Food Stamp Plan Set-Up

FOR CHARLEVOIX CO. NEARLY COMPLETED. OFFICERS AND COMMITTEES ELECTED.

The organization of 30 Northern Michigan counties for the distribution of surplus food under the Food Stamp Plan has been nearly completed by Mr. McDermott of the Surplus Marketing Administration, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

The system will increase the food purchasing dollar by 50 per cent for many low-income groups, such as Mother's Pension, Old Age Pension, WPA workers, etc.

Stamp books containing various number of 25c stamps are issued, and for each dollar worth of orange stamps purchased the purchaser will receive FREE 50c in blue stamps. These stamps can be used for the purchase of food only, and in any store that qualifies under the Food Stamp Plan.

The plan goes into effect in all 30 counties Nov. 30. To assist in organizing Charlevoix County Mr. McDermott called a meeting at the Court House, Charlevoix, at which time the following officers and committees were elected:

Executive Committee

Chairman, Hanford Grey, Boyne City; Secretary, Mrs. Paul Snyder, Boyne Falls; Treasurer, Edward T. Carr, East Jordan; Gordon Dennis, Charlevoix; Wesley Dilworth, Boyne City; E. H. Clark, East Jordan; Dent Newville, Charlevoix.

Food Trade Sub-Committee

Chairman, Gordon Dennis, Charlevoix; Earl Clark, East Jordan; Ira Bowman, Boyne City; Mrs. Josephine Wojciechowski, Boyne Falls; Meyer Grocey, Ironton; W. A. Spalding, Walloon Lake; Martin Block, Charlevoix; A. G. Tillotson, Bay Shore.

Food Promotion Committee

Chairman, Wesley Dilworth, Boyne City; B. C. Mellencamp, Boyne City; Engle VanAllsburg, Charlevoix; Joe Nemecek, East Jordan; Chas. Cral, Boyne Falls; Chas. Friend, Boyne City; Milton Block, Charlevoix.

Food Publicity Committee

Chairman, Earl Clark, East Jordan; Kenneth Usher, Charlevoix; Guy Baker, Boyne City; G. A. Lisk, East Jordan; Roy Scott, Boyne City; Chris Taylor, East Jordan; Pat Curtis, Charlevoix; Paul Snyder, Boyne Falls.

Food Community Interest Committee

Chairman, William Lindsay, Charlevoix; Sam Arbuckle, Boyne City; Neis Rovik, Boyne City; Orla Belew, Boyne City; E. E. Wade, East Jordan; J. C. Killian, Boyne City.

Any set-up as large as this necessarily must have a plan with rules and regulations. Further details will appear in this paper. For information, contact the members of the various committees in your town. Or, mail your questions to the Chairman of the Publicity Committee, E. H. Clark, East Jordan, who will answer these questions publicly in the county papers.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stanek Celebrate Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Stanek of Jordan Township celebrated their 60th anniversary, Sunday, October 19, at their home where children and grand-children gathered and enjoyed dinner together.

They were born at Bohunov, Moravia, Austria. Mr. Stanek on Jan. 9, 1855; Mrs. Stanek on Nov. 17, 1857. In 1868, when children, their parents sailed from Bremen for America. This voyage took 12 days and they landed in New York.

From there they went by rail to Detroit which was just a small village, then to Racine, Wis., where they lived two years. After this they came to Michigan and landed at Pine River where Charlevoix now stands. From there they carried their possessions to South Arm and on to Jordan Twp. where they now reside. For a house they built log shacks and covered them with elm bark. They lived in these huts for a number of years. The floors had no boards on them, just sand. There were no roads, just mere paths through the forest.

They did all their planting and harvesting by hand as they had no implements with which to do the work. They bought provisions enough in the fall to last all winter and carried them from Pine River on their backs. Later the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad was built, and things became more convenient.

Mr. Stanek was united in marriage to Antonia Swoboda in 1881 and homesteaded the farm on which they now live. He and his wife cleared the land themselves and built their log house.

They now have quite modern buildings and electricity. Three sons and one daughter were born to them: Charles J., Albert F., Alfred, and Mrs. Albert F. Trojanek. They have eighteen grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Potato Yield Is Excellent

LATE GROWING WEATHER HAS DEVELOPED A GOOD CROP.

Some three or four weeks ago no one reasonably expected yields of potatoes to exceed three hundred bushels to the acre. The dry weather of July and August was responsible for a light set of tubers but the moisture and warmth of the last four weeks has made a very good crop throughout the county and the quality is the best in several years.

Four fields have been checked and graded and much to our surprise the highest yield so far measured is 357.1 bushels per acre. This field is owned by Ed Jensen, Walloon Lake and is 5.1 acres in size. The quality likewise was very good with 86 per cent No. 1 potatoes. They are good size and of very good type. These are of Russet Rural variety. The second high yield is that of Elmer Hott's in East Jordan, his Katahdins and Chippewas went 351.2 bushels to the acre. Again the potatoes are very good type and of good size, with very few No. 2's and 3's. The next highest yield was that of Lee Sneathen of Charlevoix who averaged 340.7 with Russet Rural on 16.4 acres. Howard Stephens potatoes went 323.4 bushels to the acre. These are of the Russet Rural variety. His field of Chippewas fell just a shade under 300 bushels to the acre.

The big difficulty with potatoes at the present time is the low prices being offered by buyers. Certainly with this nice crop of potatoes of good quality and type, farmers should not be expected to have to sell them at the prices now offered. Apparently 55c and 55c per cwt. is the price offered. Most farmers swear that they will not sell at these prices. Who can blame them?

B. C. Mellencamp, County Agr'l Agent.

Color At The Temple

Technicolor is on an even footing at the Temple this week with black and white with two of the four attractions in the gorgeous hues of the new perfected color process. Also of very special interest are the short subjects which include a March of Time release, "Norway In Revolt", an Our Gang comedy, Popeye, Robert Benchley, and two issues of current news reels. A complete program is listed in the Temple's ad in this issue while an outline of feature presentations is listed below for your easy reference:

Saturday only: Tim Holt and Virginia Vale in "Robbers of the Range." Popeye cartoon, Benchley comedy, Novelty.

Sun., Mon.: In Technicolor: Gene Tierney and Randolph Scott in "Belle Starr." March of Time, cartoon comedy, news events.

Tues., Wed.: Family Nites: Brenda Marshall and Jane Darwell in "Private Nurse." King of Texas Rangers, Novelty.

Thurs., Fri.: In Technicolor: Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon in "Blossoms In The Dust." Our Gang comedy, news events.

Farm Day Plans Going Forward

AT CHARLEVOIX ON SATURDAY, NOV. 1. GOOD EXHIBITS PROMISE FINE

The Charlevoix Farm Day to be held Saturday, November 1st promises to be a gala event. The premium list for the show has already gone forward to prospective exhibitors. Everyone is keenly interested in cooperating with the show officials toward having the best crops show ever held.

Fortunately the quality of potatoes this year is excellent. This means you can expect to see better exhibits than we have had in the past.

The forestry clubs in the county are getting their display of pine seedlings ready. You will be interested in seeing the various ages of pine trees that have been set out by the various 4-H schools and communities. The 4-H clubs and Smith-Hughes students have their potatoes already selected and are putting on the finishing touches.

Last year's champions Elmer Hott of East Jordan and Lee Sneathen of Charlevoix are out to duplicate last year's record of winning first places in Katahdins and Russet Rural. Both have excellent yields and beautiful quality. You certainly want to see these exhibits.

The program for Saturday evening to be held in the gym has not been announced by the committee. We can assure you however, that it will be one of the most enjoyable evenings you have ever spent. The Kiwanis Club of Charlevoix is spending a lot of time and attention in developing the final plans. While we do not want to be quoted on this we do know that a lot of local talent is being assembled. There will be many surprises in store for all guests of the show. Hope you keep Saturday, November 1st, free of conflict so that you can see the fine exhibits and enjoy the program being developed for your enjoyment.

B. C. Mellencamp, County Agr'l Agent.

E.J.H.S. News

M. E. A.
The County M. E. A. Meeting was held Monday night in the Agricultural room of the East Jordan High School. Mrs. Beryl Zerbst, president, presided.

The general purpose of this first meeting was for the teachers to get acquainted. For the musical portion of the program, Frances Malpass, a junior, sang a solo. Mrs. Zerbst gave a short talk on teacher tenure and appointed the committees for the year's work.

Before the serving of coffee and sandwiches, the group enjoyed community singing.

JUNIORS TO GIVE DANCE

The Juniors are sponsoring a dance at the Temple Roof this Saturday evening.

The dance begins at 8 o'clock. Admission is 15c and everyone is welcome.

"CRIMSON WAVE" Mired In Mud

Now we know what they mean when the expression is used "It never rains but what it pours!" The expression inadequately describes the weather last Saturday when the local football club, under Coach Abe Cohn, went to Charlevoix to do battle with the "Red Raiders", and came home with nothing but a 0-0 tie to their credit.

The entire game was played in the rain. Making passes was almost impossible, with kicks one of the main factors in the game. Bechtold's punting kept East Jordan out of danger throughout the battle, as Charlevoix was unable to come close to the 10 yard line.

With the addition of Hank Grutsch, heavy senior guard, our line looked as heavy and as strong as any Class C outfit we have seen this year. Grutsch has been out all season with a bad leg, this being his first appearance for East Jordan this year.

Coach Cohn is putting the boys through hard practice this week, working on blocking especially. Not being able to carry out blocking assignments in the last game cost E. J. quite a few yards.

The locals meet Onaway on the East Jordan field this coming Saturday, after dumping Charlevoix 6-0 the week before. This shapes up to be a good close game.

Sandack Jewelry Store Holding Public Auctions

Commencing this week Thursday and continuing for ten days, the Sandack Jewelry Store — formerly M. B. Palmer — will hold two Auction Sales daily. This is not a going-out-of-business sale, but more to get acquainted.

A complete high grade line of merchandise is offered. See large adv. in this issue.

4-H DAIRY BOYS ENJOY 2,600 MILE TRIP

Two Antrim County 4-H dairy club members, Walter Chellis and Bernard Best and two boys from the southern part of the state were accompanied by Mr. O. F. Walker, district club agent, and his wife, to the National Dairy Show, which was held at Memphis, Tennessee. The two boys from Antrim County competed in the National Dairy Show contest. Their demonstration was judged in the red ribbon group. Nebraska, Minnesota and Iowa were judged in the blue ribbon group.

Some of the highlights of the trip were the trips to the cotton fields where they saw cotton being picked and also followed it to the cotton gin where it was ginned and baled. A side trip across the Mississippi River into Arkansas was enjoyed. Four days were spent in Memphis where the 4-H members had the opportunity of getting acquainted with boys and girls from every state in the union except California, Washington and Nevada.

After leaving Memphis a trip through Mississippi, Alabama, and Georgia was enjoyed and many new sights were seen such as the making of sorghum, molasses, and digging sweet potatoes. From George the trip extended through North Carolina and into the Great Smoky mountains of Tennessee. Probably the most interesting part of the trip was going and into the Great Smoky mountains where it was necessary to climb about a mile high on winding roads to get over the top. At the top of the mountain we were several hundred feet above the clouds. The next step was at Norris Dam which was lighted at night. From here we traveled through the Cumberland mountains to the Mammoth Cave and then home. The trip covered over 2,600 miles.

Select Seed Corn Before Crop Goes Into The Crib

One-third of the 1941 crop of corn in Michigan grew from hybrid seed, according to Federal-state crop statistician estimates.

Which means that two warnings about 1942 seed corn are worth dollars and cents to farmers in the state.

Farmers who continue to plant the standard variety or open-pollinated corn ought to get their seed corn selected before the crop goes into the crib if they intend to plant from their own 1941 harvest. If farmers intend to purchase seed, the problem does not exist.

A severe freeze kills the seed corn germ if the corn contains much moisture. Members of the farm crops department at Michigan State College suggest field selection of ears as soon as the corn is mature. High yielding stalks that show no disease or weak shanks are the best sources. This husked corn should be put in a dry place where there is a free circulation of air. Professional seed corn breeders use artificial heat to dry seed corn.

Then there are the farmers who use hybrid seed. An excellent yield leads to a temptation to select robust-looking ears and use these for seed for next year.

This practice fails to pay, crops men report. Tests by the United States Department of Agriculture and several state experiment stations show that hybrid corn saved for seed a second year usually produces a crop no better than ordinary open-pollinated corn. Good characteristics of hybrid corn — strong stalks, uniformity and resistance to insects and diseases — are lost in the second year.

Urges "Food For Freedom"

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY FARM FAMILIES ASKED TO PRODUCE FOOD

More than 70 farm families of Charlevoix county who are borrowers of the Farm Security Administration are being urged to participate as much as possible in the "Food for Freedom" campaign launched by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, but to make 100 per cent production of food for home use, their foremost goal, Robert W. Ries, County FSA Supervisor, said today.

"Many Farm Security borrowers in this county are now quite ready to step in and do their part for national defense by increasing production of the needed food commodities, but first they will want to assure an adequate year-around supply of food for themselves, just as we have encouraged them to do in our program for the last six years," Mr. Ries asserted.

He made his statement in connection with the "all out" goals for a record 1942 production of dairy products, poultry, eggs, hogs, and vegetables recently announced by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard.

"Farmers generally are being asked to increase production of milk and other needed commodities, not so much by expanding their herds and their facilities but by more intensive feeding and better management. Among Farm Security families we have farm people who have been operating on just that basis for years, following definite farm and home management plans aimed, above all, at making the farm feed the family and getting improved production by using improved methods. These families now will be able to make a substantial contribution to the success of the 'Food for Freedom' campaign," the FSA supervisor declared.

While "Food for Freedom" will be the most important program of the Department of Agriculture "for the duration," Mr. Ries said rural rehabilitation, rural sanitation, efforts to improve leasing arrangements between landlords and tenants, medical care, and promotion of farmers' cooperatives would be continued by Farm Security in the interests of "helping small farm operators achieve more of a stake in Democracy."

Consult Your Navy Editor

PAUL E. LISK OF CHARLEVOIX CO. HERALD WILL ASSIST IN RECRUITING.

At the suggestion of Secretary of Navy Knox, Paul E. Lisk of the Charlevoix County Herald has been made Navy Editor, to help the Navy in giving ambitious local young men information about the opportunities the "Two-Ocean" Navy offers them for technical training and advancement as they serve their country in its emergency.

According to an announcement made public in Washington, a limited number of additional men between the ages of 17 and 50 will be given a chance, by enlistment in the Navy or Naval Reserve, to get to the top, with big pay, in jobs which by their aptitude and as a result of examination they show themselves fitted, from among nearly 50 trades and vocations. These include such callings as aviation machinist, dental technician, photographer, diesel engineer, radio technician, electrician, welder, storekeeper, and baker. Enlisted men may also qualify for commissions as officers.

Beginning this week, the Navy plans for a limited time to accept new qualified men for training. These men will be sent to one of four Naval Training Stations and may have a chance to go to a Navy Trade School even before assignment to the fleet. During this period they will be given regular Navy pay and the Navy's free schooling is valued at hundreds of dollars.

"Never in the history of the United States has there been greater opportunity for loyal young Americans to serve their country and build their futures than right now," said Secretary Knox.

In outlining the many advantages offered by enlistment in the United States Navy, Mr. Lisk, Navy Editor of the Charlevoix County Herald said, "It is possible for a bright young man to increase his pay seven times during his first enlistment and he can earn as much as $126 a month. This monthly figure is actually worth much more when it is remembered that the man has few living expenses and is provided with the finest of medical and dental care.

"You have all your food and lodging, and also your original outfit of clothing provided by Uncle Sam free," Mr. Lisk continued. "In addition there are free sports and entertainment — even to the latest Hollywood pictures. On top of this you get free travel and adventure in colorful places — a thing few civilians can afford.

"When you consider the size of this country and the fact that the Navy will select only 15,000 applicants a month from many times that number throughout the United States, the quotation, 'Many are called but few are chosen,' will apply to local young men interested.

"Navy men are a 'hand-picked' lot. Candidates must be men of more than average intelligence and ambition, of fine moral character, and must have the written recommendation of at least two local townspeople."

As Navy Editor, Mr. Lisk has just received from Washington a supply of free illustrated booklets for all men interested and, in addition, will welcome inquiries from young men who wish to look into the new and greater opportunities the Navy now offers for training for future civilian careers as they serve their country now in its emergency.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

Removal of Consulates From Moscow And Torpedoing of U. S. Destroyer Mark Important New Phase of War; Crisis Seen as Japan's Cabinet Falls

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

When the British and Free French took over mandated Syria from the Vichy French, they also took over the job of providing food for needy Syrians. Here is a typical scene at a food distribution center. Pails, pots and even wash basins are held aloft for offerings.

WAR:

New Phase

Evacuation of the foreign consulates from Moscow and the torpedoing of the U. S. S. Destroyer Kearney off Iceland, occurring as they did about the same time, were looked upon as two major events marking the entrance into a new phase of the war.

Immediate reaction to these reports was noticeable in their effect upon the congressional voting on changes being considered for the U. S. neutrality law. Effect of the news was also reflected in the progress of the "aid for Russia" program in which the United States, Great Britain and Russia were engaged.

'On Patrol'

First news of the Kearney incident came from Washington when the navy announced that the destroyer (one of the newest types) had been torpedoed while on patrol duty off the coast of Iceland. This report indicated that the ship was able to proceed under its own power.

President Roosevelt on the same day issued a statement saying that the torpedoing was clearly in the American defense zone.

Removal of the consulates from Moscow took place as the Germans, with their long range guns, began their "all out" campaign against the city.

JAPAN:

A Cabinet Falls

When news came from Tokyo reporting the fall of the Japanese cabinet headed by Prince Fumimaro Koyama it looked like prelude to an Axis move in the Pacific.

Immediate speculation was that the fallen cabinet would be replaced by one more "warlike" and it was indicated that this change meant the collapse of the so-called "peace talks" between Japan and the United States.

President Roosevelt conferred for two hours with top military and state department heads just following the announcement of the cabinet's fall. White House sources did not at once discuss the conference or issue a statement on the new threat in the Far East. Other informed quarters, however, viewed the situation as grave and some forecast that the change in government in Japan came at a logical time for that country to strike a blow against Russia to aid Germany.

RUSSIA:

Soviet Scene

As the German troops admittedly had smashed back the Russian defenders many miles from Smolensk, past Bryansk and past Vyazma, the picture became one in which the Russians admitted setbacks but always spoke of "heavy losses" to the enemy. The Germans issued optimistic statements so fast that the wires could hardly carry them.

Admitting many of the Nazi claims, Russian sources were asserting that "fresh legions" were entering the fight, that the Nazi advances had been made in spite of terrific losses, that the invader had been slowed, even halted and turned back at some points.

The British, including Churchill, took a rather gloomy view of the Russian situation.

As to American aid, President Roosevelt said it was going forward in heavy quantities—but gave no details. Lozovsky said "the Americans are sending us 5,000 planes a month," but that was nearly twice total American production.

While the Russian statements, many of them, sounded somewhat like "whistling" to keep up one's courage, still it was certain that the German all-out attack in the center, by Hitler's own statement a battle effort unequalled in the history of warfare, was not meeting the the walkovers of the past.

PRACTICALLY OVER:

Say the Nazis

From Hitler's camp the Russo-German war was over, militarily speaking.

In dispatches that had tumbled over one another in their eagerness to impinge themselves upon public opinion here and abroad, perhaps with the idea of frightening England from an attempt to cross the channel with a land force, Berlin rapidly had told the world the following.

Russian losses had been 3,000,000, 4,000,000, 6,000,000; figures given out within a 48-hour period.

Three, four—finally all Russian armies had been trapped in "iron rings" and the whole defense fabric of the country had been smashed. All that was going on now was under the head of mopping up.

ARMING:

Real Fight

With the President committed to congressional action permitting the arming of merchant ships—which many believed was Step One toward a further request to permit them to run right into British ports, the expected bitter fight of the non-interventionists against the administration's latest move had gotten under way.

Committee hearings started on the measure, which White House leaders had "timed" at three weeks to passage. This was the signal for a gathering of the anti-administration cohorts, who were able to muster only a corporal's guard against the $6,000,000,000 lend-lease bill which carried aid to Russia as a part purpose.

In fact, the opening strategy was planned at a meeting of 11 senators in Hiram Johnson's office.

The fight promised to be furious but brief, for few believed that the 11 senators and Hiram Johnson would put on the filibuster that was staged just before the first World war by the "wilful twelve" which included Senators Vardaman, Bailey, Reed, Watson and others.

LABOR:

Troubles Mount

Strikes and threats of strikes were on the upgrade again, with one interunion dispute involving 100,000 automobile workers, most of them engaged in making tanks for the army of the United States and other countries.

The C.I.O. workers of one plant were refusing to handle parts made by A.F.L. workers in another plant.

In a Cleveland factory making auto frames a strike went into its third week, and at least one big auto factory engaged in turning out "jeep" cars was without frames, and had to shut down.

Hudson and Buick factory officials said they would have to slow down passenger car production if the Cleveland shut down continued.

The first move in the strike-mediation effort to prevent the walk-out of a million and a quarter railroad men was flatly turned down. It had been offered by a railroad management group.

At the same time a Mississippi shipbuilding concern was tied up by a strike, while engaged in a $150,000,000 contract to build the latest type of merchant ship—an all-welded vessel of odd design.

WIDOW:

'Home to Die'

Human Interest Story No. 1 of the week was the return to New York of a regal woman of 73 who came in by liner from Lisbon, gazed at Gotham's skyscrapers and told newsmen: "I've come home to die."

She was the former Jeanne Luckermeyer, widow of Count Von Bernstorff. Forgotten was her husband's enmity to the United States, forgotten the bitter years, only her tired eyes and the distaste as she spoke of Hitler.

First Army Goes Into 'Action' in South Carolina

For weeks to come, the country made famous by Stonewall Jackson will see thousands of troops engaged in simulated warfare, during maneuvers of the First Army near Camden, S. C. At left, troops of the 13th infantry charge over a haystack. Center: Planes of the "enemy" swoop down with machine guns wide open. Wind and Rain Divide 'Honors' in Southwest

U. S. Farm Aid to Britain Likely to Pay Dividends

Better Home-Consumption Market for American Farmer Is Cited as Post-War Period Goal; British Expected to Co-operate.

By BAUKHAGE

National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street N. W., Washington, D. C.

After sitting down for an hour with the undersecretary of agriculture, Paul H. Appleby, on a quiet Saturday afternoon when only defense workers and newsmen have to labor, I walked back through the park with a feeling that perhaps some of the lease-lend bread which America is casting across the water might come back buttered, and even with jam on it.

Undersecretary Appleby was fresh off the Clipper from Europe where he and AAA Administrator Rudolph M. Evans had been talking food with the British.

Three things came out of my queries of the undersecretary as to his experiences.

First: Thanks to the United States, the British have passed what looked like a crisis in their food supply.

Second: The American farmer is going to get a little extra gravy for the extra sweating he is going to do to produce more "food for freedom."

Third: (and this is what I meant by the butter and jam on the lease-lend bread) Appleby believes, and he told the British so, that the United States has a post-war goal in its extra-production efforts. That goal is to build up a better home-consumption market for the American farmer—and all farmers—and the British are expected to co-operate.

As to the first point, Mr. Appleby was chary about giving out facts and figures. He did assure me, however, that quantitatively the United States is now delivering at British ports an amount of food sufficient to take care of the basic needs of the population, civil and military. That means there are enough ships to handle and deliver, taking sinkings into consideration, this minimum tonnage. So if the present amount of tonnage is limited and the type of food required for a balanced diet is raised in the United States, the islands will not starve. Although the British will be getting on with a lot less than they are used to, they will have enough of the right kind of food to do the job they are expected to do.

Complaining 'Wasn't Done'

According to Appleby, even when the pinch was at its worst early last spring, popular opinion in England was such that morale was not affected seriously. Complaining simply "wasn't done," as the English say. In other words, if somebody sounded off about what he was not getting to eat in a public place, he would be reproved in short order by his listeners.

The British food ministry and the department of agriculture officials now understand each other, according to Appleby, and each is satisfied as to the other's efforts, and those efforts have been co-ordinated.

Specifically, Undersecretary Appleby and Administrator Evans received suggestions as to improved packaging—for instance, minor changes in the content of a canned product, the kind of cartons that best protected a certain commodity. You see many of these products, in fact most of them, the United States had never exported at all before and American officials did not have experience in the best packaging methods. For instance, there were lessons in packaging and labeling to be learned about cheese.

The Americans suggested to the British that it would be easier to arouse the sympathy and co-operation of people in this country if they knew just what this food was being used for—say, one thing for school children, another for babies, something else for workers.

The British showed a break-down in the statistics was impossible because of exceedingly abnormal conditions of transportation. There is, for instance, uncertainty as to where a given ship is going to land, what railroad will be available for shipments. Then, too, there are many difficulties of administration which make it impossible to channel special shipments to special points or assign them to special groups.

Distribution Control

Another thing the Americans examined thoroughly was the control by the government of distribution of the products. All food belongs to the British government which turns meat over directly to the retailer and the other material to the wholesaler. The Americans say they were convinced that no profiteering exists in this procedure.

Although we have been able to bring lease-lend shipments up to 8 per cent of British food consumption in tonnage, and 20 per cent in value, that does not mean that our problem as far as production goes is solved. It is easy to provide a lot of things the British do not need, and hard to get some of the things they need most. For example: The British wanted 30 per cent of our whole navy bean crop. Navy beans were encouraged and American farmers produced 35 per cent more navy beans than normal. But a cow can't act that quickly when you ask for more calves, and when you get the calves it takes them longer to produce a quart of milk than it does for a garden to sprout a bean.

Cheese is another product that does not leap out of the ground. In some places you have to plant, not only the cow to produce the milk but you have to produce a factory to process the milk into cheese.

Now, as to point No. 2: What the American farmer is going to get out of all this. Mr. Appleby—expressing, I take it, the opinion of the department of agriculture and the government—feels very definitely that the American farmer must have a profit motive to bring about this extra production and likewise a profit when he has produced it.

What About 6 Per Cent?

"Mr. Morgenthau," I said, "believes that business ought to be allowed to make only 6 per cent on its investment in the emergency."

"Well," said Mr. Appleby, "if the farmer got 6 per cent and wages for his own labor and management, I think he'd be satisfied. Anybody ought to be satisfied with that in time of crisis."

And this factor—giving the farmer some assurance that his plant expansion, as they call it in industry, necessary to produce the things Britain needs, will not be a white elephant when the war is over, I mentioned—namely, the attempt to assure some universal benefit out of the whole lease-lend food effort—a benefit deriving from increased consumption in peace-time which the farmer as well as the rest of the nation would share.

The farmer does not want to have a new lot of surpluses on his hands when the war is over. He and the department of agriculture want to understand that the new production they are now building can be domestically consumed after the war is over.

Such consumption seems a long way off but it is a star worth following—once there were three wise men who had the faith to follow a star.

'Deep Satisfaction'

The other day a friend of mine went into a famous Washington restaurant. When he was seated a tall man strode in and took his seat alone in a corner. He is a well-known figure in Washington and my friend watched him. He took out the evening paper, opened it with a flourish and began to leaf through it. Suddenly his face lit up with a smile of deep satisfaction. He folded the paper carefully, set it up against the water carafe and began to read. His smile spread.

My friend wondered what he was reading and since he had a copy of the same paper and could see the lower half of the page the tall one was reading with such gratification my friend turned to that page in his own paper.

It bore a large picture of John Llewellyn Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America and former head of the C. I. O.

The tall man looking at it was John Llewellyn Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America and former head of the C. I. O.

De gustibus non est disputandum. The brilliant editor of the Farm Journal, Wheeler McMillen, says he doesn't like parsley. I enjoy the rabbit food myself. But I liked the corn-covered cover of his October issue so well that I pasted it right up next to my map of Europe to take my mind off the war.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

Before June 30, 1942, the United States must supply Great Britain with the output of 50 million hens, or 500 million eggs, according to the department of agriculture.

A good cook could use a barrelful of apples and never repeat herself once, says the Bureau of Home Economics.

The bituminous coal division of the department of the interior is considering a proposal for the establishment of a ceiling over coal prices as a means of protecting consumers from increasing prices.

SEVERAL ALTERNATIVES AHEAD OR ELSE INFLATION

THE GOVERNMENT is pouring out billions of dollars in the form of exceptionally high wages for the production of war materials. This increased revenue in the hands of the people is producing an unusual demand for civilian consumer goods.

The government, through the priorities board, is limiting materials that may be used for the production of civilian commodities, thus creating a shortage of those in demand. This demand, without sufficient merchandise to meet it, is causing a rapid price increase. Foods, especially, go higher each day. It is out of such conditions that inflation is created.

The American people have these alternatives:

Stop, or materially limit preparedness and aid to England production.

A wage reduction that will prevent people from having money with which to buy.

A system of rationing of all food and other commodities for civilian use, with each individual privileged to buy only an equal share of what is produced.

Government price fixing that will keep prices at a normal level without sufficient commodities to supply the demand.

Or suffer the evils of inflation that may bankrupt all of us.

EACH YEAR $142

JOHN DOE has a mortgage on his farm amounting to $4,735, on which he is paying an annual interest charge of $142. That is the proportionate share of each John Doe who is the head of a family of average size of the indebtedness of our various branches of government—municipal, county, state and national. It includes his share of obligations incurred by the many administrations and corporations created by congress, the indebtedness of which is guaranteed by the federal government, and also includes his share of the vast appropriations made and to be expended within the next 12 to 18 months. He may not know it, but he pays that $142 annual interest charge. It is a part of his tax bill or, indirectly, it is included as a part of the price of everything he buys. There are more than 26,000,000 John Does in the United States, of which more than 6,000,000 are farmers.

LABOR AND CAPITAL

THERE WILL COME A TIME in America when labor and capital will be recognized as partners in industry, when labor will be treated as a partner and will definitely know, not merely be told, that it receives labor's fair share of what is produced. Labor, generally, receives more than that today, but it is only told—it is not shown that fact. When labor is definitely shown, the difficulties between labor and capital will end. Such a system is working now in isolated cases. The first thing needed is for those who control capital, to realize that they are but trustees of industry.

BOOTLEGGING FOOD

AN ENGLISH FRIEND and his American wife were my luncheon guests in London one day during World War I. I asked them to remain for the afternoon and have dinner with me that evening. The gentleman explained they could not because he had a date with a bootlegger who had promised to deliver to him a pound of jam that afternoon.

The bootlegging of rationed commodities was as common in England at that time as was the bootlegging of liquor during our days of prohibition. Should we adopt a rationing system as a method of price control, we will again have bootlegging in every rationed commodity. I wonder if the man who would not buy bootleg whiskey would buy bootleg jam.

TIMES CHANGE

THE CONSTITUTION of the United States provides that only congress may declare war. Sinking the other fellow's submarines and sea raiders may not be considered war, any more than bombing and burning Chinese cities and killing Chinese people. Times and ideas have changed since the Constitution was adopted.

"I DID NOT THINK he would run for a third term," was the clever answer Jim Farley made to a reporter who asked if Jim thought the President would run for a fourth term.

TOWARD TOTALITARISM

A GROUP of distinguished scientists and economists at a recent session in Chicago said in technical and "high brow" language that the tendency of government is heading rapidly toward the elimination of the American system of free competition, the American way of life, the death of small business and individual opportunity, with government direction of large business. These men say we are rapidly nearing a state of totalitarian socialism, from which we will not emerge.

Flag of Christian Church

It is an international flag, signifying the internationalism of Christianity, and may be flown by any Christian church anywhere in the world.

For many years church members in the United States and abroad wanted an emblem to symbolize Christianity. So, in 1897, an American, Charles Carlton Overton, created a flag with a red cross on a deep field of blue, surrounded by a white background. This flag has been adopted by the major Christian faiths.

SOUTH ARM

(Edited by Ruth Goebel)

Archie Murphy finished filling silo Tuesday. Helping him were Ira Bradshaw, Carl Ellsworth, Andrew Wenderling and Walter Goebel. Ruth Goebel took care of Arnold Smith's children Saturday night while Mr. and Mrs. Smith attended the show at the Temple.

Walter Goebel Jr. was a visitor from Detroit at the home of his folks Tuesday, returning to Detroit Wednesday.

Mrs. Ira Bradshaw was called away by the sudden illness of one of her relatives, hoping to return home Saturday.

John Ter Avest called the sale of dairy cattle at the Theodore Leu farm last Thursday, and a large crowd attended and cattle sold real good.

Sunday school attendance reached a new high and the Misses Ina and Ella Gilkerson are really doing a fine job.

John TerAvest is hauling his potatoes to East Jordan, and putting them in storage.

Mr. Goodman is busy on his new barn which he is building on his farm and hopes to get it under cover before snow flies.

Miss Francis Behling was a visitor at the Goebel home Sunday evening. Our teacher, Miss Hapnick spent the week end here, not going home, but attending church in Wilson township, Sunday.

The singing of hymns was practiced at the Theodore Bathke home Sunday evening and a good attendance was present.

Walter Heileman has just about finished his moving to his new home, having some corn still to husk, driving back and forth and hauling the corn home every evening in his trailer.

Mr. Roscoe and Arnold Smith are busy painting their homes making them look real attractive.

Mr. and Mrs. McPherson were callers at the Arnold Smith home Saturday evening.

JORDAN

(Edited by Mrs. Tom Kiser)

Recent guests of Mrs. Frank Atkinson were Mrs. Isabel Dietrich (formerly Isabel Atkinson), Mrs. Nellie Hecker (formerly Nellie Atkinson), Mrs. Ray Hulén, all of Pontiac, and Mrs. A. Hecker of St. Louis, Mo.

Among those to call on Tom Kiser and family last week were Floyd Lundy, Joe Etcher, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sutton.

Joe Zitka and family have moved to his mother's (Mrs. Jim Zitka) farm.

Mrs. John Lundy, Bob and Charles Lundy of Central Lake; Dell Campbell and Bill Lundy of Saginaw; Geo. and Charles Craig were recent callers at the home of Floyd Lundy.

Bill Trojanek of Detroit and Edward Trojanek of Traverse City were week end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Trojanek.

PENINSULA

(Edited by Mrs. E. Hayden)

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Westerman of the F. H. Wangeman farm were called south out of Michigan, Saturday, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Westerman's brother, Lewis Taylor, who was killed near Flint in a head-on collision between two heavily loaded trucks, one from the Malpass foundry of which he was one of the drivers. He had just been given the job. The accident occurred during Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat McKinnon of Ellsworth were Sunday company at the F. K. Hayden farm, Pleasant View.

Among those who attended the regular fortnightly party at Star Community Building Saturday evening, were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Beyer and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Beyer and little son of Boyne City, and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Beyer and three sons of Detroit. After the party they adjourned to the F. K. Hayden home and had a lunch, and the Roland Beyer family departed on the return trip to Detroit. There will be another party held in two weeks on Nov. 2nd. Come and spend a pleasant evening. The Extension Club met with Mrs. Emma Hayden at Pleasant View farm Friday afternoon. There were 17 ladies and seven youngsters present. They spent a very pleasant afternoon. The next meeting will be Nov. 14 at the Star Community Building.

Mr. and Mrs. David Gaunt and Mr. and Mrs. Will Gaunt of Three Bells Dist. were Sunday dinner guests of the Walter Ross family at Norwood.

Mrs. David Gaunt of Three Bells Dist. spent most of last week with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Myers and family in Mountain Dist.

Roscoe Porter of Knoll Krest, who injured his knee several days ago, is now able to get around. It is not thought that he will have any permanent trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leshner and family of the A. Reich family at Lone Ash farm.

F. K. Hayden of Pleasant View farm helped his father-in-law, Richard Beyer in Chaddock Dist., Thursday.

Richard Hayden of Orchard Hill spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents, R. A. Hayden and four brothers at the Bob White farm. The family brought him back Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wurn of Star Dist. spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Elwood Cyr and family in Boyne City.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wurn spent Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Will MacGregor at Whiting Park.

Nearly the whole Peninsula turned out to the Red Leu Auction Sale Thursday of dairy cows and young cattle. Clayton Healey of Willow Brook farm got some of the cows.

The A. Reich family of Lone Ash farm are the first to report having their potatoes dug, a fine crop, finishing Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Peters of Phelps were company at the Ray Loomis home, Sunday afternoon, and for supper.

Food Stamp Plan Covers Michigan

FIFTY-NINE COUNTIES TO BE ADDED BY SURPLUS-MARKETING ASS'N

Extension of the federal food stamp plan into the remaining 59 counties in Michigan, with distribution already effective in 24 counties, is announced by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Selection of the remaining counties followed conferences between representatives of the Surplus-Marketing Administration of the department and local public officials, welfare officials, businessmen and bankers who will be concerned with the program. Operation of the program in the remainder of the state is expected to begin in about a month.

Under the stamp distribution program to be used in the counties, eligible families will be given opportunity to buy orange colored stamps at rates approximating their regular food expenditures, and to receive, in addition, free blue stamps for use in obtaining specially designated agricultural commodities to supplement their food supplies. According to the 1940 census, population of the 59 counties is 1,711,232. It is estimated that there are 32,000 cases, representing 94,000 persons, receiving public assistance in these counties and eligible to participate in the stamp program.

Farm products are moved through regular channels of trade to families on relief by means of the food stamp program. This gives the farmer a wider market for price-depressing crops, and at the same time adds needed health-giving foods to the diets of families receiving public aid. Among the 59 counties newly designated are: Charlevoix, Antrim and Emmet.

Pilot Teachers Have Quiet Task

Training Bombers Important Part of Preparatory Work in England.

WITH THE R. A. F. TRAINING COMMAND.—Flying instructors at this and a score of other training schools dotted behind the front line about the English countryside may bask in some glory—but it's only reflected glory.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill wasn't thinking of them when he described Britain's young airmen as "knights of the air."

They get none of the glamour which surrounds the fighter and bomber pilots. They never swoop over Berlin. They never get the chance to shoot down a Dornier, a Heinkel or a Messerschmitt. In fact, they never even see a Nazi.

"When Jerry comes, we make for home," one said. "It's our job to get our pupils safely back and live to fly another day."

Force Expanding.

After all, they are doing their bit just the same. Britain's bomber force is expanding rapidly, helped by an increasing number of machines from the United States, and the instructors must have ready the men to fly them.

The chief flying instructor at this station, a South African squadron leader whose first pupil was a fellow South African who recently won his distinguished flying cross, explained how the instructors work:

"First of all, we have to find out just how a pupil ticks. We watch the speed of his reactions and often can tell almost at once just how good—or bad—a pilot he will be. Then we must gain his confidence. That is the most important thing of all. After that—well, we just try to pump into him all we know. And here it's not always the best pilot who makes the best teacher."

Reflected Glory.

Most instructors, he added, take it almost as their own failure when a pupil fails to reach the required standard and is "grounded" as unsuitable to be a pilot. But they share in the reflected glory of an old pupil's triumphs.

"In fact," sighed one, "it's the only sort of fun we get."

There are many pupils in this school with an establishment a great deal larger to insure they have the best training that can be devised for them.

As all the pupils here will graduate as bomber pilots after their course, the training is carried out on twin-engined airspeed Oxford monoplanes.

They come here from the elementary flying training school, where they have learned the routine business of flying aircraft on a lighter single-engined machine.

In the dual-control Oxfords the pupil sitting side by side with his teacher, faces for the first time the imposing mass of instruments carried by a service aircraft, learns how to use his trimming tabs, stars for night flying, formation work, cross-country navigation, blind flying, signals, elementary bombing.

Some Peaks in New York State Are to Be Renamed

ALBANY.—Two New York mountains are getting new names.

The federal board of geographical names has approved changing the name of Middle Dix, the 4,404-foot central peak of the Dix range in Essex county, to Hough mountain. The change honors Franklin B. Hough (pronounced Huff), a pioneer in forest preservation work.

Another change, proposed but not officially approved, is to rename Bald mountain in the town of Warrensburg, Warren county, to Jimmie's peak, in honor of Jimmie Cameron, a pioneer woodsman. There are several "Bald mountains" in the state.

Also under consideration is changing the name of Stony Point on Cape Vincent, Jefferson county, on the eastern point of the entrance to Wilson bay in Lake Ontario. The point would be called Dablon point in memory of an early missionary. Another Stony point near by, at the entrance to Henderson harbor, leads to confusion with the Cape Vincent Stony-point, according to local residents.

Now What Is This Man's Army Life Coming To?

WASHINGTON.—The traditional diet of beans and more beans is going to get some real variations in the future, the war department has disclosed. Eighty enlisted men from four National Guard divisions have been ordered to attend bakers' and cooks' schools where they will learn such culinary refinements as pastry making and other delicacies.

Veteran Teacher Finds Boys Aren't the Same

PHILADELPHIA.—Boys are not what they used to be, according to Stanley Rhoads Yarnall, Germantown Friends School principal 33 years and a teacher for 42 years.

The 1941 boy is too sophisticated to place pigeons in assembly hall or throw water in paper bags from upstairs windows, he says.

"Boys, and girls of today have broader interests in life than those of 30 years ago," Yarnall explained.

ONE IN A MILLION

IN MOST of Michigan's southern counties, where corn is raised in abundance, hogs produce an important share of agricultural income. There are nearly a million pigs fattening on Michigan farms, and they will bring farmers upwards of $10,000,000 this year.

In the telephone, the successful hog raiser has an efficient, modern helper. He uses it regularly to help turn surplus grain into profitable pork, hams, bacon and lard. He orders feed and keeps informed as to the trend of livestock prices by telephone. The same swift communication system directs the movement of pork products from packing house to meat market to home refrigerator. A two-minute call to the store will bring you fresh country sausage or crisp bacon for tomorrow's breakfast!

Relief Map Shows America in Detail Completed After 17 Years Of Construction.

WELLESLEY, MASS. — Like Rome, the world's largest United States map wasn't built in a day. It has just been completed after 17 years of construction.

The $150,000 project covers 3,000 square feet and is housed in a specially constructed building at the Babson Institute. Spectators view the 10-ton relief model from a 14-foot balcony.

From Atlantic to Pacific the map measures 84 feet and from Canada to Mexico 48 feet. One inch represents four miles. It is the first map to be built on a curved surface. The curve rises seven feet in exact proportion to the earth's curvature.

Roger W. Babson, statistician and founder of the institute, conceived the giant-map idea during the World war.

The Harvard geographic sculptor, George Carroll Curtis, was hired but died two years after beginning the task. Work proceeded spasmodically until January, 1938, when 34-year-old Dr. Wallace W. Atwood Jr. of Clark university took charge.

The model has buff-colored land and blue water bodies. Mount Whitney in California, the nation's highest mountain, stands 4 1/4 inches on the map though it really is 14,495 feet high.

Dr. Atwood says the map would have tremendous military value during wartime. "Airplane pilots could be taught the country's topography. Also, if the United States were attacked, the map would be useful in planning and directing defenses."

Twelve hundred molded plaster of paris blocks form the map's surface. Each block measures one degree latitude by one degree longitude.

Aerial Warfare as Idea Found to Be Centuries Old

CHICAGO. — Warfare from the skies was foreseen centuries ago in China, according to a book written by the late Dr. Berthold Laufer, formerly of the Field Museum, of Chicago, and published by the Museum Press in 1928.

The book, "The Prehistory of Aviation," describes a "flying chariot," designed by a Chinese mechanic, Kikung. The Chinese emperor at that time, however, "caused the airship to be destroyed, as he did not wish his own people to see it."

Centuries later in 1670 the Jesuit, Francesco Lana, after planning a similar flying machine, published the best reason why the early Chinese machine was destroyed.

"I do not see any other difficulty that could prevail against this invention," Lana wrote, "save that God will never permit such a machine to be constructed in order to preclude the numerous consequences which might disturb the civil and political government among men. For who sees not that no city would be secure from surprise attacks as the airship might appear at any hour directly over its market-square and would land there its crew?"

"The same would happen to private houses and to ships crossing the sea. . . . Even without descending, it could hurl iron pieces which would capsize the vessel and kill men, and the ships might be burnt with artificial fire, balls and bombs."

R.A.F. Has Machine Gun That Shoots Backward

LONDON. — A machine gun that fires backward is the newest Royal Air Force weapon.

Fitted under the plane's nose, the gun is designed to protect the tail and cope with attackers who come up from below. Said to be the first of its type in any air force, it is aimed and operated by the navigator through a series of mirrors.

It was disclosed at the same time unofficially that the new Spitfire, described as "faster and harder hitting" than the fighter so successful in the autumn defense of Great Britain, will be in service by spring or earlier. Some of the machines are provided with cannon.

Farmer Declares Crows Feast on His Pecans

STILLWATER, OKLA. — Ever hear of crows cracking pecans?

J. C. Cox of near Stillwater has seen them do it, he insists. Here's how:

"The crows carry pecans to a fence post and dump them in a pile. Then a crow will take one pecan in his bill and hold on to the edge of the fencepost with his claws.

"He hammers that pecan against the top of the post until it is cracked. Some of my posts have half a peck of hulls around where the crows have feasted."

Learned Sign Language For Deaf-Mute Sermons

CLEVELAND. — A local mission regularly conducts religious services in sign language for its congregation of deaf mutes for whom spoken sermons are valueless.

The Rev. H. A. L. Grindon, who is able to hear and speak normally, learned the sign language solely to enable him to conduct services for the deaf at St. Agnes' mission.

Labors 26 Years on Odd Map of America Former Cartoonist Pictures History of Country.

DENVER. — If Fred J. Kingan were so inclined he would make an interesting teacher.

His pupils wouldn't need books. All they would have to do would be to look at a giant map Kingan, a retired lumberman, has completed in his spare time.

On the map—measuring 15 feet in length and 8 feet in height—Kingan has pictured a visual history of the discovery, exploration and early settlement of North America.

Started on a much smaller scale and as a hobby to fulfill a desire to know more about the early history of the nation, the map has grown far beyond his early plans and now represents nearly 26 years of research and seven years of painstaking drawing and painting.

Starting with Leif Erickson's voyage in 1001, he has depicted in 34 colors all the major voyages of discovery, the explorations of the Cabots, Coronado, De Soto and so on down to Lewis and Clark, Pike, Fremont, Custer and scores of others.

There are no state-line demarcations, but on each state he has painted the official seal and flower, and dotted about over the map are small paintings of historic happenings and personages.

A job as a newspaper cartoonist aroused his interest in art.

Next he turned to more serious art and studied at the Chicago Art Institute and from that he turned to architecture and drafting.

It was while working as a draftsman in Buffalo in 1914 that the idea for his map came to him and he continued working on it when he went into his father's lumber business.

New Capital of Fashion May Rise in the West

LOS ANGELES. — Southern California is expecting a new rush and if it materializes a new fashion capital may arise in the Far West.

The Los Angeles Fashion Group, a unit of an all-feminine international style organization, is planning to mobilize at least 70 creative style ideas and present them at an elaborate fashion show on February 13.

The show, which will be preceded by a dinner dance, will be called "California's Fashion Futures."

The Fashion Group, composed of some 50 key women in fashion work from merchandise managers to advertising directors and stylists, has been working for weeks on a list of California's most noted style creators.

Each of the designers will be invited to contribute a special creation that is to serve as an indication of future style trends. None of the designs will be for sale, since the show is to be non-commercial, but they will serve as future "ideaguides" for American designers.

Boston Yields Fishing Stakes of Early People

BOSTON. — Fish weir stakes, unearthed 35 feet below filled-in marshland in Boston's Back Bay supply evidence of New England's earliest people and culture.

Prof. Albert Morris, Boston university sociologist, says the fish traps date the era of prehistoric man 2,500 to 3,000 years ago in a considerably warmer climate.

He believes a band of "pre-Algonquin Indians drove their adze-sharpened stakes" down in the shallow waters of an inland bay. Discovery of the weir was made in August, 1939, during excavation for a building foundation.

"The weir is important," Morris said, "as the only discovery yet made that permits an approximate dating of the earliest people and culture of New England. There is evidence that the climate of Boston was considerably warmer at the time the first weir was built than it is now.

"The evidence of the Back Bay deposits is supported by studies of fossil flora everywhere in this country which indicate the ending of a warm dry period in northeastern America about 3,000 years ago."

CHAPTER I

Penn. Publishing Co.
W.N.U. Service

With a grinding of brakes the Imperial Express came to a stop at Nottaway, a huddle of log buildings and frame shacks buried in the eternal spruce traversed by the Canadian National. Beyond the clearing a steel bridge spanned the upper Nottaway River which flows north to James Bay. The attention of the idlers at the shack of a station was suddenly focused on a russet-haired giant carrying a case gun, duffel bag and a surveyor's transit, who blocked the platform door of a sleeper. He swung to the ground followed by a wide-shouldered young man with penetrating agate-gray eyes. From the Scotch station agent, who nodded, to two half-breeds who whispered, heads together, as they watched the travelers, the gray eyes missed nothing. The strangers left their dunnage and started for the head of the train. Reaching the staring half-breeds, the larger man stopped.

"Bo-jo! What's the secret, Mac?" he threw at the surprised pair.

Blood-leaped to their sullen faces as one said: "Nobody spik to you!"

"But you strain your eyes looking, don't you? You're figuring what my name and age is and where I'm from? Well, I always aim to please. I'm four years old; my name's Marie and I've forgotten where I'm from! That help any?"

The listening group of loungers waited with caught breaths as the scarred face of the taller breed filled with blood. His yellow eyes blazed as they measured the man who slouched, big wrists hands on hips, smiling at his discomfiture. For an instant his right hand hovered over his coat-pocket, then left it as his companion seized his arm.

"You look for trouf' here?" he snarled.

"Brother, I thought you were after information," drawled the amused giant. "And I was giving you some. Of course, if you can't use it—Well, a'voir, M'sieu!" With a careless wave of his hand the russet-haired young man joined his waiting companion.

"Don't start anything here, Red!" cautioned the dark man. "It's too early. We've got to look around. But you sure got the goat of that Burntwood."

"I meant to! That bird looks like a bad boy to me. He needs a spanking."

"Good job somebody did on his face with a knife!"

At the head of the train the travelers found a blocky individual sliding an eighteen-foot Peterboro canoe from a baggage car. His high cheekbones, slits of eyes and crow-black hair marked a strain of Indian blood. Watching the proceeding fretted a huge airedale.

"All right, Blaise," said the man with the gray eyes, "we'll give you a hand!"

The airedale leaped on the speaker who grasped the dog's hairy jaws. "Hello, Flame, old partner! The bush smell good after the train, boy?"

Depositing the canoe on the slant of the railroad fill, the man called Blaise said: "We got ta rush dat grub off! Dis train not stop for long time!"

Shortly a heap of dunnage and provision bags lay beside the track. The square-built Blaise tossed the canoe to his shoulder and started down a path to the river.

"Well, Red," said Garrett Finlay, "my guess is that those two breeds at the station might know something we came a long way to learn."

"Before we leave this great city of six shacks and a store I'm going to make some talk with those brules."

"They're altogether too keen to know who we are and where we're going. We'll give them a chance to find out, tonight," said Finlay. "Down the line they say no one at Nottaway will talk. Before we start we'll find out why."

"Chief, we can't go back, you and Blaise and me, until we do find out. We've burned our bridges! It's sink or swim, now!"

The bronzed face of the other hardened while lights flickered in his deep-set eyes. "Right, Red! We'll get to the bottom of this if it takes all winter and God help somebody when we do!"

After supper the friends separated. Leaving Malone in conversation with Cotter, the storekeeper, Finlay went to the house of the station agent, McLeod.

"So you're going to the bay on the survey?" observed the Scotchman, glad of the chance for a gossip with someone from the "outside."

"Yes, we're meeting the main party at Rupert House."

"Wintering there, eh?"

"Oh, yes. We won't get out until next fall. By the way, what's all this mystery about here, Mr. McLeod?" threw out Finlay.

McLeod shot a sidelong glance over the steel rims of his spectacles at his wife's troubled face before he answered: "You noticed something?"

"Noticed something? The place seems scared to breathe! When I asked Cotter who this Isadore was who has the big store-house here, he looked at me as if I was throwing a gun on him."

"Again the eyes of McLeod and his wife locked. "What did Cotter tell you?"

"Why, he said Isadore was a big fur man on Lake Waswanipi. He had a depot here because all his stuff went in from the railroad. But when I asked him if any prospectors were going into the Chibougamau this way he acted like a scared rabbit. I understand that three parties who tried it were reported drowned in the rapids. But what's mysterious about that?" demanded Finlay with assumed innocence.

McLeod's pale blue eyes squinted hard at his caller. "Young man, I've been on this section of steel only six months. My business is rail-roading. Your job is surveying for the government. What's going on in the bush two hundred miles north of here ain't my business. Is it yours?"

Finlay slowly smiled. "Then there is something going on in the bush north of here," said Finlay. "I've had my answer."

"Yes, you've had your answer," admitted McLeod, drily. "But, mind you, I'm deaf, blind, and dumb."

Finlay took a sheet of paper from his wallet and folded it to expose a single line of writing at its foot. He leaned and showed the folded sheet to the station agent. "I wonder if you'd recognize that handwriting, Mr. McLeod?" he asked.

"Nobody spik to you!"

While his wife peered over his shoulder, McLeod read the line aloud.

"I don't believe those six men were drowned."

The station agent nervously cleared his throat. "Never said that handwriting before!" he replied.

"With a shake of the head, while Finlay caught a look of suppressed excitement in Mrs. McLeod's pink face.

"You don't think that anybody in Nottaway wrote that letter, then?"

The Scotchman's faded blue eyes snapped. "No, I don't want anything to do with it!" he spat out. "Where did you get that letter?"

"It was sent to my family at North Bay. Robert Finlay, one of those six men, was my brother."

"Tch! Tch! Too bad!" murmured Mrs. McLeod.

"So you're here to investigate?"

"No, I'm here on survey duty—bound for James Bay! Naturally, after our getting that letter I'm asking questions, while I'm here." Finlay looked significantly at the McLeods. "But it looks as if no one dared answer them."

"I'm sorry," said McLeod, "but all I can tell you is that Isadore reported that the canoes of the parties had been found by Waswanipi Indians."

Finlay frowned. "Hasn't Isadore's freight already gone down river?" he suddenly demanded.

"Yes, weeks ago."

"Then the two breeds, here, who were so curious when we left the train are lookout men?"

McLeod blinked into the stare that drove into his. "Lookout men? I don't understand."

"I mean that they're checking on every canoe that leaves here for the north. What I'm asking you, Mr. McLeod, is who are they checking for and why?"

McLeod coughed, caught his wife's warning eyes, then replied: "If you think there was something suspicious about your brother's disappearance, why don't you bring in the provincial police?"

"I haven't got a thing but this letter—not a thing. But there's one question I'd like to ask you. Why does this fellow with the knife slash on his face pack a gun? What's he afraid of?"

"You're pretty shrewd, Mr. Finlay, you'll have to judge for yourself. I don't know."

After a chat about lower Ontario, the McLeods' home country, Finlay bade them good-night. As he left the house he saw the taller of the half-breeds who had watched his arrival at Nottaway with such interest. Finlay's curious eyes studied the man who was evidently waiting for him in front of the frame store, which carried on a spruce plank above the door the name "J. Cotter."

Approaching the half-breed, he called: "Fine evening!"

The other grinned, slapping vigorously at his face and neck. "Good night for bug, at-so!"

Finlay lost no time in getting to the point. "You know the river to the Bay?"

The breed nodded. "You headin' for de Bay on survey?" he asked.

"Yes, we're heading for Rupert. The river runs pretty hard for a hundred miles below here, I hear."

"Plenty strong water on all dese riviere! Two men drown last year!"

Finlay closely watched the flickering eyes as he said: "And four the year before, but that was on the Waswanipi, they tell me!"

"Ah-hah!"

"I see that the Hudson's Bay and Jules Isadore have depots here," observed Finlay, nodding at the store-houses beside the track. "Who is this Isadore?"

The half-breed gaped in surprise. "You nevere hear of heem?"

"No."

"Wal, you not see hees place on Nottaway Trail?"

"He does a big fur business. I judge, by the size of his depot."

"Ver' beeg business," he agreed.

"Ver' beeg! McLeod, he talk wid you 'bout Isadore?"

Finlay laughed inwardly. "No, he says he's new here, doesn't know Isadore."

"Ah!"

As yet the man who had evidenced such curiosity concerning the survey party had not shown his hand. Then Finlay abruptly brought the matter to a head. "You work for Isadore?"

"Yes."

"My name is Finlay. What's yours?"

"Louis Batoche."

"You handle his freight?"

"Yes. Now M'sieu! Finlay," returned the other with a grimace, "I ask you question. Why you go by dis way to Rupert and not by easy trail to Moose?"

Finlay laughed. So that was the nigger in the woodpile? They wanted to know why the survey party was taking the Nottaway Trail to the Bay. He answered disarmingly: "Oh, we're going to make a new survey of the Nottaway from Lake Matagami to Rupert Bay. Otherwise we'd have gone by Moose."

Garry narrowly watched the effect of his explanation. The half-breed lifted his brows in seeming surprise as he replied: "Ah-hah! I see!"

The answer appeared to satisfy Batoche's curiosity. His eyes dropped to the river shore where the smoke from Blaise's smudge fire hung in the spruce tops. Then his gaze shifted to a tent above the bridge.

"Who are those men camped there, prospectors?" asked Finlay.

Batoche laughed. "Dey head for de Rouyn contree."

"Not interested in trying for the Chibougamau?" Finlay watched the other closely.

Batoche's eyes glittered. "Chibougamau?" he sneered. "Onlee fool head for de Chibougamau from here!"

"And they paid for it by drowning in the Waswanipi rapids—all of them."

Batoche's pale eyes probed the inscrutable face of the white man, then shifted to the spruce ridge, beyond the river.

"Onlee Montagnais Indian travel dat Waswanipi. It ces bad water: De prospector all go in from Lac St. Jean."

"I hear that Isadore's people found a piece of a canoe."

"For sure! All smash up below beeg rapide on Waswanipi!"

"Which party was that?"

"Two young faller who go in last year wid Peterboro cano."

Finlay's eyes clung for an instant to the purple ridge as pain lanced through him. "That's all they found—no bodies or outfit?"

Batoche shook his head. "Dat's all!"

"Well, I'm much obliged," said Finlay. "I've got to see my man, Brassard. We'll be pushing off in the morning."

"Bo-jo!" replied Batoche as Finlay left him and started for the camp on the river shore.

In the meantime, down on the river shore, Blaise Brassard had been smoking in the lee of his smudge fire before a small A tent with a cheescloth mosquito drop. Near him lay the big airedale.

"Flame," said the ruminating Brassard, exhaling a cloud of pipe smoke, "you and Blaise got big job dis summer. Wat you tink?"

The dog raised his head. His three-cornered eyes gazed fixedly through shaggy brows as if he understood and agreed. Then he suddenly stiffened, ears cocked, rose to his feet and stood with head thrust forward peering into the scrub.

As might be expected since Camel cigarettes are America's favorite, the induction into service of thousands of selectees and volunteers has only emphasized the service man's preference for Camels. Actual sales records from service stores show Camel is the favorite with men in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard. Prince Albert is another big favorite with men in camp or on ships. Since service men have indicated in all surveys to date that tobacco ranks first in the gift line-up with them, it is natural that local tobacco dealers are featuring cartons of Camels and pound tins of Prince Albert as ideal gifts for the men in the service from the folks back home.—Adv.

WITCHES' NIGHT OUT

Spooks and fun while the goblins, black cats and ghosts make merry— isn't that an inspiration to have one grand, merry party before the winter sets in? Come, let's plan stew and brew and set the witches' cauldron boiling and bubbling!

You'll need hearty sandwiches, plentiful and hot since the weather's slightly nipped with frost. Of course you'll have cider and doughnuts because they're wedded together and traditional. To top it off, have a witches' cake, a chocolate, honest-to-goodness devil's food, moist and crumbly, and perhaps one of those pumpkin-shaped molds of ice cream, or at least orange-ice, to carry out October's orange and black color scheme.

The party starts as soon as the invitations are sent out. These can be pumpkin, black cat or cauldron shaped, made double with the invitation written on the inside. Send them early so your guests won't make other plans. The more, the merrier.

Twirl some streamers of orange and black crepe paper around the room, bring out the frayed straw hats, checked shirts, and grandmother's costumes from that trunk in the attic. All set? Here we go!

Sandwiches.
These can be made on the buffet or at the table if you have a sandwich toaster. If made in the kitchen use the broiler. Have assorted bread, butter, slice cheese on first layer, then another slice of buttered bread, then a slice of ham, and top with a slice of bread. Toast, cut in three, and fasten with toothpicks.

To bewitch your family and guests completely serve them a cake with that agreeable melt-in-your-mouth quality. Measure the ingredients carefully so you'll attain that feathery lightness so essential to a good cake. After the icing is spread on the cake, make decorations with melted chocolate.

Witches' Cake.
(Devil's Food)
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons double acting baking powder
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or shortening
1 cup sugar
2 egg yolks, well beaten
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 1/4 cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and soda. Sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar, and cream

LYNN SAYS:

A Halloween party can be a success without the least fuss. First of all, decorations and table settings don't have to be letter perfect, for you can have the most fun in the midst of the basement or barn decorated with sheaves of cornstalk, pumpkin faces, rakes, hoes and goblins made of sheets.

For your table use a large piece of burlap or cotton sacks sewed together and dyed scarlet or gold. A centerpiece of pumpkin with candles inside the hollow of fruit and burnished autumn leaves will bring cheers.

Write fortunes and place them in apples or nuts. Play pin the tail on the cat. Bob for apples. Have target practice with bean shooters. Dance the Virginia Reel and other square dances if your floor can stand it—all amid plenty of black and orange crepe paper. Halloween's the time for all this noisy fun.

together until light. Add egg yolks, beat well, then chocolate and blend well. Add flour alternately with milk and beat well each time. Beat until smooth, add vanilla, and fold in egg whites. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer pans in a moderate (350 degrees) oven. Ice with:

- Seven Minute Frosting.
2 egg whites
1 1/4 cups sugar
4 tablespoons water
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar

Put egg whites, water, sugar, in top of double boiler and set over boiling water. Beat constantly for seven minutes with rotary beater then remove from fire. Add vanilla and cream of tartar and beat until consistency to spread. Marshmallows (about 12 to 15) cut in pieces may be added.

Speaking of luscious cakes, there's another type of cake which will be just as much of a success either at your Halloween party or cake sale. As different from a chocolate cake as night from day, is this light, tender Silver Moon cake. Its velvety texture is no trick—if you use a good shortening and cream it well:

- Silver Moon Cake.
1/2 cup shortening
1 1/4 cups granulated sugar
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon almond extract
1/2 cup milk
5 egg whites

Cream shortening and sugar until light, then add milk and sifted dry ingredients alternately, beating after each addition until smooth. Fold in stiffly beaten whites and flavoring last. Bake in three layers in a moderate (375 degrees) oven, 25 minutes. Frost with a butter frosting:

- Uncooked Butter Icing.
1/2 cup butter
2 cups powdered sugar
3 tablespoons hot milk
1 teaspoon lemon or almond flavoring

Cream butter and shortening, add milk and blend until smooth. Add flavoring. For variation, add 2 1/2 squares semi-sweet chocolate melted before blending in milk. Flavor chocolate icing with vanilla.

A cake that wins a place in the Hall of Fame is this spice cake without which no cake sale is complete. But it isn't just an ordinary spice cake for it has the subtle flavor of bananas combined with the spices:

- Spice Cake.
(Makes three 9-inch layers)
1/2 cup butter
2 cups brown sugar
4 eggs
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon each, cinnamon, nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon each, allspice, cloves
2 1/2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
2 bananas, mashed, fine

Cream together the butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add beaten egg yolks and bananas and blend well. Sift together the dry ingredients twice. Add them alternately with the milk, beating smooth after each addition. Last, fold in egg whites. Bake in three layer pans, in a moderate (350 degrees) oven, for 35 to 40 minutes. Ice between layers with a double recipe of the Seven minute icing or Chocolate flavored uncooked icing. For a fruity spice cake, 1/2 cup raisins and 1/2 cup nuts may be added with the flour.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for October 26

CIVIC RESPONSIBILITY REGARDING BEVERAGE ALCOHOL

LESSON TEXT—Deuteronomy 5:32, 33; 11:26-28; Isaiah 28:1-6; Habakkuk 2:12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people.—Proverbs 14:34.

Legal approval of the sale of alcoholic beverages has largely taken the matter out of the hands of the home and the church and has made liquor a civic problem. That, of course, does not provide us with a convenient excuse for evading our personal responsibility, for the nation is made up of you and me, of your home and mine, of your church and mine. We must share the nation's responsibility gladly and actively, if we are to be worthy of our citizenship. Especially is that true of the Christian, for he sees the spiritual and moral implications of the matter, and he also knows what to do about it.

I. Righteousness Exalteth a Nation; but Sin is a Reproach to Any People' (Deut. 5:32-33; 11:26-28).

That may sound a bit old-fashioned and it may appear that men have abrogated that principle, but if we wait a bit we shall see that it still works.

1. Righteousness Brings Blessing (Deut. 5:32, 33; 11:26, 27). In this callous and indifferent generation we need to repeat with emphasis the fact that there is laid down in the very constitution of the universe a moral distinction between right and wrong. Right is always right and wrong is always wrong.

The book of Deuteronomy presents the fundamental laws of God. In this fifth chapter there is a review of many of these laws and a practical appeal for obedience. It is pointed out that the way of liberty in the walk of life is to turn neither to the extreme of legal bondage nor to the opposite extreme of human license, but to "walk in all the ways which the Lord your God hath commanded you." Walking in His ways brings all the blessings of Deuteronomy 5:33, a promise which is repeated in 11:27.

2. Unrighteousness Brings Judgment (Deut. 11:28). Turning aside from God's ways must bring upon man His curse. It is no light matter to be under God's disapproval. We who know how much the approval or disapproval of frail human beings around us may mean, should consider what it means in the life of a man (or of a nation) to have the eternal, omnipresent and omnipotent God against him.

Then what about a people which countenances the manufacture and the sale of intoxicants, which they well know bring about wickedness and vice which can only call for the judgment of God. Many believe that the great war in which the world is embroiled is simply God's judgment upon the nations (including England and America) because they have turned aside from His holy ways. That means that the most effective way to stop the conflict is national penitence and prayer. Why not believe and practice II Chronicles 7:14?

II. Civic Greatness Cannot Be Built on Sin and Oppression (Isa. 28:1-6; Hab. 2:12).

Yes, that sounds old-fashioned too! The theory of today seems to be that the road to greatness is by way of disregard of God's laws, and by the application of the mailed fist of cruel conquest. But let us remember that others have tried the same violation of God's law, and let us recall what happened to them. Did you ever hear of Napoleon?—of Alexander the Great?—of the "glory that was Greece"—and the world conquering power of ancient Rome? Modern military leaders could well afford to spend less time on their books of strategy and their war maps and more time reading the Bible and the pages of history.

1. Drunkenness and National Decay Go Together (Isa. 28:1-6). The leaders of Israel (Ephraim) lingered long over their wine bowls as they spoke with pride of their nation, and especially of Samaria, its crown. It was a city beautifully situated on a hillside surrounded by a fertile terraced hillside.

Does not that all have a vaguely familiar sound? A great nation of our day which now lies in bondage to its neighbor dictator not long ago spoke with pride of its attainments and its security, while (according to the testimony of its own leaders) the use of intoxicants went on apace, even in the army.

2. Permanent Power Cannot Be Built on Oppression (Hab. 2:12). Here again history reveals the correctness of Scripture. Many a nation has sought to find its "place in the sun" by building with the blood of its vanquished enemies. It has never worked, and it will fail now just as it has in the past.

What about the city, state, or nation that attempts to promote its own growth out of the taxes on liquor and its sale?

Elegance and Refinement Are Apparent in Furred Costumes

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THERE is a genuine feeling for elegance and refinement expressed throughout the fall and winter fashion program that bespeaks the discriminating taste of best-dressed women. Among the signs that point to a definite movement toward distinctive apparel that carries a message of "tone" and quality is the emphasis placed on luxury fabrics this season, on sumptuous furs, important-looking jewels and accessory accents that impart thoroughbred touches to the costume.

Then, too, the revival of dress-up clothes for "after five" is noted this season. The street-length dinner dress is an important fashion which in turn brings back into the picture formal little early Victorian dinner hats to wear with them. The new long gloves add dignity and luxury.

That there is a definite importance attached to richly fur-trimmed costumes was a fact emphasized when the Style Creators of Chicago presented a showing of representative fall and winter modes recently, three of which appear in the accompanying illustration. These luxurious costume suits of wool have dresses that are jewel-studded at the top and have fur-trimmed jackets for added elegance.

Smart and distinctive is the fitted three-quarter length cutaway bordered in fox shown to the left in the picture. Its matching dress has below-elbow sleeves, a tucked neckline and a huge clip of silver, turquoise and aquamarine. A cleverly styled pompadour hat of felt adds a convincing style touch.

Amethyst-colored wool is the fabric selection for the suit in the center of the group. Its hip-length jacket is distinguished by a flattering collar of blue-dyed fox. The high draped turban is in two shades of amethyst.

The fitted and bloused jacket of the soft brown wool suit shown to the right has a front of sable-dyed squirrel. An autumn brown felt hat with wide-brim softly shirred and choux of green velvet tops this handsome outfit.

A record-breaking season that will dramatize furs to the limit is in promise. Designers are using fur so intriguingly that only seeing is believing. Their efforts run in two distinct avenues of thought. One approach leads to the lavish use of fur as a trimming, as demonstrated in the accompanying illustration. The newest coats are enriched with tuxedo panels of fur, dresses have tunics heavily bordered with fur, and there are attractive appliques of flat fur.

On the other hand, designers are playing up high drama in separate fur pieces. Muffs were never so huge and, as if to stress this fact, hats in matching fur are often so tiny they look like topknots perched on pompadours or thrust at a dangerous angle over the forehead. However, milliners are seeing to it that there are fitted snoods at the back or other contrivances that insure firm anchorage to the head. Nor are all fur hats tiny, for one of the smartest hat fashions this season is the wide brim that is fur-faced.

All sorts of fur neckpieces are made of fur, the latest bit of fashion gossip centering about the new stole effects. Some of them are like capelet scarfs. Other fur fantasies include fur-cuffed gloves, huge bows of fur to wear at the throat, shoe ornaments, bracelets with danglers of fur corsages or fur flowers, and fur motifs to applique.

Jewels on Wool

A button craze is on. Designers are working overtime devising ways to "show off" buttons. Fashion even has a surprise for your tailored wool suit—jeweled buttons! It's this kind of ingenuity that keeps things interesting. From the American couture series by "la Mode," come the buttons of variable colored jewels that march in double rank and file up and down the jacket of this smart suit, climaxed by a matching spray lapel pin. You will find these jewelry- and button ensembles equally fascinating on tailored and dress-maker suits.

So brighten up that dark sheer wool, or make that gaudy plaid even more enchanting with buttons, buttons and more buttons!

All That Glitters Is Right in Style

Everything in the way of hats, dresses, suits and accessories glitters this season. You do not have to stop and wonder if this glittering touch or that will be in good taste. It is good taste, according to fashion's decree. The embroideries massed on evening fashions are masterpieces of needlework. The jet accents on day frocks, be they simple wool or regal velvet, are everywhere. Nailheads are no respecters of fabrics. They glitter on suits and on elaborate dress gowns alike.

Black frocks are being illumined with flashes of gay beadwork and embroidery. And the latest is bright red, green or vivid blue sleeves, lavishly embroidered. Hats, too, come in for their share of glitter. Some are of fur encrusted with gay sequins.

Dressy Afternoon Suits Of Velvet or Rich Silk

The trend toward gentleman fashions is reflected in the new afternoon suits displayed in current costume collections. You will still wear tweeds for morning and about town, but for afternoons you will be wanting a suit in black, brown or deep jewel-colored velvet. If you prefer, you can choose a suit of elegant moire silk. Most of the suits have jackets with flaring peplums.

Match Them

Match your petunia-colored gloves with stockings in identical hue. Give your simple black dress a dashing filip with these accessories. Top it with a little jet dinner hat—that's fashion's way of doing it this season.

Witness Finally Admitted Stronger Force's Influence

Cross-examining a witness on the other side, an attorney tried by every means possible to discredit him.
"You tell us you came to the city in search of work," he said meaningly. "I put to you that there was another, a stronger, motive which brought you all that distance. Isn't that so?"
The witness hesitated a time, then slowly replied, "Well, yes, there was."
"Ah!" exclaimed the barrister triumphantly, "Now tell the court what it was."
"A locomotive," replied the witness blandly.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended. They move sluggishly, and if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Spasms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is what is needed. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

Australia Adds To War Efforts

Production of Planes, Naval Vessels and Munitions Progresses Rapidly.

MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA.—Australia already is committed to a war expenditure of more than £200,000,000 in the year ending next June 30. This compares with £270,000,000 spent in the whole of the last war. The new program has propelled Australia into an industrial revolution. At a cost of £50,000,000 she has established an armament industry surpassing India's in magnitude of output and second only to Canada's.

More than 120,000 men enlisted in the Australian imperial force, the vanguard of which made a brilliant beginning in the capture of Bardia, Libya. Reinforcements are being enlisted at the rate of 5,000 a month. An additional home-defense army of 250,000 men is being raised, chiefly by compulsory enlistment of single men from 19 to 33 years old.

The program for building three Tribal class destroyers and 50 mine sweepers, half of which are for the United Kingdom government, is proceeding and a number of vessels already have been launched.

Air Force Stronger.

The air force is 11 times stronger than it was before the war, having a personnel exceeding 40,000. A total of £37,000,000 will be spent this year in development of the empire air scheme and in strengthening Australia's air defenses. Nearly 38,000 men have been enlisted under the empire scheme.

In addition to the men training in Australia, many air contingents have gone to Canada and some to Rhodesia for training. Others have reached the United Kingdom for the final stages of training and will soon be in action.

The air force was strengthened in 1940 by the delivery of the one-hundredth Lockheed-Hudson bomber from the United States, as well as hundreds of other aircraft from Britain for the empire scheme.

Hundreds of thousands more Australians have been employed in production of aircraft and munitions and in growing food for Britain. A total of £15,000,000 will be spent this year on new munitions establishments. Australia maintains a steady supply of munitions to Britain and also exports to New Zealand, India, the Straits Settlements and Hong Kong. Training aircraft such as the Australian-designed Wirraway and Tiger Moth are being produced at the rate of four a day and designs are being perfected for a high-speed bomber. Delays are being overcome in completion of a plant for the manufacture of Bristol Beaufort bombers.

Speed Production Rate.

Since Essing Lewis, managing director of the Broken Hill Proprietary company, Ltd., and director general of munitions, assumed control of munitions production, assisted by eight other leading industrialists, a new pace has been set in rate of output. Airplane engines were in production within six months after receipt of blueprints from overseas and a huge factory now is being equipped for the manufacture of optical-glass aircraft instruments.

Orders totaling £2,000,000 have been placed for construction of Australian machine tools for new defense workshops. Motor-body and automobile-assembly workshops are delivering scores of vehicles to the army daily. There is a steady supply of stores and equipment for technical units.

Factors that assisted in this impressive record are the steel industry, capable of producing more than 1,500,000 tons of high grade steel yearly, and the manufacture of hundreds of components for munitions, machine tools and aircraft in hundreds of private factories.

Girls Find $65 in Bank

Notes in Waste Paper

FORT EDWARD, N. Y.—Sorting old waste paper at the plant of the International Paper company three girls found a total of $65 in banknotes. The money, it is believed, had been placed between the leaves of a book or magazine and had fallen out in the process of sorting.

Forest Fires Reduced

TUCSON, ARIZ.—Forest fires in Coronado national forest in 1940 caused an estimated damage of only $50 in comparison with the 1939 estimate of $5,140.

Woman Goes to Guillotine

BORDEAUX, FRANCE.—The first woman to die under the guillotine in France in 52 years was executed recently for poisoning her husband and mother.

Vanished Men BY GEORGE MARSH

Around the campfires in the Canadian wilderness men began muttering over the mysterious disappearance of six frontiersmen who had hit the Chibougamau Trail and never returned. They were in terror of Jules Isadore and his right-hand man, Tete Blanche.

But Garry Finlay, brother of one of the missing men, marched into the forbidden country with two others and Flame, his giant airedale. Neither bullets nor poison could hold them back. At last, scorched by the leaping flames of a forest fire, they solved the mystery of the missing men and brought retribution upon the murderers.
