Patrons of Route Two Present Pat With Fine Gold Watch

As a token of their deep and sincere appreciation of the splendid manner in which their "Faithful Pat" carried their mail, the patrons of Rural Route No. 2 "chipped-in" and presented the Faithful Irishman with a fine 17-jewel Elgin gold watch, costing $37.50. He was as tickled as a five-year-old boy with a big red new wagon. He always carried on himself before. This one will really be something different.

Pat carried the mail some 32 or 33 years and has well earned his coming annuity and rest. Many thanks for your part in this present to Pat and be sure to ask him to let you see it. He will probably carry it in his hand.

In introducing to you your new carrier Walter Davis, I must say that he is an old hand at the business too. Walter started carrying mail in Boyne City when he was 18 years old. He later was transferred to East Jordan. He was in the East Jordan office as a clerk for a number of years and has carried mail on all the routes out of East Jordan.

Walter has a winning smile and is quiet, yes very quiet indeed. In fact his wife said the night he proposed to her that there were only five words spoken — "Will you marry me?" and "yes." — Contributed.

April Report of N. W. Mich. Dairy Herd Improvement Ass'n.

During April 271 cows in 20 herds were on test. Six of these produced over 50 lbs. of butterfat. The Association's average production per cow was 588 lbs. of milk and 24.1 lbs. of butterfat. The average test 4.10 per cent fat.

The high herd for the month was owned by J. M. Ingalls of Ellsworth. His 14 grade cows averaged 774 lbs. of milk and 33.8 lbs. of butterfat. Following Ingalls was Joe Leu of East Jordan, whose 13 grade Guernsey's averaged 758 lbs. of milk and 32.4 lbs. of butterfat.

The high cow, a 7-year-old Guernsey, owned by B. C. Thompson of Petoskey, produced 1314 lbs. of milk and 63.1 lbs. of butterfat. Second was a cow at the Charlevoix County Infirmary with 1197 lbs. of milk and 58.7 lbs. of butterfat.

Setting Out Young Pines

EAST JORDAN FORESTRY CLUB
SET OUT LARGE NUMBER

Last week was the high point in regard to setting out young pine trees throughout the county. Thursday the East Jordan school forestry clubs set out some 4000 young trees in their School Forest. The same day the Boyne Falls Forestry group set out over 2000 trees in their newly acquired property between Boyne City and Boyne Falls. Then on Friday the Melrose Township unit set out a similar number of trees in their school forest located just south of Walloon Lake.

In addition to this activity, orders for over 6000 trees were sent in by the County Road Commission for snow breaks along county roads. Within a very few years these trees set out by local farmers will decrease the cost of snow removal and afford a substantial saving to the county. Also of interest is the fact that the Rotary club of Boyne City set out around 5000 trees in their little forest and the City of Charlevoix set 500 trees along the Channel bank. While we have no way of knowing exactly, we feel confident that local farmers have ordered around 50,000 trees.

More and more people are conscious of the value of growing trees on many locations that are not suited for other purposes. As years go by it will be far more pleasant and enjoyable as we drive along our county roads to see these pine trees on all sides. This is a land use that certainly can not be criticized and will surely prove the statement that all land has a proper use and it depends on man's intelligence to discover this proper use.

TENNIS TEAM BEATS PETOSKEY

The East Jordan High School tennis team took a match from Petoskey by the decisive margin of 6-1 on Tuesday afternoon, April 29. If this match is any indication, East Jordan might give serious threats to any team in the district. Not only was the standard of play from a stroke technique better than that of Petoskey, but the strategy and tactics were sufficient to show East Jordan to be vastly superior to the Petoskey team.

The entire East Jordan team was composed of seniors, all veterans. The results of the matches are as follows:

Hayner beat Bandwell 6-0, 6-1.
Gee lost to Wenz 6-3, 6-1.
Malpass beat Jim Townswend 6-2, 6-3.

Bugai beat Ayres 6-0, 6-1.
McKinnon beat Allan Townswend 8-6, 6-0.

In the doubles matches Hayner and Gee teamed to defeat Bandwell and Wends 6-2, 6-2; and McKinnon and Malpass combined to defeat the Townswend boys in a close one 8-10, 6-2, 6-2.

Home Economics Extension Leaders Given Last Lesson

Last week Tuesday, marked the completion of the project of Home Management which has consisted of four lessons. Every group in the county was represented by their leader or leaders. Miss Peck, Home Management Specialist, Michigan State College, gave the lesson and outlined information to be sent in to the State office.

The forenoon session was largely devoted to a discussion of planning for the Achievement Day. As a result of last year's highly successful Achievement Day tour, it was unanimously decided to have a similar tour this year. Mr. O. I. Gregg, Landscaping Specialist, will accompany the tour which will include at least two stops to show the results of home beautification.

It was decided to have the picnic dinner at the Whiting County Park. Also it is planned to visit the new home of Arlo Wickersham, recently completed in Charlevoix.

Brief comments were made regarding the mattress program which has been so ably assisted by the various Home Economics Extension groups in the county. Close to 200 women have been regular members of the various local groups throughout the county. Final plans for the Achievement Day will be developed by the executive committee consisting of Mrs. Edith Novotny, Charlevoix county Chairman, Mrs. Francis Looze, East Jordan, and Mrs. Priscilla Lisk, East Jordan. The entire public is invited to visit six or seven points of interest on Tuesday, June 17th. Watch the papers for further particulars.

Cherry Growers Met Last Week

APPROVE ADVERTISING CAM-PAIGN. HOWARD TAFT ELEC-TED CHAIRMAN.

At a cherry meeting held last week, Thursday night, at East Jordan, full and complete approval was given to the advertising campaign being developed all through the cherry growing district in Michigan. Every grower present felt the need of such a campaign to improve the financial aspects of the cherry growing industry. The discussion was led by Charles P. Buck, of Traverse City, who has interested himself in helping the industry as a more or less bystander. He is neither a grower or a processor but is unselfishly devoting his time and attention to this effort.

Howard Taft of East Jordan, was selected as the county chairman to head up the organization program. John Porter, East Jordan, was selected as the temporary secretary. All growers present volunteered to act as solicitors. The county has been divided into districts and within the next week every producer of cherries of any sizeable quantity will be contacted. Realizing the desirability of having a local county organization of fruit growers another meeting will be held next Tuesday night, May 13, in the City Building, East Jordan, to perfect a permanent organization.

This advertising campaign holds so much promise that it is hoped every cherry grower will be present to assist in the final plans. The campaign will be in effect when 45,000 pounds of cherries are signed up and this year. Already over 30,000 pounds are signed up so everything points to success in this movement.

These and scores of other questions dealing with every phase of household investment and spending are taken up in a series of articles by C. J. Avery of the Consumers Division of the Better Business Bureau. Be sure to read these helpful articles now appearing exclusively in The Detroit News. They can save you money.

HANDFUL TO 30,000 ACRES

Literally from a handful, the new Michigan State College oat, Huron, has increased since its announcement and release for increase in 1937 so that now there is enough to plant 30,000 acres this spring. Most of this will remain on fields within the state, although some already has filtered into at least 15 other neighboring states. The hand is that of E. E. Down, plant breeder of the experiment station staff, who worked for more than 10 years in selecting this smut resistant oat.

New Huron Oat Wins Wide Use On Michigan Farms

At least 30,000 acres of farmlands, principally in Michigan, will be planted this spring to the Huron oat, smut resistant variety with an exceptionally superior test weight obtained through years of breeding and selection at Michigan State College and announced as recently as 1937.

Figures of its increase are startling. A peck of the oats in 1937 produced on test plot checks a yield of eight bushels, planted on college land in 1938 for a production of 130 bushels. This was then released for increase in 1939 by selected growers out in the state. They multiplied the 130 bushels into 2,950.

In 1940 an estimated 60,000 bushels were produced and were available this spring for planting. Growers had 739 acres inspected and 48,000 bushels certified. Another 500 acres likely were grown but not inspected. The yield of 60,000 bushels is sufficient to plant about 30,000 acres.

Parents of the new oat are Victory and Markton. Neither has a heavy test weight but each bears marked resistance to smut. The new oat retains this resistance with a surprising extra dividend. That is its attractive test weight, averaging more than four pounds a bushel in 1940 over other oat varieties grown for certification. The original plant breeding cross was obtained with scores of others from the United States Department of Agriculture.

Huron county in Michigan is "mothering" the new Huron oat. One grain elevator company alone is reported to have obtained 12,000 bushels and distributed that amount of seed in 1941 to its patrons. Another elevator company is reported to have handled 4,000 bushels.

A novel type of handling seed has been announced in the Thumb area. Grain elevators offered seed oats in return for a promised three for two or two for one after threshing.

U. S. 'Aid-to-Britain' Shipping Losses Brings Convoy Issue Into Open Debate; 45,000 British Soldiers Are Saved As Nazis Complete Balkan Campaign

CONVOY: Argument

The anti-convoys and pro-convoys fight in the senate picked up when the Toney and Nye resolutions were given formal consideration in committee.

Both resolutions were defeated in committee, but only by a vote of 13-10, and this showed what strength the non-interventionists had gained. The resolution would have tied the President's hands most effectively, in the question of using the American navy to protect shipments to Britain and other defending democracies.

Both would have demanded that the President get congressional approval for any conveying that might be done, and pledged congress to give or withhold it within 14 days.

This would have slowed the pace of the naval commander-in-chief to a walk. There was little repetition, however, of the charges that conveying already was being done.

Senator Nye, in some of his speeches, began to give figures of U. S. losses of equipment en route

GREEK: Bill Presented

Bill Presented

The debacle in Greece seemed to be "small potatoes" as far as men and munitions were concerned, as compared with Dunquerque, but the pattern turned out to be almost identical.

There was little question but that the fighting had been as hard at one place as at the other, with probably more successful work done by the British in Greece than they did in France. It seemed that the Greeks were better co-operators than the French, whose morale was utterly shot long before the British began to fall back, and had to contend with clogged roads and fleeing millions.

But Churchill let the commons have the "Greek bill" of expenses as soon as he knew what it was, and announced he would permit a full debate on this motion:

A vote of confidence in the conduct of the war by the British government—and a vote of approval on the giving of aid to the Greeks.

Churchill said the British had put 60,000 soldiers into Greece, including

Mother of '41

Mrs. Dena Shelby Diehl of Danville, Ky., by marriage a great-great granddaughter of Isaac Shelby, Revolutionary war hero and first governor of Kentucky, is the American Mother of 1941. She was extended this honor by the American Mothers' committee of the Golden Rule foundation, which annually sponsors the American Mother. Cited as being "representative of the best there is in motherhood," Mrs. Diehl is the mother of four grown children—all girls.

Turning Out Tanks in Quantity Lots

One of the large cogs in the U. S. defense machinery is this production plant of the American Car & Foundry company at Berwick, Pa., where tanks are turned out by mass production methods. Here is an assembly line with tanks reaching as far as the eye can see, while workmen put on the finishing touches. (Inset) New tanks leaving the plant for their first road test.

Barracks adjoining the fort are their homes, but they are not confined as ordinary prisoners, being permitted to occasionally explore the nearby foothills (shown lower left). Map shows the location of Ft. Stanton.

'COPPERHEADS': And FDR

The "Lone Eagle," Charles Augustus Lindbergh, once more landed on Page One as the first American news story.

Lindbergh, who had first associated himself with the non-interventionists and later with advocates of the theory that British victory was impossible and German victory certain, carried his views to the American public until finally President Roosevelt took cognizance of them in a press conference, mentioning Lindbergh by name and in no complimentary terms.

Lindbergh countered by resigning his commission in the air corps reserve, and accompanied it with a personal letter to the President which he released to the press as soon as it was written, and long before the President received it.

The war department accepted the resignation. The President received the letter. Lindbergh received from Presidential Secretary Early the hint that perhaps he would like also to return to Hitler a decoration he had received from Der Fuehrer some years back.

The open controversy had its backers on both sides, both public and private. The non-interventionists immediately made of Lindbergh a martyr, and at a subsequent public meeting, Senator Nye, leader of the "keep out of war" bloc in the senate, along with Senator Wheeler, made capital of the incident by addressing his hearers as "fellow-Copperheads."

The copperhead reference was President Roosevelt's, used in the press conference about Lindbergh. Lindbergh's name was cheered to the echo at each of these meetings, and the leaders of the movement were quick to seize on him as a martyr.

Opponents of Lindbergh's attitude were glad he resigned his commission but took the stand that he ought to be silenced and deported, in fact there were few limits in the suggestions that emanated from various sources backing up the President in his questioning of the flier's patriotism.

Along came the Hugh Johnson incident to fan the flames and to give the anti-administration movement more stature. General Johnson, holding, like Lindbergh, a reserve army commission, was denied a reappointment by the President. Johnson had been authoring an anti-administration column which had been widely distributed in the press.

He, a former New Dealer and a former head of the NRA in the early Roosevelt days, had been busy in anti-administration circles, mostly in magazines, prior to the last election, and had continued with a newspaper column.

The army had certified Johnson for reappointment, so in refusing to allow the commission to go out, the President went against his army chiefs' advice, and further stated that as there was no likelihood of Johnson's actively serving, he wanted to spare the commission for somebody that would.

Lindbergh, in his letter to the President resigning, had made quite a point of the fact that as an inactive army officer, he had felt permitted to use the freedom of speech in attacking the administration's foreign policy, but that if the President was going to impugn his patriotism—why then he was going to resign.

INVASION: 'Bugbear'

The end of the Greek campaign and the slowing down of the North African fight, if it was not at the stalemate point, brought the old British bugbear of an invasion attempt to the fore again.

It was a bugbear but a bugbear with a silver lining, if that was possible, for most of Britain dreaded the days of waiting more than the actual attempt, so sure were the people that it would be smashed.

SENATOR NYE

to Britain by sea, and said that these ranged from 40 per cent to more than half. He then quoted a high defense official as saying, "they were nowhere near 40 per cent and were getting less constantly."

However, it was still apparent that Britain preferred to send American aircraft across the ocean by air rather than on the water, and the President backed up this effort by announcing he was asking for a survey to get all the commercial air transports possible, presumably to ferry the pilots back and forth who were in the transatlantic shipping of warplanes to Britain.

That this was a big industry and getting bigger was seen by the new revelations of the prices being paid to American pilots for doing the ferrying. Some of these salaries were quoted at $1,500 a trip, which didn't seem so much, but it was a good deal for a day's flying, and some of the bombers were making it in 12 hours.

Of course, there was the wait before you got back to earn another $1,500, but the pilots were getting astronomical "waiting salaries" as well. But there were signs that as American production was stepped up, this business was beginning to get out of hand, and that there was a woeful shortage of planes capable of bringing the pilots back to America.

There also was revealed another British immediate request for a quantity of mosquito torpedo boats, and also the fact that American supply was short, for Secretary Knox said, "We'll let them have some, and more as we finish them up."

WINSTON CHURCHILL

one division each (about half of the total force) of Australians and New Zealanders.

He said that of this number there were about 3,000 casualties (killed and wounded and missing), about 45,000 "got away to fight on other fronts," and 12,000 were still unaccounted for. This, presumably, included those left to screen the retreat (suicide battalions); and those lost at sea in sunken transports.

The prime minister said "British losses were small compared to the losses inflicted on the Germans, who on some occasions for two days at a time were brought to a complete standstill by forces one-fifth their number."

He said, further, that the conduct of the troops, especially the rear guard, merited the highest praise, and that the British demonstrated that prolonged air bombing by day and night had no power to shake their discipline or their morale.

Some members of the house wanted to know if the 45,000 had fled to Crete or had reached their own bases. Churchill said he believed the latter to be the case. He admitted that the army in Greece had been forced to abandon or destroy all of its heavy equipment, which could, of course, not be removed.

He was highly positive, however, not only of the escape of 45,000 men, but hinted that the other 12,000 "unaccounted for" probably would die or be taken prisoners—but might, possibly, escape somewhere else temporarily.

The Nazi communiques announced the Greek war over, the formation of a "new government" similar to that of occupied France, and the affair officially at an end.

RUSSIA:

At Crossroads

Indication that Soviet Russia is facing a situation that is becoming less and less healthy for the Soviet's peace of mind came when it was officially announced by Moscow that 12,000 German troops, well equipped with tanks and heavy artillery, had moved into Finland by water with the evident intention of staying there.

The official announcement coupled with this move by the Nazis, at least former allies of Russia, with the decision by Russia not long ago not to permit further shipments of arms and munitions over her railroads, or through her country by air or land.

Just what the German objective was in Finland was not immediately apparent, but it was evident that if the Germans intend to go on southward through Turkey and Syria into Iraq and Iran, the Germans will certainly bottle up the Black Sea for Russia, and few believed the Soviet would stand for that without fighting, perhaps on the side of the Turks, perhaps alone.

This is the eventuality that most friends of an eventual defeat for Hitler and Mussolini and Japan have looked forward to, and Churchill hinted at it not long ago.

Highlights

... in the news

Washington: President Roosevelt himself opened the government's multi-billion dollar defense savings campaign by buying the first bond himself. The ceremony was broadcast from coast to coast.

New York: Jesse Jones announced that the government debt would go to 90 billions, and that America, which had no sacrifices as yet, would be making them "and plenty of them."

London: Belgian circles reported that Germany is holding 128,000 Belgians prisoners of war.

London: British bombers claimed sinking or damaging 42,000 tons of Axis coastwise ships in a week. The British announcement said "evidently the Nazi rail strain is being relieved by the use of coastwise shipping in more favorable weather."

Chungking, China: Capt. James Roosevelt of the marines bobbed up in Chungking, watched the Japanese carry out an air raid on the city, praised the public's morale, and announced that he was going to fly to northern Africa to observe the war there. He said to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, "I'm here to learn."

Soldiers, Take Your Post!

While buddies gathered round to watch and learn, members of the Fifty-eighth Signal Battalion at Camp Forrest, Tenn., show off their pole-climbing prowess in exercises designed to school men in the fine art of field communications. In actual warfare, soldiers of signal corps must be adept at tree-climbing. Climbing irons are used.

NAZI PROPAGANDA GOES ON UNCHECKED IN U. S.

ALL AMERICANS, from the President down to the least of us, condemn Hitler and Nazism. We want none of Hitler or his kind, or his ideology. We send men to prison for spreading the Nazi doctrines, and yet each week we are countenancing the spread of this thing we abhor.

The German Library of Information, undoubtedly financed by Germany in the interests of Hitler's Germany and all it represents, sends broadcast over America the most subtle kind of Nazi propaganda. Millions of copies of its weekly publication, "Facts in Review," are circulated in this country. The American postal system is used to distribute this publication. It boldly announces that copies may be obtained upon request and without charge. You find them in hotels, auto camps, in our training camps, and in all possible places where they will be seen and read, and your name, once on the mailing list, means receiving a new copy each week.

Typographically it is an attractive publication, well printed, beautifully illustrated. Each word in the text of its 44 pages is a eulogy of Hitler, his henchmen and Nazism. Its purpose is to convince American people that Hitler is working for the best interests of the world, that he is a world savior, that England would destroy world civilization if that country itself is not destroyed. While smooth, it is not even cleverly veiled.

With it each week are offered many other publications, any or all of which may be had for the asking. Why, I wonder, is such an effort to break down American democracy permitted to operate?

Certainly it is known. Any officer of the government, any member of congress, as well as any citizen, may have copies of the publication, as many as he wishes, by merely asking for them. They will be sent through the American postal system for the purpose of convincing Americans that the German system of Hitler will prevail and that it is best for the world that it should.

To permit circulation of this propaganda to continue is hardly consistent with our American policy. It is the kind of thing that will lead to sabotage in American armament plants. It will appeal to the fanatic and the subversive elements.

ROAD TO ALASKA FEASIBLE, SAYS 'SLIM'

IN THE NAME OF NATIONAL DEFENSE serious consideration is being given in Washington to the subject of constructing a highway from the American line through British Columbia to Alaska. The defense purpose is for the moving of an army, mechanized or other, should we find it necessary to defend Alaska. The proposition is for the United States to provide the funds and Canada to provide the right of way and patrol it after the highway is completed.

Long, lean, weather-beaten "Slim" Williams, an old Alaskan sound-dough, has agitated such a highway for several years. In the winter of 1931-32, "Slim" drove a dog team from Alaska to Washington as his first demonstration of the feasibility of his dream. In the summer of 1933, starting from Fairbanks in May, he made the trip through to Vancouver on a motorcycle, at least both "Slim" and the motorcycle came through but whether he carried the motorcycle more miles than it carried him, I am not sure. He insists he has proved that a highway to Alaska is practical.

There is today, and has been for many years, the beginning of such a highway. It is from Vancouver, following generally the course of the Fraser river, to Prince George, a distance of something like 500 miles. It was constructed in the gold rush days as a means of getting miners in, and out of the then thriving gold mining area around Prince George. It was, and is, passable for pack animals, but not wide enough for automobiles. Beyond Prince George, and as far north as Hazelton, is a trail followed by Indians and trappers. Beyond Hazelton are the unconquered Rocky mountains of British Columbia and Alaska. But "Slim" Williams says they can be conquered.

Practical

THE PRESIDENT is said to favor a revision of the draft ages, reducing the minimum to 18 years and stopping the maximum at 30 years, or less. That is practical.

Then and Now

IN WASHINGTON they will tell you today of a perfect working house of representatives majority, with some six key men directing legislation. During the 'twenties, and up to some 15 years ago, when the Republicans had a heavy majority in the house, one man largely directed the course of legislation. If Martin B. Madden said a bill was to pass, it passed; if he said no, it did not reach the floor. Madden was the house of representatives.

... JUST LIKE MOTHER USED TO MAKE!
(See Recipes Below)

IT WAS WONDERFUL FOOD!

Remember flying home, pigeals thumping, to smell supper, and guess? Remember being saucer-eyed as mother's marble cake took a blue ribbon at the fair? And remember licking the last bit of sweetness from the frosting platter? I know you must remember. How could you forget? It was wonderful food!

And it's to the best cooks in the world — our mothers — that this week's column is dedicated. When you pay them homage on Mother's day, 1941, perhaps you'll enjoy using some of the following recipes, favorites of the long ago.

In those days, to be caught without plenty of food, and good food, too, for all comers was to show oneself a poor housekeeper, a bad hand in the kitchen.

But times have changed. A large "crock" of butter, a "basket" of eggs, and a "wedge" of cheese are no longer a part of the regular supplies on the shelf in the vegetable cellar. Nor are recipes penciled on the fly-leaf of the family ledger. But the basic goodness is still the same.

So, whether it be crusty brown doughnuts, chicken pie and jelly roll, huge, fluffy cakes, or rich chocolate pie, let's take mother back, down memory lane!

Lovely to look at and utterly delightful to eat is the Sour Cream Devil's Food Cake, which I'm sure was a favorite of grandmother's.

Sour Cream Devil's Food Cake.

- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup butter or other shortening
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 1 egg, unbeaten
- 3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup thick sour cream
- 1/2 cup sweet milk

Sift flour once, measure, add soda and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together well. Add egg and beat very thoroughly; then chocolate and vanilla, and blend. Add about one-fourth of the flour and beat well; then add sour cream and beat thoroughly. Add remaining flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Turn into two greased 9-inch layer pans and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes, or until done.

Spread Felicity Frosting on top and sides of cake. Top with glossy

LYNN SAYS:

In an old book of household advice, written in 1879, are some words of wisdom "to help homemakers." I'm passing them on to you "for what they're worth" in the modern, up-to-date home.

"Use a clam shell to scrape skillets or saucepans; to scour your iron pots and griddles, use wood ashes.

"Sweeping a carpet with new fallen snow will make it look very bright and fresh. Also, it is a good plan to save tea leaves, and, with them not too moist, sweep a dark carpet. This is not advised for light colors.

"Woodwork may be dusted with a long-feathered wing, preferably that of a turkey.

"For washing fine clothes, use a pounder—not a large, old-fashioned affair, but one about twice as large as a potato masher, and pound your clothes as they soak in sal-soda water. The rubbing on a board will then be very easy. Use a clothes wringer if you can possibly get one.

"Never buy ground coffee. Take whole berries and heat; grind while hot.

"All housewives should be well advised in cookery, and should know how to make good dishes, such as 'Jenny Lind Cake,' 'Parsnip Pie,' 'Marrow Dumplings' and 'Flannel Pancakes.'"

THIS WEEK'S MENU

Menu For a Mother-Daughter Banquet

- (For not-too-large a group)
- Strawberry and Pineapple Cup
- Roast Chicken Giblet Gravy
- Bread Filling Fresh Asparagus
- Fruit Salad
- Ice Cream
- Coffee
- Cookies
- Milk

chocolate coating, made by combining 1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted, 1/4 cup sugar, and 1/4 cup water. Cook over low flame until smooth and thick. Cool slightly. Double the recipe for three 10-inch layers.

Felicity Frosting.

- 2 egg whites, unbeaten
- 2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
- Dash of salt
- 7 tablespoons water

Combine egg whites, sugar, salt and water in top of double boiler, beating with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beat constantly with rotary egg beater, and cook 7 minutes, or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from fire, but allow to remain over hot water, and beat 2 minutes longer. Place over cold water and continue beating 3 minutes. Makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of two 9-inch layers.

Just like mother used to make. That's what you'll say when you taste the delicious cookies, made by the directions given below. When mother baked cookies she made them rich with butter and usually full of fruit, like:

Fig Oaties.

- Boil 5 minutes in water to cover:
- 1 1/2 cups dried figs

Drain, clip stems and cut figs into thin strips (scissors are handy). Cream together:

- 1 cup butter
- 2 cups beet or cane sugar

Add:

- 3 eggs, beaten
- Blend well, then add liquids:
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift together and add:

- 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking powder

Add:

- Figs
- 5 cups quick-cooking oats

Stir until well blended, then drop by small spoonfuls onto greased cookie sheet and flatten slightly. Bake in moderately hot oven, 400 degrees F., for 13 to 15 minutes. Press a nut meat, strips of fig or cherry into tops before baking if desired. For a glazed top, brush with hot honey after baking and place under broiler for a minute or two. Makes 5 1/2 dozen medium-sized cookies.

Do you recall the old cracker barrel?

It was a necessity in days gone by when homemakers often made their own crackers, and even their own baking powder and bread starter. Thinking that perhaps in your spare moments you might like to try your hand at cracker making, I'm including a recipe.

Crackers Made With Yeast.

- 1/2 package granular yeast
- 1 pint warm water
- 1 1/2 quarts flour
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1/4 cup sour milk
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 teaspoon soda

Set sponge of yeast, water and flour at night. In the morning add the other ingredients and flour to stiffen very stiff. Pound with rolling pin. Fold over and pound again. Continue until the dough is smooth.

Place on a lightly floured board and roll in a thin sheet. Cut in squares and punch holes on top with a fork.

Place in ungreased pans and bake in a 400-degree F. oven. These are inexpensive and very good!

'Land of Big Feet'

Patagonia is a little-known region with a familiar name. The so-called Patagonian area constitutes the tail of the South American continent. Long contested between Chile and Argentina, this area was finally divided between those countries in 1881, and its permanent boundaries were set in 1902. The Argentine section lies roughly east of the Andes and south of the great central plains. It includes the three continental territories of Rio Negro, Chubut, and Santa Cruz, and is some 259,000 square miles in area.

According to some authorities, the name Patagonia, which means "Land of the Big Feet," was given the area by early explorers who were amazed at the size of footprints (of aboriginal Indians) found there.

Unlimited Debate

In the United States senate the members have the right to hold the floor for an unlimited time in debate. Unless otherwise agreed on in advance, a senator once recognized may hold the floor as long as he continues to speak, or until the session ends. Debating time in the more numerous house is strictly parcelled out.

Fledgling Pilots Seek Navy Wings

Young America looks skyward as greater opportunities develop in the field of aviation. Here three flying cadets at the Grosse Ile (Mich.) Naval Reserve Aviation Base watch a fellow fledgling try his wings for the first time. The chance to learn to fly at the Navy's expense is attracting thousands of young men, but vacancies remain to be filled, according to Naval Reserve officials. Unusually liberal compensation terms make the Naval Reserve course of general appeal. First month's pay is $84; second to eighth months, $105.

At the end of eight months, the student graduates as a commissioned ensign, U. S. N. R., and pay becomes $245.50 per month. A bonus of $500 per year is in addition to the above compensation, as is a $10,000 government life insurance policy, with premiums paid by the government. Applicants must be 20 to 27 years old, unmarried, and must have completed two years of college. Further information may be obtained from the Procurement Officer, Naval Reserve Aviation Base, Grosse Ile, Mich.

Rural Boys 'Make Good' As President's Advisers

Harry Hopkins and Leon Henderson Have FDR's Confidence in Policies Vital To U. S. Welfare.

By BAUKHAGE
National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

(WNU Service, 1343 H. Street N. W., Washington, D. C.)

WASHINGTON. — America faces its second crisis under Roosevelt. Whether America knows it or not—and by the time this reaches print the last doubt may be removed—the President knows it now. The first crisis was the peak of the economic panic. The present one is the valley of allied fortunes.

The WPA and the NRA were two of the institutions which the President created to meet our economic problems in 1933. Since then many an outstanding member of the New Deal palace guard has had his hour to strut and fret upon the stage and then be heard no more. General Johnson and his blue eagle—now a mere columnist; Donald Richberg, his successor, back with his law books; the professors, Raymond Moley, once in the state department, today behind an editorial desk in the seat of the scorpion, and Rexford Guy Tugwell, still loyal, but silent, a partner of industry. We might go on.

But two men, one a veteran of NRA, another of WPA, have been chosen to sit at the right and left hands of the Chief in crisis II: Harry Hopkins, head of the program under the lend-lease law, and Leon Henderson, officer of price administration and civilian supply.

The two men are alike in few characteristics except that both were poor farm boys, both have a New Deal slant on life, and neither has much interest in the art of a Fifth avenue tailor.

There is no doubt that the defense program, if we must still use that euphemistic label for this anything but negative undertaking, has passed out of the joint power of the dollar-a-year men and into control of these two staunch supporters of the Roosevelt administration.

The rise of Harry Hopkins' influence has been steady, interrupted only by periods of ill-health. His relationship with the President started from a sympathy of viewpoint concerning the duty of government toward its underprivileged. It has grown into an intimate friendship, bastioned by propinquity that comes from sharing the same roof and many leisure hours, before nine in the morning and after six at night, since May of last year.

That was when Hitler's blitz across the low countries showed the President that the possibility of peaceful intervention in the cause of democracy in Europe was over. In his despair, he called his friend to the White House for a week-end of comfort and counsel. Hopkins has been there ever since.

Perhaps the barefoot boy driving a neighbor's cows up a dusty lane some four decades ago dreamed of the White House—every boy has a chance to be President we know. But how many boys dream of being a President's chief advisor and bossing seven billion dollars' worth of supplies for democracy?

Harry's father was a harness maker. He had a harness shop in Grinnell, Iowa, and it was in Iowa because Mrs. Hopkins was ambitious for her children and there was a college there. Harry earned some nickels and dimes herding cows, and then worked in the shop. Later he worked his way through college. Money never meant much to him. He never handled much of his own. But he has bossed millions for other people—in the Red Cross during the World war, with the Association for the Improvement of the Poor in New York, where he got to know Governor Roosevelt, and then with the relief organization of the federal government.

Hopkins, lean, slight, amiable, grew up with the New Deal.

So did Leon Henderson but he reached the inner circle by a more roundabout way. He is thick-set and dynamic and he blustered into the confidence of General Johnson in the NRA, as an economist who could punctuate his theories with the salty expletives that appealed to Old Iron Pants.

When the blue eagle folded its wings, Henderson plowed his own furrow and got out of the way when he was not needed but always managed to bob up when he had a chance to say something important. He predicted the "bust" as he called it—the slump of 1937. In 1938 he warned against price rises. He kept warning. Prices went up. Now he is czar over prices.

Like Hopkins, Henderson worked his way through college. Like him, too, the jobs he has held since his maturity were all outside the marts of trade and commerce.

These two self-made rural boys see the same dreams of America when they look out of the White House windows side by side with the Hyde-Park Squire.

Early Morning In a Nation's Capital

Six o'clock in the morning. From a Saturday to a Monday spring changed to summer in Washington, buds turned to blooms and bare branches burst out into full-leaved green.

In a city, the first walk under this newly spread canopy of green is a strange delight. There is nothing quite like it. Leafy curtains shut out the harsh, cold stone and steel about you as a drawn shade shuts out the night from a lamp-lit room.

Washington does not wake early. At six in the morning there are so few people on the streets that the folks you pass seem as friendly as a neighbor you meet on a lonely lane. The red and green traffic lights still have their eyes closed and only the yellow bulbs blink sleepily at you as they have all night. But these days the sun is well up and as you walk west to east the light strikes you square in the eyes. It always reminds me of a prairie town and that always reminds me of how I was reminded of my prairie town when we used to be marching eastward in the dawn of a murky French morning when the sun suddenly burst on us and made us long for the old, wide-brimmed campaign hat instead of the little cloth rag of an overseas cap. You don't see many campaign hats any more.

As I came down the avenue this morning almost-empty buses passed me. I saw a colored man watering a pathetic little patch of lawn in front of his two-story cottage. The rest of the family were still asleep, the bedroom windows were open. I saw an old-fashioned ornate oil lamp in one.

All rooms seem to be bedrooms in Washington. The fine old residences are turned into rooming houses—many of them—and early in the morning the windows are open. In an hour thousands of government workers will be hurriedly dressing behind carelessly drawn shades, then jamming the now-empty buses with all the roomy comfort of steers in a cattle-car.

Between old, transmogrified residences rise the new apartments. Here and there are a few that sprang into being when 1917 filled the city with war workers.

They are frequently impressive looking on the outside, built to suggest a French chateau. Inside, tiny little boxes of rooms with low ceilings that the third floor windows can hardly see over the stills of the second floor of the residences next door.

But the modern apartments that are springing up like dandelions these days do not go in for French facades. They are the same boxes inside. Outside, there are ugly flat walls with plenty of glass, the whole entrance is glass. They look too much like modern Moscow to please my old-fashioned eyes.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

S. S. Lesson for May 11

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE HOME REGARDING BEVERAGE ALCOHOL

LESSON TEXT—Deuteronomy 6:4-7; Jeremiah 35:5-10. GOLDEN TEXT—Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it.—Proverbs 22:6.

The responsibility of the home regarding liquor is primarily that of providing a place for children to grow up under proper principles and practice. That means that the home should be a Christian home, where both parents follow Christ in life as well as profession. Young people about to establish a new home should give themselves without reservation to Christ. Those who began their home as a Christian home, but who have drifted through carelessness or unbelief, should renew their devotion to Christ. America needs many things, but first and foremost stands its need of real Christian homes.

I. Preparing to Meet Temptation (Deut. 6:4-7)

Temptations will come, and when they do it will be too late to prepare a defense against them. We are all "defense conscious" these days. We have seen in the sad events of the last year that there must be adequate preparation in advance if we are to withstand the enemy. That is doubly true in the realm of the moral and spiritual. We must build moral fiber and appreciation of spiritual things into the lives of our boys and girls from their infancy. How?

1. By a Consistent Example (vv. 5-6). Only the father (or mother) who loves the Lord with all his being and who has permitted God's Word to enter into his heart will set the right example. It is well to know something about child psychology, about the principles of rearing children, etc., but these, without a right relationship to God, are cold and powerless. But let the parents walk before their children in earnest Christian living, let them honor God's Word in their lives and in the home, and they will lay the finest foundation for Christian character in their children.

2. By Correct Teaching (v. 7). The parent should make the teaching of God's Word to children a matter of first importance. It is to be expected that the children will be in church and Sunday school with their parents (notice the word "with"—it's not enough to send them), but that is not sufficient. Blessed and fruitful is that home life in which the Word of God is a normal and easy topic of conversation, where spiritual things are discussed intelligently and without restraint. Every home can be that kind of a home, if the parents will do what they know they should do about it.

II. Standing in the Hour of Temptation (Jer. 35:5-10)

As a protest against the heathendom, the interperence, and corruption of the city life of his day, Jonah instructed his house or tribe to live an itinerant life and, above all, not to touch wine.

We are not called to imitate in detail their way of living, but rather to learn from them the principles of consistent temperance.

1. Remembrance (vv. 6, 7). Jeremiah was sent to test the Rechabites (not to tempt them to fall) by offering them wine, but to them it was a real temptation. They met it promptly and without fear, because they had in their hearts and minds the teaching of their "father" Jonah.

Blessed is the boy or girl who in the lone and trying hour of temptation is not confused by the negative or unchristian example of parents, but who at once has a vision of a God-fearing father and mother, and a remembrance of their faithful teaching of God's standards of life.

2. Obedience (vv. 8-10). Here again is a lesson which must be learned from the tender years of babyhood, but which bears glorious fruit in the days of young manhood and womanhood. The parent who does not tactfully, kindly, but withal, firmly, teach children to obey has undermined their life in advance.

The Rechabites loyally obeyed the word of their founder, and passed their hour of testing with flying colors. They had his example, they knew his teaching, and life itself had proved to them that they were in the right way.

A closing word. The liquor interests are concerned because the consumption of beer is rapidly falling off and because most of their customers are "elderly or middle-aged." They are spending tremendous sums in advertising to "get the beer drinking habit instilled in thousands, almost millions, of young men who do not at present know the taste of beer."

That is their avowed aim. Shall they be permitted to put it across? Not if Christian people will put the influence of the American home squarely where it ought to be—against the liquor traffic.

Linen Assumes Important Role As Fabric for Summer Wardrobes

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

IN ASSEMBLING the new summer wardrobe, don't overlook the importance of linen for all-occasion wear. There really is no material that more faithfully holds its own than handsome Irish linen. With women of discriminating taste, fine linen is a tradition, and now, because of scientific processing, the new linens are rendered practically non-wrinklable.

Aside from the practical view, which ranks linen high because of its complete washability, crease-resistance and adaptability to any type of wearing apparel, style experts are suggesting linen because of the beautiful colors in which it may now be purchased.

A trend this season is the combining of linen with another fabric. You'll see many linen dresses with wool coats, lined and collared to match the dress. Linen also may be combined with silk or rayon prints very effectively. Often a monotone linen coat is lined with the print of a matching frock. In these instances, the linen used is one of the heavier, sturdier weaves, either plain or with self-plaid woven into the fabric.

A fashion highlight this season is the newly styled longer jackets of solid colored linen, worn over bright gingham checks or printed cottons. The attractive ensemble centered in the photograph illustrates the idea. The jacket, of deep green linen, is cut as expertly and fits as suavely as any painstakingly tailored wool. It tops a black, white and green checked dress which follows carefully the lines of a classic shirtwaist frock.

The use of linen in two-toned combinations is a this-season theme that stresses the popular contrast-color vogue. Two shades of Irish linen, a rich tan and a deep green, combine to dramatize the South American influence shown in the simulated bolero of this good-looking dress. This is a fashion designed by Schiaparelli for gay young folk.

It's "three cheers for the red-white-and-blue" when the classic shirtwaist dress shown to the left in the group marches along in the fashion parade. The dress is of blue wrinkle-resistant Irish linen. The double blue-and-white collar and cuffs are edged with red rickrack, and the chic crocheted belt also combines the three colors.

A fashion that women will welcome is the redingote that is styled of linen in handsome dark monotones. This is worn over print frocks very effectively and over line dresses of a contrasting shade. A practical as well as smart item in any wardrobe is the linen suit that is fashioned with the longer jacket. In navy or dark green or toast brown it invites many uses, for the jacket may be worn over casual frocks when not worn with its matching skirt.

The young set glories this season in the new line middy blouse fashions. As summer advances, dance floors will boast linen dinner dresses. On beaches, dressmaker bathing suits in linen will take to the water and many play suits and beach dresses of Irish linen will be worn by vacationers. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Facts of ADVERTISING

• ADVERTISING represents the leadership of a nation. It points the way. We merely follow—follow to new heights of comfort, of convenience, of happiness.

As time goes on advertising is used more and more, and as it is used more we all profit more. It's the way advertising has—of bringing a profit to everybody concerned, the consumer included

BRIEFS . . . By Baukhage

One of the most important factors in settling a strike, according to William H. Davis, vice chairman of the National Defense Mediation board, is public opinion. Both sides know that the people are back of the board.
City sympathy: The squeak of a brake, a bird and a baby, all in the same key.

The emergency has brought so many extra workers to Washington that office space is at a premium. In spite of new buildings in the District of Columbia two federal buildings are being erected in adjoining Maryland and Virginia. These buildings provide a million additional square feet of office space to meet the increased demand.

Dramatic Bags

Dramatic bags, with swank shoes of shiny perforated leather to match, are smart as can be. In the under-arm bag designed by Jenny which the young modern pictured is carrying, shiny black patent leather is cleverly used to form wings of ruffled and perforated patent. This bag is roomy but compact and is styled with all the "last word" in perfect complement for your new tailleur and particularly chic carried with the now-so-voguish black faille jacket suits. By the way, the topknot that surmounts the pretty head of the young lady here posing is a very new-fashion chapeau.

Newest wrist watches are square, made of pink gold, set with diamonds and rubies and fastened with a maroon wrist cord.

White-Ground Prints New

In Summer Fashion Picture

It is the white-ground prints that have the coveted "new" look. The black-on-white combination is especially smart. Wear with these black-and-whites one of the very voguish large Milan hats, carry a patent bag matched with pumps, splash a dash of red or yellow in gloves and your boutonniere—the sum total will be "style."

Blue on white is also new and the prints that pattern red or yellow on white are exceedingly chic.

Handknit Apparel Enjoys Increase in Popularity

There is a large demand for handknit apparel. Even the machine knits have been brought to such a point of perfection that they have the handknit look. Dresses are so expertly fashioned that they do not miss any of the styling details that give distinction to fabric treatments.

Sweaters and cardigans abound in unique trimmings, such as wool yarn fringe, dangling tassels, embroideries and knitted skirts are now made with pleats or gores.

Low-Cut Necklines Call For Bra to Match Dress

Necklines are on their way down and down, almost to the waistline. With this type of dress, comes a bra to match. You can fasten the open point high or low, as you wish. The latest blouses have open-throat colored necklines that may be adjusted at will.

Brims Large, Small

It's a far cry from the tiny little flower topknots milliners are pleased to call hats to the wide, wider, widest brims that are forecasted for wear with summer frocks. A properly equipped wardrobe of headgear should include both. The cunning flower hats have captured women's fancy to the extent that they will continue in the picture for a long time to come, but from now on they must share honors with the stunning big pompadour brims, Mexican gaucho felts and the face-framing "covered wagon" types.

I might say that they serve as personal valets to your motor car."

"DEAR BILL:
"I don't think I care to go out with you again."
"Most of last evening was wonderful, Bill. But the drive home spoiled everything."
"You behaved so nicely and acted so considerably up till the minute you got your hands on the wheel and we headed home. Then you suddenly were transformed into what seemed to me a bad-mannered and irresponsible gorilla."
"You yelled at people who had just as much right on the road as you. You disregarded white lines and signs put there for your safety. You scared my wits out by going at an absurd speed."
"That might have been considered smart once upon a time, but I assure you it's silly and childish today. Call me stuffy and prudish if you like. But I don't relish dying quite yet."

"Nor do I want to get in one of those accidents where I am just hurt. I have sense enough to realize that you and the rest of the boys wouldn't be ringing my phone if my face and body were ineptly rearranged by a smash-up in your automobile."
"So I don't think I'll go out with you again, Bill. At least not until you've grown up enough to behave decently as a driver, and not until you realize that you owe a certain responsibility to the person you ask to share your car with you."

CARE TODAY ★ HERE TOMORROW

Dry-fly or wet-fly, trolling, bait-casting or still-fishing—whatever kind of fishing you favor, there's sport for you in the streams and lakes of Michigan.

THERE'S A BIG ONE CALLING YOU!

THE fighting fish of Michigan are waiting hungrily for their annual tussle at the other end of your line. With five thousand miles of rivers and streams where brook trout, browns and rainbows are jumping—five thousand inland lakes, teeming with bass, lake trout, pike, walleyes and "muskies"—is it any wonder that Michigan tops every other state in the number of fishing licenses?

In the past year, millions of fish, many of them of legal size, have been placed in Michigan waters by the state hatcheries and feeding ponds. A splendid system of state highways leads to the lakes and rivers and the deep-water fishing grounds, offshore. And all Michigan is dotted with hotels and camps for the comfort of anglers. Telephone ahead for reservations, boats, guides or information. Then pack up your tackle and go where the fish are calling!

Do you know the flavor of fresh-caught Michigan trout, crisped and browned over a camp-fire? These are browns and rainbows, taken in Boardman River.
