NUMBER 8

Death Claims Albyn Warda

WAS KNOWN FROM COAST TO COAST IN THEATRICAL WORK

Following an illness of many months, Albyn Warda, East Jordan resident, since the summer of 1913, passed away in Lockwood hospital, Petoskey from a heart ailment Saturday morning, February 14th.

He was born in Des Moines, Iowa, August 12, 1871, the son of Fannie (Baker) and David Belmont Warda.

His mother played second violin in the first woman's orchestra that toured the United States. When he was fourteen he enrolled in the Des Moines School of Oratory and later when the family moved to Kansas City he became a student in a similar school there, whose head had played in companies with the great tragedians, Lawrence Barrett and Edwin Booth.

In March, 1887, Edwin Booth's Company played in Kansas City and Mr. Warda was taken on as an extra for the rest of the season. His plan to teach oratory and play Shakespearean roles was blocked when a severe attack of measles resulted in the loss of the entire lower register of his voice.

After taking a business course he was night clerk in a hotel, across the street from a theatre. A stock company, playing there, got much amusement from his soft voice, and when a substitute was needed one night for the part of "Aunt Charity" in "Over the Hills to the Poorhouse" they persuaded him to play the part. He virtually "stole the show" and continued with this company for several years, playing feminine roles. The spring of 1893 found him in Chicago. Fanny Davenport was there for six weeks, playing "Cleopatra" and Mr. Warda had charge of all sound effects; cueing the mob scenes, and making up the extras. The show closed just as the World's Fair was opening. He had become an expert solo dancer and opened at the Midway Plaisance, under the management of Colonel Hopkins, just two concessions from Sandow, the "Strong Man," who was appearing under the management of Florenz Ziegfeld, of Follies fame. Col. W. P. ("Buffalo Bill") Cody had a portion of his wild West show there and he and Warda became warm personal friends. Later, when visiting in the Cody home in North Platte, Neb., Col. Cody gave him one of the 44 Colt revolvers he had used while shooting buffaloes to fill his contract for meat, with the Union Pacific railroad during its construction; a relic which Mr. Warda still treasured. At the close of the Fair, Warda and Sandow, under the same managers, played on the same bill at the Trocadero theatre in Chicago. Warda's next engagement was with the Royal English Circus in Milwaukee. His act was a "Transformation Dance," given with changing lights. This was before the day of modern lighting and he had to perform, facing the footlights, seven calcium lights of 1300 candle power each. The result was temporary blindness and he finished the run by being led to and from the stage. At first there were no guards, but a rope was finally stretched across the front of the stage, after he had danced across the footlights and landed in the bass drum in the orchestra pit. In 1894 he opened the season at the Haymarket theatre in Chicago with James J. ("Gentleman Jim") Corbett. To avoid the mob of women at the stage door entrance, Corbett had to enter through the Auditorium and leave, via the fire escape. Corbett's secretary and Warda had the job of disposing of the "mash" notes Corbett received. One interesting experience was in the Chutes theatre in San Francisco, the only theatre, in the city, that did not sell drinks. Negroes were also barred from the Chutes. The evening of May 6, 1900, while on the stage, he noticed a beautifully gowned colored woman in a box and wondered why she had been allowed to occupy it. When he returned to take a bow she rose and threw him some flowers. She was Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii, on her way to see President Cleveland in Washington, regarding her throne. Her rule, not to attend any theatre that sold liquor, accounted for her presence to the Chutes. Mr. Warda still had the flowers. Another time, when playing in the Bijou theatre in Saginaw, while the theatre was undergoing extensive repairs, a severe storm tore off the improvised roof and the act was finished under umbrellas. When travelling in the West he spent four hours one day on a train with Carrie Nation, of anti-saloon fame. She told an interesting incident of missing train connections to keep a speaking engagement. The only train that could get her there in time was a cattle train, with strict orders to carry no passengers. She solved the problem by billing herself and secretary out as a cow and calf, paying regular freight rates, and riding in the caboose.

Kirkpatrick To Speak Here

AT AGRICULTURAL MEETING NEXT THURSDAY NIGHT

All farmers of the East Jordan area are invited to attend the seventh weekly Thursday evening meeting at the Agricultural Room of the East Jordan High school at 8:00 o'clock, February 26th.

This meeting promises to be of special interest to farmers because Walter Kirkpatrick will be present. Mr. Kirkpatrick is Antrim County Agricultural Agent. He is an authority on the use of fertilizers. He will also show some movies.

The P.F.A. boys and Agricultural Instructor have charge of the program planning.

Victory Book Campaign

Among the books reported last week were 9 bks from Berton Bunker of South Arm Twp. thru error these were not credited to him.

Other donors from South Arm since last report was made are:— Mr. and Mrs. Ben Smatts — 3 bks. and 2 packages of magazines; Mrs. John Nachazel — a carton of magazines; Mrs. Ed Kowalske — 6bks. and magazines.

From East Jordan; A. Stevenson — 6 bks; Vern Whitford — 8bks; Mrs. John Porter — 6 bks; Mrs. G. Boswell — 2bks; Mrs. A. Carson — 2 bks; Mrs. Roy Sherman — 35bks.

The central committee requests that the books be in not later than the first of March as they will have to be sorted and sent to the centers where they are most needed.

To date 114 books have been donated to the V. B. C.

Founded the Cherryvale Colony east of East Jordan a number of years ago, Mr. Warda built a home there for his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Zerwekh. In one room of his home was assembled an extensive collection of interesting antiques and curios from all parts of the world. One article is a pottery coffee pot, formerly belonging to Abraham Lincoln's mother. She gave it to a neighbor and the latter's daughter gave it to Mr. Warda about forty years ago. Two other pieces, a china teapot and sugarbowl, came from a little tea shop in London, England, where they were part of a tea set, kept for the exclusive use of King Edward Seventh and his friend, the actress Lily Langtry.

While playing with a company in Philadelphia the fall of 1924 he was called here by the illness of his mother, Mrs. G. J. Zerwekh, whom he cared for until her death. He returned to the stage until his retirement in 1929 when he returned to his East Jordan home and operated the Cherryvale Hatchery until failing health compelled him to dispose of it.

As long as he was able, his talent and strength was freely given to the various church and fraternal organizations. Not only at East Jordan but when on tour he never refused to play for any charity. Among such places were an insane asylum one New Year's morning in Logansport, Ind., benefits for survivors of the Titanic, Johnstown flood, 1912 Pittsburgh flood sufferers, and State prisoners in New York (Sing Sing), Ohio (Columbus), Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, New Mexico, Mississippi, Oregon, Washington, and at Jackson, Michigan, he played on the same bill with Fatty Arbuckle.

Funeral services were held in the Presbyterian Church Tuesday afternoon under Masonic auspices, of which he has been a member since 1928, with burial in Sunset Hill cemetery. His nearest living relatives are some cousins in the west.

Benson's Hi-Speed Service Station

MADE INITIAL BOW TO THE PUBLIC LAST SATURDAY

Benson's Hi-Speed Service Station, recently constructed, had its opening last Saturday, Feb'y 14th. Relish dishes were the favors given customers on Saturday and Sunday.

Marvin R. Benson, proprietor, has had a wide experience in this line of service, and customers there will receive prompt, efficient, courteous service.

In addition to Hi-Speed gas, oils and accessories, battery sales and service, Mr. Benson has secured the services of John B. (Bun) Brennan to handle motor tune-up and brake service, greasing, washing, car polishing, tire repairing — in fact everything necessary to repair cars except to tear down and build up. Bun is known as an expert mechanic and cars placed in his hands will get the service they need. This station has one of the most modern greasing equipments in the City.

This Service Station, corner Main and Estery streets, occupies the lot formerly known as the Lovelady site. The former hardware — a well-known land mark — was torn down. A building 28x60 feet was erected with the installation of pumps, and the customary Hi-Speed tower (which is copyrighted) is 31 feet high. The Rogers Construction Co. were the designers and builders.

Work of tearing down and building was started the middle of November and opened in about 90 days. As soon as weather permits the structure will receive a paint job. Later on a restaurant (not completed) will be opened in connection with the Station.

TEACHERS LEAVE

Mrs. Ralph Nestmann and Mrs. Earl Zerbst both left East Jordan Saturday, February 14, for their homes. Mrs. Nestmann went to Indianapolis, Indiana, and Mrs. Zerbst went to Iron Mountain, Michigan. The different grades in the high school gave each of their gifts. Mrs. Zerbst received a pair of wool blankets from the Juniors and a set of baking dishes from the Juniors. Mrs. Nestmann received an electric toaster from the Seniors, a set of baking dishes from the Juniors, and a waste basket and a set of cans to put spices and sugars in from the Sophomores.

Mrs. John Smith is taking Mrs. Zerbst's English classes. There will be no more Glee Club since Mrs. Zerbst went away. Before she left she gave each of the members in the Glee Club a credit.

E. J. H. S. SPORTS

With the Saxton brothers, Chuck and Bill, leading the way our basketball team gave the unbeaten Central Lake squad its worst score of the season Tuesday night, February 10. The score was 23-21, and the game was as close as the score. The game at the half was 15-9 with the team making a fine showing in the last half. Chuck and Bill made nine scores apiece with Ty Kemp accounting for the other three. Games this week are:— Charlevoix, Tuesday; and Mancelona, Friday.

JUNIOR RED CROSS NEWS

David Wade's name was omitted from the list of seventh grade boy knitters by mistake. He has knitted one sweater and has started his second.

The seventh grade girls visited the sewing exhibit at the Legion Hall last Thursday. They enjoyed seeing the many lovely articles which were on display.

G. W. Kitsman Dies Suddenly

AT HIS HOME HERE. HAD BEEN ILL FOR SOME TIME

Gus W. Kitsman passed away suddenly at his home in East Jordan, Tuesday evening, Feb'y 17th, following several years' illness.

Mr. Kitsman was born at Alabaster, Mich., May 10th, 1879. In 1906 he was united in marriage to Clara Hamilton at Standish, Mich. They came to East Jordan in 1909 and embarked in the restaurant business, at first on Main st. and later on opening at the present location. They operated the restaurant until 1937, when, owing to poor health, the business was leased to others.

Beside the wife, he is survived by four children:— Mrs. C. E. Snyder, Swartz Creek, Mich.; Mrs. J. Ralph Wagner, Wyandotte; William Kitsman, Engineers Army Camp, Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.; Miss Kathryn, senior at Albion College. Also by four brothers:— Charles Kitsman, Cordova, Alaska; Ernest, Seattle, Wash.; Theodore, Standish; Frank, East Jordan. Three sisters:— Mrs. Harry Saxon and Mrs. Frank Shepard, East Jordan; Miss Martha Kitsman, Cincinnati, Ohio. Three grandchildren:— Gretchen Wagner Kathryn Wagner and Charles Snyder, Sr.

Mr. Kitsman was a member of the Gaylord, Mich., F. & A. M. lodge. Funeral services are being held this Thursday afternoon, Feb'y 19th, at 2:30 under Masonic auspices. Burial at Sunset Hill.

A Statement By The National Chairman of The Red-Cross

It always has been, and now is the definite policy and instructions of the Red Cross, that no charge shall ever be made to any serviceman for any Red Cross article or service which is furnished from the funds or supplies contributed to the Red Cross. If any serviceman, for example, has ever been asked to pay for sweaters, or any similar articles, the person making such sale was acting wholly contrary to Red Cross policy and instructions. If any such sale should now be made or proposed the Red Cross desires complete information concerning the incident and the situation will be promptly and vigorously corrected.

During the last war, as an additional service, not involving deviation from this policy, the Red Cross, at the request of general headquarters of the A. E. F., established certain lodging facilities, including meal service, at a few points along the lines of communication. At the definite request of the A.E.F. headquarters a charge, which was well below cost, was made to the men on leave who desired to use these facilities. In these instances the Red Cross was making available, at the request of the army, an additional service cost. It was not making a charge for any articles or services derived from funds or materials contributed by the Red Cross program for the benefit of servicemen.

Mickey Rooney At The Temple Sunday

New shows at the Temple this week are really "real" entertainment with stories high-lighted by such names as Dr. Kildare, Judy Garland, Mickey Rooney, Kent Taylor, Leon Errol and Lionel Barrymore. Mickey and Judy are teamed again in the Sunday-Monday feature, "Babes On Broadway" and the long popular team of Ayres and Barrymore appear in a new Kildare adventure on Thursday and Friday. Comedian Errol provides the high jinks for the Saturday fun-special and romantic Kent Taylor with Wendy Barri star in the Family Night bill on Tuesday and Wednesday. The condensed program for the week appears below:

Saturday only; Leon Errol and Mildred Coles in, "Hurry, Charlie Hurry."

Sun-Mon; Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland in, "Babes On Broadway."

Tues-Wed (Family Nites); Kent Taylor and Wendy Barri in, "Repent At Leisure."

Thur-Fri; Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore in, "Dr. Kildare's Victory."

Home Extension Leaders To Hold Third Lesson On Friday, Feb. 20

The Home Economics Extension Project Leaders of the various groups are to hold their next lesson on Friday, February 20th. Miss Ruth Peck the leader in charge advises that the discussion is on the subject, "Pictures For The Home." This will be of deep interest as the pictures in the home add much warmth and friendliness. Furthermore, the arrangement and the type of pictures is important.

During the discussion it is planned to organize the Extension program so that the entire organization can be directed toward defense in whatever capacity this loyal group of ladies can best serve. It is suggested that each leader consider this and come to the meeting prepared to make suggestions for the benefit of the entire program. The meeting will start promptly at 10:00 in the forenoon in the Boyne City Library and will continue until approximately 4:00. It is hoped that all groups will be represented by their leaders.

Many Families Could Get More

BY TAKING ADVANTAGE OF THE FOOD STAMP PLAN

Many families in Charlevoix County, who could do so, are not taking advantage of the Food Stamp Plan. John W. Piercey, Area Supervisor of the Surplus Marketing Administration of Cadillac, announced this week $899,000 worth of blue stamps were furnished in January by the Surplus Marketing Administration to those families who purchased orange stamps to the amount of their normal food purchases. This is only a fraction of what the blue stamp subsidy would be if all eligible families would participate, according to Piercey.

All families receiving direct relief, Aid to Dependent Children or Aid to Blind Grants, Old Age Assistance, and many WPA families may participate in the Plan. The Food Stamp Plan provides a fifty cent return for every dollar invested. For example twenty dollars spent for food will bring thirty dollars worth of food through the Food Stamp Plan.

For those families receiving any direct relief the food stamps are ordered by the County Welfare Department; all others must send their money with their purchase orders direct to the Stamp Issuing Office in Lansing.

All Food Stamps are spent in the grocery stores for the same foods sold to cash customers.

County Road Commission Settle Dispute With Workers

Commissioners and Union Congratulated on Logical Agreement Presented Below

(By Rollie L. Lewis)

The strike of the County Road Employees was settled on Monday after a week of negotiation between the employees and the Board of County Road Commissioners, during which time a committee of the Employees met several times with Road Commissioners ironing out the differences between them until a basis for settlement acceptable to both sides was reached.

As disclosed in the settlement set forth in the Resolution adopted by the Board of County Road Commissioners, no Union was recognized, the Board maintaining that under the law, they or (It) being a Governmental Body, could not delegate, the Powers and Duties specifically given to them by law, to any other agency, and that the State Mediation Act did not apply to Governmental Agencies.

The Board at all times acknowledged the right of the Employees to join any union they wished or any other organization which any other American has a right to join.

The Employees on their part wanted to make sure that they would not be discriminated against for having joined a Union, or for having gone on a strike and this assurance is given to them in the Settlement Agreement.

The question of pay did not develop as an issue, after the Employee's Committee learned that the wages paid were the same as specified in the contract between the State and the County for State Highway Road Maintenance.

One of the issues which held up the settlement for several days was the re-employment of Cecil Smith, President of the CIO Union, the employees claiming that the Board of Road Commissioners would not re-employ him because he was president of the union. This the Commissioners maintained was not true, but maintained that the refusal to re-employ him because of the possibility at any time of

The Farmer's Income Tax

DISCUSSION MEETING PLANNED TO ASSIST IN FILING RETURNS

A meeting has been planned for Tuesday, afternoon-February 24th in the Charlevoix Court House, Court Room, to begin at 1:30, promptly, to discuss with interested farmers the filing of their income tax returns. By law it is necessary for all farmers who take in a gross income of $1500, or more to file their return. This applies to those who are married or heads of families. For those who are single, if their gross income is $750, or more it is necessary to make the return. These reports must be filed with the Collector of Internal Revenue, Detroit, Michigan, on or before March 15th, if the fiscal year ends on January 31st, 1941. If the fiscal year ends on April 15th and if the fiscal year ends on February 28, 1942, the report is filed on or before May 15th.

The farmer in filing his returns should make use of the special farm supplement No. 1040F in addition to the regular form 1040—Farmers may choose between the cash basis or the inventory basis. There is not much difference between the two over a period of time but on the cash basis you may have greater fluctuations from year to year. However, the cash basis is somewhat easier to make out. Recognizing the fact that this will be a new experience for many farmers and that it is somewhat difficult to interpret the provisions provided by the forms this meeting has been called to more or less interpret many of the questions to be answered. Furthermore, there are many deductions that are provided by law, and we want to suggest these to those making out the returns. The income, likewise, should be discussed and a true picture of the farming operations might be given. Your agent does not by any means pose as an expert in this but we have made a careful study of the provisions and believe we can help in this program. This meeting is for the public and it is suggested that you bring with you a pencil and some note paper so that you may make some notes as the various provisions are discussed. Kindly remember this discussion will take place, Tuesday, afternoon, Feb. 24th in the Court House.

RAID: On Japs

After two weeks of censorship the Pacific fleet command allowed news men to disclose the amount of damage inflicted by the U. S. navy in their spectacular attack on the Japanese Marshall and Gilbert islands. These reports indicated that with the loss of only 11 U. S. aircraft, plus a minor bomb hit on one cruiser, and with a small loss of life units of the American fleet accomplished the following:

- Destroyed four military air bases.
- Destroyed two military villages.
- Destroyed four radio stations.
- Sank at least 16 Jap ships, including a modern cruiser, two submarines and a 17,000-ton liner.
- Damaged at least eight other Jap ships.

In addition to an undetermined number destroyed on the ground, the Japs lost 38 aircraft, including fighters and bombers.

Described as almost perfect timing and executed with speed and daring the raid was the first big answer to the often asked question, "Where is the fleet?"

CONSUMERS: Face Living Costs

It was apparent that the price control bill, which had prevented inflation of certain farm prices, was going to be subject to changes that might bring a big rise in the cost of some items.

The senate agriculture committee had unanimously approved a bill which sought to prevent Secretary of Agriculture Wickard from using surpluses to keep certain prices down.

CLAUDE R. WICKARD
Making use of surpluses . . .

Passage of this bill had been predicted, and it would prevent Wickard from taking action with surpluses unless the price of wheat, cotton and corn had reached 70 per cent above parity.

It had been the President's plan to hold these prices down to encourage livestock production. The bill sought to prevent this action.

OCD LANDIS: Result of Protest

The resignation of LaGuardia as head of OCD and the succession to the high command of civilian defense of James M. Landis, one-time dean of Harvard law school and former head of the Securities and Exchange commission, had closely followed nationwide criticism of "boondoggling" in the organization.

Focal point of the objections to the OCD management had been rather centered on the division headed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt than on LaGuardia's civilian defense activities, but the resignation of the "Little Flower" had long been expected.

LaGuardia was supposed to have plenty to do organizing the defense of New York city, let alone saddling himself with the problems of an entire nation.

He announced that he would devote his full time to these problems in the future.

Criticism, as Landis took charge of OCD, continued chiefly leveled at the health, entertainment and social uplift activities of the organization. It had crystallized into the adoption by the house of an amendment specifically forbidding the spending of government funds for "fan-dancing, street shows, theatrical performances or other public entertainment in the program of civilian defense."

MISCELLANY:

Washington: All silk processors were ordered within 48 hours to sell their entire stocks of silk to the government, on penalty of having them commandeered.

Washington: Congress was frankly told that the reason for the short American supply of scrap metal could be traced to extremely heavy shipments to Japan before the declaration of war.

The amendment had been tacked onto a bill passed which provided $1,000,000 for the purchase of gas-masks, auxiliary fire-fighting equipment and other protective goods to be used in the protection of the population against air raids.

The senate had been expected to go along with the house in its effort to weed the "frills and furbelows" out of the program.

JAMES M. LANDIS

Senator Byrd, Virginia, keynoted this move by demanding that the OCD send his committee a list of all OCD employees getting over $3,000 a year, and outlining their specific duties.

LUZON: 163 Planes

Continued efforts by the Japanese to land on Bataan had been turned back by General MacArthur's highly mobile artillery forces in the general's "last ditch" fight to keep the American flag flying over the Philippines.

The anti-aircraft fire of MacArthur's men had continued good, the bag of seven planes in one day comparing favorably with other fronts where the United Nations had many more serviceable aircraft than did the defenders of Luzon.

Captured prisoners and other methods of gaining information revealed that five Japanese divisions had been identified as taking part in the battle, which would bring the estimated strength of the Japs actually on the front battle-line at close to 100,000 men.

Other divisions were on the island, keeping communications open, and it had been reported that reinforcements for the Japs were constantly arriving, thus steadily increasing the pressure on the American-Filipino army.

NORMANDIE: $80,000,000 Job

Whether carelessness, sabotage or Fate was responsible, the $3,000-ton Normandie, former luxury liner and now the naval auxiliary Lafayette, lay on her enormous beam-ends in 40 feet of water and 12 feet of mud at her dock in New York, an $80,000,000 salvage job for the U. S. navy.

Twenty-two hundred men were at work inside of her, changing her over from peacetime to wartime uses when a welder's torch started a fire. Within minutes it was out of control.

SINGAPORE: Water-Pincers

A new tactic in warfare, the "water-pincers" movement, utilized by the Japanese in Malaya, had brought Singapore to her knees, spreading gloom in Britain, and making the defense of the East Indies a nearly superhuman job.

General Yamashita, commander of the Jap forces in Malaya, had won the Order of the Golden Kite and the Order of the Rising Sun for his success in driving the defenders out of Malaya, for smashing into the island of Singapore, first time in history that the historic port had been tested in battle.

The long, narrow peninsula of Malaya, difficult terrain, had apparently presented enormous invasion problems. The Japs had solved these by using small boats, many of them commandeered or captured, and sending small, well-armed and highly mobile detachments, first down the east coast, then down the west, making landings by night, and infiltrating behind the defenders.

Each time the British were able to make a swift withdrawal, and to salvage their main forces, but each time they lost ground until they were finally driven back across the Johore causeway onto the Singapore island.

Literally scores of "bites" had been taken out of each coastline by this Japanese technique during their advance southward. At the same time the Japs had sent another large force to drive westward from the top of the peninsula in an effort to cut off the Burma road, but more important, to protect their own rear.

FROM THE 'WILDERNESS' TO SMALL TOWN PEACE

AFTER MORE THAN half a century of wandering in the wilderness of a great metropolitan city, I am at home again in a country town. Fifty years among strangers; millions of strange faces; with only the occasional friendly smile or cheerful greeting from one you knew or with whom you had a speaking acquaintance; pushing, driving through crowds with whom you had nothing in common, other than that they, too, were among strangers, as I was, and were fighting their way through a wilderness.

And now, after 50 years of lost time, I am at home again in a country town, where, as I walk down the street, I get a cheerful smile and a friendly greeting from each person I meet; where the little children take me by the hand and with their childish faces turned upward, tell me of their joys and sorrows, their playmates and their toys.

Back again to the beauties of tree-bordered streets, to flowers, lawns, gardens and fruit trees. Back again to neighbors I can, and do, know and am neighborly with—neighbors who have a friendly interest in my welfare; and who would be concerned if I were ill or suffered misfortune of any kind; neighbors with whom I can visit across the fence or hedge, and with them compare notes as to orange or persimmon or walnut trees; neighbors who offer kindly comment on the appearance of my lawn and roses; who express a bit of friendly envy about my bougainvillea vine and acacia tree, a great dome of small golden balls.

Back again to where people drop in, not to "call" as a proper and formal thing to do, but to visit because they like you and want to come. Back to where there are no inequalities, no class distinctions. Back to where you are not a subject of prey, where those you meet do not, as in the wilderness of the city, figure on the value you may be to them. The doctor meets you on the street and noticing you have a cold, he suggests what to do for it, with no thought of sending a bill for services rendered.

Back again to where the birds sing at your window and flash their brilliant plumage through the shrubbery; where the dogs meet you with wagging tails. Back to the beauties as nature made them, and away from the monstrosities of the city wilderness.

Would that I might have another 50 years to enjoy the luxuries of my country town as compensation for the half century spent in the wilderness.

AMERICA TODAY HAS NO 'GOVERNING CLASS'

THE YEAR was 1919. A group of business and professional men, many of them of national reputation, were meeting in Chicago for the purpose of devising ways and means of securing the enactment by congress of a compulsory, universal military training law to apply to young men between the ages of 19 and 21.

I objected to the title of the bill. "You cannot get support for the proposal under the title of 'Military Training Law,'" I insisted. "The steel workers of South Chicago, the farmers of Iowa will not support a project to make soldiers. They will support a law to train their sons in citizenship."

One of those present said: "Why should we change the title because it may not appeal to the steel workers or the farmers?" he asked. "It is our class that must do the thinking for the nation."

The title was not changed. The bill was never enacted into law. It is the voters who do the thinking for the nation, who determine what laws we shall have.

The business and professional people of America realize that today. They may lead along practical and unselfish lines, but they cannot drive. America does not countenance a governing class, whether it be business leaders, labor leaders, farmers, or any others.

REAL PATRIOTISM IN WARTIME

PATRIOTISM is something more than hurling epithets at the enemy, or shouting of one's love of country. Patriotism is more of doing than of talking. It is an evidenced willingness to sacrifice for the common good. The manufacturer who demands a profit on war materials at the expense of the nation is not a patriot, nor is the workman who lays down his tools because of either a real or fancied grievance when the nation needs his services.

During World War I, I knew a German-born American citizen who headed a large American plant, and the government needed the entire production of that plant. It was running to capacity on profitable commercial orders. When asked if he would accept the government order, the head of this plant said he would do so under one condition. His own cost experts and cost experts named by the government were to independently determine the cost of production. The lowest figure as determined by these experts must be the price.

United Nations Are Forced Into Postponing Offensive

Axis Prepared for War Before Fighting Started While U. S. and Allies Must 'Prepare' As Battles Are Raging.

By BAUKHAGE
National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

It is an open secret that the high commands of the United Nations have agreed to postpone the hope of a general offensive for a year—possibly two.

Circumstances have forced the re-writing of the old military adage which says "The best defense is offense." The axis powers were prepared for war before they started fighting. The United Nations had to prepare after they started fighting. The axis powers choose their own time and place for battle. They have the initiative. For the United Nations, because they have no choice, the best offense is defense.

Besides preparation, the axis powers—Germany and Italy in Europe and Japan in Asia—have another advantage, geographical position. That is, their supply lines radiate out from their own or occupied territory, to the fronts on which they choose to fight.

Although the total naval power of the United Nations is greater than that of the axis, it is so widely spread that it cannot contact the enemy at any one point where the enemy is not superior. In places where the enemy lacks ships it more than makes up in air power.

When the United Nations have trained and equipped land forces and have constructed naval air forces superior in quantity to the axis they will have an even greater advantage than mere numbers of effective man power. Then they will be able to take the initiative and when the axis is placed on the defensive, the latter powers will have one of their advantages of today turned into a disadvantage, namely, their geographical positions. They will become prisoners to sea power. Sea power will cut them off from the resources necessary for the armies, and navies to carry on war, and food and fuel for the civilian populations to carry on life.

Raw Materials Will Count

The United Nations can build superior land, air and naval forces because they control more raw materials.

So, military experts say, the task of the United Nations is to remain on the defensive, wasting down as much of the enemy's power as possible while building up their own. Holding as much ground as possible, but sacrificing territory which they do not need now in order to save manpower and supplies which they do need now. The territory can be won back by the United Nations. The manpower and supplies which the enemy loses cannot be replaced.

This is not a popular kind of warfare. It is the kind that makes the people rise up and demand new leaders to bring them quick victories. It makes armies and navies restive. It is bad for morale. But it is the only kind of warfare that the United Nations can engage in now. More haste on the battlefield will make less speed toward final victory.

According to this plan, the defenders of the Philippines, of Singapore, of the Netherlands Indies, must fight as long as they can. But their comrades cannot risk too much to help them. At least they cannot risk offense which might temporarily distract the enemy.

So we must expect more enemy victories. While we make over our civilian way of life into a military way of life we must expect to hear the cries of the defeated and the dying. While we sacrifice the things which the axis civilians began sacrificing long ago, we must expect our soldiers and sailors to sacrifice their lives.

The longer the war lasts and the fewer men and supplies we risk until we have so many equipped men and supplies that we can afford to risk them, the sooner our victories will begin. The longer we make the war now, the shorter it will be in the end.

Business Man Gets A New Friend and Adviser

Back in the hectic summer of 1933 when the Blue Eagle was spreading its wings—the NRA, if you have forgotten—I had a strange experience.

I was standing in the corridor of the department of commerce where the NRA had its headquarters. The place was seething with businessmen all trying to find out what they could and could not do under the Blue Eagle. There were offices of information and guides and deputies and building guards trying to direct each worried business man to the place where he could (try to) find out what he wanted to know.

On this particular day a little man came in. He looked confused. He was most humble. The guards eyed him suspiciously and treated his request with doubt if not scorn. Finally he turned to me: "Sir," he said, "could you tell me—"

"What does your firm produce," I started to ask.

"Oh," he replied with a frightened look, "I'm just a consumer." Today it is the producer and not the consumer who claims that he has been getting the run-around in Washington. Cognizant of this the President has turned to the man who established Washington's first national information bureau, as a result of needs of the NRA. His name is Lowell Mellett. He is one of those "anonymous advisors," one of the executive assistants to the President, a former newspaper man and friend of newspaper men. He runs the Office of Government Reports. His office sees all, knows all, that is happening in government. It publishes the United States Government Manual, one of the most comprehensive current guides to the government departments and agencies ever issued.

So now Lowell Mellett is going to head the clearing house of government information. When his Office of Government Reports is expanded, as it is to be under new orders from the President, this institution will be the guide, philosopher and friend of the wandering business man. No matter what your business with government is, you will come to Mr. Mellett's office and tell him your troubles. He will get hold of the man who knows the answer. That will save shoe-leather and patience, time and money.

Hereafter when you come to Washington you can tell your troubles to Mellett.

Curfew Law For Washington?

The department of justice has ordered a nine o'clock curfew law for alien enemies in the "vulnerable zone" which is a belt stretching from Oregon to Los Angeles and extending 150 miles inland. Strange lights flashing on the seacoast, weird stories of bombs that came near exploding under bridges and aqueducts, were the things that compelled this move.

But lights that go on and off late in the stillly night right here in Washington have been reported, too. But there are no alien enemies who are causing this temporary illumination in the witching hours, but hard-working girls employed by your Uncle Sam, according to Representative Wilson of Indiana.

Mr. Wilson says that all this must be stopped. He declares that these girls are promulgating the theory of "too little and too late"—too little sleep, too late hours. And so he has sponsored a plan for a curfew for government workers.

CATTLE RAISERS FACE PROBLEM

Danger Ahead if Beef Cattle Increase Continues.

By R. J. McKENNA
(Chairman, Montana USDA Defense Board.)

Dangers that face the livestock industry if cattle numbers continue to increase past a balance with normal feed supplies were pointed out by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard in a recent letter.

There is danger ahead for beef cattle producers if herds continue to increase, Wickard stated. This, together with the fact that abundant supplies of food are needed for national defense, indicates that increased marketings of beef cattle and calves in 1942 will benefit not only cattlemen but the National Defense program as well.

Secretary Wickard's statement pointed out to stockmen several things they could do to make their position more secure. He advised increased marketing of cows and heifers which, because of the good demand and price, would mean more money to pay off indebtedness and get set for what may come in the future. This present demand also offers stockmen an opportunity to improve their breeding herds by culling out and selling undesirable animals at a good price.

Keep livestock numbers in balance with normal feed supplies, he urged. Range conditions and feed supplies in the West have been unusually good this year. Drought can cause a lot of loss if there is no feed reserve available.

In 1934, just before the disastrous drought, there were 74,000,000 head of cattle in the United States and in another year, if the present rate of increase continues, there will be at least that many again.

Vitamins Important

In Animal Breeding

The success with which farmers raise their pig, lamb, and calf crops to meet expanding national food needs may depend in a large part on the kind of rations they supply their breeding stock, says Earl H. Hostetler, professor of animal husbandry at North Carolina State college.

Rations well fortified with vitamins and minerals are required for normal reproduction, and vitamins A, E and C have received most attention in relation to reproduction. Carotene, which is present in well-cured green hay, fresh green pasture, grass, well-made corn, grass and legume silage, and yellow varieties of carrots, squash, and sweet potatoes, is the principal source of vitamin A, highly essential in the reproduction of all farm animals.

However, Hostetler pointed out, carotene is rapidly destroyed in feeds, especially under conditions of poor storage, so precautions must be taken to provide adequate amounts particularly to pregnant animals.

As early as in 1922, the vitamin E factor was demonstrated to be necessary for reproduction of laboratory animals such as the rat, but the need for it in the diet of farm animals other than poultry is still questionable. Most good rations contain adequate amounts of this vitamin, and only in unusual cases is it likely that animals may be sterile because E is lacking.

Such feeds as wheat bran, shorts, linseed meal, hominy feed, white and yellow corn, cottonseed meal, and kafir are good sources of vitamin E, as are most of the common hay and pasture crops.

Agricultural News

Casein and other plastic dress and millinery ornaments and buttons will replace those made of metals which are needed for defense purposes.

Canned edible soybeans, which look and cook like lima and have a nuttier flavor, are on sale in grocery stores in parts of the United States.

British farmers put under cultivation an additional 2,000,000 acres last fall in order to make the country more self-sufficient in the way of foodstuffs.

Due to the shortage of aluminum, only 11,000 pounds will be available for the manufacture of poultry wing bands this year as compared with 150,000 last year.

Adding common baking soda to water given to feeder cattle immediately after they are received may avert losses from shipping fever. If fever develops, a veterinarian should be called immediately rather than waiting.

Help in meeting the shortage of farm labor, and preparing for farm adjustments needed in the war emergency have been among the jobs of county farm bureaus this year. Demand for more farm products means still greater activity.

Does the kitchen stove discolor the wall behind it? Then build yourself a heat deflector—a shelf held up by angle irons, with a sheet of metal curving in from the edge of the shelf to the lower part of the angle iron. Not only will it prevent discoloration of the wall, but it provides a handy shelf for salt, pepper and other condiments during preparation of the meal.

Furnished by the Treasury Department, Bureau of Internal Revenue, Washington, D. C.

In the event of failure to make and file an income tax return as required by law within the prescribed time, a certain percent of the amount of the tax is required to be added to the tax unless failure to file the return within the prescribed time is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to be due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect.

The amount to be added to the tax is 5 percent if the failure is for more than thirty days, with an additional 5 percent for each additional thirty days or fraction thereof during which failure to file a return continues, not to exceed 25 percent in the aggregate.

A taxpayer who files a tardy return and wishes to avoid the addition to the tax for delinquency must make an affirmative showing of all facts, alleged as a reasonable cause for failure to file the return on time, in the form of an affidavit which should be attached to the return. Alleged ignorance of the law does not constitute reasonable cause for delinquency.

Taxpayers should make every effort to file their returns within the time prescribed by law and thus avoid the possibility of the additions to the tax for delinquency in filing returns.

Do not forget that single persons or married persons not living with husband or wife, who earn as much as $14.43 a week for the 52 weeks of the year, and married persons living together who have aggregate earnings of as much as $28.85 a week for the year, are required to file returns.

4-H GIRL WINS FIRST TIME COUNTY AWARD IN CLOTHING ACHIEVEMENT

Miss Clara Glidden of Alba received one of her greatest thrills when County Agent Walter G. Kirkpatrick announced that she would be the first in this county to win a gold medal for her accomplishments in the national 4-H clothing achievement contest.

The medal has an embossed 4-H emblem in the center, encircled with figures of needles, thread, shears and other dressmaking essentials. This brand new activity, which is supervised by the extension service and supported by the Spool Cotton company, teaches participants how to dress appropriately, becoming and healthfully for all occasions, in keeping with a well planned family budget. It also encourages the making of wearing apparel and accessories by crocheting, knitting, or by other needlecraft arts.

Other rewards for meritorious work include all expense trips to the 20th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November for state winners, and six college scholarships of $200 each.

WHITE GRUB DUE IN '42 GRASS SOD

Observers point out that 1941 was a June beetle year and that 1942 is due to show a prevalence of white grubs that will cut short the productivity of bluegrass pastures, according to Walter G. Kirkpatrick, County Agricultural Agent.

Which means that farmers with legumes producing roughage will observe far less damage and shortening of summer pastures than farmers with bluegrass. The white grubs appear in strength every three years.

Suggestions from the entomology department at Michigan State College indicate that the white grub damage occurs principally because of a food preference common to the white grubs. County Agricultural Agents have been endorsing advantages of legumes for many years and now have a new reason for the change from native or bluegrass pastures.

No widespread surveys have been made in Michigan. A recent series of demonstrations in Wisconsin prove effectiveness of legumes in defeating the white grubs. Nineteen demonstrations were conducted in which parts of pastures were renovated to obtain good stands of legumes.

When sampled, the plots showed variations in grub population. Pasture plots with no legumes indicated a white grub population equal to 167,000 grubs to the acre. Where good stands of legumes had been obtained, the grub population dwindled to 6,000 or less to the acre.

Business Contract
By R. H. WILKINSON
(Associated Newspapers—WNU Service.)

DANA MILTON was thinking of the future.

"Look here, Simon," he said, "I've been thinking this thing over and I've come to the conclusion that it won't be good policy for us to become equal partners."
"You mean you don't think we ought to buy the business?"
"It isn't that. I think the business is worth every cent its owners are asking. But you know, Simon, you and I have only known each other a couple of months. True, we worked fine together and were pretty successful on that last proposition. But—well, I just don't think it's good policy for two ambitious young men to put an equal amount of money in a business."
"I get it," said Simon. "Maybe you're right." He looked at Dana craftily. "I'd like to be the one to put the money in, Dana. It was I who discovered the thing."
"Dana nodded. "I thought you'd feel that way about it, Simon. And I'm willing to withdraw, provided, of course, that you give me a contract—assume me a job during the next five years."

"Fair enough," Simon extended his hand. Secretly he was elated. He knew that Dana was a conscientious worker, a good salesman. Simon and Dana took the insurance company over in May. Within a month's time they discovered it wasn't the profit-paying proposition both had anticipated. It was run down at the heel, so to speak.

Simon was angered and not a little worried. Yet he had put too much money into the thing to let it go. By fall a little business began to come in and then a little more. During October they broke even. November showed a profit, and December still a greater profit. During January and February the gross business increased in leaps and bounds. Simon, watching the weekly returns, began to lick his lips. In April he dug out the contract he had made with Dana and perused its contents. There was, he saw, a chance for complaint. The contract provided that Dana be paid a percentage of the gross business; that he should sell policies at the rate charged by previous owners. There, thought Simon, was the snag. Dana had cut the rate in order to start the ball rolling.

Simon summoned Dana. "Dana," he said, "I notice you've been selling at reduced rates. We can't make a profit that way."
"That was the only way to get things going," Simon shook his head. "I'm sorry. Our contract provided that you sell at rates charged by the previous owners. You ignored the clause, thereby causing no little dissension among our clients. I'll have to let you go."
"Let me go! Why, you can't do that! We have a contract!"
Simon looked at him icily. "You broke the contract, mister."

It wasn't until Dana had reached home and broken the news to Hattie, his wife, that he realized what losing his job meant. The next day Dana received a letter from the insurance company in which Simon stated he had turned the matter over to his lawyer. Dana considered various possibilities. He needed money at once. Remembering that Simon's greatest weakness was his own sense of importance, he decided on a plan.

He visited a local printer and ordered some important looking letterheads, with his name at the top. Two days later another letter arrived from Simon. It stated that he would like to meet Dana in Attorney Harry Davis' office on Wednesday. Dana called up his printer and asked for his letterheads, and was told they weren't ready. Perturbed, Dana waited two days longer and then, upon being advised that the copy for his letterheads had been mislaid, sat down to answer Simon's letter on plain white paper.

The letter was hardly completed when the front doorbell rang and Hattie admitted a small wizened man. "My name," he explained, "is Davis. Attorney Davis. I'm representing Simon Douglas." He paused, coughed. "Mr. Douglas says you have neglected to answer his letters. Your silence has disturbed him. He seems to think you are preparing to bring suit. And where as there is little on which you could base a suit, Mr. Douglas feels that court action would injure his business. He is—ah—prepared to make you a proposition."
Dana wet his lips. "What kind of a proposition?"
"You were to receive a percentage of the gross business. The sum total of things for a year would, in normal times, amount to about $3,000. Mr. Douglas is prepared to pay you $2,000, if you will destroy the contract."

Dana gulped. The amount was twice that for which he had intended to bring suit. And a suit, if successful, might have netted him $500. After a moment he said: "Very well, I'll take the check and hand over the contract. The money will come in handy to pay for my letterheads."
And at the look of bewilderment on the attorney's face, Dana grinned.

CHERRY DESSERTS FOR FEBRUARY

Watch Your Family Go Wide-Eyed When They Taste These Superbly Delicious Cherry Desserts

When George Washington cut down his father's favorite cherry tree over two centuries ago, little did he dream that the sound of his hatchet would reverberate through the years, and be tapping right now at your kitchen door to remind you that February is Cherry Month.

Whether these cherry desserts—pies, tarts, cakes, custards or salads—the homemaker who prepares any of these "prize getters" is bound to rate "tops" with her family and friends. For a starter, see how the canned cherries in this Cherry Banana Mold win over even the fittest appetite, because they have a flavor that's temptation itself.

Cherry Banana Mold
1 No. 2 can red tart 1 c. sliced cream
1 c. sugar 1 c. sliced bananas
1 c. cold water 1/4 c. black walnuts
1 lb. unflavored gelatin broken, or other nuts
Drain juice from cherries. Add sugar and beat to boiling point. Then add the gelatin that has been soaked in the 1/4 c. cold water. Cool mixture to thick creamy consistency. Then whip and fold in the cream, bananas, nuts and half the cherries. Pour into desired mold and chill until firm. Garnish with remaining cherries and whipped cream, if desired. Serves 6 to 8.

Here's a dessert that's a credit to any hostess. You'll want to serve it soon because it's one your family or guests will long remember.

Cherry Torte
Torte Layer:
1 c. sifted flour 1 lb. sugar
1/2 tsp. salt 1/4 c. butter
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
Combine the flour, salt and sugar. Cut in the butter with knives or pastry blender. Add beaten egg yolk and mix thoroughly. Press this mixture into baking dish 10 x 6 x 2 or a pie pan may be used. Cover with cherry topping and bake at 425° F. for 15 minutes. Then reduce heat to 350° F. for about 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold. Whipped or plain cream may be served with the torte.
Cherry Topping:
1 No. 2 can red tart 1/2 c. sugar
1 c. sliced cherries 1/4 c. cornstarch
1 lb. butter
Drain juice from cherries. Heat to boiling point. Combine sugar and cornstarch. Add enough cold water to make a smooth pouring paste. Pour this gradually into the boiling cherry juice. Cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and add the cherries and butter.

AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX CO.

A very interesting series of meetings, attended by more than 200 farmers, were held during the past week under the supervision of the U. S. D. A. War Board and the Triple-A County Committee in the Grange halls at Marion Center, Barnard, Maple Grove, Peninsula, Rock Elm and South Arm and the community hall in the Star district. These meetings were under the direction of Walter Henley, chairman of the War Board and B. C. Mellicamp as member and liaison man representing the County Defense Council, aided by a second member of the AAA County Committee. The subjects of increased production, labor shortages, fire defense, income tax, feeds and fertilizers as well as the farmer's responsibilities in the present war were covered by the speakers. Mrs. Katherine Wilworth of Boyne City and Ralph Price of Ironton, members of the County Defense Council, gave very interesting talks at the meetings they were able to attend.

It was evident from the hearty, active interest shown in the discussion period which followed the speakers at every meeting that the farmers of Charlevoix county are alive to their responsibilities in the present emergency and will be up on their toes during the growing season to get the production increase asked of them. One gloomy note, and only one, was struck—labor shortage. Many farm boys have been drafted into the army, and transient labor is now more profitably employed in war industries. Without adequate labor at the critical period many crops would be lost. Cherries, berries, string beans and similar products, need many hands for their gathering. However, the possible solution of the labor problem was furnished by Mrs. Dilworth with the news that the County Defense Council is registering in all the cities and towns of Charlevoix all civilians able and willing to help in the harvesting of these essential food commodities.

Co-operation between the towns and the farms is the answer. Food will win the war. The farms will raise it. Co-operation will save it—let us all do our share.

Season of Lent

Penance and prayer must march hand in hand in the life of every Christian. They are a part of his spiritual armament. They are the means by which the invisible graces of God enter his soul and guide and direct his life.

Each year the Church sets aside the holy season of Lent as a time for special prayer and penance. She does not leave the choice to the individual but orders fasting and abstinence as a part of the daily life of the Catholic during this season.

With our nation at war, there is more than ever reason for cheerful, careful, prayerful observance of Lent. The war and the peace to follow will be won as much by the spirit of sacrifice and penance of the nation as by its might of arms. For, if we consider war as a chastisement for our national sins, then the punishment of God may be tempered by the penance of people.

But the penance of a people rests in its final phase on the practice of penance and mortification by the individual. Lent is a time of individual penance and prayer. The more each one strives to make it so, the more beneficial its results will be.

Lenten devotions in St. Joseph's Church will be held every Sunday afternoon and Tuesday evening. Sunday afternoon at 3:30 there will be a Holy Hour, including the Litany of the Saints and the beautiful prayers which follow it. Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock Stations of the Cross, sermon and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. A good attendance is expected during these devotions. Mass on week days at 8:30 instead eight o'clock as during the year, Saturday morning at 7:15.

MICH. APPLE-PEANUT CRUMBLE

Those spicy Michigan apples are coming in for a good share of attention these days—and no wonder! This delicious dessert is only one of a number of ways of using them. And notice how easy and inexpensive it is to make. You'll need—
6 Mich. cooking apples, pared
½ cup sugar
½ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt

3 tablespoon peanut butter
3 tablespoon butter
Slice apples into a shallow, buttered baking dish. Mix sugar, flour and salt. Cut in peanut butter and butter with pastry blender or two knives until thoroughly mixed. Pour evenly over apples. Bake 350° for 50 min. until apples are done. Serve warm with cream or foamy sauce.

INSTALLMENT EIGHTEEN

THE STORY SO FAR: Six men traveled the Chibougamau trail and six men died. Later they were reported drowned. Murder is suspected. Garry Finlay, brother of one of the six; Red Malone, Mounted Police officer.

Before the three men could drop to the beach below, where the canoe lay, there was the sound of something approaching over the shore path.

"Club 'em with your gun, Blaise! Don't make a noise!"

"Here dey are!"

With the impact of a sledge-hammer Red's clubbed 45 dropped the first man senseless. Finlay's heavy pistol glanced from the face of the next and he fell with a scream. In his surprise the third Montagnais fired his rifle in the air as a blocky body lunged into him carrying him to the ground. But the damage was done. The bush was now full of yelling Montagnais headed for the sounds.

"Launch the canoe, Blaise, while we stand them off!" cried Finlay.

As the Peterboro shot past the point and into the moonlight a canoe broke from the shore shadows to bar their path.

"Everyone down!" warned Garry. The three paddlers flattened as spurts of flame leaped from the birchbark. But in the half-light the aim from the moving boat was poor.

"Don't shoot! Run 'em down!" ordered Finlay.

The Peterboro leaped to the drive of the maple blades. With a crash the bow of the wooden craft knifed through the birchbark, amidships, rolling her under with its momentum. Before they could fire again the three Montagnais were in the water. With a lunge of his long stern blade Blaise pushed the filled shell of the birchbark clear of the Peterboro's stern. Then the maple paddles bowed as the three friends drove their craft through the moonlit water and into the protecting shadows of the opposite shore.

"Close shave!" panted Finlay, "but we made it!"

CHAPTER XVIII

Late that night, when Wabistan's canoe found the hidden camp of the police, the eyes of the old Indian glittered with triumph.

"You not hurt?" he asked, squinting into the faces of his friends as they wrung his hand.

"Not a scratch, chief!" Red patted the old man's shoulder.

"I'm glad we got clear of that canoe without using our guns," said Finlay. "Too many men have been shot here this summer."

"But it was their lives or ours, Garry. Tete-Blanche and his whiskey-fed crew would snuff us out as they would a candle!"

"I know, but headquarters may not see it that way. I'm sorry it had to be done."

With Flame and young Patamish, who was devoted to Finlay and would be useful as a scout, the Peterboro started at once through the islands, hugging the shadows of the western shores, for the moon was now low on the ridges.

The following night they reached their old camp and Patamish started with Finlay's message. Before dawn Garry was waked by something pulling at his blanket.

"Patamish!" whispered the boy. "I find dis undair stone."

Finlay's hand shook as he took the note, lit a candle lantern and read:

"Dearest:

"It has seemed so long—this waiting for you. Blondell is expected now, any day. Everyone except Jules and Labelle are at the head of the lake. I tried to learn what was happening there, but could not. They haven't returned. Jules is drinking hard. Corinne heard him tell Labelle that if you saw that plane arrive from the North and got away with the information, the jig was up. I don't understand for he knows that people in Montreal suspect he's shipping gold south by plane. That's no secret. I've tried to avoid him but he cornered me last night and said: 'You'll never see your friend again. He's walked into a trap, nosing around this lake. We'll take care of him this time. So, when Felix comes, you'd better agree to marry him. He's got plenty stowed away in Montreal—can give you anything you want. If you won't be reasonable, you can take the consequences.'

"Dearest, I'll not stay a day after that plane arrives. I'll take Louis and camp somewhere in the bush. Send for me! Oh, send for me! Let me know, quick, that nothing's happened to you! With all my love,

"Lise."

"You went to the post to find Mikisis?" asked Finlay. He could feel the drumbeat of his heart in his throat.

"Ah-hah! Mikisis was gone. Something strange was dere, on de water!"

"On the water?" The news he dreaded hit Finlay like the chill of ice. "What was it?"

"Beeg cano' wid wing like gull!" In his remorse Finlay crushed Lise's note in his hand. Blondell's plane had reached Waswanipi!

He found a scrap of paper and wrote:

and Blaise, half-breed guide, posing as a surveyor, arrive at Nottaway to investigate. Isadore, rich fur man, is thought to have made a gold strike and aims to keep prospectors out. Later they visit Isadore at his magnificent home and

"Just-got your note! I'll wait at the nearest island, tonight, tomorrow and every night following, for your canoe. Courage! I love you!"

"Oh, my dear! My dear!" murmured Garry, shielding her body with his own from the night air. "I've worried so—been half mad!"

"It was too terrible, there! They're drinking and worried! I had to threaten to shoot Blondell!"

His arms tightened around her. "Mind? I love it, beautiful!"

"You seem to!" she laughed up at him. Then she called out to Red whose thoughts were far away at Matagami as he drove his long paddle. "Not going to speak, Mr. Malone?"

"It's Red to you, Lise! If you knew how glad I am to have you here! We've been pretty worried! I want to say they don't come any gamer than you!"

"Thanks, Red!"

Blaise stared open-mouthed as Garry led a girl wearing his coat over a one-piece bathing suit up to the fire.

"Blaise, this is Lise. We picked her out of the lake, swimming to the island."

"You swim—in de dark?" demanded the astounded Brassard. "By gar, you are brave girl! Tien! She swim from Isadore's in dis black night!"

Shortly the group of men smoking by the fire burst into laughter. Stiff in front of the tent with hand at salute stood a mounted Policeman.

"So you're Mounties? I've wondered what you really were. Jules Isadore has been wondering, too. He's pretty worried about it. Now that I've fallen into the hands of the police, what am I charged with?" she laughed.

"You are charged with the felony of scaring two policemen half to death by swimming to this island, young woman."

"I had to." For a space her face was serious, then a smile broke through as Finlay handed her a steaming cup of tea.

The others left Lise and Garry by the fire while she told him her story. "Since Felix Blondell came it's been hellish, Garry. They do nothing at night but drink and quarrel. I've learned what I could from Corinne. She's absolutely petrified. When Tete-Blanche returned, Jules was mad with rage at what happened. It seems Kinebik is dead. Did you know that?"

Garry's arm tightened about her waist. "Yes, I know it."

"Well, Tete-Blanche brought back a lot of drunken young Indians to hunt for you. Blondell is getting scared. He wants to return south."

"They're anxious about that plane from the Bay. It's overdue. They think, now, that that's what you came here for—to get that plane. Corinne asked Blondell if that was the plane that carried the gold south and he looked at her queerly and said: 'Yes, it carries the gold. That's what these people are here for, to highjack it, but we've got enough men here to shoot them out of their canoes if they try that.' Garry, you're not going to try to take Isadore—just you three, are you? He's got a lot of Indians over there and he's desperate."

He drew her red-coated shape close and kissed the velvet eyes that searched his bronzed face. "Don't worry about that, Lise. You don't think I'm going to risk losing you when I've only just got you here—safe?"

meet Lise, his stepdaughter, Finlay falls in love with her. Later they land on an island and are attacked by Indians. They learn that Isadore's men are hunting them and tense themselves as they hear the gunmen approaching.

"Because I love you!" she whispered, while Red paddled hard for the camp.

"Oh, my dear! My dear!" murmured Garry, shielding her body with his own from the night air. "I've worried so—been half mad!"

CHAPTER XIX

The following night six canoes drifted silently up to the hidden police camp. It was Wabistan and his friends. Finlay decided that it was time to reveal his identity to the old man. He drew him to one side with Blaise.

"Tell Wabistan who we are, Blaise, and why we are here."

"The eyes of the old chief glowed like black tourmalines. 'Wabistan navare forget. He come to help his fren'."

"We must wait until the flying canoe comes from the North," said Finlay. "Then we'll go to Isadore's."

"Yes, we wait," agreed the old man. "We wait." He turned to Blaise and spoke rapidly in Montagnais.

"Wabistan say he go to Matagami for flour, shell and tobacco. He come back in three-four day. He start now."

On the morning of the fourth day after Wabistan's departure for Matagami, Finlay and Red were watching the post through binoculars from the shore of one of the islands.

"He's got a regiment of Indians over there, Red," said Garry.

"It looks as if we'd bitten off a large chunk of trouble."

"We sure have, Red."

"But we're going in just the same and grab that ship."

"We are, Red."

That night, on returning from the lake with water, Blaise called to Finlay where he sat with Lise by the fire. "Come to de shore! I show you somet'ing."

Star Dust

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

HOLLYWOOD may not see Katharine Hepburn working before its cameras again for some time; she left when she finished "Woman of the Year" with no plans for making more pictures, but with plenty for doing that new play; if it runs as long as "Philadelphia Story" did she won't be ready for pictures again for more than two years.

Incidentally, Spencer Tracy—who also wants to do a play, if he can find the right one—had his hair cut for that new Hepburn picture, the first time he's done that since 1935, when he had a haircut for "Murder Man," which he made with Myrna Loy, think back and you'll remember that he's been doing "unshaven and unshorn" roles, a long string of them.

Case investigators on the air's "Are You a Missing Heir" program travel thousands of miles and spend hundreds of dollars in search of those heirs—so imagine their surprise when a legatee turned up practically under their noses; she's Agatha Friederick, and is a script-writer for the agency handling the Heirs program.

We know only that "the studio has made some concessions" in that difference of opinion between Deanna Durbin and Universal that's kept her off the screen all this time. Last October it was reported that she was demanding the right to choose her vehicles and approve her leading men and directors—when a star takes things into her own hands that way she's usually on the skids that lead to oblivion. Now she's set to make pictures again. Her husband, Vaughn Paul, will not change his mind about his resignation as a Universal producer.

John Payne replaces Victor Mature in 20th Century Fox's "White Collar Girl," in which he plays opposite Betty Grable. The picture is scheduled to get under way soon, with John Brahm directing.

It seems to be children's day at the Columbia studios. Baby Davy James, the infant Marlene Dietrich didn't drop in "The Lady Is Willing," has a new contract with options that cover a total of 21 years, now a year old, he's known professionally as "Wonder Baby Corey," his name in that picture. And 15-day-old Norma Jean Wayne is working in "Blondie's Blessed Event."

That bartender whom you'll see with Richard Arlen and Arline Judge in "Wildcat" once had his day as a famous man. He is Tom Kennedy, and once upon a time he fought Jack Johnson for the world's heavyweight championship.

Speaking of war pictures—Paramount bought a story called "Channel Port" way back last April, and now is going to do something about it. It will be filmed in England, and executives are hoping to get Laurence Olivier or David Niven for the lead. It's a Commando story; the hero's a long-distance swimmer, who swims the channel from France to England with important information.

"Columbia grabbed the title. 'The Commandos,' first, however, their story deals with an American boy who becomes one of that daring band, and a girl in Norway who heads an underground movement against the invaders—one more "boy meets girl" plot, in a new setting.

"Bedtime Story" has a parallel in real life. Helen Hayes' announcement that she would retire for two years was contradicted by her husband, Charles MacArthur who has a new play for her. Same plot as the picture!

ODDS AND ENDS—Band bookers are optimistic, despite the war. Sammy Kaye, for example, has been booked through January, 1943. A preview audience liked Donna Reed so much in "The Conspirator of Andy Hardy" that the picture was given a new ending, a happy one for her. In Universal's "Wake Up and Dream" band leader Woody Herman not only makes his film bow but dances a bit for the customers.

Joan Crawford's salary for the role that was to have been Carole Lombard's in "He Kissed the Bride"—$112,500—will all go to charitable organizations.

"Sullivan's Travels" is not only very funny; it has a message as well.

Long-Distance Broadcast

When a war correspondent broadcasts from Manila to New York city, the number of times his voice is amplified is virtually incalculable; particularly while spanning the 7,164 miles of the Pacific to San Francisco, says Collier's. Even on its 3,000-mile journey by land wire from the West to the East coast, the amplification is about as much as the figure one followed by 90 zeroes.

The Truth of It Is . . . This Cherry Torten Is Good!
(See Recipes Below)

Washington Day Ideas

It took Washington to make the cherry famous by telling the truth about cutting down that famous tree, but it takes only a sampling to make us appreciate the excellence of this luscious red-ripe berry.

If you're sensitive to color, and most of you are, I am sure, then you can make the most of the possibilities which the cherry offers for pepping up winter mealtime. With appetites riding high, but opportunities for decoration fairly low in these colder months, the Washington birthday and its synonym the cherry, come to the rescue. All of today's recipes have "Um-um" tacked onto them, so make your bids for fame by starting off with:

*Cherry Torten. (Serves 6 to 8)

Torten Layer:

- 1 cup sifted flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 tablespoon sugar
 - 3/4 cup butter
 - 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
- Combine flour, salt and sugar. Cut in butter with knives or pastry blender. Add beaten egg yolk and mix thoroughly. Press this mixture into baking dish or pie tin. Cover with cherry topping and bake in a hot (425-degree) oven for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350 degree) for about 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold, with whipped or plain cream if desired.

Cherry Topping:

- 1 No. 2 can red, tart, pitted cherries
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 4 tablespoons cornstarch
 - 1 tablespoon butter
- Drain juice from cherries. Heat to boiling point. Combine sugar and cornstarch. Add enough cold water to make a smooth paste. Pour this gradually into the boiling cherry juice and cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from fire, add cherries and butter.

This upside down cake is as good as it looks because the cherries are interlaced with the delicious caramel mixture. You'll be extra clever for varying the dessert course with this newcomer to the upside down cake family for it's bound to carry off first honors!

Cherry Upside Down Cake.

- 2 eggs
 - 3/4 cup sugar
 - 3/4 cup boiling water
 - 3/4 cup cake flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon lemon or orange extract
 - 1 1/2 cups red, pitted cherries
 - 1/2 cup butter
 - 1/2 cup brown sugar
- Beat yolks until thick; add sugar gradually. Continue beating and add water. Mix well and add sifted

Lynn Says:

The cherry family is one with many branches. In addition to the red, tart pitted cherries which are abundant in the summer and which can easily be put up well in cans, there are two other types of cherries worthy of mention.

The first of these is a white type cherry commonly called Queen Anne. This lends itself well to salads and adds distinctive flavor especially when used in combination with other fruits such as pineapple, oranges, grapefruit and bananas. A little bit of the Queen Anne cherry goes a long way.

The other type, called Bing cherries, are deep, dark red, and quite sweet. For that reason they are at home in desserts. They can be made into sauces and served over ice creams and puddings.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for February 22

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

JESUS APPOINTS AND TEACHES THE TWELVE

LESSON TEXT—Luke 6:12-26.
GOLDEN TEXT—Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.—Matthew 5:16.

God is sovereign and has all power. He might, therefore, perform His works without the help of man, and on many an occasion He does just that.

That fact makes it all the more glorious that He ordinarily works through men, giving to them the privilege of companionship with Him in service. Sinful and weak though they may have been, they become strong and holy in Him, able to do valiant service in His name.

I. Appointed to Serve Christ (vv. 12-19).

It is the constant teaching of Scripture that those called to serve God are not self-appointed. They are

1. Chosen by Him (vv. 12, 13). He chooses whom He will, gives them the gifts and the grace for ministry (and both are important!), and provides them a place of service. It is vital to the servant of Christ that he know that he has been chosen and called of the Lord. Only with that assurance can he meet the problems and bear the burdens of the work.

Observe that it was after a night of prayer that Jesus appointed the twelve. How many churches give that much prayer to the choosing of its leaders? Do we not need it far more than did our Lord?

2. Called from Many Walks of Life (vv. 14-16). The apostles were men of widely differing gifts, temperaments, and personal characteristics. Some had unusual ability, others apparently were of ordinary qualifications. They were of many occupations, fishermen, a tax gatherer, etc.—but not one was by profession a preacher or priest.

Were men to choose for such offices they would look within the narrow limits of a few learned professions, with certain nationalities preferred, and with position in life an important factor. God cuts across every man-made limitation and calls His workers as He sees fit.

3. Companions in Service (vv. 17-19). At once the twelve received their introduction to service to the great multitude diseased, demon possessed, in spiritual need. It was Jesus who healed them (and notice that "he healed them all," v. 19), but verse 17 tells us that the newly appointed apostles came and stood with Him. They had fellowship with the healing and serving Christ, just as we may have it in service for Him today.

II. Prepared to Live for Christ (vv. 20-26).

Service for Christ is as much (perhaps we should say, more) by life as by ministry. The twelve needed instruction that their spiritual perspective might be right. He tells them

1. How to Meet Difficulties (vv. 20-23). Poverty, hunger, weeping, being hated for Christ's sake, these were the things that Jesus knew His servants might expect, so He prepared them. They were told that these things need not disturb them, for there is a kingdom coming; there will be a time when every hunger will be satisfied, when weeping shall turn to laughter.

Hatred for Christ's sake is declared to be the occasion for an outburst of joy because of the reward which awaits in heaven. Scripture speaks much of rewards, and we do well to encourage ourselves and other Christians by the blessed prospect.

Meeting difficulties is a matter of having mental and spiritual eyes rightly focused. If we do, we can see right through them and see that on the other side there is blessing.

But there are temptations in another direction, so He tells them.

2. How to Avoid Dangers (vv. 24-26). Jesus is here speaking of those who, lacking true spiritual vision, revel in the satisfaction of worldly things without a thought of God. The passage, however, may well be applied to the worker for Christ. Often he will be tempted to covet the wealth, the prosperity, the pleasures, and popularity of those round about him.

The question which comes to him is, Why should I and my family not share these pleasant things? Therein lies a temptation to become worldly-minded, centered in the temporalities of life. Let him learn that money in itself cannot bring lasting joy; that the fullness of this world is soon exchanged for an eternal emptiness; that the shallow laughter of this world's fun rapidly gives way to weeping.

The praise of men—popularity with those who know not Christ—is a fickle thing. One day they will praise a man to the skies, and the next day no evil word or disgraceful treatment is spared to destroy and dishearten him.

Rayon Fabrics Make Lounging Apparel to Fit Modest Budget

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WE'RE all so busy these days, we appreciate more than ever the few precious hours when we can relax. Smart, flattering clothes for stay-at-home moments add immeasurably to the enjoyment of playing at being a lady-of-leisure. Thanks to the many fine rayon fabrics now available, there is luxurious lounging wear this season within the reach of every woman's clothes budget.

Unless you have explored the possibilities of dramatic at-home costumes, you will have no idea what they can do for your looks and your morale. Whether you're a busy wife and mother, or a tailored career woman, or a defense worker who has worn a uniform or practical, functional clothes, a graceful lounging costume will transform you into a clinging vine in the twinkling of an eye. For informal entertaining, for instance, such formal fabrics as crush-resistant rayon velvet, soft rayon satin, and svelte rayon jersey are draped and molded into gracious hostess gowns and strikingly trimmed. Bejeweled or unadorned, dramatic or appealing, these lovely styles reflect the trend towards luxurious effects.

For a quiet evening at home, or a quiet morning or afternoon, there are enchanting styles in house coats, lounging robes, and negligees that are not only comfortable but look as well in the dining room as they do in the boudoir. Rayon jersey and velvet reappear in these fashions, as do rustling rayon taffetas, smooth rayon crepes and smart spun rayons in novelty weaves. Wrap-around coat types are popular for the girl who likes her housecoat to do double duty as a dressing gown. The shirt-waist or round-necked styles look like frocks but have long concealed or zippered closings and may be slipped into with the greatest of ease.

Any college girl who happens to be the possessor of a cozy quilted lounging coat of crisp rayon taffeta in a gay plaid like that pictured to the right in the above illustration will be the envy of her classmates as she flits about in the dormitory or cuddles up in a big "corny" chair in her room. The tailored collar may be worn snugly closed on cool mornings and the wide skirt flares nicely from a slim sashed waistline.

For extra warmth there are adaptable breakfast coats and lounging robes in luscious rayon taffeta, moire or satin, cosily quilted and cut on flattering fitted and flared lines with nice tailored details. For luxurious lounging the quilted housecoat centered in the picture above uses soft rayon satin in a colorful floral print. A snug set-in waistband with double-breasted buttoning accents the full, flared skirt. In a more intimate mood, matching gown and negligee sets in pastels and white are exquisite in fine rayon crepe or satin with lavish lace trim.

With luxurious rayon fabrics providing exciting grandeur, glamour is the keynote for at-home fashions such as the handsome hostess gown shown to the left in the picture above. This distinctive and gracious gown combines two high-fashion notes in its dramatic use of suave rayon jersey for fluid molded styling, plus a glorification of the sweater jacket for informal evening wear. In striking Chinese red, the soft rayon jersey is swathed snugly about the bodice and draped in sleek folds for the full, full skirt. Long sweeping lines are complemented by full bishop sleeves caught tight at the wrist. Brilliant red stones set in gold gleam from every square of the matching knit wool bolero with its shoulder-accents cap sleeves.

For Leisure

Of course you'll be wanting a "brunch" coat. It is a short-skirted version of the ever-popular housecoat. The versatile little brunch coat as shown above is designed to turn the most demure housewife into a beguiling glamour girl. In crisp, brightly plaided rayon taffeta the skirt is cut on dirndl lines, zips up the back, ties at the waist and is ready to make you look beautiful.

The Stocking Future?

It Couldn't Be Brighter

Just because there is a lull in the silk supply and a possible shortage of nylon because of "priorities," there's no reason to worry about hosiery futures. The inflow of stocking fashions that make use of cotton, lisle and spun rayon meshes is most heartening. You will be wanting a pair of the new tweed rayons to wear with your spring suit. Lisles and cottons come in ribbed effects and in small checks. We will probably be wearing dainty white cotton hose this summer, too. The thinnest of thin navy sheers are smart with navy suits. And nylons in a lace weave are also scheduled for summer.

Bolero

Here's good news for bolero lovers. It looks as though the bolero is going to win out as a special favorite this spring. One of its newer uses is with all 'round pleated skirts. When it is worn with long-torso and slim princess dresses the bolero is very, very short.

Spring Tid-Bits

Pottery, shells and wooden blocks decorate the jewelry counters already laden with accessories for spring. There are pale beige shell necklaces and bracelets, shell brooches, wooden beads, the color of sunlit sand, and some giddy wooden cylinders wrapped with cellophane.

Sequins

Colorful sequins add glamour to evening prints. A few dressy afternoon prints also reflect the sparkle of sequins. You'll love the new prints with huge realistic roses on black or navy grounds.

THE season's biggest hit in tailored fashions! Here's the famous "dress which looks like a suit." In this two piece model, the top is a smart four button jacket of the longer cut—with attractive wide shoulders, a neat collar and lapels over which you may wear, most effectively, a snowy white dickey—it is dart fitted to maintain a slim line through the torso and has four big patch pockets. The skirt has front pleats—and, is wide at the hem.

Pattern No. 8100 is designed for sizes 12 to 20. Size 14 ensemble requires, with long sleeves, 4 yards 54-inch material, with long or short sleeves 5 1/2 yards 35-inch material. Dickey takes 1/2 yard 35-inch material. For this attractive pattern, send your order to:

"I Should Have Known Better"

She knew she was eating too much! Things looked so good she kept right on. And then—GAS! Stomach and intestines inflated like a balloon, and breathing an effort. If a spell of CONSTIPATION caused this, ADLERKA should have been handy. It is an effective blend of 5 carminatives and 3 laxatives for DOUBLE action. Gas is quickly relieved, and gentle bowel action follows surprisingly fast. Your druggist has ADLERKA.

Lansing — Can it be true that the people of Michigan are endangered by war?

The state legislature this week is holding another emergency special session.

Approximately 500,000 Michigan men registered this week for possible military duty.

And yet newspaper headlines continue to record events which seemingly contradict evidence that we are at war and must make great sacrifices.

First, consider the definition of "endangered". We assume when Michigan lives are lost when Michigan's young men are put in jeopardy of death, sufficient proof exists this is a serious affair. Our two-ocean war of 1942. It is true Michigan cities have not been bombed. No enemy air fleet has attacked Sault Ste. Marie, our Michigan Panama Canal for vital iron ore. But Michigan young men are dying just the same. What are they fighting to defend?

Does a feeling of complacency exist among Michigan citizens about the outcome of the war?

Here is a question that cannot be answered categorically. We can only surmise an answer.

It can be observed truthfully, we believe, that we Americans take for granted that we are going to win the war ultimately. Our vaunted superiority in industrial arms, plus our tremendous manpower, surely should be sufficient to insure victory. We Americans have never lost a war. To lose a war is almost an impossibility as anyone who remembers his history books can tell you. It just can't happen—or can it?

Is Michigan lagging in civilian defense preparations?

Here again is a question extremely difficult to answer in one word. It depends upon each citizen's definition of "lagging" in proportion to the general objectives of what is needed to be done.

Lieut. Colonel D. E. Squier, who has been assigned by General Cummings of the Sixth Corps Area to the sixth civilian defense region with offices in Chicago made this statement last Wednesday, February 11, to the Michigan Council of Defense:

"We in the regional office at Chicago consider the work being done in Michigan the leading work in this region. You here in this state are far ahead of most of the states of the Middle-West. When I saw what was being done here and when I saw the earnestness with which fire chiefs were taking up their work at a school this morning and when I saw the preparation which had been made for instructing them, I was proud to say that I was a Michigander."

When is enough enough? Must our degree of preparedness depend upon the future Pearl Harbors?

Who is making the sacrifices, anyway?

Newspaper headlines record the news that Singapore, Allied Nations' "Gibraltar of the East"—the great naval fortress which military experts told us was impregnable against enemy assault—has fallen to the Japanese.

We are told that the loss of Singapore may be likened to the loss of England from the American viewpoint. Washington officials say it may add a YEAR to the war. A year of what? "CIO Demands Wage Increase" is another headline.

Let us read on. The CIO demands the following from General Motors:

1. The closed shop with extended authority in plant management.
2. A wage increase of $1 per day with "readjustment" every three months.
3. A $100 defense bond in lieu of vacations.
4. A stricter seniority provision.
5. More power for the "impartial umpire" to interpret contract provisions. General Motors wages in cents per hour are 42 percent ABOVE the national average.

"Two-Man Dispute" loses Ford Dept." Here is another headline.

What were the workers making in the Ford department? Just tools and dies. How were the tools and dies to be used? Just to make bomber planes. And why are the bombers needed? To fight a war that we are going to win anyway—or will we?

"University Head Sees Near Defeat"—Just another headline, this time quoting an address by the Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, vice-president of Georgetown University, who said: "I don't believe that 20 percent of our people realize that we are at war. They will not apparently until the first casualties are made known and the first bombs start to fall... it is not defeatism to talk of defeat; it is prudence."

Is this "war-mongering"? Capt. Donald Leonard, civilian defense coordinator for Michigan, has repeatedly declared in community talks—"It is a pity that a few of the bombs that dropped on Pearl Harbor couldn't have fallen on—say Kansas City! Maybe that would have awakened the Middle West to the seriousness of this war!"

Is this statement needless hysteria to arouse the public?

"Henderson Fears Wage Inflation". Another headline.

The federal government economist, now price administrator at Washington warned the war labor board that general wage increases—such as those sought by the Michigan CIO—would add only to the ruinous spiral of inflation.

Who is paying these war wages, anyway? Is it the General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Company or is it the American taxpayer who must foot the war bill now or ultimately?

Michigan industry and business—all employers who have eight or more persons employed—have paid approximately $140,000,000 in unemployment compensation taxes. This money was paid by the management and was deposited at Washington to the account of the state unemployment compensation commission for the purpose of paying insurance allowances to jobless as a "crutch" to help them along while they looked for work or until their jobs were resumed.

Should this money be used as a dole?

Recommended by the legislative study commission is an increase in

3 SPECIAL GEORGE WASHINGTON PAGES

Of interest to all loyal Americans and particularly valuable for school children studying history—will be three George Washington Birthday Anniversary Pages—including one page in full color appearing in the Pictorial Review with this Sunday's (February 22) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times. Be sure to get The Detroit Sunday Times this week and every week.

Should employers be given an incentive for keeping men at work? Roy Newberry, editor of Coldwater Daily Reporter, said editorially on January 7: "Americans need discipline. They need a self-imposed discipline that springs from an intense devotion to their country and its interests, a discipline so strong that personal comforts become unimportant. In short they need to build morale."

In this editor's judgement we are prepared spiritually as well as militarily. But must it be necessary that we Americans "won't buckle down to the really hard work of winning the war" as Newberry puts it until three things happen? They have got to be mad, they have got to be scared, they have got to be hurt?"

Mark P. Haines, editor of the Sturgis Daily Journal, observed editorially February 7: "The quicker we get serious about this thing the sooner it's over. Every sacrifice, every extra bit of production accomplished now will save three sacrifices, make unnecessary three savings, render unneeded three measures of production next year. Every step that can be taken in conservation now puts off the day of rationing. Every speed-up in preparation that can be made today will save American blood and the American lives, tomorrow. Every drop of sweat we shed today may save a drop of blood or a tear tomorrow."

TODAY? Are we really serious about it today?

Read the headlines of your hometown newspaper and you may think through the answers to some of the questions we have raised. Every citizen is entitled to his own opinions.

As one citizen among millions, we offer these conclusions:

1. The average Michigan citizen DOES realize the seriousness of the war. He is going about his duties quietly. He is not vocal about his grim determination to win the victory and his willingness to sacrifice for it. He is not grumbling.

2. A small minority, highly vocal, is seizing upon the war as an opportunity for selfish profit.

As the Sturgis newspaper editor phrased it: "Every drop of sweat we shed today may save a drop of blood or a tear tomorrow."

The sacrifices we make tomorrow will not shorten the war tomorrow. They must be made today—NOW.

resulted in untold hardship, as well as damage to Charlevoix County as a whole.

Both the Employees and the Board of County Road Commissioners are to be congratulated on solving a difficult problem, and Norman Ance, Prosecuting Attorney untold commendation for his unceasing efforts to find a basis of settlement acceptable to both the Employees and the Road Commission members, and the writer, who happens to know all the facts, congratulates both the Board and the Employees in rendering this service to Charlevoix County.

(The Settlement agreement appears below):

Clarification of Proposed Settlement Submitted by the Road Commission To the Employees on Friday, February 13, 1942

Accepted February 16, 1942

SENIORITY:

Seniority shall be according to the following classifications:

1. Mechanics.
2. Shovel Operators.
3. Tractor operators.
4. Heavy truck drivers (3 tons and up).
5. Light truck drivers (less than 3 tons).
6. Night maintenance man (Reserved for night man or night watchman).
7. Common Labor.

In case of a lay-off in a classification, employees with less seniority will be the first laid off. In case of rehiring within a classification, the last man laid off will be the first rehired.

In case of a shortage of work in a classification the employees so laid off will be employed in any other classification, for which they are qualified in which there is a shortage of employees.

Grievance shall be handled in the following manner:

1. Between the Employee and the Employee's committeeman.
2. Between the employee's committeeman and the Foreman of the garage involved.
3. Between the employee's committeeman and the County Road Superintendent.
4. Between the employee's committeeman of three members and the Road Commission.

An election will be held immediately at the Charlevoix, East Jordan, and Boyne City garages to elect an employee at each respective garage as the "employee's committeeman."

1. The three employees so elected shall be the "employee's committee."
2. Such committee shall carry on negotiations with the Road Commission relative to setting up the details of seniority.
3. The men so elected shall constitute the "employee's committee" referred to in the grievance procedure.

Classification of seniority operation will be worked out at a meeting of the "employee's committee" and the Road Commission on Tuesday, February 24, 1942 and will become operative the following day. That is, employment according to seniority will commence the following day.

VACATION WITH PAY:

A meeting of the Employee's Committee with the Road Commission will be held on July 7, 1942 to determine the question of vacation with pay in view of the new budget.

GROUP INSURANCE:

The Road Commission will work out with the Employee's Committee a plan of group sick and accident insurance for the employees. The Commission will participate in premium payments to a specified amount. Various policies of such insurance will be presented to the employees and the employees will decide by vote which policy they want.

STATEMENT OF POLICY RELATIVE TO AFFILIATION OF EMPLOYEES:

The Board of Road Commissioners declare that they recognize and always have recognized the right of any employee to be affiliated with a labor union or any other organization that they choose to belong to. That this is a free country and no employee of the Road Commission will be favored or discriminated against because of belonging to or not belonging to any particular organization.

HOURS OF WORK:

Hours of work will be worked out as in the past with an effort to equalize the hours of labor among the employees as much as circumstances will

CLEAR THE LINES FOR WAR CALLS!

Telephone lines are always busiest in mid-morning and mid-afternoon. Those are the "peak" periods for business calls. Right now, with the state and nation on a schedule of all-out production for war, this peak load is far greater than ever before. It takes a lot of telephone calls to make a tank or a bomber, and it's vitally important that such messages should not be delayed.

By doing your telephoning at off-peak hours and keeping your calls as short as possible, you'll improve your own service and give real help to America's effort in the war emergency.
