Frank LeMieux Found Drowned

WAS A SKILLED WOODSMAN IN THE PAST YEARS

Frank LeMieux, aged about 80 years, was found dead in the waters of the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix, about 6:00 a. m., Wednesday, near the bridge.

Chief of Police Simmons was summoned. He notified Coroner Stackus of Boyne City who came over and determined the cause of his death was drowning. The remains were taken to the Watson Funeral Parlors.

Mr. LeMieux was seen asleep on the bank just below the M-32 bridge about 10:00 p. m. Tuesday night. It is presumed that when he awoke he failed to realize where he was and stepped into about 4 1/2 feet of water.

Mr. LeMieux was the last of four brothers who, in the past, were known as skilled woodsmen who knew the art of handling the tools of their trade.

The report that another man was with Mr. LeMieux and also fell in the water is incorrect. The other man was near the waters edge on the East end of the bridge and, about 8:00 p. m., Tuesday, fell into the water. He was seen and promptly fished out.

Mrs. Frances A. Cihak Former Resident Here Dies At Grand Rapids

Mrs. Frances A. Cihak, former resident of East Jordan, passed away at her home in Grand Rapids, Sunday June 29, following a stroke.

She was the wife of James A. Cihak, who died in 1930.

Surviving are two sons — Edward and George. Also three sisters and two brothers.

Funeral services were held at the Sacred Heart Church, interment at Woodlawn Cemetery, Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Ingeborg Pederson Passed Away At Holly Thursday, July 17th

Mrs. Ingeborg Pederson, age 70 years, passed away at her home in Holly, Thursday, July 17, following an illness of two weeks from paralysis.

Her husband, Torval Pederson, well known former resident of this vicinity, preceded her in death, July 22, 1926. She was a member of the Lutheran Church.

She is survived by two daughters — Esther and Julia Pederson, of Holly.

Funeral services were held at Holly, Friday, conducted by Rev. Morock. The remains were brought to East Jordan where funeral services were held at the Watson Funeral Home Saturday afternoon. Burial was at Sunset Hill.

E. J. Garden Club Met With Mrs. John Porter Last Week Wednesday

The East Jordan Garden Club held their July meeting at the home of the President, Mrs. John Porter, Wednesday July 16th.

Mrs. Swoboda, having attended the State Federation of Garden Clubs held in Grand Rapids recently, gave a report of the lectures given including one G. R. Wright, Editor of House and Garden. She also told of the table decorations as a part of Garden Club activities.

1st. Vice President Mrs. Ray, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Davison of Charlevoix who gave an address on cacti. Mrs. Davison is a lover of the Cactus plants and has collected many as a hobby. Speaker stated there are 12,000 known varieties and 8,000 are named. Cacti grows in every state save three Maine New Hampshire, and Vermont and is used as food for both humans and stock. It also has medicinal value and the western Indians uses the fermented juice in religious ceremonies, cacti grows in Michigan in the area of Spring Lake.

Mrs. Porter, newly elected chairman of the State Lecture and Program committee, had on display programs from nearly every Club in the Federation. Also a small library containing books on Garden and Flower culture and flower and table arrangement. These books will be placed in the Public Library for the use of all flower lovers.

Following refreshments served by Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Bramer, the group enjoyed a social hour with Mrs. Porter in her yard and garden which is very attractively designed and beautiful at this season.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many acts of kindness extended at the funeral services of our beloved mother, Mrs. Ingeborg Pederson.

Farm Women's Week Starts July 27 At Mich. State College

The annual Farm Women's Week takes place July 27 to August 1 at the Michigan State College. This event will attract some 600 rural farm women who have participated in the extension program in all counties of the state. A most profitable and instructive week has been developed for these many home makers. During the week the ladies have the opportunity of selecting the type of subject matter that is of greatest interest to them.

In addition outstanding speakers from out of state will be in attendance and give the conference the benefit of their experience and observations. The climax comes on Friday when the Farmer's Day will be held. Delegates from this county include two women from East Jordan, Group No. 1; two women from South Arm; two from Evangeline, and four from Boyne City.

HONOR ROLL GIVES 210 AWARDS

Selections from 71 counties in Michigan name 210 4-H club members to a statewide project honor roll or to a more select list of 37 who receive $95 scholarships which can be applied in freshman work at Michigan State College.

Included in the awards announced by A. G. Kettunen, state club leader, is the selection of Charlevoix County. Harry Watson, East Jordan, 5th yr, Handicraft, Honor Roll. Glenn Trojaneck, East Jordan, Handicraft, Scholarship. Margaret Strehl, East Jordan, Complete Costume, Honor Roll. Betty Strehl, East Jordan, Clothing, Scholarship.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS MAKE PLANS FOR CLUB CAMP

The most enjoyable week of the entire year in respect to 4-H Club activity takes place on August 4 to 8 when the Gaylord Camp will be held in Gaylord. Delegates from this county include representatives from last winter's club program and those who are in the judging and demonstration team contest.

The entire week has been dedicated to the development of better citizenship and greater opportunities ahead for us.

In preparation of this week the dairy club members spent a day at Ellsworth last week in judging dairy cattle and from this group two delegates have been selected. Then this week Thursday, July 24 the annual county round-up will be held at Whiting Park where delegates will be selected to represent Charlevoix County from crops and canning judging. Also the demonstration teams will give their demonstrations and the winners awarded trips to the club camp.

A cordial invitation is extended to all club friends in the county to attend the round-up. A full day of activity has been planned and will include games in addition to the various club activities.

Drive To Gather Scrap Aluminum

AMERICAN LEGION IN CHARGE WITH BOY SCOUTS CO-OPERATING

The collection of scrap aluminum in East Jordan, and vicinity, to be made on July 26 in the interests of national defense, will be under the direction of Thos. St. Charles, Commander of Rebec Sweet Post, American Legion. It was announced this week. Mayor Healey will serve as co-chairman. The drive in the surrounding rural area will be made by farm organizations under the direction of B. C. Mellenkamp, county agent. The campaign will be carried on simultaneously by every other community of the United States in a gigantic effort to collect enough scrap aluminum to give us 2,000 more fighter planes.

Instructions for marketing the donated aluminum make clear that each community will learn within a short time exactly how much it contributed to the defense cause, both in weight and money value. The information will be sent to each community by the smelter, who will pay for it by a check made out to the National Scrap Aluminum Fund and deposited in a Federal bank.

The money will be used by the United States Government for civilian defense purposes.

Great care is to be taken in guarding the scrap collected here, according to Mr. St. Charles. As the OPM points out, scrap aluminum has a high value, and to dispose of it illegally is comparatively easy. Waste material dealers are being warned not to buy scrap aluminum from unauthorized persons while the campaign is in progress.

Col. Harold A. Furlong, administrator of the Michigan Council of Defense, warned everyone again this week not to give aluminum articles which would have to be replaced with something else.

"Give us only those things you can spare, preferably worn-out or discarded articles and utensils," Col. Furlong urged. "Bulky articles having only a small percentage of aluminum are of little value, for the labor of stripping the aluminum from the other materials is prohibitive in costs.

Col. Furlong cautioned campaign workers not to overlook hotels, restaurants and industrial plants as potential sources of large donations of scrap.

The bin in which this community aluminum contributions will be stored, will be the vacant lot next to Community Building the committee announces. It is expected that articles collected from farm homes on rural mail routes running out of East Jordan will be brought here and made a part of this community's collection.

Mrs. Rosella Hammond

Funeral services were held at the Methodist Church, Wednesday afternoon, for Mrs. Rosella Hammond who passed away at her home Monday morning, Rev. James Leitch officiated. Complete obituary will appear next week.

Dr. Olert Preaches Sunday

Dr. Fred Olert, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit, will preach at the Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning. The First Presbyterian Church is the oldest protestant church in Detroit, and is conspicuous in the religious life of the city. Mrs. Drapeau will sing.

Kalkaska Stops Our Juniors

AFTER EIGHT STRAIGHT WINS JUNIOR DROP GAME 5 - 3

The Kalkaska Independents, always a tough team to beat, stopped the local Juniors winning streak at eight straight there Sunday afternoon winning over the Jordanites 5 to 3.

Neuman, a lefthander and a newcomer to the local squad started on the mound for the locals with Crowell behind the plate. Somerville came in to relieve him in the 5th but the former is charged with the loss, the second of the year for the Juniors.

The locals went into the ninth without a single run but threatened the Kasky lead pushing across a trio of runs, two short of a tie and three of victory.

Neuman, Somerville, and Crowell worked for the losers as J. Stuck and Richardson toiled for the winners.

This Sunday the Jordanites are bringing to the West Side Ball Park one of the strongest teams in this section of the state in the appearance of the Big Rapids Independents, a team with a long string of victories over downstate ball clubs. This should be one of the finest games in Northern Michigan this summer. Manager James St. Arno Jr., has four pitchers eager for the assignment Sunday afternoon, Saxton, Somerville, and Cihak are righthanders ready for duty while Neuman is a portside. The game gets under way at 3:00 p. m.

Fishing Is Good On Six Mile Lake — Even Dog-Fish

A thrilling experience was had Tuesday evening at Jack Mar Shores on Six-Mile Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Beckert, owners, and a guest, Miss K. Rogan, suddenly decided to cast for some bass just before dark. The first cast made by Mr. Beckert brought in a three-pound bass. The eleventh cast, a two-pound bass, the fish were striking; the trio were excited; a big catch was in view. Suddenly the wind started and a bad storm looked possible so they decided to return the one-half mile to their dock. Miss Rogan was trolling in when Mr. Beckert said "Look at the beaver following us." At the same time Miss Rogan said "I have a strike." The beaver and the strike turned out to be their Scottie dog "Wags." She had swam the 1/2 mile and had been hooked in the leg with their plug. "Wags" was taken in the boat, the hooks removed and all slept well after this exciting experience.

DEFENSE BOND Quiz

Q. What happens if I suddenly need the money I put into a Defense Savings Bond?

A. You can cash your Bond at any time, after 60 days, for the full amount paid, plus any interest due you.

Q. Do many Bond owners cash their Bonds?

A. No. People want to help arm America against all attacks. In many cases, people are putting every cent they can spare into Defense Bonds and Stamps. Some are doing this by asking employers or banks to withhold part of their salaries in order to buy these Bonds or Stamps for them.

Note—To purchase Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office or bank, or write for information to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.

Grange Rally

A big grange Rally will be held at Whiting Park, Monday, July 28.

The following counties will be represented: — Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet, Kalkaska, Montmorency and Otsego.

A full program has been planned for everybody. Coffee will be furnished. Every granger should wear their badges.

All friends are cordially invited to attend and enjoy the day.

J. Lee Barrett, Detroit's convention go-getter and Southeastern Michigan Tourist Association executive, tells this story:

A month or so ago he was appointed by Governor Murray D. Van Wagener to be vice-chairman of a historical festival to be held next Friday, Saturday, and Sunday at Mackinac Island with Indians living in teepees along the beaches.

Now, "J. L. B." takes his responsibilities seriously. And when a clubwoman visited his office last week and inquired solicitously for the "low-down" as to what the festival "was all about," the tall and stately Mr. Barrett closed the office door and replied in a confidential low voice.

"This fact hasn't been announced yet, but the truth of the matter is that Governor Van Wagener is getting weary of things in general and has decided to give the state back to the Indians."

All of which merely illustrates, if any moral is needed, that we Americans haven't lost our sense of humor. "Yoo hoo" may yet save the nation!

An Asset to Defense

In the course of our occasional travels about Michigan we have been deeply impressed, time and again, with two things: (1) Michigan's varied resources such as copper, iron, salt, oil, gas, coal and timber, all vital to our present national defense; (2) Michigan's tremendous recreational resources.

All of us recognize, as a matter of course, the urgent need of copper and iron and other products to our present re-armament effort.

But a good case might be made that many of us do not appreciate sufficiently the importance of recreation to defense.

Hunting and Fishing

At the recent convention of the American Medical Association, Dr. Edgar V. Allen, chief of the medicine section of the Mayo Clinic, warned industrial managers and workers of inefficiency due to nervous and physical strain. A paraphrased condensation of Dr. Allen's suggestions follows:

"Eat temperately, fast occasionally and eliminate fats from the diet. Avoid excessive smoking. Develop a hobby — digging a dahlia bed, or any other that affords relaxation.

"Try hunting and fishing as a diversion. Play golf, but for recreation and not for low score. Stay in bed an occasional morning. Organize work insofar as possible on a five-day week and eight-hour day. Seek spiritual stimulation."

Most Favored State

And so, while we realize soberly the pressing call for more tanks, more airplanes and more guns, we can well remind ourselves that Michigan should utilize in year-round style its thousands of lakes and its many parks and forests if it is to achieve maximum potentialities as an "arsenal of democracy."

Just because they are commonplace don't overlook these facts:

Michigan is the most favored state in the north temperate zone. Its climate is thoroughly air-conditioned and thermostatically controlled by the waters of the Great Lakes Erie, Huron, Superior and Michigan. (Every school child knows that the lakes absorb heat from air warmer than themselves and also warm colder winds)

Our growing season for food crops is from about April 25 to October 22, longer and more moderate than that in the average northern state.

3,177 Miles of Coast

Our coast line is 3,177 miles long, an astounding fact in itself. The Au Sable, nationally famous as a trout stream, has a drop of 609 feet.

Rivers of the Upper Peninsula tumble boisterously over many scenic waterfalls in their wild haste to

Farmers Tour On Aug. 7th

WILL STUDY COOPERATIVES IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY AND AT ELLSWORTH

A tour of all the farmers-Co-operatives in Charlevoix County has been planned for Thursday August 7th. The tour is being sponsored by the Tri-County Farm Bureau with the co-operation of the County Agricultural Agents and the local co-operatives. The tour will begin at the Charlevoix Co-op at nine o'clock a.m. The group will go from there to the Ellsworth Farmers' Exchange, where they will visit the Federal "egg grading" station and learn how the eggs are graded and marketed. Other Co-operatives to be visited and studied will include the Jordan Valley Co-operative Creamery, East Jordan Farmers' Co-operative, REA Electrical Co-operative at Boyne City, and the Boyne City Farmers' Co-operative.

The group will also visit several farms along the route and will study the different practices used by different farmers.

All farm families and their friends are invited to join the tour and study the set up of the farmer owned Co-operatives in Charlevoix County.

The group will stop at the East Jordan Tourists Park at noon and a picnic luncheon will be served. Stanley Powell, Legislative Counsel for the Michigan State Farm Bureau, will meet with the group and talk to them on matters of legislation and co-operation.

Each family is to bring their own table service, sandwiches and a dish to pass. The tour will end at about 3:30 p. m.

reach the lakes.

The Porcupine mountain area, near Ontonagon and Ironwood, contains the largest tract of virgin hardwood forest remaining in the United States. (And do you know that House Bill 3793 and Senate Bill 1131 at Washington would preserve this forest under government ownership and would assure logging on a selective, sustained yield basis?)

When the last glacial retreat occurred some 10,000 to 35,000 years ago (so the geologists insist), the ice sheets left us with more than 5,000 lakes. Most of these lakes possess sand beaches, an incidental matter that has been worth millions of dollars to Michigan.

The Keweenaw peninsula, north of Houghton, is a volcanic formation. Scattered remnants of Archean rock, the oldest earth rocks known, have been found in the Upper Peninsula.

Forest Wonders

A tree is a tree, but this was news to us:

In all of Europe there are only 80 species of trees; Michigan has 85 species indigenous to Michigan soil! Michigan's forest, shrub and herbal growth has been called the greatest of its kind in the entire temperate zone.

Wild flowers grow here in great profusion.

More widely known are these fishing and hunting facts; More than 500,000 persons are licensed to fish in Michigan annually; we lead the nation in number of hunting licenses, the annual bag of deer alone being about 40,000.

Bear are fairly numerous in both the Upper Peninsula and in northern sections of the Lower Peninsula. Tell that to your out-state skeptics!

Indian Lore

It may be "old stuff" also to you — but maybe news to your guests — that Longfellow's Hiawatha was based on the habits, customs and songs of the Chippewas who dwelled in Michigan.

Thousands of copper hammers have been found in and about primitive copper mining pits in the Upper Peninsula, proof that the Indians utilized this metal many centuries ago.

Descendants of these same Indian tribes live today in Michigan. According to the United States commissioner of Indian Affairs, there were 4,530 Indians in the state for the year ending June 30, 1939. Collectively, they own some 13,000 acres of land.

Michigan Indians were transformed from an agricultural to a nomadic hunting people by the European demand for furs. Thus, Fort Mackinac was established to guard the Northwest's fur trade; John Jacob Astor founded the American Fur company with headquarters on Mackinac Island. (The original building is there today.)

These facts, a few out of many hundreds, may present a new light on Michigan's recreational resources which you will find everywhere.

As a patriotic remedy for the war jitters, we prescribe the Michigan official motto:

"If you seek a delightful peninsula, look about you."

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—Dr. Minnie L. Maffett, who, as president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, is the leader of about 75,000 career women in America, insists on equal pay for women doing men's jobs, and she also assesses women with heavy responsibility for what lies ahead.

"Women must take leadership in insisting on a new economic world order," says Dr. Maffett.

That might seem like a lot of bother for the women, what with getting the children off to camp and this and that, but Dr. Maffett tells them sternly they must face it, "if we want women to have authority in the world of tomorrow." Her observations were addressed to the biennial meeting of the above federation at Los Angeles.

The silver-haired, blue-eyed, pink-cheeked Dr. Maffett, is, like many contenders for equality and authority for women, emphatically feminine. Pre-meditated or not, it's a good technique which the early-day suffragists knew and practiced diligently. She lives in Dallas, Texas, where she has long been a distinguished physician and surgeon, a member of the college of medicine of Baylor university, on the staff of the three biggest hospitals in Dallas, and a director of the department of health education of Southern Methodist university.

Descendant of a family which went to Texas in 1834, Dr. Maffett took her academic and medical degrees at the University of Texas. She was elected president of the federation in 1939. She rallies women to intelligent social effort under the slogan "business women in a democracy."

She is a dynamo of energy, flying everywhere—she's an aviation fan—organizing and agitating for women and their work and their readiness for a new economic and cultural show-down after the war. Women certainly do like to get things ship-shape. Perhaps they rate a trial workout, considering the general state of masculine untidiness and confusion now prevailing.

DR. ARTHUR UPHAM POPE, art connoisseur and leading world authority on Iranian art, heads the "Committee for National Morale" which now, after months of research, makes known it has discovered and identified Hitler's "secret" weapon. As Dr. Pope explains it, the device is the precise scientific mastery of impelling scientific forces by which you can make men think and act as you want them to.

One of the last books of the late Jacques Futrelle, who went down on the Titanic, was "The Thinking Machine." It was about an old professor who discovered what Dr. Pope's committee thinks it has now learned. He finally dominated the world. The theme of the book was that any man who masters certain definite psychological formulas, and employs them diligently, will own and operate mankind.

That is exactly what the Germans have been doing, according to the committee, just now issuing a 155-page brochure describing its research and its findings.

The committee, which began work last July, includes many of the leading social scientists and psychologists of the United States. It delivers not only a detailed description of the German psychological mass-pressure techniques, but it concludes that we have abundant knowledge and skills with which to meet it. But it will be no hit-or-miss job of agitating. It will be a campaign of psychological warfare as carefully contrived as an air battle.

Mr. Pope, a native of Phoenix, R. I., was graduated from Brown university. He has long been a distinguished figure in the world of both art and philosophy—but always on John Ruskin's terms: "Fine art is that in which the hand, the heart and the head go together."

We saw Dr. Pope occasionally when he was professor of philosophy at the University of California, and again at the Foyot restaurant in Paris in 1923, fired up with Persian art and headed toward Teheran, to sink many years and much brilliant scholarship in that area. After a round-trip to about 3000 B. C., he landed in London in 1930 with the noblest exhibition of Persian art ever assembled.

Last year, with his collection greatly augmented, he staged a memorable exhibition in New York, at the old Union League club.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

Russian Army Plan for Slowing Blitz Follows China's 'Retreating' Technique; Churchill Hails Soviet as 'Real Ally'; Extension of Draftee Service Sought

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Deeper into Russia than their companions—but unarmed—these invading Nazi soldiers are marched off to a Red prison camp after capture "Somewhere on the eastern front." That bald-headed, shirt-clad panzer trooper, fourth from left, in the front line, looks out of place among his companions, who seem to be shock-headed boys.

BEAR: On Defense

The Russian Bear, no matter what the communiques might say, was obviously putting up a hard fight before the advancing German mechanized forces, and the British, who had taken the quick defeat of Russia as a foregone conclusion were beginning to cheer.

Churchill, who had been through three previous milder stages of hailing Russia as a companion in arms, finally and very bluntly told the house of commons "of course Russia is an ally of Britain."

One of the signs that the Reds' defense of their homeland was vigorous and not without military merit came from an official admission on the part of Germany's high command that the Nazi armies had hurled back a considerable counter-attack.

Communicate "solvers" naturally saw in this admission proof that the Russian armies were actually fighting, and battling to some purpose in their gradual withdrawal to the Stalin line and perhaps further to the interior.

Washington observers cautioned against too much faith in an eventual Russian victory, however, unless the defenders would be able to withdraw their armies with much of their equipment intact, into that hinterland broadly described as "the Urals."

As in the Battle of France, it was conceded that the French would have had a chance of immobilizing the war only if they were willing to give up Paris and other cherished cities, and move backward with the assault, harassing the advancing Nazis and softening their blows, "riding with the punches" as the boxing phrase has it.

This was the technique which enabled to make a four-year-old war of position out of the Japanese blitz of 1937 in China. It was the same technique which observers in this country were recommending for Russia.

There was nothing in dispatches to show that the Reds were not doing just that, save that no city of vital importance like Leningrad, Moscow or Kiev had yet fallen, though Germans claimed they had passed the latter.

It was impossible, in view of conflicting claims, to determine with even probable accuracy and allowing for a wide margin of error to figure the price being paid by either side in the Russo-German war.

If German claims were to be believed, Russia had left only a fragmentary part of her motorized equipment and her air force. If Russia were to be believed Germany was reduced to using "canvas" tanks and mere boys to operate them.

But even the German communiques admitted Russia still had hundreds of tanks in action, and hundreds of planes, and the Reds' bombing activities were reported from neutral points to be hitting targets far within Rumania and far within Finland.

The actual facts of the war, however, remained continually clouded in mystery, despite the fact that correspondents finally were admitted to Moscow, which also installed a short-wave radio to give out war news to the United States and other countries.

HOPKINS: To London

Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's "trouble shooter" and confidant, was being sent to London again.

While there was little definite information readily available as to the reason for Hopkins' second trip to England, it was recalled that only the other day in the house of commons there had been some bitter statement over the handling of American plane purchases.

MARSHALL: His Plan

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the U. S. army, urged two major points before congress' senate military affairs committee, and apparently the President was willing to go along with one, but not with the other.

Point No. 1 was that the selectees should be kept in uniform longer than a calendar year from the time of their induction. He wanted this restriction removed by congress from the selective service law.

Point No. 2 was that he wanted the restrictions removed ordering that selectees could serve only in the Western hemisphere. The President apparently was willing to exert some White House pressure on congress to get the second provision passed.

However, early polls of senatorial reactions to both points were unfavorable, though a majority of those questioned reported themselves "undecided" and "preferring to hear the debate."

The question had broadly resolved itself into how large an army the U. S. should have, and how long it takes to train a soldier.

General Marshall also made the point that the selectees had been poured into all army units, with the result that if they were sent home after a year, these units would suffer dismemberment.

JAPAN: On the Verge

The sudden resignation of the Japanese cabinet, together with many dispatches quoting the indefinite "diplomatic sources," seemed to indicate that Nippon might be on the verge of some important step in world affairs.

What this might be remained hidden, though British statements seemed to hint that Japan might be contemplating a move into Indo-China.

A secondary guess was that Japan might be planning a "token" assault on Russia's east coast—Siberia, perhaps to attempt to close the port of Vladivostok—name famous in the Japanese-Russian war at the turn of the century.

The quitting cabinet is the one which put Soviet Russia into the Rome-Berlin axis, and also, strangely enough, into a neutrality accord with Russia.

The government was almost exactly a year in office, so it could not be charged with the stalemate in China, in fact it was not organized to do anything about the Chinese war.

There was little that could be said surely about the situation, some holding that the cabinet resignation meant that Japan's whole foreign policy would be reoriented in view of the German-Russian war.

Whether this would mean that the next government would be more pro-German, or whether Japan was getting ready to withdraw from all European commitments could hardly be told.

Certain it was that in Tokyo was a little group of Nazis who were said to have dominated the last cabinet, and to have been urging the strongest possible intimidation of America in the Pacific, in order to occupy the United States so strongly with the West coast that aid to Britain might be minimized.

ROOSEVELT: Nazi Names

The German press, in its previous references to this country, had been relatively mild. On the contrary, the papers were now vying with each other to use strong language about President Roosevelt.

The President, said one paper, "is circling like a vulture over the Azores and the Cape Verde islands." Another said: "Roosevelt has raised gangsterism to be a symbol in politics."

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

WE THINK TOO LOCALLY, NOT ENOUGH NATIONALLY. THERE IS in America too much local and not enough national political thinking. We fail to realize that the foundation on which the Republic is built is national in scope, that the national government can, and does, dominate our entire system.

National legislation can take from the states, and through them, from the counties and municipalities, many of the rights and privileges we have felt belonged to us locally.

In our two-party system, those of each party are interested in controlling the state, county and municipal patronage and the election machinery of these political subdivisions.

We pick candidates for representatives and senators on the basis of local service to the party, rather than on their ability as statesmen. We continue them in office so long as they produce national funds for local use, or support such minority legislation in which we have a selfish interest.

The result of it all is a wild orgy of spending and government by and for minorities. If we do not learn to think nationally along political lines, we will some day awaken to the fact that Washington controls us locally.

A MIGHTY FACTOR IN COMMUNITY SERVICE

THERE IS no institution or business enterprise that does so much for the community in which it operates as the newspaper. Directly and indirectly, it promotes the interests of the community. It produces acquaintanceship, friendship and good will between people of the town and the surrounding farm homes. It works week by week, year after year, for the interests of all. It keeps each individual informed of the joys and sorrows, the comings and goings, the activities of his neighbors. That is a service which promotes the welfare of the community as a whole. It makes of the community, the people of the town and surrounding farms, a homogenous whole.

PARITY PRICES FOR THE FARMER

IN 1941 THE GOVERNMENT is to see that the farmer gets the 1904 to 1914 parity price for what he raises. That means, they tell me, that what he may raise this year is to pay proportionately for as much and as many things bought per year during the years from 1904 to 1914.

Just how they figure it out, I do not know, and it is a safe bet that the average farmer will take the government's word as to the answer. It is estimated that it will take close to half a billion of government dollars to make the difference between what the public will pay for the 1941 crop and what the farmer is to receive.

It certainly will take mathematical experts to arrive at the right answer for each farmer, but I do not know how much these experts are to get for the job. Einsteins probably come high.

BOTH PARTIES NOW SUBSCRIBE TO DEMOCRACY

OUR FOUNDING FATHERS organized and wrote a Constitution for a republic, not a democracy. The term "democracy" does not appear anywhere in the Constitution. Washington and Hamilton believed in a republic, with a ruling class. Jefferson insisted upon a democracy, with the power of government in the hands of all the people. Today both major political parties subscribe to a democracy. Despite all the complexities of government, America can survive as a democracy if the people—all the Toms, Dicks and Harrys, as well as the Oswalds, Percivals and Warrens, are given accurately all the facts about the operation of government. The American people can be trusted, but American leadership refuses to take the people into its confidence, and that lack of information will in time do for us just what it has done for Europe.

PROSPERITY

REGARDLESS OF how the war may end, or how long it may last, William A. Irwin, educational director of the American Institute of Banking, says America is in for a long period of prosperity. He sees this country as the one great creditor nation that will be in a position to rehabilitate the world. It sounds plausible and may it prove true for us and for the rest of the world.

EXECUTIVE 'CRIMES'

THERE ARE several thousand federal laws not enacted by congress, the violation of any one of which can send you to jail or subject you to a fine. These are executive orders issued by more than 150 different departments, bureaus or commissions. Many American citizens have served jail terms or paid fines, or both, because of a violation of these executive order laws. Lawrence Sullivan, in "The Dead Hand of Bureaucracy," tells us new ones are being issued one each day.

U. S. Is Now a Reservoir For European Livestock

Fine Breeds of Cattle and Horses Are Shipped Here to Protect Them From Results of War.

By BAUKHAGE

National Farm and Home Hoof Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

The tall hostess with the spiked head-dress who gets the first look at America's new arrivals (I mean Miss Liberty, of Bedloe's island, New York harbor) has seen some strange sights lately.

Some of the anxious shiploads that pause at her doorstep hurrying westward have brought a tear, some a worried frown, some a hopeful smile.

There was one group of refugees, proud yet humble servants of man, huddled below decks. Miss Liberty could not see them. Had she been able to, she would have dipped her torch in welcome.

For the war has brought to America some of the finest bloodstrains of homes and cattle from the bomb-riddled fields and pastures of Europe.

Today, this nation holds no greater treasure, in the deep vaults where the gold bullion is stored, than is sheltered in barn and stable. Some of the great breeds of livestock, which have been all but wiped out in Europe, are preserved here.

Best Reservoir.

"The United States now has the best reservoir of blooded livestock in the world," said a department of agriculture official to me the other day.

The two tiny segments of English soil which the Nazis have taken from the British—and the only two, so far—held some of the finest dairy stock in the world: the islands of Jersey and Guernsey, in the English channel. When the British withdrew they gave the islanders a chance to get out—to go to England. Some of the herdsmen preferred to stay with their herds. What has happened to those herds now we cannot learn. We do know that many have been slaughtered for food or because they could not be fed.

But just before that happened 100 head of the best Jersey breeding stock were sent over to the United States.

And before the bombs began to rain too thickly on England the British did what they had never done before—they exported to this country a number of thoroughbred horses, some of their finest racing stock which has never before been permitted to leave the islands, at any price. This stock, stallions and mares both, has been sold and delivered to wealthy American owners.

Great Draft Horses.

What happened to the great draft horses of France and Belgium, whose strains are already well established in America, is not known. Many, it is reported, were slaughtered because of lack of fodder to support them. Many were used for food, for even in the piping days of peace the continental has no prejudice against "steak equine."

Now, America can boast all the pure-blood strains—horses, sheep, cattle, hogs, and poultry. From now on, instead of being chiefly an importer, as we have been from the days when the first Spaniard brought in that strange animal that terrified the Aztecs, the horse, the Western hemisphere will be an exporter of blooded stock.

When the American farmer stands among his herds or flocks, or his wife admires her chicken yard, they often forget that the only livestock which lives and breathes on this continent whose ancestors were not immigrants is the turkey. No wonder Benjamin Franklin thought it ought to be our national bird, instead of the eagle, borrowed from the imperial Caesars.

Today, there are more Holstein cows in the United States than fleck with black and white the fields of the province from which that prize milk-giver gets its name. As a matter of fact, we have the world's record Holstein producer of milk and butter.

Other Bovine Breeds.

And we have all the other bovine breeds here, too. Ayreshires have long been familiar figures on American farms—even the red Danish cattle and the brown Swiss are as much at home here as some of their better known sisters.

It is not that America lacked noble blood among its herds or flocks before the war—it simply means that the animal aristocracy has escaped the firing squad of the totalitarians. We have now become the greatest treasurehouse of the world's blooded stock.

As a matter of fact, the 700,000 cows and bulls which have long made up America's card-catalogued nobility need but before no foreign bovine. These 700,000 whose record is kept, with the co-operation of their owners, by the department of agriculture, now produces 325 pounds of butter fat per cow per year, against a figure of 169 pounds, which is the average for the rest of cowdom.

Action on Iceland Startled Washington

Washington was startled when on 20 minutes' notice the President announced that marines had landed in Iceland. It should not have been. Secretary of the Navy Knox had said it was time for more aid to Britain. The President would not comment on that statement. He just acted. So I won't be surprised to hear that familiar phrase "the marines have landed" anywhere from Cape Town to Singapore.

The next step will not be war either, in administration eyes. There won't be shooting. But shooting won't mean a declared war for some time. Not while Germany is tied up in Russia, anyhow.

General Marshall's request for permission to send troops outside the Western hemisphere does not mean he is grooming an expeditionary force for Europe. There are several reasons.

There is no place to land troops in Europe. An expeditionary force without armored divisions is N. G. An armored division is N. G. without repair, replacement and supply bases. To make an expeditionary force against Hitler it would be necessary to move Pittsburgh to France.

U. S. Surplus Agency Gathers Food Supplies

Reports to the department of agriculture indicate that if all of the food available in the British Isles were divided up, the British people would be on about one-third of their normal ration.

In the last three months the Surplus Marketing administration of the department of agriculture has bought more than $300,000,000 worth of foodstuffs. A part of this is destined for Britain. How much has actually reached there even officials of the department do not know but they do know that more ships are being made available for this purpose than when the lend-lease bill became law.

What is not sent to Britain, Milo Perkins, Surplus Marketing administrator, explains, is being used by needy families and hungry children, here. Thanks to scientific advances it is now possible to produce enough food "to go round."

"Up until the last few years, man has always lived in civilizations in which there was not enough to go round," said Mr. Perkins. "Today, with our capacity to produce, it's physically possible to provide a decent living standard for all of our people. That's the most important material thing that's happened to the human race since the discovery of fire and the invention of the wheel."

Memories of an Old Opera House

Washington's "Opera House" is going. It is a long time since actors trod its boards, since its "Ambassador's tier" glittered with the jeweled ladies of the diplomatic set. For years it was known as the "Belasco theater," one of the most attractive playhouses in the country. Of late it has been a movie house.

On my way back across Lafayette park the other day I glanced up at its sad facade—doors closed, windows blank. And it was then, for the first time in all the 27 years that I have passed it or entered its portals that I noticed the words "Opera House" engraved above them. I walked over and looked at the plaque on the wall, which I had never read before. It said:

On this site Commander John Rogers built an elegant house in 1831. In it on April 14, 1865, an attempt was made to assassinate W. H. Seward, secretary of state, by one of the conspirators who murdered Abraham Lincoln on the same night.

The "opera house" will be soon torn down along with its two neighbors on the east side of the park.

One is the beautiful Taylor mansion with its graceful doorway and wistaria-clad grill work. It was built in 1828. Later, in the McKinley regime, it was called the "little White House" because Sen. Mark Hanna, the power behind the throne in those days, lived there.

The Taylor house, with the Dolly Madison home next door, for years have formed the Cosmos club, recently sold to the government and awaiting demolition.

Call for Men?

From now on you may expect to hear—until or unless it is silenced by a White House tip to Prime Minister Churchill—many British voices calling on America for men. Why will our higher-ups try to silence these voices?

1. It reminds the non-interventionists too much of the last war.
2. The United States army needs the men itself.
3. A lot of high army officers believe charity begins at home.

SANDWICHES THAT REALLY TEMPT
(See Recipes Below)

BUFFET SUPPERS

If there's one season of the year when you like to feel really free from the heat of the kitchen, then summer's that season. You can do it easily, too, if you'll plan and prepare C-O-O-L meals in the early hours of the day before the heat becomes sweltering. Then stay strictly out of the kitchen until supper-time.

Make meakime during these months as simple as possible. Not only will you be the more charming for doing less work, but your family will enjoy the simplicity as a change. One of the answers to this is buffet service. An attractively arranged table on the summer porch is a tonic for hazy summer appetites.

*Sandwich Loaf.

For Chicken Filling use:
1 cup ground, cooked chicken
2 to 4 tablespoons chopped celery
Salt to taste
Lemon juice to flavor
Salad dressing to moisten
Mix chicken, celery and almonds. Season with salt and lemon juice and add enough dressing to give spreading consistency.

For Egg Filling use:
4 hard cooked eggs
1/2 cup chopped cooked bacon or 1/2 cup stuffed olives, chopped
Salt to season
Few drops Worcestershire sauce
Salad dressing or cream to moisten.
Chop eggs, add bacon and Worcestershire sauce. Moisten with salad dressing to give spreading consistency.

Remove the crusts from an uncut loaf of day-old white sandwich bread. Slice lengthwise to make three or four slices about 3/4 inch thick. It's a good idea to have the bottom slice thicker than the other three since it helps in placing the loaf when served. Spread slices, except top and bottom, with creamed butter, mayonnaise, then with different fillings. Use chicken filling between two slices; egg filling for the next and chopped vegetables moistened with mayonnaise for the third or tomato slices.

Stack and cover top and sides with soft cream cheese piled like frosting. Garnish with thin radish slices and dust with chopped chives. Chill in the refrigerator several hours before serving. It's better not to use lettuce because it offers slicing difficulties after the loaf is served.

For the cream cheese frosting use 1/2 to 3/4 pound of cream cheese. Add rich milk or cream to make a thick paste. Beat cheese and cream until evenly mixed and of good consistency for spreading. Spread over loaf to give a fluffy effect, as though you were swirling icing.

*Tomato-Cheese Salad.

(Serves 8-10)
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 1/2 tablespoons gelatine
1/4 cup cold water
6 to 8 ounces cottage cheese
1/2 cup mayonnaise
Salt to taste
1 cup chopped cucumber
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup sliced radishes
1/2 cup finely chopped onion

LYNN SAYS:

When you think the thermometer's going to burst, then think cool, eat cool, act cool, and you'll be cool. Drink plenty of water and cooling beverages.
Be gay and have your meals casually out on the shady porch on a bright table cloth. Serve things buffet style for it'll make it easier all the way around: less table setting, less dishes, and less to do.
No one may feel much like eating, and people, generally eat less during summer months, but they must still have the proper diet. So bring out your crisp garden salads, chilled main dishes, and assorted fruits. Be Cool!

THIS WEEK'S MENU

- *Sandwich Loaf
- *Tomato-Cheese Salad
- *Honey and Nut Bran Muffins
- *Spiced Rhubarb Jam
- Cool Beverage
- Chilled Assorted Fruit Plate
- *Recipe given.

Lettuce
Tart french dressing
Heat the tomato soup, butter and grated onion. Soften gelatine in cold water and add it to the hot tomato mixture. Add the cottage cheese and mayonnaise, stir the mixture thoroughly and salt it to taste. Let the mixture cool until it thickens slightly, then add the chopped vegetables. Pour into a large ring mold or individual molds and chill until firm. When ready to serve unmold on crisp lettuce. Use a tart french dressing with this salad.

A one-dish summer meal that will help you be a cool and collected homemaker is this tasty ham mousse which may be served as a salad main dish, heaped high with garden greens, tomato aspic cubes, devilled eggs, carrot strips, peas marinated in french dressing, ripe olives, celery hearts.

Ham Mousse Salad Plate.
(Serves 6-8)
1 tablespoon of plain gelatine
1/4 cup cold water
2 cups stock or bouillon
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup diced celery
1/4 cup diced dill pickle
1/4 cup minced pimiento
1 cup chopped, cooked, smoked ham

Soak gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes. Heat stock or bouillon to boiling point and add gelatine which is soaked. Stir until dissolved. Chill until slightly thickened, then whip in the mayonnaise. Add remaining ingredients, pour into ring mold and chill until firm. Unmold on salad plate and garnish with accompaniments suggested above.

Muffins that will bake in a few minutes will give your meal a tang and zest that will bring cheers from the family. These are so good you'll want them often for any meal of the day. If made in the smaller muffin tins, they'll make a grand addition when you have the ladies in for luncheon.

Honey and Nut Bran Muffins.
(Makes 16 large muffins)
1/2 cup honey
1 cup flour
1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups bran cereal
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 1/2 cups milk
3/4 cup walnuts, chopped fine

Sift together flour, soda, salt, and mix with bran cereal. Add other ingredients. Place in greased gem pans and bake in a quick oven (425 degrees) for 25-30 minutes.

A jam spicy and delicious to go with your muffins is this one which needs only a few minutes' cooking and is therefore guaranteed not to make your kitchen unbearably hot.

Spiced Rhubarb Jam With Orange.
(Makes 7 6-ounce glasses)
3 1/2 cups prepared fruit
4 cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, trim and slice fine (do not peel) about 2 pounds of small red-stalked rhubarb. Add 1 cup of sugar, mix, let stand for 15 minutes. (This cup of sugar is added in addition to the ones specified above). Add 1 teaspoon each of cinnamon and cloves, and grated rind of 1 orange.

Measure prepared fruit into a 5- to 6-quart kettle filling up last cup or fraction of a cup with water if necessary. Place over the hottest fire, add fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. To reduce foaming 1/4 teaspoon butter may be added. Pour in the 4 cups of sugar, stirring, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute.

Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE HOLY SPIRIT INSPIRES NEW TESTAMENT LETTERS

LESSON TEXT—Galatians 1:11, 12; I Thessalonians 2:13; II Timothy 3:14-17; II Peter 3:14-16; Jude 3.
GOLDEN TEXT—All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness.—II Timothy 3:16.

Letters are usually interesting, frequently very important, and always revealing as to the character and interests of the writer. That is generally true of ordinary daily mail, but how very true it is of the letters of Scripture, the epistles of Peter, Paul, Jude, and John. For in them "holy men of God" spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost" (II Pet. 1:21).

I. The Gospel (Gal. 1:11, 12; I Thess. 2:13).

The good news (for that is the meaning of "gospel") of salvation by grace through faith in Jesus Christ as Saviour has from the very beginning of its proclamation been subject to attack. Men are not content to receive God's way of salvation, but want to add something to it, adjust its requirements to meet new situations, to tinker and twist.

1. A Divine Revelation (Gal. 1:11, 12).

Paul was not presenting something which he or some other man had "worked up," but a message that he had "prayed down." Paul was only delivering that which he had received from God (see I Cor. 15:1-4). He was careful that it should not be confused with or by the teachings of men, so he "conferred not with flesh and blood" (see Gal. 1:15, 16).

We too are privileged to proclaim a divine revelation which has come to us in the inspired Word of God. How delightfully sweet and tremendously powerful is the message which we may thus bring forth. It has no human frailty and weakness, no human error, and no misleading philosophies. It does not need to be revised every year or two. It is God's eternal message of redemption.

2. A Message of Salvation (I Thess. 2:13).

It works in those who believe. Yes, it does—blessed be the name of God! God's Book says so, and the experience of hundreds of thousands of men and women over a period of almost 2,000 years agrees.

Note, however, that to work, the message must not only be "received," but also "accepted" as the Word of God. The message of the Bible may be received as a matter of fact, but for salvation it must be accepted and believed as a matter of faith.

II. The Bible (II Tim. 3:14-17; II Pet. 3:14-16).

Near the end-of-a life given in utter sacrifice to God's cause, Paul is ready to be used of the Holy Spirit to speak concerning the written Word.

1. It Is God-Inspired (II Tim. 3:14-17).

Be sure to read this passage in the Authorized Version. The Revised has taken liberties with this verse which the finest scholarship does not countenance. It properly reads, "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine (teaching), for reproof, for correction, for instruction," etc. Other books may claim some kind or measure of human inspiration—this Book is inspired of God. If there were space, proof of the truth of that statement could easily be given. It is available for all who want to believe it.

2. It Is Not to Be Wrested (II Pet. 3:14-16).

If permitted to do so, God's Word will bring peace of heart, make a man spotless and blameless (v. 14). But its salvation (v. 15) is not for those who ignorantly, or because of their ignorance, or because they are not steadfast in their lives, wrest its truth. Let us receive the Word with gladness, not twist it or distort its meaning to our own destruction.

III. The Faith (Jude 3).

1. It Was "Delivered Once for All."

It is a final revelation from God. There is no other gospel, and there never will be another. What assurance that gives us both in believing it and proclaiming it! But the world hates this gospel, and attacks on it are to be expected. Therefore

2. It Is to Be Earnestly Contended For.

No matter how peaceable we may be, how loving and tender-hearted, if and when attack is made upon the Lordship of Christ, when men make light of sin, and so seem to minimize the vital importance of holiness of life—then, however unpleasant contention and controversy may be to us, it is time we cast our self-regard aside and contend earnestly for the faith once for all delivered to the saints." (J. D. Jones).

Origin of Ice Cream

Ice cream is so called because it is ice with cream or milk added, in contrast to the ices of the Middle Ages, which were made up merely of ice with fruit flavoring. Creamed ices were not originated in the United States. They were first developed by French chefs, who used the same ingredients we use today.

Later the French formula for ice cream was taken to England as a court secret. It came to America with the colonists. It was first served at a presidential banquet during President Jefferson's administration.

Household Hints

Dipping fish in boiling water will aid scaling.

Inspect the backs of pictures from time to time to make sure the wires and fastenings are secure and to repair any holes in the paper coverings that might let in dust.

It makes a big difference if you serve hot foods on hot dishes and cold foods on chilled dishes.

A swinging door between the kitchen and dining room is a convenient household aid. They may be installed in old as well as new homes.

Paul S. Bond Addresses East Jordan Rotary Club, Tuesday Noon

The East Jordan Rotary Club this week were fortunate in having as guest Speaker Paul S. Bond, of Charlotte, Past District Governor, who has a prominent position with the Consumers' Power Co.

It was possible to secure Mr. Bond because of his presence at the District meeting at Boyne City which was sponsored jointly by the Boyne City and East Jordan Clubs.

Mr. Bond stressed the idea of service, showing its beauty and grandeur and also its necessity in order to cure the woes of a world that is out of joint. He was happy in illustrating his thoughts, and those who heard him could not but think that the spirit of the golden rule, if it were implanted in the heart of humanity, would produce a civilization that would fulfill the dreams of the prophets for "the parliament of nations" and the brotherhood of man.

Again there were several guests, some from other states, who enjoyed another of the high grade programs that the Rotary Club has been having this summer.

SOUTH ARM

(Edited by Ruth Goebel)

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Smith and family spent Sunday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis of Boyne City.

Miss Kay Hayse spent Sunday night with her little cousins, Catherine and Joe Smith.

Jane and Bobbie Hoffman visited their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott at East Jordan also visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Kortan.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Smith visited their son Lyle who is confined in a hospital at Newberry. Mr. and Mrs. Smith stayed three days and left Lyle feeling some better.

For lack of attendance of Sunday school held in the Ranney School will be discontinued. A picnic was held Thursday in the school grove with not so many present.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Crawford and little Audrey were callers at the Goebel home last Wednesday for a short visit.

The Ladies Aid of Christian Lutheran Church of Wilson Township have agreed to furnish pot luck dinner next Sunday, providing (we knew there was a catch to it) the men wash the dishes. It being their Annual Mission Festival.

Fishing has improved with our cool weather and some good catches are reported out of Intermediate Lake also known as six mile lake.

The Juniors of the Walther League of Boyne City and Wilson township had a picnic Sunday at Whiting Park; marshmallow roast, swimming and games made a pleasant day of it for all.

The new stock yards at Gaylord had Grand opening last Wednesday and many from our community attended. Some 3000 people were there to make it a success. Lunch and coffee was served from 11 till 3:30 and no one left feeling hungry. Some 1300 pounds of barbecue beef plus 225 dozen buns, 150 gallons of coffee and a barrel of dill pickles, and ten gallons of cream was consumed to make the day one to be long remembered.

The county and community committee of the AAA Soil Program attended a meeting at Escanaba Tuesday of last week. Some 400 delegates being in attendance. The speech by Mr. Montgomery was really worth the trip.

Carl Ellsworth is busy cutting wheat for R. V. Liskum.

Our school meeting was a success some 15 voters being present. Mr. Paquette was reelected to office of Director, the wood contract was let to Mr. Irvin Crawford, and cleaning the school house was let to Walter Goebel.

Callers at the Goebel home Sunday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Manthei, Mrs. Constance Manthei of Petoskey and Mrs. Krone of Chicago.

The eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. McCarty made a trip to Muskegon to have an operation on his nose last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Prevo and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Boyer were East Jordan visitors Saturday.

Walter Goebel Jr. and Ruth Goebel who are employed in Detroit with the A & P Tea Co. are home enjoying a two weeks vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Goebel.

Florida visitors at the Goebel home this week are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Collins and daughter Vernell of Plant City, Florida. This being their first visit to Michigan and they promise to visit our beautiful Michigan every summer in the future.

Port of Missing Ships — Out of the sleepy little harbor of Halifax, Nova Scotia, thousands of crowded ships are plying these days. Convoys, loaded with "Bundles for Britain." How many actually get there is a secret only the government knows. But the story of this convoy system — of the boom town it's made Halifax — of the rough-and-ready admiral who bosses-the-works — is a dramatic tale you won't want to miss. Be sure to read it next Sunday in This Week, the sparkling color-gravure magazine exclusively with the Sunday Detroit News.

Seven Farmers Raising Certified Seed Potatoes This Year

A late announcement from the Crop Improvement Association which supervises the growing of certified seed indicates there are seven farmers in Charlevoix County growing certified seed potatoes. This is one more than last year and indicates that the interest in raising the highest quality potatoes possible is on the increase. The Russet Rural variety still is the most popular as there is a total of 58 1/2 acres of this variety being grown. In addition 5 acres of Chippewa and 6 acres of Irish Cobblers are included in the list. Thus far the outlook for a good potato crop is favorable. The nice rain of last Friday certainly has been a God-send to farmers and came when great damage was being experienced as a result of the dry weather.

The following farmers are producing certified seed this year.

Edwin Bradley, Boyne City, RR 1 acre, Donovan Fox, Boyne City, RR 6 acres, LeRoy Hardy, Boyne City, RR 10 acres, Peter Jensen, Boyne City, RR 5 acres, Edward Jensen, Walloon Lake, RR 13 acres, H. C. Stephens, Charlevoix, RR 7 acres, and Chippewa 5 acres, Lee Sneathens, Charlevoix, RR 16 1/2 acres and Irish Cobblers 6 acres.

HERE'S PROOF OF THE PUDDING—
ELECTRIC COOKING IS LOW IN COST!

In 1936 one out of every ten of our customers cooked electrically . . . Today, more than one out of every six have electric ranges.

Perhaps no other single factor has contributed more to this steadily increasing use of the electric range than the discovery . . . by a greater number of our customers every year . . . that electric cooking is really inexpensive.

In spite of its many advantages, electric cooking costs no more. Why not ask the woman who owns an electric range?

INSTALLMENT SEVEN—The Story So Far

The depression has hit the Maguire family though Mike Maguire, happy-go-lucky editor and mayor of Covington, is serene. His daughter Kathleen is irritated, however, over several things. Mrs. Newsom would like her son, Jaird, to marry Connie Mays, the banker's

CHAPTER IX

Alec Maguire needed another drink. He needed it badly. Liquor gave him a quick pick-up. But unfortunately liquor had a mean trick of dying on him too soon. And the letdown was terrific.

"Isn't the music gorgeous?" burred Myra.

Alec regarded her sourly. He didn't want to, but quite suddenly he saw every line about her loose rough mouth. Her hair was metallic yellow; but next to the roots it was drab. Her under chin sagged unless she held it well up. But tomorrow would be another day, reflected Alec bitterly. With absolutely nothing to do. While his nerves crawled with boredom. At least Myra provided action.

She had to be doing something every minute. That was why she liked her playmates young. Maturer men occasionally had jobs to go to. Myra herself had no serious occupation except her own amusement. And she was perfectly willing to pay the piper for the privilege of calling the tune.

"I've got to have another shot before I do a rumba," muttered Alec when the music ended.

He left Myra to rejoin their party as best she could and made his way a little blindly toward the exit. Marigold Gardens had no license to sell intoxicating beverages. So everybody brought his own. It was quite like good old before-repeal days. Myra always parked a quart or two with her car. She thought Alec might have asked her to go along if he wanted a snort. He was a queer youngster. Brilliant but moody, and his temper was as erratic as a trick cigarette lighter. Myra had never quite figured him out. Perhaps that was why he intrigued her.

Alec had not asked Myra to share her own liquor because he wanted to be rid of her. He had to do something which he dreaded. Myra would think it was a scream if she knew. She would tell the world so. Alec's face looked a little haunted. It was a ridiculous jam for him to have got into. It was all Myra's fault anyway. If she hadn't dared him and if he hadn't been three sheets in the wind, it could never have happened. He might be pretty thoroughly no good, but he wasn't at heart that rotten. At least he hoped not.

"Hell!" muttered Alec Maguire to himself and jerked open the door of the telephone booth.

He continued to frown at the blank wall before him as he dialed a number. Kathleen cleared her throat. At least she and Alec always fought fair. He whirled, recognized her, smothered an oath and hung up the receiver before his connection could be completed.

"If it isn't little sister," he sneered. "Out slumming with Hot Shot Mays and the like of that. I thought you had more sense. I had to look twice when you came in. Just couldn't believe the old eyesight."

"That was alcohol, not shock, Buddy."

Alec went very red. "One in the family's enough," he muttered.

"Why don't you cut it out then?"

"Gene Mays never did a girl's rep any good."

"Maybe you think I like having people refer to my brother as the Boone divorcee's latest gigolo?"

The moment she spat out the word Kathleen was sorry. Alec went so white she was frightened.

"All right," he said in a thickened voice, "you win. I'm putrid. I'm not fit to open my trap no matter what you do. I admit it. And that's that. Now will you beat it? I've got to telephone and I didn't invite an audience."

Kathleen's lips quivered. "I didn't mean it, Alec. But, gee, Buddy, it breaks my heart when you're like this."

Alec looked away. His handsome boyish face was haggard, his black eyes a little desperate. "I'm not drunk now if that's what you mean," he said gruffly.

"I know. But—don't go back in there, Alec. Cut that bunch and surprise Mother by turning up at a decent hour for once."

"Yeah, and lie awake till daylight, rolling and tossing because I'm too gosh-awful blue to sleep," he said bitterly. "What time is it?"

"Nine-fifteen by my watch and chain though I don't guarantee it," said Kathleen with a rueful grin at the wrist watch which she had won with a prize essay on the beauty of being altruistic in a grossly material world.

Alec groaned. "Blow," he said sharply.

Kathleen regarded him with narrowed eyes. "You may as well tell me what it's all about," she said firmly, "because I'm sticking till you do."

Alec again colored violently. "You won't like it. But if you must have it, you must. We were all pretty well liquored up this afternoon and Myra wanted to do something different, for a thrill. So she dared me to call up somebody and make a date for tonight."

"Who?"

"Lou Knight."

daughter, though he is engaged to Shirley, Kathleen's sister. Tom, Kathleen's brother, is hard hit by the slump in real estate, and his wife, Mary Etta, secretary, talks of Reno. A younger brother, Alec, unable to get a job, is taking up with a flashy blonde, much older than he. Ritchie Graham, a stranger, helps Kathleen fix a flat and kisses her. He, too, is a newspaper man—and without a job. So she goes to a dance with Gene Mays though she does not like him.

Kathleen thinks she dislikes Ritchie.

"Lou Knight!" gasped Kathleen. Alec nodded. "I ought to be horse-whipped," he confessed miserably. "Myra and the gang bet me that she would turn me down like nobody's business."

"And did she?"

Alec hung his head. "No."

"Oh, Alec! And now you're phoning her again. For what?"

"To tell her I'm sorry but I can't take her to the air-drome after all—because I've broken my neck or something. Gee, Kathleen, I'd never hear the last of it if I stepped out with that little suggin'."

"Sure she's a suggin'," cried Kathleen passionately. "Her dad's been the town sot for years and she used to play hooky from school because she hadn't decent shoes to wear. And they live up over a beer flat down by the railroad shops and she's never had anything but cuffs and abuse. And she's thin and homely and all eyes and scared to death of people like any other animal that's been mistreated. But she's also proud as the devil and sensitive and pitiful. And she's probably been thrilled to death for hours because you asked her out. But what's that to you? You're going to call her up and break her heart and make mincemeat of her pride."

"Good Lord, you don't think I ought to go! What would Laura say?"

Kathleen's nostrils dilated with scorn. "She'll probably think she raised her son to be an idiot, but I believe she'd prefer that to a cad."

Alec drew a long breath. "I'll never live it down," he muttered. "But here goes." He dialed his number and this time he waited for his connection.

"This is Alec Maguire," he said doggedly into the receiver. "Will you please send somebody upstairs with a message to Lou Knight? Tell her I've been unavoidably detained and am going to be a little late, but I'll be there."

He turned away from the telephone. "I hope you're satisfied," he growled.

He did not return to the ballroom. Kathleen watched him going sulkily out the entrance, and didn't know whether to laugh or to cry. He was lucky enough to catch a ride with Len Woods and Sylvia Mason who had decided to move on elsewhere. They set him down on Main Street and, still scowling, Alec crossed the railroad tracks and made for that unlovely part of town against which Mike was always crusading in the Clarion's editorial page, where one row of ugly shotgun houses, all precisely alike, butted against another and the streets were unpaved and dusty, the yards small and cluttered and bare.

Myra would be furious, Alec knew that. But the stimulation of the alcohol which he had consumed earlier in the night had yielded to black depression, and in his present humor he did not much care what Myra elected to do about his cavalier desertion. Nevertheless he was aware that he would feel differently the next day when the hours stretched interminably before him and he had nothing to do but think. The sort of thoughts that had been driving him crazy since he took his degree at midyear and found himself adrift in a world that yawned when he begged for his chance. Just a chance, that was all he asked. A chance to do things. Big constructive things such as he had dreamed of.

Enchanting Party Frocks of All-White for Evening Wear

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

DO YOU believe in the magic of fairy wands? Unless it be at the touch of a fairy wand how could such visions of loveliness as the trio pictured ever come into being?

It is just such lacy, beguiling sheer and lovely gowns as these that women who yearn for pretty clothes envision in their dreams of "what to wear," when they go dancing on a gay summer night. So be as sentimental, as blithely romantic as you will in choosing your midsummer night festive gowns, keeping in mind that fashion particularly favors exquisitely fragile, sheer media this season, with the emphasis definitely on all white for evening wear.

The all-white lace dress as pictured to the left is making its appearance again and again on best-dressed women who are attending fashionable night clubs or formal events at important summer resort hotels. It adds to the lure of this lace that it is American made. It is as exquisite and beautiful as it is surprisingly inexpensive. Crisp, white and delicate, the new laces make you look your prettiest with their lure and charm. The dress has its own rayon taffeta slip.

The South American influence is very prominent in the white cotton lace evening gown shown centered in the group. The four founces on the skirt are reminiscent of the Spanish dancer's costume. The deep capelike collar opens at the back. With the return of the "gracious lady" period, the call for handsome lace such as fashions this distinguished frock is outstanding. Nothing in the way of sheer cottons surpasses organdy and when it is elaborately eyeleted as is the organdy used for the "picture" gown on the fair socialite portrayed here, the effect is most eye-appealing. The introduction of black jersey in the bodice is in keeping with the present trend. This touch of black gives a sophisticated look to an otherwise airy, fairy ingenue frock. The wing-sleeved bolero and the very full over-skirt effect are high-style details.

This matter of sheer airy-fairy fabrics for the party dress carries all the way through the program of the "pretty" frocks fashion so definitely favored this season. Often yards and yards of billowy tulle or stiffened chiffon or thinnest of marquisette go to make up the full skirt with its quaint little fitted bodice.

A new vogue this season is that of enormous florals handpainted on either most diaphanous filmy white sheers or these flower paintings are done on white jersey likewise white sharkskin in dazzling color glory.

Most of the new white dresses of rayon jersey (with a dull finish) or rayon crepe are made very simply. They are, however, given a look of distinction and importance by intriguing touches such as gold kid trimmings, gold or jeweled buttons, girdles with an enrichment of jewel embroidery.

Watch buttons! They promise to be as important as jewelry in the evening mode, and are used conspicuously so as to call attention to their intricate design. Huge flower buttons add infinite charm to the otherwise all-white frock. Immense mother-of-pearl buttons are fashion highlights. Some of the pearl buttons are made up with a filigree design worked out in gold or silver. You can get buttons that snap on and off and thus change the entire aspect and color scheme at will. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Vacation Outfit

You can bank on this simple rayon sheer striped dress no matter where you vacation, for simplicity is America's fashion this summer from coast to coast. Broadening horizontal shoulder stripes, with whittling vertical stripes prove the stripe is quicker than the eye when it comes to actually whittling down the figure. This optical-illusion outfit comes in brown and blue, navy and white, also gray and white. A flaring brimmed hat and gauntlet gloves complete this outfit.

Chic Fur Capes Are on Fashion's New Calendar

Keep on the lookout for fur capes. They're on their way!—They are available in any length from shoulder to waist depth and longer. If you have a coat that has served its time go to your favorite furrier without delay and have him transform it into a latest-model cape. If you are buying out-and-out new furs, before you invest take a look at the stunning cape fashions that definitely will carry the "new" look from now on. These are the final word in chic.

Linen Dresses and Suits Season's Smart Styles

Women of assured fashion intuition regard suits in black or brown, navy, or dark green linen as the best-looking costume of the season for town wear. These are meticulously tailored and are given charm and femininity via lovely white lingerie accents.

One-piece dresses of non-wrinkle linen are very popular this summer. They are made with all the fine dressmaker details such as enhance chic models in crepe or thin wool. There are such highlight touches as braid trims, odd huge buttons and so on. The dress that looks like a suit, also princess types, are popular in linen.

Print Lingerie

Enthusiasm for lingerie and negligee apparel that is fashioned of either cotton or silk prints that are patterned with luscious looking strawberries is running high. You will love the new rose-motif prints, too.

UNCLEAN MILK SOURS QUICKLY

Bacteria Growth Causes an Unpleasant Taste.

By E. W. NEASHAM

(Extension Dairyman, Louisiana State University.)

Sour milk is probably the greatest cause of loss to the milk supply, and yet it is one of the most simple troubles to control.

Clean cows—clean sterilized utensils—small-top milking pail—these are the three most important factors in improving the quality of milk. There is normally present in milk from a very few to many lactic acid bacteria, the organism which causes milk to sour. When milk is first produced it contains about .13 per cent lactic acid, not enough to be detected by the taste. As the organisms grow and convert the sugar into lactic acid, they soon produce enough to cause the milk to taste sour.

About 80 per cent of all bacteria that gain entrance to milk come from the utensils, the remainder coming from the dust of the air, dirt on the flanks of the animal, and from the milker.

In cleaning utensils, they should be rinsed immediately with cold water as soon as emptied, then washed in as warm water as hands can stand, containing a good dairy or washing powder (not soap or soap powder.) Wash thoroughly with brush. The final cleansing step is sterilization, the one that destroys or kills the bacteria. Sterilize with steam or boiling water having a temperature of 212 degrees F.

Dirt and fecal matter which cling to the udder, flanks and body of the cow introduce organisms which produce undesirable odors and flavors. They also form gases from the sugar of the milk.

To prevent falling dirt and hair going into the milk the use of the small-top pail is highly essential. This perhaps is the most important utensil that can be used in improving the quality of the milk.

In order to control the growth of organisms, the milk should be kept at a temperature of 50 degrees or lower. At such temperature the growth practically ceases or is so slow as to be of little importance.

AGRICULTURE IN INDUSTRY

By Florence C. Weed

(This is one of a series of articles showing how farm products are finding an important market in industry.)

Soy Beans

The saga of the humble bean tells how a little-known farm product has skyrocketed to fame in 20 years, has been adopted by industry, and has become the dependable cash crop of thousands of farmers. The 1940 crop of 80,000,000 bushels will sell around a dollar a bushel, bringing a tidy sum to agriculture and tapping vast new markets for the farmer.

The crushing of soybean oil has become a great new industry with nearly 100 mills operating in the important Midwest growing centers. Each year more beans are crushed and the great bulk of the 82,000,000 pounds of oil goes into the making of oleomargarine.

Other products in which the oil is used are glycerin, linoleum, celluloid, rubber substitute, soap stock, printing ink, core binder, candles and lecithin which is used in medicines and leather tanning. Soybean meal is being converted into glue, fertilizer and stock and poultry feed. Soy casein goes into paper sizing and waterproofing of textiles. Meanwhile new food uses are multiplying as cereals, wafers, salad oil and candy are marketed.

Soybean plastics go into automobile parts amounting to 10-15 pounds of beans per car. Soybean oil is the base of lustrous enamel for cars as well as a new kind of water paint. Soybean casein is spun and woven into a firm upholstery fabric which will soon appear in automobiles. At the Ford River Rouge plant, soybean plastic automobile bodies are being made experimentally, which, if adopted for all Ford cars, would require 700,000 bushels of beans in this field alone.

Principal producing states are Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Ohio. The bean has a tariff lobby in Washington, a listing on the Chicago grain board and the New York Producers' Exchange.

Agricultural Notes

The dairy cow can supply at least one-fifth of the farm family's food supply.

One of the main objectives in growing winter cover crops is to increase soil fertility.

Blackstrap molasses is palatable and relished by livestock. It has a mildly laxative effect.

The meeting was called to order by H. P. Porter, President.

Minutes of last annual meeting were read and on motion they were approved and placed on file.

Moved by Mrs. S. Conway and supported by Mrs. V. Vance, that the school year 1941-42 consist of 9 months, carried.

Moved by S. E. Rogers supported by Mrs. V. Vance that the Treasurer's report be approved and placed on file, carried.

Moved by Mrs. Jessie Hager and supported by Vernon Vance that we continue the school lunches for the ensuing year, and that we express our appreciation to all those who have helped make this program possible, with very small expense to the district, motion carried.

Moved by Vernon Vance, supported by Sherman Conway that the Board of Education be authorized to sell the Afton School House, motion carried by an all aye vote.

The following preamble and resolution was offered by Vernon Vance and supported by Sherman Conway.

WHEREAS: the school district will need approximately $1,800 to pay interest on a $56,000 issue of its school bonds in October, 1941, and April and October, 1942 and has funds available in its debt service and general funds which could be used for this purpose.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT AND IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED that the sum of $908.99 which was received by the school district during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1941 from delinquent debt service taxes and deposited in a separate fund, and the further sum of $1,491.01 which is now in the general fund but is a part of a sum of money transferred to the general fund in prior years at the annual school meetings from delinquent debt service taxes, and, now remaining unspent, be transferred to a special fund, making a total of $1,800 being so transferred, to be used to pay interest on $56,000 in bonds on Oct. 15, 1941, April 15, 1942 and Oct. 1942.

Vote on resolution: ayes, 14; nays, none.

Resolution declared adopted by President H. P. Porter and the Secretary directed to transfer the sum of $1,800 to a special interest fund forthwith.

Signed, JAMES GIDLEY, Secretary.
