Charlevoix Farm Day Scheduled For Saturday, Nov. 2nd

Competition at the Farmers' Day Exhibit promises to be keen judging from the number of exhibitors who plan on making displays. The apple department should be a sight to behold. Color on apples is better than average this year. The young farmers are putting the finishing touches on their potato, corn, and bean exhibits. The Smith-Hughes students from East Jordan and Boyne City have their samples already selected and are getting them in readiness for the competition.

The Kiwanis Club is spending considerable time in developing an evening of entertainment and pleasure for the entire public. Music will be furnished by the High School Band and the Kiwanis Club is practicing for one or two musical numbers. A roller skating act will be a specialty of unusual talent. Ray March, his daughter Marcelin, and Malcome Gokee, all of Walloon Lake, will give you a rare treat. The Kiwanis Club members promise one or two surprises. Also, don't forget that three or more special door prizes will be given out to the holders of lucky tickets.

The exhibit will be held in the Community Room of the City Hall. All exhibits will be placed ready for judging not later than 2:30, and will be open for inspection until after the conclusion of the evening program. Ribbons will be given to the winners in the various classes. The premium list includes pecks of Russet Rural, Chippewas, Kathadins, and Any Other Variety of Potatoes with two dollars award to the first place winner, a dollar and a half to the second place, one dollar to the third place, seventy-five cents for fourth place, and fifty cents for all other places. In the Junior Department the same awards will be given to both 4-H club members and Smith-Hughes students. The 4-H corn exhibits will be made up of samples of ten ears each with $1.50 for 1st place, $1 for 2nd, 75c for 3rd, and all others 50c. The 4-H Bean exhibit are made up of two quarts of hand selected beans with the same premiums as for corn.

Much larger displays of 4-H conservation exhibits are expected this year. These exhibits will consist of bird houses, nesting shelves, feeding racks, conservation signs, and so forth. Premiums for each club or school exhibiting will be $1 for 1st, 75c for 2nd, 50c for 3rd, and all others 25c. In apples there will be two classes, one for plates and the other for bushels. Classes are provided for Delicious, MacIntosh, Northern Spy, Snow, Waggoner, Wealthy, Wolf River, Jonathan, and Any Other Variety. First place in plates is 75c, 2nd is 50c, and all others 25c. In the bushel competition all varieties will be in one group with $1.50 for first place, $1.20 for 2nd place, $1.00 for 3rd, and all others 75c.

The Kiwanis Club and City of Charlevoix are greatly pleased to have this opportunity of entertaining their farmer friends. Make your plans right now to bring your family, see the splendid exhibit, and enjoy the evening program.

Sousa's Birthday Anniversary

TO BE OBSERVED HERE. VICTOR J. GRABEL GUEST SPEAKER

On Wednesday, November 6th, the birthday anniversary of the late John Phillip Sousa, will be observed in our school and Mr. Victor J. Grabel, one of this great bandmaster's closest friends, will speak in our high school auditorium on a memorial program from 1:45 until 2:30 p. m.

Our School Band is preparing four of Sousa's best marches: El Capitán, Sempre Fedelis, King Cotton and The Stars and Stripes Forever.

Words on this last march also were written to this march by Mr. Sousa himself and Miss McDonald is preparing her Glee Clubs to sing with the Band the famous trio or chorus of this great march, The Stars and Stripes Forever.

Perhaps there is no band master anywhere who could talk about Mr. Sousa's life as intimately as Mr. Grabel.

In the books written by Mr. Sousa, Mr. Grabel's name is mentioned repeatedly, and before Sousa's death, eight years ago, he gave Mr. Grabel thirty trunks of band music.

No doubt Mr. Grabel will give us a interesting talk. Remember the date: Wednesday, November 6th, at 1:45, High School Auditorium. The public is invited.

Once, I Could Vote, Too!

Once, like you, I was a free man! A Frenchman!

Politicians made speeches to me, too! They spoke about our impregnable democracy.

They told me what they were doing to protect my standard of living and my working conditions.

They promised my family safety through preparedness. But they weren't honest with me! They let me down!

I found that out when I had to give up my job to go to war—at the same time that I found out you couldn't stop tanks with bodies, that you couldn't halt bombs and you couldn't buy peace with promises.

Now they are holding trials to find out whose fault it was. But I know—

It was MY fault!

I voted for the easy way.

I voted for the beguiling voice.

I voted for the politician, not the man.

I was one of a nation of free men who did not prize freedom. Today I am not free.

I repeat, it was my fault. But it was I who paid the penalty. I, with my womenfolk and my children! I, who thought I was prepared for war.

Free men of America, already you may be pledged to a conflict for which you know you are not prepared.

Remember my mistake! Weigh the man against the politician before you vote.

Do not vote for a politician—VOTE FOR A MAN WHO WORKED WITH HIS HANDS.

Do not vote for a voice—VOTE FOR A MAN.

Do not vote for the easy way—VOTE FOR A MAN WHO CAME UP THE HARD WAY.

DEBATE TEAM ATTENDS PRACTICE TOURNAMENT

Miss Mary Finch's debate squad got its first taste of real debating for this year, Wednesday, at the practice tournament at Cheboygan.

Desmond Johnson was selected for the all-star negative team which debated in the evening session.

In the afternoon East Jordan debaters opposed representatives from Cheboygan, Petoskey, and Boyne City.

At this session, Russell Conway and Dave Johnston were upholding the affirmative, against a team from Cheboygan; Peggy Drew and Harry Watson were upholding the negatives against Petoskey. Jim Ulyund and Desmond Johnson then debated negatively against Cheboygan.

Jim, Peggy, and Harry next upheld the negative against Boyne City, while Russell, David, and Desmond upheld the affirmative against the team from Cheboygan.

For the first conference debate Boyne City comes to East Jordan next Friday, November 8, to uphold the negatives of the question of this year. "Resolved, That the powers of the Federal government be decreased." As yet no definite team has been picked for this debate. It will be held in the evening at the high school.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS TAKE FIELD TRIP

The 4-H Conservation Club, numbering about 40 boys and girls, went on a field trip the sixth period, Thursday, October 24, to Mr. Walcutt's home.

The bus that took the club members and their leaders was provided by the school and driven by Mr. Charles Gibbard.

Mr. Roy Scrog, and Mr. W. S. Harrison of Michigan State College gave a demonstration on how to plant and care for White Pine trees. They planned enough seeds themselves for about 3200 trees, with the help of several club members.

About two years from next spring, when these seedlings are ready to plant, they will be taken to the school forest and planted by the 4-H Conservation Club.

Highway Users Conference Seeks "Yes" Vote on Proposal No. 3

The Highway Users Conference of Michigan has launched an intensive state-wide campaign for a "yes" vote on Proposal Number 3 which will appear on the ballot November 5th.

Former Senator William Palmer, chairman, and Stanley M. Powell, secretary of the Conference will organize all users of the highways of the state in behalf of the measure.

"Proposal Number 3," said Chairman Palmer, "is an amendment to the Motor Carrier Act of 1933 putting all commercial trucks and buses for hire, regardless of who owns them, under the same law when using the public highways of the state. It would bring municipally owned buses, operating outside the city, within the various provisions of the act relating to payment of highway taxes; safety regulations, including inspection of equipment; and rules intended to prevent discrimination between communities as to rates, fares and practices. It would require Detroit to get a permit for its out-state operations from the Public Service Commission before using the highways of the state more than two miles outside Detroit."

The Highway Users Conference is composed of representatives of forty organizations of the state interested in protecting the highways. They include organizations of owners of every type of motor vehicle. Various state departments charged with protection of the roads and farm organizations are included in the membership.

"The Detroit Street Railways is trying to defeat this measure which the legislature passed after thorough discussion and public hearings. It carried by more than two-thirds vote of both houses, including a majority of the members of the legislature from Wayne County. If approved by the voters of Michigan a good start will have been made to make the Detroit Street Railways pay its share of highway cost whenever it operates on public highways of the state outside of the city. Detroit Street Railways has been pretty lucky in evading or avoiding taxes. It is a privately owned company it would have to pay about a million and one-half dollars a year.

"A 'yes' vote on Proposal Number 3 will mean protecting the principle that all highway users share highway cost," Palmer declared.

FOLLOW AMERICA SPEAKS IN THE DETROIT NEWS To keep abreast of the candidates' popularity with voters, you can find no better guide than the America Speaks polls appearing exclusively in Michigan in The Detroit News.

The final poll offering state-by-state rankings together with the electoral and popular vote will appear in The Detroit News on Monday, November 4th — on the eve of the election! Watch for it.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—In 1933, young Nelson A. Rockefeller was handed a delicate job of commercial and cultural co-ordination, indeed a Rockefeller Well stiff assignment for a Qualified for His beginner in this field. It was to persuade the fiery Diego Rivera to x-out that head of Lenin in his murals at Rockefeller Center. He managed the affair with tact and restraint, undisturbed by the thunder from the left.

Now he has progressed to full-time work in that highly specialized field. He is co-ordinator of commercial and cultural relations between the United States and other Western hemisphere nations. Currently he is in the news as he appoints John Hay Whitney to his staff, to take care of motion picture details of the above co-ordinating.

I remember talking to one of his teachers at Lincoln school, New York. She said Nelson was good material for progressive education, as he had a way of getting on with people. He was a good student, too, romping so far ahead of schedule at Dartmouth that they gave him his senior year off. He devoted to a wanderjahr, in which he went to India and had a long chat with Mahatma Gandhi, and studied photography. Taking up the rich man's burden, he devoted himself mainly to the family real estate, becoming president of Rockefeller Center, which, incidentally, is one of the most successful feats of commercial and cultural co-ordination in the world.

Mr. Rockefeller, born in Bar Harbor, Maine, in 1907, is tall, blonde and reticent, an abstainer from alcohol and tobacco, always deeply in earnest. With his manifold business interests he combines a careful and diligent trusteeship of the Museum of Modern Art. This department can't help but feel a bit doubtful about co-ordinating commerce and the arts—unless there is a John Massfield around to write a poem like "Cargoes."

KING BORIS of Bulgaria is doing the best he can for his little Cinderella kingdom, but things don't look so good. He reviews troops and shifts his tanks and King Boris Would rather be Casey Jones of Balkans smartly, but there is a hint that he is just making himself a lot of unnecessary trouble. As a king, he never did have his heart in his work.

He has a passion for trains and never misses a chance to drive a locomotive. Engines fill his life and his dreams. When his father, Ferdinand, abdicated in 1918, the young man insisted that he be allowed to go to America and be a railroad engineer, but his father forbade it.

Ascetic in appearance, always of seemly behavior, he moved immaculately through Balkan wars, revolutions and interminable dogfights. Ferdinand had apprenticed him to a versatile fighting man in 1912, when he was only 18 years old. He fought dutifully, but seemed always to be listening for the whistle of old 97, coming round the bend.

His wardrobe, one of the best in Europe, runs mainly to pinstripes. He is a nimble dancer, good at all such orthodox sports as boar-hunting and timber-topping, but aroused and eager only when he has his hand on the throttle of a locomotive.

In 1930, he married the Princess Giovanna of Italy. This alliance was regarded, among other dynastic ties, as a stabilizing and safeguarding influence for his kingdom, but now seems of small account. In 1934, internal stress led the king to set up a dictatorship, by a military coup. It didn't help much. About 80 per cent of the exports of Bulgaria continued to go to totalitarian countries, and it came more and more under their thrall. The king flirted with Russia for a while, with no gratifying results. He has been in frequent peril of assassination—and nothing seems to matter much, since they won't let him be a railroad engineer.

In 1935, he lost his job selling oil burners when the company folded up. Julia, his wife, said, "Now's your chance to do some of that singing you were always going to do." So he piped up right away and sang his way right through to the dotted line on a Metropolitan Opera contract. That's young Arthur Kent, one of the ten new singers booked this season at the Met. He began singing in cafes and churches and then got 46 weeks in "I Married an Angel." His repertoire includes Italian, Spanish, French.

National Lottery for Peacetime Draft Holds Spotlight of Defense Program; Germany Changes Tactics in Air War; Tension in Far East Affairs Grows

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Interest in the current draft program has led the government to place on display in the Washington office of the Selective Service board this first World War draft register. The register shows that the draft lottery began 9:16 a. m., Friday, July 20, 1917, and ended 16 hours and 46 minutes later, with the drawing of the 10,500th capsule. The same method is being used to determine the order in which men shall be called for the 1940 peacetime conscription program.

DEFENSE:

Numbers Called

To War Secretary Henry L. Stimson went the honor of selecting the first number in the national selective service lottery. President Roosevelt was to pick the first capsule out of the goldfish bowl that was used in the 1917 draft lottery, but graciously yielded to Stimson. The late Newton D. Baker, secretary of war under President Wilson, selected the first number in 1917.

Contracts

The industrial program of national defense entered its second phase. First was drafting and awarding of contracts. Billions of dollars worth of goods, from battleships to paper clips, were contracted for.

The job now is one of procurement, actual manufacture on the speed-up scale demanded by the Defense Commission in order to achieve the two-ocean navy and equip an army that will number close to 1,500,000 within a few months.

Chief bottleneck is machine tools, the machinery and gear necessary in the process of turning automobile shops into tank factories, and the mass production of warplanes and munitions. William S. Knudsen, head of the production division of the commission, said tool makers are swamped with orders, sold out a year in advance. President Roosevelt issued an order permitting seizure of tool machines being made for foreign countries, wherever the material is necessary in American defense.

Outside tools, however, the vast industrial capacity of the United States seemed to be taking both defense and expanding civilian orders in its stride toward record production figures. The climb in manufacturing indices since last spring still has left a margin of surplus in manpower, raw materials and money.

But despite the rise of various business statistics to new peaks since 1929, Wall Street security markets remained inert.

WAR AT NIGHT:

Tactics Change

England was emerging from almost three months of continual bombing with greater confidence in its ability to withstand whatever the Luftwaffe can deliver. As the stormy weather wore on and German planes were not halted by fog and freezing weather, British air leaders increased the fury of their own raids over France, Germany and Italy. Prime Minister Winston Churchill made bold to predict that by spring, 1941, with the help of American production, England will seize supremacy of the air.

The German air attack on London was reduced in one respect. Daylight raids were fewer and less violent. In the beginning Air Marshal Goering sent large formations in daylight raids. During this period the British scored heavily. Then the tactics shifted to single planes at varying heights. The German losses were reduced, but still remained high.

Now raids are confined largely to night. Bombers drop their packages from the stratosphere and scoot for home. The result is that the Germans no longer can pick their targets, but bomb indiscriminately. However, the height of the German planes is too great for British anti-aircraft guns while defense planes are unable to climb into battle fast enough. German losses have dwindled. The English people have been told a new, fast-climbing plane soon will take the air in quantities.

Otherwise on the war front: France denied rumors in diplomatic circles that it would declare war on Britain in order to get better peace terms from Germany. The terms were said to give Alsace-Lorraine to Germany, Nice and Tunis to Italy, and provide for control of all other French colonies by a three-nation board. Vice Premier Laval conferred with Adolf Hitler and was said to favor the plan.

London revealed after several denials, that Adolf Hitler twice has tried to start his promised invasion of Britain. The British said that on September 16, German troops were loaded in barges along the French ports, but R.A.F. bombers attacked the boats so heavily the attempt was frustrated.

ROADS OF DESTINY:

Burma Road

For three years China has absorbed and dispersed the heaviest shocks that a superior Japanese army hurled against it. While European nations who considered themselves a nobler race have been subjugated, China has produced nothing to equal the treachery of the Fifth Column, costly errors of command, or the crimes and stupidity of European diplomacy.

For more than a year its sole avenue of supply from the outside world has been via Rangoon by ship, then by narrow gauge railroad across Burma to Lashio, thence over hundreds of miles of tortuous road through wild, malaria-infected countryside to Kunming, in China, where railroads again are available.

For three months Britain kept the road closed, as an act of appeasement to Japan. When Japan signed the alliance with Germany and Italy the road was reopened. But during those three months Japan seized control of near-by Indo-China from France and based airplanes within bombing distance of the Burma Road. Nightly the crude bridges are being blown to bits and rebuilt by thousands of coolies working in disregard of their lives.

Blue Danube

Famed in song and romance, the beautiful blue Danube has become a highway of conflict in Hitler's march to the east.

Germany was supposed to have agreed with Russia to limit its penetration of the Balkans to commercial ties. When Nazi legions were sent into Rumania to "instruct" King Michael's army, Russia apparently looked at the proceedings with sour face.

Heavy echelons of Soviet troops were sent along the Danube to create a military area. German troops lined the other bank. German submarines, knocked down and shipped by rail to Rumania, were floated down the Danube to its mouth in the Black sea. There a German naval base quickly grew up. The base is a definite threat to the main Russian fleet in those waters.

Previously Russian warships were protected by an understanding with Turkey, which controlled the Dardanelles, entrance to the Black sea. But the Germans have outflanked this fortification by land.

Just where Hitler's Balkan adventure is headed none seemed willing to prophesy. It may be only a diverting sortie toward the oil lines of Asia Minor, or it may be a full assault toward Suez. Rumor and retraction discussed alleged "demands" made by the Axis powers on Greece, Turkey, Jugoslavia and Bulgaria.

Joys of Childhood?

U. S. army guns, tanks and toy soldiers in miniature are the favorite of the current season's new crop of toys as far as Nick Tassalo, 6, is concerned. Nick is shown at the preview of the toy manufacturers' display in New York. A large percentage of the new toys for the coming Christmas season reflect the national defense program preparations.

POWER:

On the St. Lawrence

An agreement between the United States and Canada looking toward development of a hydroelectric system along the St. Lawrence river has been advocated by four Presidents but never achieved. The war need for greater power has brought about a start.

With the consent of the United States, Canada will take more water from the Niagara river to generate power for its defense industries. So as to maintain the level of the Great Lakes, waterways now flowing into the Albany river and Hudson bay will be diverted southward to the lakes.

The announcement immediately awoke echoes of the two-decade fight for a Great Lakes-to-the-Seas waterway. Existing navigation above Montreal is limited to 14 feet. Locks are sought to provide a 32-foot draft.

Farmers of the West favor the plan. It would permit ocean liners to dock at Great Lakes ports and load wheat. Advocates of public power look upon the proposal as providing cheap electricity.

Opposition comes chiefly from ports in the Gulf of Mexico and along the Atlantic, as well as trans-shippers of grain. On the Canadian side the same is true.

President Roosevelt has allotted $1,000,000 of special defense funds for a survey.

SABOTAGE:

Mr. Dies Again

A wave of fires and explosions in U. S. defense industries "like the recent Hercules powder blast in New Jersey," is predicted by Representative Dies (D., Texas), chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities. He called attention to the fact that a former member of the German American Bund told his committee several weeks before the New Jersey disaster that it could be expected.

Dies said there are more than 250,000 alien agents in the United States and more than 5,000 in defense industrial plants in the Detroit area alone.

Meanwhile members of the same committee declared they have proof that Friedhelm Draeger, German consul in New York, has for six years been the actual head of the National Socialist party in the United States. They said the German diplomat has been "under observation for a long time" and is head of a vast ring of espionage, sabotage and propaganda.

It was revealed that Draeger's connections were linked up when a raid was made on the German Tourist Information Bureau and Trans-act Press, both in New York.

Far East Bloc

In Manila, Capt. Rufo Romero, a native Filipino, graduate of West Point and officer of the Fourteenth Engineers at Fort McKinley, was formally arrested and charged with plotting to sell confidential military papers to an unnamed foreign power. He was taken into custody in the basement of his home while allegedly photographing documents showing defense fortifications at the entrance to Manila bay. Two civilian accomplices were arrested. His American-born wife was sought.

Meanwhile a Japanese, who feigned insanity, was seized on the U. S. aircraft carrier Langley, at Olanguapo. He was found when still in a wet bathing costume and apparently had swum from shore to the ship.

MISCELLANY:

President Roosevelt borrowed a dollar from Postmaster General Walker to buy $4 worth of the new defense stamps. The stamps were exhibited at the White House on the first day of sale, but when the President went to make a purchase for his collection he had only $5 in his pocket.

An attendance record was established in the national parks during the 1940 travel year. Visitors numbered 16,741,855, a million more than last year.

Congress Establishes Vocational Schools to Train Farm Youth

Rural Schools to Offer Instruction in Mechanical Trades; Rumors Predict Roosevelt, Willkie Will Name Loser to Head Defense Board.

By BAUKHAGE

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)
WASHINGTON.—Remember that old song: "How you going to keep 'em down on the farm, after they've seen Paree?"

Well, you're not going to be able to keep some of them down on the farm who haven't seen Paree. This time it isn't the bright lights that are calling, it's the pay envelope. Not the lure of the ladies but the lathes and riveters and stamping machines in the factories that are calling.

At least, that is what the experts here in Washington who claim they can see through a haystack without blinders prognosticate.

And Uncle Sam is helping. Most people didn't notice it but congress slipped $10,000,000 into the last deficiency bill, most of which is going toward helping the farm boy get a job in the city. The money is to be appropriated as part of the industrial defense program for "out-of-school rural and non-rural vocational schools" but the fact is that states will share in the fund according to their farm population.

At present more than 2,500 rural vocational schools are offering instruction in vocational agriculture. These schools, if they get additional money for equipment and teaching, can provide training in auto-mechanics and other skills basic to defense industries.

City Employers Prefer

Men Raised on Farm

And this isn't just a defense measure, either. We know that scarcely any city produces enough babies to keep its population even. We know that while some farm districts are overpopulated now and have been since the depression, a lot of farmers' sons will always go to the city if they can find work there. Right now defense industries need help and they prefer a man with a card that shows he has had vocational training. This doesn't mean that agricultural vocational training will be cut down but the $10,000,000, while it won't go very far, will help a lot to give the farm boy the mechanical training the city boys have been getting.

But there is another reason why more farm boys are going to get city jobs. They are preferred in a lot of industries anyhow. A farm boy makes a good factory worker, the experts tell us, if he comes from a farm where machinery has been used, because he's just that much more experienced than the city boy. Especially the tractor wheat farms of the Northwest, the corn-belt, the Mississippi South. He knows a cam from a gear, he knows what makes the wheels go round. He can transfer this "feel" he has for farm machinery to a lathe or any other simple machine.

Another thing, he's better disciplined than the city boy. On the farm Pa is the foreman. The boy is used to taking orders. Also he's used to working hard. And when he goes to the city he's likely to be steadier and more reliable than the city worker.

Defense Commission

Post in Doubt

There is an interesting rumor chasing itself around the lamp-posts on Pennsylvania avenue these days. It's one of those wish-fathered thoughts but it's worth repeating over anybody's back fence. This is the way it goes:

"If Roosevelt is elected he's going to make Wendell Willkie chairman of the defense commission. If Willkie is elected he's going to name Franklin Delano Roosevelt for the job."

Such a consummation might do more to unify the defense program than any other single thing.

At present there isn't any chairman of the commission. When Mr. Knudsen, head of the production unit of the group, has a problem that involves national policy he has to put on his hat and walk over to the White House, or else call National 1414 and ask to speak to one Franklin Delano Roosevelt, for he's the boss.

The same thing applies to the heads of the other units. As a matter of record there has been no public criticism on the part of the defense commissioners about the arrangement but some people feel that it would be a wonderful thing as far as public opinion goes, if the next President, whoever he may be after next January, picks his erstwhile political opponent as head of our gigantic effort to ring America with an impenetrable wall of wings and ships and men.

U. S. May Lack

President in January

As a matter of fact when inauguration day rolls around there actually may not be any President to inaugurate.

At least that's what some of the prophets of gloom on Capitol Hill are predicting will happen if the November election should be very close.

This is what the worrying ones say:

"When the Lame Duck amendment to the Constitution was written and inauguration day and the convening of the new congress were moved back from March to January, Senator Norris and everybody else thought our troubles were over. We all agreed it was wonderful to get rid of the painful sight of lame ducks limping around the political barnyard. It was a waste of time, often with a defeated President still in the White House, always with some defeated congressman who really didn't represent anybody, sitting in the Capitol until the March following the November elections.

"That's all very well under ordinary circumstances, that is when we don't have a close election. But suppose we do have a real close election this year. Congress meets on January 3. The brand new congress. It has to organize, elect a speaker and be ready for the joint session with the senate three days later because that's when the electoral vote is counted. And until the vote is counted and approved by the whole of congress the results of the election are not official.

"Usually this ceremony is just an empty form—unlocking the specially made box, taking out the beautifully engrossed certificates from each state signed by the proper officials and reading off the score that everybody has known since election day. But suppose the vote is close and there are charges of fraud and the side which makes the charges has enough votes in the house to demand a recount?"

Close Election Would

Necessitate Recount

"The law says that if the electors can't decide on the President that the Vice President with the most votes has to take over the presidency in the interim. But it would be quite likely that if one candidate's vote was questioned his running mate's would be, too. So who would be President then?"

This is the problem as some of the legislators see it. They point out that if fraud were approved in a single precinct in a single state, it might change the electoral vote of that state and so the outcome of the election. Meanwhile, an investigation might drag out and postpone the approval of the electoral vote indefinitely.

Of course this isn't likely to happen but at least it provides something for congress and the country to worry about and take their minds off the war. And it could happen.

In the famous case of President Hayes the vote was protested and it took a nine-man commission to settle it. Congress selected three members of the Supreme court, three senators and three representatives to do it. Their task was considerably expedited, however, since they had a pro-Hayes majority and simply threw out all the electoral votes challenged by the other side. The supporters of Tilden, the defeated candidate, were never convinced that he wasn't cheated out of the presidency.

Such a thing could hardly happen again but it is true that fraud charges are predicted this year and nobody but a spendthrift or a violently loyal partisan is anxious to risk his money betting on the number of seats that will be won or lost in the house in November.

What we forget is that the American people usually go in for land-slides and the close election is the exception. That's probably why we don't take close races into consideration and perhaps it's why Senator Norris and his friends who drew up the Lame Duck amendment didn't allow a little more time between the meeting of the new congress and the counting of the electoral vote and inauguration day, "just in case."

A humorous note was given defense preparations recently when President Roosevelt vetoed legislation designed "to safeguard and promote the breeding and training of the homing pigeon for use as a means of communication in an emergency." The President commented that this was carrying national defense "a little too far." The measure would have made it a Federal offense to shoot or tamper with a homing pigeon, because the birds may be needed to carry military messages.

First Postmark

Great Britain, it is said, can claim the honor of having originated the postmark. The first one, which was used in London as long ago as 1660, was a very simple affair, consisting of a small circle divided into two parts. In the top portion were two letters indicating the month, while in the lower half the day of the month was shown. No endeavor was made to denote the year, and it is only by the dates of the letters on which the mark is impressed that it is possible to fix the date of its use. The earliest known was on a letter written in 1680.

"I-DON'T-VOTE" AMERICANS NUMBER 49 PER CENT OF TOTAL

"What difference does it make whether I vote or not? There are millions of voters... and I'm only one." That is a common excuse that some Americans make for failing to vote. And as a result, literally, millions of Americans each year forego the most cherished privilege of American citizenship — the privilege of participating in free elections.

Don't be an "I-don't vote" American if you are a non-voter, you are failing to do your part to preserve Freedom in America. The people who don't vote each year are frequently numerous enough to hold the balance of power. Your vote is all-important. Every American's vote is all-important. It is the most sacred right of American citizenship.

Machine politicians—the Kellys, the Flyns and the Hagues will get out the city vote. Unfortunately far too many rural voters often stay at home on election day. Next Tuesday voters in the rural communities of America can demonstrate their real power and swing this election away from the city bosses — IF THEY GO TO THE POLLS AND VOTE FOR WENDELL WILLKIE.

Wendell Willkie says: "There has been a lot of talk about the danger of changing administrations in an emergency. The closer Mr. Roosevelt gets us to war, the more people say that we should not change horses in the middle of the stream. Well, for one thing, what are we doing in the middle of the stream, how did we get there—the man who got us in, is not the right one to get us out."

"By the simple laws of economics we must expand the domestic market and the foreign market."—Wendell L. Willkie.

To the Editor:

Letters to the editor contain many a grain of sound common sense. Once in a while one reaches the point of genius. Of that kind there is an example in the Christian Science Monitor of Jan. Monday, from a Natick, Mass., correspondent who signs himself—or herself—"A.B.G." It reads:

- "IF A CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES PROMISED TO:
- "Double the national debt;
 - "Reduce the value of the dollar;
 - "Plow under 25 per cent of the crops;
 - "Pay $5 for each pig not raised;
 - "Create class hatred;
 - "Scare business into cutting down, thereby continuing unemployment and endangering every one's job;
 - "Attempt to pack the supreme court;
 - "Try to make over the country into a one-man government;
 - "Set an example of evading laws;
 - "Ignore his party platform;
- "WOULD HE GET YOUR VOTE?"

Auditor General Keeps Pledge Made to Publishers.

Vernon J. Brown, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, today made an accounting to a group of over 300 Michigan newspaper publishers who solicited and sponsored his candidacy for that office two years ago. It was their contention that as a business man, publisher and editor of a weekly paper, a legislator with ten years of experience, and a former county official, he was particularly well qualified for the office of Auditor General. Mr. Brown, appreciating the sponsorship, frankly accepted their aid and outlined his platform with the following pledges: "If elected I shall reduce the cost of operating the Department—I shall reduce the number of employees by removing from the payrolls every unnecessary jobholder—I shall economize to such an extent that there will be no more red ink bookkeeping in the Department and the balances will be on the right side of the ledger."

A careful analysis of Mr. Brown's report shows that when he took office January 1, 1939 he found the former administration had an average of 422 employees with an annual operating cost of $1,129,521.64. Payroll costs were at an all time high and many political newcomers had replaced experienced employees. Auditor General Brown promptly removed from the payroll all purely political jobholders, and at the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1940 his reports show an average of 177 employees in the Department with an annual operating cost of $650,581.51—a saving of $478,940.13 to Michigan taxpayers. Part of this saving has been due to the enactment of legislation sponsored by Mr. Brown in centralizing the collection of delinquent taxes in the offices of the county treasurers. This has not only resulted in greater convenience to taxpayers but has insured a permanency of this saving to the Department.

Less known but by far the most important of his accomplishments has been the creation of a single unified accounting system for the State. Formerly four distinct records were maintained by various Departments which resulted in conflicting and confusing reports on the financial condition of the State. Now clear, unified and accurate statements showing the true financial condition of the state are issued from the Auditor General's office shortly after the last day of each month.

Notwithstanding this drastic reduction in personnel and operating expense, it has been observed that there has been a marked improvement in the efficiency of the Department. Payrolls have been met on time, old age assistance checks issued when due, and thousands of dollars saved in discounts by the prompt payment of bills. This exceptional record of public service by Auditor General Brown has been particularly gratifying to his sponsors—he has faithfully kept his pledge and should be retained in office for another term.

CONSUMERS PROTECT YOUR POCKETBOOKS

VOTE "NO" on No. 4

STATE DENTAL BILL

This is an important message to you, Mr. and Mrs. Consumer. Michigan has a model statute governing the use of advertising. It fully protects the consumer against misuse of advertising by false or misleading statements of any kind.

Newspapers are ready at all times to keep their advertising columns clean from such abuse. Merchants likewise do not wish to mislead the consumer with inaccurate statements which result only in ill will and loss of patronage.

The economic freedom of the consumer depends largely on his or her ability to get truthful information. Is there any justification for a scheme to rob you of this right; to prohibit telling the truth?

State Proposal No. 4, the Dental Bill, would deny the consumer this important privilege. It would prohibit the telling of prices. It would encourage other groups to work for special legislation to restrict competition.

It would evade the American system of justice by court and jury. It would deny to both consumer and business man the freedom of truthful advertising.

Consumers, Guard your rights!

Defend the right to tell the truth, as judged by court and jury, and as safeguarded against abuse by the Michigan false advertising law.

This is the American way!

VOTE "NO" ON STATE PROPOSAL NO. 4.

Re-Elect
Otto W. Bishop
to the office of State Senator

He has represented faithfully and well the interests of his district.

He is well qualified by character, ability, experience, industry and knowledge of public affairs to ably and aggressively represent the interests and welfare of the people of this district in the State Senate.

Keep Bishop in the Senate

Lansing — Because of competition, two private feuds go before Michigan voters next Tuesday.

And, as usually the case, the innocent bystander who is most affected is the consumer — Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public — who pay the bill.

The controversies involve two referendums — State Proposal No. 3, the 1939 bus bill and State Proposal No. 4, the 1939 dentists' anti-competition bill. The state legislature, along with other measures, passed both acts only to have special groups circulate petitions for a referendum of the people.

And so, when you go to the polls on Tuesday, you will be confronted with huge special ballots of bedsheet proportions. The headings will mean little, if anything.

Bus Competition

The bus feud involves two transportation concerns — the Department of Street Railways in Detroit, a municipal utility, and the Eastern Michigan Motor Bus company, a private utility.

In 1939, the legislature enacted an amendment to the Motor Carrier Act. This change said that when Detroit seeks to operate its buses beyond a two-mile limit from the city's borders, and on state highways, it must come under the same regulations and pay the same taxes as do private transportation buses.

The Michigan Motor Bus association which seeks a "Yes" vote on the No. 3 proposal, wants competition to be put on the same basis for all.

The DSR of Detroit which as a municipal utility urges a "No" vote, raises the cry of "monopoly" and "profits".

Who is concerned about all this? Consumers in the Detroit suburban area are affected directly. Consumers in up-state communities are affected indirectly in payment or non-payment of gasoline taxes.

Dental Competition

The second private feud, also involving the consumer, is between two groups of professionally trained and state licensed dentists.

One group, who term themselves "ethical" dentists, operate single offices — one dental chair to each office.

Another group, known as the "advertising" dentists operate low-cost dental offices on the chain store basis. Because of operating economies, these dental offices enjoy big patronage in the industrial centers by telling the consumer about what they have to offer. They do so by advertising. In Detroit these firms even support the Better Business Bureau!

The 1939 dental act contained these provisions, plainly designed to prevent such low-cost competition. We quote the law:

"No Prices"

"No person shall own, or manage more than one office for the practice of dentistry in any location, and operate them under his own name, with employed operators."

"It shall be unlawful for any dentist or dentists to advertise price, cost, charge, fee or terms of credit for professional service or for materials used in the practice of dentistry."

This Henry Ford production method in dentistry — with economies made possible largely through advertising prices to the consumer — has thrived in industrial centers where there are many low wage earners. Actually, newspapers have ever received dental advertisement are concerned by such competition. And likewise, only a few newspapers have ever received dental advertisement. (Continued on Next Page)

Re-elect
Senator VANDENBERG

When You Vote for Vandenberg
You Vote for Michigan

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg is Michigan's champion. In foreign relations, in finance, in commerce, he is one of the few successful, influential and important men Michigan ever sent to Washington. BUT he has never forgotten the people who sent him there. For thirteen years he has fought for Michigan's interests — from sugar beets to automobiles, from furniture to fruit. He's a staunch friend of farming, an aggressive spokesman for organized labor . . . and an implacable foe of extravagance.

Vandenberg is the man who sponsored the famous "munitions investigation" that took big profits out of war.

He is the man who forced congressional reapportionment, gaining four seats for Michigan in the House of Representatives, and four votes in the Electoral College.

He is the man who was chiefly responsible for last January's bill which stopped an increase of 50% in taxes on 40,000,000 workers.

He is called "the Father of Bank Deposit Insurance."

He is the man who saved America $500,000,000 by defeating the shamefully wasteful Passamaquoddy and Florida Ship Canal and a number of other senseless projects.

He has done all these things for the nation, but he has never been too busy to "deliver the goods" for Michigan.

He saved the state's copper industry with his tariff.

He sponsored Isle Royale's development as Michigan's first National Park.

He has vigilantly guarded the state's vast interests in Great Lakes commerce, and he is working now for Michigan's share in National Defense.

This is the man who is a great leader of the Senate minority party . . . the man whom Life magazine picked among the "first ten" Senators.

His re-election is Michigan's duty to 47 other states as well as to itself. His re-election means that Michigan will continue to be "tops" in the United States Senate!

Clarence B. Meggison
Candidate for
JUDGE OF PROBATE

Non-Partisan Ballot

General Election, November 5, 1940

I am placing my candidacy before the electors of Charlevoix county in as straight-forward a manner as possible.

There is no statutory requirement whatsoever making it necessary for a Judge of Probate to be an attorney. The duties of the office are clearly defined in the Probate Code, which covers all legal matters and which any person with ordinary sense of judgment can fully understand. There are many Probate Judges and candidates for that office in Michigan, who, like myself, are not attorneys. Furthermore, probate matters are largely handled on forms provided for such purpose and uniform throughout the state.

My duties as Friend of the Court and Probation Officer have placed me in close touch for several years with the delinquent children problem and have provided experience required in handling juvenile cases.

My business experience over a period of 20 years has involved the handling of large sums of public money as well as properties, which could be considered comparable to estates involved in Probate Court.

Did I not feel fully qualified to handle the duties of the office, I certainly would not impose myself upon you for consideration.

I am not incumbered with other business interests and if elected promise to give by entire, undivided time in service to the public in this office. If my past record of public service is the type you would expect of a county officer, I place it before you for consideration at this time.

... he gets things done!

As State Highway Commissioner for seven and a half years Murray D. Van Wagoner has proved that he knows how to get things done. As Governor he can be counted on to apply the same vigorous methods and to give Michigan capable leadership.

FRED BRADLEY

Want You To Know His Record

He resigned a position in private employment to become a candidate in 1938, a position in private industry in which he had eighteen years of practical experience. He has lived in this district since 1912 and so has kept abreast of developments of this section continually. He has been part and parcel of the district from the time of the transition of the timber era to the development of new industry, Tourist and Resort business, etc. In other words, he is a well posted, practical citizen of the district which he represents.

He has consistently opposed the wild, impractical schemes of the New Deal but has supported those measures that he has considered to be in the best interests of the Nation at large, realizing that the 11th District cannot prosper unless the Nation prospers.

He consistently opposed the various steps which tended to involve us in European entanglements as a protest, on the grounds that such entanglements are contrary to the wishes of a majority of the people and against the best interests of the United States, believing America is united for Defense — and Peace.

He has consistently supported All Defense Measures as the record shows. He believes that we should make Our Nation strong, ready to meet any threat. Strong for defense — to keep out, not to get in, any war.

He supported W.P.A. Appropriations for 1939-1940 and 1940-1941, in spite of the fact that he believed the work relief program was inadequate and inefficient, but because of the fact that it was the only program that the new deal had to offer.

His endorsement by American Federation of Labor Unions such as the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees; Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen; International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders and Helpers; Brotherhood of Railroad and Steamship Clerks; Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; American Train Dispatchers' Association; Air Line Pilots' Association speaks for itself how organized Labor approves his re-election.

Congressman Bradley has not waited until campaign time to tell the people of the 11th District what was going on in Washington. He has kept them informed by a weekly news letter sent to all papers in the district, copies of timely speeches and similar material. He has visited all the counties of the district as often as his legislative duties would permit and has been in close collaboration with his people. No congressman has remained closer to the "folks back home" than has Congressman Fred Bradley. All communications from his constituents have received prompt and courteous answers.

Congressman Bradley has never dodged a vote on any question. He has voted according to his honest convictions and as he believed the people of the district desired. He has been a real representative of his people. He has refused to become just another "rubber stamp" congressman.

tising of this kind.

The Detroit Bureau of Governmental Research, a group that enjoys a splendid reputation, made this analysis of the two competing claims:

"The dentists who secured the passage of this act claim that poor dental work is confined largely to the 'advertising' dentists and by depriving them of advertising, they would lose their client, who would seek more competent care.

"The 'advertising' dentists claim they are able to attract persons who otherwise would neglect their teeth, that their work is as good as other dentists that advertising prices prevent other dentists from 'gouging' the public and that advertising is as rightfully applied to dentistry as to the sales of any other service."

"Doesn't Make Sense"

Continuing the bureau's analysis: "The public at large is not particularly concerned with a quarrel within the dental profession. It is concerned with the protection of public health. No doubt much of the material of this act (P. A. 122) is in the interest of public health.

"As to the allegation that advertising and the operation of more than one office is prima facie evidence of poor dental practices — to the laymen THAT DOESN'T MAKE SENSE. Possibly the answer is competent state regulation of all dentists — advertisers and non-advertisers alike."

As both dental groups must have professional training at a recognized dental college and must be licensed by the dentist's own state dental board, the competitive motive behind the bill is easy to see, as the Detroit bureau points out. From the consumer's viewpoint, the anti-competition restriction "doesn't make sense."

Shutting Out Competition

If the State Proposal No. 4 was the only anti-competition bill to confront the consumer, perhaps there would be less reason for concern.

But such is not the case. Smart Perry, editor of the Adrian Daily Telegram which has never received a penny in dental advertising, has raised attention editorially to the point that the dentists' act is designed to stifle competition and would establish a dangerous precedent for the consumer who always pays.

If it is wrong to advertise the truth about dental prices, then it is wrong to tell the truth about other prices. And where will it all end?

In 1911 the "truth in advertising" statute, making it illegal for anyone to make an untruthful, deceptive or misleading statement in any advertisement, was introduced nationally. Michigan's statute is considered to be a model law of its kind.

Advertising of Prices

Invariably the point rises: Why is it necessary for any group to have a special law of its own — forbidding price advertising of any kind — when Michigan already has a statute fully protecting the interests of the consumer? The answer always brings up the legal delays, continuances, and politics which are involved by a suit at law. There are the prosecutor, the judge, the jury and they all take time.

The legislative trend since NRA has been to circumvent the usual system of justice by establishing special state bureaus, empowered to regulate com-

4-H CLUB LEADERS HOLD TRAINING MEETING

The plans for the coming winter 4-H club program were discussed with over 40 4-H club leaders and friends at the training meeting held in the dining room of the Charlevoix High School on last Tuesday, October 22nd.

Mr. A. G. Kettunen, State Club Leader, and Mrs. Ruth Schubert, Assistant State Club Leader, were in attendance and gave instructions and suggestions for carrying on the winter 4-H club program. The group met at 5:00 p. m. in two different sections. One section discussed the handicraft program while the other section was devoted to clothing and hot lunch instruction.

Promptly at 6:30 the group enjoyed a banquet. The Kiwanis Club of Charlevoix enjoyed the banquet with the 4-H club leaders. They have long been interested in this program throughout the county and were anxious to observe the 4-H club program at work. The handicraft demonstration team made up of Mason Clark and Harry Watson, of East Jordan, gave their demonstration on "Saw Filing." This is demonstration that won a trip to the National Club Congress at Chicago.

The usual successful club program is anticipated for the coming winter.

POLITICAL NOTICE!

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE 29th SENATORIAL DISTRICT

I am a candidate for the above District having been nominated without solicitation or even knowledge upon my part, but being in the race, I naturally wish to make a good showing.

I have been solicited by many groups and associations to support their recommendations, in the event of my Election. I have made no promise or reply and now say to them I shall favor any measure that seems to have sufficient merit in it and shall not place Party before the welfare of my District and State. Particularly am I interested as to the wishes of Sportsmen and Nature Lovers and also I will use my best endeavor toward better commercial fishing conditions, more hatcheries, more artificial propagation (Five of the counties out of seven in this District border the Great Lakes for approximately 300 miles).

With the above declaration of my position I shall be grateful to you for your support.

Robert H. Rayburn

Our many years of service in this community assures you of the same helpful assistance you are accustomed to with your wishes ever the first consideration.

THE MANDATE OF 1938—Two years ago the people of Michigan registered a protest at the ballot box. It was a protest against wasteful spending, mounting deficits, and a betrayal of honest laboring men.

You gave the Republican party in Michigan a mandate to do a job.

This party has kept the faith!

NO NEW TAXES—Needs of public service have been met on a "pay-as-you-go" basis without recourse to new taxes.

Business has been encouraged to GO AHEAD—hire more men, increase payrolls. Industrial peace has replaced industrial turmoil.

The party has kept the faith!

MORE WORK TO BE DONE—In two years' time the record of accomplishment has been notable.

Workers have enjoyed more stabilized employment. The labor mediation board is respected by all. Farmers enjoy better marketing methods.

Let's carry on good government in Michigan.

The Republican State Ticket awaits your mandate to finish the job.

MY MESSAGE:--

TO THE GOOD PEOPLE OF CHARLEVOIX COUNTY:

The duties of my office as Probate Judge do not permit me to make an active campaign for re-election on Nov. 5th; and the Dignity of the office forbids that I should do so.

But I can give you this Message for your consideration:

1st. The Office of Judge of Probate is not a Political nor a Clerical one requiring constant presence in the Probate Office at Charlevoix. It is a JUDICIAL office, quite similar to that of Circuit Judge. My office or clerical work is comparatively light, when compared with the Judicial duties, which cover all over the County.

True, most hearings are had in the Charlevoix Probate Office; but in the interests of economy and saving of taxpayers' money, many matters are taken care of in East Jordan and Boyne City, and elsewhere in the County;—thus saving witness fees and time and money for those interested. My travel expense costs the taxpayers nothing; and there has never been any charge to the County for office rent or space, or for 'phone rentals, or for over-time work done.

2nd. The Judicial duties of the Probate Court are varied and important; and not infrequently involve large sums of money. Within the past year one estate alone amounted to over a half million dollars; and several exceeded $50,000. Such estates require careful legal knowledge and experience as they always include many kinds of property.

Then, too, there are the scores of small estates of $1,000 or less. They all require the same care, as the few dollars are just as precious to the poor as the millions are to the rich. I am always glad to give free legal advice to all those interested in any matter in my Court as to their rights in the matter.

3rd. Then there are the many Guardianship cases, which always involve minors or incompetent persons,—and such proceedings require legal exactness, from start to finish, besides supervision of the property and investments of the ward's estate.

4th. Many Adoption cases are also difficult, and require careful study of the Law to make them legal.

5th. And then there are the scores of Hospitalization cases of Afflicted, Crippled and Injured Children. They all require personal attention to weed out the unworthy, and keep within our allotment which has been reduced to about 20% in the last two years. We have been able to keep within our allotment, and also give good service.

6th. Then there are the many Juvenile cases,— Delinquent, Neglected and Dependent Children. All under 17 years of age, are under the Jurisdiction of the Probate Court, except felony cases. With the help of the County Agent, I have personally investigated every Delinquent Juvenile case, and have sought to require the child to right any wrong committed, and then keep him under probation for a while, either to myself or some good neighbor or friend. In this way, I believe we have salvaged 98% of those brought into Court.

7th. In the above I have not mentioned the unfortunate Widows. The Law makes it the special duty of the Judge to acquaint them with their rights, and to see that they are protected.

8th. All of the Judicial duties listed above, and many others, do require a lot of Common sense, but also require a larger amount of Legal Education and Experience, which I believe I have after 32 years as an active practicing Lawyer. And I am frank to say that the services required of the Judge of Probate, as above set forth, cannot be rendered by sitting in the Probate Office all of the time.

The Law itself only requires the Probate Court to be open "at reasonable times as fixed by the Judge." Our own Circuit Judge only spends from 20 to 30 days a year in his office here, and we do not complain about that.

9th. When not in the Probate Office I am subject to call at any time, night or day, and maintain 'phones at my own expense for that purpose. I frequently attend to Probate matters in my home or office evenings, by appointment; and I have always sought to handle all Probate matters in my Court with as little expense as possible, and at the same time see that everything is legally done.

Lastly, I have conscientiously tried to fulfill the duties required of me as Probate Judge, efficiently, promptly, and with the Dignity that the Office requires; and if re-elected will continue so to do.

I want to thank the Physicians of the County for their fine co-operation in the Hospitalization of children; and my special thanks is given to all those, including the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs, who have so cheerfully helped out in Juvenile cases. So much could not have been accomplished without their help.

And now, if for services heretofore rendered, I am deserving of it, I will be truly grateful for your support and vote at the coming Election on the non-partisan Ballot.

Most Sincerely,

Ervan A. Ruegsegger

JUDGE OF PROBATE.

McNary Pledges Better Deal Than New Deal

"The farmers of America—yes, all the people—are entitled to a better deal than the New Deal. The next administration, under the leadership of Wendell Wilkie, will not be afraid to break new paths. Nor will it be afraid to follow old and neglected trails that once served us well."

McNary

This is the message to voters on the farms and in the cities, as they go to the polls next Tuesday, from Senator Charles L. McNary, Republican candidate for vice president and for 20 years the champion of the farmers' cause in the United States Senate.

"The goal we seek for agriculture," said Senator McNary, "is simply this: the American market for the American farmer at the American price. When wisely worked out by the next Administration and conscientiously administered, that formula contains all the law and the prophets for agriculture. That is my considered judgment after 20 years service on the Senate Committee on Agriculture; after listening to literally thousands of proposals for farm relief."

"I favor, as I have for 20 years, the two-price system for crops with exportable surpluses; plus tariffs reserving the American market for the American farmer."

"We shall reach this goal—a goal at which the vast, partially used bounty of our continental domain shall be made available to all of us thru the old-fashioned practices of work, thrift and intelligent application. That seems a homely method. I believe it is a true one."

Wendell Wilkie says: "I accept the nomination of the Republican party for President of the United States. I accept it in the spirit in which I know it was given at our convention in Philadelphia—the spirit of dedication. I herewith dedicate myself with all my heart, with all my mind, and with all my soul to making this Nation strong."

Your Interest Charge Interest paid by the United States Treasury on the Federal debt for the year ending June 30, 1940, was over $1,040,000,000. This was $8 for each man, woman, and child in the United States and a $40 interest burden alone on each family of five.

THIRD TERM? NO! On November 5th the voters of the United States will affirm their approval of the sound judgment of the delegates to the Democratic national convention of 1896 when they adopted this plank in their platform:

"We declare it to be the unwritten law of this Republic, established by custom and usage of one hundred years, and sanctioned by the greatest and wisest of those who founded and maintained our government, that no man should be eligible for a third term of the Presidential office."

CARMEN OF THE RANCHO

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN

Don Alfredo, wealthy, Spanish owner of a Southern California rancho, refuses to heed several warnings of a raid by a band of outlaws, Sierra Indians. One day after he has finally decided to seek the protection of the nearby mission for his wife and family, the Indians strike.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

But Pedro dared take no chances. His horse was frantic, and he knew the deadly danger of a wounded bear. Casting a hasty glance at Bowie, who lay on his face, he urged his frightened horse closer to the fallen monster of the Sierras.

CHAPTER VII

Bowie woke in bed to see a tall bald man in the brown woolen habit of a Franciscan padre sitting in a chair beside him and eying him with a suspicion of a smile.

"Padre," he said, breathing with difficulty, "if the bear is dead I want my knife. My knife," he repeated with an effort, "and my revolver."

For answer the Franciscan rose, turned to the bureau in the bedroom, took from it the long knife and the Colt revolver. "They have been cared for, amigo, as you see. But I advise you to rest up for at least three months before you resume with a grizzly."

"The blade was made from a blacksmith's file," returned Bowie with a trace of pride in his weakness.

"And calls for a long strong arm to wield it," mused the padre.

Don Francisco entered the room on tiptoe. He greeted Bowie warmly. "Amigo!" he exclaimed.

"Thanks to God that you are alive! Tell me: what happened in that canyon?"

The padre put up his hand. "He is too weak to talk." "But in a few words," begged Don Francisco.

time, who graduated a surgeon in Spain before he became a missionary, came quickly to our aid—and you see!" Bowie weakly acknowledged his obligation by pressing the hand of Padre Martinez, who sat beside his bed, and the padre silenced Don Francisco by waving him out of the room and then following him.

At the door he encountered Don Ramon just coming to speak to Bowie and, in matter of fact, to apologize for exposing his guest's life to such danger. Don Ramon brought back his nephew Francisco for translator. "Only a few words, Padre," exclaimed Don Ramon. "But he saved my life. I must, at least, thank him."

Bowie, who in the everyday course of the life of a frontiersman would not have looked on his narrow escape as an extraordinary event, found himself the hero of the rancho. Pardaloe and Simmie, shining in the penumbra of his prestige and though secretly elated at the feat, put on airs of indifference among the vaqueros to intimate that where they came from such incidents were everyday occurrences.

The days went slowly, almost painfully, for an active man like Bowie. Dona Maria, realizing that her husband's life had been spared through the diversion of the bear's fury, was unremitting in her solicitude for the Texan's comfort.

During the impatient days that followed, Bowie had one faithful attendant. Don Francisco spent hours at his bedside and entertained him with stories of California and of his people, the rancheros. Bowie was a good listener. One day while Don Francisco sat with Bowie a jar of Canton ginger was sent in with the compliments of Carmen. Bowie, assuming such indifference as he could muster, asked why Carmen wore black.

"She had a sweetheart, Don Ramon de Haro. He had a twin brother. Now if you are an admirer of General Fremont," Don Francisco interrupted himself to say, "you would not like to hear this."

"The brothers, one day this spring, took a boat at Yerba Buena to row over to San Rafael. They wanted to see Fremont about getting pay for a bunch of steers his men had taken from the De Haro rancho. They took with them an old friend, Don Jose de Berreyesa, to interpret. The three men landed at San Rafael, and when they were seen by Fremont he detailed three to meet them and kill them."

"Kill them?" echoed Bowie, surprised. "Listen," continued Don Francisco. "One of these three men sent by Fremont was his scout, Kit Carson. Carson, before he set out, asked Fremont whether he should take these three Californians prisoners. Fremont growled, 'I've got no room for prisoners.'"

"Carson and his two men dismounted about fifty yards from the De Haro boys and Berreyesa, who were walking up the hill unarmed, and covering them with rifles, deliberately shot the three."

"Judge for yourself," returned Don Francisco succinctly. "For a moment Bowie made no comment. 'I've heard some tough stories about him,' he said slowly, 'but nothing to equal that.'"

"They buried the boys—fine young fellows—and poor Berreyesa. You can imagine how Californians felt."

"I can." "Senorita Carmen was wild. Don Ramon and she were not, what you say, engaged, but they were deeply in love. I really believe if she could have got hold of Fremont she would have strangled him. No wonder she hates Americans."

Bowie's padre surgeon, Martinez, came often. When the danger had passed he confessed he had greatly feared infection. "But I should have known better," he said one day. "Texans are strong blooded. You may be discharged from my care, let us see—it is four weeks. You are a lucky man, Senor Bowie. What will you do now?"

This was the question that was being asked in the Estrada family. After prolonged discussions in which Padre Martinez was consulted Don Ramon spoke to Bowie.

"You have come to California to live. You mean to go upriver to join Captain Sutter. I have something better. If you will become major-domo of Rancho Guadalupe I will make you a rich man."

Bowie thanked Don Ramon but shook his head. "I would rather be free, Don Ramon. I have always been free. A Texan just naturally hates to be tied down. Besides, I want to see more of this country. It is very wonderful. And—who knows? I might be called back to Texas."

Don Ramon did not press his offer. "As you will, senor. Remember, you are always welcome, with your friends, at Guadalupe. And if you honor us again with your company I shall be careful not to lead you into any more bear traps. You have saved my life."

As the last day of his stay approached, Bowie began to wonder whether he should catch a final glimpse of the young girl who had occupied his thoughts so much since coming to the rancho. She had been visiting in Monterey and came home the night before Bowie and his scouts took their departure.

The family were grouped together. After good-bys to Don Ramon and the Dona, Carmen came forward, with her cousin Francisco for interpreter, to thank Bowie for the claws. Bowie yielded to an impulse and stepped up to Carmen to thank her for the Canton jar. "Since I can't take it with me, I have left it in the car of Don Francisco," he explained. "It was most kind of you, senorita," he said, while Don Francisco translated, "to think of the stranger within the gates. I shall not forget it."

He watched her narrowly as Don Francisco repeated his words, but her manner was reserved, her smile cool. Yet at the end as he turned away he thought, perhaps imagined, that a faint flush crept unwelcomed into her cheeks.

"If ever I am happy enough to revisit Guadalupe . . ." remarked Bowie, soliloquizing, as he rode away. "I shall certainly have learned to speak Spanish. In fact, I won't come back till I can."

He kept his word. They heard from him at Guadalupe. For months after the Texan had ridden away there came from upriver, almost regularly, choice bits of game from Bowie—saddles of venison and elk; Canadian geese, mallard ducks and, not infrequently, pelts, from the north, of the silver-tipped fox. Of these there were always two, soft tanned and deep piled, for the Dona and her daughter.

"The Texan has the instincts of a gentleman," observed Don Ramon at dinner, one evening, "since he exaggerates in his mind the slight hospitality we have been able to extend to him and his men. Nor does he forget Padre Martinez, for Pedro tells me that Santa Clara receives much courtesy from him—not alone in gifts of compliment, but—so Pedro says—he and his men have helped the padres recover horses and sometimes cattle, driven off by thieving Indians."

"The Indians are growing constantly bolder, Don Ramon," said his nephew indignantly. "I hear it on every hand. They raid our neighbors already. Soon they will be after our horses. Yosco and Stanislaus long ago taught them rebellion. They need to be driven out of these mountains."

"Don't undertake it yourself, Don Francisco," remarked his uncle, who knew his fiery disposition. "Nevertheless, my uncle, you will see them give us trouble if they are not taught a lesson."

Don Francisco proved too good a prophet. The horse-stealing Indians did grow bolder. Their depredations increased, and they raided the big ranchos with less fear of consequences. Every young Californian along the foothills was angry. They demanded something be done by the soldiers at the mission or the presidio.

But the authorities were indolent. Following minor depredations at Rancho Pinalo, the Indians, emboldened, ran off, one dark night, every saddle horse on the place. Don Jose Martinez and his son had to borrow horses from Don Ramon at Guadalupe.

The neighbors were infuriated. They organized a party and set out to recover the horses and chastise the thieves. Don Francisco of Guadalupe was chosen captain.

The posse was in the saddle early next morning, and two vaqueros tracked the marauders through the hills to a canyon in the mountains where, toward evening, they charged the Indians in a surprise attack.

It was made too hastily, and the red men, scattering at the onslaught of the rancheros, sent back a cloud of arrows at their pursuers. Pedro and his vaqueros took advantage of the sudden confusion of the warriors to run the stolen horses out of the canyon and head them downhill for home. For a time the brush was fast; but there were too many Indians. Don Francisco called a retreat, and the Californians slowly retired from the field.

As the leader of his little band, Don Francisco was the last to wheel from the scene of battle. The youngster was fearless beyond his years. Unhappily, as he spurred after his comrades, an arrow struck him between the shoulders. For a moment he swayed in his saddle, but before he had galloped a hundred yards, striving to cling to his horse, he pitched forward headlong to the ground.

A score of Indian horsemen in hot pursuit yelled in triumph as he fell. His companions turned to attempt a rescue. But the fighting line of pursuers had already passed the fallen Don, and the pitifully few Californians were driven back without being able to save their youthful leader.

The duty of informing Don Ramon of the capture of his nephew was put upon Don Guillermo Castro, eldest of the young men. Hat in hand, he headed his companions into the living room. The family were, unfortunately, there—Don Ramon, Dona Maria and Carmen. No sooner had Don Guillermo spoken than all seemed to grasp the dread tidings at once.

Don Ramon sank, crushed, into a chair. Dona Maria burst into tears, and Carmen, ghastly white, fainted. Like wildfire the bad news spread to the servant quarters. Guadalupe, that night, was a house of mourning.

It was nearing midnight when a clattering of hoofs was heard outside. Carmen, in the living room, was still trying to comfort her mother; Don Ramon sat gazing into the dying fire. He had smoked a final cigar and given himself over to painful thoughts. At the sound of horsemen he stirred and, answering a rapping on the door, rose to his feet, answering, "Adelante!" Don Ramon thought some of the neighbors had returned.

The visitor strode somewhat forward and spoke easily in Spanish. "You do not remember me, Don Ramon. It is more than a year since I have seen you. I am Henry Bowie, the Texan."

The Don's gloomy features lightened. "Senor!" he cried. "Who could be more welcome? I am only sorry that you find us grief-stricken."

Bowie raised his hand. "That is why I am here. The bad news reached me in Monterey tonight. I came down the river this morning with Pardaloe and Simmie, bringing a batch of furs. They are with me. And I came at once to offer any help that I can to my friends, Don Francisco and yourself."

Don Ramon recounted briefly the tragedy and said the rancheros were waiting for daybreak to assemble for pursuit.

"You tell me that Pedro was with him? May I go to the vaquero quarters to speak with him?"

"Stay. He will come here: Carmen, tell Pepita to call Pedro."

When the sleepy-eyed vaquero appeared Bowie plied him with rapid questions. Don Ramon listened, impressed by the ease with which Bowie reconstructed, step by step, the fatal fight. It was almost as if he had been there.

CHAPTER VIII

"You say you can find the canyon in the dark?"

"Without doubt, senor."

"And you think you know the band?"

"Yosco led them, senor. I know him."

Bowie turned to Don Ramon. "Pedro seems sure he can find the ground of the fight. We will start at once."

"Pedro might easily go wrong on a night like this, senor. It is raining hard."

Bowie shook his head. "Every hour is precious if Don Francisco is alive. The Indians will not kill their prisoner before daybreak. Since they drove off the Californians they may have remained in the canyon. Vamos!"

"How about carbines, senor?"

"My men are well armed. You, Pedro, see that your vaqueros have carbines with plenty of dry ammunition—and hatchets and knives, Pedro."

Bowie spoke rapidly. His eagerness to get started was most apparent. In the vaquero quarter Pardaloe and Simmie, who had gone to bed, were roused with the vaqueros picked for the rescue party.

Under the conditions it was not possible to go fast after the beaten trail was left behind. Yet Bowie was keenly anxious to make time.

"I want to get to the canyon by daylight, Pedro," said Bowie. "Push on whenever you are sure you're right. But be careful not to get lost. Except for that, I like the rainy night. Sabe?"

"Si, senor."

The others of the party were cautioned to stick close together, to make no noise and not to attempt to light pipes. The faintest light of dawn, penetrating the leaden sky and the driving rain, found the rescuers riding fast. They reached the canyon entrance an hour later, but the high walls shut out the added daylight, and utmost caution was used in threading the winding recesses. Pedro suddenly halted and waited for Bowie to come up. "Here is the place, senor," he whispered, pointing to a sharp rock that jutted well up from the canyon floor. "The fight was here."

"Then we'd better scout ahead a way to look for Indians. We'll go on foot."

He spoke to Pardaloe and Simmie. "Pedro and I will work ahead, Ben," he explained. "You boys follow. Keep your priming pans dry."

The horses were left with the vaqueros, and the four stole forward on foot.

THE COVERED DISH CHURCH SUPPER
(See Recipes Below)

As I sit here thinking about church suppers, my mind wanders back several years to the suppers I attended in my old home town. There was always a feeling of congeniality, of hospitality and fellowship. The annual church supper was something that couldn't be, and wouldn't be, missed.

Many times it was a covered dish supper. There was usually a great variety of food. The menu was divided up into the main dish, the salad, the bread and butter, and the dessert. Each lady of the church was made responsible for one item of the menu; and she, no doubt, prepared her own favorite recipe.

Can you pass a table containing a tempting assortment of foods without wanting at least a taste of everything? Can you decide whether or not you want the coconut cream pie which is heaped with fluffy whipped cream, or the rich-looking chocolate cake with the thick fudge icing, when you know that you are entitled to only one dessert? Of course not! Instead of having such a wide selection of food for a covered dish supper, why not plan a well-balanced menu so that everyone gets exactly the same?

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JESUS DECLARES HIS MISSION

LESSON TEXT—Luke 4:16-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost.—Luke 19:10.

Ready for service! It's an exciting and auspicious occasion when the one who has prepared for a life work is ready to set forth on his mission. Joy and sorrow mingle; encouragement and opposition both appear and become his constant companions. Recognizing God and following His Word is of greatest importance on such a day.

The mission upon which Jesus entered on the day of our lesson was important far beyond any service of man, for, while He set out upon an earthly ministry of doing good, it led to the cross where He wrought out deliverance for the captives of Satan. That day found Him back with His own people in the synagogue in His home town.

I. Prophecy Fulfilled (vv. 16-22).
It is significant and appropriate that Jesus' declaration of Himself as the fulfillment of Isaiah 61:1, 2 was made in the synagogue on the Sabbath day. He met with the people in the house and at the time set apart for God's worship. He opposed spiritual deadness, the misinterpretation of the truth, the distortion of religious principles; but He was not, as some would have us believe, a religious free lance who despised the established worship of His people.

Having been prepared by the years of silence, and more particularly by the baptism and the temptation in the wilderness, He appeared at the synagogue in Nazareth to declare Himself as the fulfillment of prophecy.

Those who teach that Jesus was only a young Jewish teacher with a new philosophy of life have evidently not read the Scriptures. He knew Himself to be God's Son come into the world to bring the good news of salvation by His own blood to poor, sin-captive, blinded and bruised humanity. He is the Savior!

Look at Isaiah 61:1, 2 and note that Jesus stopped reading before the end of the sentence. "The day of vengeance of our God" will come when Christ returns. This is the day of grace. Sinners are urged to accept God's love now, and thus to escape the terrible day of judgment.

II. Faith Recognized (vv. 23-27).
The Jews gloried in the fact that they were the chosen people of God and insisted it was through the exercises of their formal worship that God's blessing must be received. Now this one whom they erroneously call "Joseph's son" (v. 22) comes to disturb them in their self-satisfaction. Seeing their rising resentment, He declares by striking words and example that the benefits and blessings of God come through faith and not because of any racial relationship.

The glory of Christianity is that its grace and power are to be received by faith and are fully and freely available to the simplest and poorest of men. Race, position, wealth, education, have nothing to do with it. All too often they are a hindrance, although they ought rather to be a help.

Every reader of these notes, regardless of age, education, wealth or any other condition or circumstance of life, stands on an equal footing before God and has a full and unlimited opportunity to take right now, by faith in Christ, all that God has for him—salvation, spiritual strength and usefulness, joy, peace, and all the other blessings of God. Will you do it?

III. Truth Rejected (vv. 28-30).
Like a torch cast into gunpowder, His words set off all the explosive power of narrow bigotry, national pride, jealousy, and they were all "filled with wrath" (v. 28).

They rejected not only the truth of His words, but they rejected Him who is the Truth (John 14:6). Note it carefully—in rejecting or neglecting His Word, you reject and neglect Him.

Observe that until the time had come for Him to be "delivered" (Rom. 4:25) into the hands of wicked men to be crucified they could not touch Him. There is no more majestic scene than that in verse 30 where the Son of God turned at the brow of the hill and, walking through the midst of the crowd, went His way.

What have I to fear at the hands of wicked and gainsaying men as long as I follow this all-powerful Son of God? He that is for us and in us is greater than he (the devil) that is in the world (I John 4:4). We follow the victorious Christ, who quietly but majestically walks through the ranks of His helpless enemies and goes "His way." Will you join us—today?

Be Temperate
Woe to them that rise up early in the morning that they may follow strong drink; that continue until night, till wine inflame them.—Isa. 5:11.

New Silk Jersey Gives Illusion Of Slim, Sculptured Silhouette

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

YOU will take the straight and narrow path for fall, but in effect only. You will do it by means of illusion caused by the artifices of slimming silk jerseys, of draping, subtle goring and intricate cut that achieves the effect of simple, slender straightness without losing one feminine curve, one iota of grace or walking comfort.

Right at the head of the silk parade of fall fashions comes daytime dresses, evening gowns, blouses, headgear, cunning little evening shawls and innumerable other accessory items made of silk jersey. For draping and achieving sculptured "lines," there is nothing in the entire fabric realm comparable to supple, lovely silk jersey.

Gray silk jersey is endorsed throughout the entire style parade, starting with blouses that will take you from luncheon right through to cocktails and important little dinners. For the most part these have long fitted sleeves, although the below-elbow length is also favored. The attractive blouse to the left in the illustration is typical. It is made with a high neck and curved seams running toward the armhole in front, in order to secure the cowl drapery in pretty precision. The sleeves are long and modish. The draped Persian silk turban gives just the right dash of color to glorify this exceeding chic blouse.

Bewitching are the dark silk jersey afternoon dresses. Because of the slim fall of the material, skirts are cut slightly fuller and there is much shirred and draped detail in bodices that will flatter every type of figure. See to the right in the group a black silk jersey daytime dress. Here the new long torso sculpture draping interprets current styling at its best. The American designer Kievette created this dress of real distinction and charm.

Sleek and sleeved dinner gowns of silk jersey made with molded torsos and sculptured drapery in the inimitable Alix manner call forth the plaudits of the fashion world. Romance and loveliness and feminine allure are at their height in a gown of soft gray-tone silk jersey as shown centered in the group. The bodice has a deep V-neck with much drapery coming from the shoulder to give fullness over the bust. The straight-falling generously full skirt slims into lines of infinite grace. Long sleeves accent the new "covered-up" look so definitely high-fashion for dinner gowns this season. The wide figure-flattering, tight draped midriff is enhanced by buckles jeweled with lovely pink moonstones.

Bi-colored silk jersey evening gowns continue to be fashion firsts. These have bodice and apron drapery in one color with midriff and skirt in another, in such dramatic combinations as flame red with black, accessorized with jet jewelry. Black magic also continues in gowns fashioned with sheer silk jersey tops with silk crepe for the skirt or black transparent lace bodices topping heavy black silk jersey skirts—enchanting and slightly wicked.

A "word to the wise" about caring for your silk jersey garments. Because it is a knit fabric, it is best to lay your blouses and dresses out flat in a drawer. And did you know that silk jersey practically never requires pressing as the "live" elasticity of silk reduces wrinkle to a minimum? In case an iron does have to be used, be sure just to place the iron on the spot you wish to press without rubbing back and forth, which would stretch the fabric. Silk jersey cleans beautifully, too, for the inherent characteristics of the fiber means that if the garment is properly cared for, it will not bag or sag or pull at the seams, but will return to its original size and shape. Delightful to wear under winter coats is sleek silver jersey, never too warm, never too cool—just right!

Is your child a NOSE PICKER?

It may be just a nasty habit, but sometimes nose picking is a sign of something nastier. It may mean that your child has round worms—especially if there are other symptoms, such as fidgeting, flabby appetite, restless sleep and itching in certain parts.

Many mothers don't realize how easy it is to "catch" this dreadful infection and how many children have it. If you even suspect that your child has round worms, get JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE right away! Drive out those ugly, crawling things before they can grow and cause serious distress.

JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE is the best known worm expellant in America. It is backed by modern scientific study and has been used by millions for over a century. JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE has the ability to drive out large round worms, yet it tastes good and acts gently. It does not contain castor oil. If there are no worms it works merely as a mild laxative. Ask for JAYNE'S VERMIFUGE at any drug store.

Shows Pompadour

Smart hats for fall and winter are fashioned and worn to show off the new pompadour hair-do. Here are two hats that do just that—play up to the fashionable pompadour coiffures. The one at the top is a youthful version with a big brim that lifts off the face and swoops low to the nape of the neck. The foundation of the hat is black felt with gold, maroon and navy stitching over its entire surface. A trio of quills in gold, red and blue puncture the up-lifted front brim. The black velvet dinner hat below was especially designed for the new pompadour hair-dress which shows off the forehead in light, till wine inflame them.—Isa. 5:11.

Spotted Furs Have Become the Vogue

If you keep seeing "spots before your eyes" don't be alarmed. It is simply fashion making a demonstration of what's what in fur coats and fur trimmings.

The tremendous vogue for leopard and ocelot and other of the spotted type pelts is developing almost to an epidemic of spots. When in doubt as to the fur to enhance your new cloth coat, use the spotted kind and you will be fashion correct.

The way spotted furs will crowd the grandstand this year is something to marvel at. There will be entire coats of leopard or ocelot. There will be muff and neckpiece sets with matching hats of the spotted fur. There will be more than that, for huge pockets of spotted fur are adorning cloth coats.

There's no end in sight of the procession of novelty accessory items that will enliven the fall and winter style picture. You will be seeing spotted fur gloves with belts made of the same material. Hand bags to match are available, and lapel gadgets of "spots." Of course the program includes smart headgear of spotted fur to "make good" a complete ensemble.

New Wool Fabric Dress

Has Hand-Knitted Section
Knitted sleeves in a wool fabric dress is big news. Attractive jersey dresses in the very new neutral colors take on sleeves and knitted sections. Details such as large pockets, belts and cuff-and-collar sets are done in yarn accurately color-matched.

OLD BILL says "Here's what I think—"

"I think that Senator Vandenberg should be returned to the United States Senate on his great record as the most useful Senator in Washington."

"Honestly, folks, Michigan is fortunate in having Vandenberg on the Foreign Relations Committee, Committee on Finance and Committee on Commerce—he is the only Michigan Senator ever to achieve such leadership."

"You know that when his party controls the Senate he will be President pro tem of the Senate."

"He believes in the American way and never ever wavered in his allegiance to the Constitution and its Bill of Rights."

"I would vote for him on his record of being the father of Bank Deposit Insurance alone."

"I like his fight, particularly for the American farmer, where his greatest work was in championing the sugar beet industry."

"Being a member of the International Printing Pressmen's Union for many years has brought him many endorsements by organized labor, for he has always stood for collective bargaining—and chiefly thanks to him, every worker in the land was spared a 50% increase in Social Security taxes last January."

"How he has been able as a member of a minority party to accomplish so much is really remarkable."

"I agree with Tom Dewey that it would be a calamity if Michigan and the nation were to lose the statesmanship of Vandenberg."

"Every Michigan mother should be happy to have the privilege of voting against war by marking her ballot on November 5 for Willkie in the White House and Vandenberg in the Senate. That is really an All-American pair to me."

"Let's finish the job on Nov. 5!"

Author, "The Epic of America"

I am utterly opposed to a third term, not simply for Roosevelt but for any President whatsoever. . . . This is not because of the beliefs of the Founding Fathers, although they were probably the wisest group of statesmen ever assembled here. Times change and we ourselves are now Founding Fathers for the future.

The Founding Fathers never conceived that some day a President would have billions of money at his disposal; that he would have powers undreamed of and yet demand more and more while relinquishing none; that he would try to control both Congress and the Supreme Court; that there would be a million Federal employes and many more millions of voters receiving money from the government and the President's appointees. Yet these things have come to pass. They are here today.

Now, and now only, is the time when possibly America can be saved by defeating the Third Term and the trend to government by one man and his satellites. Make no mistake. Practically all Europe, except Britain, has set the pattern and we have been following it step by step. The only chance left to save our way of life and the liberties of ourselves and your children and your children's children is to vote against the permanent retention of office by Mr. Roosevelt or any other President by whatever name. The clock strikes for America, for its freedom and its Bill of Rights, as you cast your ballots on Election Day. God Bless America!

War Will Cost U. S. Liberty

Asserting that the election of President Roosevelt to a third term would inevitably involve the United States in war, which would mean the end of our American system of political liberty, General Hugh S. Johnson, who was appointed by President Roosevelt to direct the National Recovery Administration, warns the voters of America that "this is the last time the people have any choice in the sort of government they want if the present administration is returned to power."

"This administration doesn't hate centralized powers personalized in the President. Under the plan of real or fancied emergency it has for seven years constantly sought them. It has never willingly given one up. The war powers of the President are a temporary but complete adjournment of democracy, of freedom of the press, of speech and action, of all political liberty. If war comes it will be the permanent end of our American system."

Pleading for support of Wendell Willkie for president, General Johnson asserted, "What we need is a leadership that believes in our system of government and trusts and understands our industry and is willing to put its reliance in the spontaneous cooperation of a free people."

A Poor Prophet

The 1936 Democratic platform stated: "We have taken the farms off the road to ruin," and in Hartford, Conn., on October 22, 1936, President Roosevelt prophesied, "I am glad that prosperity is back with us again, and, believe me, it is going to stay." In the next three years total cash farm income, excluding benefit payments, dropped from $8,212,000,000 in 1936 to $7,711,000,000 in 1939, or 6 per cent, and in the latter year United States cash farm income was 31 per cent below the 1929 level.

Broken Pledges

Including his campaign pledges, President Roosevelt has promised to balance the budget no less than 11 times. During the seven years of his administration, however, Mr. Roosevelt has never balanced the budget. The average annual deficit for these seven years has been $3,237,400,000.

43-2 Wm. Aldrich, City Clerk.

The Next Few Hours May Decide THE DESTINY OF OUR COUNTRY

In a few hours you will be called upon to decide whether a President of the United States shall break one of our most cherished and hallowed traditions.

There are — of course — other grave issues. But none, however grave, is likely to have such a far-reaching effect on the future of our country. Shall we, with open eyes, go down the road that leads to Fascism, Nazism, Communism or whatever you choose to call a type of government which denies the dignity of man and the rights of the individual? Shall we, for the first time in our history, accept the theory of the indispensable man, as against the fact that no man in all history has ever been indispensable?

Make no mistake. Once we set foot on the road to dictatorship there is no turning back any more than the people of Germany or Russia can now turn back and choose other leaders . . . any more than the people of Germany can now end the terrible war that their present leaders have led them into.

So when you enter the polling booth on Tuesday—and you are alone with your conscience—with the ballot spread out before you, it will be up to you to choose whether we shall surely remain free men and women working together in a democracy, or whether we shall put ourselves in peril of one day living as slaves ruled by despots. It has happened there—it could happen here.
