HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING DESTROYED BY FIRE

IN AN EARLY MORNING BLAZE, THURSDAY, MARCH 13th

East Jordan experienced one of its heaviest fire losses that started about 5:30 Thursday morning in the East Jordan Consolidated High School Building. The main part of this structure was complete destroyed by the flames, leaving only the new wing intact. This wing has three rooms — Agriculture, Grade, and Library.

As yet, it is too early to estimate the loss, but it will probably run upward of $100,000.

Just how the fire originated is unknown. It seemed to be at first under the Auditorium and near the heating plants. Two systems were used in heating. Furnace for the main building and boilers for the wing and grade build

If the boiler is still intact and can be put into service, the above buildings can be heated. As yet it is too early to know just what will be done to carry on the school work.

43 Farm Account Co-operators Will Check In Books This Week

Some 43 Charlevoix County farmers who have been keeping farm account books for the fiscal year ending Murch 1st, will have their books checked in this week Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Each cooper ator will appear at appointed hours for the closing of the records. Specialists John Doneth, Bela Kennedy, and Wilber Lohr, all from the Farm Management Department of the Michigan State College, will personally meet each cooperator and carefully analyze the records for accuracy and completeness.

Charlevoix County has been one of the pioneers in farm account records, in fact, we have 16 farmers who now have completed 10 or more years. They value their farm account records as highly as any activity about the farm. They find it most helpful and valuable in studying the various enterprizes on the farm. They know how much income they realize from their dairy products, their eggs and crop sales. They have a complete record on the various yields of crops. The important efficiency factors also are recorded in the summary. Last, but not least, in making out the income tax return it is relatively an easy job when complete farm records have been kept count books being kept. Due to the number of cooperators in the State it will be impossible to add any new ones in this county unless to replace those who for various reasons are not keeping records this new year. If you would like to start a farm account book, get in touch with your County Agent at once. We can start three or four new ones this year.

Smoked Turkey — A New Delicacy Opens New Sales

New methods of marketing heavy weight turkeys, especially at times other than Thanksgiving or Christmas, are apparent in a smoking method developed at Michigan State Col-

Yes, the meat is high priced, admits the college research man who worked on the problem, but it is no higher than other similar delicacies used for sliced meat.

Here are the results he obtained in processing a turkey from live weight down to a square-sided bone less loaf of turkey meat:

He took seven turkeys weighing an average of 14.3 pounds. When drawn of the circulation of such petitions; as for roasting these weighed 10.4 pounds and when bones were re moved as well as giblets and neck there was 7.9 pounds of raw turkey meat remaining.

This was tied with cord and cooked under steam pressure for 28 minutes to the pound. Then with hickory and beech wood the turkey was smoked for from six to 10 hours. The turkeys then weighed an average of 5.8 pounds.

The work was done by J. A. Davidson, associate professor in poultry husbandry at Michigan State College. Davidson found that the turkeys which cost 20 cents a pound alive represented a cost of 68 cents a pound in the boneless smoked loaf ready to serve. That was without figuring any labor cost.

"Costs are not excessive when one figures the product is all-edible," comments Professor Davidson. "The be made into soup. Turkeys prepared in this manner in southern states are purchased readily by many persons willing to pay two or three times. this cost of 68 cents a pound. Restau rants and tea shops could and would use this turkey meat all month of the year, thus making a market for heavy birds at any time."

Commercial Exploitation Of The Defense Training Program

A warning by the Federal Security Agency to persons interested in vocational training for defense jobs to beware of unlicensed commercial schools "guaranteeing" jobs to persons who pay "stiff fees" to take their courses, was issued recently.

Administrator Paul Vi McNutts add that although Congress "has you ted money for this type of treining.

ted money for this type of training and tens of thousands of young people are being trained without expense o them through public schools and the NYA, complaints in increasing numbers are reaching my office that unlicensed schools are springing up in many parts of the country to exploit the unemployed, particularly youth, by offering to train them for important jobs in defense industries.

"While there are some excellent private vocational institutions, the public should be beware of unlicensed schools. These unlicensed schools advertise widely, often guaranteeing jobs at high wages. They charge stiff fees, have inadequate equipment, no supervision, and are wholly moneymaking ventures."

Persons in Michigan interested in training should communicate with the nearest office of the State Employment Service or write to the State Vocational Board, Lansing.

SURRENDER:

Prelude to Peace

Nazi soldiers marched into Bulgaria. They were not opposed. Bul-garian officials who earlier talked bravely, but took no steps to prepare the nation for resistance, capitulated to Berlin's demands when the final test came.

Hundreds of thousands of Ger mans poured across the border in 48 hours. Panzer divisions raced across roads and took positions on the borders of Turkey and Greece. They supplanted officials known to be unsympathetic to their cause, ra-tioned food, directed transportation, and virtually placed the whole nation under German military law and economy. Secret police fol-lowed close behind to round up those who loved their country too well for German interests.

Berlin announced the occupation as a great military victory, although not a shot had been fired. But the action did have a strangely familian ring. It paralleled closely the Nazi pattern that brought the downfall of many other European nations where officials had been induced to visit Munich to "guarantee peace."

Fascism had come to Bulgaria ruled by King Boris, from within, long before it had been compelled by force of arms without. Bulgaria was sold out, as many other brave but hesitant nations had been sold out-by those groups within its own borders who believed they stood to gain in influence, in prestige and in wealth if a Fascist form of govern-ment would be established.

They will be disillusioned, as other groups have been disillusioned in other once independent nations—in Austria, in Norway, in Denmark, in the Netherlands, in Spain, in France and even in Germany itself.

Drang Nach Osten

It is said no man lives unto himself alone; that his every action reflects on the life of his community and his nation. If that is true, then it is equally true that no nation lives to itself alone; that its policies re-flect on its neighbors as well.

So it was with Bulgaria. highways of Bulgaria lead to other frontiers and 300,000 conquest-seeking Germans rested on the borders of Greece and Turkey. The small Greek army had halted the first Axis move to the east by defeating superiorly equipped Italian soldiers. Turkey, allied to Britain, had stood as the guardian of the eastern Mediterranean. But these nations found themselves in peril. Jugoslavia, through which better roads lead to Greece, was in the same situation,

All found themselves facing the choice of fighting against an efficient war machine or bowing to the will of Britain. None had much hope for success if they fought. All looked to England for help, but the problem of sending such assistance was monumental. The Germans had available 26 divisions for use in the Balkans. The only British force competent to deal with such numbers was in North Africa.

Whether the British had the means available to transport and land an expeditionary force was problemat ical. General Wavell's speedup campaign in Libya undoubtedly was to clean up that area quickly in the hope of using his troops in the Bal-The factor of time and space in such a movement, however, seemed unsurmountable.

The hibernating bear of the North, Russia, began to show signs of alarm. Moscow sent a sharp rebuke to Bulgaria, denouncing the surrender. Significantly enough, no protest was made to Germany. Berlin shrugged off the Moscow statement, with the observation that Russia's attitude was only a defensive one, that its army was not equipped for offensive action. Therefore the protest was of no importance.

Adolf Hitler wasted no time while Turkey, Greece and Jugoslavia trembled. He quickly sent couriers to their capitals with offers of "peace." He said he had no designs on their territory. Turkey and Greece took small comfort from these assurances. They had seen the same kind of pledges given Po-Czechoslovakia and other small countries that now have no way of life of their own.

Hitler seemed well along toward success of the old German ambition of drang nach osten, drive to the east. To the east lies the riches of Asia—Egypt, Persia, Syria, India and East Africa.

NEW LABOR PLAN: By Executive Order

The board of non-salaried members would act only in cases where the labor department's conciliation service failed to make progress and so certified. It would have no power of compulsion but would be so constructed as to make mediation machinery possible...

Strikes

The President's decision was said to be caused by the 48-hour strike at the Buffalo plant of the Bethlehem Steel company. There 14,000 employees brought their work to a halt when the Steel Workers Organizing committee (C.I.O.) said the corporation failed to bargain with them. Picket lines surrounded the several miles of fence.

But the Office of Production Management in Washington quickly stepped in, without waiting for the labor department to get under way. William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman, OPM directors, offered a compromise plan of settlement which called for return of all workers with seniority protected, negotiations with the union and an NLRB election. Both sides accepted.

Meanwhile in Michigan the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) filed notice with the state of Michigan that it will call a strike at the three main plants of the Ford company. Notice of such intention is now necessary under Michigan law.

Knudsen Plan

Knudsen, in the meantime, wrote a memorandum to Representative Sumners (D., Texas), chairman of the house judiciary committee, which is considering changes in the national labor laws. Knudsen's plan would deny protection of the Wagner act to unions or employees considered recalcitrant. He proposed that strikes be forbidden in defense industries unless employees of a plant had given their consent by secret ballot, conducted under the supervision of the U.S. labor department. After such notice is served, he proposed the OMP be given 30 days to seek settlement.

Grumbling in the house of commons, in London, over the swap of Caribbean bases to the U.S. for 50 over-aged destroyers, has bee forbidden to break into the open by Prime Minister Churchill. However the wide authority given the U.S. in theses areas is just beginning to become apparent.

The hotel has no room for tourists. In another hotel army engineers have set up. Marines have pitched a camp in still another spot.

In Washington, Rep. Carl Vinson (D., Tenn.), chairman of the house naval committee, disclosed the terms of the Bermuda lease, which are similar to the terms of leases at all other bases. They include: (1) The lease to run 99 years, with the United States granted the right, if necessary for defense, to assume "military control and conduct military operations within any part of Bermuda"; (2) other areas to be leased, if needed; (3) Americans to control ship and air operations and communications within leased areas; (4) Americans to have the right to improve anchorages near leased land bases and to install defenses; (5) Americans to have the same privilege as the British in the use of roads and bridges and the right to use British docks and shops.

England May Get Food Under 'Lease-Lend' Bill Increasing Shortages Now Appear Likely; Foosevelt Opposed to Censorship

Of 'Defense' Information.

By BAUKHAGE

WNU Service, 1395 National Press

Bidg., Washington, D. C. WASHINGTON.—In the past few weeks the tall figure of a Hoosier farmer has been seen frequently en-tering and leaving the White House. This was not so strange to us who watch the busy portals because the man was Secretary of Agriculture Wickard. Like other members of the cabinet, he is called in for frequent conferences with the Presiient these days. Cabinet officers and other government officials have been helping the President plan the con-crete steps to be taken to aid Britain under the lend-lease bill.

But what a lot of us did not guess was just what Secretary Wickard was up to. The purpose of those visits has not been officially announced, as I write these lines. But it can be safely predicted that he was working out plans with the President to include farm products among the first supplies to be loaned or leased to England. Secretary Wickard was able to achieve his purpose partly as a re-sult of his own persuasiveness, and partly for other reasons that I will explain later.

Here is the tip-off on the plan the secretary discussed with the President, in Mr. Wickard's own words. It is pretty cagily expressed but if you know how, you can read be-tween the lines. This is what Secre-tary Wickard said in a public speech during the congressional battle on the lend-lease bill: Overproduction Held Unlikely.

"Frankly speaking, there is little likelihood that we will produce too much meat, butter, cheese, milk and other dairy products in the months to come. I have an idea that all produce in the South and elsewhere will be needed.

"The reports about the British food situation are not too encouraging. The British have lost their sources of food supply on the continent. They are handicapped still further by their shipping losses. The English may want some of our food and want it pretty soon. If they call on us, I think we will answer the call."

Almost all of the products to be sent to Britain under the lend-lease plan will be proteins (meat, milk and milk products and eggs). There will be, however, some cotton, wheat and tobacco, but these commodities will constitute a minor part of the shipments. The practical arguments for sending proteins are obvious:

 The extra physical demands on fighting men require a greater pro tein diet.

2. These products up to now have been shipped to England all the way from Australia, New Zealand and the Argentine. Two trips can be made from New York to Britain while one is being made from these distant points.

Unfortunately the protein commodities which are needed by England are not the ones we most want to sell. They do not constitute our great surpluses, disposition of which has caused the biggest headaches in the department of agriculture since the farm problem was tossed in the government's lap. Surplus Produce Ilnof

Furthermore, they are the products which, later on, when the de-fense industries expand, we will need at home because if all our unemployed were working full time and eating three meals a day, we would not have enough proteins at the present rate of production to satisfy them. The things we do want to them. The things we do want to get rid of—the things of which we have enough and to spare—are not as greatly affected by increased em-ployment. Department of agriculture experts here will tell you any day that in prosperous times there is not an important increase in the use of cotton, tobacco and wheat.

But as far as the British go, they have to consider first things first, and they have all the cotton, wheat and tobacco they need, or they can get these products as conveniently from their own dominions as from the United States.

So this new "lend-lease" market won't solve the problem of farm surpluses. Nevertheless, it will absorb of them, for the government is insisting that along with the proteins, some of the surplus products will be included in the commodities we dispose of under the lend-lease

How long this new market over-

But the effort of the New Deal planners is to build up an increasing demand at home for the things the farmer raises. As Secretary Wickard says on every occasion when he gets the

"Whether they lose or keep the foreign markets, farmers must try to increase consumption in their best market—the domestic market."

President Discusses News Control With Reporters

Imagine the head of a European state sitting for half an hour while he was questioned by a group of newsmen on any subject they chose, including the government's confidential transactions!

And, yet, that happens twice a week in Washington at the White House press conferences. There the President sits at his desk covered with papers; members of the White House staff sitting about him, two secret service men standing inconspicuously behind him, between the stars and stripes and the presidential flag.

To us in Washington, the White House press conference is routine. But a recent meeting was so democratic, so unlike anything that could possibly happen abroad, that it stands out clearly in my memory.

Mr. Roosevelt started it. The queswhich the American public ought to think about, as he put it, had to do with the ethics, morals and patriotism of making public, matters which might be injurious to national defense. First, should a member of congress divulge testimony before a secret committee sessecond, should a newspaper publish or a radio station broadcast such information.

The issue was raised by the publieation of testimony given by the chief of staff, General Marshall, before an executive session of the senate military affairs committee in connection with a shipment of army bombers to Hawaii.

Censorship Not Desired.

The President said he had neither the desire nor the power to censor the news, but he wished us to consider whether it was ethical, moral or patriotic to publish any information which the heads of the army and navy believed should, in the interests of national defense, be kept confidential.

The newsmen did not question the advisability of withholding from the public important military secrets, but they showed plainly that they resented any suggestion that the freedom of the press be interfered with.

One correspondent said frankly that the chief of staff ought not to tell things to congressmen which he did not want to get out because such information always leaked. President replied, quietly, that naturally, one did not like to withhold any information asked for by con-

Another reporter asked how the press was to know what information. once they had received it, ought to be withheld, and what could be printed. The President answered this could be determined by what the heads of the army and navy felt would be injurious to national defense. The President admitted he had no specific proposal to suggest. No definite conclusion to the discussion was reached at the interview.

The incident had one effect. Shortly after the meeting, a writer who is usually excellently informed state ed that the President had turned down flatly a plan to place all in-formation concerning defense under what amounted to a censorship board. It had been long known that such a plan was placed on the President's desk at the time war broke out abroad. The President turned it down then. When it came up the second time, he again turned it down. Later, Lowell Mellett, administrative advisor to the President, said no plan of censorship was being considered.

If war comes, some method of regulating the publication of military information will probably be put into effect. But until that moment, the press and radio will fight for freedom of speech, the spoken word, or the written.

BRIEFS ... by Baukhage

On the same day that President Roosevelt declared that he approved of wire-tapping by department of justice operatives where sabotage was suspected, the guards in the Capitol building were replaced by policemen and no one is now permitted to carry packages of any kind into the building. Even cameras have to be checked at special stands at the entrances.

The average American soldier eats about 40 per cent more than he does in civilian life, according to the national defense advisory commission. He gets much more than 40 per cent more meat. In some lo-calities as many as one-third of the draftees who are otherwise eligible for army service have to be turned down because of physical conditions due entirely to deficiency in diet.

Young Financiers after two

Are Spinning Our months' serv-Defense Wheels ice with the war department in which he has shown exment in which he has snown extraordinary capacity for slashing red tape and getting things done. His father, Judge Robert S. Lovett, was head of the war industries board in the World war. When he was summoned by the war department, Mr. Lovett withdrew from the New York banking firm of Brown Brothers, Harriman and Co. A few months earlier, the also comparatively young James V. Forrestal, Mr. Lovett's friend, and bracketed with him among the up-and-coming young financiers, left the presidency of Dillon, Reed and Co. to become undersecretary of the navy. Years before, their Wall Street running mate, Averill Harriman, had moved into the Washington picture and just now appears to be pegged as the liaison between British and American business in the hastening crisis. There is a complaint from the bankers themselves that bank money is on the sidelines in the de-fense crisis, if that's what it is, but at any rate the bankers are in the line-up, particularly the younger set, serving the army, the navy and the department of state, as above and in many other instances.

They let by-gones be by-gones. Mr. Harriman was an early convert to the New Deal, while Mr. Lovett is dead-set against it. But that's all water under the bridge.

Mr. Lovett and Mr. Harriman are both small-town boys, the former from Huntsville, Texas, and the latter from Beacon, N. J. Mr. Lovett, rather slight in stature, good-looking, an easy-going, tactful executive, was graduated from Yale in 1918 and pursued postgraduate business studies at Harvard in 1920 and 1921. Then he took over where his father left off in running the Union Pacific, the Oregon Short Line, the Oregon-Washington and the St. Joseph and Grand Island railways, picking up a few important industrial direc-torates on the side and keeping everything moving nicely.

The Wall Street battalions of youth provide evidence of the many tributaries of specialized skill and experience feeding into democratic defense effort.

Dr. Hans T. F. Lundberg of Toronto is the scientist. He is a widely famed mining engineer of Swedish birth and education. Experimenting with various means of locating metals deep in the earth, he worked through Sweden, Norway, Finland, Belgium, France, Germany, Spain, Mexico, Canada and the United States. His success with "electrical prospecting" methods was sufficient gain for him the gold medal of the Swedish Engineering academy in 1925, and to locate 14 profitable mines. But he needed a more accurate method and kept on the tail of the horsetail.

The more gold in the ground, the more in the horsetail, with even infinitesimal quantities to be detected by the spectroscope.
Dr. Lundberg calls it the "geobotanical method." Furthermore, suburbanites may get in on the profits, even if they don't find a gold mine. A ton of horsetail, Dr. Lundberg figures, would yield 4½ ounces of gold worth $157.50 at current gold prices. This back-to-the-land movement may come off yet.

Dr. Lundberg was born in Malmo, Sweden, in 1893. He was graduat-ed from the Royal Institute of Technology at Stockholm and later was a professor there. He came to Brooklyn in 1923, and formed the Geophysical Exploration Limited, which, exploring many countries, took over where the Willow-Wythe left off. He is highly certified in his profession and a member of many scientific societies.

WEALTH IS ONLY SUCH WHEN IT CAN PRODUCE HENRY FORD is reputed to be worth close to a billion dollars, as expressed in money. That would be more money than there is in all America if it were really money, which it is not.

The wealth of which Mr. Ford is now custodian is represented by land, factory buildings, machines, materials and products. If the attempt were made to divide that wealth, even among only those who directly profit from it-the Ford employees-it would mean one man would get a few feet of land, another some brick, another part of a machine. Such wealth to any one man would be useless. It would not produce. It would not provide a livelihood for him and his family, absolutely not.

It is only when wealth is congregated that it will produce, that it will provide. Wealth when congregated in the hands of one or a group of men does not belong to them. They are merely custodians. Mr. Ford, like all others, will in time pass away. When he does, he cannot take with him what he today controls. It is a part of our national wealth. From it thousands of people receive a week by week benefit. All Mr. Ford can do is to pass that wealth, of which he is today the custodian, along to others to direct and to make work for the nation.

We cannot enrich ourselves as in dividuals by a destruction of wealth, and an attempt at an equal distribution between all of us means destruction. We can only profit by leaving its operations in the hands of those who have demonstrated their ability to make it produce. It is from production that we derive our individual benefits, our week by week com-pensation, our daily bread. And in no other way.

LET NORMAN THOMAS MAKE IT PLAIN

DR. VIRGIL JORDON, president of the national industrial conference board, told members of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce that socialism has come to the United States to stay, and says he believes it will be the Norman Thomas type of socialism. I do not know just what the Norman Thomas type of socialism may be. Do you? Most of us do not.

Is it the type which proposes to divide all the wealth or only certain parts of it?

Is it the type which would have the government operate the business of the nation and if so, would it be all business or only certain lines, or of a certain size?

Is it the type which would give everyone a liberal allowance on which to live whether or not he worked for it, and if so, where are we to get the money?

There are other proposals I have heard made by people who claim to be followers of Norman Thomas so-

The fact is I have read much of what Mr. Thomas has written and spoken, but I have never been just sure of what it all means. Now if we are to have his type of socialism as a steady diet, will he please express it all in primer form so we may understand the new rules.

WHAT CONSTITUTES

A COLLEGE GROUP asked if 1 could describe a country community. My answer was:
"A number of homes, schools, churches and a bank, built around a number of stores and other business Take the stores and business places away and the schools churches, bank and homes will soon disappear.

That is true of your town. It is the stores which make it a market place, and it is as a market place that it survives.

Stores make real estate values possible. The taxes they pay help materially in supporting the schools. The contributions of merchants aid in supporting the churches. They make the maintenance of the bank possible. Directly they make the town a market place. Indirectly they maintain it as a social and cultural center for people of the town and surrounding farms.

Nearness to a market place, to a social and cultural center, aids in making farm values.

Stores and business places make the town possible. From every self-ish viewpoint it is desirable to keep them operating and the more there are, the person town will-be. are, the better market place your

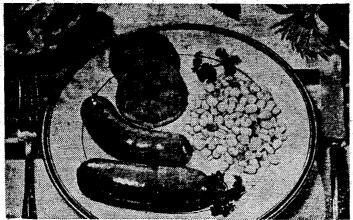

'ONE BIG UNION'

IN RUSSIA, GERMANY, ITALY and all other "ism" countries of Europe and Asia, strikes are prohibited. Men are told what jobs they will have, how long they will work and what they will receive.

Is that what we are coming to in

If that is what we get, it will at least have one advantage. It will close the career of the racketeer in the field of labor. The government will be the "one big union" and what it says will be final.

LET'S BE VENTURESOME-TRY IT! (See Recipes Below)

ADVENTURES IN COOKING

"I get just as much 'lift' out of a new recipe as I do out of buying a new hat"—so stated a homemaker recently and her statement set me thinking. After all, why shouldn't we women enjoy a new recipe?

Given a brand new, unusual and different recipe to prepare the making up of that recbecomes a challenge, almost a game. Can we make it up correctly? Does the recipe suggest a new cookery process, one which perhaps we have never tried before? How is the new dish going to taste? Are we going to be really proud of it when we take it to the table? Is the family going to like it? Adventure in cooking—that's just what it is, and that's why I like new reci-pes; that's why I like to suggest recipes to you.

Today's assortment (given below) is centered around a number of new ways to prepare various kinds of sausage. Far too often, I fear, we think of sausage as something to serve for breakfasts or light suppers; we fry it, serve it and that's the beginning and the end of all the thinking we do about it.

So let's be venturesome and try these recipes. The list contains a number of my personal favorites. I am sure both you and the family will enjoy them.

Sausage Stuffed Cinnamon Apples.

(Serves 6) 2 cups sugar

1 cup water 1/2 cup red cinnamon candy 6 apples 18 small link sausages

Cook sugar and water and cinnamon candy to a thick syrupy consistency (236 degrees). Core apples and remove peeling from top half of each apple. Place peeled side in not syrup and cook for 5 minutes. Remove from syrup and place three uncooked link sausages in center of each apple. Then place apples, peeled side up, in baking pan. Pour remaining syrup over them and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) approximately 40 minutes.

Thueringer Sausage With Apple Rings. (Makes 4 servings)

8 Thueringer sausages.
1 No. 2 can whole kernel corn

(2½ cups) tablespoons butter

½ teaspoon salt Few grains pepper

1 tablespoon pimiento (finely cut)
2 tart cooking apples 3 tablespoons butter

Place Thueringer sausages in skil-let with sufficient water to cover bottom of pan. Cook for about 20 minutes, turning occasionally, until water has evaporated and sausages are tender and brown.

Drain corn and place liquor in saucepan. Heat until it has evaporated to about one-half. Add corn and heat, then mix lightly with butter, salt, pepper and pimiento. Meanwhile, wash apples and cut into %-inch slices. Pan-fry in butter over medium heat. Turn when brown on one side and brown on the other. To arrange plates, place two sausages, two apple slices and a serving of corn on each plate.

Sausage Waffles.

2 cups pastry flour 2 teaspoons baking powder 1/2 teaspoon salt 2 eggs, separated 1¼ cups milk

% cup melted butter % cup bulk pork sausage Mix and sift all dry ingredients. Beat egg yolks thoroughly and add milk to them. Stir milk mixture into the dry ingredients. Add melt-ed butter and sausage and fold in the well beaten egg whites. Bake as waffles in a hot waffle iron until crisp and brown. Serve with maple syrup Sweet Potato and Puritan Sausage

Cakes. Parboil 5 sweet potatoes. Peel and cut in half lengthwise. Place 1/2 of the slices in a buttered baking pan.

Adventures in Cooking

Everyone likes to adventure in cooking and that's just the opportunity that comes to each homemaker when she tries out a new recipe. The best part of the adventure, however, comes about when the recipe makes the man of the family look up and with both pride and appreciation in his voice pronounces the whole meal a tremendous success.

The 10c recipe book, "Feeding Father," contains a large number of brand new recipes, each so different that making them up is an adventure—so good that eating them entirely merits and begets the gratification of the man of the family. Send todaythis offer may be eliminated at any time. To get your copy, send 10 cents in coin to Eleanor Howe, 919 North Michigan Avenue, Chi cago, Illinois. Ask for the cook book, "Feeding Father."

Make 1/2 pound of pork sausage up into flat sausage cakes. Place one sausage cake on each sweet potato slice and top with a second sweet potato slice. Fasten with a toothpick. pick. Brush with melted butter and salt lightly. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for approximate ly 1/2 hour.

Porcupine Sausage Balls.

2 tablespoons butter small onion, chopped

1 green pepper, chopped 2½ cups canned tomatoes 1 tablespoon sugar

1 pound bulk pork sausage % cup uncooked rice Melt butter in frying pan and brown onion in it. Add chopped green pepper, tomatoes, sugar, and salt. Cook until green pepper is tender. Make small balls and roll in the un-cooked rice. Place in greased bak-ing casserole and pour the tomato mixture over the sausage balls. Cover baking dish and bake 11/2 hours in a moderate oven (350 de-

Sausages in Pastry Blankets. (8 sausage rolls)

1½ cups flour

¼ teaspoon baking powder

% cup shortening 3 tablespoons cold water (approximately)

8 pork tink sausages

Sift together the flour, salt, and baking powder. Blend in the short-ening. Then add just enough water to form a dough, mixing lightly. Roll out and cut into 8 oblong pieces, each sufficiently large to wrap around one link sausage. Place individual sausages (well pricked) on individual pieces of pastry; fold ends over and roll up. Place, folded side down, on a baking sheet. Prick crust with a fork. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for about 30 minutes. Serve very hot.

Sausage Stuffed Tomatoes. (Serves 8)

8 large firm tomatoes (uncooked)
1 pound country style pork sausage

½ cup soft bread crumbs (buttered) Remove stem end of tomatoes. Scoop out the center and sprinkle lightly with salt. Form sausage into eight balls and place one ball in each tomato. Top with buttered bread crumbs. Place tomatoes in a shallow baking pan, bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 45 min utes (approximately).

Ham Stuffed Baked Apples.

(Serves 6) 6 large tart apples 11/2 cups baked ham (cut in small pieces)

teaspoon whole cloves 2 tablespoons butter

Cut a 14 inch slice from stem end f each apple and remove core care fully. Scoop out, reserve apple pulp and leave apple shell about 1/2 inch thick. Combine ham and apple pulp (cut fine) and fill the apple shells. Top each shell with a clove and dot with butter. Place in a baking pan, add ¼ inch water and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for

TIPS to Jardeners

GARDENS FOR DEFENSE

THE home gardener has an important place in our program of national defense, a much more important role than he played during the first World war.

In the face of these facts, gardeners are advised to do two things: Plan to devote increased space to vegetable gardening; and perfect plans for the 1941 garden so as to get the greatest possible vield from the available space.

In stepping up yield from vege-table gardens of limited size, two major devices should be relied on, companion cropping - the planting of fast-growing crops like radishes, spinach, and lettuce be-tween rows of slower-growing vegetables like tomatoes, and cabbage. The fast growers will be pulled and used before the other crops need the space.

Second, succession croppingthe repeated planting of major crops such as beans, sweet corn, radishes, carrots, beets, and lettuce. Moderate-size, new plantings made at regular intervals during the early part of the season will provide a steady supply of fresh vegetables until the season's end.

AMERICAN INGENUITY IS DEFENSE ASSET

Some of the products of industrial research which are contributing to national strength, and which give promise of tutura improvements of an important nature, are a part of the General Motors travelling exposition, the Parade of Progress, which was issuanced recently on a nation-wide tour. At the formal opening of this scientific exhibit, Charles F. Kettering, research leader, declared that the permanent defense of America in the immediate future and in succeeding years is going to require greater ingenuity and inventiveness, more dissatisfaction with old, inefficient ways of doing things, more real hard work than ever before

You Can't Buy on Looks Alone

Not all good-looking hardware, unfortunately is good hardware. The best plan is to buy from a dealer who puts his personal guarantee on what he sells. In our time, we've turned down some mighty attractive merchandise because we knew it wouldn't give proper service . . . and if we do sell you anything that doesn't give championship performance, we'll make good in a hurry. When we buy from our wholesalers, we consider price, quality and service. You benefit from that consideration.

Bread for the workers of Michigan

YEAR after year some 900,000 of Michigan's fertile acres are sown to the great staple food crop wheat. And most of it is winter wheat. Good farming methods, an intelligent State Government and an alert Michigan State College, have steadily increased the yield per acre. In 1940 it was 45% shove the national average.

Swift, low-cost communication helps the Michigan farmer make a profit on his wheat. By telephone he can get advice from his County Agent, order seed and fertilizer, arrange for harvesting and threshing crews, and sell his grain and straw to advantage

Bread is the food of industry - a vital factor in national emergencies. Your Bell Telephone Company serves the nation's defense by bringing increased efficiency to the growing, storing, milling and marketing of wheat.

Pot Holders to Make For Spring Bazaar

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

THESE moody young ladies with their sun-tanned faces, gay bandannas and sparkling but-ton eyes will stand out among pot holders with less personality. Also, you can have fun making them You won't need a stamping pat-tern. Just follow the directions in the sketch to change the faces from gloom to joy by easy stages.

Baste the tan piece for the face to a cotton flannel interlining with a line of basting exactly through the center up and down and another crosswise through the center. The two pieces for the bandanna lap one inch below the top of the up-and-down line. Their lower ends come one-half inch below the ends of the crosswise line. Stitch these in place. The one-inch buttons for the eyes are spaced two inches apart and the tops are one-fourth inch above the crosswise line of basting. The top of each mouth is 1½ inches below this crosswise line. The lady becomes sad, speculative or gay according to the slant of the stitches for the eyes or the shape of her

Carol Goburn, Alaska-born daughter of a "bush rat" who died with an unestablished mining claim, returns North to teach Indian school. Aboard ship, she is annoyed by Eric (the Red) Ericson and is rescued by Sidney Lander, young mining engineer. Lan-

It was not, I could see, a very appealing abode. It looked, with its sagging and snow-mattressed roof and its time-weathered timbers, about as inviting as a mausoleum.

Nor did it add to my joy when I saw Sock-Eye, kicking away the snow, disclose the flattened-out body of a dead coyote lying there, its teeth grinning malevolently up from the uncovered jawbones.

My companion, with a prompt sweep of his foot, brushed the frozen carcass to one side and swung open the door. Doors in Alaska, I remembered, were very seldom

I had to shut my teeth tight so the trembling of my chin wouldn't betray me. For about all that mustysmelling and deep-shadowed room held was an untidy wall bunk, a table and two wooden chairs with roughly spliced legs. I could see where the smoke pipe had fallen from a rust-stained stove and where ro-dents had been attacking a grub box imperfectly armored with a Joseph's coat of flattened-out tobacco tins. Above it was a dish shelf with a few rusty pans and a showing of sadly chipped crockery. At the foot of the bunk lay the dead body of a parka-squirrel, half buried in a scat-tering of lint from a much-chewed quilt. Along the wall directly above the bunk were tacked, to remind me Alaska was still a man's country, irregular rows of equally irregular movie-queens, interspersed with dancing houris. Each and every one of them, I observed, was in an arresting state of dishabille.

But even more revolting was the filth that covered the floor.

Sock-Eye's questioning must have detected some shadow of hopelessness on my face.

"You a-goin' t' stick it?" he chal-

"I've got to," I said. "There's no other way." My companion, as he turned and swept that room with a saturnine eye, proclaimed that an old skinflint like Sam Bryson should have two inches of lead in his gizzard. "But since he's put you here, I'm a-goin'

t' give you a hand t' git planted."
I had thought of Sock-Eye as a maundering old man. But as he threw off his coat and got busy I realized I had altogether misjudged both his skill and his strength.

His first act was to force open the

Then, grunting with indignation, he went at the place like a cyclone. He tumbled the greasy table and chairs out into the snow and scraped the litter from the floor. Then he left me alone with my worn-down stub of a broom. He reappeared with a rusted axhead, into which he fitted a rough handle of birch wood. When he started to shovel the ashes from the stove-box I told him to save them, as they'd come in handy for scrubbing. By the time he had a fire going and snowwater melting in our galvanized tub I'd unearthed a shriveled cake of vellow soap and a lopsided scrub brush. While I scoured the grease-blackened table and chairs with hot water and wood ashes he dragged the bunk mattress out into the snow, emptied it, pounded the and refilled it with wild hay which he commandeered from a pole-stack at the back of the clearing.

At last everything smelled clean, and seemed different, and the singing of the old iron kettle on the drum stove was almost homelike. But my spirits declined to rise as they should.

Sock-Eye, after spitting into the rusty stove front, reached for his coat and crossed to the door

"I'm a goin' over t' the village," he offhandedly announced. "We've a one-hoss store there. I'll see if I kin rustle a pair o' blankets and pack in a mite o' grub for you.".

When he returned, I stood blinking at the size of his sleigh load.

"Git in out o' the cold," he com manded. "I reckon I purty wel know what a cheechako needs."

I felt my throat tighten. "You can't do this for me, contended as Sock-Eye piled things on the table end.

"I ain't a-doin' it for you," he retorted. "I'm a-doin' it for your ol' pappy. He rustled many a mess grub for me:

That didn't take the lump from my throat. I watched him in silence as he disinterred two candles from his store supplies and lighted them "Evenin' 'pears to be comin' on," he said. "I reckon I may as well stay an' have chow with you. I started to thank him, but he cut me short.

"When you git settled," he said. 'You'll have t' have a gas lamp. And I'll tote over a hunk of sour dough for your bread-makin'. And meanwhile, I'll leave you a slab o deer meat that'll help tide over the week end.

I laid the table, using a newspaper for a cloth, while the old-timer beside the stove cooked bacon and eggs and put coffee on to boil and punched two holes in the top-of-a milk tin with his hunting knife. He was surprisingly adroit and quick- and how to cover an empty packing through Doctor Ruddock's aid. But there's on schoolhouse for her. For a residence she gets an abandoned shack. But Carol is optimistic about Matanuska.

The shack truly needed some thorough overhauling and Sock-Eye helped handed about it all. When he sharpcase with chintz and convert it into ened a stick and on it speared a slice of bread, which he began toasting at the stove front, I found a dressing table. I learned how to stuff duck feathers into a sugar bag —with the lettering boiled off in lye the aroma of that browning bread mixing with the aroma that came water-and call it a pillow, and how to make sheets out of factory cotfrom the coffeepot. And I realized there were times when food was ton and dish towels out of flour sacks, and even a Dutch oven out more important than philosophy. "Things is goin' t' come easier," of two boxes interlined with chopped oat straw. I relearned how to whitexplained Sock-Eye as we ate to-gether with the honest and unatle shavings from a spruce stick and start a fire, and chop wood without standing in a tub to protect my feet, to say nothing of the discovery that bashed appetite of the hungry, "once birch logs split easiest when frozen.

I knew how a baking-powder tin could be turned into a biscuit-cutter, how bag burlap with a design cro cheted on its ends made a passable door mat, how a broom handle fastened across a room corner curtained off with calico converted the same into a clothes closet, and how life, after all, was mostly what you made of it.

I'd never liked that red-rusted old stove of mine, standing as it did a monument of neglect at the center of my new family circle. So on a sufficiently mild afternoon when I could afford to let the fire go down I decided to sandpaper off some of the rust and replace it with a bright and shining coat of black lead.

The old potato sack I'd pinned around my waist didn't leave me looking any too regal. My hair came down and my hands took on a distinctly negroid tint. On my face too. I must have smudged a good deal of the black lead that should have gone elsewhere. And just as I was wielding my polishing brush on the last rough-surfaced old stove leg a visitor walked into my humble abode and stood regarding me with a quietly bewildered eye.

"Where will I find Carol Coburn?" an unexpectedly well - modulated voice inquired of me. I knew who it was, even before she told me. "I'm Carol Coburn," I told her, as quietly as I could. "Won't you sit down?"

She blinked at me, for an incredulous moment or two.

"I'm Barbara Trumbull," she announced. "I know," I murmured as I poured water into my tin basin and engaged in a hasty struggle to remove some of the black lead. "Can't I make you a cup of tea?"

"No thank you," she said, with a second study of my partially cleansed face. She pulled up her sleeve and looked at a jeweled wrist watch. "I'm flying back to Anchorage in a few minutes."

"I'm sorry," I said in the silence that ensued. "You know Sidney Lander," she observed. She said it softly. But it was like the softness of velvet with a razor blade wrapped up in its

"And?" I prompted, feeling that all the frostiness wasn't to be on one "And you know, of course, that we're to be married next summer?" she continued, making it half a question and half a challenge. "Yes, he told me about that," I acknowledged.

And again I heard the musical laugh edged with ice.

"That's his ring," she quietly but conclusively announced. "Do you want to stop my marriage?"

It impressed me as rather primitive. But I was at least compelled to respect the lady's directness. "What makes you think I could?

She, apparently, both suspected and resented my air of guilelessness.

THE LORD'S SUPPER

LESSON TEXT—Luke 22:14-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—As often as ye eat this read, and drink this cup, ye do show the ord's death till he come.—I Corinthians

Old things pass away, and new things take their place—such seems to be the law of life. That which is useful and greatly desired fulfills its time of service and is set aside for that which takes its place. The change which occurred in our lesson shared this aspect, but was in reality so vital and fundamental that it merits our closest attention. The Passover feast had that great and awful night of Israel's redemption out of Egypt's bondage) pointed forward to the Christ and His cross as the fulfillment of the type of redemption by the shedding of blood. But now the hour had come for Him to give Himself in death, and He set aside the Passover (Lecause it has been fulfifled) establish the great Christian feast of remembrance—the Lord's table, showing forth His death till

I. The Last Passover (vv. 14-18). Our Lord looked forward with intense desire to the Passover which He now observed with His disciples. for it was the last feast of that kind recognized by God. All that it had foreshadowed of deliverance and hope was fulfilled in Him who now sat at the head of the table. He had moved forward with resolute purpose and desire to the day when His mission on earth was to be accomplished, and He was to become our Passover (I Cor. 5:7).

The fact that He had looked forward to it with desire does not in any sense minimize the deep darkness of either Gethsemane or Calvary. Remember that, when in the garden he faced that hour and thought of the possibility of the cup being taken from Him, He said to the Father, "Not what I will, but what thou wilt." Praying concern-ing the same matter (in John 12: He said. "Now is my soul troubled; and what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour: but for this cause came I unto this hour.'

II. The First Communion (vv. 19,

Taking the unleavened bread and the unfermented wine of the Passover, which had just been observed by Him for the last time. Jesus established a new feast, the Christian feast of remembrance, which we call communion or the Lord's table.

As we have already suggested, it is a feast of remembrance. "For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup ye do show the Lord's death till he come" (I Cor. 11:26). At the Lord's table His followers find spiritual strength in remembering His death for them, and they also find joy as they remember that He to come again. In doing so they testify to the world that they be-lieve in and cherish these truths.

This feast is also rightly called 'communion," for down through the ages and until He does come the saints of God have at His table sweet communion, first of all with Him, and then with one another.

We also note that our Lord spoke of the cup as "my blood of the new testament." The word "testament" means "covenant." The Lord's table therefore speaks of our allegiance to Him, of our loyalty to our Lord, and our devotion to His service. The Christian Church therefore speaks of the communion service as a sacrament, a word taken from the Latin "sacramentum," oath, and essentially an oath of allegiance.

III. Betrayal and Strife (vv. 21-

Someone will say, "That point does not belong with the other two Both the feast of the Passover and the Lord's Supper are for the joyful remembrance of deliverance and redemption." The objection is well taken except for one thing-we are dealing with human beings as they are, not as they should be and could be by the grace of God. Here in the inner circle of the twelve there was one traitor. It seems impossible, but apparently Judas had maintained such outward conduct as to turn no suspicion in his direction, even though all along he had in his heart the blackest of treachery against his Lord. It is a sad and soul-searching fact which is here revealed, that it is possible for one to make a high profession of faith in Christ and even so to live as to give no cause for criticism, and yet to be unregenerate and in fact the enemy of Christ.

What about the strife regarding position? Shame on us, for it still goes on in the church. Not even the remembrance of our Lord's death and the reminder that He is coming again is enough to keep men from wanting to be greatest.

May the spirit of Christ get hold of some self-seeking Christian as he today sees Christ as the One whose body was broken and whose blood was shed for him.

Danger-Proof Jails

Building a modern prison is one of the most difficult constructional jobs, for the convict of today is a scientifically minded fellow who bursts his way out with tools and explosives. Hacksaw artists have to be curbed by laminated bars of hardened steel let into concrete walls. Magnetic traps are built into walls, doors and windows, to detect smuggled tools. In some cases sensitive speaking tubes are added, which betray liquor smug-gling through the whisky-tainted breath of prisoners.

Even apparently innocent fixtures in cells, such as coat hooks, must be made strong enough only to hold a jacket, but never so strong that a prisoner can com-mit suicide by hanging himself. And all fittings must be so designed that in no circumstances can they be used as weapons.

Wet Chimney.

OUESTION: How can I keep rain from coming down the chimney of my bungalow?

of my bungalow?

Answer: One method is to put a slab of stone over the top of the chimney, supported on columns, so that the draft will not be interfered with. It may be that the water does not come down the flue, but gets into the brickwork through defective mortar joints, or through a broken chimney cap. These possibilities should be looked into.

Darkened Floor.

Question: After scraping and wip-ing, a floor was given a coat of white shellac thinned with denatured al-cohol. The floor has darkened and is so rough that it catches dust from the mop. Shellac was purchased in a gallon-can two years ago, but has been kept covered in the cellar. Is this shellac responsible?

Answer: Yes; for shellac deteriorates with age. It should be used within a few months. The quelity makers of shellac date their cans. All of the old shellac should be taken off, which can be done by wiping with denatured alcohol. You will with denatured alcohol. You will probably find that this will leave a smooth surface. Get top quality and pure shellac, and thin it with an equal quantity of good denatured alcohol, put on in two or three thin coats. Instead of shellac, you could use two coats of top quality floor

Washing Painted Walls.
Question: What is your formula or washing painted interior house

Answer: Use tepid water in which dissolve trisodium phosphate in the proportion of one teaspoonful to the gallon. When washing painted walls, start at the floor level and work upwards. If you start at the top and work down, you will make dirty streaks that will be almost impos-sible to clean off. Rinse thoroughly. Trisodium phosphate can be had un-der a trade name at a grocery store; ask for a white cleaning powder that makes no lather. Another excellent type of paint cleaner is made of a cereal preparation, which has no strong chemicals and does not hurt the hands. It is on sale at most paint stores, and is much used by professional painters.

Cesspool in an Old Well.

Question: Can you give me any information about using an old well as a cesspool? Are wells built with holes in the sides to permit the water to seep in? Do you think the water from the cesspool could drain away through the sides or only from the bottom? The well is 30 feet deep and three or four feet wide.

Answer: With water in the bottom of the well, you will naturally get no drainage, and the idea would be impractical. There is also a possibility of contaminating the water supply of another well which may supply of another well which may be close by. I would advise building a cesspool and locating it as far from the sources of water supply as possible. Have you considered septic tank instead of a cesspool?

Refinishing a Brick House.

Question: We wish to clean our brick cottage, which is 60 years old. How should we do it? What colors do you suggest for the trim and the Answer: You can clean the brickwork with any coarse scouring powder and plenty of water with a stiff scrubbing brush. If this does not restore the color sufficiently, you can use a cement point that is intended for masonry, and that you can get in brick or other color, at a paint store. White painted bricks are very popular, and you might consider this. White trim against red bricks is effective, and a soft green jade for instance, should be a good contrast for the shutters.

Cleaning a Statuette.

Question: I have a statuette of the kind that was made in large numbers 30 or more years ago, but numbers 30 or more years ago, but that now can be found only in antique shops. It would look better if it were cleaned. What method and materials should I use?

Answer: The statuette is undoubtedly of a kind known as a Rogers Group, or something similar. It is made of plaster of paris and finished with oil paint. You can clean it with a cloth damp with soapy water; follow by wiping with clear water and then allow to dry thoroughly. For a final finish you can repaint it with a wip and the source of the source o with ordinary oil paint.

Oil Finish. Question: In a rubbed oil finish, is raw or boiled linseed oil used? Is the first coat applied hot or cold? Answer: Raw linseed oil is usually applied cold. One excellent combination is 3 parts oil and 1 part turpentine, which has greater pene-An alternative is equal parts of oil, turpentine and denatured alcohol.

Plaids Bold, Colorful, Striking In.Spring Coats, Capes, Jackets

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A LL signs point to a riot of handsome plaids in the spring style parade: When you choose your plaid for a new coat, cape, jacket, dress or separate skirt, fashion asks you to throw all caution to the wind.
New plaids are big and bold, brazen and color-mad, for fashion is in a mood for drama in plaids this

However, there is another side to the plaid story which has to do with conservative plaids that are in pasconservative plaids that are in pas-tel colors so subtle, so winsome, that you will find yourself yielding to their enchantment at very first glance. Which all goes to show in the new spring collections that there's a plaid for every time, place and occasion and for every individ-

Notwithstanding the color furore that is going on, there is much en-thusiasm for black and white wool plaids. They are very new and very good-looking and have a unique style all their own.

The plaid costumes pictured typify the new trends. These stunning models were selected from among hundreds at a recent preview dramatically presented in a pageantry of fashion by the Style Creators of Chicago, an event that illustrated new achievement, new triumphs for American designers. Conveying the message that plaids are stylish this season, we illustrate three distinct types herewith—the long coat, the dramatic cape of which you will see an endless procession this spring, and the ever-favorite softly ailored long jacket.

The cape vogue is taking the world of fashion by storm. The wearing of a plaid cape over a smartly tailored jacket suit is very practical to wear during the fickle weather of early spring days. As an ideal ensemble for later on, you will be topping your crepe and print frocks with a cape in one of the pretty springtime colors. Note the smartly caped lady of fashion in the picture, who wears over a frock of gold hued crepe a full length wool plaid cape, straight lined according to latest silhouette trends.

One of the new and very smart gestures of fashion is to top your tailored suit with a coat of wool plaid. Provided with such a chic outfit as the sailor-hatted young modern in the picture is wearing, you will be ready to greet spring in fitting regalia. Furthermore, if you own a sleek tailored plaid surcoat, smartly straightlined and pocketed as the one worn by the model il-lustrated, it will prove a perfect treasure later on as a wrap to wear over various prints or plain frocks.

Note the good-looking plaid-jacket costume centered in the group. Here you see a very advance model in the new longer length. The bias cut of the plaid adds to its charm. You will love the hazy green gold and gray tones in this plaid. Worn with a sheer dress that features an allaround pleated skirt, this jacket will take you places in high style.

More plaid! Here's the latest—hat and enormous underarm bag of vivid plaid to add color glory to your new ensemble.

All-In-One Sleeves

There are important changes going on in sleeve styling. The new movement toward an all-in-one sleeve and bodice or sleeve and yoke is very obvious this season. You see it in the Chinese influence this season and in smart dolman sleeves. In this picture, the sleeve extends seamless at shoulders from the yoke section. The Russian-styled blouse underneath is of white linen. and the skirt repeats the slight flare of its own peplum, season important fashion influence comes to us 6,000 miles out of the west. At the moment it is Hawaii that is interesting front-page fashion and social news.

Just as the Rhumba and the Conga have swept America, so will the Hula, the native sacred Hawaiian dance, one of the most beautiful dances in the world when it is danced and interpreted correctly, so declares Dr. Gladys, just returned from a year's research in Hawaii.

In their current resort collections the best stores throughout the country are making a feature of Hawaiian-inspired fashions. Dresses Hawaiian prints by Tina Leser, wellknown designer versed in Hawaii lore, are especially a forerunner of costumes that will take lead in the spring style parade. The collection includes such interesting themes as a day dress of a flowery new leiprint, also a charming Lauai fern print is shown. Unique and very attractive are undersea fish patterns, a novel pineapple print, also fluted clam-shell motifs and the sensational Sarongs are greatly admired.

Tiny Bows Decorate

M'Lady's Spring Shoes

There is no type shoe so universally flattering to the foot than a neat-fitting shapely pump. This year pumps are decorated with bows of every description. You can tune your pump to almost any occasion via its bow.

For the tailored street look, the bow is of patent or the leather that fashions the shoe. Ribbon grosgrain bows are on the dressier types of shoes. Bows of perforated leather are very decorative. For dressiest wear are bows which are made of sequin or rhinestones.

BOYNE DEFEATS CRIMSON

WAVE The East Jordan Crimson Wave was defeated 32 to 23 by the Boyne Ramblers, Friday, February 28 at Boyne City. The East Jordan team played a hard game but the Boyne boys were too much for them. The Cohnmen held the Boyne quintet down pretty well during the first half, but the Boyne team broke loose the third period. Vale Gee was high scorer for East Jordan with 9 points. E. Dietz with 12 points was high man for Boyne City.

The East Jordan Reserve team took a beating from the Boyne City Reserves 41 to 10. The East Jordan team couldn't stop the Boyne team and they scored almost at will.

Homemakers' Corner

Home Economics Specialists

" Michigan State College HOT PORRIDGE OFFERS ENERGY

Serving piping hot porridge for breakfast supplies energy-giving food at low cost when temperatures drop and appetites soar. Two common porridge faults are lumpiness and lack of salt, according to the home economics staff at Michigan State College. The lumpiness can be avoided by the right method of combining the cereal. A quick way is to add the cereal slowly to rapidly boiling water, and stir until all the cereal is blended in. Another way is to add the cold water to the cereal and to mix the two thoroughly before heating.

The standard amount of salt to add is about one teaspoon for every quart of water used in cooking cereal. This may vary according to taste, but it should never be left out, because it brings out the good starch flavor. If porridge is made ahead of time, then allowed to cool, two or three teaspoons of water can be poured over the top to prevent a hard crust from forming. When reheating por-ridge, do not stir until the cereal is heated through. Otherwise lumps of the cooked cereal may form.

The homemaker operating on limited food budget can serve one or more cereal dishes a day, in addition to bread at every meal.

If money is so limited that there's enough to buy only the minimum of fruit and vegetables, at least half of the cereals served should be whole grain rather than refined so that this food furnishes some of the vitamins and minerals.

Lucky Youngster TO HAVE BEEN BORN THIS COUNTRY!

Lucky youngster to have been born in such a country -a country whose industrial watchword is MORE OF THE GOOD THINGS IN LIFE-FOR MORE PEOPLE -FOR LESS MONEY.

It isn't mere chance, that in America there are more electric refrigerators helping to build healthier, stronger young bodies by keeping food fresh and pure, than in any other country in the world.

The employees of this company, like thousands of others, have worked tirelessly to provide the kind of service that has made electric refrigeration fully useful. Now, low refrigerator prices together with low electric rates, have placed electric refrigeration within

We take pride in the part we play in serving young America and to these young men and women of tomorrow, we pledge our continued endeavor.
