EAST JORDAN, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1941.

NUMBER 42

Annual Farm Day Saturday, Nov. 1st

POTATO AND APPLE SHOW WITH ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM BIG ATTRACTION.

Plans are now being formulated for the annual Charlevoix Farm Day to be held on Saturday afternoon and evening, November 1st in the City Building, Charlevoix. The Kiwanis Club is again sponsoring this big farm day program. President R. L. Lewis, chairman of the Agricultural Committee are both greatly interested in this event and are making plans for a real time. The city of Charlevoix and the Chamber of Commerce are likewise cooperating in every way possible to make a real success out of it. Remember this event is for the entire county and all folks both rural and urban are cordially invited to attend.

The exhibits should be of even higher quality than last year. Potatoes are yielding much higher than was estimated some 4 or 5 weeks ago. Other farm crops such as corn and beans have likewise shown improvement. Competition in potatoes will be for the Seniors, 4-H club members, and Smith-Hughes projects from East Jordan and Boyne City. Three classes for potatoes will be offered. One for Russet Rurals, one for Chippewas, and Katahdins, and a third for any other variety. These same classes will be available for the Juniors.

The Juniors will be showing corn, beans, in addition to the 4-H conservation club. It is planned this year to have each forestry club have a box in which are planted various evergreen seedlings such as have been set out by the club members in their projects. You will be interested to see the various ages and sizes of these trees.

The apple department should be a wonderful sight to behold. Never have those red apples had any better complexion than this year. Plate samples will be offered in Delicious, McIntosh, Northern Spy, Snow, Wagener, Wealthy, Wolf River, Jonathan, and other varieties. In the bush competition all varieties are in the same classes.

The Kiwanis club have promised a wonderful program in the evening. If you have enjoyed one of the first two programs nothing more need to be said. You can just be assured of a wonderful time. Be safe and mark down on your calendar Saturday, Nov. 1st. Further particulars will be given next week.

B. C. Mellencamp, County Agr'l Agent.

East Jordan Garden Club Will Meet Next Wednesday Afternoon

The East Jordan Garden Club will meet Wednesday afternoon, October 22, at the City Building.

Mrs. John Porter will give a report of the National Council of State Garden Clubs which was held at Dearborn Inn, Dearborn, Mich., in September.

Harold Clark will talk about Native Trees and Shrubs. Mr. Clark sent an interesting exhibit of these to the Flower Show a year ago.

E. Jordan Canning Co. Finish Bean Pack Month Later Than Usual

The East Jordan Canning Co. finished their bean pack Tuesday, Oct. 7, a month later than usual season, with about a fifty per cent pack.

Raspberries and cherries were also a very light pack. During the peak of the season one hundred and seventy-five men and women were employed. Beet canning is now in progress and promises to be a good pack.

Life Up At Anchorage, Alaska

YOU PAY FOR YOUR GROCERIES AND LODGING UP THERE

A letter to Geo. E. Johnson of Boyne City from his daughter, Mrs. Henry Elderkins, at Anchorage, Alaska, was shown The Herald this week by the former's brother, Clarence Johnson of East Jordan.

The letter, under date of Sept. 27, is quite interesting, as it shows a newcomers reaction to a new location. She says in part:

I never in my life saw such large sweet cabbages and the loveliest spuds, so mealy and dry. Some cabbages weigh 45 lbs. Milk here is 25c a quart, either sweet or buttermilk; butter 50 and 55c; eggs (very state ones too) 55c; spuds from $2.75 field run to $4.00 per cwt., locals and outside ones $4.89; coffee 33 and 35c; sugar ten lbs. for 90c or $8.89 cwt. Vegetables, fresh fruit and meats are all very high.

The letter states that Mr. and Mrs. Elderkins were living in an 8 x 10 tent, while he is building a 14 x 20 log house. Hard to get a place to live in and a 2-room apartment rents for $90.00 a month. Restaurants charge 50c for two sandwiches in a lunch pail and a thermos of coffee. Men are boarding and rooming for from $65.00 to $75.00 per month and glad to get in a private home. As soon as they move into their log house the tent will rent for $10.00 per month all winter.

H. L. Dawson, 64, Ellsworth Undertaker Dies Following Stroke

Hiram L. Dawson, 64, died Monday afternoon at Charlevoix hospital after suffering a stroke. He was stricken at the farm home of Floyd Patterson, four miles west of Ellsworth while preparing to take Patterson to the hospital in an ambulance.

Mr. Dawson was postmaster at Ellsworth from 1920 until 1936 and was a member of the village council. Surviving are the widow, Grace; a son, Claude of Ellsworth; two daughters, Mrs. Ladema Chellis of Detroit and Fern of Covert; four brothers, Sidney, James and William, all of Central Lake, and Charles of Detroit, and one grand-daughter.

The great Aurora just a stratosphere "strip-tease." Lots of queer ideas about what makes the spectacular Northern Lights, but they're only the sun tearing the clothes off of atmospheric atoms miles over our heads. Don't Try Running State Blockade

UNSCRUPULOUS HUNTERS AND EVERGREEN-SNATCHERS IN FOR GRIEF

Unscrupulous hunters who try to bring home illegal game and stolen Christmas-trees to boot will face a double hurdle on the highways this season as a new law respecting evergreens becomes effective.

Besides the usual roadside checking stations set up by conservation officers to check hunters' game bags, there will be half a dozen or more road blockades set up by the agricultural department to check for evergreens taken without the consent of the land owner. At their own stations conservation officers will check for bills of sale for evergreens as well as for illegal game in cars stopped, and at the agriculture department's stations there will be conservation officers to apprehend possessors of illegal game, also.

This year, for the first time, persons buying Christmas trees from the land owner are required to get bills of sale printed by the state department of agriculture. These bills of sale-blanks are obtainable at conservation district headquarters, state police posts, sheriffs' offices and the offices of county agricultural agents. Previously, a bill of sale written on any scrap of paper was sufficient.

No Christmas trees are sold from state forests or other state lands, over which conservation officers keep watch for "timber trespass" as illegal cutting is called.

State Police Wants To Apprehend Forger

Lawrence W. Peake, a former employee of the State Highway Department, is passing bad checks in the smaller towns of the state. Mostly his victims are merchants, hotelkeepers and proprietors of nurseries.

He sometimes uses a rubber stamp bearing the name of the State Highway Department to authenticate his claims, and because of this and his knowledge of state affairs, is meeting with unusual success.

Peake is 43 years of age, weighs 175 to 190 lbs., is 5 ft 11 in., has brown hair and eyes.

The Michigan State Police are anxious to apprehend him.

County Religious Training Course

The Training Course for religious leadership under the auspices of the County Council will begin its sessions next Monday evening at the Ironton church.

The meetings will begin at 7:30 and will be dismissed at 9:50. There will be a devotional service each Monday evening and there will be four simultaneous study classes dealing with Primary, Youth and Adult work, and the Teachings of Jesus.

The course will run for six weeks. This is the first time that such a course has been offered in Charlevoix County.

E.J.H.S. News

JUNIORS START TO RAISE MONEY

This year the junior class is faced with quite a problem as it must raise money for a Prom without the proceeds from a class play.

As the first one of its money making schemes members of the class are taking orders for Hammermill Bond personal stationary and personal post cards. The class is also selling patriotic pencils, with the school's name printed on them.

So far orders for thirty-six boxes of stationery have been obtained.

PROJECTOR CLUB MEETS

The Projector Club held its first meeting of the year last Friday and decided to sell paper and magazines to raise the balance of the money needed for the projector.

Anyone having papers, magazines, or cardboard boxes should get in touch with Elaine Healey, Charles Gothro, Russell Conway, or Mr. John Smith.

MR. ROBERTS RETURNS

Mr. Roberts has returned to East Jordan after several months in the army. He will take up his regular duties as teacher next week. This week he is substituting in Miss Finch's place.

IN SYMPATHY

The faculty and student body wish to extend their sympathy to Miss Mary Finch and Mr. Alex Stevenson. Mr. Stevenson's mother died last Thursday and word was received Monday of the death of Mrs. Finch on Sunday.

Thomas J. Hitchcock, 67 Passes Saturday, Oct. 11, Following Short Illness

Thomas Jackson Hitchcock was born May 9, 1874 at Huntsville, Putnam Co., Ohio, and passed away at his home in East Jordan, Saturday evening, Oct. 11, 1941, after an illness of ten days, death being caused by coronary thrombosis.

In 1895 he came with his parents, Isaac and Martha Hitchcock to Roscommon Co.

On Dec. 27, 1905 he was united in marriage to Mary Hartman, later coming to Charlevoix County and lived for a short time near Boyne Falls, then came to East Jordan. For about three and one-half years they lived on the farm then known as the Stroebel farm, after which they moved into East Jordan.

Funeral services, under auspices of the I.O.O.F. Lodge of which he was a member, with the Rev. J. C. Mathews officiating, were held from the home Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 14, with burial in Sunset Hill.

Mr. Hitchcock was for some time driver and distributor on the Surplus Food Commodities truck for this district.

Surviving him beside the widow is a son Burton, two grand children, Arlene and Lloyd Hayden; four half brothers, Wiley Sims of Higgitts Lake, Nicholas Hitchcock of Ovid, John Hitchcock of Columbus Grove, Ohio, and S. P. Hitchcock.

Those from away to attend the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Avery Babcock, Mrs. Frank Forrester and Wiley Sims Forrester of Roscommon; Walter Babcock and son Max, Mrs. Leola Drake of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hartman and sons of Eldorado; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Keith of West Branch; Mrs. Ethel Hartman and daughters Mary and Joy of Ann Arbor; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Leitz of Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. John Hartman and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hartman of Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Warden and Mrs. W. L. Williams of Grayling; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hitchcock of Flint; Michael Hitchcock and Mrs. Harry Hazelmeyer of Muskegon.

WITH THE ANTRIM COUNTY AGR'L AGENT W. Kirkpatrick, Extension Agent

WINTER 4-H LEADERS MEETING THURSDAY EVENING, OCT. 23

The regular winter 4-H leaders training meeting will be held on Thursday evening, Oct. 23, at the community hall, Bellaire, starting at 4:15 p. m. All leaders of winter 4-H projects are invited to attend. State leaders are expected to attend and conduct meetings. Arrangements are being completed by Walter G. Kirkpatrick, county agricultural agent.

FEEB REQUIREMENTS TO BE MET BY LOCAL DEALERS

At a meeting of feed dealers from all parts of Antrim county held Monday night at the court house with members of the Agricultural Defense Board, initial plans were discussed relative to supplying feed, principally grain, at the very lowest price possible to farmers.

Farmers needing grain are requested to see their local dealer. For cash, and by furnishing their own bags, dealers have agreed to let farmers have grain in quantity lots, taken directly off the car, for the wholesale price plus a ten cent a hundred weight charge for handling. This is very reasonable, and farmers needing grain are advised to make credit arrangements through their regular credit agencies and secure their winter's grain requirements early as the trend in the grain market has always been upwards during the winter.

At present corn prices, by paying cash, furnishing their own bags, and taking directly off the car, the price would be in the neighborhood of $1.70 per hundred weight. Thus, by taking directly off the car, paying cash, and furnishing their own bags, farmers can make themselves a very nice saving. However, it is pointed out that savings cannot be expected if credit has to be extended by the dealer as well as warehousing the grain and furnishing sacks.

It is felt that there is sufficient hay about the county to meet requirements if such hay is kept in the county. It is expected that a very detailed inventory of feed supplies and requirements throughout the county will be made within the next several weeks through the AAA committee-men.

WOMEN'S EXTENSION GROUP TO BEGIN OCTOBER 24

A study of modern fabrics is the first subject to be discussed in the clothing course planned by the Home Economics Extension Groups of Antrim county this year, according to W. G. Kirkpatrick, county agricultural agent.

The leaders of these groups will meet with Mrs. Leona MacLeod, clothing specialist from Michigan State College at the community hall, Bellaire, Friday, October 24, from 10:00

Cheboygan Adds To Potato Prizes

NORTHERN MICHIGAN POTATO AND APPLE SHOW THERE NOV. 5-7

More and larger premiums offered by the board of directors of the sixth annual Northern Michigan Potato and Apple Show at Cheboygan, November 5, 6 and 7 indicate the total entries likely will surpass the record of 481 entries in the 1940 show at Manistec.

Potatoes normally mean a seven million dollar income to growers in the 31 counties included in the Cheboygan show district, it is reported by A. A. Griffith, county agricultural agent at Cheboygan and secretary-treasurer for the 1941 event.

Increased premiums announced by the directors include the following:

Peck samples for russet rural, 5 added $1 premiums.

Peck samples, other varieties, 5 added $1 premiums in 2 classes.

Bushels of certified seed, additional $1 premiums.

4-H Club, peck exhibits of 32 tables.

Russet rural, 2 classes combined to offer 25 premiums ranging from $8 to five at $1 each.

Katahdins and Chippewas, 5 additional $2 premiums.

All other varieties, 2 added $2 premiums and 5 added $1 premiums.

Club exhibits, 5 additional $1 premiums.

Vocational agriculture exhibits, all premiums increased $1 and 5 additional $1 premiums.

Apple classes, $80 added by offering class for standard flats in all varieties.

Alfalfa seed, added 5th place at $2 and 3 $1 premiums.

County premier growers, medals in both certified and tablestock classes.

Poster contest, to include 2 classes for B and C schools and for Class D, rural or grade schools.

Smith-Hughes and 4-H Club judging will include both judging and identification.

County agricultural agents, 4-H Club leaders, F.F.A. leaders and agricultural instructors are cooperating in the show. They have information available to persons interested in entering exhibits in the show.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Brintnall of East Jordan announced the engagement of their daughter, Anna, to Samuel Robinson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Robinson of Fenwick.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of the local H. H. School in 1941. Mr. Robinson graduated from his home town in 1933. The wedding will take place some time in the near future.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Burdett Evans, husband and father, who passed away one year ago. Gone but not forgotten.

The voice we love is still. His smiles are gone forever. His hands we can not touch. We shall never lose sweet memories. Of the one we loved so much.

Loving Wife and Children.

Sonja Henie At Temple

The new week at the Temple is one of fast paced, popular film-fare. A host of stars that are headed by such luminaries as Sonja Henie, Mary Beth Hughes, George Montgomery and Bonita Granville set the thespian tempo while story material is diversified with musical comedy, detective, comedy drama and topical subjects evenly divided. You will find the week's bill arranged below for your easy reference.

Saturday only: Lloyd Noland and Mary Beth Hughes in the new Michael O'Shayne story "Dressed To Kill."

Sunday, Monday: Sonja Henie and John Payne in "Sun Valley Serenade." Added: American Sea Power, Color Comedy News.

Tues., Wed., Friday: George Montgomery and Fanny Masser in "Accent on Love."

Thursday, Friday: Bonita Granville in "Down in San Diego" with Ray McDonald.

a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—It has been only in the last year of two that this country began to realize that the Germans had done a vast amount of research and organizational work, and means to meet it on many fronts, military and political, our government belatedly discovers Dr. Calvin Bryce Hoover, dean of Duke university, who was away out in front in studying dictatorships, trying to understand them and find out what to do about them.

Dr. Hoover is an important member of Col. William J. ("Wild Bill") Donovan's new diplomatic brain trust, which recruits men of specialized knowledge who have disclosed a timely awareness of the more or less declared war against civilization.

Colonel Donovan's title of coordinator of information does not reveal the exciting character of his bureau which is in reality a somewhat mysterious ideological and political, Scotland Yard, studying the origins and techniques of Nazi power, evolving plans to meet it in its under-surface penetration everywhere in the world, recruiting against the dictators some of the same psychological forces which they employed.

So far as the public record shows, Dr. Hoover secured a clean beat on our lavishly staffed state department in trying to understand dictatorships and to make an accurate appraisal of their intentions and possible outreach. It was in 1931 that he wrote "The Economic Life of Soviet Russia"; in 1933, "Germany Enters the Third Reich"; and in 1937, "Dictators and Democracies." Through the pre-war years of planetary complacency, he was writing, in his books and articles, an outline of Adolf Hitler as "genius and fanatic."

These studies were not philippic against Nazism. They were searching and studious inquiries into the origins and inducements of dictatorships. They now provide invaluable analyses of the Nazi cultural, economic, military formula for world conquest.

Dr. Hoover, born in Berwick, Ill., in 1897, was conditioned to patient, methodical work by working on farms and railroads in his youth. He attended Monmouth college and received his Ph.D. degree at Wisconsin university in 1925. When he was an undergraduate at the former school, he joined the National Guard and served two years in France in the World War, taking part in two battles. He joined the Duke university faculty in 1925, becoming a full professor of economics in 1930.

In the above clinical studies, Dr. Hoover does not find dictatorships blue-printed in any patterns of societal evolution. They can be fended off if we're "up and at 'em" without losing too much time—but, above all, they must first be understood.

CALEB S. BRAGG, manufacturer of the new plastics-and-mahogany airplane, which meets successful tests at Roosevelt field, was the matinee idol of early-day of early-day auto racing and aviation.

Once Cut Records In Airplanes, Now Cuts Cost of 'Em. A handsome chap, rich, venturesome and a Yale man. In 1912, he won the Fourth International Grand Prix automobile race, and was awarded the Vanderbilt cup, by covering 409 miles at 69.3 miles per hour. In that day, a mile a minute had been put down as the limit of safety for automobiles.

Newspapers threw a fit over Mr. Bragg passing this deadline and living to tell the tale. Time fivers on. In 1918 he left the country breathless by flying from Dayton to Washington, 430 miles, in 2 hours and 50 minutes. In 1919 he set a new altitude record of 20,000 feet for seaplanes.

He was born in Cincinnati in 1886, the son of a manufacturer and businessman and was graduated from Yale in 1908.

He is a former head of the Early Birds, an organization of aviators who flew before 1918. At one time he beat Barney Oldfield in a race in California. He had the crowds whooping for him whenever he entered a race. In 1920 he helped finance the Glenn L. Martin company and moved into less exciting but no less exacting details of scientific plane-building. He and many engineers think he has pioneered new strength and economy in airplane construction with his soybean job—or whatever it is.

Nazis Claim Smashing of Soviet Army In Terrific Attack on Eastern Front; Pro-Nazi Panama President Is Ousted By Regime Friendly to United States

(EDITOR'S NOTE.—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

GAMBLE:

On Eastern Front

Hitler's dramatic announcement that "events of enormous importance" would take place on the eastern front was followed closely by what many observers and analysts of military tactics called the greatest gamble in the history of warfare.

Then from the Nazi high command came the word that in their opinion the last effective Russian forces on the central front had been smashed and "last army groups are being wiped out."

An initial campaign which had been planned for a month or less to yield Leningrad, Kiev and Moscow had been going on for more than 17 weeks, and the yield had been Kiev. Though knocking on the doors of Leningrad, entry had been denied, and there were many reports that this new plan of Hitler's to storm Moscow from a beginning distance of between 150 and 200 miles would call for the abandonment, for the present, of attempts to take the northern metropolis.

The observers, at the same time that they questioned the good sense of the all-out campaign for Moscow, admitted that if Hitler was to throw all his available forces into a blitz on the central front, Timoshenko's men would have to fall back, but whether Hitler could count on driving all the Russians out of western Russia before winter they believed to be dubious in the extreme.

There was a general feeling in Moscow that the attack was spurred on by desperation, that Hitler was feeling the effects of the unrest back of the eastern front, and believed he would have to have a big Russian victory before winter so that his front-line forces could be relieved to clean up the mess in occupied Europe, steadily becoming worse as winter approached.

As usual whenever a German drive was announced there were those who believed it might be a cloak for something else.

Some suggested that the first spearhead to be driven forward, north of the Sea of Azov, might be a cloak for a water-borne attack on the Caucasus oil fields.

If this were true, however, the Reds on the fighting lines were badly fooled, for they reported a general central German attack of greater ferocity than any so far experienced.

TWO BITES:

Or Just One?

Just as many papers were asking editorially why it was that congress was following the plan of what they called A-B-C legislation or the program of voting for or against Bill A, when everybody concerned, knew that Bill B and Bill C, two other steps, were in the offing, the White House brought them a new sample to chew over.

Sen. Tom Connally (left) and Rep. Charles Eaton of New Jersey are shown before entering the White House as members of a bipartisan delegation from Capitol Hill summoned to discuss with the President his plans for congressional changes in the nation's neutrality law. Both men are members of the foreign relations committee in their respective branches of congress.

This was the question of the alteration of the neutrality act. The press was informed that the first congressional White House conference on the bill was whether it would be advisable to take two bites out of the cherry or only one.

Would it, they discussed, be advisable to settle the question of arming merchantmen and extending the right to American merchant ships to go to British ports separately, or both at once.

Were the question decided in the first method, congressmen asked to vote on Question A, whether merchantmen should be armed, would know full well that this question would be indissolubly linked with Question B, of whether they should allow merchant ships to sail into British ports—but this question would not be before them.

PANAMA:

Coup d'etat

Three presidents within the space of a few hours was the news from the republic of Panama as political elements favorable to the democracies ousted Arnulfo Arias, pro-Nazi president, and set up their new government.

In the bloodless coup d'etat, Ernesto Jaen Guardia, former minister to Mexico, took over the duties of president as Arias fled to Cuba by airplane. A cabinet was then formed, Guardia resigned as president and Ricardo Adolfo de La Guardia, former minister of government and justice, was elected president by the new cabinet.

Reports were that the coup was precipitated by the recent action of the Arias regime in ruling that Panama-registered ships could not carry arms for protection against submarine attacks. A cabinet ruling, this regulation was ordered as the U. S. was considering arming its own cargo ships.

REID AID:

Wins Support

Despite the fact that President Roosevelt had been conceded to have stirred up a hornet's nest with his pronouncement about Soviet Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal envoy to the Vatican, is pictured entering the White House upon his return from Rome. Before leaving the Vatican, Taylor is said to have had a lengthy interview with the pope and it was reported that this was the subject of his discussion with the President.

Russia and religion, the house of representatives, even while the press battle over the subject was raging, put its O.K. on a plan to give cash aid to Russia in addition to material help.

This had been regarded as indicative of the tenor of house thought on the subject of helping the Reds in their defense of their homeland, an attitude that had been echoed in the American Federation of Labor convention.

This group, while assailing Communism as such, completely endorsed the sending of aid to Russia in increasing quantities.

The house action came when, in discussion of a bill which would increase the RFC lending power to a billion and a half, Representative Smith of Ohio said he understood Russia wasn't going to get any of it but he wanted to make doubly sure, so offered a prohibitive amendment.

ALUMINUM:

A Decision

In an opinion that required 8 1/2 courtrooms days to dictate, Judge Francis Caffey of a New York federal court ruled that the government had failed to prove its charges of violations under the Sherman Anti-Trust act by the Aluminum Company of America. Thus ended one of the longest trials in U. S. history with ALCOA the apparent winner on all points. Inasmuch as the government failed to prove its case, Judge Caffey said that it would be contrary to the public interest to dissolve or enjoin ALCOA.

An interesting part of the court's opinion was the statement that it appears that there exists in this country adequate supplies of bauxite (ore of aluminum) and water power available to anyone. Therefore, he said, anyone is and has been able to go into production of virgin aluminum since the last of ALCOA's patents ran out in 1909.

BRIEFS:

BERLIN: One large guerilla band of Serbs is led by a daughter of a Serbian attorney, it was reported by Croatian sources battling with the so-called Chetniks.

DETROIT: More than 100,000 men will be unemployed in the auto industry next spring, and many thousands more will be transferred to defense industry, leaders in the automotive field reported.

'In the Navy'

Mrs. Louise Daniels (above), former newspaper woman, has been named "Woman's Editor" of the navy department. "It will be her duty to direct a publicity campaign that will tell wives, mothers and sweethearts of the navy, just what their men are doing to spend their time."

HUMAN:

Interest Tale

There was probably no human interest story in the news which had the depth of poignancy of the abortive exchange of German and British prisoners of war—seriously wounded men, women and children, both combatants and non-combatants.

Two hopeful ships laden with an unmentioned number of German nationals had lain at Newhaven, ready to set sail for a port still to be selected where these ships would pick up such British citizens as Germany would release.

But the ships did not sail, and imagination painted the anxiety and heartbreak aboard those vessels, emotions undoubtedly shared by an equal or greater number across the channel.

There were rumors that the Nazis were demanding the inclusion of Hess. This was promptly denied by England, who said that his name was not even mentioned.

Suddenly it was evident that the whole plan had broken down. Germany, Britain said, had broken faith—Germany was holding out for a swap of even numbers, whereas the covenant had stated, the British asserted that the exchange would be without reference to rank or numbers.

Some day a historically minded writer will pen the story of those days spent by seriously wounded British and German prisoners while two nations quarreled over their fate—whether to die on foreign soil, or to be sent back to their loved ones to close their eyes in peace.

TURKEY:

Makes a Deal

Under a deal between Turkey and Germany, which had been concluded after months of difficult diplomatic maneuvering and under terrific pressure from the Reich, the Turks agreed to give Germany half of their output of chrome, ore necessary to highest grade steels—but only to start delivery in 1943.

Germany, under the agreement, started at once to ship war material to Turkey, and the total deal was said to involve $75,000,000, not so big in a world which as one comedian said, was "playing-bingo with billions."

Germany was shipping Turkey motor vehicles "without tires, but not airplanes which Turkey wanted. Prior to this agreement Britain and the United States have been getting 100 per cent of Turkish exports of chrome.

However, the stubborn resistance the Turks put up against signing this agreement, and the dating of the first shipments in 1943 showed Britain that it wasn't any friendly agreement.

It was recalled that Russia and Germany, now locked in deadly combat with each other, had an agreement which looked far more friendly on the surface than the Turkish-German pact.

JAPAN:

Gets Jittery

The Japanese, becoming jittery over the world situation which was starving them of oil, and strangling them economically, while Germany continued to pour men and munitions into the campaign against Russia, had issued an odd request to her Reich partner in the Axis.

Tokyo, through the Domei News Agency, called on Berlin to end the war with Russia, so as to conserve men and material for an all-out assault on Britain.

The Pacific situation continued tense, with the government-controlled press of Tokyo laying down a barrage of criticism aimed at the United States, and concentrating on reports of a military conference at Manila between British and American leaders.

The report said, in part: "Judging from the arrogant attitude of the United States, Japan must be prepared to meet the worst."

"There is a limit to Japanese perseverance in making peace moves. If the limit is ignored, Japan must rise to her feet."

Sunlight on Furniture

QUESTION: What are the effects of sunlight and steam heat on furniture? Does a steam radiator standing one foot away from the side of a chest of drawers, and giving off heat, have any adverse effects on the furniture?

ANSWER: Sunlight on some varnished surfaces may cause them to turn white. In other cases the heat of the sun may cause hair-line cracks in the varnish. It is best to protect the furniture from direct sunlight, whether it be through glass or an open window. Furniture placed close to a steam radiator may become very dry, causing the joints to loosen. It may also damage the finish by drying out the oils in the varnish. Eighteen inches or more between the furniture and the radiator would be more advisable.

Too Much Heat

QUESTION: My living-room radiator is too large for the apartment. Can you suggest a method of cutting down radiation without taking out any of the sections? Would cardboard or any other material inserted in the air spaces cut heat radiation by blocking free air circulation?

ANSWER: A radiator cover with all sides solid except the front, will do it. I would not advise cardboard. If a radiator cover is out of the question, go to your local tinsmith shop and get a man to bend the ends of a piece of sheet metal for you so that it will enclose the back and sides of the radiator. The sheet metal can be painted to match the walls. An open window near the radiator will also temper the heat of the radiator.

Hot Water Heat

QUESTION: My house has hot water heat, with a single loop in the cellar supplying all radiators. Something seems wrong with the insulation for on a cold day with the temperature of 185 degrees at the boiler, our living rooms were only 65 degrees. What do you suggest?

ANSWER: For one thing, a boiler temperature of 185 is too low; it should be 180 degrees, or even higher. This is especially necessary because of the long cellar main. You will find it a great advantage to put in an electric pump of the kind called an impeller or booster to force hot water through the radiators, instead of depending only on gravity. Any good plumber or steamfitter will know how to do the job.

Frostproofing a Leader

QUESTION: My recollection is that last year you described a gadget that could be placed in leaders to prevent freezing. Could you describe it again and inform me where it may be purchased?

ANSWER: The gadget is a metal ball containing a chemical, with a wire support. The ball is installed just above the opening in the top of the leader pipe, the purpose being to prevent the formation of ice around the pipe opening. The name and address of the manufacturer can be furnished by the Architects Samples Exhibit, 101 Park avenue, New York.

Water Heaters

QUESTION: I have a choice of either a tankless water heater with my oil burner unit, or a regular boiler-burner unit with a storage tank. In your experience, which have you found to give greater satisfaction?

ANSWER: The tankless type of water heater might have a slight preference over the storage type, but you must make sure the boiler is plenty large enough to furnish the necessary amount of heat for the house as well as sufficient capacity to heat water for your household needs.

Crusting Kettle

QUESTION: Noting an inquiry on hard water crusting in a kettle, "An Old Cape Coddler" recommends keeping a small clamshell in the kettle. "The crusts form on this, and the kettle remains white and clean. A new shell can be put in when the other is discolored." Many thanks for that. Another remedy is to cut a piece of linen to fit the size of the bottom of the kettle; the crust will deposit on the linen, which can be renewed when stiffened.

Hiding Scratches

QUESTION: I am looking for a compound in stick form to hide scratches on maple and mahogany before waxing. Do you know of any such thing?

ANSWER: Dealers in radio supplies use a stick for taking out scratches on radio cabinets, which is what you are looking for. You may be able to get it at one of the 25-50-75 chains. Your radio dealer should be willing to get one for you if he does not carry the sticks in stock.

Farm Implement Industry Will Try 'Allocation' Plan

Manufacturers of Agricultural Machinery Placed Under Experimental System for Obtaining Necessary Raw Materials.

By BAUKHAGE

National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N-W, Washington, D. C.

By the time these words are printed the farmer ordering a tractor or a dairy machine is going to be able to line up at the counter right beside the generals and the admirals making their purchases of tanks and ships.

This is the interpretation that can be put on the remark made by Donald Nelson, head of the priorities division of the OPM, to the effect that he is going to make the agricultural implement industry a guinea pig in an experiment to remove the bottleneck which is preventing non-defense industries from getting the raw materials they need to operate.

Nelson admits that "priority lists" are not worth the paper they are written on in many cases and that a system of "allocation" is to be tried out.

"Priorities"—"allocation"—was always create new words as well as new meanings for old ones. In this case the word "priorities" covers, if not a multitude of sins and headaches, at least a new meaning. When it became evident that there were not enough raw materials to supply defense needs and civilian needs both, the priority system was devised.

The priority division of the Office of Production Management was set up to decide which order for which raw material should be delivered to what manufacturer. The materials most essential to defense production were rated with an A, and graded in that category with numbers according to their importance. For example, A-1 material topped the list. The highest rating for civilian defense materials was B-1, while others were fitted into alphabetical classifications and numbered in line with their significance in the defense program.

This was the priority system. But it did not always work. For instance, the manufacturer of a dairy machine requiring some essential product like aluminum or rubber might have the highest civilian rating, but when he tried to get delivery for that product he found that all he had was the letter "B" and the number "1" on a sheet of paper, and you can't make dairy machines out of paper.

In Civilian Industries Also

This was happening in many civilian industries. It was also happening in defense industries. In the latter cases the system was changed so that certain defense manufacturers could get certain raw products (aluminum, copper, synthetic rubber, etc.) regardless of priority rating but by "allocation." In other words, the government ordered a specific amount of steel or copper delivered directly to the manufacturer.

And now the farm implement industry is to get its raw materials by the same method—allocation—if the plan being prepared by the priorities division at this writing is carried out.

The priorities division explains that this is to be an experiment and that it is being tried so that experience will be gained for applying the same method of providing raw materials for other civilian industries. This is, of course, a vital problem since thousands are being thrown out of work because non-defense industries are closing for want of supplies.

However, there is another story behind the story of the guinea pig. It probably began with a terse remark by Gov. M. Clifford Townsend of the Office of Agricultural Defense Relations. He said:

"The priority system works as well as writing a check on a bank with no funds in it."

He was referring to the priority lists in general but he was thinking specifically about the farm implement industry and thinking about it in connection with the new goals set for farm production. For what can the poor farmer do when he is asked to produce more with less labor—if he can't buy the machines he is willing to pay for—if the manufacturer can't get the essential materials to build those machines? Donald Nelson admitted that priority lists were not worth the paper they were written on.

Before Mr. Nelson made his admission, Dr. Townsend and a few other officials—a few hundred before long—in the department of agriculture got busy. The inter-bureau committees made a survey of the mechanical requirements of farm production as set forth in the new goals in the food for freedom campaign. This was in July.

Survey of Requirements

The department surveyed the needs in packaging and processing machinery—machines to take care of the products after they were raised. And the county agents went right to the farmer himself and asked him what he would need to take care of the extra production—bearing in mind that he would be short of human hands.

A farmer with sons and hired help in the army or working in defense industries might make up for their loss if he substituted another tractor for a four-horse hitch. Self-feeders help, too, and machines for handling the products, like hayhoists—and, since the accent in the farm program is now on dairy products, dairy machines are important. The latter take a lot of defense-precious aluminum, nicked steel and rubber.

The poultry business was not so much concerned, for human hands have to do almost everything for the hens that the hens won't do for themselves.

But how to get the machines? The manufacturers were all tooled up and ready to go. They were at the top of the priority lists—but there were no priorities.

The matter was laid before defense officials. Next Donald Nelson, in charge of priorities and once dependent largely on the farmer for a living (he has been loaned to the government by Sears, Roebuck), started in to make good that "check on a bank with no funds in it." He began to plan allocations instead of priorities.

Washington's Preview

Of Winter

For a while the other day, Washington drew a gray curtain over its bright autumn skies and gave us a preview of winter.

It started with that painful moment which, I daresay, you, too, have experienced oft in the chilly night when after dreaming you were stranded on an ice cake in the Polar sea in your shorts or something even shorter, you awake to find that the faithful blanket has left your bed. That happened to me. And when I had finally curled up to dream of warmer climes the alarm went off. It was still dark. So I let the clock buzz and tried to go back to sleep. It ought not to be dark, I reasoned. It hadn't been dark at that hour for months.

When I reached the street I found a thick gray sky above, there was a chill in the air that set even Washington's leisurely pedestrians scurrying—myself included. It did feel like winter. And when I had passed my second boarding-house cat, I was sure. These cats take their early outdoor loaf while the basement dining rooms are full. I suppose some of the boarders are subject to catalepsy or catallergy or whatever it is that makes people squeal and wiggle when a persistent pussy rubs their leg. Anyhow, these two particular cats are always loafing in the same spot in front of their respective boarding houses as I pass. Usually they merely look bored. This time they looked cold and bored. They were hunched up, like tight accordions—a chilly cat always looks as though it were trying to pull its chin into its own fur collar.

Another sign of the false winter was an empty bench in front of the Masonic Temple. Usually it is full of girls waiting for the pal who picks them up and takes them to work, or at worst a late bus. It is a convenient resting place in the summer under the shadow of a great sphinx. This time there was only one sitter. She may have had something on her mind—or elsewhere—that warmed her soul and prevented the cold stone from affecting the, shall we say, situation.

There was one more sign—the evergreens preened their needles with a look of satisfaction that they cannot muster when they have to compete with maple and magnolia.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper-Union.)

WENDY BARRIE and George Sanders were sort of rocked back on their heels recently on the set of RKO's "A Date With the Falcon." They were introduced to Michele Morgan, the French actress who makes her screen debut here in "Joan of Paris," and promptly acknowledged the introduction in fluent French. Then they went on from there. But Miss Morgan shut-up like a clam—not even a "Qui, oui" did she utter.

Finally, when they'd about decided that their French was all wrong, she explained that she was trying so hard to be completely American that she wasn't even thinking in French!

John Boles is returning to the screen in Monogram's "Boy o' Mine." Remember John? He used to be one of the screen's most popular singing stars. He's been doing concert tours and sort of resting on his laurels, during his vacation from the screen.

Robert Preston, who recently was chosen by vote of the nation's exhibitors as one of the top leading men in pictures (and that's the kind of selection that counts in Hollywood!) has been named by Para-amount as the third member of the co-starring triumvirate of "This Gun for Hire." The other two stars are Veronica Lake and we're told that she'll change her hair-do—and Alan Ladd. Ladd is a young character actor, of whom not much has been heard as yet; he won the role with a remarkable screen test.

Movie-goers will get their first glimpse of the technique of the underground revolt against Hitler, now spreading through Europe, in the newest March of Time film, "Norway in Revolt"; it also includes scenes of combined Norwegian and British naval raids on the coast of Norway, which resulted in the destruction of valuable Nazi war supplies.

Bette Davis is "The most Regular Star" on the Warner Bros. lot, according to a poll conducted by the studio's 72 police officers. The honor was awarded because of her thoughtfulness, cheerfulness and her being, in general, "a regular guy."

Those who have forgotten that Bob Hope started his theatrical career as one-half of the hoofing team of Hope and Byrnes are going to be surprised when they see his song-and-dance version of the Irving Berlin number, "You Can't Brush Me Off" in Paramount's "Louisiana Purchase." He does a dance routine with a colored kid band and quartet that should make Rochester look to his laurels.

Did you know that Mickey Mouse was 13 years old the other day? Walt Disney named him Mortimer Mouse, but Mrs. Disney suggested the change to Mickey. He made his debut in the cartoon comedy, "Steamboat Willie," and was an instant success.

Everyone who enjoyed those radio presentations of outstanding pictures is delighted now that the Playhouse is back on the air. Dramatized versions of successful pictures are heard Monday through Friday in quarter-hour episodes. The cast is headed by Virginia Field, and includes Donald Briggs, who has appeared in many of the Dr. Kildare and Andy Hardy pictures.

ODDS AND ENDS—When she was in New York recently Joan Fontaine drove interviewers slightly mad by insisting on discussing fishing trips instead of fashion and pictures. . . . Joe E. Brown has recovered from injuries sustained in that automobile accident and has checked in at Columbia for "Cowboy Joe." . . . Rita Hayworth is coming right along; she gets Franchot Tone as her leading man in "Eddie Was a Lady." . . . And Alexis Smith is doing all right too; Warner Bros. gave her a new contract and plans to star her in "Blonde Bomber." . . . Barney Google and Snuffy Smith will step from the comic strip into a series of Monogram pictures.

JORDAN
(Edited by Mrs. Tom Kiser)

Thomas Kiser, who has been in the Gaylord Sanatorium, the past six months, came home Sunday, Oct. 12. Mrs. Frank Atkinson with niece and nephew, Helen and Raymond Dubas, motored to Munising, Sunday, taking Mr. Frank Atkinson there, who is going to work for Mr. Penny Atkinson this winter. While there, Mrs. Penny Atkinson, Mrs. Frank Atkinson, Helen and Raymond Dubas visited the Picture Rocks on Lake Superior.

Those to visit their respective parents over the week end were Robert Kiser, Bill and Jim Chanda of Detroit, and Marjorie Kiser from Charlevoix.

Mrs. Tom Dickerson of Indianapolis, Indiana, is spending a few weeks at the farm home, visiting relatives and friends.

Ray Dow of Jacksonville, Florida, is spending a few weeks visiting his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Williams.

Tommy Kiser, who won first award in the Junior AAA tree planting project, also won a free trip to the AAA meeting at Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Oatley of Kewadin, Hay Dewey of Bellaire, Mrs. A. Chapman and Tommy Kiser attended the meeting in Lansing, Monday, October 13, and returned Tuesday. The boy to win third award was Robert Brown and 2nd award went to Henry Ruckle.

PENINSULA
(Edited by Mrs. E. Hayden)

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mullett of Fremont visited their farm, the F. H. Wangerman farm in Three Bells Dist., Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Hayden of Pleasant View farm were called to East Jordan, Sunday, by the death of Thomas Jackson Hitchcock. They spent Sunday and Monday with Mrs. Hitchcock and son Bert. The Hayden youngsters spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Beyer in Chaddock Dist.

Mrs. Jessie Papineau of Boyne City assisted her daughter, Mrs. Orval Bennett, with silo fillers Saturday and Sunday.

The last of the corn is in the silo without a frost. Up to now there has been no usual killing frost and the first flurry of snow was Saturday, Oct. 10, a very small amount which melted as soon as it touched the ground.

Mr. Morris of Traverse City was on the Peninsula Thursday, canvassing for the Michigan Farmer.

The Home Extension Club will hold their first meeting of 1941 with Mrs. F. K. Hayden at Pleasant View farm, Oct. 17th.

Dr. Heaton of Boyne City was on the Peninsula Wednesday and Saturday testing cattle for tuberculosis. He found none.

Mac McDonald of Three Bells Dist. has been badly crippled since Friday, by stepping on a nail.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Bennett and family of Star Dist. were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy LaCroix and sons in Advance Dist.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Gaunt and Mr. and Mrs. David Gaunt of Three Bells Dist. called on Mr. and Mrs. Sam McClure at the Henry Sudman farm at Deer Lake, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Cooper of Grand Rapids were Saturday dinner guests of the Wm. and David Gaunt families in Three Bells Dist.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Katsen of Deer Lake gave a dinner party for their son Lewie who went Monday to military camp. Several of the Peninsula young people were there.

The pot luck supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Seiler near East Jordan Friday evening was a very pleasant affair with 31 for supper. The occasion was made more interesting by a car wreck only a short way from the Seiler home, when a man turned out on the side of the road to avoid meeting a car going north at a terrific speed, turned clear up on its top. Mr. and Mrs. Orval Bennett, who had gone on to town before supper, were the first to be at the wreck and let the man out of the overturned car, who was not hurt much then got the rest of the men from the party, and righted the car up and was driven away on its own power.

Mr. and Mrs. Tracy LaCroix and 2 sons of Advance Dist. spent Sunday evening with the Ray Loomis family at Gravel Hill, north side.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Healey and two sons of Willow Brook farm spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Crosher at Deer Lake.

Mrs. Harriett Frank and son Charles of Far View farm had lunch with Mrs. C. A. Crane at Cedar Lodge, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Hayden and sons of Bob White farm called at Orchard Hill Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. C. A. Crane of Cedar Lodge had lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sanderson at Northwood, Thursday afternoon.

The neighbors turned out the last of last week and helped the Fred Wurns get their corn into the silo. Mr. Wurns was unable to get help. They very much appreciate the neighborly act.

The reports from Mr. C. H. Dewey who suffered a stroke two weeks ago at his home Dewey Dells, and is now at the Clarence Healey home in East Jordan, is that he is not any better. Reports from Evert Jarman from the University hospital, Ann Arbor, is he is still too ill to come home.

● Jules Isadore, the big fur man of the Waswanipi country, thought he was quite secure. He had the Indians scared to death. And "the land of the long snows" would never yield up the secret of the six missing men.

But Jules did not reckon on the determination of one Garry Finlay, who came up from the South to find his brother, Bob. He did not know about that article. Nor could he foresee how love might intervene to make his daughter an ally of the man he sought to eliminate.

The crackle of forest fires and the ping of bullets quicken the tempo of this adventure yarn of Hudson-Bay country. Read it—

SOUTH ARM
(Edited by Ruth Goebel)

Mr. and Mrs. Rhine Ständenmeyer who purchased the Fred Stenke place were up from Chicago to look their farm over. Mr. Ständenmeyer has plans to build a large new barn on his farm some time in the near future. While here they visited the Harry Behlings, also at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stenke.

Arnold Smith is busy these days husking corn between showers. Sunday school attendance, Sunday, was much better than the previous Sunday.

Miss Kapnik, our teacher, drove home to Traverse City over the week end to visit her mother and brother who reside there.

Mr. Walter Heileman is busy these days moving to his new farm in Emmet county. We wish them much success in their new home.

Mrs. Clara Liskum was on the sick list but is much better at this time. Her children from Chicago, Inlay City and Pontiac were here to see her, making her feel much better.

Grace Goebel attended a Walther League Rally at Good Harbor in company with Dorothy, Margaret and Cora Behling of Wilson and Miss Diehm of Boyne City.

John Ter Avest is busy digging potatoes which he had planted on the Van Ree farm now owned by Mr. McCarthy who moved up here last spring.

Last Thursday the following members of the South Arm Guernsey Sire Ass'n met at the home of James Nice to transact business pertaining to disposal of the bull; James Nice, Walter Heileman, R. V. Liskum, Walter Goebel, Irving Crawford and Charles Murphy; Roscoe Smith being absent.

Saturday dinner guests at the home of Walter Goebel were Rhine Ständenmeyer and wife of Chicago; also Mrs. Ständenmeyer's sister, who drove up here with them.

R. V. Liskum who purchased a new tractor, put it to work last week filling George Nelson's silo.

Between showers we seem to be getting our general farm work done after which many of us will have to think about fuel as colder weather is just across the street.

Sunday dinner guests at the Walter Goebel home were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Behling and daughter Eleanor of Wilson. The ladies attended the matinee at the Temple Theatre in the afternoon.

Roscoe Smith has his new home just about complete and it's really cozy.

John Cutler is busy husking corn and pulling beans these beautiful autumn days.

Miss Ina Gilkerson, who teaches Sunday school at the Ranney School, reports good attendance and hopes to see all the seats filled in the near future.

Ted Leu was a caller at the Goebel home, Sunday.

James Nice and son Gardell and daughter Doris were callers at the Goebel home one night last week.

SWAN the first really new white floating soap since the Gay Nineties, it is so different - we double-dare you to compare it side by side with any old-style floating soap

Use Swan! If you don't say—"Swan is tops!"—mail us the wrapper. We'll send double your money back. Swan, Lever Brothers Company, Cambridge, Mass.

FEEL BOTH!
SWAN IS MUCH FIRMER!
LASTS AND LASTS!

Go ahead! Feel a cake of Swan—then feel any old-fashioned floating soap! Swan is smoother, much firmer—has lots less moisture. It's more soap for your money. No need to store it to harden. We've done it for you! Swan won't warp, either.

SMELL BOTH!
BREAK BOTH!
SWAN WINS AGAIN!

Sniff! Swan smells cleaner, as fresh as mountain air! Break both! Swan divides into two lovely cakes—one for the kitchen and one for the bathroom! No rough, wasteful edges to Swan, either. Breaks smoothly, easily, without knife or string!

Pure? Lady, lady—money can't buy a soap that's purer than Swan. It's as mild as fine imported 100% olive oil castles, too—all of which makes Swan ideal for baby's delicate skin; for lovely complexions; for busy, soft, white hands.

INSTALLMENT NINETEEN—The Story So Far

Laura Maguire is wife to Mike, happy-go-lucky editor and mayor of Covington, whom banker Mays tries to ruin and offers a $10,000 bribe to stop exposure of a bad banking deal. She is mother to four children, ill treated by the depression.

Kathleen, society editor for her father, who criticizes his outside flapping of Mays at the expense of the family pride. She is in love with Ritchie

Graham, newspaper aid of her father, but won't admit it. Instead she engaged herself to Mays' son, but breaks the engagement in a few days.

Tom, who had separated from his wife when he had to move from the bigger city to get a job. Mary Etta held on to her secretary job and started to divorce. But Laura brought the two together.

Alec, who secretly married the town

drunk's daughter, Lou Knight, after he had taken her to his mother's home when her father died rescuing a crippled boy in a fire.

Shirley, married at last to Jaidr Newsum, who also was out of work, but the couple pawn their things, buy a hamburger stand.

Mays kills himself and the bank closes when his crookedness comes to light. Laura and Kathleen discuss love.

"Love!" Laura laughed—a queer, strained sound. "What do you know of love? Wait till you've lived with a man a quarter of a century. And borne him his children. Walked through the shadow of death at his side and drunk of his strength. Grown older clinging to him, finding comfort and peace against his heart. Always first with him as he is with you. Wait till you've grown so deeply into your mate he's part of you. Till it almost frightens you when you think how much he means to you. Then you will know about love. Love like mine and Mike's."

Kathleen stared at Laura. As if she were a stranger. Someone she had never seen before. Laura's face went very white.

"And now you think he's killed himself. To leave me his insurance."

"He took his revolver with him when he left the office," said Ritchie huskily.

Laura's slender shoulders were rigid. Mike would never kill himself to leave me money. He knows that to me he is all the riches of the Indies, and without him I'm a broken vase."

Kathleen was weeping. Bitter, agonized tears. Laura made a tremendous effort and went over to her. "It's going to be all right, darling."

"Kathleen took her mother's hand and laid it against her cheek. "I didn't understand," she sobbed.

"I know," said Laura. "Youth doesn't. It has so dreadfully much to learn. But you must not suffer like this. Mike could not break your heart or mine. It isn't him."

The telephone rang sharply. When Laura came slowly back to the living room, her eyes had a queer startled expression.

"Mike has been down at the bank for hours. Locked up with the directors and the state bank examiner," she said, and then went on as if she were a little awed. "Donahue Investment Brokers did not open for business this morning. They've failed to the tune of twenty million dollars."

"Donahue!" ejaculated Ritchie. "The concern in which Eugene Mays was involved?"

"Eugene Mays is dead," said Laura. "He blew his brains out ten minutes ago when they told him that his bank doors had to close."

"Mays' personal fortune is completely gone. The crazy fool gambled the last dime he had on earth trying to recoup his losses."

The Maguires were at dinner. All of them. Shirley and Jaidr had hired someone to look after their place for the evening. Tom and Mary Etta had driven over after Alec and Lou. Mike had brought Ritchie home from the office with him. It was Mike who was somberly reviewing the extent of the disaster.

"Apparently Mays has been on the verge of ruin for months. That's why he snatched at such a desperate chance as the Donahue scheme. And it ripped him open."

"And wrecked the town with him," added Tom bitterly.

"Not quite," explained Mike. He grinned. "A great many people seem to have read the Clarion. Even if our revenues did drop fifty per cent after I attacked Mays. Depositors have been drawing their money out of his institution like fury for the past six weeks. The bank examiner told me he had never seen anything like it."

CHAPTER XXX

Laura smiled at her husband. "Why don't you break down and confess that Covington has one beach of a Lord Mayor, and knows it?"

Kathleen saw the look that passed between them. And her eyes misted with tears. How could she have been so blind to the beautiful thing that existed between her father and her mother? Love so perfect it needed no words or gestures. Understanding so deep it was as natural as the air they breathed.

"Thank goodness," said Alec fervently. "Mr. Swearington took your articles to heart; Dad. Or rather Lou did," he found her small hand and pressed it. "She never gave either of us a minute's peace till he got our little wad out of Mays' bank."

Mike smiled at his newest daughter-in-law and Lou smiled back at him, a shy nervous little smile, but very sweet.

Laura, looking down the long crowded table at Lou's small blissful face, thought that God works in a mysterious way His wonders to perform. Such a fragile little anchor! Yet she held Alec as nothing else could. Because she believed in him and needed him.

Mike regarded his older son somewhat anxiously. "I hope Colonel Shoup didn't act the goat and stick to Mays to the bitter end. Or did he? He's never liked me a lot. Says I go off half-cocked as often as not."

Tom grinned. "The Colonel may be stubborn but he's not a donkey. He fumed around a lot when you began to spout about the bank. And he cut out advertising with you. For spite or something. But when you opened up on the Donahue deal, the Colonel weakened. And he kept on weakening until last week he transferred all the money he had in the world to a safety deposit vault. And it's there still. Thanks to you. Incidentally I've orders to resume our old business relations with the Clarion. We'll want our regular daily ads with the full Sunday spreads."

Mike sniggered. "S funny how the folks have suddenly decided practically in one afternoon that they can't do without me or the Clarion. They've been shooting advertising contracts and renewals at us so fast and furiously since noon darned if the staff isn't about to have the jitters."

Kathleen drew a long breath. "I guess after all," she said in an unsteady voice, "a reputation for unimpeachable integrity is more precious than dividends. Banks may break and investment brokers go floozy, but a good name goes on and on."

Mike's boyish face looked suddenly very gay and young. "Does that mean you've got over your peeve at your blundering old Daddy, Kathleen?" he asked.

He laughed, but his eyes were not laughing. Kathleen leaned over until her shoulder brushed his.

"I always adored you," she whispered. "Only I lost my way—I'm back on the tracks for good this time. And I—I love you."

Mike squeezed her hand. Kathleen with a shiver glanced down the table at her mother. Laura was wearing the ecru ready. Her face was a little thinner. It had been a trying summer. But her clear brown eyes were strangely beautiful. Serene, unclouded, lighted by a deep and abiding happiness. She and Mike had built their house on the eternal verities. And although the tempest had whistled above them, the house had stood.

"Great Scott, in all the shooting I forgot about Ritchie!" exclaimed Mike. "He's taken an awful jolt. By Jove, I don't know how he's ever going to hold up his head again."

"What's happened to Ritchie?" demanded Kathleen in a fierce little voice. She glared at her father. "And I don't think it's funny of you to laugh if it's as bad as you say."

"Help! Help!" Mike lunged up his hands and gave Ritchie a mock pleading glance. "Call off the kitten before she claws me to pieces over a younger handsome man."

Kathleen blushed furiously (and Ritchie laughed. He fussed at his necktie.

"It isn't really bad," he said, but he looked as if he wished he could crawl into a hole. "It's about those articles I sent the agent in New York. He—er—I guess maybe the big publishers aren't as yellow as I thought. Anyway he's sold the whole series," he concluded miserably.

"for more money than I expected to see in five years."

"That's just it," cried Mike, laughing till the tears ran down his cheeks. "Ritchie was all set to starve in an attic for truth's sweet sake. And now darned if he isn't on his way to becoming a bloated plutocrat."

Ritchie's mouth twisted. "Fate's like that," he said. "It overwhelms you with the success you don't want and slaps you down when it comes to the things you do."

Ritchie's glance met Kathleen's. Her gray eyes were hard and inscrutable. She looked away with a sharp ache stabbing at her heart.

"Maybe Ritchie has got over wanting me," she thought, her eyes stinging.

"I want to talk to you, Kathleen," said Ritchie after dinner in a harsh peremptory voice.

"Yes, Ritchie."

Meekly Kathleen followed him down the path which led around the house to the grape arbor at the back. The July night was breathlessly still. So still Kathleen thought Ritchie must hear the painful throb of her pulses.

"I broke my engagement to Gene Mays this morning," she said at last in a small tremulous voice.

"I know," drawled Ritchie without looking at her. "When I got back to the office, he'd been calling for you every five minutes. He seemed to think he could force you to marry him or the like of that. But I disabused him of the idea."

His underjaw made a hard line. "He won't bother you again."

"It was never really an engagement," she whispered. "He didn't even kiss me. Not once. I couldn't let him."

She heard Ritchie catch his breath sharply but he said nothing. "I never grew up until today," she told him, her voice breaking on a sob. "Not until I realized what I might have done to Mike. I've been so blind, Ritchie. All confused and mixed up. I don't deserve that you should bother with me. Ever. But I—"

He turned swiftly. His arms caught her up. Crushed her to him. He had always been her private lightning. He always would be. His kisses taught her passion and ecstasy. An almost intolerable ecstasy. Cheat her? Love! Kathleen knew if she lived forever she could not be grateful enough for the aching rapture of Ritchie's arms, his kisses. This moment was worth anything it cost. Ever.

"Sweetheart!" whispered Ritchie. "I love you!" cried Kathleen.

On the veranda Laura leaned back against Mike's arm. She was thinking, as mothers do, of her brood. They had been menaced. Each of them, even her mate. But they were safe this night, her children and her lover. They had come out on the other side of the storm clouds. There were rainbows in the skies.

"Life is pretty grand after all," said Laura out of her deep content.

Michael Maguire chuckled as his arm tightened about her.

"It is," he said, "because you've always played it that way."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

THE HOLY SPIRIT OUR HELPER

LESSON TEXT—John 3:5-8; Acts 1:8; Romans 8:26-28; Galatians 5:22-26. GOLDEN TEXT—As many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.—Romans 8:14.

Nothing could be more practical or blessed for and in the life and service of the believer than an understanding of the person and work of the Holy Spirit; yet it is a subject concerning which most Christians are woefully ignorant.

Before taking up the work of the Spirit as it appears in our lesson, we should understand that the Holy Spirit is a person, not an influence which may exert itself upon a service, or a power which a man may obtain and use. He—the Spirit—is one of the Trinity, with the attributes of a person; doing the work of a person and always referred to as a person in Scripture. (When "it" is used of the Holy Spirit in the A. V. it will be found to be corrected to "him" in the R. V.)

What then does this divine person do? The work of creation was His as one of the Godhead. He regenerates, He teaches, He comforts, He leads, He calls and qualifies Christian workers. He is the divine author of the Bible. These and many other things He does, this One who indwells the believer as the ever-present Guide and Counselor. The Christian is

I. Born of the Spirit (John 3:5-8). The new birth is indispensable to entrance into the kingdom of God. We either enter that way or we do not enter at all. Let's be clear about that. "Ye must be born again" is not the edict of a church or the plea of a preacher, it is the plain statement of our Lord Himself (v. 5).

The Holy Spirit is indispensable to regeneration. We must be born of the Spirit. How it takes place we can no more explain than the coming or going of the wind, but just as the power of the wind is known to us by clear evidence, so the regenerating power of the Spirit, mysterious though it be in operation, is known to us by the evidences of redeeming grace in a man's life.

II. Empowered by the Spirit (Acts 1:8). Spiritual birth calls for service for Christ. For that we must have the power of the Holy Spirit. A man may do many ordinary things in the strength of his own body and mind (although even these ought always to be under the Spirit's control) but when he comes to witnessing for Christ, teaching or preaching God's Word, he must have Holy Spirit power or he is utterly ineffective.

III. Directed by the Spirit (Rom. 8:26-28). The guidance of the Holy Spirit, especially in the matter of prayer, is stressed in these verses, but they are a part of a longer passage dealing with the indwelling, enabling, and guiding power of the Holy Spirit (read vv. 9-14). Every detail of life in the home, at business, or in social relations should be in conscious submission to His leading.

It is in the realm of the spiritual, however, that we find ourselves peculiarly infirm (v. 26), and this shows itself especially in prayer—"we know not how to pray as we ought." Then the Spirit in the Christian makes intercession. "How blessed!" The practical meaning of these profound words seems to be that the divine Spirit, by His immediate influence in the saint's soul, which becomes as it were the organ of his own address to the Father, secures the rightness of the essence of the saint's prayer. To our understandings such intercessions with groanings which cannot be uttered, take the form of desires of ours, inspired and secured by Him. In any special case of prayer, the saint may or may not use words; but any wise the root-desires that underlie the prayer, being the Holy Spirit's promptings, are unutterable to the full. In the heart the Father sees below the surface of our ignorance the sacred longings which are the expression of the Spirit's influence" (H. C. G. Moule).

IV. Walking in the Spirit (Gal. 5:22-26). Being born, again of the Spirit, living daily by the Spirit, it is right that (as v. 25 puts it) "if we live by the Spirit, let us also walk by the Spirit." The works of the flesh, horrible in their wickedness and lust, are listed in the verses preceding (vv. 19-21), and then by striking contrast, we have the fruit of the Spirit in the life of the Christian. Note the distinction: Work is something we produce; fruit is something that grows.

Walking in the Spirit the Christian finds in his life the inward graces of love, joy, and peace. These then express themselves outwardly in long-suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, and self-control. The Spirit-filled man is not only a good man; he lives a good life.

Rather Far-Fetched Was This Relationship

"You say, madam," said the barrister to the woman in the witness box, "that the defendant is a sort of relation of yours. Will you explain what you mean by that—just how you are related to the defendant?"

"Well, it's like this. His first wife's cousin and my second husband's first wife's aunt married brothers named Jones, and they were own cousins to my mother's own aunt. Then, again, his grandfather's on my mother's side, were second cousins, and his stepmother married my husband's stepfather, and his brother Voe and my husband's brother, Hearty, married twin sisters. I've always looked on him as a sort of cousin."

If you have a relative or friend in the service and have any doubts about what to send him as gifts, your problems are over. The service men have solved it for you by naming tobacco as their first choice in gifts. Actual sales records show the favorite cigarette with men in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard is Camel. Prince Albert is the popular smoking tobacco. With these preferences in mind, local tobacco dealers feature Camels by the carton and Prince Albert in the pound tin as ideal gifts to the men in the service from the folks back home.—Adv.

Vanished Men BY GEORGE MARSH

Around the campfires in the Canadian wilderness men began muttering over the mysterious disappearance of six frontiersmen who had hit the Chibougamau Trail and never returned. They were in terror of Jules Isadore and his right-hand man, Tete Blanche.

But Garry Finlay, brother of one of the missing men, marched into the forbidden country with two others and Flame, his giant airedale. Neither bullets nor poison could hold them back. At last, scorched by the leaping flames of a forest fire, they solved the mystery of the missing men and brought retribution upon the murderers.

NEW DESIGNS FOR YOUR COOKIE JAR
(See Recipes Below)

COOKIE SURPRISES

All crisp, crunchy, and some slightly nutty, all of today's recipes are so fashioned as to send you on a real cookie-baking spree. Fill that lovely cookie jar of yours until the sides are fairly bulging with goodies, so you can have cookies a-plenty to put in the children's lunch boxes, to serve as afternoon snacks, and as a pick-up for mealtime.

If you're doing some baking for a bazaar, there's nothing quite like plates of yummy cookies to put over the sales. Remember, you can sell a lot more, if you give out some samples. These can be set on plates with white paper doilies, for sampling, and those to be sold put in boxes already fixed. Cookies can be sold by the dozen if they're fancy and somewhat elaborate, by the pound if they're small drop cookies or squares.

Here's an interesting variation of the filled cookie, both dainty and delectable.

Corn Flake Filled Cookies.
(Makes 36 medium-sized cookies)
1 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
3/4 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add alternately with water and flavoring to first mixture. Stir in coarsely rolled corn flakes. Chill. Roll dough to 1/4 inch thickness. Cut with cookie cutter. Spread one round with filling, put on a second round and press edges together with a fork. Bake on a greased baking sheet in a hot (425 degrees) oven about 12 minutes.

Filling.
1 1/2 cups chopped dates
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons orange juice
1 tablespoon orange rind
Combine all ingredients together and cook until soft paste is formed. Cool before filling cookies.

These little butter balls make good nibbling and smart additions to your teatime table. Made with butter, their flavor will be something you'll long cherish and remember.

Butter Rolls.
(Makes 7 dozen small cookies)
3/4 cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg
2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
3/4 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup finely chopped nuts

Cream brown sugar and shortening. Add beaten eggs and vanilla.

Add flour and baking powder. Roll into balls the size of marbles. Mix the granulated sugar and nuts and roll the balls in the mixture.

Place on a greased baking sheet and bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven 10 minutes. These cookies will flatten slightly.

LYNN SAYS:

An assortment of cookies, freshly baked and packed in tins with waxed paper between layers makes a delightful present for youngsters away at school and for friends you seldom see. When your own cookie jar has been filled to bulging, pack a few boxes from what you have and spread cheer to others, too.

Careful packing in tins with waxed paper will keep even small dainty cookies fresh for a long time. Some flavors like chocolate improve after they stand for some time. Chewy, nutty cookies are the more chewy and delicious after several days. Spicy cookies become moist and well flavored after standing.

Your cookie jar problem can be solved very neatly, with toothsome oatmeal cookies with flecks of chocolate in them:

Oatmeal Cookies.
(Makes 4 dozen)
1/2 cup butter or shortening
1 cup brown sugar
Grated rind of 1 orange
1 egg, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup sifted flour
1 1/2 cups fine rolled oats
7 ounces chocolate pieces

Cream butter and sugar. Add orange rind, egg, vanilla and beat well. Add salt and flour which has been mixed with the oats. Add chocolate pieces and work into batter. Drop by spoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake 15 to 20 minutes in a moderate (375 degrees) oven.

Recommendations are in for the old favorites of which you never tire. If you want to make a pretty and at the same time, a very successful platter, you might try alternate rows of both these. Ginger Cookies and

Brownies:
Soft Ginger Cookies.
(Makes 5 dozen)
1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup molasses
3/4 cup evaporated milk
3 cups flour
2 teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon each, ginger, cinnamon

Cream sugar and shortening, add egg and molasses. Beat well, add milk and blend well. Mix dry ingredients and add to batter. Last add soda, dissolved in 2 tablespoons warm water. Drop by spoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake 15 minutes in a hot (375 degrees) oven.

Brownies.
(Makes 2 dozen)
1/2 cup butter or shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
3/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat eggs and sugar together. Add to this melted butter and chocolate and blend. Add flour, baking powder, nuts, and beat well. Pour into a greased pan and bake 30 minutes in a 350-degree oven. Cool and cut in squares.

For a delicious variation of the brownie recipe, you'll like the addition of 3/4 cup of bran cereal in place of the chopped nuts. They'll give you a slightly different flavored cookie, but guaranteed to please you, just as well.

Meat-Macaroni Casserole.
1 package macaroni
1/2 cup salad oil
1 pound hamburger
1 dry onion, minced
1 green pepper, minced
1 clove garlic, if desired
1 can tomato soup
2 cups peas
2 cups corn
Salt and pepper

Cook the macaroni in plenty of boiling salted water and when tender, put in a sieve and rinse with cold water. Meanwhile fry the hamburger in the heated oil, stirring it occasionally to separate it. Skim out the meat and in the same fat cook onion, pepper and garlic till tender, but not browned. Garlic may be omitted entirely, and it is usually removed after the onion and pepper are cooked. Combine all ingredients and simmer 20 to 30 minutes to heat thoroughly and blend flavors, then serve.

CITY OR COUNTRY?

A KANSAS CITY friend told me recently that he had bought a small farm within an hour's drive of the city. My friend is, and has been, a city worker. He is the father of a family of children of from 5 to 16 years of age. He has been fearful of the financial future of America.

The man from whom the farm was purchased had become enamored of what he considered the opportunities, the conveniences, the attractions, of the city and wished the privilege of enjoying these for himself and his family.

"What my Kansas City friend has purchased is an assurance of health, shelter, warmth and food for his family and for himself. Chickens, a cow, pigs, a garden, a wood lot from which to cut fuel, provide these things, if nothing more, and he was wise to secure a place where he can keep his feet on the ground and has an insurance against hunger.

At the end of five years, the man who sold may have realized his expectation of enjoyment of opportunity, convenience and attraction of the city, but the chances are 100 to 1 against him. The vast majority in any large city evidence more of failure than of success.

WHERE GLAMOUR AND ROMANCE WAS KING

MAJOR "JERRY" REED was a cowboy on the King ranch in Texas before he became a major. When he entered the World War, Jerry quit bronco-busting and cow-punching to enter the aviation service, in which he rose to the rank of major. As a sideline he taught prize fighting to the fistically inclined young bloods of the army. With the close of the war he entered the concrete contracting field.

But Jerry has dreamed of the glamour and romance of that great baronial estate of more than a million acres, the King ranch. To Jerry the ruler of that domain was greater than any king or potentate.

After years of contention the state of Texas has built a public highway straight through the center of those million and more acres. To Jerry the ruler of that domain is now but an ordinary individual, and the romance and glamour of the Lone Star state is gone.

'SLIM' ON DIET

"SLIM" WILLIAMS, an old Alaskan seafarer, prefers cream puffs to blubber as a steady diet. A few years ago, "Slim" drove a dog team from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Washington, D. C. A later exploit was an attempt to ride a motorcycle from Fairbanks to New York to prove the practicability of a highway from Alaska to the American line. "Slim" and his motorcycle did not get to New York, but he did get through the Alaska and British Columbia mountains to the American line and so claims to have proved his contention about a highway. "Slim" regrets he has passed soldiering age because cream puffs are now a part of army rations.

WORTH KNOWING

TEACHING ORIENTAL politics to American college youth is the vocation of Dr. William M. McGovern, a member of the faculty of Northwestern university. There are more people who know Dr. McGovern as "Bill" than as "Doctor." Those who know him as "Bill" know his avocation, that of seeking the out-of-the-way places of the world and seeing and experiencing the unusual.

"Bill" is a member of a head-hunting tribe of Ecuador. He has visited Lhasa in Tibet. He is an intimate friend of the Shah of Persia. Yes, he has been places and done things, but on the campus he is Dr. William M. McGovern, professor of Oriental politics. I doubt if the students and other professors at Northwestern actually know "Bill," but "Bill" is worth knowing.

TOO MUCH

OUT OF EACH of our earned dollars, government—federal, state, county, municipal—takes just about 30 cents for taxes. In 1900 it was only seven cents. We are paying too much for government, or paying for too much government. We, and we only, can stop that dollar-eating tax monster. The ballot box provides the weapon with which to slay it.

ARMY IN MUNITION PLANTS

WE MIGHT put the next million men for the army to work in munition plants, making the equipment they will need. It should be as valuable in our preparedness efforts as to have them drilling with broomsticks and pieces of stove pipe for guns.

AMERICAN WEALTH

THE TOTAL WEALTH of America, including everything that has a value, is estimated at 375 billion dollars. To divide that equally among all the people of the nation would give each of us about $2,885. With such an amount no one could accomplish anything. We could not buy and operate a farm, we could not build a factory or a railroad. Wealth becomes productive and of value to each and all of us only when it is consolidated. That is just what we Americans have done with our mites.

New Date Frocks Add Rhythm To College Girl's Wardrobe

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

PROBABLY "full credit for chic" won't be listed on college report cards this fall, but it's one course that is getting plenty of "cramming" the country over, as college girls settle down to the routine of classroom and campus life.

According to a recognized authority who annually advises hundreds of college girls on how to buy and how to wear clothes, as part of the functionalized "how to live" curriculum on a Midwestern campus, grooming has a significant influence on the adolescent girl. There is a relationship between success and a feeling of well-being which springs from the knowledge that one's best self is being expressed through the proper habits of posture, dress and general bearing.

"Wardrobe rhythm" is the way this authority describes the proper assemblage of clothes that are adequate for all occasions. Being well dressed on a modest budget is a matter of wardrobe integrating. One of the weaknesses of the average American girl is that she buys a one-occasion dress or an eye-catching number on the spur of the moment without giving any thought to how it will fit into her general wardrobe scheme.

The girl who wants to assemble a wardrobe that will be adequate for all occasions should decide on a color scheme for the season and stick to it. She should select frocks, ensembles, suits, coats and accessories that are interchangeable, meanwhile being sure that a dress or ensemble is suitable for wear on a variety of occasions. Variety can be achieved with bright belts, bags

Feature Ensembles In Costume Jewelry

It is a season of pretentious, important-looking costume jewelry. The massive sort predominates, such as huge wide bracelets with massive necklaces. Great clusters of colored stones or rhinestones form spectacular lapel pieces. Topaz and amber are in high fashion, to wear with autumn browns.

The newest effect comes from three separate pieces, varying in size but otherwise identical, that clip to dress or coat lapel in groups. Matched to these are earrings, bracelets and often finger rings.

Jet Gives New Sparkle To All Black Ensemble

For the sophisticate who likes to "say it" in terms of smart apparel there is an avenue of approach that leads directly to heights of modernism. It is the "black as a crow" ensemble that is being exploited this season among the ultra-fashionable. To achieve this your black crepe or jersey dress is flecked with jet, intensified with jet passementerie at throat and sleeves. A tiny jet hat with a snood at the back or a drape carries out the theory of seductive black. Gloves are black, and wispy sheer black silk hose are worn with black suede shoes. The hand bag is either jet embellished or of classic suede to match the shoes.

Use Lace Trim

Now that pleurms and tiers and flounces and overskirt effects are in fashion, designers are enhancing them with edgings of either black or white lace. Lace yokes are also being featured. Removable, very sheer lace gumpers are sold at the neckwear counters.

and carefully selected costume jewelry.

If you are planning a basic fall and winter wardrobe on a limited budget you might include a gray or tan herringbone tweed man-tailored jacket with a matching bias-cut skirt, a campus coat of bright red and gray or tan and green wool plaid lined with gabardine for general utility wear, a wool "dressy" dress for dates and those "special" occasions, a wool reefer in gray or brown to harmonize with the skirt of the suit or to be worn over the wool dress and a separate blouse-and-skirt dinner dress. These items, with a collection of sweaters and blouses, will keep you looking smart on all occasions.

Three simple "date" dresses that will major in chic for all more or less dress-up occasions are shown in the illustration. For "five and after" the "good little black dress" is ever a loyal standby. The tea dress of black crepe, left, with its long torso line accented by scallops and its American-beauty red velvet bow at the neckline, should win high honors. The tricorn hat adds just the right note of dash.

Off to the movies? Wear the "date special" shown to the right and you'll steal the show. It's tan with brown passementerie across the square neckline and around the waist. And the skirt—well, it looks as though the diabol is here to stay. A characteristic feature of this season's fashions is the importance attached to light wool daytime dresses in oatmeal, tan, beige, muted greens and dusky browns. The emerald green taffeta dinner dress in the center, above, should be a "come" signal for the stagline. The frock with its slimming torso line ending in a peplum will be voted an ideal basic evening dress.

AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX CO.

The AAA County Committee, and Community Committeemen with the assistance of the County Agent held a series of eight educational meetings throughout the county during the past two weeks for the purpose of presenting information on the 1942 National Farm Program. The All-Out Drive for Food for Defense has resulted in many changes in our Farm Program which was explained in detail to farmers in order that they might accordingly make plans for their 1942 production of crops.

The community committeemen will make a farm canvass beginning the latter part of this month. Every farmer will receive a visit from one of his township committeemen who will assist in preparing a farm plan which will show the farmer's intentions for compliance in the 1942 Farm Program.

With the exception of the wheat and potato payment earned on special allotments, the entire 1942 payment must be earned by carrying out soil-building practices. With this in mind, the county committee has ordered 220 tons of 20% superphosphate. This will be available to all farmers at the rate of $17.00 per ton and must be applied on soil-conserving acreages. The phosphate will be equally distributed at warehouses in East Jordan, Charlevoix and Boyne City which will enable farmers to obtain the material at the most convenient place. Marl and limestone may also be obtained for fall deliveries. Credit for these conservation materials will be applied on the 1942 farm payments.

Any farmer desiring phosphate, limestone or marl should call at the AAA county office in Boyne City and sign an order for the amount desired.

Cancer Consultant To Visit Physicians In This Region

In cooperation with the Michigan State Medical Society, a new and expanded cancer education program will be sponsored by the Michigan Department of Health; it is announced by Dr. James Chapman, Director of District Health Department at Charlevoix.

Dr. F. L. Rector, who for eleven years was the mid-western field representative of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, has been named cancer consultant by the Michigan Department of Health. Dr. Rector will work with both lay and medical groups in Michigan. He has been scheduled to visit Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet counties during the period of October 22 to 31 when he will call on the physicians in these areas.

Cancer is the second-ranking cause of death in Michigan, but in recent years it has been removed from the hopeless classification. When taken in time, cancer can often be effectively treated by radium, x-ray or surgery. Only these methods are effective, and at present anything else is considered a quack remedy.

There are no immunities, and cancer may affect anyone. Pain is not a beginning sign, as it is with other diseases, and so knowledge of the possible early indications of cancer is very important.

Dr. Rector is known to the medical and health professions of Michigan because of his field work with the American Society for the Control of Cancer. He made a survey of the facilities of treating cancer in the state in 1935 and the results were published in the Journal of the Michigan State Medical Society. He has spoken in many of the cities of Michigan before medical societies and hospital staffs, and before college, church, women's and other lay groups.

PROBATE ORDER

State of Michigan. The Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix. In the Matter of the Estate of Maudie R. Hammond, Deceased.

Bell Telephone Co. Make Refunds of $825 In East Jordan

C. L. Johnson, manager for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, has announced that refunds totaling $852 have been made to long distance customers in East Jordan in connection with the April rate reduction which brought intrastate toll charges down to interstate levels.

Johnson said the refunds have been made to 154 customers in this exchange. A recent check by the company showed that 45 per cent of its customers are entitled to refunds.

Except for "final accounts" involving discontinuance of service, change of numbers, etc., and possibly further pay-station claims, refunds have been completed in this exchange. Claim slips were provided customers making pay station calls to identify the calling party and many of them have been presented for refunds. On all other calls, the company has complete records.

The job of refunding involves the checking of approximately 85,000,000 records of individual calls. The company estimates that a total of $1,500,000 will be refunded Michigan users.

The refunds apply to calls between certain Michigan points during the period, August 1, 1938 to April 25, 1941, inclusive.

Refunds made since last July 1 bear interest at the rate of 1/2 of 1 per cent a month. Besides the refund, the company estimates the April rate reduction is resulting in savings of about $700,000 a year to Michigan users, based upon current usage of the long distance service. Another intrastate rate reduction which the company put into effect September 16 will result in further savings of about $230,000 a year.

RED CROSS NEWS

MAKING EACH THREAD COUNT

From Richard F. Allen, American Red Cross delegate in Marseilles comes an almost unbelievable account of the manner in which American Red Cross Aid to the women and children of unoccupied France is being literally stretched to the last stitch.

Out of the 278,000 sacks originally containing flour, 200,000 are being transformed into 200,000 baby shirts, 200,000 triangular diapers and 160,000 rectangular diapers. In addition, thirty volunteers will make 3,500 knitted panties for babies from the thread with which the sacks were originally sewn! Professionals will do the cutting and all other production work will be done by unemployed French women. The remaining 78,000 sacks will go to hospitals where they will be made into bed sheets.

Speaking of knitting — from Speed, Missouri, comes the tale of a 23 years delayed sweater. Mrs. Geo. Chamberlain of that town was at work on a sweater for the Red Cross 23 years ago when the Armistice of that war was declared. She unraveled the yarn when she heard the news, packed it away in moth balls and forgot. At the last call to knit she unpacked it, knit it into a sweater and a refugee from the present war is now wearing it. Chapter officials said the yarn to be in excellent condition.

STATE OF MICHIGAN — ORDER OF THE CONSERVATION COM- MISSION — RACCOON — LOWER PENINSULA.

The Director of Conservation, having made a thorough investigation of conditions relative to trapping of raccoon in the Lower Peninsula, recommends certain regulations.

THEREFORE, the Conservation Commission, by authority of Act 230, P. A. 1925, hereby orders that for a period of one year it shall be unlawful to trap raccoon in the Lower Peninsula north of the north line of Town 16 North and west of Saginaw Bay, excepting from November 15 to December 15, 1941, inclusive, and south of the north line of Town 16 North and east of Saginaw Bay, including all of Huron County, excepting from December 1 to December 15, 1941, inclusive.

Signed, sealed, and ordered published this fourteenth day of July, 1941.

Now that I have installed an automatic water heater I have hot water 24 hours a day at just the right temperature. My furnace is much more efficient since I removed the old coil and the cost is sure reasonable when you consider that I save one-fifth of my fuel supply that used to go to heat water.
