NUMBER 21

Poppy Day This Saturday

ALL CITIZENS URGED TO WEAR ONE OF THESE THAT DAY

Poppies of patriotic remembrance will bloom in East Jordan on Saturday, May 23, Ethel Crowell, President of Rebecca Sweet Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, recently announced.

Every man, woman and child in the city will be asked to wear a poppy on that day in honor of the men who have given their lives for America. The poppies will be distributed by volunteer workers from the Auxiliary and the coins contributed for them will be used in Legion and Auxiliary work for the war disabled, their families and the families of the dead.

The poppies which will be distributed here have been made by disabled veterans at Grand Rapids Hospital. Making the little red flowers has given many veterans employment during the winter and spring months. The work is limited to men receiving little or no government compensation and those with families to support.

Contributions received for the poppies on Poppy Day are a principal source of support for the vast welfare work carried out by the Legion and Auxiliary among the disabled men and dependant families. With the new war adding to America's list of war victims, there will be greatly increased need for funds during the coming year.

Poppy Day has been observed by the Legion and Auxiliary annually for the past twenty years. With the nation again at war, the poppy has new significance this year and will be worn as a symbol of patriotism by millions of Americans throughout the country.

More than 13,000,000 of the flowers have been made by disabled veterans for the Auxiliary, the largest number since the observance of Poppy Day was begun twenty years ago. Orders for the poppies from Auxiliary Units everywhere have been increased this year in anticipation of greatly increased demand for the flowers of patriotic remembrance.

Mrs. Edward Monroe Passes Away At Her Home In East Jordan

Mrs. Edward Monroe passed away at her home in East Jordan, Monday, May 18, having been in poor health for a number of years. She was 72 years old.

Lillie Prairie Flower Goings was born in Prairie Round Township, Kalamazoo County, Feb'y 20, 1870. June 13th, 1885, she was united in marriage to David S. Bussler. To this union were born three children—Earl and Thomas of East Jordan; Isle of Traverse City. There are also nine grandchildren and two great-grand children. Mr. Bussler passed away Feb'y 27, 1919.

Later on she was married to Edward Monroe, who survives her. Also a brother, Arthur Goings, Osceola, Iowa.

She came to this region thirty years ago, residing on a farm in Echo township. She moved to East Jordan last fall.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Watson Funeral Home, conducted by Rev. J. C. Mathews, pastor of the Methodist Church. Burial was at the Densmore Cemetery in Echo township.

Two of Our Soldiers Qualify As Airplane Mechanics

Keesler Field, Miss., May 20th—Qualified as highly-trained airplane mechanics, and ready for assignment to active "line duty" with the Army Air Forces, Pvt. Thomas O. Breakey, son of Mrs. Mildred Breakey, RFD 1, and Pvt. Robert J. Schroeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Schroeder, of East Jordan, were graduated today from Keesler Field's expanding Air Corps Technical School.

Their graduation followed completion of an intensive 19-week course, which included successive 10-day training periods in 11 phases of airplane mechanics. The class, which numbered hundreds of student-soldiers, will be assigned to various Air Forces units to maintain and service the Army's warplanes.

The air mechanics course here includes aircraft maintenance fundamentals, airplane structures, hydraulic systems, fuel systems, engine operation, propellers, instruments, engines, electrical systems, and inspection of single and multi-motored planes.

East Jordan Helps

The Temple, in company with 19,000 other theatres, participated over the week-end in a drive for funds for the Army and Navy Emergency Relief Fund. This emergency measure is for the benefit of the dependents of any of our fighting men irrespective of the branch of service to which they are attached and creates the means by which unforseen circumstances may be taken care of without delay. The Temple collection totalled $46.05. Commander Tom St. Charles and Vern Whitford of the American Legion assisted the Temple staff in making the collections.

Antrim-Charlevoix Holiness Association Meet Here Next Tuesday

The Antrim-Charlevoix Counties Holiness Association will meet Tuesday, May 26th, for a day of worship in the East Jordan Menonite Brethren in Christ Church. Rev. Frank E. Arthur, who is now engaged in special services here, will be the speaker for the day. He will speak at 10:30 a. m., 2:30 p. m. and at 8:00 p. m. Don't miss hearing this good man speak.

AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX CO.

The AAA Wheat Referendum vote for controlled production and marketing of that commodity was carried by about the same percentage as in 1941.

This is an indication that the farmers of the county understand their problems; do not wish to return to the former chaotic conditions existing in the wheat raising districts. Under the present rules, farmers complying with all provisions of the wheat program are guaranteed a combined ACP and Parity payment of 23.4 cents a bushel in their allotment.

Have you planted your War Garden? Yes, farmers are busy I know but a farm without a War Garden is like a soldier without a gun. With rubber, sugar and tin rationed, home grown foods locally raised and consumed save transportation. No one knows what the future may bring in additional war needs and demands—so get busy and do.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The 155-millimeter gun is the modern version of the old "GPF" of World War I days. It has a range fifty percent greater than the old gun, having a 95-pound projectile approximately 15 miles. It is capable of high road speed and each one costs $50,000.

Arsenals of America are working at terrific speed turning out this long range, effective weapon for our armed forces. You and your neighbor working hand-in-hand in unity can make possible the purchase of an adequate number of these guns by buying War Bonds. Put 10 percent of your income in War Bonds to help reach your county quota, every day.

MARRIAGES

Kaley — Walton

Before an altar banked with snapdragons, Isabel Marie Kaley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kaley, became the bride of Donald Walton, son of Mrs. Beulah Baker at St. Joseph's Church, Saturday May 16, at 9:00 o'clock. Rev. Father Malinowski officiating at Requiem High Mass.

For her wedding the bride chose a white net over satin trimmed with white lace, and fingertip veil. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

The bridesmaid, Maraleigh Farmer was attired in a pink net over satin and carried snapdragons.

Margaret Kaley sister of the bride was dressed in aqua net over satin also carried an arm bouquet of snapdragons. Both attendants wore large white hats.

The best man was Francis Kaley the other attendant being James St. Arno.

Organ music was played by Mrs. Jason Snyder.

Immediately following, the bridal party left for Traverse City where a wedding breakfast was served.

For traveling the bride wore a blue wool suit with white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the East Jordan High school in the class of '39.

The couple have started housekeeping in the Vance home on Third st. The best wishes of their many friends are extended for a long and happy wedded life.

Previous to her marriage the bride was feted at two prenuptial showers, one given by the Sodality girls of the Church and one at the home of Mrs. O. Hegerberg.

Davey — Richardson

Spring blossoms and white cathedral candles furnished a beautiful background for a wedding of charming simplicity when Jean Elizabeth Davey of Painesdale became the bride of Sergeant Albert Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Richardson of East Jordan at 2 o'clock May 16 at the Adrian-Methodist Church. Rev. Greenwood performed the ceremony using the double ring service.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white lace and taffeta with sweetheart neckline. The lace bodice ended in a small lace peplum and the full skirt of bridal taffeta ended in a short train. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a Mary of Scots cap trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Joyn of Detroit, a bride of last June, wore her wedding dress of blush pink lace and net. Her flower tiara was of daisies and she carried pink roses. Maid of honor Miss Eileen Davey of Detroit, cousin of the bride was attired in an aqua gown of lace and satin, her flowers and tiara were the same as the Matron's of honor.

Raymond Richardson, brother of the bridegroom was the best man and William Batey of Adrian was usher.

Dr. James Spencer of Adrian provided music for the ceremony, and Miss Margaret Leum sang "Because" and "O Perfect Love."

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Palmer House for the bridal party and immediate relatives.

For traveling the bride wore a navy and white jacket dress with navy and white accessories, her corsage was of white roses.

Out of town guests came from Monroe, Detroit, Pleasant Ridge and Birmingham.

This summer the couple will live near Chanute, Field, Ill., where the bridegroom is stationed at present. The bride is employed in the Adrian Public schools.

The couple spent the week end in East Jordan.

CHERRY GROWERS FORM COUNTY, DISTRICT, STATE AND NATIONAL GROUPS

For a number of years Cherry Growers throughout Antrim County and Michigan, have been attempting to form a growers organization to better prepare them, as an industry to meet various situations as they arise from time to time. A number of schemes have been tried but all have had varying success. Several years ago growers attempted a Cherry advertising campaign. This failed because there were not a sufficient number of growers that endorsed the movement. However, in New York State the growers that organized for the advertising were able to perfect a pretty good organization. When it became apparent that the advertising campaign would not go through they were reluctant to let their organization break up. Instead they decided that such an organization could be of real service to the growers if it were used as a crop reporting agency to keep growers informed as to crop conditions, both locally and nationally, prices being offered to growers by various packers and prices to be paid pickers. This organization soon proved its value to growers, enabling both growers and packers to know better what actual conditions were with the result that both could talk price to better advantage. The result has been that New York Growers have been receiving considerably better prices than any other cherry growers in the country.

During the past winter several meetings were held in Michigan at which representatives of New York organization attended and explained the plans of their organization. As a result, Michigan and other Cherry producing States in the midwest, have organized similar groups.

In Antrim County the first meeting of the County organization was held Monday evening, May 18, at the Milton Town Hall, Kewadin. At that meeting the organization was described by David Murray, Peninsula Cherry Growers, Traverse City, and Chairman of the Regional organization. Antrim County Growers endorsed the move unanimously. All growers are urged to attend a similar meeting next Monday evening, May 25, to be held at the same place starting at 8:30, at which time a permanent County organization will be elected and the first cherry crop estimates made for the 1942 crop.

Reclamation of Auto Parts Program Goal of Chevrolet Dealers

Prolongation of the period when new parts will be available to motorists who must have them, by repair and reclamation of all parts and assemblies that can be salvaged, is the goal of a new service program instituted by Chevrolet dealers, according to William E. Holled, general sales manager.

A new film, the sixth in a continuing series designed to acquaint dealers and their service personnel with latest approved service practices, has just been released by Chevrolet, dealing with the subject of parts repair. Entitled "Save to Serve," the new release treats in detail with the rejuvenation of parts subject to greatest wear.

"Metal shortages are becoming more acute daily," Mr. Holled said. "While it is impossible to predict exactly when the supply of replacement parts will be exhausted, it is not impossible to begin doing something right now to defer that day. Chevrolet dealers are making a specialty of parts reclamation, not only as a patriotic gesture combating waste and releasing manufacturing man power for war production, but as a genuine service to the motorist whose individual transportation must be extended as far through the duration as the ingenuity of service men can advance it."

"The new service affords a modern, a-to-the-minute training course for the dealer and his service manager in the renewing and repair of partially worn or damaged parts. Inasmuch as many metals are no longer available to us and in the face of parts shortages, production-entailment and military priorities, this new emphasis upon repair as opposed to replacement will conserve new parts for emergency use and will prolong car life at a minimum cost to motorists."

Decoration Day Being Planned

SUNDAY MEMORIAL SERVICES MAY 24th AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

This year Decoration Day means more than ever before. We are engaged in a great World War testing whether this nation or any nation so conceived shall endure. We should hold in high honor those of the past who have sacrificed for this country, but that is not enough. It is for us to dedicate ourselves to the "unfinished task."

The American Legion, with this in mind, are planning this year a program of Dedication. The Legion will honor the graves of the departed soldiers, the school children will have their patriotic march, and then will follow the speaking program at the High School building.

There will be no outside speaker. There will be patriotic music and short talks by representative citizens on the theme "Is For Us To Dedicate Ourselves to the Unfinished Task." These talks will symbolize the dedication of the Community, the School, the Churches, the Fathers and the Mothers of boys in the National Service, and of the Veterans of former wars. The closing feature will be the pledge of allegiance to our country, and then Taps will be sounded.

This will be the first public meeting in the new High School auditorium, and it is expected there will be standing room only.

This year, in rotation, the Sunday Memorial services, attend by the Legion, will be in the Presbyterian Church on May 24, at 10:30 a. m., with sermon by Rev. C. W. Sidebotham.

USDA County War Board Activities

The USDA War Board of Charlevoix county has just finished the organization of community War Boards throughout the county. Township lines were not adhered to in the formation of the subsidiary committees but rather the natural and geographical grouped communities were picked. In turn these local community War Boards subdivided their territory into four to six natural groupings of farms and appointed one man and one woman in each group as a War Club. The object of these clubs is to aid the War Board in the county and community when needed in any emergency created by our war work. In nearly all communities the local AAA chairman was elected chairman of the War Board.

4-H CLUB news

MEMBERS ARE FOOD CONSCIOUS

Last Wednesday night the second meeting of our 4-H County Club council was held with a splendid attendance of club leaders from all communities in the county. Already it can be announced that there are over 200 Victory Garden projects in operation. This is a huge increase over the number of 4-H club gardens in 1941. Likewise, over 100% increase in enrollment has taken place in Food Preparation and Canning projects. The twenty five members of the council certainly have volunteered their services splendidly in organizing their various communities. Along with the Victory gardens in the cities we fully expect to have between 1200 and 1500 gardens. Reports that have come in indicate a large increase in gardens. Yes, each individual is doing his or her part in helping to win victory.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Soviets Break Nazi Lines at Kharkov To Relieve Pressure on Kerch Front; U. S. Army Takes Over All Air Lines; Lower Wage Brackets Face Income Tax

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Pierre Laval's position grew more difficult as the United States in practical effect ceased to recognize Vichy control over Martinique and other French possessions in the Western hemisphere. Immobilization of French warships at Martinique followed conferences between American representatives and the resident French high commissioner. Above (center) is shown Laval with M. Cathala, (left) his minister of finance and M. Paul Marion, secretary of state.

RUSSIAN FRONT: Nazis Seek Oil

With the rich oil fields of the Caucasus as the prize, Nazi and Russian Red army fighters locked forces in a combat which before the summer's end may determine the war's outcome.

Principal theater of the Nazis' newest conquest effort was the Kerch peninsula, gateway to the Soviet's farflung oil possessions.

While the Russians admitted that a German break into the Kerch defenses had caused a withdrawal to new positions, the Soviet communiques reported that the new line was being held in good order and that a heavy toll was being taken of the attackers.

Behind this news was a report that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's armies further north had broken through the first German defense lines around the industrial city of Kharkov and were preparing for an invasion of the city itself. Success of the Kharkov offensive would mean that the German move toward the Caucasus would be forestalled.

Regarded as a grand dress rehearsal for the major Nazi spring offensive when drier ground permits greater movement, the present battles offered a test of the best arms which Axis and the United Nations could muster. German air concentrations were reported the heaviest of any used thus far in World War No. 2. Russian mechanical equipment included triple-turret American tanks and the latest design planes.

INCOME TAXES: More Will Pay

Prospects that a single person making as little as $9.62 weekly and a childless married couple whose income is $23.08 a week or more will have to file income tax returns were seen in the action of the house ways and means committee in voting to lower the exemptions for married persons to $1,200 a year from the present $1,500 and for single persons to $750 from $1,000.

Allowances for children and other dependents would be left at $400. More than 8,000,000 persons, it was estimated, would be added to the present fold of 17,000,000 Americans who file income tax returns.

Taxpayers could take comfort from the fact that the committee voted to retain the present 10 per cent earned income credit for earned income up to $14,000 a year. For example, a person earning $1,200 a year is permitted to deduct $120 from the amount which would otherwise be subject to the normal tax provision, provided his income is derived from wages or salaries.

MARTINIQUE: Warships Immobilized

As French warships at Martinique were being immobilized, the United States came closer to its goal of completely neutralizing French possessions in the Caribbean sea.

While Vichy France had issued a note covering the situation, American representatives indicated they were "doing business" with Adm. Georges Robert, high commissioner of the French West Indies.

SHIP BUILDING: Good News Ahead

"All around the clock, seven days a week" is the rate at which Uncle Sam's ship production machine is being utilized, it was disclosed by War Shipping Administrator Emory S. Land.

Good news for the future was held forth in the admiral's statement that the nation's shipyards will turn out 15,000,000 tons of new vessels annually after 1943 and will continue that pace "as long as necessary."

AIRLINERS: Will Fly for U. S.

The war department's action in taking over the $100,000,000 commercial aviation industry emphasized again the United Nations' conviction that air power will be the determining factor in winning the war.

In a drastic order authorized by President Roosevelt, the army curtailed private aviation, requisitioned 55 of the nation's 250 palatial airliners for immediate military service and directed that 79 more be converted by the 17 airlines themselves into cargo carriers.

Virtual elimination of night flying was forecast in the new order. A change in air routes and the closing of many commercial airports for the war's duration was indicated.

Employees of the airlines including 2,200 pilots and 18,984 other personnel were given their choice of joining up with the air corps or the ferry command or remaining with war department-operated lines.

The war department's action followed the recent requisitioning of 83 airliners for service in the Near East and Far East.

AXIS SUBS: Inland Attacks

When an Axis submarine slipped through the net of Canada's coastal defenses to torpedo and sink two ships in the St. Lawrence river, it marked the first time in history an enemy undersea craft had penetrated North America's inland waterways.

Increasing boldness of U-boat warfare all along the Atlantic seaboard was indicated by the sinking of seven additional United Nations' merchantmen in American waters. At the same time, an enemy mine was discovered near the Florida coast.

Exact location of the U-boat attack in the St. Lawrence was not disclosed in the Canadian communique, nor were the names of the freighters sunk. That the same submarine was responsible for both sinkings was indicated by the fact that they both occurred "in the same general locality and at the same general time."

The St. Lawrence river is navigable to ocean-going vessels between its mouth and the city of Quebec, 500 miles upstream. The communique noted that both ships were sunk in the river and not in the gulf outside.

TIRES: U. S. Wants Them

Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce, revealed that the Reconstruction Finance corporation had made available $150,000,000 for the purchase by the government of new and used tires and tubes now in the hands of consumers.

County tire ration boards of the Office of Price Administration and RFC agencies will be responsible for administering the plan, Mr. Jones declared. A voluntary system of tire purchasing will be tried out first. Should this fail, commandeering of civilian tires looked like the next step.

Coincident with the Jones announcement came a pessimistic report on the nation's rubber situation issued by the Office of Emergency Management. "This report entitled 'The Truth About Rubber' stated that U. S. production of synthetic rubber this year 'may reach 28,000 tons,' and 'cannot be expected to be much more than 350,000 tons' in 1943. Only by 'slapping the Japs back in their islands' will the American people regain all the rubber they need, and return to prewar use, the report concludes.

PETTICOAT ARMY: To Serve Overseas

Enlistment of 150,000 American women between the ages of 21 and 44 for non-combatant service with the regular army anywhere in the world was authorized when the senate passed a bill creating the women's auxiliary army corps. The house had previously approved the measure.

The corps will be uniformed. Pay in the ranks will be $21 the first four months and $30 from then on. Members of the corps must be in good health, unimpeachable character and have no dependents. A WAAAC company, according to present plans, will comprise 250 women and four officers.

It was intimated that the first task of the corps would be in the aircraft warning services. Some of the duties would include jobs as clerks, teletype operators, switchboard, telegraph or telephone operators and messengers.

Duties in other branches of the service would include pharmacists, dieticians, hostesses, laboratory assistants, laundry workers and stewaresses.

GAS WARFARE: Fresh Warning

Following Prime Minister Churchill's warning to the Axis on gas warfare came a further assertion that Britain was better equipped than Germany for this type of combat.

A report by the chemical expert of the ministry of economic warfare pointed out that gasproof shelter accommodations were available for only 40 per cent of the population of big German cities. Nazi precautions have concentrated on large-scale shelters rather than on individual protection, as in Britain. Only a portion of the German people own gas masks, the report stated, while in Britain all the people possess them.

The British expert declared that Italy's situation is even worse than Germany's.

POPE PIUS: Pleads for Peace

The voice of Pope Pius was raised in an appeal to the world's leaders to conclude a peace "on principles of justice and moderation, even if it does not seem to correspond to aspirations." The pontiff, however,

POPE PIUS "Peace with Justice."

acknowledged that "there is no immediate hope of peace."

"Addressing the world by radio on the 25th anniversary of his consecration as a bishop, the pope said:

"We well know how in the state of things today there would be little probability of success in formulating detailed proposals for a just and honorable peace. But we make this appeal today with greater insistence in view of the menace of greater destructive weapons."

The pope then urged statesmen to miss no opportunity to make a "peace of justice and moderation."

AUSTRALIA: Planes Strafe Japs

New Allied blows against Amboina, former Dutch naval base, and Rabaul, New Britain, gave strength to warnings by United Nations leaders that the battle of the Coral sea has not brought an end to the peril facing Australia. The assaults upon Japanese bases to the north were intended as at least partial insurance against all-out invasion.

Warships and transports were reported at these bases, waiting the arrival of sea-borne plane reinforcements before moving into the Coral sea area for a rendezvous with the invasion ships scattered by recent American sea victories.

Harassing air attacks by Allied bombers on both the east and west flanks of the Jap invasion bases sank and damaged enemy merchantmen, set fire to docks and destroyed planes in Jap-held air-dromes.

MISCELLANY:

New York: Uncle Sam is searching for scenic pictures taken abroad by amateurs, according to the Amateur Cinema league, which announced that it had been authorized to distribute through camera dealers and clubs 60,000 questionnaires throughout the nation, requesting that all personally made motion pictures and transparencies be made available to the government.

Washington Digest
Farm Prospects Bright Despite War Restrictions

Experts See Co-operative Solution to Farm Labor Problem; Shortage of Tools Greatest Headache.

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N-W, Washington, D. C.

As Washington takes a look ahead across the fields and pastures and dairy farms of the nation, the prospects for the farmer seem pretty good. He is going to have some tough problems but they aren't insoluble. And there are good times ahead. The ceilings on retail prices still leave room for price rises which will turn to the farmer's advantage.

Congress has yet to decide whether the point at which the ceiling on farm prices is to begin can be lowered to parity or whether it will be held at 110 as the law now holds.

Price Administrator Henderson is firm for the lower figure. Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has endorsed this view which the President set forth in his fireside chat. But congress will decide.

Meanwhile, behind closed doors the problem will be threshed out as to methods to be used when the lowered retail prices roll back through the processor right up to the barn gate.

This will be the point where the department of agriculture steps in with its technical knowledge and experience to supplement and probably to modify some of Mr. Henderson's ideas. For one thing cannot be forgotten: the farm products of the nation have still to be changed over to some extent from the things that are not essential to the war effort to the things that are essential to the war effort. This cannot all be done by the waving of a big stick; there must be left for the farmer a certain price motive for this change-over on his part. And how to keep prices up for the products needed and down for what isn't, is a complicated problem which cannot be settled entirely by an arbitrary system of retail price controls in a market of increased demand and limited supply.

One hardship which the farmer shares with the rest of the producers, is the difficulty of getting the tools he needs to produce with, when munitions have the first call. That is the thing that is causing the most headaches in Washington right now.

There is the question of farm machinery; of fertilizers and sprays, of transportation from the farm to the primary market, from there to the processor and finally into distribution.

And another bottleneck which backs right up to the barn and the sty is the lack of processing facilities. I understand that if the pig crop now in the making proceeds at the present rate there will not be enough square feet of killing space in America to handle the hogs when they come in. Some of you will recall that in 1924 embargoes had to be placed on certain slaughterhouses to keep the pigs from piling up at their doors.

However, there is more experience stored up in Washington heads than there was then and greater ability, equipment and incentive to make use of it.

One thing that is being done is to get the farmers to begin feeding their hogs earlier so that the peak period of slaughter can be flattened out and all the pigs won't come to market at once.

Experts who have studied the situation say that the farm labor problem is by no means insoluble. It exists but it is going to be licked with the help of women, school children and part-time help from men in the small towns in rural communities who are willing to close up shop and help with the peak load at harvest time. This has already been done in some communities—fruit picking, for instance.

On the whole, the prospects are that the farmer will be much better off than he was after the last war. Then he took his extra money, made down payments on more land, mortgaged what he had to buy still more and when the depression came lost everything. There are no signs of a land-buying boom now. The farmer, once bitten is twice shy, he has begun to lay away that extra cash for the rainy day, that he, of all people, knows is coming.

Farmers have already made rainy day payments to the tune of $5,000,000. This is the amount reported by the Federal Land banks as the amount which can be used in the future to apply to their long-term installment loans. Every farm over a series of years has its "rainy days" in which income falls below normal or in which the farm family has reverses of one kind or another. These rainy day funds are bound to prove helpful in many ways, and, as President Roosevelt said, those who comply with the suggestions for paying off debts and curtailment of installment buying "will be grateful that they have done so when this war is over."

When A. G. Black, governor of the Farm Credit administration, saw that this year's crops were going to bring more money in than they have for many years he began selling this "rainy day" idea to the borrowers. They were sold to the tune of $5,000,000. Some farmers have already paid up four or five years' installments on their long-term loans. They will be sitting pretty if rainy days come. "Farmers sometime wonder," says Governor Black, "whether, in these days in which they are being urged to buy war bonds as a patriotic duty, they should lay aside funds with the Federal Land banks with which to meet their own private debts. Well, remember that the Federal Land banks invest the funds received from future payments in government securities. The farmers realize that they are accomplishing not one but two things in placing their cash in the future payment fund—they provide for their own security and stop payment of interest on that part of their loan equal to the funds deposited. They have the assurance that the money in the interim will be working for Uncle Sam.

"Buy bonds of course," says Governor Black, "but also reduce your farm mortgage indebtedness while you have an opportunity."

And that is just what the farmer is doing.

1917—1942 Concepts of War

How does it feel to register for the second time?

When the men from 45 to 65, especially those near enough the top of the bracket to have served in the first World war, went to the school house and signed their registration card, they did it with quite a flourish. Of course they knew they would probably never be called for military service but just the same it gave them a sort of a "we did it before we can do it again" feeling. They felt, if the feelings of one of them who is making these observations are typical, as if there was quite a lot of fight in the old dog still.

But any one of them who paused to reflect a moment must have realized what a wholly different attitude many of the boys of 1942 have compared with the draftees or the men who enlisted in 1917. A quarter of a century ago America had only the quaintest conception of war. It was based chiefly on romance. It had little or nothing to do with the experiences soldiers in previous wars had encountered, still less of the experiences they themselves were to encounter, such as for instance trench warfare under sustained bombardment or aerial attack.

To the men of 1917 fighting a war was, besides being a patriotic duty, more or less of a sporting thing. But the writings and the teachings of the last 20 years have served to root out the idea that war is a chivalrous thing. To many of the modern generation it seems contemptible and patriotism doesn't appear to be involved.

There is one thing that many people fail to understand. One has to live through war conditions to understand war. This understanding makes it possible, paradoxical though it may seem, for a normal person to adjust himself to the utterly abnormal conditions about him. To live under a code contrary to that which he has been taught; to bear up under discomfort, delay, suffering and danger. This factor evolves from a crowd psychology which produces a mass patience, self-reliance, courage and self-sacrifice.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

More than half the persons 25 years old or over in the United States of April 1, 1940, had completed at least eight years of formal school, according to the census bureau.

At the present time, families are to be allotted five pounds of sugar per person for canning for the season.

The bureau of home economics reports that the art of quilt making may stage a comeback in these days of simplified living when every piece of material needs to be used effectively.

Tire trouble led the list of motoring woes in 1941 with a total of nearly 10,000,000 blowouts, the American Automobile association reports.

When Your Back Hurts

And Your Strength and Energy Is Below Normal
It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.
You may suffer aching backache, rheumatic pain, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with burning and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.
There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.

Mobile Optical Shops for U. S. Soldiers

Overseas soldiers who break or lose their spectacles on the battlefield will have them repaired or replaced in the field by mobile optical shops, the first of their kind to be attached to U. S. field armies. In this unit a total of 120 single lenses can be edged and mounted daily. This with other equipment make it possible to take care of the requirements of a field army of 300,000 men. Approximately 15 per cent of the men in the armed forces wear glasses.

THURSDAY: THE LAST DAY WITH THE DISCIPLES

LESSON TEXT—Luke 22:14-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—This do in remembrance of me.—Luke 22:19.

The last day! How quickly it comes, and how fleeting yet meaningful its moments.

We do not know what our Lord did on Wednesday of Passion Week. In all probability He remained in Bethany to rest in fellowship with His friends. Surely He needed that day of quiet, for that which had gone before, difficult and strenuous as it had been, was as nothing to that which lay before Him.

Late on Thursday He and His disciples came to the upper room where Peter and John had already made preparation for the observance of the Passover (Luke 22:8). This feast had (since that great and awful night of Israel's redemption out of Egypt's bondage) pointed forward to the Christ and to His cross as the fulfillment of the type of redemption by the shedding of blood. But now the hour had come for Him to give Himself in that death, and so He set aside the Passover (because it has been fulfilled) to establish the great Christian feast of remembrance—the Lord's table, which now shows forth His death till He come.

I. The Final Passover (vv. 14-18).

Our Lord looked forward with intense desire to the Passover which He now observed with His disciples, for it was the last celebration of that feast recognized by God. All that it had foreshadowed of deliverance and hope was fulfilled in Him who now sat at the table. He had moved forward with resolute purpose to this day when His mission on earth was to be accomplished, and He was to become the Christian's Passover lamb (1 Cor. 5:7).

The fact that He had looked forward to it with desire does not minimize the deep darkness of either Gethsemane or Calvary. Remember that, when in the garden He faced that hour and thought of the possibility of the cup being taken from Him, He said to the Father, "Not what I will, but what thou wilt." Praying concerning the same matter (in John 12:27), He said, "Now is my soul troubled; and what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour; but for this cause came I unto this hour."

II. The First Communion (vv. 19, 20).

Taking the unleavened bread and the unfermented wine of the Passover which had just been observed, Jesus established a new feast, the Christian feast of remembrance, which we call communion or the Lord's table.

His words are significant, "For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do show the Lord's death till he come" (1 Cor. 11:26). At the Lord's table His followers find spiritual strength in recalling His death for them, but they also find joy as they remember that He is to come again. They thus testify to the world that they believe and cherish these truths.

This feast is rightly called "communion," for down through the ages and until He does come the saints of God have at His table sweet communion with Him and with one another. Let us not neglect it! Our Lord also spoke of the cup as "my blood of the new testament." The word "testament" means covenant. The Lord's table therefore speaks of our allegiance to Him, of our loyalty to our Lord, and our devotion to His service. That is why the Christian Church speaks of communion as a sacrament, a word from the Latin sacramentum, meaning oath, and essentially an oath of allegiance.

III. The Folly of the Disciples (vv. 21-30).

Someone may say, "That point does not belong with the other two. Both the Passover and the Lord's Supper are for the joyful remembrance of deliverance and redemption." The objection is well taken except for one thing—we are dealing with human beings as they are, not as they should be and could be by the grace of God.

Here in the inner circle of the twelve there was one traitor. It seems impossible, but apparently Judas had maintained such outward conduct as to turn no suspicion in his direction, even though all along he had in his heart the blackest of treachery against his Lord. A sad and soul-searching fact is here revealed, that it is possible for one to make a high profession of faith in Christ and even so to live as to give no cause for criticism, and yet to be unregenerate and in fact the enemy of Christ.

What about the strife regarding position? Shameful as we agree that it was, it still goes on in the church. Not even the remembrance of our Lord's death and the reminder that He is coming again is enough to keep men from wanting to be great.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Our army spells and pronounces it ponton, not "pontoon", as you do. Ponton bridges cost all the way from $15,000 to $700,000. The smaller bridge using individual metal-pontons is pictured here. The largest ponton bridge is 1,080 feet long and is made of rubber instead of aluminum.

One small bridge has a weight capacity of 25 tons, using about 2,000 individual metal pontons. The smallest is used only to take troops over smaller streams. But whether our army uses the smaller or largest ponton, our engineers need plenty of them. If you and every American invests at least 10 per cent of income in War Bonds every pay day we can supply our fighting forces with these essentials to a victorious war.

A FOUR-FOOTED Food Factory

The dairy cow is a living factory, producing an almost perfect food for human consumption. Milk builds bone, brain, nerves, and muscle. It gives soldiers more stamina, aviators better eyesight, fortifies whole populations to better morale.

There are no problems of a 40-hour week in this efficient plant which keeps up a steady 24-hour production. Mechanized warfare may have toppled the horse and the mule from their former high status, but the dairy cow is still supreme.

United States dairymen have a vital role to play in supplying food products to all of the United Nations. We are glad to cooperate with the dairy interests of this community to help win the war.

SYNOPSIS

THE STORY SO FAR: Janice Trent runs away from wedding Ned Paxton, rich, but a gay blade. Unbeknownst to Bruce Harcourt, a family friend, she becomes secretary of an Alaska camp of which he is chief engineer. Millicent Hale, wife of the man whom he succeeded, is also attracted to him. Bruce at first wants to send Janice back. On a trip to the city, she encounters Paxton and tells him she is married to Harcourt. The latter hears it and insists on a wedding that day. After a wedding party arranged by the Samp sisters, who run the Waffle Shop, Bruce and Janice go home, only to be disturbed shortly by Millicent who tells them her husband, Joe Hale, has been shot dead. "If you had only waited," she exclaims to Bruce, and crumples. Bruce spends the night in investigation. The commissioner arrives, and a probe is on. He is asking Kadyama, Indian, about Hale and Tatima, his girl friend.

Now continue with the story.

CHAPTER XII

"Well? She's not your squaw, is she?" continued the Commissioner. "She promise to marry on me. She work for Meester Hale. She say she lak dark mans no more, she lak gol' hair."

"Where were you yesterday?"
"In mornin' cleanin' up hangar."
"Did that take all day?"
"No sirree. Word come dat chief marry. Mees Samp seesters, they sen' me to woods. I cut everyt'ing green. Bring to H house and put 'em round room."

"Yourself?"
"Mees Hale come an' Meester Chester. Bruder, seester, dey work toggeder, oder mens come too."
"Were Mrs. Hale and Chester in the H house all the time you were?"
"No sirree. Meester Chester go first. Say to her, 'You feenish.' She sen' me for more green. When I come back—she gone too."

"Gone, had she? Where were you last night?"
"Squaw-dance."

"Was your girl friend"—he amended—"was Tatima, this girl you expect to marry, with you?"
"No. She stay at Waffle Shop for beeg marriage party there." He qualified. "She come to dance late, stay long night through."

The Indian girl was called next. Tatima swaggered in, head back. Her face had the curious color dark skin has when drained of blood.
"Have a good time at the Indian dance last night?"
Tatima straightened. "Who, me? Me go to Indian dance?" Her contempt was superb. "I stay at Waffle Shop all night, help Mees Samp seesters clear up after marriage party."

The Commissioner grinned at Kadyama.
"Sit down."

Tatima favored him with a disdainful glance. "Who, me? I stan' up."

"Suit yourself. You work for Mr. Hale?"

"Who, me? I work for Mees Samp seesters."

"What do you do there?"
"Wait on table. Wash deeshes, sweep, do much t'ings. Work hard."

"Yet, you had time to take care of Mr. Hale's cabin?"
She tossed her head, set her lips in a heavy red line of defiance. Harcourt commanded:

"Answer the Commissioner's questions, Tatima. We all know that you worked for Mr. Hale. Tell the truth."

She regarded him from under lowered lids. Hunched her fine shoulders.

"Who, me? Tell truth? You not like it p'raps much as you tink. I tell. I work for Meester Hale." A spasm of feeling twisted her face. She bit her lips. A drop of blood stained her teeth as she went on. "I tak' care of cabin wile Mees Hale gone away."

"Been there since her return?"
"One tam, p'raps."

"Remember losing this?"
The Indian girl bent forward to stare at his extended hand. In the center lay a blue glass bead. She clutched at the string about her neck. Inscrutability veiled the fright which had flamed in her eyes. She drew:

"Lose bead two days ago. Same tam she there."

With a nod she indicated the girl at the typewriter desk. Janice felt the color mount to her hair as the four men looked at her.

"You mean that young lady at the desk?"
"Sure, I mean she. Meester Hale he phone for her to come. Say he have secret letter. First he send Mees Hale to Waffle Shop. Mees Trent come. He tell her letter. He tell her she beautiful. After wile he say, 'I kees yo' han's.'"

"Didn't like Hale to tell Miss Trent that she was beautiful, did you?"

"Who, me? I not care. He say to her, 'You run away from marryin'. Kees an' run kin'. An' she say, to keep to bees-ness. He talk more, much more. Then beads break. I busy peeking them up. I hear no more."

"Didn't hear Miss Trent's voice again?"
"Ask much questions, don't you? P'raps you tink Tatima some leetle defector. I hear her speak outside, that all. She speak very mad to Meester Jimmy Chester, fore he come in."

"Chester! Did he come into the cabin?"

Tatima swaggered in.

"Sure, he come. He say very loud, 'What you mean sending for Mees Trent, Joe? Try any funny business an' I'll shoot.' An' then Mees Hale come in an' say, 'What you doin' with that pistol, Jimmy? Joe's frightened!' An' then she laughed an' laughed 'though she didn't know what she doin', an' I went to Waffle Shop an' wash deeshes."

"You didn't see Mr. Hale again alive?"
"Who, me? I not see heem again, never."

"That's all. You may go."
She swung out, head up, the Yakutat blanket trailing from one hand. The Commissioner watched her till the door closed. Made a note on his pad.

"You take stenographic notes, don't you, Grant? Take Miss Trent's testimony?"
He looked at Janice. "Sorry, to bring you into this, but I want to hear about your visit to Hale's cabin."

"Mr. Hale phoned me to come and take a letter from his dictation. A codicil."

"Codicil! Did he sign it?"
"I don't know. I put it in shape and sent two copies to him by one of the men."

"Make a rough draft for me when we get through this afternoon. While you were at the Hale cabin, what happened?"

"Tatima has given an exact account."
"You met Chester as you went out?"

"Yes."
"What did he say to you?"
"He asked what I was doing in Hale's cabin."

"And you answered?"
"That it was none of his business. The suspicion in his voice made me furious."

"Mm! All the next day you were away from headquarters. I understand. There was a party here in the evening. Did you dance with Chester?"

"Yes."
"Did he mention your meeting of the day before?"

"Yes. He apologized for his manner and I explained why I answered as I did."

"You parted good friends?"
"The best." Thank heaven—that was over! She had squeezed by without telling what Jimmy had said in reply.

"Was that all that was said?"
Her assurance, crashed. Good grief! She wasn't under oath, she hadn't sworn to tell the truth, the whole truth. She would say nothing which could incriminate nice Jimmy Chester. She smiled engagingly at the Commissioner.

"Anything more would have been anti-climax, wouldn't it?"
His smile was bland, too bland.

"You were in the H house when Mrs. Hale came last night, weren't you? Sorry to remind you of what must have been a gruesome intrusion on your happiness, but I want to know what happened."

"We were sitting by the fire talking when someone beat furiously at the door. Mrs. Hale stumbled into the room. She was breathless as though she had been running. She braced herself against the wall, tried to speak. Mr. Harcourt said, 'Steady, Millicent. What has happened? Her eyes were wide with horror as she called out, 'Joe's dead! Shot!' She pitched forward to the floor."

"You can remember nothing more that was said? See who's knocking, Grant?"

Janice's eyes met Harcourt's. He must be intensely relieved that she had been relieved from answering that question. Tubby Grant opened the door. Martha Samp stood on the threshold. In one hand she held a box. Harcourt rose.

"We were to send for you later, Miss Martha."

"The woman's grim lips twisted in a smile. 'Which's polite for sayin', 'What you doin' here?' Mr. Bruce, I came to save you wastin' the government's time." She stepped into the center of the room. Her voice quavered with excitement. "Found the revolver that shot Joe Hale? Must be somewhere."

"Obviously." The Commissioner's voice dripped sarcasm. Martha Samp frowned at him.

"What do you mean speakin' like that to me, to a woman old enough to be your mother? I want you should understand that the engineers in this camp didn't leave their manners behind in the States. You et ten waffles for your lunch, Mary told me. I ain't under any obligations to feed you an' your assistants while you're here on this case. If you try to be a smarty with me, you'll eat with the men or the Eskimos, understand?"

Tubby Grant camouflaged an exuberant chuckle with a racking cough. Dauntless Martha Samp beligerently faced the Commissioner. A smile tempered the amazement on his face as he rose. He was decidedly attractive when he stepped outside his official self, Janice decided.

"Miss Samp, if it's a case of love my waffles, love me, I'm eating out of your hand. I never tasted anything so good. Sit down. We'll listen so long as you'll talk."

She sat down.
"Sakes alive, I guess you don't know what you're promising. I'm quite a talker when I get goin'. However, I haven't got so much to say unless I get started on crime or matrimony. Surprisin' how often you'll find 'em related. I've found the pistol." From the box she cautiously extracted a revolver wrapped in a soft white cloth. A revolver with a gleaming mother-of-pearl butt.

The office whirled before Janice's incredulous eyes. Bruce Harcourt's "I found it on the shore when the tide went out," Martha continued. "When I heard about Mr. Hale, an' there not being any weapon found, I says to myself, 'First thing'll be done will be to examine and check up on every pistol at headquarters. 'Tisn't likely though that whoever did it will keep it by him, he'll get rid of it. No place I know of better than the shore.' So every chance I had I ran down to the shingle while the tide was low. I had what you call a hunch that it wouldn't be far away, and it wasn't."

The Commissioner broke the revolver. "One cartridge gone." He replaced it on the table. "Ever seen this gun before, Miss Samp?"

"Yes."
"Where?"

"It belonged to my nephew, Archie Harper."

"Who owned the revolver after your nephew went?"
"Mr. Bruce."

"Did you know that it was missing, Harcourt?"

"Yes." Curly Bruce Harcourt told of his discovery of the empty holster on his wall, added that he had inquired among the engineers if anyone of them had borrowed it.

"Mm. Didn't connect it with the shooting, I suppose?"
"The shooting hadn't occurred at the time I missed it."

The door swung slowly open. A man with dazed eyes swayed on the threshold. His face was bruised, his clothing torn. The Commissioner stared at him, open-mouthed.

"Parks! Where did you come from? Plane crack-up?"
The man's head achieved a wobbly shake. "Never got off. Fella grabbed me as I was climbing into the cockpit. He flung me down with such force that I was stunned. I heard a roar an' then I didn't know anything."

"What did he look like?" The Commissioner shook the dazed man in his eagerness.

"Go easy. I fell on that arm. Couldn't tell what he looked like, goggles on. But when he grabbed me I noticed a big black seal-ring on his finger."

"Who wears a seal-ring in this outfit, Harcourt?"
"Chester, the second engineer."

"Mrs. Hale is Chester's sister?"
"Yes."

"I'll talk with her next. Is she able to see anyone, Miss Martha?"

"Twill do her good to rouse out of her daze. If M's. Hale isn't roused I'm 'fraid she'll get lower an' lower in her mind. 'Twould be a pity. She's got a lot to live for."

"What do you mean, she's got a lot to live for?"
"Joe Hale was a rich man, I've heard. He didn't need to work, but he was crazy over bridge-buildin'."

STAGE SCREEN RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

HEDY LAMARR started her career as William Powell's screen wife with expert advice from Myrna Loy, who's so often been "Mrs. Thin Man." Here's her note. "Dear Hedy: Just remember, when Bill starts emoting, you stop breathing—but he'll always give you the best side of the camera. If he hasn't had time for breakfast, keep out of his sight. If possible, have the director call you after lunch. On the other hand, working with Bill means you're home in time for dinner. Do learn to tie ties; Bill can't. Neither does he like noise on the set. He just laughs if you blow your lines, but don't you laugh if he blows his. Good luck—from an ex-wife."

The March of Time breaks all its own precedents to bring us first-hand knowledge of India, now that U. S. soldiers are fighting at her very frontiers. Two pictures will be released, "India in Crisis," covering the political and social background of the Indian question, presents the viewpoints of the various dissenting groups. The second installment is "India at War."

Frederic March is one of the few actors who always knows what he'll be doing six months hence. If he's in Hollywood, he knows he'll be on Broadway; he does one play a season there. If he's in New York, he knows he'll be in Hollywood, making a picture.

FREDERIC MARCH

A midget clad in a chimpanzee's suit works with Bob Hope and Bing Crosby in "Road to Morocco." Naturally, when the comedians recognized friends among a group of studio visitors, they turned the "chimpanzee" loose on them. He screeched, grabbed them, ran amok; they fled for their lives, while Hope and Crosby sat back, looking a little too innocent.

Herbert Wilcox recently returned from making "They Flew Alone," in London; it's the story of Amy Mollison's life, starring Anna Neagle and Robert Newton. And what snags he ran into! He wanted Newton to play James Mollison—Newton was serving on a minesweeper. An appeal to the government got his release. Electric power at the studio was limited. All timber in the sets had to be used over and over. It took seven months to make the picture, but Mr. Wilcox feels that the very difficulties helped to give it an unusual quality of reality.

Did you like "Here Comes Mr. Jordan"? Then you ought to like Metro's "Three Guys Named Joe"—a tale of three happy-go-lucky pilots who perish while fighting in the Pacific, only to return in a series of post-mortem adventures and "adopt" the crew of another plane, and guide them in battle. Sounds a bit like some of those hilarious "Topper" films.

It has been years, and it seems like forever, since first there was talk of making a picture of Rudyard Kipling's "Kim." Metro has owned the screen rights for a good while, and is settling down to work now, with Mickey Rooney to play the title role, after he finishes "A Yank at Eton."

As a boy Joel McCrea used to play around a haunted house on a hill top. Some years ago, when Anne Harding was looking for a hill to build on, he recommended the one on which that house had stood. She built there, later sold the house; now it belongs to Rudy Vallee—but he didn't know the site was haunted until told by McCrea, who's working with him and Claudette Colbert in "The Palm Beach Story."

OBDS AND ENDS—RKO is preparing its own picture of the merchant marine—"The Navy Comes Through," starring Pat O'Brien, Randolph Scott and Jackie Cooper. Greer Garson's become a basketball fan; she bought uniforms for the team of the 78th anti-aircraft artillery unit. Spencer Tracy gave his stand-in, Jerry Schumacher, a gold-tipped rabbit's foot when Schumacher joined the parachute troops; the rest of the "Torilla Flap" company gave him a huge pillow—"for soft landings." Wonder Baby Corey, after drawing $17.50 weekly unemployment insurance for some time, is now back at work, in "The Lone Wolf in Scotland Yard."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

As dried fruit is usually soaked before cooking, save the soaking water to cook the fruit in, thereby saving much of the food value of the fruit.

If one-half level teaspoon of baking powder is added to every four eggs used in making a soufflé, it will not fall after it has been removed from the oven.

Only half the quantity of sugar will be required to sweeten stewed fruits if sugar is added after fruit is cooked.

To save steps and energy in a two-floored house, double up on cleaning equipment. Keep one set upstairs—floor mop, cleaning powders and cloths, dustpan and a broom—and another downstairs. This much equipment will last twice as long as one set, so it is not impractical.

Keep on Your Toes With Enriched Bread!
(See Recipes Below)

Bread 'n Butter

Bread is one of our oldest and best-liked foods. But bread, like many of our other foods, has changed considerably during the last two years. You haven't noticed? Well, it's been enriched and fortified with the B-vitamins, often called morale builders because of the fine things they do for your system, digestion and disposition.

Iron, the magic helper that peeps up your system by making hard-working red blood cells, has also been added to bread along with vitamin B.

But not just bread has these new, essential elements. Flour that you use for your own baking has been fortified with the B-vitamins and iron. There isn't much difference in enriched flour or bread and in ordinary bread or flour, except in some cases where the color is slightly creamy. But the nutritive value is so much greater that it's to your advantage to use it.

Although Saturday baking and the resultant shelves and pantries filled with crusty, sweet-smelling loaves of bread are becoming things of the past, perhaps you still feel the occasional desire to turn out a silky textured, moist, delicious loaf of good bread.

Rhythmical kneading is the secret of good bread. Rock the dough under the palms of the hands in three-quarter time until it gets the satiny-like sheen.

*Twisted Loaf.

(Makes 4 1-pound loaves)
2 cups milk
1/4 cup sugar
4 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons shortening
2 cups water
1 cake yeast
1/4 cup lukewarm water
12 cups sifted flour (about)

Scald milk. Add sugar, salt, shortening and water. Cool to lukewarm. Add yeast which has been softened in 1/4 cup lukewarm water. Add flour gradually, mixing it in thoroughly. When dough is stiff, turn out on a lightly floured board and knead until satiny and smooth. Shape into smooth ball and place in a greased pan. Cover and let rise in a warm place (80-85 degrees F.) until doubled in bulk. When light, divide into four equal portions. Roll each portion into a smooth ball. Cover well and let rise 10 to 15 minutes. Mold into loaves. For a twisted loaf, roll dough under hand to 2 rolls about 2 inches thick and longer than the length of the pan. Twist the 2 rolls around each other and place in greased pans. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in a moderately hot (400-425-degree) oven 40 to 45 minutes.

A nutritious coffee cake that is a treat and true sugar skimmer adds zest to breakfasts. Made with either of the two dried fruit fillings given here, it is delightful.

Sweet Yeast Dough.

(Makes 2 12-inch rings or 3 1/2 dozen rolls)
2 cakes yeast

Lynn Says:

Good things come in little packages. This little saying applies perfectly to the concentrated foods like dried fruits—prunes, apricots, figs, apples, pears, raisins and peaches.

Now more than ever before you'll want to use more of them because they can solve your sweet tooth problem, in addition to acting as important blood builders and keeping your body in good working condition because of their important vitamin and mineral values.

You can appreciate why they do all this for you when you realize that to make one pound of the dried fruit it takes several pounds of fresh fruit. For example, prunes require three pounds of fresh fruit to make one pound dried; raisins, four pounds fresh fruit, apples, six to nine pounds fresh fruit, pears and figs both require three pounds of fresh fruit, while apricots and peaches five and one-half pounds of the fresh to make the dried product.

This Week's Menu

*Oven-Baked Chicken
Green Peas Parsleyed Potatoes
Grapefruit, Orange, Strawberry Salad
*Twisted Loaf
Strawberry Sundae
Coffee Tea Milk
*Recipe Given.

1/4 cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup honey
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
5 cups sifted flour (about)

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk, add butter, sugar, honey and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour to make a thick batter. Add yeast and eggs; beat well. Add enough flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on a lightly floured board and knead until satiny. Place in a greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. When light, punch down. Shape into tea ring rolls filling with fig or apricot filling. Bake in a moderate (375-degree) oven 25 to 30 minutes for coffee cake, 20 to 25 minutes for rolls.

*Fig Filling.

(Makes 2 cups)
1 cup chopped figs
1/2 cup orange juice
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Combine figs, orange juice and rind, water, sugar and salt. Cook until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and cool. Add nuts.

*Apricot or Prune Filling.

(Makes 2 cups)
1 1/2 cups stewed, chopped prunes or apricots
2 tablespoons sugar or honey
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Combine the fruit, honey, cinnamon and lemon juice. Mix well. Do you have a yen for old-fashioned, oven-baked chicken swimming in a thick, creamy sauce? Well, here's a recipe for you that you can fix early in the morning and put in your refrigerator until cooking time. You may use broilers, frying hens, stewing hens or roasters, but the cooking time varies with the age of the chicken. Broilers take about a half an hour to cook while stewing hens take about two hours.

*Oven-Baked Chicken.

1 roasting chicken cut up
Milk
Flour
Salt and pepper
1/2 cup butter or fat for frying
1 tablespoon onion, chopped fine
1/2 pound mushrooms
2 cups hot, rich milk
Dip chicken in milk and seasoned crumbs and flour and fry in skillet until a golden brown. Fry mushrooms in butter until brown (about 2 or 3 minutes). Sprinkle chopped onion over top of chicken arranged in casserole. Pour hot milk over top and bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven until chicken is tender. Serve garnished with chopped parsley and a dash of paprika.

Dramatize the Salad.

Salad greens and fresh fruits occupy an important place in our diets in the spring, and a good salad is a distinctive part of any menu. Our salad today features citrus fruits and strawberries which are a spring symphony themselves tossed on a bed of greens—watercress, romaine and leaf lettuce are perfect. A light french dressing will bring out the hidden flavors in the greens and fruits:

French Dressing.
3 tablespoons catsup
1 tablespoon vinegar
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
2 teaspoons sugar
1 cup salad oil
1 onion, sliced
1/4 teaspoon paprika

Combine ingredients in order given and shake well in jar before serving.

FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger B. Whitman

PATCHING OF CRACKED PLASTER

SOME friends of mine are doing over an old farmhouse. Plaster on the walls is firmly attached to the lath, but is badly cracked. It would be a long job to replace all the old plaster with new, and even if it were not, plasterers in their community cannot be had because of nearby defense construction work. If much of the plaster were loose, they would have no option, with the alternative of covering the old walls with some form of wall-board. As it is, it seems to me that their simplest way out would be to fill the cracks with patching plaster, or with a similar material called "spackle." For a good job, a crack should be cut out and made wider at the lath than on the surface, so that in hardening, a patch will lock itself into place. Before putting in a patch, the old plaster should be dampened to prevent water from being drawn from the patching compound. Narrow cracks can be filled at once to the surface, but wider cracks should be filled only three-quarters full. When this part of the patch has hardened, the rest can be filled and the surface smoothed. This will overcome any possible trouble from shrinkage. The job will be a long and tedious one, of course, but it is one that the owners can do themselves, and at their convenience. To replace the plaster of an entire room would make far more of a mess, and be much more disturbing. This patching method, for instance, need not injure the floor finish, which with a complete plastering job would probably be badly defaced.

New Bathroom

Question: The house on the farm where we live is 80 years old and in fair condition. We intend to put in an upstairs bathroom, but I am afraid that the tub, especially when it is being used, would be too heavy for the ceiling of the room below. Would there be any danger of its breaking through? How can the ceiling be strengthened?

Answer: If possible, put the bathroom in such a place that the weight of the tub will be carried by the bearing wall of the room below. If this cannot be done, the length of the tub should be across the floor beams so that several of them will carry its weight. Even so, the beams may need strengthening; get the advice of a good house builder on this point.

Sandy Concrete

Question: I am told that a sandy concrete floor should have a new topping applied. What thickness should it be? Can the sanding be stopped by painting? Can asphalt tiles be applied over painted concrete?

Answer: You are misinformed on the need for a new topping; for the concrete can be so treated that sanding will be stopped. By one method the floor can be painted; but it should be a kind of paint that is proof against the effects of the lime in the cement. There are several paints of this kind; some of them made with a rubber base. Ask your paint dealer about them. Asphalt tiles can be applied over the paint.

Floor Damaged by Sunlamp

Question: Can you advise what to do to a varnished hardwood floor that was damaged by a sunlamp? The rays apparently burned the varnish right off and have given the wood a coat of tan, or darkened it several degrees. How deep is the damage?

Answer: I doubt if the damage has gone much below the varnish. Try sandpapering the spot until you get down to clean wood. You can then touch up the spot with light coats of floor varnish, blending the edges. Finish, if desired, with thin coats of paste floor wax, each well rubbed after drying.

Blond Maple

Question: How should I go about changing a maple dinnette to light, blond maple?

Answer: Remove the finish down to the bare wood by sandpapering, scraping, with liquid varnish remover or in any other way. Bleach the stain and color out of the wood with a prepared liquid bleach, which your paint dealer should be able to supply. Use it according to the directions on the container. Finish with a good quality clear lacquer.

Softening Paint Brushes

Question: How can I make a solution for softening hard paint brushes?

Answer: Dissolve a cup of trisodium phosphate or washing soda in a quart of hot water. For quickest effects, use this boiling hot. At a hardware store you can get a powder to be dissolved in water, intended for this purpose.

Short Length of 'Ballerina' Skirt Offers New Style Trend

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

ONE of the most fascinating style trends of the season is the "ballerina" influence seen in dressy frocks for "noon to midnight" wear. This flattering mode has been appearing lately in stunning street and midcaft lengths styled entrancingly for both afternoon and evening wear.

The degree of formality of these festive frocks which are so charming for daylight dancing and evening party wear depends upon their styling and upon the type of fabric used. Emphasis on luxurious weave is the rule. Your new ballerina frock may be crisp and perky in checked rayon taffeta (a newly important fabric), or it may be ethereal and fairylike in misty rayon mousseline or in such glamorous rayon fabrics as handsome faille, or filmy marquisette with very special emphasis on the importance of black sheers and laces.

These daylight dancing dresses are at their height of glory for immediate wear. They will be helping to bid farewell this summer to skirts using yards and yards of material. The new fabric conservation program begins with fall and winter clothes. It is interesting to note that in the models pictured in the above illustration the silhouette is faithful to the original ballet inspiration in bodice as well as hemline. Necklines are flatteringly low in cut and are likely to be squared, heart-shaped or slashed in a deep plunging V-shape. In sleeve lengths you will find every type from brief shoulder caps to wrist length, fitted or bishop styles.

Shown to the left in the above illustration is a daytime-length version of the smart ballerina frock fashioned of fine rayon faille in a flattering shade of "plantation" green with a graceful overskirt of exquisite rayon lace in matching color. The fitted bodice, with its long-torso style and becoming V-neck, is typically "ballerina."

A charming multicolor floral cut-out design of the flower print of the softly draped rayon crepe bodice is repeated in applique on the filmy rayon marquisette skirt of the enchanting midcaft-length ballerina frock designed for gala evenings shown centered in the illustration.

Pictured to the right is a dramatic interpretation of the midcaft frock for dining and dancing that uses romantic black rayon lace with unexpected and very effective ruffled cuffs of snowy marquisette at the wrist. A black rayon taffeta slip adds crispness to the full flare of the skirt. It is dresses of the type of this black beauty that will be worn by guests attending fashionable weddings this summer. Huge-brimmed hats, also in black, will top these adorable lacy sheer black frocks. Pompadour versions of petite flowery bonnets misted in beguiling colorful veils will also be popular.

From all indications the "pretty" black frock is destined to triumph anew this summer. These sheers will practice their "black magic" in beguiling feminine versions dramatized with tiered skirts, detachable apron fronts, transparent yokes and fringe and lace trims, to which will be added delectable pastel or vivid color accents. No smart summer wardrobe will be complete without at least one of these black frocks of fragile beauty.

The new "black" vogue is also evidenced in stunning suits softly tailored of handsome faille or moire. For the most part these suits subscribe to the new slim short silhouette that is making conversation these days.

Hand-Crocheted

This flattering brim and beguiling mesh scarf look as if they had just left the workrooms of an expensive designer, but you can crochet them for yourself. The brim looks like straw, but it is actually cotton crocheted treated with a starch solution. The fish net open mesh—as seen in the scarf has become a hobby with fashion. It is used for the making of the now-so-fashionable fancy snoods in which young girls are so prettily caging their curls. It is stretched over linen handbags. The newest idea is to top your summer blouse with a fishnet sleeveless bodice. For a dramatic note for simple summer frocks, the hand-crocheted, scarfed wide-brim hat as here shown is just about 100 per cent perfect. Part of looking your best this summer will be keeping yourself looking fresh and cool and, even after hours at work, as crisp as a lady of leisure.

Bathing Suits Are Draped and Ruffled

You may swim this season in a softly draped and molded-to-the-figure dressmaker suit styled of fine rayon crepe or sleek rayon jersey. Or you can be gaily outfitted in a trim bare-midriff halter and shorts costume of sprightly acetate rayon sharkskin.

You'll see "little-girl" ruffled suits in crisp rayon taffeta, as well as beautifully tailored princess styles in rich rayon materials. The new failles and shantung offer a lovely range of brilliant or dusky colors.

Black play and swim clothes are given drama with vivid color touches and accessories. The dressmaker influence is very much in evidence.

Casual Dresses Designed For Stay-at-Home Life

No more long drives in the car. So we will have a new program of "stay-at-home" entertainment. All-ready invitations are being sent out to "come and enjoy yourself" at a backyard barbecue party or picnic.

Of course you will want to dress to the occasion, which will mean picturesque, young and refreshing cottons done in rustic style. For these, gingham, flowery chintzes, chambrays, mattress-ticking stripes and an endless list of sturdy cottons will fit picturesquely into the scene.

Glass Jewelry

Jewelry, as well as handbag and shoe ornaments, is being made of colorful glass. Flower motifs in jewelry are favorites. You can get earrings, bracelets and clips to match. Very lovely necklaces cluster flowers about the throat. The colorings are superb in these attractive glass "jewels."

Early Gifts Noted

When Elihu Yale gave $2,500 to the Collegiate school, its name was changed to Yale university and, when John Harvard bequeathed $3,500 and a small library to Cambridge college, its name was changed to Harvard university, says Collier's. Today gifts to educational institutions often amount to millions of dollars and receive little or no publicity.

Mrs. Housewife, when you go to your favorite stores this week and find that prices vary for the same commodity, don't jump to a conclusion that someone is profiteering. Price control, which became effective Monday (May 18), does not impose uniform prices. Ceilings will vary from store to store, according to the highest prices charged in each store for commodities during March, 1942. Likewise, you must take into consideration the element of quality as well as price. And you should know the exempted articles and services, too, before you talk disparagingly over the back fence.

Apprehensive that misinformed consumers might flood the local rationing boards with complaints of price violations, the Michigan Council of Defense through its committee of public information is taking steps this week to acquaint retailers and consumers with provisions of our revolutionary war system — federal price control. It isn't as simple as you may think. Retailers merit your sympathy and full cooperation, for they are going to be penalized severely — many of them, at least — under arbitrary freezing of wholesale and retail prices for the same base period of March, 1942. The bookkeeping load alone will be tremendous at a time when many stores are wondering how they can retain trained clerks in competition with nearby war plants and the selective act.

Yet, interesting enough, leaders of Michigan retail trade associations say the average retailer is accepting the new order as part of numerous sacrifices to be expected from the home front. It is all-out war, this time, and no mistake. Consumers, likewise, realize that mean slingers of words, and colorful accusations are assured. The soaring cost of living, unless checked in some effective manner, would continue upward endlessly. As Price Administrator Leon Henderson explained on April 28, "a staggering excess of money over the supplies of goods available threatens disaster to the civilian economy and to the war effort."

Who is caught usually in inflation's squeeze? The little man with a fixed income; the small merchant whose margin of operation is small.

Posting prices of cost-of-living commodities was required of every retailer this week, starting Monday. Every merchant must send a statement of these ceiling prices — highest prices which he charged during March — to the Office of Price Administration in Detroit not later than Monday, June 1. Furthermore, he is given until July 1 to prepare a statement of the ceiling prices of all commodities or services which he supplied during March. Another reason why consumers should be patient during the next few weeks.

Price control will be administered in Michigan by Arthur F. Sarvis, Flint banker who has been rationing director of The Michigan Council of Defense. Seven regional district offices are to be established with executive staffs. Because such organizations cannot be completed over night and because retailers have been given a big bill to swallow, it has been suggested that consumer complaints on ceiling prices — except in cases of flagrant violations — should await July 1.

Sarvis is convinced retailers can be relied upon to cooperate with the government wholeheartedly in an honest and equitable compliance of the act. It is no secret that many retailers are going to be penalized for not taking price mark-ups in March on merchandise which they purchased months before at lower wholesale prices. And as their stocks must be replenished at higher prices and as war priorities will gradually curtail wholesale deliveries, Michigan retailers are confronted with dark days, indeed.

To these people, economic victims of the war, consumer tolerance would be most helpful. You can't keep politics out of 1942 headlines. And you can't keep Elton R. Eaton out of a good fight.

That's why the entry of this militant anti-boss newspaper editor of Plymouth into the race for Republican nomination for United States senator is certain to afford additional reader relief from war communique.

Eaton will be opposed by Gerald K. Smith, social justice crusader of Detroit who received his reform baptism in Louisiana with the late Huey "Kingfish" Long. Both men are Judge Homer Ferguson, Wayne county circuit court, was reported a few months ago to be on the edge of candidacy.

J. HOP

The Juniors have been very busy for the past few weeks on the decorations for their Junior Hop. The theme is national defense, and all of their decorations "jibe" with it.

The latest reports are he may not declare. Section nine of the Michigan state constitution says: "They (circuit judges) shall be ineligible to any office than a judicial office during the term for which they are elected and for one year thereafter." Judge Ferguson, if elected, would risk a possible contest in the United States senate, and being a Republican he could not expect joyous seating by the Democratic majority.

Civil service, plus the federal Hatch act, will restrict activity of government employees in politics this year.

James Greefield of Norway, associated with Auditor General Vernon J. Brown at Lansing, has been granted a leave of absence by the Michigan civil service commission to become a candidate for the Republican seat at Congress held by Frank Hook of Ironwood.

The Hatch act forbids anyone in the military service from running for public office. It is going to nip many budding candidates.
