Cherry Festival Next Week

TRAVERSE CITY TO BE MECCA OF THOUSANDS AT NATIONAL EVENT

Plans for the three day National Cherry Festival program at Traverse City, have been completed so that there will not be a dull moment there July 16, 17 and 18. Several new features have been added to the program this year, including a cherry recipe cooking school, where some of the outstanding young pie bakers of the Grand Traverse Bay Region will demonstrate their skill to the thousands who attend the Festival.

In addition to the cooking demonstration a pie baking contest will be held, with the winning pie auctioned off for benefit of the 4-H Club camp fund.

Important in the first day's program is the Pan American breakfast honoring Senor Rodolfo Michels, Chilean Ambassador to the United States, father of Queen Cristina Michels, who will accompany his daughter to the Festival. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, a member of the important Foreign Relations Committee of the U. S. Senate, will present Ambassador Michels.

In the evening there will be a public reception for the Queen and her court at which time the two ladies in waiting to the Queen will be introduced on the Park Place terrace.

The National Broadcasting Company will broadcast over a coast-to-coast network the sending off to market of the first train load of fruit from the new crop Thursday morning with Queen Cristina at the throttle. A feature of the Thursday afternoon program will be a concert of South American music by the All-American College Orchestra of the National Music Camp, honoring Senora Michels, wife of the Chilean Ambassador and mother of the Queen.

Thursday evening the coronation ceremony will be followed by an address of international importance by Ambassador Michels on Hemispheric Solidarity. This will be followed by the Queen's Ball at the Country Club with Bill Sawyer providing the music.

Two parades feature the Friday program, the Grand Floral parade at 1 o'clock and the Mummies' parade, following which Smilin' Ed McConnell of radio fame will be crowned King of the Mummies, in the evening. The three day fete will close with an elaborate fireworks display over Grand Traverse Bay.

Following is the preliminary detailed program, subject to slight change and does not include band concerts and street entertainment:

Ram Truck To Visit Counties In Northern Michigan

The Michigan Pure Bred Sheep Breeder's Association and the Extension Service will next October operate the ram truck in northern counties as far as the straits. The schedule will include counties that request the service or at least those in which four or five rams can be sold.

Good rugged, well-grown, good type, registered rams, yearlings and older will be carried. Only animals capable of immediate use will be sold. Particular effort will be made to have a generous supply of 3-4 year olds. The animals will be priced mostly at $35.00 for yearlings and somewhat less for older rams. Rams offered for trade should stay in the county and will not be accepted by the truck.

The probable schedule will start in Cheboygan County to allow the upper peninsula an opportunity for selection. As the truck moves south necessary replacements will be brought from down state.

If the ram truck makes a stop in Charlevoix County it will be necessary to have 4 or 5 orders on file at the county agent's office before the schedule can be made. If you are in need of a new ram this will be an excellent opportunity to buy just what you want and at the price you want to pay.

B. C. Mellencamp,
County Agr'l Agent.

Vacation Specials At The Temple

The new week at the Temple is highlighted with drama and made gay with comedy in a perfect blend of entertainment moods. Frank Capra's current hit "Meet John Doe" winds up the schedule that sparkles with such names as Gary Cooper, Joan Crawford, Leon Errol, Charles Winninger, Melvyn Douglas and Barbara Stanwyck. The presentation sequence is listed below:

Saturday only: Lupe Velez and Leon Errol in "Mexican Spitfire Out West."

Sun., Mon.: Joan Crawford and Melvyn Douglas in "A Woman's Face."

Tues., Wed. (Family Nites): Robert Sterling and Charles Winninger in "The Get Away."

Thur., Fri.: Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck in "Meet John Doe."

ELMIRA BOYS ORGANIZE CALF CLUB

The organization of a Calf Club at Elmira including boys and girls in Warner township has been completed. At a recent meeting Walter Purrol was elected President, Ted Kucharek, Vice-President, and Harry Manglos, Secretary-Treasurer. This is the first livestock club ever to be organized in this section of the county. All the members are getting their calves in readiness for the 4-H Livestock roundup to be held at Bellaire on Tuesday, August 12.

Petitions Acknowledged By Senator Vandenberg; Congressman Bradley

Petitions signed by East Jordan residents requesting congressional legislation for protection of health, moral and spiritual welfare in our Army camps are acknowledged as follows:—

Mrs. Maggie Rogers, East Jordan, Michigan.
My dear Friend:

Your name heads a petition which I have just received. I trust that this reply to you may be considered an answer to all who have joined you in this message.

I shall be very glad to present your petition on the Floor of the Senate.

There are some phases of H. R. 2475 and S-860 which will probably require constructive correction. But in a general way I can assure you that I am in complete agreement with your earnest demand for the adequate protection of health, moral and spiritual welfare in our Army camps.

You may depend upon my interest and activity accordingly.

Cordially and faithfully,
Arthur H. Vandenberg.

Mrs. Maggie Rogers, East Jordan, Michigan.
Dear Mrs. Rogers:

I acknowledge with thanks the petition submitted by you and signed by East Jordan citizens favoring legislation designed to banish immoral establishments near defense camps.

Any legislation presented to the Floor making such provisions shall receive my support.

Very sincerely yours,
Fred Bradley, M. C.

MARRIAGE

Sutton — Mills

The marriage of Miss Ethel Sutton of Central Lake and John Mills of Mancelona was performed by Judge William Severance at his home in Bellaire, Thursday, July 8.

Milner — Mahn

Miss Hazel Milner of Grand Ledge and John M. Mahn of Lansing were united in marriage at the Methodist Parsonage, Saturday, July 5, Rev. J. C. Mathews officiating.

Smith — Malone

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Conway announce the marriage of their daughter, Harriet C. Smith, to Frank M. Malone at Kalamazoo, Tuesday, July first.

Gunther — Cihak

The marriage of Mrs. Julia Gunther and Louis Cihak, Sr., was performed at the home of the bride's brother, Thomas Jensen, Wednesday afternoon, July 2 at 5 o'clock. Elder C. H. McKinnon of the L.D.S. church read the double ring service before a bank of flowers.

The bride's daughter Elaine, and Dairy Nielsen, acted as ring-bearers, carrying the rings on pillows of white rose buds.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Tom Jensen, was gowned in a navy blue French silk crepe, street length dress with white accessories. Her bouquet was of white carnations. Miss Emily Gunther acted as her mother's bridesmaid and was dressed in light blue and white silk romans, her flowers were pink rose buds and white carnations. The groom was attended by Elmer Poole, Jr., of Charlevoix.

A three course chicken dinner was served the bridal party, with a three-tiered pink and white wedding cake forming the centerpiece.

The bridal couple left on a ten-day trip and will visit the groom's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wallie Goodhart at Buffalo, N. Y. They will also visit at Niagara Falls, New York City, Chicago, Grand Rapids and Detroit. On returning they will reside in the apartment in the rear of the A-G Store where the bride has been in business the past several years.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hyatt of Detroit, Mrs. John Hall of Mancelona, Mrs. Gulick Jensen (mother of the bride), Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Cihak, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cihak, Jr., sons of the groom, and grandson Archibald, Roy Hulbert, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sloop and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Poole of Charlevoix.

Notice of Annual School Meeting

The Annual School Meeting of the East Jordan Rural Agricultural School District No. 2 will be held at the Central Grade Building in the City of East Jordan on Monday, July 14, 1941, at 8 o'clock p. m.

The following question will be submitted at the Annual Meeting:

"Shall the sum of $308.99 which was received by the school district during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1941, from delinquent debt service taxes and the further sum of $1491.01 which is now in the general fund, being a part of a sum of money transferred to such fund in prior years from delinquent debt service taxes, and now remaining unspent, be transferred to a special fund, a total of $1,800 being so transferred, to be used to pay interest on $56,000 in bonds on Oct. 15, 1941; April 15, 1942; Oct. 15, 1942?"

Also for the transaction of such other business as may lawfully come before the meeting.
JAMES GIDLEY,
Secretary.

DEFENSE BOND Quiz

Q. What is a U. S. Defense Savings Bond?

A. This Bond is proof that you have loaned to the United States Government for national defense. Your Bond bears interest at the rate of 2.9 percent a year, if held to maturity (ten years).

Q. Why should I buy Defense Bonds?

A. Because money talks. To dictators it speaks defiance. To friends of freedom, it says, "Here's my hand!"

Note—To purchase Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office or bank, or write for information to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

'Scorched Earth' and Guerrilla Fighting Is Soviet Answer to German Thrust; Revenue Bill for Defense Spending Provides Many Additional New Taxes

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

This is the scene in the Brooklyn (N. Y.) federal court as 25 members of the huge spy ring were arraigned by the government. Called "one of the most active, extensive and vicious" spy rings in the nation's history, 26 men and 3 women were arrested throughout the country. Most of them were of German descent. They were charged with transmitting vital defense information to a foreign government. Three men in foreground are lawyers.

ORDEAL:
By Communiques

Following the first couple of weeks of the Russo-German war some wag of the airwaves referred to the conflict as an ordeal—for the public—by communiques.

In the absence of any possible direct war correspondence, that is exactly what it developed into, ever-lengthening communiques by both sides, so much at variance that the public could do little but guess.

As the German columns advanced Premier Josef Stalin urged upon his people a policy of "scorched earth" to be coupled with universal guerrilla warfare. He warned of the "grave danger" of the Nazi successes and acknowledged the forward movement of German troops. He asked his people to destroy everything that might be of value to Germany if it could not be saved behind the retreating Soviet columns.

Only at certain points did the reports of the two high commands coincide, and these were so exceptional that they were more to be honored by their absence than their presence.

Speaking of an important town on the southern front, the Germans said, "We captured Lwow," and the Russians said, "We left Lwow." And even in that point of coincidence there was a variance which left much to guesswork.

Yet from the very names of places it was possible to take a map and see a picture of the German plan emerging, though it was impossible by the same token to picture the Russian defense.

The picture was that of a giant clutching hand, with the wrist to the north and the fingers outstretched—though which way the joints of the fingers would flex themselves could not be foreseen.

Three fingers were stretching toward Moscow and Leningrad, and two were extending southward into the rich Ukraine. Two or three of these five shafts showed signs that they might form pincer movements, snipping off and surrounding bodies of Red troops here and there along the battlefield.

Already the Germans had claimed one such success east of Bialystok, stating that 100,000 Russian soldiers had participated in a mass surrender, and that everywhere the Russians were on the run.

The Red communiques stated that their lines were holding intact, and that at some points the Russians were fighting far behind the most outstretched German points, and that some of these actions might work out badly for the invaders.

Yet, military observers pointed out, such occurrences were of the very nature of the Nazi blitz technique, and that in France, in Greece and on other fronts, including the town of Tobruk in northern Africa, groups of defending troops often were left behind in the swift advance, later to be encircled.

The Greek army of the east was trapped in just such a way, and though it held out and fought for considerable time, it was forced to surrender in the end.

It was impossible, however, to see just what the Russians were accomplishing in their defense, for the "town name" reports showed continued German advances, and the capture en route of important points.

Riga, Latvia, an important Russian naval base, was reported taken; Minsk, the so-called gateway to Moscow, was said to be surrounded; and one of the Nazi "fingers" had shot past Minsk on the north to Smolensk, and on the south to the Bobruisk sector, thus tending to bear out the German contention that Minsk, if not already taken, was doomed. Also that the Nazi legions could be said, at least technically, to be two-thirds of the way from their starting point to the capital of the Soviet.

TAXES:
And Spending

The tax structure by which the congress intends to raise additional revenue to the tune of $3,500,000,000 during the coming fiscal year was practically complete.

In addition to the huge amount expected from the new income tax structure, the congress tax-makers had agreed that business would have to yield about $1,380,000,000 more than the $3,000,000,000 it is now raising.

Excise taxes were to be increased by a 10 per cent tax on electric fans, cooking appliances and similar articles; a 10 per cent tax on rubber products not including footwear and auto tires or tubes, which are on other tax schedules; 10 per cent on electrical and metal signs; 10 per cent on washing machines for commercial laundries; one-sixth of a cent a bottle on soft drinks (4 cents a case); 10 per cent on retail furs; another 10 on toilet preparations; a "use" tax on vending machines that pay off in tokens; $5 for vending machines which dispense articles; 10 per cent on optical instruments other than eyeglasses; 10 per cent on office and store machines.

Thus the boil-down of the tax structure was this:

Excise taxes (like the above) $867,000,000.
Income levies including excess profits, $2,468,500,000.
Estate and gift taxes $113,700,000.
Giving a total of close to the $3,500,000,000 sought.

This enabled the public to get a generalized sort of picture of what is coming to the American way of life, at least from a tax standpoint during the next tax year.

SHOCK:
To British

Scarcely less shocking to the British than the arrival of Hess on Scottish soil was the news that Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell had been relieved of his command in Africa and the Middle East.

General Wavell had been Britain's Number One hero, the only man who had won for the British an important victory and one which challenged the imagination.

Wavell's men had driven through Cyrenaica and had taken it away from the Italians, capturing more than 100,000 prisoners on the way.

True, the Nazis had come across the Mediterranean and had taken all this territory away from him, including the trapping of a number of thousand of the Wavell troops.

It also was true that there had been a good deal of criticism of Wavell at this time. It also was being remembered that he had been given at least a part of the responsibility for the disaster in Greece and Crete.

Although the war ministry simply recounted that Wavell had been transferred to the high command in India and that his place had been taken by Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, a Scotsman, the general feeling in Britain was that it was a shocking demotion.

This notwithstanding the war ministry let out the rumor that perhaps Wavell was being given a more important task, the preparation of the defense of India should the Russian resistance collapse and find the Nazis blitzing in that direction.

MILLIONS:
Get Deferment

Just as all youths who reached their majority since last registration day walked to their local boards to register, a 30-day deferment was granted to all draftees over 27 years old.

This was frankly a measure to keep them out of the armed forces until congress could pass an amendment to the selective service act exempting them.

Army Tour

No shot is too tough for the veteran billiard champion Willie Hoppe (right), who is setting up a difficult arrangement on the wing of a giant bomber when he and Welker Cochran visited a San Diego, Calif., plane plant. Hoppe is starting a tour of army camps soon as a part of the war department recreation program.

PLANES:
A Slowdown?

Observers on the economic and defense production fronts in this country seemed skeptical of the OPM outlook that "grand mass-production" of medium and heavy bombers would be under way early in 1942.

The OPM plan calls for the auto makers to build airplanes in a number of small sections, like wings, fuselages and tails, etc., and ship these sections to large assembly plants in Omaha, Kansas City and Fort Worth and Tulsa, where they will be put together in assembly-line fashion.

That was the motor industry's answer to large-scale production of bombers.

Now those who feel that this objective will not be reached until some time in 1943 point out how the aluminum shortage can possibly play hob with the best laid plans.

They say that when a plane weighs 10,000 pounds, it actually takes 13,600 pounds of ingot aluminum to do the job because of the weight loss through scraps.

These scraps cannot be melted down into airplane metal again because of the number of different alloys required.

The observers who feel that OPM is being too optimistic also point out that the scrap losses under the automotive plan of plane building are likely to be more than in regular plane factories, where the workers have more experience and will make fewer mistakes.

They also feel it is going to be a huge problem for the big plane manufacturers to operate in cities as far distant from each other as Baltimore and Omaha, for instance, and still maintain a cohesive and clever organization.

However, present plane production, gloomy as this outlook might be, took a step upward when North American Aviation got back to its scheduled 10 planes a day, and the 1,500 soldiers who had been stationed near the plant were sent away to more distant points.

The wage structure finally decided upon turned out to be 60 cents for beginners for the first three months and then 75 cents minimum after that point, and on up to $1.50 an hour for more skilled workers.

KNOX:
And His Speech

Secretary of Navy Knox, in his Boston address, stirred up an outbreak on congress which threatened to bring out an impeachment resolution and found administration supporters reportedly working under cover to prevent this outcome.

In the address the navy secretary hinted that "the time had come" for the navy actively to sweep the German menace from the seas, and spoke of the Russo-German war, occupying Nazi attention, as a "God-given opportunity" to insure the arrival of lease-lend aid to Britain.

Leading non-interventionists, headed by Senator Wheeler of Montana, leaped on this speech with all their power, declaring that the navy secretary was stepping beyond his powers and seeking to get President Roosevelt to order a "shooting war" between the navy and the German submarines and surface raiders.

The question, when immediately put to President Roosevelt brought from him a denial that he thought American participation was necessary at this time, and holding out continued hope that this country could remain out of the war.

Another Question

Tied into it all was a question of fact, for Senator Wheeler had reported rumors that an actual incident or two of the sinking of German ships of war by American naval vessels had been circulating.

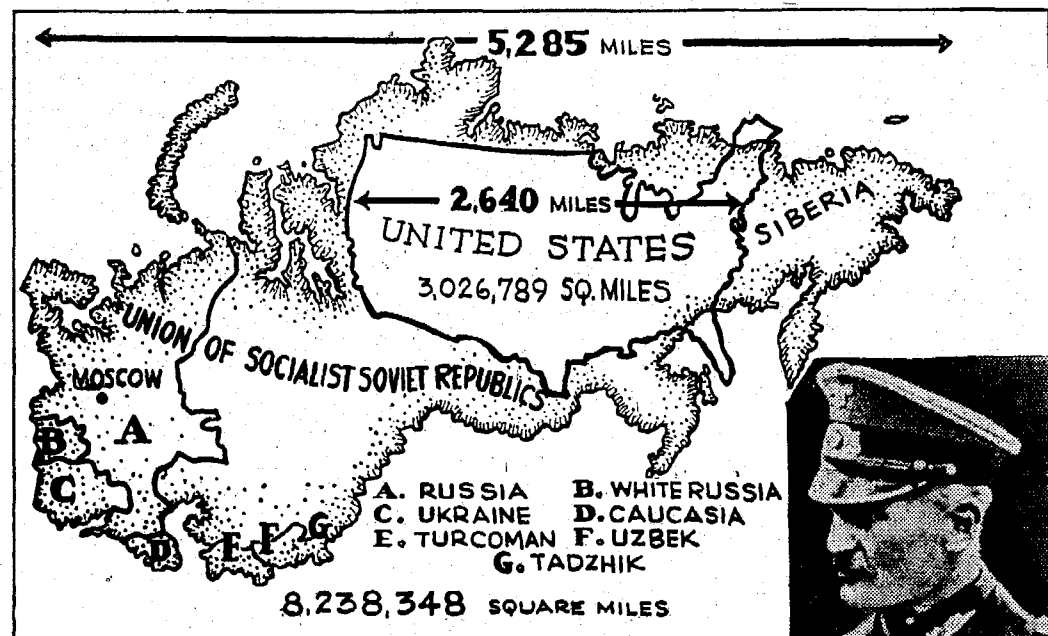

To this, on the following day, Secretary Knox flatly issued a sharp denial. He said that no American vessels on Atlantic patrols had engaged in convoying, had become involved in combat, had suffered any loss of life in their crews, or any loss of equipment.

British Ambassador Inspects Liberty Bell

Lord Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, and his wife are shown examining the Liberty Bell in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, Pa. The bell, which cracked in 1835 while being rung for the death of John Marshall, was tolled on July 4, 1776, on the proclamation of the Declaration of Independence.

'Ash Trays' of War

Once ash trays and fountain pens were made in this London factory. Now King George finds it is making parts of field telephones, seats for fighter planes, etc. Thus is industry being adapted to war effort. The king enjoys a joke as he examines some of the equipment.

'Foul' Practice

Practicing to avoid low blows, Al Davis tied trousers to his punching bag while training for return bout with Fritzie Zivic. Davis was banned for roughhouse tactics in previous bout with Zivic, but reinstated, and given army leave of absence for the bout.

Russian Help Welcomed Despite Communist Bogy

Problem of Defeating Hitler Held Paramount; Dykstra Returns to Wisconsin University; Train 1,520,000 Defense Workers.

By BAUKHAGE
National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—It was one of those Washington mornings when the clouded sky above lets in the damp, heavy heat and an aching glare on wall and pavement even though it shuts out the sun itself. The German armies were smashing through Poland and into the Ukraine. With the Luftwaffe roaring eastward for a change, British bombers were blackening skies and shaking the earth of northern France and industrial Germany.

A British military and economic mission, we knew, was sitting down with the Soviet leaders in Moscow, offering them utmost aid in their fight against Germany.

The papers were crying over a drop in American airplane production, still reporting strikes in defense industries and, very casually, at his press conference, the President had announced that the United States would aid the Soviets as much as possible.

Later, I sat in the office of a perturbed government official.

"How," I asked, "can you reconcile to the American people the anti-Communist feeling in this country and aid to Russia?"

He paused and looked out over streets, black with staggered shift of government workers on their way home—in another hour there would be another echelon of hurrying men and women, in another hour, another—recruits in the army of defense.

Americans Dislike Communism.

Finally, he spoke: "Of course," he answered, "that is the problem we have to face. We know that most Americans feel as unsympathetic towards Communism as they do toward Nazism. And the subversive activities of the Communists in this country have aroused strong hatred against Moscow. Our attitude on that score has been plainly stated."

Then my friend quoted the statement made by Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, shortly after Hitler's speech declaring war against Russia.

Mr. Welles had stated: "...doctrines of Communistic dictatorship are as intolerable and as alien to our own beliefs as are the principles of the Nazi dictatorship... but the immediate issue that presents itself to the people of the United States is whether the plan for universal conquest... which Hitler is now desperately trying to carry out, is to be successfully halted or defeated."

Then the man across the desk from me said: "In other words, when your wagon gets stuck in the mud, you don't look too closely at the man who helps pull you out."

What the government would like, I suggested, would be to have the Nazi gingham dog and the red calico cat eat each other up.

"Perhaps," he laughed, "that would be the best solution. But it isn't as simple as that. The pup seems to have so much stronger jaws, in this case, that we believe it might be wise to furnish the cat with an extra claw or two."

The trouble, I suggested, is selling that idea to the American people. He agreed; but he added that there were certain things which ought to be understood in regard to subversive Communist activities in this country.

Subversive Activities Overestimated. "Let's take for granted," he said, "that we would have nothing to do, if we could help it, with the fellow who is helping us pull our wagon out of the mud. But we do want to get the wagon out, so there isn't much choice."

"Now, as things are today, a Communist is not likely to do as much harm as we may fear," the official went on. "There are three reasons for this statement: In the first place the government has subversive activities under much better control than is generally known."

"In the second place, pressure is now being brought to bear effectively on the labor unions to promptly remove all members of any subversive organizations from their memberships."

"Thirdly, in all probability, now that Russia needs our help, the Party line will probably order any obstruction of the American defense program to cease. Communist leaders here have already indicated that this is their new program.

"And then, it can be definitely stated that the Communist situation in this country has never been as bad as certain publicity-seeking gentlemen have painted it," the government officials seated across the desk concluded.

Dykstra Returns To Wisconsin University

C. A. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin, has gone back to his campus and his cloistered halls beside that shining lake in the Middle West. He did a historic job here in Washington, as director of the Selective Service system and first head of the National Defense Mediation board, two great jobs that required all, as Stevenson put it, that a man has of fortitude and delicacy.

Mr. Dykstra, as readers of this column know, did not get his knowledge of men and government solely from books. He was a successful city manager of Cincinnati, he held positions of civic responsibility in Cleveland, Chicago, and Los Angeles. But he was chosen to head the draft because of his deep and sympathetic understanding of American youth. When he left Washington, I asked Mr. Dykstra for an exclusive two-paragraph valedictory, just for the Western Newspaper Union readers. This is what he said about his experience as head of selective service:

"My experience with selective service convinced me that the young men of America are neither soft nor indifferent. They can be counted upon to give a good account of themselves. Moreover, public acceptance of selective service has proved to be much more favorable than was anticipated."

Dykstra is an optimist, but not one who can't see the hole as well as the doughnut.

"My experience on the Mediation board," he told me, "makes me optimistic that labor and management are developing a better understanding and a more co-operative approach to a developing industrial jurisprudence. On the whole there has been a minimum of recalcitrancy on both sides. The appointment of Davis is absolutely right."

Train Workers For Defense Industry

One record of achievement in the defense program has come out over a hundred per cent better than promised, and you hear very little about it. Much of the credit goes to a little, dynamic man, from out where the tall corn grows.

He is John Studebaker of Iowa, commissioner of education, and he is the drive behind the federal program of training for defense industries.

Commissioner Studebaker promised congress last October that the vocational training groups of the nation would produce 700,000 workers trained for service at lathe or bench by June 30, 1941. He now reports that 1,520,000 have actually been trained. Moreover, although the one-third more than the regular program was undertaken, the cost of the Washington end was only about 1 per cent, and less money was used for the entire project than congress had originally appropriated—an achievement in these days!

The average cost of training, per man hour, was 21 cents, and 97 per cent of the total amount of money spent in the training was spent in the local community. That was part of the Studebaker idea—keeping the training decentralized—using the local schools, shops, equipment and teaching force—leaving the running of the program to labor, industry, and the local school officials. This not only proved efficient but it served to bring labor and industry together on a thousand advisory committees which were formed all over the country. Labor and industry each furnished 3,500 members of these committees. The rest were made up of consultants. Five hundred systems provided the machinery to carry out this task, and they worked 24 hours a day to do it.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

CHRISTIANITY EXPANDS IN ASIA

LESSON TEXT—Acts 19:8-10, 23-32. GOLDEN TEXT—So mightily grew the word of God and prevailed.—Acts 19:20.

War is the order of the day, and much as we may regret it the life of every one of us is affected by its feverish touch. Certainly no Christian has any pleasure in the violent hatreds of wicked men, and can only pray that somehow a righteous peace may come to this troubled world.

There is a warfare, however, which we do seek to foster and promote. We encourage it, and as Christians make a holy resolve to battle to the end. That is the warfare against Satan and his hosts. As long as he rules in the hearts of men, and sin and wickedness are here, we say, "Fight on, my soul." Christian life and service are presented in Scripture as a fight. We do well to learn the methods and the weapons of this great spiritual conflict; not stressing a belligerent note of strife against one another, and particularly not between the divisions of God's army in the earth, but standing shoulder to shoulder in the battle against the Evil One.

I. Attack for God (vv. 8-10). The vigorous prosecution of a strong attack on the enemy's position is good military strategy, and good spiritual warfare. The command of God is "Forward!" and His forces are not to hinder their effectiveness by weak indecision or fear. Paul sets us an example in his

1. Bold Preaching (vv. 8, 9a). Paul had met some disciples (19:1-8) who knew only the baptism of John and did not have the Holy Spirit. Dr. Erdman rightly says that "there are many more like these twelve 'disciples' in the pews of Christian churches. They are sincere men, they hate their sins, they believe in the teachings of Jesus, they admire the Sermon on the Mount, they yearn for the highest and best things, but they lack spiritual power. Why? Because they are 'disciples of John,' they have not fixed their hearts and their hopes upon a divine, risen, glorified Christ; they do not know 'the grace of God.'" When, however, they learn the full gospel and yield themselves to Christ, they are not merely baptized with water, but also the Holy Spirit."

2. Careful Teaching (vv. 9b, 10). Three months of such preaching brought many converts, but there were also "hardened and disobedient" men whose opposition caused Paul to withdraw the disciples (learners) to the privacy of a lecture room for thorough instruction in Christian doctrine, a sort of Bible Institute of Ephesus. The church has largely failed in its teaching ministry and has thus weakened its effectiveness against the enemy. To be strong workers for the Lord, Christians must know the doctrines of the Bible.

II. Counter Attack by Satan (vv. 23-32).

The enemy of our souls is often content to let us go on in comparative peace as long as we do not bother him unduly, but once we put up the banner of a holy life and service in God's army, he begins a terrific counter attack. Paul had felt it already in the hardening of listeners' hearts (v. 8), but now it began in dead earnest.

1. By Selfish Opposition (vv. 23-27). One way to bring a violent reaction against spiritual truth is to let it interfere with business. Demetrius and his fellow silversmiths professed to be concerned about the threatened destruction of the heathen worship of Diana (and what a fine testimony that was to the effectiveness of Paul's preaching!), but in reality they were worried about the loss of their ungodly business in charms (vv. 25-27).

Many of the enemies of the gospel in our time are fighting against God's Word because they are in a business which is condemned by it. They know that every time a new convert is won to Christ they lose a customer and it troubles them. Reader, if you are in that kind of business, get out of it quick before God's judgment falls upon you.

2. Senseless Tumult (vv. 28-32). Knowing that their opposition was without true foundation, they inspired and agitated a wild demonstration. Is it not astonishing how many thoughtless and foolish people there are in the world who will senselessly follow the lead of someone who opposes God? Shouting a slogan which had no real meaning, they lent their voices to the tumultuous agitation against God. Finally, one sensible man, fearing the punishment of city officials, quieted them. The Ephesians were just like many in our day who fear man more than God. But, may we ask, if you fear the judgment of men, how think you to escape the judgment of God? After all, it is God and His Word you oppose, unconverted friend. Do you think He will hold you guiltless?

Perhaps His Neighbors Were Only Keeping Time

Wilkes had a serious complaint to make to his landlord.

"It's the people in the flat above me!" he stormed. "They won't give me a minute's peace. This morning at one o'clock they were jumping up and down on the floor as hard as they could. I won't put up with such behavior. It's an outrage!"

The landlord looked sympathetic.

"They woke you up, I presume?" he inquired.

The victim shook his head.

"No, I hadn't gone to bed."

"Ah! You were working late?"

"Yes, I was practicing on my saxophone!"

Signal Code
The International Code of Signals, adopted by all nations for marine communication in 1934, uses 40 flags, 26 alphabetical, 10 numeral, 3 substitute flags and an answering pennant, says Colliers. Although no more than four or five flags are usually hoisted at a time, at least 375,000 messages may be transmitted with them, all being visible through glasses, in clear weather, for a distance of five miles.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

When Mayor LaGuardia of New York city forgot about the farmer in drawing up the plans for civilian defense, department of agriculture officials immediately protested. As a result the farmer will have a chance with the rest of the civilians. Just remember the city folks had to get a cow for the Bronx zoo, just to prove to Gothamites milk doesn't come out of a tree like rubber.

All the tall tales don't come out of Washington. It is reported that in Montezuma, Ga., Mrs. Christine Baldwin planted some Paul Neyron roses last fall which bloomed heartily in the early spring. A short while later, according to the Hoschton (Ga.) News, she found the rose bushes were covered with blackberries. Can you beat that?

INSTALLMENT FIVE—The Story So Far

Kathleen Maguire is peeved. Her mother is giving a dinner for the Newsoms, whose son Laird is engaged to Shirley, her sister. Mrs. Newsom, however, would like him to marry Connie Mays, daughter of the town's richest man. Kathleen had been kissed by a young stranger who fixed a flat tire for her. He is a newspaper man out of a job. Her father is a happy-go-lucky editor and mayor of Covington. Tom, her brother, and his wife, Mary Etta, and the Newsoms arrive. Another brother, Alec, out of a job because of the depression, phones he won't come. Then, to cap the climax, the father brings the stranger, Ritchie Graham to the dinner. Kathleen is annoyed.

newspaper assignment I had? The one that made me finally decide to cut all holds. They wanted me, me as had thought I was a red-blood, he-man's reporter, to go out to a society horse show and report on the sort of riding breeches the local debutantes were wearing. Riding breeches! I ask you. Especially those belonging to the knock-kneed daughter of the local beer baron. He spends a million a year advertising. Get the picture? I wrote up the damned show. And I put in the beer baron's daughter, knock-knees and all. And I slipped it by the city editor's desk and got it printed just the way I wrote it. I called her the Pretzel-legged Princess of Suda. And then I jumped town before the earthquake.

Mike roared. It was exactly the sort of thing he might have done. Mike's laughter was always contagious. Everybody shared in his mirth. Everybody but Kathleen. She surveyed the young man beside her with disdainful eyes that were as red-brown as her rebellious curls.

"And so now you're touring the wide open spaces where a man can eyes and something new in the curve of her mouth. Something shy and uncertain of itself. Laura's heart gave an odd knock. And she leaned a little forward for a better view of the young man whom Mike had brought to dinner.

At first Laura had been inclined to think him too handsome, if anything. It had not been her experience that beauty in the male is always an asset. But on closer inspection she decided that Ritchie Graham did not take his good looks very seriously. He had a trick of drawing down the corners of his wide mouth in a derisive grin which no man ever acquired from practice before a mirror. She suspected he was vain of his principles than of his disturbing gray eyes. But they were disturbing. Laura glanced again at Kathleen. It came to the mother with a pang that her baby was growing up.

"It's only that she's so vulnerable," Laura excused herself.

Such an intense, inflammable, impulsive young thing. So completely at the mercy of her emotions.

"You work, don't you, Mrs. Maguire?"

Laura came to herself with a start. Belle Newsom had flung the question at Mary Etta with a supercilious smile. Laura suppressed a groan. It was like Belle Newsom to discover something to be hoity toity about. Tom went a little white. But Mary Etta accepted the challenge with enthusiasm. She always carried a chip on her shoulder and welcomed any opportunity to defend it.

"Yes, Mrs. Newsom," she said in her clear, high-strung voice. "I'm one of these working wives you hear so much about. My mother thought a woman's place was in the home. So she bore five children and washed and cooked and scrubbed and died at thirty-one because she was too tired to go on living. And my father married again, a young woman who hated us kids. So he let her push us out to take care of ourselves as soon as possible. I made up my mind then I'd never be submerged by any man."

Tom stared fixedly at his plate. "Of course," bridled Mrs. Newsom. "I've always said a man has no right to a wife he cannot afford."

She looked at Laird, who was gazing at Shirley. But Shirley's lovely reserved face did not change in expression.

Tom was looking at Mary Etta almost as if he hated her. Good heavens, thought Laura with a constricted heart, they mustn't say things like that to each other. Words leave wounds. Wounds which Laura feared neither of them would ever get over.

"I can understand a woman demanding more out of life than just a share in some man's possible failure," put in Laird suddenly. He smiled wryly. "I guess we men have a crust to expect women to hang around the edges of things, waiting for a guy who will probably in the end turn out to be just another crumb."

His mother gave him a fond smile. "Darling," she said indulgently, "if you are referring to the fact you haven't as yet made any startling progress toward a future, you must remember how young you are."

Jaird's clean-cut profile sharpened and his blue eyes looked a little haggard. "I'm old enough to hate being wretched," he muttered under his breath.

But Shirley heard. She did not lift her eyes. She could, however, see Laird's clenched hand quiver on the edge of the table beside her. It was no news to Shirley that Laird was goaded almost to the breaking point.

"It seems to me," announced Kathleen in dogmatic tones, "that if a woman has any sense she will pick her a desirable husband first and fall in love with him afterward."

Mike sniggered and Kathleen scowled at him.

"Is that how you intend to do it?" inquired Ritchie Graham with an amused laugh.

"Yes," said Kathleen thickly. "If you ask me, it's all phooey, this love racket and letting it make a screaming idiot of you. I'm sure I'd hate being some man's domestic slave. Just for the sake of a few kisses. They always seem to dry up after the honeymoon. Haven't you noticed? And then where are you? Sold! For a gob of romance. Only the romance has gone to seed or petered out or something. But you've got to go on slaving for friend husband, because it's a life sentence."

"Not necessarily," remarked Tom dryly, and looked at Mary Etta. "There's always Reno."

Laura felt as if the words had bruised her. But Mary Etta merely shrugged.

"Thank heaven," chuckled Mike. "I couldn't pay for a divorce if Laura wanted one. It's just another one of these newfangled gadgets you'll have to do without, old lady."

Star Dust

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

TESTING'S under way at Paramount for "For Whom the Bell Tolls"; Charles Laughton, Akim Tamiroff and Oscar Homolka have been considered for the role of "Pablo," but the burning question is—who'll play "Maria"? It calls for beauty, but even more for the ability to act.

We hear that Paulette Goddard heads the list of the girls to be tested; seems as if it would be a superb piece of miscasting if she got the part. Ingrid Bergman's our choice—and the author's.

Ginger Rogers has signed for three years more with RKO; she's been there for eight years. She did "Flying Down to Rio" then, and her dancing with Fred Astaire in that little number made them our leading dance team in pictures. She wisely insisted, at last, on acting as well, and worked up to "Kitty Foyle," which she didn't want to do, we hear, but which proved to be her greatest success. She's just finishing "Tom, Dick and Harry" now, and they say around the lot that it's a worthy successor to "Kitty Foyle."

Ginger Rogers

Orson Welles isn't making any announcements about his second picture for RKO Radio—he kept mum about "Citizen Kane" too, remember, and executives were pretty startled when they found out, too late, what it was all about and it looked as if they might have trouble if they released it. Instead of a trouble-maker, they had one of the best pictures of all time on their hands! Welles has admitted that he will write, produce and direct this new picture, and will star in it.

Joseph Pasternack, who guided Deanna Durbin through her successful screen career, has signed a contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer; it looks as if he might do for Kathryn Grayson what he did for Deanna.

Hollywood just didn't give a whoop about Victor Mature until he made a highly press-agented appearance in the New York stage success, "Lady in the Dark."

He doesn't act much in the play, just looks tall, dark and handsome. Now it's announced that two motion picture companies want him; one, Twentieth Century-Fox, has bought half his contract from Hal Roach and will feature him in two pictures a year. The first will be "Bowery Nightingale," co-starring with Alice Faye.

Old timers among the movie fans will remember Raymond Hatton; probably they'll also declare that "The Whispering Chorus," in which he starred for De Mille, was one of the best pictures ever made. Well, Hatton is working for his old boss again in "Reap the Wild Wind."

W. S. Van Dyke, the ace director, has been on active duty with the marine corps for the past year. Now he's returned to the Metro lot. And what do you suppose his first assignment will be? "The Female of the Species"—a long cry from the Marines!

Did you happen to hear "Man on the Street" on the "Manhattan at Midnight" radio show about a month ago? Within 24 hours after the sketch was presented five motion picture studios were after it. Paramount won out; Bing Crosby and Mary Martin will co-star. They've just completed "Birth of the Blues," with Carolyn Lee and Brian Donlevy.

People who've heard Bob Hope rave on the radio about Madeleine Carroll have decided that he must know her well enough to get autographed pictures of the blonde star for them. She's on location in the West Indies, so they've been pestering him for the photographs. He doesn't mind; he just got a lot of her pictures, autographed them with his own name, and had them mailed.

ODDS AND ENDS—Wayne Morris got leave from the Navy Department to finish "The Smiling Ghost" for Warner Bros. before he became an ensign. NBC is preparing a new series, "Boy Meets Band," for its singer-bandleader, Ted Steele, who used to be an NBC page boy. Though Bing Crosby can't read a note of music, the boys in John Scott Trotter's band say he's a swell conductor. Metro will push Marsha Hunt up the ladder as a result of her work in "Blossoms in the Dust." Service men who want to and can see Hollywood stars broadcasting should apply to Charles Posner of the United Service Organizations.

Isle of Martinique

Martinique, West Indies possession of France, is an island 385 square miles in area with a quarter of a million inhabitants—or an average of about 650 persons to the square mile. Much of the interior is devoid of human life because it cannot be cultivated, while more than one-fifth of the total number of inhabitants live in and around the capital and port, Fort de France.

Martinique is situated between Puerto Rico and Trinidad in the curving island chain that separates the Atlantic ocean from the Caribbean—just 1,260 miles from the Panama canal.

YOU ARE AN INFLUENTIAL PERSON

The merchant who advertises must treat you better than the merchant who does not. He must treat you as though you were the most influential person in town.

As a matter of cold fact you are. You hold the destiny of his business in your hands. He knows it. He shows it. And you benefit by good service, by courteous treatment, by good value—and by lower prices.

"Father's here," Kathleen whispered to her mother. "And—hang on for dear life—he brought a guest." Laura looked as if she were going to faint, so Kathleen added hastily, "But it's not so bad as it sounds. Alec isn't coming to dinner. He got caught with a flat tire or something and can't make it."

Laura did not say a word. But it seemed to Kathleen that for a moment her mother's face looked stricken. It was too bad of Alec. Kathleen's hands itched to get at her brother. She hadn't been sure that Laura knew how he was wasting his time. But mothers have an instinct. At least Laura had.

"Hello, everybody."
Mike stood on the threshold. He had changed into the white linen suit Laura had laid out for him and he looked as exuberant as a cowboy at his first rodeo. Kathleen was torn between resentment and admiration at the way he captured the citadel without even trying. No one could resist Mike's charm when it was hitting on all twelve cylinders.

He flattered Belle Newsom until her pudgy face lost its dour look. He gave Laura a grin that chased the little pucker which Alec had left between her eyes. He told Tom that business was undoubtedly on the upswing and for the first time Tom's thin brown face lost its strained grimace. Even Mary Etta's bristles relaxed when Mike assured her that she looked more like a black and white cat than ever. He slipped his arm around Shirley while he talked to Laird, and Shirley leaned against her father gratefully as if she needed steady. He complimented Blake Newsom on being one of the few men who had known when to come in out of the economic rain. Furious as she was with him, Kathleen had to grin at the way Mike simply wound them all up and made them dance to his tune.

"Isn't he priceless?" whispered Laura.

Kathleen nodded helplessly. Mike regarded her with a cocked eyebrow. He was perfectly well aware of her displeasure. But he also felt entirely equal to it. Kathleen never had been able to nurse a grievance against her father, and he knew it. Nevertheless she did not return the debonaire grin with which he approached her.

"Still sore, Kitz?"
She looked away because it was difficult to glower when Mike didn't want you to.

"Yes," she said shortly.

He chuckled. "He's a little bit of all right, that Graham."

"Says you!" snapped Kathleen, glaring across the room where Tom and Ritchie were enthusiastically condemning any big city as the most awful place on earth to live, while Mary Etta looked scornful.

"Personally," she observed, "I'd rather die of frazzled nerves from traffic jams than rust to death in a poky country town."
"Yes," said Tom, "you would. You and nine hundred thousand other speed and jazz maniacs."

Ritchie glanced from one to the other. "I could hear it if I never heard another street car," he admitted. "But then I just happen to prefer crickets to night club crooners. And I'm fed up with being elbowed. I'd even like to watch the moon rise once without being told by some flat-footed policeman to step on it."

And then Hulda announced that dinner was served. And Mike presented his arm to Mrs. Newsom with a flourish that brought a pleased simper to her pursed mouth. Kathleen realized that she was practically forced on Ritchie Graham for a dinner partner. He had until then ignored her. And even after they were seated at the table he continued his heated argument with Mary Etta. Kathleen had been prepared to squelch him the moment he opened his mouth. But it was a little unsettling when he appeared to have forgotten her existence.

She talked elaborately to Blake Newsom and fumed inwardly and wished she were less naggingly aware of the arrogant black head of the man to her left. It didn't help her temper any that the rest obviously found him attractive. Even Laura smiled when he told about being ordered to move on by a dumb traffic cop the day he stopped in St. Louis to view the Sphinx on the top of the civil courts building which he had driven four hundred miles to see.

"I tell you," he insisted, "the big city is death to individuality or initiative. Kids grow up warned to keep off the grass, forbidden to touch the flowers in the park, herded like cattle in pens on the way to the slaughterhouse. And at twenty or younger they develop into first class gangsters and thugs. My God, how can they help it?"

"Sixteen years ago," said Mike. "I told the editor of a Chicago newspaper he could take his old job and jump into the lake with it because I was done with being pulled about like a monkey on a chain." Ritchie gave him a frankly envious glance. "Do you know the last be his own man?" she observed in a low and decidedly acid voice.

Ritchie Graham regarded her through narrowed lazy gray eyes.

"I was touring," he amended.

Her heart missed a beat. "You don't mean you're settling here?"

"Why not? It's a nice little town. Small enough for a fellow to have a few honest-to-God friends, big enough not to starve to death looking for a restaurant. We bachelors have to eat, you know."

"You looked Dad up because I said I'd never see you again."

"You wrong me. A guy in New York gave me a letter to your father. He seemed to think Mike would be swell for what ails me. Sorry to prick the bubble of your conceit," he drawled.

"You are calling me conceited!" gasped Kathleen. She was conscious again of a devastating desire to puncture his abominable cocksureness. "Listen," she said passionately, "you may look like Clark Gable and maybe a thousand girls have told you so, but you don't register with me. You haven't from the first. And anyway," she added, "what could you do for a living here? Or are you rich as well as handsome and a lady killer?"

He flushed. "No, I'm not rich. And I'm not a lady killer. Believe it or not, women and I get along swell—apart. And my face is not my fortune. Thank God. If you must know, I'm free lancing. Doing a series of articles which I'll probably never sell. Doing them exactly as I please. And your father's giving me desk space in his office for a negligible sum and the stimulation of my society. I understand you come down every day to do the society column, so I'll be seeing you."

"I don't believe you'd be happy here," she said in a funny quivering voice.

"Don't you, Kathleen?"
Her name was like music on his lips. A wild sweet song that strained at her heart. A little blindly Kathleen turned away from the urgency of his eyes.

"No," she said very distinctly.

CHAPTER VII

At the other end of the table, Laura regarded her younger daughter. She thought Kathleen had never looked prettier. There was a flame in her cheeks and stars in her eyes.

CRISP, COOL SUMMER SALADS
(See Recipes Below.)

AT HOME TO SUMMER

In a recent poll, 37 per cent of the thousands of homemakers receiving questionnaires expressed a desire to be experts at salad making. 43 per cent wanted to know how to make food look glamorous.

This report gave me an idea. Salads, besides being healthful and givers of vim, vigor and vitality, offer a splendid opportunity for variety. They can be used as the appetizer or "starter" course, the main dish, a dessert, or they may accompany the dinner course.

So, besides giving you timely tips on the art of salad making, I'm going to explain literally dozens of ways in which you creators of daily menus can give "oomph" to your tasty dishes.

The characteristics of a good salad are simple and fairly easy to accomplish; namely, it should be well chilled before serving; have an attractive arrangement, and a pleasing color combination.

Salads in summer are as important as swimming or tennis or golf. They give an opportunity to add color and gaiety to the table.

Your choice of ingredients will depend upon what you have planned for your main course and dessert, provided your salad is to be a side dish or an appetizer.

There are many varieties of fruit salads. They are excellent by themselves or as an accompaniment to a main course of sea food or meat and a pastry or cake dessert.

Good to eat, wonderful to look at and substantial is this salad of orange slices and prunes, stuffed with cottage cheese. (See picture at top of column.)

*Orange Prune Cheese Salad.

On a bed of lettuce circle 10 to 12 orange slices. At the side arrange 3 cooked prunes which have been stuffed with cottage cheese. With a sharp knife peel oranges, removing all outer skin and inner membrane down to juicy meat. Cut in thin, even slices. California oranges, which are firm-meated and practically seedless, are excellent to use.

Serve with a sweet french dressing, made with lemon juice. With a hot bread and beverage, this salad makes a well-balanced home or party luncheon.

Sweet French Dressing.

- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 1/2 cup salad oil
- 1/2 cup red jelly or honey
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon paprika

Shake or blend well before serving. Makes 1 1/2 cups. Lemon juice gives this dressing just the flavor needed to make the orange, prune and cheese combination the perfect salad.

Keeping cool during summer months is a problem, solved most successfully by eating properly.

LYNN SAYS:

Don't be timid about putting your own personality into your salads. Here are some suggestions which may help you become famous for your salads.

Try: Fluting bananas by running the prongs of a fork lengthwise down a peeled banana, then slicing it crosswise.

Adding chopped, broken or whole walnut kernels to fruit, vegetable and meat salads.

Using fruit juices to thin mayonnaise and to mix with french dressing.

Adding a fruit gelatin, sliced or cut into glistening cubes, to a fruit salad.

Brightening the edges of lettuce leaves by dipping them in paprika, or adding chopped parsley to the edges of pineapples slices.

Adding a little lemon juice or vinegar to sweet cream for salad dressing—makes a quick substitute for sour cream.

Plenty of the protective foods, such as eggs, milk, fruits and vegetables—all excellent salad materials—should be eaten.

Japanese Potato Salad will really give a meal a lift! Easy to prepare, inexpensive, it may be used as a main dish, with a cold meat platter, or for additional variety so acceptable to the buffet table.

Japanese Potato Salad.

- 1 cup flaky, hot boiled rice
 - 1 medium to large potato, hot mashed
 - 4 hard cooked eggs
 - 3/4 cup french or boiled dressing
 - 2 tablespoons chopped sweet red pepper, or pimiento
 - 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
 - 1 tablespoon chopped onion
 - 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Mix rice, potato and two of the eggs, which have been sieved, into salad dressing. Chill. Just before serving, add remaining ingredients. Taste and add more seasoning if desired. Heap on lettuce, or serve without greens in a large bowl. Garnish with remaining eggs, sliced or sieved. Yield: 4 servings.

When the mercury soars skyward and appetites are on the wane, nothing tastes quite so good as a chilled, molded mixture of fresh vegetables or fruits, placed on a bed of crisp greens and garnished with a tart, taste-teasing dressing.

Lime Cucumber Salad.

- 1 package lime gelatin
- 1 1/2 cups hot water
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons scraped onion
- Dash of paprika
- 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
- 1 cucumber, diced

Dissolve gelatin in hot water, then add vinegar, salt, scraped onion and dash of paprika. Chill until beginning to thicken, then fold in chopped pimiento and diced cucumber. Chill until firm and serve on salad greens with a garnish of mayonnaise.

Since it's open season on salads, homemakers who like variety will be interested in several types of salad dressings. Here are two which will do much to bring out the full flavor of your tasty concoctions.

Thick French Dressing.

- 1 cup salad oil
- 1/2 cup vinegar
- 1 teaspoon mustard
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 3 teaspoons paprika
- 1 teaspoon gelatin

Mix dry ingredients; add oil and vinegar. Beat thoroughly. Put the gelatin in 1 tablespoon cold water and dissolve in 2 tablespoons boiling water. Cool; add dressing. Beat thoroughly about 15 minutes and allow to stand until a good emulsion is formed. Use fruit juice instead of vinegar for fruit salad. Use more paprika if a darker red is desired.

Egg Dressing.

- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/2 teaspoon celery salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 5 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 egg yolk
- 1/2 teaspoon mustard
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 cup salad oil
- 1 teaspoon salt

Mix ingredients and shake well. Add beaten egg yolk when ready to serve. Half lemon juice and vinegar may be used.

Dampness in Wallpaper.

QUESTION: We have no basement. Bricks of our fireplace are on a cement foundation four feet square and 18 inches in the ground. Moisture seeps up and dampens the wallpaper on either side of the fireplace opening. Before repapering, how can this be corrected?

ANSWER: As the fireplace is new, it is quite possible that the trouble will end when that mass of concrete has dried out. Continuous burning of a fire in the fireplace will speed up the drying. Oilcloth on the walls under the wallpaper should be one answer, but will not be necessary after the concrete and brickwork have dried out.

Finish for Cellar

QUESTION: I wish to finish off a cellar, and on the walls I plan to use white cement. Can you advise me as to what to use to tone the white cement to an ivory or cream? Can you also recommend some inexpensive finish for a cement floor?

ANSWER: Special mineral colors are used for coloring concrete walls, and the material is available in fairly large containers. You can get a prepared cement composition paint which is colored and will also act as a dampproofer. This can be obtained at most of the mason material yards. Casein paints are also used for the purpose. The least expensive method of finishing a basement floor is painting with special paint of either synthetic resin or with a rubber base. Asphalt tile makes an ideal floor covering for basement floors and is not very expensive. This should not be confused with linoleum.

A Building Plot

QUESTION: I am planning to build a four-room house on one floor. I have found a building plot at a very desirable location, but am afraid that it is mostly rock and will be expensive to excavate for a cellar, etc. Is it more expensive to cut through rock for a foundation? While I don't need a cellar, I am afraid of dampness in the floor. Is it possible to build a house without a cellar, that will not be damp?

ANSWER: It is more costly to cut through rock than to dig out the soil. Many small houses are now built without cellars. If a concrete floor is properly laid and the necessary precautions taken against dampness, you should have no trouble with dampness. The Portland Cement association will send you free bulletins on this subject. New York office at 347 Madison avenue; Chicago office at 33 West Grand avenue.

Damp Cellar Walls

QUESTION: The cement block walls of my basement are very damp during hot weather from condensation. I am advised that lining the room with insulating boards, leaving a one-inch dead air space, would overcome the trouble. Would there be enough dampness to cause rotting?

ANSWER: Condensation will be prevented by any kind of a lining to keep the air out of contact with the cold masonry. For protection against moisture, coat the masonry with hot tar or liquid asphalt before putting up the furring strips and insulating board. If there are leaks or seepage through the concrete block walls, these should first be made watertight by patching. Iron cement would be useful for this.

Cellar Floor

QUESTION: We wish to paint our new cellar floor for the first time, but before painting it we would like to know how to fill in the cracks that have shown up in it.

ANSWER: Widen the cracks with a cold chisel, making them at least one inch deep. The under part of a crack should be made as wide or wider than the surface. The edges should be made rough for the new cement to bond. Clean out all loose particles of sand and cement. Soak the interior surfaces of the cracks with water, then pack in hard with a stiff well-mixed mortar of one part portland cement and three parts clean sand. Keep damp for several days.

Wood Floor Over Concrete.

QUESTION: Would it be advisable to cover the cement floor of a basement with a wood floor?

ANSWER: That will be all right if you first cover the cement floor with a layer of waterproofing; for instance, a thickness of heavy waterproof felt stuck to the cement with tar or asphalt. The wood floor can then be laid, either on wood strips, or better yet, in a bed of asphalt cement, known as "mastic." An alternative would be asphalt tiles, laid on the cement in a bed of asphalt. These tiles can be had in colors. The job can be done by any experienced linoleum layer. Asphalt tiles are not to be confused with linoleum.

Woolknit Swim Suit Should Be Included in Vacation Plans

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

IT IS very evident that women are becoming increasingly impressed with the value of swimming for health and beauty. Not only do crowded beaches at seaside and lake resorts testify to the enthusiasm felt for water sports, but many inland towns have created attractive and pretentious modern swimming pools that offer infinite enjoyment to their communities. Then too, most private estates have picturesque swimming pools where guests may indulge in water sports.

Which all goes to show why smart bathing suits together with a goodly supply of beach togs and accessories have become a positive "must" in the plans for the summer vacation. As to this season's swim-suit fashions, they surpass all that has gone before in way of smart, versatile fabric, clever styling, eye-appeal in color and all the dramatic accents that add to the picture of Miss America as she takes off for a merry swim on a summer day.

Outstanding news in regard to current swim-suit trends is the strong revival of woolknits and woolknit fabric for both sculptured form-fitting types and that which is ultra chic this season—the suit that is cunningly dressmaker styled. New to the scene this summer is the jacquard woolknit suit such as is shown to the left in the illustration. Note the sleek front-paneled skirt in shadow plaid of brown and green on yellow. The back is cut very low for sun-tanning.

Bright red and white diagonal striped woolknit fabric makes the smart slenderizing princess (a favorite styling this season) bathing suit pictured to the right. The V-neckline is banded in the solid red knit, continued into cross straps at the back. Panties are separate so there is nothing to break the flattering smooth line of the suit.

Machine woolknits that look like handknits are also staging a big comeback in simple sculptured type such as adept swimmers love to wear. You will find handknit technique of heavy cable stitch in stunning colors, the stripe effects such as white with red or with navy being especially intriguing.

There is also a strong revival of wool jersey. These stress dressmaker styling which now is so pronounced throughout the entire swim suit program. Most of the jersey suits have practical zipper fastenings.

Designers are turning out perfectly charming suits dressmaker-fashioned in the manner of the Balmain type of waffle pique centered in the group. Note the coin dot banding. Dot trimmings are very smart this season.

Floral prints and various cotton weaves make front page fabric news for swim suits and beach togs. The more audacious the coloring, the more daring the patterning, the smarter! This is especially true of the gay and fascinating Hawaiian prints now so fashionable. The sarong drape skirt in exotic prints with bra top showing bare midriff, is a leading style. Novelty types are often styled with "grass skirts" inspired by Hawaiian native design. A lei necklace of flowers added, is the final glamour accent.

Bathing suits of elasticized fabric are to be had by the score. The newest thing in these types is two-color effects done in white with bright colored godets or inset vertical bands. Allover shirred lastique insures a sculptural figure fit. Bright applique of gorgeous flowers on white jersey is especially effective with a long matching beach cape. There are endless cunning dressmaker-styled gingham shantung and crinkled seersucker suits. In knits and lastiques girls love the suit that zips up the back from the waistline to give a perfect fit.

Chic Plus Glamour

In a blaze of glory, lovely neckwear comes into its own this season. Women of fashion are enthusiastically playing up the vogue with appreciation of what magic frothy, snowy lingerie touches perform in way of accentuating feminine charm. Fine lace insertion, tiny tucks, dainty lace edging and eyelet embroidery combine for sheer femininity in this dainty collar and cuff set designed for the new V-neckline. In fine permanent finish Swiss organdy famous for its washability, this set provides a practical way to add glamour to a simple frock.

Cool Summer Outfits Of All Black Are New

You can dress in all black from head to foot and still look cool and summery. This is the miracle style creators have wrought. Briefly outlined the plan is sheerest of sheer black frock, hat of black sheer, gloves of the lacy sort and black stockings so cobwebby sheer they are almost transparent.

The newest black sheer dresses are finished off with edgings of fine black lace. This use of black lace trims is being played up to the point of being recognized as a most important vogue. Not only are dress-up black sheer frocks feminized to a most fascinating degree with lace frilled at throat and sleeves, on pockets and here, there, and everywhere to add glamour but the movement has been taken up by milliners who either make the entire hat of lace or trim with it. Big brims edged with lace frills are one of the new and entrancing lace expressions.

Enormous Brims Versus

The 'Pretty' Little Hat

The problem is up to milady whether she will go hatted this summer in the flattering little frivolous flower concoctions she loves to wear or whether she will top her costume with a hat of enormous brim and look chic and sophisticated. Each type is attractive and the fashion-right way is to include both in this summer's wardrobe of hats.

AAA Workers To Hear Expert At Escanaba July 15

AAA committeemen and workers from all counties in Northern Michigan will attend a one-day meeting at Escanaba on July 15, according to Walter H. Henley, Chairman of the Charlevoix County AAA Committee.

Mr. Henley said that the early part of the meeting will be devoted to a discussion of the AAA "Food For Defense" Program and recent developments in the Agricultural situation. Progress made during the past year will be reviewed followed by an analysis of new provisions recently incorporated in the program. Dr. Robert H. Montgomery, Professor of Economics at the University of Texas and widely known authority on economics of world affairs, will speak as part of the afternoon program.

This is Dr. Montgomery's second visit to Michigan. Last year he appeared as part of a program sponsored by the AAA at Gaylord and Michigan State College. Many farmers who heard him then will be glad of the opportunity to attend his discussion at Escanaba. Dr. Montgomery is a very interesting and capable speaker, and committeemen are urged to bring their wives and friends to the meeting.

A similar meeting is being held at Michigan State College, East Lansing, on Wednesday, July 16.

Announce Queen's Court For Cherry Festival

Nine of northern Michigan's fairest young ladies have been selected to act as the court of honor to Queen Cristina Michels at the National Cherry Festival, Traverse City, July 16, 17 and 18. Two of the girls will be singled out to act as Ladies in Waiting to the queen, to be introduced at the public reception for her Majesty Queen Cristina, Wednesday evening, July 16.

The girls of the court are: Velma Angell of Alden, Margaret Cardinal of Cadillac, Margaret Taft of East Jordan, Mry Ellen Palmer of Frankfort, Lucille Campbell of Kalkaska, Virginia Lyon of Mancelona, Marianne Garland of Old Mission Peninsula, Virginia Dalton of Petoskey, and Barbara Fisher of Traverse City.

All of the girls already have spent some time in Traverse City being fitted for their coronation gowns, which they will wear both at the crowning of Queen Cristina and at the floral parade on the final day of the fete.

Queen Cristina has selected her own coronation dress, a Paris creation.

For Health and Fun—Swim!

This picture might have been taken at any one of a hundred attractive Michigan resorts. North or South, East or West, you'll find a welcome everywhere in Michigan.

EVERY boy and girl in Michigan should learn to swim. With thousands of lakes and hundreds of miles of sandy beaches, Michigan offers a matchless opportunity to swim and grow strong.

When you start on your vacation this summer, take along the bathing suits. Almost anywhere you go in Michigan there'll be a chance to swim in clear, cool water, and tan in the friendly sun.

You may have acquaintances near the place where you're going. They'll be glad to hear your voice on the telephone. You can call up, as so many people do, to find out the water temperature at the beach. And even when you're hundreds of miles away, you can keep in touch with home. It's only minutes away by telephone.

State Parks along the shores of the Great Lakes offer the bather smooth, firm beaches, many of them patrolled by life-guards.
