

Election Night Crowd in Times Square

New York's Great White Way was the scene of election night excitement as great crowds jammed Times square to read the latest bulletins in the thrilling presidential race. (Inset, left) Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the first President ever elected to a third term. (Inset, right) the newly elected vice president, Henry Wallace, former secretary of agriculture.

New Recruits for Uncle Sam's Army

A raw batch of new recruits are pictured as they arrived at Fort Devens, at Ayer, Mass., ready to go through the routine that will turn them out as soldiers of the line within a few months. There are 3,400 soldiers and 100 officers housed at present at Devens. Meanwhile more than 3,000 artisans are working night and day to complete the first of 27 new barracks to accommodate the 1940 batch of draftees. Each building will house 63 men.

The Old Folks 'At Home' in London

This aged couple spend the air raids in the de luxe shelter constructed in the basement of their Westminster borough home in London. The bunks upon which they rest were installed by the Westminster council which is providing them for all private shelters, to enable the populace to obtain their proper rest and curb "air raid nerves."

As London's Children Are Evacuated

British captions with these pictures describe them as "another large party of mothers and children being evacuated to the country from London." At the left a child in a policewoman's arms shows her bewilderment at the excitement. Right: a youngster from an identification tag around her neck is being carried to a waiting bus by a policeman.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger S. Whitman

Cooling a House in Summer.
QUESTION: Our attic floor is insulated. There is four feet from the floor to the peak of the roof. We are told that a ventilator would let out heat built up by the sun on the roof. This sounds logical, but I should think that a ventilator at each end would be better. What do you think?

Answer: Air confined in an attic is over heated by the sun beating on the roof. On a 90-degree day I have known attic temperature to be as high as 150 degrees. Heat from air confined in an attic under a peaked roof goes through the ceilings and heats the rooms below. It will take many ours after sundown for the attic air to cool off, and during that time rooms below will still be heated. The surest way to keep a house cool in summertime is to have plenty of attic ventilation so that air can escape as fast as it becomes heated. One excellent arrangement is a trap-door high in the roof with another trap door through the attic floor below. Air in the attic and in the house will then pass out as fast as it is heated, and be replaced by air coming in through open windows downstairs. The scuttle over the roof trap can be worked by cords going downstairs through the attic floor trap. If the attic has a stair, its door should be left open for the movement of air.

With this arrangement a house will cool off at sundown almost as rapidly as the air outdoors. If a roof trap cannot be provided there should be attic windows large enough to give cross ventilation. A large slo-speed fan made for the job, placed to blow outward through an opening through the roof or attic wall, is a great advantage in speeding up circulation.

With house air permitted to escape as fast as it becomes heated, the temperature in the house will be little if any higher than the temperature of the air outdoors.

Clogged Cesspools.
QUESTION: What can I do to have my cesspool cleaned from water. I have two cesspools, one leading into the other. Can I use yeast to any advantage? Should I have them cleaned out? This would cost money.

Answer: Yeast will be of no use in a cesspool. A badly clogged cesspool is best left alone and a new one built alongside of it. If you wish to save yourself money and further troubles, by all means install a grease-trap. These traps are made of clay and are not very expensive.

Silver Plate.
QUESTION: When silver plate is put away, is it better to clean it occasionally, whether it is used or not? If the silver plate were allowed to get as black as it will, would the heavy tarnish injure the plate?

Answer: An occasional cleaning is advisable. Do not permit the silver to get very black; it will be difficult to clean when the silver is needed, and it may become pitted. Old silver is best cleaned by a silversmith.

Stained Cistern Water.
QUESTION: We have just put on a cedar shingle roof, and find that it discolors the cistern water. Can anything be put in the cistern to overcome this condition?

Answer: The staining comes from the oils and coloring matter in the shingles, and nothing that can be added to the water will overcome it. Staining will continue until rains have washed the shingles clean. The length of time that this will take will, of course, depend on the dampness of the season.

House of Logs.
QUESTION: Would like your advice on which is a warmer house; one made of solid logs, seven inches thick; or a house with ship-lap outside and finished walls inside? Which is cheaper to keep in repair?

Answer: The seven-inch thick wall of logs will be warmer. The upkeep cost on the log cabin may be a trifle lower than the frame house.

White Paint.
QUESTION: Is there a pure white flat paint that will not turn yellow when used on a bathroom radiator?

Answer: All white paints when subjected to heat for long periods of time will turn yellow. Some heat resisting enamels will last longer than the flat paints, but they also will change color eventually.

Cloudy Piano Finish.
QUESTION: What can be done to remove a cloudy appearance, which has come upon the finish of our piano?

Answer: Wipe the surface with a soft cloth dampened in a mixture of one tablespoonful of cider vinegar to the quart of tepid water. Then wipe dry.

A Break for Julia

By SMITH JOHNSON

(Associated Newspapers—WNU Service.)

CHARLOTTE DAVIS could hardly wait till 12 o'clock lunch hour, so eager was she to show her friend Julia Winter her new ring.

"It's lovely," praised Julia. "I do hope you and Leslie will be very, very happy," she added, wistfully.

"I hope so, too," retorted Charlotte. "And I guess we will be, for Les seems willing to give me anything I ask for. Lucky for him that he works in a store and can get a good break on the sort of stuff I want."

"Where will you live?" inquired Julia.

"Out on Park terrace."

"Aren't the rents awfully high in that district?" exclaimed Julia.

"Oh, yes," cheerfully admitted Charlotte. "But we only live once, I tell Les, so we're getting the very best of everything."

"It sounds wonderful," sighed Julia.

"I'll say it's wonderful," agreed Charlotte. "All that swell stuff for only $25 down, and he didn't really have to pay that, for the store is giving him credit for the twenty-five as a wedding present, so he took the fifty he saved and made the down payment on my ring."

"Oh!" gasped Julia, aghast at the thought of the size of the debts in proportion to the size of Leslie's income.

"That's what I get for having a sweetie who is a salesman."

"Want a nice willow rocker for your hope chest?" called the foreman of the warehouse, as the tall, cheerful-looking truck driver passed the office door.

"What's wrong with it?" replied the younger man.

"Paint got scratched off in uncrating and the party that ordered it claims the color can't be matched. We settled with her for $5 cash—and we don't want the rocker."

"Store it for me?" grinned the tall chap in tan.

"You bet," cheerfully agreed the foreman. "Put it right in with the rest of your junk. And while you're in the mood to spend money, better take a look at the table over by No. 15. Make you a nice dining table when you've got the top done over, and it won't cost much since the party that owns it hasn't got room for it and won't pay storage any longer."

In the warehouse Pete's bargain-hunting had become a standing joke. But it was a kindly joke that the men enjoyed, for Pete MacElroy was popular and the men all knew that the young chap's purse was strained to the utmost with helping put three younger brothers and sisters through school and at the same time saving to marry Julia Winter.

"I'll wait," Julia had bravely promised.

Sunday afternoons when Peter and Julia walked in the park or took a bus ride or went to a cheap movie they talked, as lovers will, of the time they would be living in a "home of their own," with a garden and a radio and an open fireplace. And then a sorrowful silence would come between them.

Peter and Julia were the first guests to be entertained at the Park terrace apartment. Proudly Charlotte displayed her new treasures. Silk draperies, silk bedspreads, handsome glassware, china and rugs, stunning furniture.

"Honestly, Julia, I wish you could clear out of that stuffy hall bedroom before the hot weather comes," whispered Charlotte as she kissed her chum good-night.

Going home on the bus Peter and Julia were strangely quiet, yet when they reached Julia's rooming-house Peter said, "Let's sit on the porch a while and talk."

Nervously the young chap clasped and unclasped his big hands, cleared his throat and exclaimed abruptly, "Honestly, Julia, there isn't a bit of sense in going on this way. We are just eating out our hearts. And at the rate I'm getting on we'll both be gray-haired before I can give you more than about two rooms to live in."

Julia's poor heart almost stopped beating. Yet she did not blame Peter for wanting to stop pinching pennies to save for a home after spending most of his wages for his brothers and sisters.

Bravely Julia winked back the tears which filled her brown eyes. She tried to speak, to tell Peter that he was free to offer to give back to him the inexpensive little ring he had given her two Christmases before.

But the words choked her.

Anxiously Peter peered down into her face. Tensely his firm, tanned fingers closed over Julia's trembling hands as he said, "How about it, sweetheart? Are you game to start homemaking with me in just two rooms? I've some odds and ends of furniture stored at the warehouse. And I've enough money saved so you can pick out your own cooking things for the kitchen, and curtains—not silk, like those fancy ones at Charlotte's. And the foreman gave me a tip yesterday about a garage-cottage we can rent dirt cheap, with an option to buy."

"Oh, my dear!" gasped Julia, looking up with a smile that was radiant testimony as to just how Julia felt.

Reduced Price Announced For American Boy

With the announcement of an enlarged and enlivened magazine, The American Boy, foremost publication for boys ten to twenty, also announces a reduction in its subscription and single copy prices. Hereafter The American Boy will sell for 10c a single copy at newsstands or for $1.00 a year and $2.00 for three years on a subscription basis.

In announcing a change in editorial policy, publishers of The American Boy assure subscribers that the established fiction heroes who have made the magazine so popular with young and old alike, will continue to tell of their adventures exclusively in The American Boy. Included in this group are Renfrew of the Canadian Mounted, Connie Morgan and Old Man Mattie, prospectors; Square Jaw Davis, railroad engineer; Johnny Caruthers, flyer; Jim Tierney, detective; Tod Moran, seaman; Alan Kane and Ted Dolliver, adventurers in science, and others identified exclusively with The American Boy.

However, with a larger magazine will come new fiction characters and an enlarged sports, defense and adventure program in the non-fiction field. Greater recognition will be given to outstanding boys the country over and an exceptional achievement will be rewarded with the boy's picture on the front cover. This feature was inaugurated with the November issue which carried on the front cover the picture of America's outstanding driver of high school age.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys groups, recommend The American Boy enthusiastically. They have found that, as a general rule, boys who read The American Boy regularly advance more rapidly than boys who do not read it. Through the leadership and sportsmanship of its fiction characters, boys are imbued with a desire to become leaders, to develop the high ideals and courage the heroes themselves display.

To subscribe to The American Boy simply send the name and address of the one who is to receive the magazine together with proper remittance ($1 for one year or $2 for three yrs) direct to The American Boy, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan. adv. 45tf.

PREPARED... They Beat the Gale's Destruction

The value of this company's preparedness to protect your telephone service in emergencies was proven once more last week while storm-broken trees and branches smashed great gaps through Michigan's long distance telephone lines. Riding a 60-mile gale from the western plains, the shrieking blasts caused wide-spread destruction throughout Michigan. But a well-built, well-protected plant minimized damage to telephone service. And experienced telephone men, 1500 of them... ready when needed, and where... patrolled the lines, repaired the breaks, even as the storm raged.

Only because of their experience, and long, careful training in standardized methods and with standardized tools and equipment, were these motorized and mechanized forces enabled to beat the storm's damage and restore service rapidly.

This company's preparedness is an asset to Michigan's telephone service.
