Ruegsegger, Ance Rogers Are Primary Winners

IN LIGHT VOTE IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY PRIMARY RETURNS RATHER SLOW

In one of the lightest votes cast in Charlevoix County at a primary election, Judge of Probate Ervan A. Ruegsegger was renominated to that office.

Att'y Norman D. Ance of Boyne City won the nomination for Prosecuting Attorney, defeating the present incumbent, Att'y C. Meredith Bice of Charlevoix.

Samuel E. Rogers was nominated for County Road Commissioner, defeating Ira Bradshaw — one of the present Commissioners.

Missing Precinct Will Not Affect Standings

At the time of compiling the returns of Charlevoix County — Wednesday afternoon — the townships of Chandler, Peaine and Hudson had not reported. Two years ago the total vote in these three precincts was 98 Republican, 10 Democrat. This small vote will not affect the present returns.

Dedicated New Community Bld'g

AT EAST JORDAN TOURIST PARK ON LABOR DAY

East Jordan did itself proud in the dedication of the Community Building at the Tourist Park on Labor Day.

The reason for staging the dedication on Labor Day was because that was the only day some of the W. P. A. executives could attend. The following officials were present: C. A. Surrine, of Lansing, State Director of Operations of WPA; Julius A. Rawlew, of Grand Rapids, District Chief Area Engineer of WPA; and Frank Wildman, of Traverse City, District WPA Supervisor.

These gentlemen much enjoyed the fine pot luck dinner which was prepared by the City officials of East Jordan and their wives, and a large number of other East Jordanites who are keenly interested in the building.

C. A. Surrine, of Grand Rapids, gave the dedicatory address which was a masterful presentation of the work that his office is directing. After the address those present inspected the building and the shuffleboards that have been built as a part of the same project. The buildings and the boards are a decided asset to East Jordan.

After this, Clarence Healey, Mayor of the City, with members of the City Council, escorted the visiting officials to the site of the Old Russell House, which is the place designated for the erection of the year round Community Building, bonds for which were voted at the spring election.

Mr. Surrine, as State Director, expressed satisfaction with all that has so far been done, and gave assurance that in a very few days, the plans, that then were in the office at Lansing, would be approved and be on the way to the Federal office in Washington for final acceptance. This means a big step toward the securing of the long hoped for building on Main Street.

Mr. Surrine expressed his gratification for the businesslike method that has been followed in East Jordan in the efforts to secure the proposed building. Today the prospects are brighter than ever and it looks as though the splendid team work of our City Council and those who have co-operated with them are to be rewarded.

Hubert Pinney, president of the East Jordan Club of Flint, was present, and spoke a few words which added to the pleasure of the occasion.

Temple Hit Parade

The new program announced by the Temple is one of rousing, hearty entertainment with four smash productions of widely varied themes. James Oliver Curwood's epic of the north, opens the parade Saturday, "River's End."

The second bill, for Sunday and Monday is the sensational, "Four Sons" starring Don Ameche, Alan Curtis, George Ernest and Eugenie Leontovich.

Family Nights on Tuesday and Wednesday present Jane Withers and Kent Taylor in "The Girl From Avenue A."

And last, but by no means least, is the actionful technicolor production, "Return of Frank James," with Henry Fonda and Jackie Cooper importantly cast.

Bradley, Bishop, and Anderson Winners

Congressman Fred Bradley from Rogers City, representing the 11th District, was re-nominated. His opponent was U.S.A. Heggblom of Manistique.

State Senator Otto W. Bishop of Alpena, easily defeated his opponent Dr. George Lister, of Hillman.

On the Democratic ticket, Wendell Lund, Escanaba, won the Congressional nomination to oppose Bradley at the November polls.

Bishop will be opposed by Robert H. Rayburn, Alpena.

With State Representative Douglas Tibbitts withdrawing from the race in the Charlevoix-Leelanau Dist., it became Leelanau's "turn". Louis E. Anderson of Northport defeated Russell Bolton of Empire for the Republican nomination, having about a 300 margin in Leelanau. On the Democratic ticket at the present writing (Wednesday night) it looks as though Calvin J. Bennett of East Jordan had won the Democratic nomination over Orville Helfrich of Sutton's Bay and William J. Schram. Returns at present from Leelanau on this are incomplete.

Dickinson, VanWagoner To Compete In Nov.

From latest returns throughout Michigan Governor Luren D. Dickinson won the Republican nomination for Governor by about 2 to 1 margin. State Highway Commissioner Murray D. VanWagoner won the Democrat nomination for Governor by about 5 to 1 margin. As a result, these two will be opponents in the November election.

Other Republican results in the State show U. S. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg leading his opponent, Bowen R. Gover by a wide margin for Lieutenant Governor, at present, Eugene C. Keyes is leading a nine-man race for that office with about two-thirds of the State's precincts reporting.

On the Democratic ticket Frank Fitzgerald is leading for U. S. Senator. Frank Murphy, for Lieutenant Governor.

While the Charlevoix County vote was particularly light this year, the State as a whole had one of the heaviest primary elections in recent years.

Trout Fishing On The Jordan

CONTINUES TO DEC. 1 UP TO THE ROGERS BRIDGE

Lansing, Sept. 10 — Not all trout fishing ends on Labor Day.

On designated lakes and sections of streams in 14 northern Michigan counties, fishing for rainbow and steelhead trout with hook and line continues through September, October and November. Anglers will find the rainbow fishing grounds listed in the law digest issued by the conservation department with each license.

Among the streams having sections open to rainbow anglers are the Pere Marquette, Muskegon, White, Manistee, Indian, Sturgeon and Jordan rivers.

Trotting for lake trout in upper Great Lakes waters is reported improving as the weather grows cooler, with prospects at Grand Traverse bay and Lake Superior ports currently rated good. Lake trout are protected in Great Lakes waters for about a month at the time of their fall spawning season, but in 10 specially designated inland lakes they may be taken at any time during the year.

King Carol II of Rumania Abdicates As Fascist Iron Guard Effects Coup; House Votes 60-Day Volunteer Plan Before Launching of Peacetime Draft

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

BALKANS: Coup

Shots fired at the palace of King Carol of Rumania followed anxious days in the Balkans, during which Rumania accepted a Berlin-Rome dictated agreement transferring part of Transylvania to Hungary.

Included in the agreement was a guarantee to Rumania by Germany that its shrunken borders would be guaranteed against further demands by anyone. With a "Who, me?" expression, Soviet Russia looked over the fence from Bessarabia and Northern Bukovina, which it earlier had seized from Rumania.

Even this did not satisfy the king's enemies. Two days later King Carol II announced the appointment of Gen. Ion Antonescu as the new military dictator of the country. Carol retained only a few unimportant governmental tasks.

But still crowds of angry rioters shouted in the public square around the Rumanian palace and the political "outs" clamored for more changes. Finally it was announced that King Carol had abdicated. Stepping down from the throne he was succeeded by his son Michael, 18 years of age, who once before ruled his nation as "the boy king" when his father renounced the right to the throne in 1925.

The coup against Carol was by Fascists who sought to take over Rumania at once and liquidate the entire situation.

M-DAY:

Men

Effects of the war will be brought to hundreds of thousands of American homes this month. For the first time in U. S. peace time history young men will be called from their jobs and schools to serve at least one year in the nation's military forces.

First is the National Guard, 60,500 officers and men from 26 states being the initial cadre going on active service beginning September 16. Later more will be called until 250,000 are in the field.

Meanwhile 11,000,000 will have registered under the conscription measure. Once set up, the draft machinery will turn fast. First call will be for a gradual enlistment of 400,000. An additional 500,000 will follow before spring.

A few days after the senate had approved the Burke-Wadsworth bill which would call up these first U. S. peacetime conscripts, the house of representatives tacked an amend-houses, kitchens, drainage systems, gas and electrical lines. Erection of wooden barracks must wait congressional appropriation.

Sixteen camps were built during the World war. Most of these have been dismantled but the government still owns the land. If the same sites are selected, new barracks will be built at Camp Devens at Ayer, Mass.; Camp Upton, Yaphank, L. I.; Camp Dix, Wrightson, N. J.; Camp Meade, Annapolis Junction, Md.; Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va.; Camp Jackson, Columbia, S. C.; Camp Gordon, Atlanta; Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio; Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky.; Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich.; Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill.; Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark.; Camp Dodge, Des Moines, Iowa; Camp Funston, Fort Riley, Kan.; Camp Travis, Fort Sam Houston, Texas; and Camp Lewis, American Lake, Wash.

Munitions

In some lines of equipment, where sufficient material cannot be constructed by existing industry, the government will build its own factories or lend money to private firms to expand.

With an eye to safety, however, none of these new facilities will be erected within 250 miles of an ocean or foreign border. This may develop a shift in the nation's industrial life.

HISTORY:

War Swap

In an agreement declared to be the most momentous in American history since the Louisiana Purchase, the United States traded warships to Great Britain for Western hemisphere air and naval bases.

To the U. S. came:

Ninety-nine-year leases in Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Trinidad, Antigua, and British Guiana.

Promise that if Britain loses the war it will not turn its fleet over to Germany, nor scuttle it.

To Britain goes:

Fifty old-age destroyers, of which we have 123.

From a strategic and financial standpoint it was an excellent deal for the United States. The smallest base, at Antigua, one of the Leeward islands in the Caribbean, is considered worth more than the entire cost of the destroyers. Total worth of the bases is estimated at about half the cost of the entire United States navy. From the naval view, the trade gives America a line of fortifications unparalleled in protecting the Panama canal, the Gulf and the Atlantic coasts. Dependence of the British navy means America's one-ocean navy can be kept in the Pacific.

More important than the material aspects are those of prestige. The trade served notice on the world that America will not see Great Britain go down under the blows of a dictator. Spain, Turkey, the wavering French colonies, even Russia will be impressed. So will Japan. Latin America will feel the Act of Havana implemented.

Reaction at Home

Congress was given no part in the negotiations. President Roosevelt notified them merely of the accomplished fact, and cited legal opinions from Attorney General Jackson upholding his power to make the deal.

While there was general acceptance that the United States defense position had been greatly advanced, the President's methods are due to be given a raking criticism.

... how the wind is blowing ...

Business—New York will inherit from Amsterdam the title of world's diamond market, said Sir Ernest Oppenheimer, chairman of two corporations which control 95 per cent of the world's production.

Canada—If Britain is forced to evacuate London as its capital, the government will move to Toronto, not Ottawa. Quarters already have been selected for the royal family.

Banks—Treasury officials alarmed at an increase in hoarding among individuals, are urging banks to prohibit large withdrawals where the need for the money is not clear.

POLITICS:

Issues Appear

Whether the government shall be given power to seize industries where owners refuse contracts for national defense production may turn into one of the major issues of the campaign. A clause to that effect, introduced by Senator Russell (D., Ga.) was included in the conscription bill before it passed the senate. Opposition developed in the house which has a less drastic idea. Final decision may be reached by conferees.

Wendell L. Willkie, G. O. P. presidential nominee, denounced the Russell amendment less than 24 hours after its enactment. He said it was a move to "socialize and sovietize" industry. "If our enterprises and assets are to be taken over by the government," he asked, "what are we to defend?"

He also called upon the President to name a co-ordinator of national defense with full executive power to handle the nation's $11,000,000 arms program. Such a move, he said, was advocated in the 1939 report of the national resources board.

Answer came quickly in the senate, where it was pointed out that 10 Republicans were among the 69 senators who favored "industrial draft." Senator Russell said Willkie was willing to conscript lives and careers of young men but not wealth.

WHEAT:

World Crop

The bureau of agricultural economics said indications are that about the same wheat acreage will be planted for 1941 harvest as was seeded for the 1940 harvest. There were 62,000,000 acres allotted for seeding for the 1941 crop under the Agricultural Adjustment act, the same as for the 1940 crop.

The bureau estimated that 1941 production will total about 750,000,000 bushels and leave about 50,000,000 bushels for export or addition to carry over. The total carryover would accordingly be about 300,000,000 bushels at the close of the 1941-42 season.

World acreage, exclusive of Soviet Russia and China, the bureau said, is expected to remain approximately the 275,000,000 acres harvested in 1939. The bureau said that world wheat supplies, exclusive of Soviet Russia and China, for the year beginning July 1, 1940, may be about 100,000,000 to 150,000,000 bushels smaller than a year ago when they totaled 5,445,000,000 bushels, the largest stock on record.

Here is an aerial view of a section of London's waterfront as it appears to the bombardier of a raiding plane. In the foreground are some of the piers and warehouses that stretch for miles along the Thames; across the river, magnificent public buildings and residential estates. London, heart of England, and nerve center of the British empire, has been in a continual state of alarm recently, as Hitler's air armadas swoop in from across the channel. The Thames is a silver signpost that leads air raiders right to the front door.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—Producing "Gone With the Wind" turned David O. Selznick's hair gray. He worked 51 hours without sleep and stoked up on benzadrine every now and then, in order to hang on to the finish. Liquidating his company, Selznick International Pictures, Inc., shaping a new one to meet changed conditions due to the war, will no doubt be easy after all that. The liquidation and the formation of David O. Selznick Productions, Inc., is a major adjustment in the film industry, after International's Herculean efforts and success in filming the classics.

Although he weighs 200 pounds, Mr. Selznick was always light on his feet. He is a second generation producer, but he started from scratch, after his father, L. J. Selznick, a Russian immigrant, had made and lost millions in the film business. When David was 21, his father had tried to fill some inside straight, without any luck and the young man had a one-dollar bill, with which to start his career, plus some schooling in movie-making and his old man's yen for taking a chance.

He saw possibilities in Luis Angel Firpo for a profitable quickie. He pencilled out a plot, borrowed $2,000 from a friend, paid Firpo $1,000, took a few shorts of the Wild Bull of the Pampas and within three days took a profit of $875 on his film. He went on from there to his gallery of the classics, including "The Tale of Two Cities," "David Copperfield," "Little Lord Fauntleroy," "The Prisoner of Zenda," and "Tom Sawyer."

In Russia, the family name was Zeleznick. Zeleznick pere left home at 12, met disillusionment as a hard-driven factory hand in England, and found his slice of the American dream waiting for him when he landed here, as a jeweler, banker, promoter and film-producer. All this, and his own venturesome career, has made the younger Selznick eager to film America only as a going concern. Six feet, one, muscular and energetic, he has a placid face rarely caught in a frown—unless somebody tells him that "Rebecca" was a better film than "Wind." That burns him up.

THE Nizam of Hyderabad is said to be the richest man in the world, but he gets his shoes half-soled three or four times and wears patched clothing. Hence, Nizam is World's Richest Man, Yet Paragon of Thrift $400,000 to the British to buy American planes is a gesture somewhat like that of the late Hetty Green suddenly buying somebody a drink—and she never drank. As his fortune is rated around $2,000,000,000, the gift represents a similar strain on his resources.

The Nizam, a pale, bent, nervous little man, worried and watchful, lives in splendor, but his sometimes fabulous expenditures are for requirements of state. Although he has 400 up-to-date automobiles, he rides in a 20-year-old car and frequently walks quite a distance to save gas. For ceremonial journeys he keeps a train steamed up, with 22 pullmans needed to accommodate his entourage.

This writer never could get it quite straight as to how many men the Nizam could bury in diamonds. Estimates vary from four to seven. At any rate, there are always "men working" signs around his palace, as his diamonds, emeralds, rubies and gold-pieces are being shoveled this way and that. He fusses a lot about just where and how his treasure is stored, and is always adding it up and shifting it somewhere else.

In 1926, the British were worried about signs of unrest among the Mohammedan potentate's 15,000,000 subjects. There were reports that he was becoming autocratic, and if anyone drove up in a car he liked, he might add it to his collection. The viceroy interfered and certain controls were set up which seemed to settle everything nicely.

The thrifty Nizam has a playboy son, Prince Nawab Azam Jah, who thinks his father makes a mistake, like old Fafnir, in just sitting on his gold. He is firm in the belief that his pater's wealth ought to be out in circulation.

In the World war, the Nizam was supposed to be a laggard in empire co-operation at first, but at the time of the U-boat crisis suddenly made generous contributions to defense. He has 50 palaces, a splendid seraglio, and is reported to have about 100 sons and daughters.

Germany Holds Japan in Check; British Approach Nazi Airpower

German Air Losses Are High; Harold Ickes's Showing on 'Information Please' Program Annoys Senator Carter Glass.

By CARTER FIELD
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)
WASHINGTON.—There is no way of confirming, either in Washington, in Berlin, or in Tokyo, the most interesting report that comes out of China—that Hitler has refused his permission to Japan to grab French Indo-China and the Dutch East Indies. The general idea of the report is that Hitler is unwilling to permit Japan to seize such a large percentage of the fruits of his victory over France and Holland, in view of the fact that Nippon has contributed so little to the Nazi effort.

The report further states that, some time back, when the Germans approached Japan about sending her navy to join those of Italy and Germany, with a view to annihilating the British fleet, the Japanese preferred watchful waiting. Now, the report goes on, the Nazis feel that they have victory within their grasp without calling on Japan, and they do not propose to see Japan make the same sort of territorial profit, only on a much larger scale, that she made from the last World war. That time, also, the Germans remember bitterly, Japan paid a very small price in military effort for her gains.

But while the report, for obvious reasons, cannot be confirmed, there is an inclination in official circles here to accept it at almost face value. It is too logical to be utterly untrue.

Further, there is another reason why the Germans might view with alarm Japanese aggression in the Dutch East Indies. They remember the amazement with which the whole world heard the sharp caution of Secretary of State Cordell Hull that this country would be much disturbed at any change in ownership of the Dutch East Indies.

Berlin Distrusts U. S. Defense Preparations

At first blush it might seem that, if the Germans are worried about the possibility of the United States getting into the war, they might welcome a diversion in the Far East calculated to keep Uncle Sam very busy until the war in Europe is over. This, of course, might be the German reasoning, but it is not thought here that it is. Berlin is extremely distrustful of every move Washington is making toward preparedness. There are indications that the Nazis do not want the United States on a war basis, entirely aside from any fear that this country might actually enter the European war.

The administration in Washington, of course, believes that Hitler intends activities in Latin America after he has won the Battle of Britain, but that he has always calculated that pacifist sentiment in the United States would prevent this country from being able to do anything to stop him before it was too late.

All of this seems far afield from the Dutch East Indies, but the Nazis know that once in the war, even if it were against Japan alone and not directed primarily at Europe, it would be a very easy step for this country to go all the way.

German Pilots Suffer From Insufficient Training

One of the reasons why the British have been able to bring down such a heavy toll of Nazi fliers in proportion to their own loss of airplanes, according to Capt. Harold H. Balfour, British undersecretary for air, is that the Nazis have been sending aviators into battle without sufficient training. Another is that the British fighting planes are very much superior to any of the various German types. Still a third, when it comes to big aircraft, according to Captain Balfour, is that the Germans cramp their crews, and actually interfere with their effectiveness, in order to have the individual men close together physically. This is thought necessary by the Germans in order that the physical closeness may aid in maintaining morale in emergencies.

Germany has been prodigiously wasteful of the lives of her aviators, Captain Balfour thinks, sending them out not only with insufficient training, but with inadequate information as to the objectives. Britain's "luck" in losing so few bombing planes attacking objectives in Germany and along the channel, he thinks, is due to infinitely better training, superior planes, and most important of all, that the training permitted night instead of day raiding.

In fact, Captain Balfour is highly optimistic about eventual victory, this largely because of some inherent weakness in the direction of the Nazi air force. With every passing day, he says, the only superiority the Germans have, of numbers, is being decreased.

Whether Captain Balfour's reasons are accurate or not, and there is no obvious flaw in them, it is apparent that, despite German official claims, the Germans are losing a very heavy percentage of the planes they send out to "pulverize" England, and so far, according to U. S. official sources of information, the damage has not been important from a military standpoint, horrifying as it may be from the humanitarian aspect.

Harold Ickes Appears On 'Information Please'

Sen. Carter Glass, despite his fiery temper and the ease with which it can be aroused, has never committed murder. This is a record, considering his 82 years, which his friends commend very highly, in view of the number of times they were unable to understand how he was able to restrain himself.

But the old man is getting soft, or perhaps it is the mellowing influence of his honeymoon, for Harold L. Ickes is still alive as this is written. The point of all this is that, in an effort to demonstrate to the country that making a showing on the "Information Please" radio hour is not much of a stunt, and that folks are attaching entirely too much importance to the showing Wendell L. Willkie made over the air and in the news-reels in his unrehearsed performance as co-star with John Kieran and F. P. A.

So Honest Harold appeared, with the two stars just mentioned and Kenneth F. Simpson, the New York Republican leader, as a fellow guest. It is tough to admit but Ickes did not show up very well, and in his polite but misguided efforts to help the prominent New Dealer out, Clifton Fadiman, the interlocutor, did not help things any.

The question was in the administration of what President the federal reserve act was passed. Ickes had his hand up right away, and, unfortunately for the feelings of Senator Glass, Fadiman ignored John Kieran, who-KNEW, and called on the secretary of the interior. Ickes promptly said this happened in the Harding administration.

In the roundtable discussion which followed it appeared that both Fadiman and Ickes seemed to have gotten the notion that Wilson followed Harding in the White House, instead of the other way round. Stage fright, probably, on Ickes' part, for he certainly knew better.

But the trouble about Senator Glass' reaction is that, of all the things he has done in his long and useful life, the one he is proudest of is that he fathered the federal reserve act. It was he who was chairman of the house banking and currency committee at the time of its passage, and his colleagues in both house and senate have always given him more credit than any other man for piloting it through not only the house of representatives, but through the conference committee which adjusted the differences in details of the bills as they passed the house and senate.

To old-line Democrats, incidentally, of whom Senator Glass is admittedly rather outstanding, one of the great achievements of their party in the last generation is the reform of the banking system. This reform met the problems so clearly shown in the 1907 panic, for which the Aldrich-Vreeland bill was a hastily rushed through specific, and it also brought control of the country's system to Washington, taking it away from Wall Street.

And Harold Ickes thought it was done under Warren G. Harding, who was an obscure editor at the time.

THE EVER-PRESENT GOD

LESSON TEXT—Psalm 139:1-12, 23, 24.
GOLDEN TEXT—If a man love me, he will keep my words; and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him.—John 14:23.

"The Psalm of the Unavoidable God"—so Abingdon characterizes Psalm 139, but goes on to say, "It's main theme is 'God Cares.' He cares personally and individually." The omniscience and omnipresence of God, in the trying of the hearts of men, rightly brings fear to the ungodly, but to those who love and serve Him it can bring only assurance and joy.

The sublime concept of God here presented is an evidence of the divine inspiration of the Bible, for no human philosopher could ever have attained to or expressed such an understanding of the true nature of God. Only the infinite, all-knowing God, speaking through man, could give us this magnificent Psalm. It reveals that

I. God Knows Everything (vv. 1-6).

He is entirely unlimited in His true and eternal knowledge of things. Man is always limited in his knowledge of himself, of the world in which he lives, and of God, except as He reveals Himself. Our knowledge is not only partial, but progressive, going from one fact to another; but God knows all things perfectly and entirely from the beginning, yes, from all eternity.

One might well suppose that such a Being would be concerned only with the great and mighty forces of the universe, but we are told that He has an exact and intelligent understanding of and interest in even such simple details of life as our "downsitting and . . . uprising."

God is not so foolish as man. He does not put things and power above personality. He is interested in you and in me—is vitally, personally and blessedly concerned about each one of us. Knowing all about us, He builds a garrison of understanding love around us (v. 5; see Phil. 4:7 R. V.), and keeps His eternally powerful but tender hand upon us, if we permit Him so to do. Reader, have you submitted your life to His control through Jesus Christ our Lord?

II. God Is Everywhere (vv. 7-12).

In our humanity we are limited, not only in knowledge, but also in our ability to be in more than one place at a time. The Bible tells us what our reason would expect; that God, the infinite One, is everywhere at all times. This does not mean (as the pantheist would have us believe) that God is lost in nature, bound up in the rocks and trees, but that He is everywhere immanent in majestic power and love, sustaining all things, controlling and directing the destinies of His universe. He is not far off, letting the world care for itself (as the deist would say),

"But here in present majesty, As in His courts on high."

The man who would hide from God and flee from the Holy Spirit finds no comfort in these verses. He may attempt to hide in heaven or in the abode of the dead, but God is there. If he could ride with the speed of morning light (v. 9) to the uttermost parts of the earth, God is there before him. Darkness, which men think will hide their evil deeds, is like daylight to "Him, with whom we have to do" (Heb. 4:13).

But why flee from a loving God? Why not come to Him in loving obedience, and then with the psalmist rejoice that we "cannot get beyond the circle of His love"? What a blessed truth it is that wherever these lines are read—in the home, the church, in a hospital, in a jail, in an airplane, in the depths of a mine, in darkness or in light, in the great city, or by one living alone in the wilderness—God, the infinite, all-knowing, eternal, loving God, is there. He is right at your side, reader. Turn to Him, count on Him, love Him, serve Him.

III. God Searches Man's Heart (vv. 23, 24).

Verse 3 of our psalm teaches that God searches the hearts of all men, but here we find the psalmist wisely inviting God to search his own heart. It is one thing to know a universal truth; it is another matter to make it personal. It is one thing to know that God, against my will, is pointing out to me the sin and rebellion of my heart; it is quite another thing to open my heart voluntarily to His searching scrutiny.

Why did the Psalmist ask God to search him? That in trying his thoughts any wickedness might be revealed and put away. That is the important point. It is not enough to know that sin is there. We must ask God to give us grace to put it out, that He may then lead us in the "way everlasting."

The Word of God points the way of righteousness in both heart and life. Who will decide this day to walk in that way—in fellowship with the all-knowing, ever-present Lord?

HOW TO SEW

many pieces than to fold them. The best napkins may be banded in blue and white, luncheon mats may be rolled on a red stick with a red band and green may be used for the bridge table cloth. Linen holders like these would make attractive gifts, too. And speaking of shelves and drawers; girls adore the stocking case in Book 3, and the drawer pads in Book 4; and they make dainty gifts for any one. The table cloth case in Book 2 is another good linen closet idea.

MODERN linen closets are tucked in spare corners all over the house, always as close as possible to the place that the linens will be needed. Towels may be found in the bathroom, napkins in the pantry or kitchen and bed linens near the bed rooms.

Lansing — Maybe it's just the prelection rose-colored glasses that Washington experts are looking through.

Possibly it's plain wishful thinking. But if the prognostications of the government authorities are right, Michigan is going to enjoy, more so than the average state, a record bumper prosperity during the next few years.

According to arms contracts let so far, Michigan is eighth on the roll of states with a total amount of $40,315,000. The astonishing contemplated expenditure of $8 billions for defense of democracy will serve as an inflationary influence on commerce, and in judgment of the "United States News," Washington news weekly, the coming boom of record proportions "is underwritten by the uncertainties that will continue regardless of the course of the war abroad."

While the average business man is inclined to be skeptical that the new federal spending venture may turn out to be another "flash in the pan," it is pointed out that the $6 billion program far exceeds any spending experiment during the New Deal, that it will be prolonged over at least four years, and that the new spending must go on whether Great Britain loses or wins the war.

Furthermore, the new federal reserve index shows business today is higher than it was in 1929 or 1937.

Politically speaking, Democrats are jubilant over the 1940 boom, while Republicans feel they have been robbed of an honest issue of New Deal unemployment. It's like having a rabbit pulled out of your hat, while the magician is off stage.

One-Room Schools

Politicians are once again promising miracles of doing away with our multi-million state deficit while giving more pensions for the aged, restoring aid to the crippled children and assuring other benefits here and there.

Together with the "defend democracy" armament spending, these deservng causes are complicating the plight of Michigan public schools.

Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, has been one of Michigan's most vigorous proponents for adequate state school aid. However, he is also aware of certain weaknesses in the school armor. The one-room school, of which there are more than 5000 in the state, is one of them.

In this day of good transportation, it may surprise you to know that Michigan has 596 schools with 10 pupils or less. In fact, 66 schools exist with five pupils each!

In rural areas that are sparsely populated, the one-room school may be indispensable. But an astonishing fact is that most of the 596 one-room schools with 10 or less pupils are located in the southern rural districts; they are not in northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

Tread Softly!

When you start talking about the rural school situation, someone is sure to warn, "Better go easy! You're going to tread on someone's toes."

The sentiment that encircles the community center where mother went to school (and perhaps Grandma too) is one of the complicating things in this dollars-and-cents rural education picture.

In the first place, folks just prefer to run their own affairs. And that goes for their schools.

In every neighborhood whether it be urban or rural you will find certain individuals who are possessed with ability for leadership. They yearn to assert their American rights. The school, an institution that is almost as sacred as the church, becomes the object of friendly concern. School leaders become elected commissioners, many of whom receive salaries or fees for their services.

The principle of home rule needs no defense in rural Michigan,

Translating a generalization into pocketbook terms, the office of Dr. Elliott in Lansing has estimated it would be possible to effect saving of approximately $196,000 a year in shutting down these 596 one-room schools.

Pupils would be transported by bus to nearby centers.

This conclusion was reached after a study had been made of "before and after" costs of seven grade school districts in Barry county.

These districts continue as legal units. They merely pay pupils' transportation and tuition costs. Here are some interesting figures.

Before: Total cost of running the seven schools was $5,926.51, or an average of $846.64 per district.

After: Total cost of transportation and tuitions was $3,611.45, or an average of $515.92 per district.

Conclusion: Net annual saving per district is $330.72. Sharpen your pencil and the total for 596 schools would be a bit more than $196,000 every year.

That's close to a million dollars in five year's time! In any man's language, the tax economy would be substantial.

"Wastful" — Dr. Elliott

Sympathetic as he is to the idea of home-rule and the community school, Michigan's state superintendent of public instruction takes the position that waste in education must be removed.

Dr. Elliott is quoted: "To pay a teacher, pay the expenses of keeping up the school property, pay salaries or fees to three school commissioners — all for the purpose of providing a school for five or ten children seems wasteful to me. All the surveys on the subject have shown that most of these schools could be closed with advantage."

The above rural school situation is another illustration how times have changed. Good highways and comfortable heated buses have expanded the geographic radius. The modern school curriculum includes subjects other than reading, writing and arithmetic. To Governor Dickinson some of these courses may constitute "frills," but to many mothers of 1940 they are just as essential as the telephone, electric lights, radio and the family automobile. The difference in viewpoint is largely a difference in ages.

At a time when tax dollars are being called upon to do many duties — almost impossible so at times — it is inevitable that these one-room schools of yesterday will be appraised anew in terms of today's needs.

AN APPRECIATION

I wish to express my most sincere appreciation for the support given me by my many friends in my candidacy for re-election; and extend to my successor my heartiest congratulations and best wishes for a successful administration.

For your 1942 telephone call

At some future time... let us say some morning in 1942... you will want to make a telephone call. You still will want a quick, clear connection. The necessary equipment... switchboards, cables, wires, vacuum tube repeaters, test boards; and so on... is so complex that it simply cannot be assembled overnight. That's why we are working on your 1942 call now! We must develop and build for it in advance. Long experience has taught us that while serving the present, we also must be preparing constantly for the still greater demands of the future.

ONE mischievous Scotty is certainly enough—but two, well, that's just twice as much fun. Delightful new tea towel motifs are formed, however, as these Scotties disastrously inquire into every phase of household work. Perky cross stitch bows and the cross stitched day names done in gay colors will add a cheerful note to these kitchen towels.

Our Deepest Chasm

The deepest chasm in the United States and in continental North America is Hells canyon on the Snake river, directly along the border between Oregon and Idaho. This abyss, formed by the Wallowa mountains of Oregon and the Seven Devils range in Idaho, is about 75 miles long. For over 40 miles it averages 5,510 feet in depth.

At one point it is 7,900 feet deep, almost a mile and a half from river to river, which exceeds by some 1,800 feet the 6,100-foot maximum for Grand canyon in Arizona.—Pathfinder.

When your child BITES HIS NAILS

It may be a Danger Sign!

It isn't always "nerves" that makes a child bite his nails. Often it's because of a reason few mothers suspect—WORMS!

If, along with nail-biting, there are signs of uneasy stomach, finicky appetite, fidgeting, restless sleep... take heed! These may be the symptoms of round worms; a nasty infection that can cause real distress.

JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE is the best known remedy in America for expelling round worms. It has been used by millions of mothers for over a century, and is backed by the most modern scientific study.

JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE has great ability to drive out large round worms, yet it tastes good and acts gently. JAYNE'S does not contain castor oil. If there are no worms it works merely as a mild laxative. Ask for JAYNE'S VER-MI-FUGE at any drug store.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

● In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

● It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world; the feeling of being adequately prepared.

● When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. Thus advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

Off on his left, southward, a new ripple of gunfire sounded, and Walt heard unmistakably the fog-horn voice of Horsethief Fisher, and another that was like the baying of a Texas bloodhound. The C C riders had come! Bailey too, and his bunch!

He drew down, resting his winded horse, with a hollow feeling all at once, and he sat spent, alone as far as his gaze could penetrate the prairie top, while the ripple of guns moved on west and the thunder of cattle grew more and more distant.

Morning grayed at his back. Someone was coming. He wheeled and saw Paul Champion loping toward him.

The boy came up. "Why didn't you let me in this? Look!" He held up his forty-five. "I ain't fired a shot!"

Gandy reined over to him and grinned. "That's all right, boy. Who's come? Everyone?"

"Sure. The boss got back, too. He's somewhere."

"Did Helen...?"

Paul turned quickly in his saddle as if just remembering something. "Helen was—there she is." He pointed into the gray dawn. "Walt, if she'll be all right with you I'll go find me some trouble!"

"Go ahead," said Gandy. "If there's any left." He swung to the ground and was standing braced against the black horse when Helen Cameron reined and dropped beside him.

"Walt!" she cried. "Listen, do you know? Lavin told me. I made him talk. It was... Walt... it was Stoddard!"

"Wait a minute," he calmed her. "Wait now. Then tell me just one thing. Did Stoddard kill Ranger Powell?"

"Yes! And Chino Drake!" She choked, staring up.

"Wait," said Gandy, putting out a hand to her.

In a moment her words came evenly, in full control: "I'm all right now. When I told Bent Lavin that Bill Hollister was not going to live, he talked. It's too terrible, but he has been so jealous of dad, and Bill too, that when he knew Chino Drake was playing traitor, he wouldn't tell us. Wait, it was Drake who took Bill's rifle from the rack and gave it to Stoddard. And Stoddard shot Powell with that gun! After that he couldn't let Drake live. Don't you see? He killed Chino and then put the gun back in our house himself and the whole thing looked like the C C's doing."

She broke off; going on then with effort. "All this time Sheriff Battle has had the cast of some tracks. They were Stoddard's! But Battle was trying to prove they were Bill Hollister's."

"I know," said Gandy. "Bill laid himself open to suspicion by having those boot tracks flooded out. You know by this time, don't you, that he felt he was shielding your father?"

She nodded. "I knew that only last night—there at Outpost cabin. Oh, if Dad and Bill had only talked! Each thinking his silence was protecting the other!" I felt that Bent knew too much. But I thought it was something against Bill Hollister. I've been trying night and day to get it from him. He is so deaf he couldn't have heard any of those Drake or Powell shots, but he has eyes that never miss a thing. Walt, I had every reason to believe he held information against Bill Hollister, and had turned that information over to Jeff Stoddard."

She finished in a sudden rush of breath. "Stoddard can't get away! We can't let him slip out now!" Gandy held her. "He won't. You stay here. Don't leave. I'll not be gone long." He turned and gathered the black's reins and had drawn himself up into one stirrup, when from eastward across the prairie came the rolling vibration of a pistol shot. One, no more.

Helen blanched, gasping. "What was that?"

Walt stared into the gray morning; it was a minute before he said: "Couldn't mean anything much. But I guess if you'll get on your horse, we'll ride back together. We'll find Fisher, and he can pick up the loose ends here. Then you and I can go on in."

CHAPTER XXII

THEY came under the towering wall of the Emigrant Mountains toward mid-afternoon, miles ahead of the cavalcade that moved more slowly behind them. In the wind-break of timber, Helen leaned heavily on her saddle horn.

"I guess I'm tired," she said. Gandy looked at her. "It's high time you stopped! I've thought we could rest here."

There was much more that he had been thinking, filled with compassion these hours of watching her cross the winter-swept bench, riding knee to knee with him, uncomplaining. But these other thoughts he could not tell her.

Avoiding weight on his left leg, he was already sliding to the ground, and then stood near while without reply she dismounted.

He pyramided three dry pine cones, crossed sticks over them and had an instant fire. Helen came beside him and they hunched down together, backs to a sheltering tree.

It was she who spoke first. "I don't know where to begin, Walt."

"Why begin at all?" he asked, staring at the blaze. "No need."

She shook her head. "I've got to feel so guilty. It's Bill Hollister I want to talk about, of course. Do you mind?"

"It's Bill I'm thinking of," he answered.

"If only I could have loved him enough to marry him," she said bitterly. "This wouldn't have happened, and he would be living!"

Gandy stopped her, covering her hands with his and turning her toward him. "You can't say that. This range war has been brewing a long time. Bill saw what was coming, even saw what would happen to him. He told me."

"You mean he knew?"

"Absolutely. That's why he called me into this country."

Freeing her hands, Walt Gandy stared out across the gray flat of the Emigrant Bench, groping for what he was to say next.

"Helen, I've been thinking it all over since last night. Bill wanted the C C and the rest of us to pull out of this hole more than he wanted anything for himself. He'd be satisfied to quit now. Do you see? I never had much religion of one sort, so I don't know how to explain it exactly, but it's like—well, maybe you know what I mean about Bill Hollister."

So falteringly had he spoken, and so from the depths of his feeling that the girl drew her eyes from him; and then impulsively turned and lifted both hands to his face.

"You're fine, Walt Gandy; you're the finest that ever could be, and I know now why I waited."

He held her close, cheek against her hair; and could hardly believe this way in which his life was to go on.

Watch Chic Knitwear Go 'Tops' In College Environs This Fall

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

KNITTED apparel triumphs anew for campus, town and travel wear. Sweaters especially have recaptured the fancy of school-faring girls. Being so versatile and so fetchingly styled as they are, you wear casual-ly and unchalantly sturdy sweaters with "catchy" detail for active and spectator sports wear through all the hours of the day. Then when the shadows fall you come out radiantly arrayed in a ravishing sweater that is "all dolled up" with glitter and color and touches of hand embroidery (decollette neckline if you so choose) that gives you a bona fide "lady of fashion" look to be envied. It is not to be wondered at, is it, that "knitted" has become a magic word in college circles?

And here's something encouraging we are telling you—you don't have to "tend to your own knitting" as in days of old if you do not want to, for stores and shops are broadcasting the good news to the fashion world that they are making a feature of handknitted sweaters. What's more, you will be surprised to find how reasonable they are. You can get perfectly lovely types with all the little "whimsies" and fetching style accents that discriminating taste demands.

So get the sweater habit, Miss College Girl, and take along with you not one sweater but a collection for a whole wardrobe of 'em will be none too many. A plaid skirt, a velveteen skirt, a monotone tailored cloth with a pleated skirt thrown in for good measure, to which add one or more utterly formal floor-length skirts and you will be equipped for any demand of the time, the place and the event.

We are showing a handknit evening sweater in the lower left of the group. It is in Ireland green with big puff sleeves embroidered with bright flowers.

A sweater that serves double duty for the college girl is pictured in the lower right. It is a golden wool-knit and may be worn either with a tweed skirt for daytime, or with an evening skirt. Worn with it, and considered very appropriate for the college girl, are twisted gold chain necklace and bracelet and an oblong gold watch with link bracelet.

The cardigan and pullover set shown above to the left promises endless service to the campus-bound collegiate. It has smocked shoulders (new styling feature) and is in a flattering Araby rose tone, beautifully tropic knit to add softness. It is worn with a kitten's ear wool skirt in beige.

Here's something you really should have if you are going away to school. It is an ensemble of knit and jersey as illustrated above to the right. The short, boxy jacket is machine knitted of wool chenille. The hood is lined with the identical striped material of the rayon jersey dress. It is available in stunning new greens and wines and brown tones and smart grays.

Yes, indeed, all signs point to a "knitted season."

Casual Dress That Flatters the Figure

NOTHING is more important during the summer—and every season for that matter—than this type of casual frock, softly tailored and classically simple. This version (Design No. 1962-B) is ideal for women's figures, because it has a high-busted, narrow-hipped line. And that perfection of line is achieved so simply—merely by means of long darts that narrow the waistline and break into soft fullness above and below. Gathers on the shoulders are the only other detailing. The rest is just long, straight seams. You can judge, therefore, how easy this dress is to make.

But you can't really tell what a distinctive, comfortable, charming fashion it is until you have it on. Then you'll repeat it many times, in silk print, rayon sheers, and street cottons like linen and batiste.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1962-B is designed for sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 34 requires: with long sleeves, 5 1/2 yards of 39-inch material; with short, 4 3/4 yards. Send order to:

THE TRUTH SIMPLY TOLD

Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of world-wide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions. These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed. Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

CARMEN OF THE RANCHO

a charming daughter of Old California

WRITTEN by Frank H. Spearman, Carmen of the Rancho is a serial that will thrill you from the opening chapter and will hold your interest until you finish reading every exciting word.

THE STORY centers around the beautiful Carmen and her adventuresome lover—Henry Bowie, a youthful frontier scout. How Bowie came to California from Texas and aided the Spanish ranch owners in ridding their lands of troublesome Indians and squatters; how in so doing he won the heart of Carmen is but a part of this great story.

IT IS a tale of robust action in the days when hard-fisted men were rulers of an empire. Days of Captain Sutter and Kit Carson. Interwoven with the history of these strong men is the gentle story of a great love.

DON'T MISS A SINGLE CHAPTER

Woolknit Suit

The ideal travel suit for air-conditioned trains is this woolknit costume made of zephyr yarn. The long torso jacket is double breasted with high notched revers and bow-knot pockets. The skirt is cleverly gored for sleek hips and comfortable flare. Wear it with this new off-the-face beret of navy felt trimmed with a band and bow of pique to match the white pique vestee. A silver lapel flower; and silver leaf earrings, navy cal. bag and white gloves complete this smart outfit. If you are a black-and-white enthusiast you will love this woolknit suit in black with white accessories.

Dramatic Felt Hats

Have Large Brims

Your hat must look important this season. The new dashing wide-brimmed felts do just that.

There is no limit to how nonchalantly the brims turn up in dramatic ways. The brim that dashes high at one side gives you the new profile hat which is a leading fashion this season.

To show your pompadour off, many felts flare abruptly off the forehead and to emphasize the movement these hats are worn far back on the head.

Soft brims that can be manipulated characterize the newer felts, and to add to their flattery handsome black lace veils are adjusted most spectacularly.

Concentrate Skirt

Fullness in Front

Interest focuses on skirts this season. The fact that the new silhouette is slimmer does not mean all fullness is abolished. The basic thought in achieving slimmness is to keep the sides flat and the very newest treatment is to concentrate fullness directly in front.

Then to the new to-one-side fastenings make for slenderizing lines, and designers handle the drapes always with an eye to achieve slimmness.

Daytime Dresses Feature

Jet Embroidery, Nailheads

Daytime dresses take on gleam and glitter. Black dresses especially are enhanced with elaborate nail-head treatments.

Jet on black is interpreted in many ways. It may be embroidered on or pockets of jet may be applied and if you are jewelry-minded wear jet necklace and bracelet.

Disciples of Thespis Take Warmly to Summer Theater

The summer theater is gradually attracting great names. Even Hollywood stars who have won fame in shadowland use the summer theater as a stepping stone to Broadway. In barns, haylofts, in fields without a roof over their heads, and on the seashore, the summer "mummers" present their melodramas and comedies, with both audience and cast at the mercy of the weatherman.

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

IF YOU plan to be driving in Tucson, Ariz., early in October make sure in advance whether you'll be allowed to or not. For there'll be three days when it will be the only city in the United States without an automobile, truck, motorcycle or even a gasoline scooter on its streets.

And it's all because of the movies. "Arizona" will have what's known in the trade as its world premier in Tucson, and the city is planning quite a celebration—a governor's state ball, a three-day 1860 fiesta in the adobe city of Tucson, built for the picture, a rodeo with national roping and riding stars, and Indian pow-wows. Jean Arthur, William Holden, Warren William and all other members of the cast will be specially honored.

Some of the best stories about a movie are not heard until it is finished and the principals have gone on to other pictures. Here's one. Arriving at the set for "He Stayed for Breakfast," Columbia's new comedy starring Loretta Young and Melvyn Douglas, visitors found the set barred to outsiders. They were told that the players were working in an extremely small space where it would be impossible to watch. The real reason, disclosed later, was that Douglas was working in a woman's dressing gown. "I'll look silly enough on the screen," he explained, when asking that the set be closed.

When you see Hedy Lamarr and Clark Gable in "Comrade X" don't be puzzled if the story seems familiar. It's "Clear All Wires," which Spencer Tracy made seven years ago. The story of an American newspaper man's adventures in Russia, it's been rewritten to include incidents in the recent Soviet military ventures. Gable draws it as an assignment instead of "Osborne of Sing Sing," which he didn't like anyway.

June McCloy may win a bet with her husband if you like her well enough in "Glamour for Sale," in which she has the second feminine lead. Nine years ago she left Hollywood to make a name for herself as a night club singer, and succeeded. In 1936 she married and retired. Now she wants to return to the screen; she's bet her husband that she can make good within six months; if she can't, she'll go back to being just a wife. So she's working now in the picture starring Anita Louise and Roger Pryor. She has a chance at her specialty—she sings a torch song. But so does Anita Louise.

Denis Day became singing star of the Jack Benny show because an inflamed appendix kept him out of law school. An honor graduate of Manhattan college in New York, Eugene Denis McNulty won a scholarship that entitled him to try city government work for several months. He chose radio, and was doing production work at the city's broadcasting station, pending his entry to law school, when the appendix interfered just as his law classes were about to begin.

When he got out of the hospital it was to enter law school that year. He turned again to radio, got onto a sustaining program, and made a recording which Jack Benny's agent heard.

He was summoned to Hollywood; Benny was looking for a tenor to replace Kenny Baker, you'll remember, and they were auditioning literally by the hundreds. At the last minute young McNulty got the job, became Denis Day, and began carving out a nice career for himself.

ODDS AND ENDS

Jon Hall recently celebrated three years of sitting in the same chair at the CBS Star Theater broadcasts. He began attending the broadcasts to hear his wife, Frances Langford, sing, and has never missed one since. If someone else sits in his particular chair in the clients' room, he says "I'm sorry. You're sitting in our good luck chair—I'll have to ask you to move."

Norma Shearer and George Raft flew from New York to Hollywood on the same day, but not in the same plane—couldn't get accommodations.

"TEA IS SERVED AT FOUR O'CLOCK"
(Recipes Below)

Household News

By Eleanor Howe

Is the tea party the thing of the past? I sincerely hope not because there is nothing quite so comfy and relaxing as a good cup of tea. And you can make it even more delightful by sharing it with a few of your friends.

The tea hour may be the time to become utterly feminine, with lazy discussions on the fashions of the day, the latest movie, and even tales of cute sayings of Johnnie and Mary Jane. Or it may be enlarged with masculinity, with the trend of the conversation leaning more toward current events, politics, books and even the arts.

A tea party is one of the simplest methods of entertaining, because even though your resources may be limited, you can ask a few friends to drop in for tea.

I have a friend who quite often gives teas on Sunday afternoons. They are highly successful, not because of her lovely silverware or china, (because here I must confess that most of her china does not even match); they are successful rather, because her friends gather for the pleasure of chatting with one another. Conversation flies fast and furiously—but the group is held together by one common bond, the tea cup.

The most meager necessities would include a tea tray, on which the tea set and napkins are placed, a table from which to serve the tea, glistening china, and well-polished silver.

If the party is small you may, as hostess, pour the tea, asking the guests to help themselves to cream or lemon and sugar. If it is a larger party and it is necessary for you to constantly greet your guests as they arrive, ask one of your friends to preside at the tea table for you.

The tea that is served must be good. It not only must be fresh, but must be hot to be palatable and soothing. If the weather is warm you may like to serve both hot and iced tea. Serve the iced tea in tall glasses which have been chilled prior to serving. Sliced lemon and powdered sugar are necessary accessories for iced tea. Place the ice cubes in an attractive ice bucket with the ice tongs near by. As an added bit of color and flavor, garnish the completed beverage with sprigs of fresh, cool mint.

Dainty sandwiches, hot buttered toast, thin slivers of cinnamon toast and small English muffins are appropriate to serve with tea. Popular accompaniments to tea are sandwiches made from nut bread, sliced very thin, and buttered.

You may like to use some of the suggested accompaniments for your next tea party. To give you that much sought-after distinction as a discriminating hostess.

Hot Tea.

Rinse teapot with boiling water. Allow 1 teaspoon of tea for each cup and "one for the pot." Place tea in teapot, and pour freshly boiling water over tea leaves. Cover and allow tea to steep 3 to 5 minutes, as desired. Remove ball or bag containing the leaves, and serve at once.

Chicken Sandwiches With Cranberry Sauce.

Right here and now we put in our plea for revolt against chicken sandwiches that are bone dry! Have you tried putting a thin slice of canned cranberry sauce in with the chicken? We eat cranberry sauce with chicken when it's served on a plate. Why not in a sandwich? Try a slice of canned cranberry sauce in your chicken sandwiches the very next time you make them and see if you don't agree there's a vast improvement.

Cream Cheese Sandwiches.

1 green pepper (chopped fine)
3 ounces cream cheese
½ cup walnut meats (cut fine)
½ teaspoon lemon juice
Dash of Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper
Remove seeds from green pepper and chop fine. Add cheese, walnut meats and lemon juice. Cream well together. Add a dash of Worcestershire sauce and salt and pepper to taste. Spread between slices of thinly sliced white bread.

Maids of Honor. (Serves 12)

1 recipe of plain pastry
½ cup sugar
¾ cup almonds (ground)
2 egg yolks
2 tablespoons heavy cream
1 tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon almond extract

Line 12 very small tea cake tins or muffin tins with the pastry. Combine remaining ingredients in order given and fill pastry shells with this mixture. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for 10 minutes, then reduce temperature to 350 degrees and bake for 20 minutes longer. Cool, and remove from the pans.

Butterfly Tea Cakes. (Makes 8-10 tea cakes)

1 cup cake flour
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg
¾ cup coffee cream
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
½ pint whipping cream

Mix and sift all dry ingredients. Place unbeaten egg and coffee cream in a bowl and beat thoroughly. Add vanilla extract and pour liquid ingredients into the dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Bake in well-greased cupcake or muffin tins in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for 30-35 minutes. Cool. Then cut tops from cakes, and cut each top in half. Scoop a spoonful of cake from each one. Whip the cream and fill cavity with whipped cream. Arrange tops to form butterfly and serve at once.

Date Nut Squares. (Makes 3 dozen 1½-inch squares)

3 eggs
3 tablespoons water
1 cup sugar
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup walnut meats (cut fine)
2 cups dates (cut fine)

Beat the eggs. Add water and gradually beat in the sugar. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt and blend with the first mixture. Fold in the nuts and dates. Spread in a shallow greased pan (about 10 by 12 inches). Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for about 20 minutes. Cool, cut in squares and roll in confectioner's sugar.

Danish Vanilla Fingers. (Makes about 5 dozen)

¾ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ pound almonds (1 cup blanched and ground fine)

Cream shortening and add sugar gradually. Beat in the egg and vanilla. Blend well. Sift flour and salt together, and add to the first mixture. Stir in the ground almonds. Turn dough onto a lightly floured board and knead until the mixture is smooth and no longer clings to the hands. Cut off small pieces of dough and shape in rolls about 2¼ inches long and a scant half inch thick. Place on greased cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 15 minutes.

Easy Entertaining.

Doesn't ham loaf with hot cheese biscuits sound inviting to you? It is so simple you can plan and serve the meal yourself, giving mother a day off to visit her friends or to do that much-needed shopping that she hasn't had time to do before. The menu and recipes for this deliciously simple and simply delicious lunch are given in Eleanor Howe's book, "Easy Entertaining," which you may obtain by sending 10 cents, in coin, to Eleanor Howe, 919 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Light colored painted furniture must be carefully washed to retain its luster. Wash it well first with warm water and mild soap suds to which a few drops of ammonia have been added (one teaspoon of ammonia for each gallon of water). Quickly rinse well with cold water. Wipe dry. Then polish with cloth into which a little furniture polish is rubbed.

The flavor of apple pie is greatly improved by sprinkling a little lemon juice over the layers of sliced apples as they are placed in the pan.

Add chopped parsley, minced sweet pickles or finely cut olives to mayonnaise used in summer salads.

When preparing gelatin desserts, if left-over fruit juice is used instead of water, the desserts will be much richer.

Bake apples with only a small amount of sugar so that the characteristic flavor is not disturbed.

To remove a slight iron scorch mark from white clothes rub the scorched area lightly with peroxide. Then rinse it thoroughly in cold water. Peroxide removes the color from colored clothes, however.

Prospective Short Course. Students To Michigan State College

Many young graduates are becoming interested in taking short courses at the Michigan State College this fall and winter. Year by year the number of short course students has been on the increase. This is due to the wide variety of subject matter available and the inexpensive cost.

H. S. Wilt, Vocational Supervisor, has made it possible for all students interested in short courses to meet with him Thursday night, September 19th, in the East Jordan City Building promptly at 8:00. He will have colored slides available to show the interesting points on the Campus and will outline the many courses that are available. Many young men are too busy in the summer to attend school but during the winter they are able to get away from their work for a short time and improve themselves from an educational viewpoint.

If you know of anyone interested in taking a short course, kindly inform him of this date. A most enjoyable evening is assured those who attend.

Garden Gossip

Letters and questions on garden topics will be welcome. They will be published and discussed in this column.

Every year thousands upon thousands of tourists visit Michigan because our state offers so many attractions in the way of fishing, hunting, hiking, boating, and kindred diversions. Each year these tourists return to their homes all over the United States, and tell their friends what they have seen and what they have learned here. Sometimes I think that our visitors know more about our native state than we ourselves do. Here are a few of the facts that our visitors find interesting:

Michigan iron ore production during 1939 totalled 9,116,938 tons. Shipments totalled 11,239,895 tons. The excess of shipment over production was taken from stock piles at the mines. Total production of Michigan iron mines since 1848 is equivalent in tonnage to the total excavation of the Panama canal.

It is estimated that at the present time it requires five million automobiles to transport American anglers to their fishing grounds on our streams and lakes.

The entire American production of magnesium, a metal lighter than aluminum, important in modern aircraft construction, comes from the plants of the Dow Chemical company at Midland, Michigan. There the metal is extracted, along with other chemicals, from natural brines pumped from wells about 1,400 feet deep.

According to the figures of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, Michigan leads the nation in the number of fishing licenses issued.

Evidence that Michigan once had many more than its present 5,000 lakes remains in old lake sites that are now marl beds, peat bogs, muck lands, marshes and swamps.

Epsom salts, aspirin, carbolic acid and dyes are some of the more than 100 chemicals and medicines made from brines pumped from underground Michigan.

Chines Mantis, A New Bug Gets Ready Welcome

First of its kind ever known to have hitch-hiked its way into Michigan is the Chinese mantis now eating crickets under the guidance of the head of the entomology department of the Michigan State College.

The insect is fairly common in the east. In fact it was imported around the beginning of the century to aid in eating up other insects in the vicinity of Philadelphia. The five-inch long bug is a cousin to the better known praying mantis whose habit of holding up its fore pair of legs in wait for an insect meal is cause for its name.

This cricket customer that Ray Hutson, is feeding came into the state riding on an auto transport truck from somewhere in Ohio. The truck driver's curiosity led him to the college authority who identified the insect and then offered to take her in hopes she will lay some eggs.

If this Chinese mantis does lay two or three batches of eggs, Hutson is prepared to liberate any young ones that hatch so that Michigan gardens and fields may have some extra insect protection. For this larger mantis has quite an appetite for other bugs and eats any of them that she can catch, even her male partner. Mostly outdoor crop pests please her most.

The insect is brown in color with some striking green "piping" along the edge of her wings. The Chinese mantis seldom flies, but can make very quick moves with her forelegs.

Roosevelt Versus Willkie — How Do They Stand Today?

The last America Speaks Poll showed Willkie leading Roosevelt 284 to 247 in electoral votes although the President had a slight margin in the popular vote. If an election were held today, After the Willkie acceptance speech and After the destroyer trade with Britain, how would the two candidates rank with the public?

The next state-by-state report will be published in America Speaks next Sunday in The Detroit News. Don't fail to read it.

Substantial gain in oil and gas production of Michigan fields during the early months of 1940 is shown in a conservation department report released in April.

Practically all of Michigan's larger rivers are used for the production of electric power.

Half of Michigan's total area of 36,787,200 acres is in farms. The other half can be used for recreation, game and wood production through forestry development.

The white oak is the most important hardwood forest tree native to Michigan and to North America. It has held this front rank place since the earliest days of colonization. The original forests of the rich agricultural areas of the United States were largely made up of this most useful tree.

Fish from the Great Lakes contribute largely to the preferred fish trade, having in 1938 an average value per pound more than three times that of the average for the entire country, according to Federal Fish and Wildlife service reports.

There are approximately 18,200 square miles of deer area in the lower peninsula of Michigan.

Michigan's share of the Great Lakes area is nearly twice the area belonging to the seven other states that border these lakes, and is more than is controlled by the Province of Ontario.

CARMEN OF THE RANCHO

A Magnificent Story of Western Pioneer Days, Unsettled Lands, and Ever-Present Danger

by Frank H. Spearman

HERE is the story of the middle 19th century in Old California. In those days unsubdued bands of Indians made periodic raids on the ranchos of the Spanish Dons.

In one of these raids—on the Rancho Los Alamos of Don Alfredo—family and retainers were massacred and two small girls were kidnaped by the savages. It was Henry Bowie, a Texas scout, who rescued them and found them sanctuary in the mission of Padre Vicente, then forgot them even as he rode away.

But he was to remember them eight years later when, his suit spurned by the stormy Carmen, he tried to forget by roving California with Kit Carson and Captain Sutter. How Padre Vicente came to Bowie's rescue and how the gallant Texan again met the lovely Carmen are experiences you will want to follow. Do it—
