plane, 50,000 planes would cost $10,000,000,000. Ten billion dollars is a lot of money in anybody's language.

So, a tax bill is proposed. A decision is made to issue "defense bonds" which would be paid off by the "defense" taxes that have been proposed, and the job will have been done in five years. It all sounds reasonable and logical, but the taxes proposed would amount to around $650,000,000 a year and it is planned to issue three billions in defense bonds. Which leaves the question still unanswered as to how we are to pay for 50,000 planes that must cost around $10,000,000,000. It is all so confusing to a country boy, like me.

It remains only to be said that there is no great reason to be confident about the success of our defense program. The program is needed in view of world conditions which cannot be ignored. For the most part, it is a good program. But I still am asking why there is a call for national unity when responsible authorities are breeding dissatisfaction or are permitting confidence to wane.

There has been one agency of the government that has become Americanized. The civil service commission has shown its colors. Notwithstanding that the commission has been shorn of much of its authority during the past few years, it has taken a definite stand on the matter of communists and fascists and others who do not believe in Americanism. It has announced none of these will be certified for jobs in the government. Which is all to the good, except that patronage jobs outnumber civil-service jobs under the New Deal.

Slip-Covered Boards Make Handy Screen

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

HERE is an idea for that bedroom screen. Buy four well-seasoned boards each 1 foot wide; 1 inch thick and as long as the height you wish the screen to be; also 9 hinges of the 1-inch butt type used for cupboard doors. Next, select a smart chintz to cover your boards. To estimate the amount of chintz, multiply the height of the screen by three and then add 1/4-yard. Now, just follow the directions in the sketch and you will have your screen in no time.

And, by the way, if you are interested in making a collection of fabric toys, complete directions for the Rag Baby on the floor are in Sewing Book No. 2. The Sleepy Time doll on the bed and the Bandanna doll on the shelf are in Book 4; the Stocking Cat is in Book 3. You will also find full directions for the crocheted rug in Book No. 3. Directions for the lamp shades are in Book No. 1. Send 10 cents in coin for each book desired. If you order four books I will include patterns and directions for three of my Favorite Early American quilts, FREE. The Kaleidoscope; the Whirl Wind and the Ann Rutledge. Send order to:

Tricks of Sleep

Napoleon was credited with the ability to drop off to sleep at any time and in any position. It was this gift that enabled him to work almost round the clock for long periods at a time, and yet keep his brain and body fresh and alert.

Lloyd George of England is said to share Napoleon's secret to such an extent that he has been known to bring a conversation to an end by exclaiming, "And now I am going to have a nap," dropping at once into easy sleep.

"What? WORMS in my child?.. Never!"

Don't be so sure, Mother!

Yes, right now, crawling round worms may be growing and multiplying inside your child without your even knowing it. This nasty infection may be "caught" from other children, from dogs, from uncooked vegetables or bad water. And the outward signs are very misleading. For example: Scouring and flatulence. Nausea, picking, and scratching other parts. Uneasy stomach. Finicky appetite. Biting nails.

If you even suspect that your child has round worms, get JAYNE'S Vermifuge right away! JAYNE'S is the best known worm expellant in America. It is backed by modern scientific study, and has been used by millions for over a century. JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE is pleasant tasting and gentle, yet it does a good job. Jayne's has the ability to drive out large round worms without upsetting the digestive system. JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE acts merely as a mild laxative, if there are no worms.

FOOD FOR THE FAMILY OR FOR GUESTS
(See Recipes Below)

It takes little imagination to evolve a good meal in summer. Whether you are planning a menu for the family or for guests, there's all the wealth of the world from which to choose!

There is fresh asparagus and home-grown berries, new potatoes, tiny green onions, and all the other tender green things from the garden.

Remember that sunshine and warm weather and foods with zestful flavor go together, and plan your menus around fresh-tasting fruits and vegetables, for they have winning ways with jaded appetites. There's the minted pineapple cup pictured above, that's a grand first course for a summer lunch or dinner; it's as refreshing as a cool breeze off the lake! There are fruit salads, too—cool and colorful as summer gardens; and vegetable plates, which, well arranged, have appetite-appeal galore. And, by the way, your calorie-conscious friends will bless you if you serve them, when you entertain the club, these refreshing, filling, but not too fattening combinations.

Plan your menus around some of the fresh and tempting recipes below, and when you serve a salad or vegetable for the main dish of the meal, serve with it some unusual bread, a beverage, and the simplest kind of dessert.

You'll find tested recipes for unusual bread and rolls to serve with summer meals, in my cook book, "Better Baking."

June Fruit Appetizer or Dessert.

- Fresh pineapple
- Fresh strawberries
- Confectioners' sugar

Cut pineapple in 1/2-inch slices, unpeeled. Then cut each slice in wedge-shaped pieces. Wash strawberries, leaving the stems on them. Chill the fruits thoroughly, then on individual dessert plates arrange the pineapple wedges and the strawberries, in a ring around the plate. Place a mound of confectioners' sugar in the center of each plate, and serve at once.

Minted Pineapple Gems.

(Serves 4)

- 1 14-ounce can pineapple (spoon-size chunks)
 - 4 tablespoons lime juice
 - 1 teaspoon fresh mint (minced)
- Arrange pineapple in fruit cocktail glasses. Combine lime juice and mint, and pour over the pineapple. Chill thoroughly before serving.

Hot Weather Vegetable Plate.

New potatoes browned in butter. Small whole beets rolled in mint. Spinach with hard cooked eggs. Nuted squash. Green onions.

Parboil small pared potatoes in butter. Cook small, whole beets in boiling water until tender. Drain and peel. Add melted butter. Then roll buttered beets in chopped green mint. Cook spinach in salted water, drain, and season with salt, pepper and butter. Garnish dish with hard cooked egg white rings and top with rice egg yolks. Steam small summer squash until tender. Cut in halves, scoop out centers, and mash. Season with melted butter, salt and pepper. Sprinkle chopped nut meats over top. Arrange vegetables on individual plates and garnish with a sprig of parsley.

Fresh Asparagus With Lemon Butter Sauce.

(4 servings)

- 2 small bunches fresh asparagus (or 1 large bunch)
- 5 cups boiling water
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Cut off lower parts of asparagus stalks as far down as they will snap. Discard, or use in soup. Tie stalks

If you're planning a club tea to bring the social season to a close, you'll want to read Eleanor Howe's column next week. She'll give you plans and recipes for a delightful summer tea. Be sure to watch for this column next week!

together loosely in a bundle and place upright in saucepan containing the boiling water to which salt has been added. Cook, uncovered, until ends of stalks begin to be tender, about 15 minutes; then lay bunch of asparagus flat in pan and continue cooking until tips are tender, 5 to 10 minutes, then drain. Cream butter and add lemon juice slowly. Pour this mixture over hot asparagus and serve at once.

Fruit Salad Dressing.

- 2 egg yolks
- 1/2 cup strained honey
- Juice of 1 lemon
- Dash of salt
- 1 cup whipping cream

Place egg yolks, honey, lemon juice and salt in top of double boiler, and cook 1/2 hour, stirring frequently. Remove from heat, beat with a Dover egg beater, and cool. Whip cream and then pour the chilled honey mixture into the whipped cream, beating with Dover beater.

Baked Eggs in Tomato Cup.

(Serves 5-6)

- 8 tomatoes
- Salt
- Pepper
- 8 eggs
- Buttered bread crumbs
- Soft cheese (grated)

Scoop out tomato centers and sprinkle with salt. Place tomatoes in muffin pans. Break an egg into each tomato. Season, and top with buttered crumbs and cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until tomatoes are tender and eggs are set.

Orange Ice Box Cookies.

(Makes 5 dozen)

- 1 cup shortening
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup white sugar
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons orange juice
- 1 tablespoon orange rind (grated)
- 2 3/4 cups general purpose flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 cup pecan nut meats (broken)

Cream shortening and add sugars slowly, while beating constantly. Add egg (well-beaten), orange juice and orange rind. Mix and sift flour, salt and soda together and add to the creamed mixture, together with the broken nut meats. Form in rolls in wax paper and chill overnight in refrigerator. Slice thin, place on greased baking sheet and bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for 12 to 15 minutes.

Fruit Salad.

Toss together in a salad bowl 1 cup watermelon balls, 1 cup cantaloupe balls, 1 cup honey dew melon balls, 1 cup pitted red cherries. Add french dressing enough to coat all the fruits, and mix lightly. Serve on individual plates with two or three stalks of well-chilled french endive for garnish.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for June 16

HAGGAI URGES THE BUILDING OF GOD'S HOUSE

LESSON TEXT—Haggai 1:2-12. GOLDEN TEXT—And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works: not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is. —Hebrews 10:24, 25.

Religious work—or, more correctly stated, Christian work—is a difficult and discouraging task, except for the grace and blessing of God. Not only does the Christian worker have to struggle against that arch-enemy of God and of the souls of men, Satan himself, but he must overcome the deadly indifference and carelessness of men both outside and inside the Church. Then, as if that were not enough, he finds another enemy, the discouragement of his own heart.

Haggai ministered to the Jews who had returned from captivity and who had begun to rebuild the temple. Opposition had developed before they had made more than a beginning, and they at once gave up and turned their interest to their own affairs and the building of their own homes. God was displeased by this sinfulness on their part, and brought judgment upon them through a prolonged drouth. Haggai was called to awaken their conscience and to encourage them to action.

I. Consider Your Ways (vv. 2-6, 9-11).

It was not necessary for the prophet to work up any eloquent plea to stir the conscience of the people. He had only to point to their own ways. They were thus faced with three reproving facts.

1. Indifference (v. 2). They were negligent and indifferent, saying the time had not come to build. The same kind of folk today are very sure that the congregation simply cannot afford to keep up preaching services, or heat and light the church for Sunday School.

2. Selfishness (v. 4). They built for themselves ceiled houses and lived in luxury, while God's house lay waste. One is reminded of our own communities, which have money for every conceivable comfort and convenience, but only a few niggardly pennies for God's work.

3. Loss (vv. 6, 9-11). Being stingy toward God is a losing business. He has only to withhold His blessing and we will find ourselves destitute. That is true in the physical realm and is even more true in the spiritual life. Withholding from God will always result in loss (see Prov. 11:24).

II. "Build the House" (v. 8).

God's work is constructive. He may have to destroy and tear down, but He only takes away the old and undesirable that the new and worthy may be built. Three words stand out here.

1. "Go." The Lord wants His people to get into action. Haggai was interested in getting things going. Let us follow his example.

2. "Bring." We are not to come to the Lord's service empty handed. Only as He blesses do we have anything to bring, but often we fail to bring even that which He has supplied.

3. "Build." God's work is committed to us. We are to be His builders.

III. "The People Obeyed" (v. 12).

"Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams" (I Sam. 15:22). God is looking for obedient people, and is ready to bless and use them. The response to Haggai's message came from

1. The Governor. One wonders what progress America would make back to God if its rulers were to lead us in obedience to His commands and in seeking His face in repentance and prayer. Thank God for every truly spiritually minded national leader, and pray that others may yield themselves to the control of the Lord. Then came

2. The High Priest. All too often religious leaders have actually hindered the work of God—and what a hindrance they can be! We read that in Haggai's time the high priest obeyed. Christian leaders, are we too going before our people in unquestioning obedience to God? If not, why should we not begin now? With such leadership, we are not surprised to hear that

3. The People Also Obeyed and Feared God. Many capable Christian workers believe that the youth of America of our day, far from being worse than their fathers, are actually seeking for real spiritual leadership.

False Christs Shall Rise
And then, if any man shall say to you, Lo, here is Christ, or lo, he is there, believe him not. For false Christs, and false prophets shall rise, and shall show signs and wonders, to seduce, if it were possible, even the elect.—Mark 13: 21, 22.

Speaking the Truth
I had rather suffer for speaking the truth, than that the truth should suffer for the want of my speaking.

Apron Dress Is an Intriguing Theme on the Fashion Program

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WHAT is importantly new on the style program? The answer is the dress with a detachable apron front. Can you imagine aprons putting on fashion airs? Well, that's just what is happening. It's not only your daytime frocks that are being smartly aproned but evening gowns are flaunting the most gorgeous (either tie-on or simulated) apron fronts wild flights of fancy could possibly envision.

Watch and you will see dainty black evening sheers glorified with cunning apron attachments that are embroidered and bespangled most gorgeously. By the same token simple little daytime frocks take on a dress-up mien in that cunningly devised lace-trimmed or quaintly beruffled apron fronts are made to tie on or take off in a jiffy.

And what a boon these fascinating new apron dresses are to a limited clothes allowance. You can see the logic of the argument in an instant—sans apron front attachment you have a simple foundation gown that will carry you through trim and trig during the "don't-dress-up" hours of the day or evening. Comes time to "doll-up" a bit for a luncheon or tea or the unexpected whatever the occasion may be, and here's where the new apron attachment performs its magic. Tie it on and you will be "all dressed up" and some place to go. And if this isn't economy, thrift and good style all in one what better could fashion offer, we would like to know, than a two-some that can be faithfully utilitarian one moment and glamorously festive the next.

The attractive frocks pictured present the theme from both a day and a night viewpoint. Consider them as merely a forerunner of what "is yet to be" in way of apron frocks for now that the vogue for the apron dress has been so successfully launched, designers are all astir developing the wealth of possibilities offered in this new and fascinating fashion trend.

Describing the daytime frock shown to the left in the illustration, it is made of a red, white and black polka dot silk print, which has an interesting border design, as have so many of the newer prints this season. The "off-again-on-again" apron front is accented with the wide silk bordering. For moments of lesser social importance whisk the apron front off and you have a gown simply and tastefully styled for the more practical moments of the day.

Mousseline in a new shade of luminous blue is posed over a taffeta slip to create the enchanting bouffant evening gown pictured to the right. The same flowered lace that creates the youthful short-sleeved bolero outlines the trick apron, which may be removable or not as you please.

Garden party dresses of organdy and the new sheer seersucker and prettily flowered dimities are taking on these quaint little tie-on aprons more or less beruffled with self-fabric or with lace and ribbon-run beading in endless variety.

The apron idea invites all sorts of decorative touches in way of embroidery beadwork and applique. Perfectly charming aprons have hand-painted florals which gives the amateur artist a chance to do some very clever things. Another suggestion worth trying out is to applique little ribbon bowknots at strategic points. Insets of lace butterflies is another thought rich with possibilities.

Star Dust

By VIRGINIA VALE

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

"HOLLYWOOD was never like this!"

Jean Arthur was talking. Dressed in faded jeans, a leaky sombrero and a blouse that most women would use for a dusting rag, she stood in front of the adobe hut which is her dressing room at Old Tucson. Old Tucson is just what it means, a reproduction of the original walled city of the sixties, where Wesley Ruggles is currently filming Clarence Budington Kelland's "Arizona." Situated 16 miles north of present-day Tucson, it is a monument to movie ingenuity, a village of 125 buildings, re-created by Columbia studios' technicians from the original plans of early Tucson.

"Running water is a luxury out here," Miss Arthur said, wiping the perspiration from her face. "To speak of hot water is heresy. There just isn't any. Not that a tub of water wouldn't reach the boiling point if placed in the sun, but there are so many horses, cows, dogs and pigs around here that a tub of water wouldn't have a chance to get warm."

She has turned her back on glamour these days. She is bent only on making "Phoebe Titus," who sold pies for a dollar apiece, believable and real. She is starred in "Arizona," with William Holden and Warren William backing her up, and she's going to give us a picture worth seeing and remembering, though the thermometer does register 126 degrees.

"Waterloo Bridge" is another picture that you'll remember. Vivian Leigh proves that, in "Gone With the Wind," she was no flash in the pan; in fact, she's as good or better in "Waterloo Bridge" as she was in that Civil war epic.

And the picture gives you a new Robert Taylor. His little moustache is tremendously becoming (even though his wife, Barbara Stanwyck, said "Thumbs down!" when he raised a real one). He puts real life into his role, that of a young British army officer in the last war.

The movies are doing very well indeed by Arizona these days. Two hundred and fifty members of the cast and crew of Edward Small's "Kit Carson" troupe landed in Flagstaff the other day; among the actors were Lynn Bari, Jon Hall, Dana Andrews, Raymond Hatton, Director George B. Seitz, and many others whose names are familiar to moviegoers.

From Flagstaff the entire troupe will go to the Indian trading post of Kayente, on the Navajo Indian reservation, where a special town has been built to accommodate the Hollywood folk for their month-long stay.

The mail response to Johnny Green's new Sunday evening "Rhyme-O" program seems to upset the common belief that writing poetry is the special province of a selected few. On this musical audience-participation program, Johnny uses four-line verses, and asks listeners to send them, $5 going to the writer of each verse used.

In one week Green received 10,000 individual letters containing rhymes—and there was an average of three rhymes in each letter.

The Andrews Sisters, famous "swing" trio formerly heard on Columbia Broadcasting company's networks with Glenn Miller and his orchestra, have journeyed to Hollywood; they're broadcasting nightly from a night club there, and preparing to be starred with the Ritz brothers in a Universal picture called, of all things, "Argentine Nights!"

ODDS AND ENDS

☛ Lloyd Nolan scored such a personal triumph in "Johnny Apollo" that he's been given the leading role in 20th Century Fox's "I Married a Nazi," replacing the bed-dimpled Richard Greene, whose illness caused him to leave the cast.

☛ Virginia Lee Corbin, the second greatest child star of her day, and Charlotte Henry, who starred in "Babes in Toyland" and "Alice in Wonderland" not so awfully long ago, are ten-dollar-a-day extras in "The Howards of Virginia."

☛ "I Do" is announced as the final title for the Metro picture originally called "To Own the World," starring Lana Turner, and John Shelton.

Go Military

Go military the American way by pinning to the lapel of your smart tailored suit a gadget, as here pictured, of a miniature cadet cap like the real West Pointer. Marion Weeber, American artist noted for her cunning in handling ceramic jewelry and plastics, designs this cunning piece. It's enameled and studded with tiny rhinestones. As a fitting touch to this most attractive bit of artistry it is made jaunty with a real feather tuft. Wear this cunning ornament and you will create a commotion in your set, for it is really most unusual and distinctive and destined to enjoy a widespread vogue during the coming months. Please to observe that her straw hat is a la cadet cap in its jaunty "lines."

Evening Pinafors

Pinafors are a quaint old fashion interpreted in lavish materials for elaborate new evening gowns.

Comfortable Wedge Shoe Now Popular

One reason for the popularity of wedge shoes is that they present unusual foot comfort. They give excellent support to the instep and ankle and create a firm base for walking. To lighten their somewhat heavy appearance, many of the new versions are trimmed with scroll cut-outs.

Some of the best liked styles are made of elasticized serge or gabardine fabrics. They are usually combined with patent leather or kid. Very light in weight, they cling to the foot snugly and give it a well-fitted feeling that is very comfortable.

Little Hats With Turned-Up Brims

Little hats with their brims turned up sharply on both sides to give a tricorn effect are smart accompaniments for the fitted coats and dressmaker suits of this season.

Effective in its simplicity is one of white linen-weave straw banded and tied on with a narrow black ribbon. Another plain Homburg type of white pique with a deeply creased crown and rolled-up brim is also banded in black ribbon.

Tailored Taffeta Suits Are Popular

Have you seen the stunning new daytime taffeta suits that have just recently entered the style parade? This matter of tailored silk suits and coats is well worth looking up for designers are turning out fascinating models not only in taffeta, but in moire, faille and bengaline, both in navy and black.

THE PEDESTRIANS' PRIMER
 No. 1—Cross Only at Crosswalks

AT THE corner, drivers are on the lookout for you; in mid-block, you're on your own. Keep out of "no man's land." The record in many cities indicates that it is five times more dangerous to cross in the middle of the block than at the corner.

THE BOY who
"HAS NO FUTURE"

He is an American boy.
 There are fifteen million like him in America; as young, as eager, as promising.
 Yet some people feel sorry for these boys. They tell us American frontiers are gone. They say there is no future for youth in this country.
 Do you believe such statements? We people of your electric company don't believe them, and we'll tell you why:
 Fifty years ago the electric industry had barely begun its existence. There were no automobile, radio and aviation industries. Coming right up to date, here are a few of the things we didn't have as recently as 1930:
 Streamline trains. Transoceanic air service. New plastics and resins. Synthetic rubber. Synthetic vitamins. Sulfanilamide and sulfapyridine, drugs that are revolutionizing medicine.
 There are always new frontiers and new futures in America. In good times and bad, Americans work to make the good things of life better and cheaper. The employees of your electric company are typical; their efforts have helped make it possible for this company to give far better service than it could give twelve or fifteen years ago, and to charge about half what was charged then.
 The men of your electric company were once American boys. They believed in their own futures and the future of their country. They worked to make the future better for themselves and their fellow citizens. They hope today's young Americans will not listen to pessimism, because they know that every American has a future if he sincerely believes he has.

THRILLING
MYSTERIOUS EXCITING

Walt Gandy's first visit to the C C ranch in Nevada was enough to tell him that things were decidedly wrong. Even Bill Hollister, his old range partner who summoned him to the C C, was close-mouthed and taciturn. Two murders and a mysterious foe made the C C a desolate place. Gandy's trouble-shooting talents solve a baffling range-land mystery and make "Marked Man" one of the most entertaining Western stories you've ever read! Follow it serially in this paper.

Mexican Relics Found
Of Ancient Civilization
SALT LAKE CITY.—Charles E. Dibble of the University of Utah has in his possession relics he believes indicate an archaic civilization flourished near Mexico City between 200 B. C. and 400 A. D.

Dibble found the relics—specimens of clay and pottery figures and jars—while "kibitzing" on construction of a Mexican federal highway near Mexico City. Dibble said when he saw the specimens turned over by workmen he asked for and was granted permission to search for other relics in the dirt.

Dibble, assistant professor in the university archeology department, said the new road passes over the site of a town that once flourished on the shores of an ancient lake that was called Lake Texcoco.

Explains Why Mexicans
Call Americans 'Gringos'

KANSAS CITY, MO.—Why Mexicans call Americans "gringos" was explained recently by Capt. John B. Reybold, commander of the Second Cavalry. "When the Second Cavalry fought in the Mexican war of 1846," he related, "the men rode into Mexico singing an old Irish drinking song, 'Green Grow the Rushes.' The Mexicans heard that song so frequently that they called the cavalrymen 'gringos,' which was the way the opening words sounded to them."

THE FLAG WE HAVE GOOD REASON TO LOVE

The favored millions who live beneath the bright folds of Old Glory enjoy wider freedom, greater opportunities, and more security than any other people on earth.

The Star Spangled Banner is not an emblem of conquest, it is a symbol of liberty, peace, and justice. To all true Americans the flag is a rallying point for defense, but it must not be, and shall not be a hiding place for traitors.

The 163rd birthday of the American flag comes at a most critical time in the world's history. May it serve as a reminder to all of us of the fact that everything we have today and all that we hope to have tomorrow, will depend upon our national vigilance and our loyalty to the flag.

Harold Channing Wire's Greatest Western Story!

Action spiced with mystery—plus just enough romance—that's "Marked Man," a red-blooded, fast moving story of old Nevada. The scene is the C C ranch, to which Walt Gandy is summoned one day by his old range partner, Bill Hollister. Gandy, on arrival, finds a mysteriously silent ranch, a murdered man and a smoldering range war. What follows is a story of two-fisted action as Gandy and Hollister attempt to defend the ranch against the attacks of a mysterious foe. Who was the murderer? Who is back of the range war? Why doesn't the C C fight back? These are only a few of the problems which the redoubtable Gandy has to solve. With a taut climax that leaves your ears ringing with the thunder of six-guns, "Marked Man" is an unusual narrative, colorful, he-man's reading from start to finish.

TALBOT MUNDY—WNU SERVICE

At the foot of the stairs, Norwood pulled out his cardcase, produced a card and gave it to one of the palace servants:

"Send that up to Miss Lynn Harding. Say I will be waiting outside. I will meet her near the front steps."

He walked out. Under the glare of the portico light he pulled out his handkerchief, raised his right arm and waved it.

O'Leary's shrill whistle answered: long-short, long-short—"Order received and executed—okay!"

O'Leary had released the Bengali doctor.

CHAPTER XXII

Lynn looked like a ghost in white chiffon. She turned instinctively to the right and stepped into the darkness. She stood within a few paces of the spot where, one night ago, she had bridled at Norwood's blunt comments. It seemed as if a whole lifetime had passed in the interval. The guitar and the songs on the wall were a far-off memory.

Norwood strode out of the darkness. "Silence!" he said. "Not a word. Nothing so easy on the nerves as saying nothing."

They continued walking until they came to a moonlit lotus pond and stood together staring at the reflections of trees. A little animal jumped into the water and swam. They watched the ripples spread until they reached the marble banks. At last Norwood spoke:

"Feeling better?"

"I can't analyze it. I suppose I'm feeling guilty."

"Want some more silence?"

"No. I would rather you'd say what you think."

Norwood chuckled: "You remember the parrot. I draw extra pay for thinking and not talking. I have only one virtue."

"You say only one virtue? What is it?"

"I never use double meanings."

"Are you telling the truth?"

"Yes."

"Good. Then please say what you think of me, straight, without any double meanings or reservations. Let's get that over with."

"Very well, Lynn. But are you quite sure you won't be belligerent about it? I didn't bring you out here to start a fight."

It wasn't the first time he had called her Lynn, but she noticed it. When Rundhia first called her Lynn she actually hadn't noticed it.

"I never am belligerent," she answered.

"No? What a pity. Of course, I don't expect to be shot but I don't even want to make you really angry. You're a bit angry now, aren't you?"

"Yes, but with myself. I'm not angry with you. Go ahead, punish me. I'll take it. Say what you think."

"Do you promise you won't hit back, or make a scene, or accuse me of hidden motives?"

"Captain Norwood, kindly go ahead and tell me. I've treated you very badly and you're entitled to revenge. I will listen. And won't answer back."

"Don't promise."

"Say what you think," she insisted.

"I think the same now that I did when I first saw you."

"What is it?"

"Perhaps I'm not being quite accurate. It wasn't until that astonishing picnic at the palace that I made up my mind to marry you. I fell in love with you at first sight, without guessing who you were, when I saw you with the Maharanee in the carriage. When I saw you on horseback in the early morning, it was all over as far as I'm concerned—nothing further to argue about. I've committed myself to the hilt. How about you?"

Lynn caught her breath. "I—I never dreamt of it!"

"I know you didn't. And you're not dreaming now. We're both of us stone-cold sober and wide awake."

"Do you always make love like this?"

"I don't even know the first rules of the game. I'm a chronic bachelor, suddenly converted."

"But Captain Norwood—"

"The only girl I ever fell in love with calls me Carl or else calls the police."

"But—" Lynn laughed. "Are there any police?"

"Try. Shout for them. An Indian night is as full of eyes as the sky is of stars."

"But I wouldn't know what to say to the police. I'd better call you Carl."

"And now to use one of your phrases, let's get this over with: I'm a pauper. I've four hundred pounds a year and an Engineer Captain's pay."

"Carl, I hope you don't think I'm wealthy. I haven't a cent in the world. I've been disinherited."

"You have? Is that an actual fact?"

"Yes. Auntie hasn't even left me a reputation."

That's marvelous! Oh, my God, what luxury! I was scared stiff."

"You? Scared?"

"Yes. Scared of you. Afraid you'd think I was after your money."

"Carl, I haven't a cent."

"All right. More preliminaries. Mostly I live in a tent. My servants are scandalous rogues, who know nearly as much as I do about crime and treachery and worse."

Lynn laughed: I never lived in a tent, and I've been kept away from sinners. I'm a very ignorant person. You'd better think again, hadn't you?"

"No. I've finished thinking about that. But how about you? It's your last chance. Lynn, you're on the edge of the abyss of matrimony. Any questions?"

"Millions of questions! Billions! I don't even know you. I'll ask them afterwards."

"Good. That's the style. There'll be lots of time afterwards. Well, you've refused to call the police, and you've promised not to talk back or make a scene. So I'll be damned if I'll wait any longer. Lynn, I love you."

The Indian night and the Indian stars; the perfumed silence and the moonlit lotus pool all merged into a consciousness of love—one moment of eternity that swept away the past—one moment of unself-conscious mystery in which the lover and the loved were one and all life was their realm, all values were in true perspective. Love was real. Everything else was illusion and unreal. Until gradually, even in Carl Norwood's arms, Lynn's awareness of earth resumed its spell and she looked away at their reflections in the moonlit lotus pond.

Lynn looked like a ghost in white chiffon.

"Look, Carl. See us! Look."

"Shadows." Then he spoke strangely: "Shadows of reflections that reflect what? You and I are shadows. We move in response to something else. What is it?"

"Carl are you real? Is that you talking?"

"I suspect it's the real me talking to the real you. Lynn, I'm steeped in eastern thought. Life's good. We're growing—getting wiser gradually. That's why I spared Rundhia. He'd have been hanged if I hadn't done what I did. Now he'll get some money from the Maharanee and live in Europe."

"But Carl—" Lynn hesitated. "Perhaps I shouldn't say it."

"All right, I'll say it for you. He'll go to Europe and do it again. And blots of women won't have sense enough to stand 'him off until he's ruined them and sneered and gone."

"Yes, I was thinking of that. It was a mean thought."

"No, it wasn't."

"The way I thought it, it was mean. Carl, I believe you because I can't disbelieve you, not for any other reason. It seems impossible. How can such a man as you are, with such thoughts as you think, possibly love me? I believe I deliberately tempted Rundhia. The Maharanee—"

Norwood chuckled. "All right, I'll say that for you, too. She said he really loved you. He'd be a fool if he didn't. The trouble is, he is a fool. So it won't last. Not that it makes any difference."

"But if I've made him wretched—"

"That's his business. Each of us pays for his own mistakes."

"But that was my mistake."

"Your end of it was yours. But you paid cash. Rundhia doesn't. He lets the bill run at compound interest. Everybody makes mistakes. Nobody's worth a damn who hasn't made 'em."

"Bad ones?"

"The worse the better. The rule is, learn and don't repeat. On that condition there's no aftermath. You pay once and that's all."

"Carl, do you mean that a person's past isn't—"

Norwood laughed: "Sink of iniquity, Lynn, unchastened Jezebel, come to think of it, I left your past history seated on a trunk on the path outside the guesthouse. What with the mosquitoes and her temper she'll be cooking up a future unless we go to her rescue."

"Carl, I'm shameless. I really am. I'd forgotten Auntie."

"Did you ever have toothache? One forgets that, too, afterwards."

"But this isn't afterwards. You don't know Auntie. Carl, I'll go to her. You mustn't come. Please, really, you mustn't. She will say things that I don't want you to hear. They're not true but she'll say them."

"Are you sure?"

"You mean, am I sure they're not true?"

"I mean, are you sure she'll say them?"

"Yes. She always does when she's angry."

"Let's find out."

"Carl, I'm—"

"You're embarrassed. So'm I. It's good for both of us, so let's do it together."

They took their time, strolling along shadowy moonlit paths toward the guesthouse, too interested in each other to notice voices until they were quite close up beneath the darkness of the overhanging trees.

The trunks no longer stood in a row on the garden path. There was a light in the servants' pantry at the rear, and a smell of cooking. Light poured through the living-room window.

"Hush," said Norwood. "Listen. Rule number one is don't talk in the dark. Rule number two is listen and learn, but never tell tales."

The Maharanee's voice came quite distinctly through the open window: "If I, who am broken-hearted, can forgive my nephew Rundhia—"

An unmistakable voice interrupted: "You're being silly. Don't be sentimental. You probably ruined Rundhia by being sentimental. At your age you ought to know better. You should have spanked him when he was young, and kept him short of pocket money when he was older. I neglected to spank Lynn. That's the trouble and I'm ashamed of myself. Are you sure you know where she is? Are you quite sure? Who told you she is near the lotus pond with Captain Norwood?"

"Six servants," said the Maharanee, "and one gardener. Also the Chief of Police very kindly took the trouble to phone me about it."

"Imagine the impudence of that girl!"

"But I haven't noticed that she is impudent."

"If she was in love with Captain Norwood she should have told me."

"Do you think she knew it?" asked the Maharanee. "I knew it, late this evening. But do you think that Lynn knew it?"

Auntie Harding cackled a chairwoman's ladylike laugh on two notes, politely derisive:

"Knew it? Maharanee, what this younger generation knows is more than you and I ever will know. They're incorrigible. That girl has more whalibone in her will than there are cents in a dollar. It isn't brittle. You can't break it. It's resilient."

"Yes," said the Maharanee, "this generation has its own ideas. It goes its own way. Lynn will go far."

"Yes," said the Maharanee, "this generation has its own ideas. It goes its own way. Lynn will go far."

Auntie coughed drily: "Go far? She will go to the devil, I don't doubt. But I have this consolation. If what you say is true, she has disgraced herself with the only gentleman I have met in India."

The Maharanee protested loyally: "His Highness my husband—"

"Oh, kings don't count," said Auntie. "They're middle class nowadays. I can't forgive kings for the way they've sold out to the politicians. I never will forgive them. I'm a Democrat and I'll die in my boots."

"But you'll forgive Lynn?"

"Getting back at me, are you? A little sarcasm, eh? Maharanee, if I can get that minx Lynn to forgive me before she has had time to slander me to Captain Norwood, I'll think I'm lucky. I'll be a wizard—or is it a witch?"

"Or are you a little wiser than you were?" the Maharanee suggested.

Norwood whispered: "How much did you bet? Are you still scared?"

Moses Lafayette O'Leary's whistle piped from the nearby shrubbery a few notes of a private signal: C, D, F—C, D, F—C, D, F—C. It startled Lynn.

"What was that? It sounded like someone in hiding. Are we being watched?"

"Yes, the night has eyes in India. They've a saying here that even diamonds see in the dark. That's a very rough diamond informing me that all's clear and he's off home. You go in. I'll follow you presently. I want to speak to him."

Norwood walked alone into the shrubbery. He almost walked into Moses O'Leary.

"I warned you," said O'Leary, "about women. By the hundred they're all right. One's a problem. But you wouldn't listen. I suppose you'll get yourself a new man now, to say yes to you and tell you you're Solomon. But Solomon had him a thousand wives, and concubines on top o' that. So put that in your pipe and smoke it. Am I out of a job?"

"Where's your horse?"

"Tain't a horse. I rode your baby mare. She's near the gate."

"When you get back to camp see that she's rubbed down carefully and give her a light blanket. Stand by and see it done. Do you hear me?"

"Yes, sir, Captain Norwood."

"Here's the key to the whiskey. Help yourself. You've leave of absence until noon tomorrow. Turn up sober or I'll—"

"Is the Government broke?"

"Here are ten rupees. But that's not Government money. It's personal. Don't get into trouble with it."

"Well, sir, I've seen miracles in my day. I've seen you pick winners. Maybe she's as reliable as she is good looking. Here's hoping I'll say a prayer for you."

"Don't keep that mare standing Good night."

"Good night, sir, and here's hoping."

Moses Lafayette O'Leary strode away into the night, until the sound of his footfall ceased on the dusty path and there was nothing more heard of him but the tune that he whistled:

Oh, officers' wives get puddings and pies
And soups and roasts and jellies,
But poor Tommie's wives get sweet—

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Standing on a heavy rug or rubber mat will go a long way toward preventing fatigue during long periods of ironing.

Take advantage of the next windy day to clean your chintz coverings and curtains. Hang them on a clothes line and brush them quickly with a clean whisk broom dipped frequently in warm water.

Cloths saturated with polishing liquids if stored away in a closet often cause spontaneous combustion. Keep these cloths in a covered tin container.

Cakes or cookies in which honey is used as a sweetening require a rather moderate temperature for baking. If the oven is too hot they will burn.

Land of 300 Languages

The U. S. S. R. boasts that within its borders there are 59 nations, the peoples of which speak no fewer than 114 languages. Some of these communities are very small, the Oroks for instance numbering only 154. The British empire can easily smash this record, for in India alone more than 200 languages are spoken, and if dialects also are considered the number is about 300.

While most of the nations in the U. S. S. R. have some relation to each other, many peoples under the British flag are diametrically opposed in religion, customs and ideas, although they are welded together as a part of the British empire.

The Tainter Sunday school north of Boyne City visited the Star Sunday school in a body June 2, making 70 in attendance, the largest number ever, but, sorry to say, most of them were visitors. It was a very enjoyable meeting. Miss Clute of the Tainter school, who has been blind all her life, played the organ. Dr. Beuker of East Jordan taught the adult class and visitors from East Jordan helped with special singing. June 9th will be Children's Day and baptizing. The session is sure to be especially interesting.

A large acreage of corn was planted last week and a still larger acreage will be planted this week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Hayden and family of Pleasant View and Mrs. J. W. Hayden of Orchard Hill called on the Rolland Beyer family 20 miles around in Marion Twp., Sunday after Sunday school and found them very well. Little Billy, who has been very ill with some kind of poison, is very much improved and is expected to fully recover.

Workmen started Friday a. m. to remove the Whiting Park Fire Tower. It is such a pity to lose it as scarcely a day passed during summer but crowds climbed it and quite a number climbed it during winter. To climb the tower was a stunt hundreds, or maybe thousands performed, bus loads coming for miles to do the trick.

Ida Luva Garden.

It always has puzzled me why different plants, coming from the same soil, subjected to exactly the same conditions, should have different seasons for blooming. Perhaps it is the variation in length of daylight hours that enables us to have "succession of bloom" instead of all of our flowers at the same time. Please let us know the result of your experiment with your chrysanthemum. I would try it myself but have no chrysanthemums for the very reason that discouraged you — they took up so much room and never got around to blooming before heavy frosts.

Dear Mrs. Harrington:

Here is my "calendar." Am sorry I forgot it last week. Will you please correct an error I made two weeks ago? The seeds Mrs. L. Duffy gave me and which I planted were castor beans, not gourd seeds. Lillian Brabant.

Thank you, Mrs. Brabant. The correction is made. We missed your calendar last week, and I was afraid you had become weary in well-doing. We all enjoy reading about the progress of your garden, and I am counting on your notes as a check on my own gardening another season.

I am interested in your theory that castor beans prevent moles. My theory is that moles only go where there is a concentration of insects, and insects do avoid the castor bean, root and branch. It is my theory that when

GARDENER'S CALENDAR
By Lillian Brabant

- June 3rd: Transplanted larkspur. Set out gladiolas.
- June 4th: Planted Castor oil beans as a preventive for moles in the garden.
- June 5th: Now blooming: my iris, snow white, golden yellow, lavender, royal blue, light yellow, purple, blue flax, English daisies, red peonies, bridal wreath, pink and white honeysuckle.
- June 6th: Set out pepper plants and dahlias.
- June 7th: Set out snow-on-the-mountain.
- June 8th: Transplanted hen-and-chickens.

a mole tunnels in the garden, it is because grubs and worms are working at the roots of the plants there. The mole eats no roots, but he does eat the grubs that eat the roots.

Remember and reserve the afternoon of Tuesday, June 18th for a meeting of the Garden Club. The program includes a discussion of "Conservation of Wild Flowers and Ground Cover" by Mrs. E. Rymer of Traverse City, and "A Peony Bouquet" by Mrs. G. A. Lisk. Garden Club members will also present a display of iris from their gardens. Place: Mrs. Walter Mower's home, "Gwellentop" near Ironton. Hour: 2:30. Hostesses: Mrs. Clarence Healey, Mrs. C. H. Pray.

Questions to wonder about as you weed your garden:

Why does a potato taste differently from a turnip? How account for the varied flavors of apples, plums, pears? Of raspberries, strawberries, gooseberries? Why does a rose have a fragrance quite different from that of a carnation? Why are some flowers fragrant only at night? Where do these flavors and scents come from?

I couldn't sleep nights if I thought my cat was roaming about, preying on unwary fledgling birds. We need cats for the purpose they were created to fill — to destroy the rats and mice that destroy the grain which is our food, but this is the time of year to restrain your "mouse-trap". Keep kitty well fed and out of the way of temptation. We need cats, but we need birds, too, so shut in your cat o' nights and under your watchful eye in the daytime. It is our responsibility, if we keep pets, to prevent them from infringing on the rights of others, whether the "others" are men, birds, or beasts.

Dandelions are smart. Did you ever notice how in the lawn they crouch flat against the ground to get away from the blades of the lawn mower? And if you cut off their heads, the roots live on to multiply by threes and fours? So get all the root when you weed for dandelions. Build up your lawn with fertilizer and eventually the grass will starve out the weeds. In the meantime, do not let the weeds go to seed.

Did you know that in Michigan several million dollars worth of porcelain and pottery products are manufactured annually?

A beautiful bird is the "crossbill" and in the presence of witnesses I have seen one in East Jordan.
