

To Comb Farms For Salvage

SCRAP HARVEST ON IN RURAL COMMUNITIES AND ON FARMS

The Michigan Scrap Harvest, an intensified program designed to salvage badly needed scrap material from farms and rural communities, was launched at a meeting in the Senate Chamber at Lansing on Aug. 3. Principal speakers opening the state-wide campaign were Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner, chairman of the Michigan Council of Defense, and Herbert L. Gutterson, chief of the general salvage section, Industrial Conservation Bureau of the War Production Board.

The Salvage Committee of the Michigan Council of Defense, headed by Kenneth M. Burns, is cooperating with local salvage committees in the effort to salvage every pound of scrap metal and other essential war material from the rural districts of the state.

Salvage collection depots have been established and local committees are arranging for transportation of the salvage to designated receiving stations. The Farm Equipment Institute and the National Farm Equipment association are extending assistance. In most rural sections farm implement dealers will co-operate in handling the scrap.

Mr. Gutterson is a veteran administrator with experience in two wars. In World War I he was in charge of purchases of foods and materials for the Allies, under Herbert Hoover, and after the Armistice he was a member of Hoover's relief administration staff in Paris. In the present war he is heading the program for salvage of materials for conversion into weapons and war materials.

In East Jordan the salvage committee is composed of general chairman Barney Minkton and Clarence Healey, J. C. Mathews and Oscar Weisler.

Mrs. Mary Winters Former Resident Here Dies At Kirkland, Wash.

(From Kirkland Journal)

Mrs. Mary E. Winters, beloved wife of Major H. L. Winters of Kirkland died Thursday, July 23, after illness following a stroke. Born Mary E. Spencer, she was the sister of William A. Spencer, aunt of Mrs. Ray Floyd, and great aunt of Spencer and Wallace Floyd all of Seattle.

She spent her early childhood in Michigan, and attended Ferris Normal Institute in Big Rapids, Michigan. In 1904 she married H. L. Winters at East Jordan, where he was principal of the West Side school. In 1919 Major and Mrs. Winters came to Kirkland. Major Winters owned the Kirkland Hardware store, and both were active in civic affairs. In 1924 they went to Sumner, where they were in the hardware business until they returned to Kirkland in 1929.

Funeral services were held from Green's Kirkland Funeral Home on Saturday, July 25, with the Rev. James O. Duffey officiating. Cremation followed at Acacia Memorial Park.

Car Accident North of Town

AT TOP OF HILL NEAR THE PENINSULA GRANGE HALL

Two cars figured in an accident late Saturday night on the East Jordan-Advance road. Dean Hankins, 18, of Petoskey, who was driving a car belonging to Earl Colburn, was cut about the head. Colburn escaped with slight injuries but Franklin Sneathen the third occupant of the car, was severely cut on the hand and wrist and the forehead. The second car belonged to Donald Johnson of East Jordan, was accompanied by Herbert Kemp. Both cars were badly damaged. Hankins was detained at the city jail until Monday morning when he was given a hearing before Justice Murphy, found guilty of driving while intoxicated, and sentenced to pay a fine of $75.00 and costs or serve 60 days in the county jail. He chose the latter and was taken to Charlevoix to begin serving his sentence. His driver's license, which has just expired will not be renewed.

Continuing the column's tabloid review of Michigan history, we present twenty questions this week for the most part on contemporary life. You'll be doing well to get a grade of 50 this time, so check off five points for every question that you miss, and don't miss more than ten of them. — Editor's Note.

DID YOU KNOW

1. That the largest art colony in the Middle-West is at Saugatuck maintains a summer school of painting.

2. That Michigan's native sons and daughters in literature include Stewart Edward White, Harold Tilus, Rex Beach, James Oliver Curwood, Clarence Buddington Kelland, Ray Stannard Baker (writing as David Grayson), Edgar A. Guest, Anne Campbell, Douglas Malloch, Arthur Pound, Paul deKruif, Edna Ferber, Ring Lardner, Helen Topping Miller, Margaret Rawlings and Webb Miller (There are many others!).

3. That in 1930 there were 173,777 Canadian-born citizens in Michigan? In addition to this group, 28,539 French-Canadians had moved to the state. The second group in numerical strength were the Polish with 119,228; third, Germans with 81,714; and fourth, English numbering 62,721.

4. That Michigan's greatest industrial expansion was between 1920 and 1930 when the state's population increased 32 per cent? Only two states — Florida and California — exceeded Michigan during this decade.

5. That Michigan State College, founded in 1857, was the first agricultural college in the United States? As a result of its success, the United States land grant college act was made a law in 1862.

6. That Michigan State Normal college, founded in 1852, was the first normal school west of Albany, New York? Other colleges now include Central at Mount Pleasant, Western at Kalamazoo and Northern at Marquette.

7. That the second oldest continuously maintained parish of the Roman Catholic church in the United States is St. Anne's, Detroit. This church was established two days after Charlevoix was founded.

When loans may be secured until December 31, 1942 and mature on demand, but not later than April 30, 1943. The interest rate will be 3 1/2%.

AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX CO.

The wheat harvest is in full swing throughout Charlevoix county. Many farmers raise only enough wheat for home feeding of live stock, so the following information may not be of particular interest to them. But to those who do have a surplus to market, it may be of great financial benefit if they take advantage of the wheat loan provision of the AAA program.

Surplus wheat, that farmers ordinarily sell, may be stored on the farm as security for a loan. All growers who have complied with AAA acreage allotments are eligible for wheat loans at the full rate. In other words, those who are cooperating in the program may secure a loan of $1.17 per bushel on wheat properly stored with an additional payment of 7c per bushel for storage allowance. Thus, they can get a total of $1.24 per bushel as soon as the application for loan is approved. Those producers who have excess wheat will be eligible for a loan only at 60 percent of the full loan.

If you have 100 bushels or more of surplus wheat and wish to secure a loan get in touch with the AAA office in Boyne City.

Courtesy is like the air in a tire. Maybe there is nothing to it, but lack of it may be the cause of disaster.

Minnie's Momentous and Melodramatic Moment

Minnie, an 8-week-old doubtful ownership, was cruelly thrust into the hands of fate, Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

Minnie, who escaped from her captors, "Red" Irwin and Cliff Zimmerman (the villains), by poking a hole in the gunny sack in which she was held captive, emerged forthwith and in much haste. She left her captors standing behind Graces' Pie Shop, and went south to Esterly St, thence south-west into the weeds. While looking among the weeds for Minnie "Red" heard Cliff's mellifluous voice saying, "Red", she's in the lake." Minnie, leaving her would-be captors vainly trying the locks on the two row boats tied to the city dock, headed west to a point about halfway across the lake, then, while "Red" and Cliff, wondered who owned Minnie, or whether "Red" should pay Cliff, or not, she grew tired of bucking the waves and turned and went south toward the bridge, upon which a gentle but firm wave tossed her. Her would-be captors, thinking all of Minnie's energy exhausted, were mistaken, she put up another 15-minute fight before finally being cornered and put back in her gunny sack prison.

So ends the tale of Minnie, and her perilous peregrination into the cruel, cruel world.

P. S. — Minnie was a much cleaner 8-week-old pig after her horrible ordeal.

Attention Parents and Relatives Of Men In The Service

The East Jordan Community Service Committee, representing all clubs, lodges, churches, granges and other organizations in this area is attempting to send informal news letter each week to all of the boys and girls from this area who are in the service. If you have a son, daughter, husband, nephew, niece or friend who is in the service and who once called East Jordan home the committee would like to have his or her name. The committee now has about 170 names. If you have any idea that the name of anyone you might wish remembered has been overlooked please write the persons name. If you have a picture of the person take it to the Michigan Public Service Co. and it will be displayed along with the 100 odd pictures already on display there. The committee would like to get the present address of the following. If you have it or know where it can be secured — please notify Mrs. Hegerberg.

"Westpoint" Comes To Temple Sunday

Three hit programs are the Temple Theatre's entertainment contribution for the new week. The first bill, scheduled for Friday and Saturday, presents the last of the Charlie Chan stories that for several years have provided enjoyable movie fare; "Castle In The Desert." Sidney Toler again plays Chan and Sen Young, Douglas Dumbrille and Arleen Whelan complete the cast. The Sun-Mon-Tues. production, "Ten Gentlemen From West Point," is perhaps the high-spot of the week. It is an historical melodrama with a mighty wallop for every American man, woman and child. George Montgomery, John Sutton, Maurine O'Hara, Ward Bond, Ralph Bird and a host of others enact this thrilling tale of the Academy that produced Lee, Pershing, Grant, MacArthur for the nation. Family Nites on Wed-Thur bring us Preston Foster and Lynn Bari in an exciting story of intrigue laid in Shanghai during the period immediately preceding Pearl Harbor, "Secret Agent Of Japan." This timely and topical picture will prove grand entertainment for the kids as well as you. An outline of the week is listed below.

Fri-Sat; Sidney Toler, Arleen Whelan, Sen Young in, "Castle In The Desert."
Sun-Mon-Tues; George Montgomery, John Sutton, Maurine O'Hara in, "Ten Gentlemen From West Point."
Wed-Thurs; Family Nites; Preston Foster and Lynn Bari in, "Secret Agent Of Japan."

Soldiers — Sailors Urged To Apply For Absent Voters' Ballots

All men in the United States armed service are urged to send in their application for an Absent Voter's Ballot for the Coming primary election, Sept. 15th.

These applications should be made direct to the township or City Clerk where the person is registered. Do not send to the County Clerk. Undoubtedly copy for the primary ballots will be in the hands of the printers at the end of this week and will be ready for delivery by the end of the month.

MARRIAGES

Zipp — Gibbard

(Petoskey News Aug. 3.)

Miss Ethelyn Bessie Zipp, daughter of Mrs. Bessie Zipp, of Bay Shore, and Rodney Gibbard, of Gladstone, Mich., son of Leslie Gibbard, of East Jordan, exchanged their nuptial vows at a lovely ceremony at the home of the bride's mother on Sunday at 3 p. m.

The wedding took place before an improvised altar of summer flowers and tall white tapers in the presence of 40 immediate relatives. The Rev. Leslie J. Nevins read the Presbyterian single ring ceremony in the absence of the Rev. E. P. Linnell who was out of the city. Mrs. Linnell played Lohengrin's Wedding March by Richard Wagner.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Richard Zipp, wore a street-length dress of Alice blue sheer crepe. Her bridal bouquet was fashioned of pink roses and orchid sweetpeas.

Mrs. Bruce A. Green, of Boyne City, was her sister's matron of honor and was attired in a dusty rose sheer crepe street-length dress. Her flowers were Ophelia roses and white sweetpeas. Clifford L. Gibbard, of Three Rivers, assisted his brother as best man.

A reception followed. The rooms were decorated with varicolored garden flowers and the refreshment table was centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bridal figures.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibbard left after the reception for Gladstone where he is employed.

Garden Disease Hits Some Crops

Tomatoes turning yellow and withering? Garden beans showing circular dark spots on the pods and red spots on veins of the leaves?

Those are signs of disease probably carried by soil or seed, explains J. H. Muncie, Michigan State College plant disease specialist.

In the case of the beans, or even the disease of other crops, he suggests it's best to get a good diagnosis and take steps to have a better and cleaner garden in succeeding years.

Phasarium wilt in tomatoes, for instance, is caused by a soil parasite.

Fruit from affected plants is smaller, more acid and of poor quality. But certain varieties are highly resistant, including the Pritchard or Wilt Resistant John Baer for central-Michigan and the Marglobe for southern and central countries.

The bean browning can be avoided by selection of better seed. The disease indicated by the spotting is called bean anthracnose. The trouble is spread if the beans are picked, cultivated or hoed when wet with rain or dew.

Early potatoes showing yellow leaves with black circular spots and with some leaves turning brown at the edges probably have been affected by early blight and by leaf hoppers. Garden trash or weeds harbor the fungus of the blight. The hopper burn can be controlled by spraying or dusting the potatoes with some copper fungicide and lime or other material to give a whitish coating to the potato leaves.

Gardeners who observed garden peas turning yellow before the crop was ready probably a rot developing at the base of the stems, says Dr. Muncie. Too much rainfall caused the fungus parasite to thrive. Rotation of garden crops will help, seed treatment is another recommendation to prevent this trouble in the garden.

Infant Preschool Conference Here Next Week

An infant and preschool conference will be held at the East Jordan Community Building on Thursday August 13, from 10-12 a. m., and 1:30 to 3 p. m. Physical examination together with preventive measures against diphtheria and smallpox will be given by Dr. James Chapman, director of the District Health Department and assisted by Miss Lawrence, County Nurse. Mothers with children up to school age are invited to attend this conference. This conference is open to mothers living in nearby townships as well as in the immediate vicinity.

Dr. Buttrick Preaches Sunday

Dr. George Buttrick, pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York City, will preach in the Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

For many years East Jordan has been favored by the privilege of hearing this outstanding preacher of New York City who has an international reputation. In January of this year Dr. Buttrick's new book on "Prayer" was "The Religious Book of the Month," and it has had a very large sale. It is believed that it will be a standard book on that subject for many years.

The way in which East Jordan people have turned out to hear Dr. Buttrick is the best evidence of the high regard in which he is held here. Miss Edyth Thompson will sing.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Russian Crisis Heightened as Nazis Push on Toward Caucasus Oil Fields; 4,000,000 Men in Service, Says FDR; Japs Resume Offensive in New Guinea

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Attorney General Francis Biddle (right), who headed the prosecution of the eight Nazi saboteurs before the military commission, is shown as he left the U. S. Supreme court in company with Oscar S. Cox, assistant solicitor general, after he fought the defendants' effort to have the Supreme court transfer their trial from the military to civil courts.

RUSSIA:
Nazi Steamroller

Inexorably the Nazi's monster war machine had forced the Russians back mile by mile from Kharkov to beyond Rostov in the lower reaches of the Don basin.

Throughout the cruel retreat of 250 miles Red Marshal Simeon Timoshenko had shrewdly played his string out. His formula: Fall back before the superior Nazi onslaught; contest every inch stubbornly; inflict the maximum damage on the invading Germans.

By thus staying his hand he had kept his own army intact and had forced the Germans to extend themselves. But the Nazi resources in men and machines had seemed to be without limit, for it was reported that 12 fresh divisions and 10,000 tanks had been poured into the conflict after the fall of Rostov.

Hitler was said to be willing to gamble the lives of a million young Germans to gain control of the Russian oil fields of the Caucasus. To turn aside the onrushing Axis flood, General Timoshenko had thrown his Red army reserves into a titanic struggle for the preservation of Russia.

The grimness of the situation was underscored by Premier Stalin's sharp order to his armies: "Not one step back! Every officer and man must stand his ground and fight to the bitter end."

Inspired by Stalin's appeal, Red forces defending the approaches to Stalingrad hurled the German thrust back. The Russians made a determined stand on the Don river south of Tsimlyansk, while on the north flank at Voronezh they dislodged the enemy from strong positions.

1,000,000 MEN:
In U. S. Service

President Roosevelt told the nation that with 1,000,000 men under arms, the slack in America's food supplies is being rapidly taken up and shortages may be expected in specific things to eat. He emphasized, however, that there will be no shortage of food and that America will have enough to eat.

To illustrate his point, the President cited temporary shortages of meat in several sections of the country. A number of similar shortages are likely to occur, he said, and listed these reasons, for the beef scarcity: 1.—The usual off-season for beef; 2.—People with more money than ever before trying to buy more expensive cuts; 3.—Greater consumption of meat by the armed forces than they ever ate in civilian life; 4.—The necessity of buying in advance for the services, which further tightens the shortages.

The problem of shortages, the President declared, lies in directly with the scrap salvage campaigns now under way—iron and steel scrap, waste fats, tin cans and rubber.

Mr. Roosevelt said he was appealing to every householder, every shopkeeper, every citizen "to dig deep into his attic, cellar, barn and backyard and turn in every ounce of scrap useful to war production."

ALEUTIANS:
Unified Air Command

Vaporous as the fogs that haunt the Aleutian Islands was the announcement by the navy of the creation of a unified command of all aircraft operations in that area.

The announcement was purposely vague, however, for as it explained, exact details as to command relationships and the exact location of headquarters could not be disclosed because they would be of value to the enemy.

EGYPT:
Nature Aids Allies

Superior air power, reinforced mechanized troops and a desolate waste of quicksand marshes combined to give the British defenders of Egypt the upper hand over Marshal Rommel's Nazi invaders.

The strengthened air power manifested itself in sustained attacks on the German fighting positions, devastating bombing attacks on Tobruk, Matruh and other key Axis supply bases by American as well as RAF planes. The augmented tank forces demonstrated their power in Allied advances from El Alamein on the Mediterranean to the Tel-el-Eiza sector and in the capture of a substantial number of prisoners and supplies.

Of the favorable factors—the third—the impenetrable marshes of Quattara remained as Rommel's biggest obstacle to reaching his goal of Alexandria and the Suez canal. This vast sink which reaches from the interior of the Sahara to within 35 miles of the Mediterranean coast at El Alamein, prevented the wily Axis general from attempting a flanking movement around the British lines. Although Arab caravans have crossed the tip of the Quattara marshes, the shifting dunes, the quicksands and the marshy quagmires made the use of tanks and mechanized equipment impossible.

PACIFIC AREA:

Japs in the Jungle

After giving Gen. Douglas MacArthur more than three months time in which to ship men, guns, fighter planes and bombers to the eastern edge of New Guinea, the Japs had resumed offensive movements against Port Moresby and extended aerial fevers toward the Allies' rear bases on the Australian mainland.

The Jap strategy was to advance toward Port Moresby by means of land patrols along a narrow trail leading toward a strategic mountain pass in the Owen Stanley range from their recently won base at Buna.

American and Australian troops demonstrated that they were prepared for the Nipponese infiltration tactics, for Allied patrols drove the Japs back from Kokoda area in the foothills. Specially trained in jungle fighting the Allied troops were able to meet the Japs on their own terms and to deal them their first defeat in a type of fighting that earlier had won Malaya and Singapore for them.

MISCELLANY:

WASHINGTON.—Jurisdiction of President Roosevelt's military commission was upheld by the Supreme court when that body denied the seven Nazi saboteurs the right to have their case heard in civil court. Chief Justice Stone made the announcement, holding that court was not granting the prisoners' plea to file writs of habeas corpus after an army tribunal had completed extensive hearings and testimony as to their guilt.

LONDON.—Love is enemy agent No. 1 for British youths training with the royal navy to make commando raids. "It's not drunkenness and careless talk in pubs that causes us the most grief," said an officer. "It's love. We find that in most cases the offender who gives away vital information is a fellow who is not particularly impressive and is trying to be a big shot with some girl."

NEW YORK. New York motorists paying their license fees next year will receive a metal strip reading NY-43 instead of new plates.

U. S. MANPOWER:
Total Mobilization?

Mobilization of the total manpower of the United States—estimated at 60 million labor units—was forecast as work proceeded in Washington on the formulation of a national war service bill. This vast reservoir of man power would be assigned as part of the total war effort to essential services in factories, on farms, in laboratories and in educational activities training the nation's youth.

Sponsors of the proposed bill pointed out that it would not only do for this country what the "essential work" order had accomplished for Great Britain but provide additional directives as well.

Back of the sponsorship of the bill, was the urgent belief of the chiefs of the war administration that the longer the war goes on the more imperative will it be for the nation to assign each available man and woman to a specific task in the total war effort.

Looming as a possibility was the registration of 42,000,000 women between the ages of 18 and 65, supplementing the recent registration of all males between the ages of 45 and 64.

LEND-LEASE:
Much More Needed

Critics of the lend-lease administration found ammunition for their offensive when the Office of War Information disclosed that "somewhat less" than 12 per cent of this country's total munitions output was being shipped to America's Allies.

While acknowledging that this was "not as much as they need to do the job," the report declared that in shipments of planes and tanks the proportion was "much higher."

The OWI noted that cash purchases by foreign governments had brought the total war shipments to a figure higher than 12 per cent, but did not name the total.

Although admitting that the lend-lease program was not so large as they wish it to be, the OWI spokesman asked that "other considerations be taken into account."

FARM-BORN PROPHET:
Ford Sees Prosperity

Beginning the 80th year of his life, Henry Ford emphasized his unshaken conviction that beyond the present war lies an era of prosperity unparalleled in the world's history.

The farm-born industrial genius visualized an intensive development of the soil as a preventive of war and as the keystone of a new peaceful world order.

"Intensive production," he said, "means a world busy at work and a friendly, helpful exchange of goods. Such a world has neither time nor incentive for war."

HENRY FORD
"Make idle land work . . ."

Idle land, he added, was a hampering factor and he favored forcing it into production through higher taxation if necessary.

Summing up his philosophy of peace, he declared: "The intensive production of the world's goods, new goods to serve human needs and legitimate desires—that is the broad highway to peace."

HARRY HOPKINS:
17th Groom

Social historians recalled that 16 times before the White House had been the scene of weddings. Thus Lend-Admin Administrator Harry Hopkins and Mrs. Louise Gill Macy became the 17th couple to say "I do" in the historic old mansion on Washington's Pennsylvania avenue.

The close personal relationship between Hopkins and the President was emphasized by the fact that the wedding was held in the White House and witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Social historians further recalled that it was 24 years since the last White House wedding had occurred. That was in 1918 when Alice Wilson, niece of President Woodrow Wilson, and the Rev. I. Stuart McElroy were married.

AIR POWER:
'Scourge the Reich'

Even as relays of his four-motored RAF bombers were raining 4,000-pound "block busters" on Hamburg's submarine yards, shipping facilities and war factories, Air Marshal Sir Arthur T. Harris warned Germany that unless it overthrows its Nazi war lords and makes peace, the combined forces of the British and American bombing fleets "will scourge the Third Reich from end to end."

Another pounds the cans flat and then final inspection is made before the cans are packed for shipment to the junk yard.

Navy's Triple Threat to Enemy Submarines

Three destroyers in 35 minutes—that's the navy's newest triple threat to enemy subs. The triple launching occurred at the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company in Kearny, N. J. The three destroyers will soon be on the prow against the forces of aggression on the seven seas. They are the USS Edwards, the USS Soudan and the USS Saufley. The three destroyers were named in memory of naval officers.

Australia has received her first quota of lend-lease tanks from the U. S. The M-3 mediums and lights are important fighting weapons. Crews for the tanks, mostly experienced men from the Libyan and Malayan fronts, are trained as crewmen. The Aussies are shown unsealing them after they were received from the U. S. prior to putting them into final fighting shape.

DISTRIBUTION PROBLEM IS OUR GREATEST
THE WAR has added to our knowledge of production, but production is but a portion of the answer to our peace-time, as well as our war-time problem. The greater problem is that of distribution. If the war can show us a solution to the problem of distribution, all the world will profit from that knowledge in the peace-time that is to come.

Since World War I, America has produced great surpluses of food products that have gone to waste during years when millions were starving—all because we lacked a knowledge of distribution. We could ship to China, for example, but did not know how to find a market in China. Finding or creating a market, with methods that will arrange for a purchase price, are all a part of distribution.

The world needs not less production, but more consumption. There is no reason for the destruction of American wheat or Brazilian coffee when they are needed by millions who are hungry. The need is for men, statesmen and economists, with the brains necessary for the solution of the distribution problem. America has such men. When they have been used and have solved the problem that comes to us as the greatest creditor nation, they will have provided a use for all the vast production of this nation and of the world, and the best assurance of maintaining world peace.

ARMY HOUR IS SOLDIER'S BOON

Science has added greatly to the frightfulness of war, but science has also offered some compensations. I will remember in 1918 how our boys in France were hungry for a word, a voice from the homeland. They would listen intently to the lightest, most inconsequential chatter if expressed in the English they liked, the American kind. I thought of that hunger of 1918 as I listened to the army hour on the radio. It included many typical American songs rendered by feminine or mixed choruses. That hour goes to our soldier boys wherever they may be on the far-flung fronts throughout the world. It is but one of the compensations science has offered to ameliorate the frightfulness of war to those who fight the battles. It provides each day the word, the voice, from the homeland.

THIS STANDS BETWEEN US AND AXIS SLAVERY

THEY WERE just two kids. Neither had as yet passed his 18th birthday. As the friend who introduced me said, "they are not dry behind the ears." But they were. They had matured in the grim battle of the Coral sea. They had been on the Lexington. One was a member of the crew of a bomber plane. The other was a member of a gun crew. One had been slightly wounded by a Jap machine gun bullet. Both had gone overboard at the order to abandon ship and had floated about for an hour or more before being picked up. They were back in the States for a rest period and both were tired of the enforced idleness. They wanted to be up and at the Japs again. The only thing they told me of the fight and final sinking of the Lexington was of the free ice cream that was passed out just before the order to abandon ship was given. They represent that young America which the Japs and the Huns and the Wops cannot lick. They and their kind stand between us and slavery.

AMERICA IS ONE OF BUT a few nations that has never known a dictator. As a people we have never felt the lash of the dictator's whip since, as colonists of the English king, our ancestors threw the tea into Boston bay. It would be hard to imagine Americans countenancing dictatorial government other than in war time, and even then we demand the right of criticism, and to pass judgment on the government we create.

THE BROOKINGS INSTITUTION at Washington tells congress where an annual saving, amounting to $16.03 for each man, woman and child in America, can be made without in any way affecting the war expenditures, or the effectiveness of the peace-time operations of the government. The total is the tidy sum of $2,085,000,000. But does congress want to save?

THE FIRST OF LAST JANUARY there were in the United States 421,473 business establishments engaged in selling or servicing automobiles, with over 800,000 employees and with over one billion dollars a year in payrolls. When we add to these figures the number of people employed in building automobiles, we can have some idea of what the automobile industry, a creation of only about 40 years, means to the nation. It was a product of the American system of free competition.

Allied 'Raids in Force' May Divert Nazi Troops

Germans Fear Large Scale Commando Attacks; Hold Million Well-Equipped Soldiers in Reserve.

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Features, 1343 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

What about this second front? The chorus demanding an invasion of Europe, not next year or next fall but sometime before day after tomorrow is rising to a fine crescendo. It is reduced to black and white in the Russian press, it is echoed in Lord Beaverbrook's publications in Great Britain, it is applauded by the common people in England whose affection for the Russians has grown by leaps and bounds.

Those are the outward signs. What is happening behind closed doors is, of course, harder to estimate. We know that the official Russian news agency, TASS, recently instructed its Washington correspondent to sound out informally, officials here regarding their prejudices, predilections and prognostications on the subject of aid to Russia in the form of a direct attack on the Axis. We know that the Russian ambassador in London openly, if not for official record, conducted similar inquiries. We know that a report reached Washington that the British censor, allegedly at American request, clamped down on second front speculation. At the war department here it was stated there was no information concerning issuance of such orders or such a request from Washington. This attempt, if someone did make such an attempt, to silence discussion of a second front may have meant that some military move was imminent. If so, what would the nature of that move be?

I have made diligent inquiry and although of course specific information cannot be expected, some general principles can be discussed. In the first place, I can find no encouragement for any military source for the idea for an imminent invasion of Europe on any scale which would identify it as a genuine second front. However, I have noted a slight change in attitude of persons who ought to know the plans so far as they are to be known. Instead of saying: "some time," or "perhaps in 1942" they now cautiously admit "not before the fall."

But as the clamor increases for some effort to divert Hitler from his mad charge toward the Caucasus, we do hear that some form of distracting military activity may be looked for. The Germans fear this. They also fear that what might be launched in the guise of a Commando raid might develop into a life-size invasion.

Hardened Veterans
There is proof of this: First, the Nazis are feverishly strengthening their defenses along the coast areas in great depth. Second, they are holding about a million men in Germany, equipped and ready. Hitler will throw them into the Eastern battlefront if he dares, or into western Europe if he must. These are well-equipped outfits, some of them fresh, well-trained troops, some parts of rebuilt organizations which were shot apart in Russia but are now rehabilitated and reconstructed, able men and hardened veterans.

And as nearly as a layman, restrained by a desire not to reveal anything which might serve as aid and comfort to the enemy, can do so, and building on the slight information available, the following seems to be the picture: Aside from the continuation of mass air raids when the weather permits, the only probable move on the part of the Allies in the immediate future will be an effort either to immobilize this German reserve or draw it toward the western front, not to engage it in battle.

The means of doing this will probably be what are technically termed "raids-in-force." That is, the landing of troops in numbers, perhaps in thousands, with the purpose of creating as much damage as possible to German installations, the holding of their positions for some time in order to divert as many enemy troops as possible, but so planning and executing their activities that they can retire when their mission is accomplished without heavy losses.

These attacks would be on a much larger scale than anything which the Commandos have so far attempted but they would be organized on the same pattern. They would utilize all branches of the service and they would undoubtedly be under the command of Lord Mountbatten, chief of the combined services (Commandos).

Americans undoubtedly would take part but it is unlikely that the command would be American.

Pattern for Command

This does not mean, however, that when the full-scale invasion of Europe begins, unified command with an American commander is ruled out. However, it is unlikely that unified command, as it is being discussed at present, goes hand in hand with the establishment of a temporary, or even a permanent second front. The pattern for American commands already established will probably be followed, such as MacArthur's in Australia, where an American officer is in complete charge of all land, air and sea forces in his particular theater. Commands established in the European theater, with General Eisenhower in charge of the army and Admiral Stark the navy, differ in that American jurisdiction so far is limited to American units. At present there is no disposition to change this jurisdiction. It is quite possible that when the Expeditionary force is completely prepared for full-scale invasion of Europe it will be under American command, certainly if American units predominate numerically as they may eventually.

As to the question of a supreme commander over all the unified nations, military men feel that this would be impossible. They point out that Stalin in Russia and Chiang Kai-shek in China could hardly subordinate their authority to any foreigner. For purely technical reasons, the vast expanse of the front is so great it is inconceivable that one man could command it. It is also noteworthy that even Hitler cannot pretend to dictate policy or strategy to the Mikado.

We may see American troops in comparatively small numbers fighting side by side with British forces on the continent of Europe before the snow flies, but it is unlikely that the units will be large or under American command.

Visiting Royalty Presents Problems

The entire king business is being revamped and the United States is responsible. The government in Washington, from the time when the very word royalty was anathema, has not cared for kings and queens. It wasn't that the animosity of early days survived indefinitely after John Bull and Cousin Jonathan made up. It was (and is) a mere matter of facilities.

The way our government is set up, domestically, you might say, we really have no provisions for entertaining royalty.

And where else can you put a king or a queen or a royal prince or princess? You have to be hospitable. Presidents don't have palaces and until the present regime few even had a country house to offer.

That is one difficulty. Another is the question of protocol. There are certain forms and ceremonies that kings and queens are used to at home—and everybody, even a democratic nation, wants to make guests feel at home. Many of these ceremonies—ordinarily accorded royalty at home, don't fit in very well with democratic traditions.

But in these days kings and queens and princes feel they simply have to come to the United States and pay their respects and "sell" themselves and their countries to the American people. We are pretty important as a nation. We will be important after the war, too.

The result is that kings and queens have had to revise a lot of their habits—habits which they probably don't enjoy but which are, or have been demanded of loyal subjects everywhere. What is the use of having a king if you don't treat him like one and if he doesn't treat you the way you think you ought to be treated by your ruler—dei gratia.

SWEATING OF COLD WATER PIPES CAN BE STOPPED BY JACKETING

ONE of the troubles which come with warm weather is the dripping from pipes carrying cool water. This is likely to be the case in a cellar. One remedy is to cover the pipes with jackets which will keep warm and damp air out of contact with the cool metal. Pipe-jacketing is on sale at hardware stores, and can be had from plumbers and steamfitters. If appearance need not be considered; the same effect can be obtained by wrapping the pipe with tightly-twisted newspaper tied on with string. Corrugated board also can be used. The same principal can be applied to tanks which are chilled by the low temperature of the water within. Sometimes these can be enclosed in boxes made of insulating board, or with insulating cement of the kind used on steam boilers. The most difficult problem of the sort is with porcelain flus tanks. Manufacturers of plumbing fixtures are aware of the situation, but have provided no method which would avoid it. There seems little else to do except to keep the floor under the tank covered with bath towels which from time to time are wrung out and replaced.

Broken Marble Table Top

Question: I have a small marble-top table, of which the marble is cracked and broken right through the middle. Is there any way I could repair it at home?

Answer: A marble table-top is so thin that in mending it a support must be placed underneath. You should cut a piece of plasterboard to fit inside the frame of the table as a support for the pieces of marble. With this support secured in position, it should be covered with a layer of patching plaster to act as a cement. The pieces of marble are placed on this and forced tightly together before the plaster dries. If any holes remain in the marble, they can be filled with ceiling wax of the correct color. If repolishing is needed, this can be done with putty powder, to be had at a local monument yard.

Cracking Paint

Question: When we built our home two years ago we painted the wood-work ourselves with two coats of flat white and one of enamel. In two months it began to check, and now has checks and cracks all over. We would like to repaint this spring, but are afraid that the same thing will happen. How can we prevent it?

Answer: The paint that you used was evidently too hard and brittle to follow the movement of the wood as it dried out and seasoned. In preparing for repainting, ask the advice of the paint manufacturers on the correct method of thinning paint of the first and second coats for the kind of wood that is used.

Metal Roof Paint

Question: What kind of paint should I use on a metal roof that has never been painted, and that has a few rusty places?

Answer: The roof is apparently of tin; for you say that it shows rusty places. These should be cleaned off to the bare metal, using steel wool or a wire brush. Wash with turpentine and then finish with red lead paint. After at least a week for drying, finish with any good quality house paint.

Hot Water Radiators

Question: I have a hot water heating system with a circulator. I understand that with the radiators completely shut off, water would be drawn from the radiator, and a vacuum would eventually be formed. Is this so?

Answer: No; for the shutoff valves of hot water radiators are made with small openings to provide for circulation when the valve is shut. The idea of this is to prevent the freezing of a shut off radiator.

Stoker Problem

Question: I have a two-story building, including stores and six-room flats. Heating is by hot water. I am considering putting in a stoker. Where can I get information on the different kinds and on their operation?

Answer: Consult the Committee of Ten of the Heating Industries, at 307 North Michigan avenue, Chicago.

A New Flat Roof

Question: Will you advise me what kind of roofing is best to use in replacing a tin roof on a flat surface?

Answer: Use what is known as a built-up roofing; this consists of several layers of heavy roofing felt cemented to a solid roof sheathing. Use a good quality heavy weight felt, and have the work done by a reliable roofer.

"Out of the frying pan into the firing line"—that is the new kitchen plan to save waste fat for glycerine to make war explosives.

Reports indicate that effective July 1 all Japanese supplies of rice, wheat, barley, potatoes and other important foodstuffs will be purchased and distributed exclusively by the government at fixed prices.

In Italy the government has announced that it would pay a premium to all farmers who delivered their wheat before July 10 and a lower premium to those delivering before September 15.

The War Production board estimates that probably more than two billion pounds of fat go to waste in American kitchens every year.

WASHINGTON — Map makers, editors and manufacturers were asked by the office of censorship to make certain that new maps and charts omit reference to military depots and production plants. "No maps should be published or distributed showing military depots of any kind, such as air, quartermaster, or ordnance depots; key war production plants, arsenals, ammunition or explosive plants of any kind," the office of censorship announced.

Omission of military air fields constructed since December 7, 1941, also was requested. Existing maps are not affected by the request. Names and locations of military camps, posts and stations may be shown, if there is no indication of their size or strength.

Byron Price, director of censorship, said that it was permissible to publish maps showing the general theater of war or large-scale zones of action, because they do not furnish any information to the enemy.

THROW YOUR SCRAP INTO THE FIGHT

Tractors and motors will never wholly replace the Army Mule as a factor in the mobile units of our army. The Army Mule is a tradition and the "mule skinner" is a breed unto himself. Army Mules are used by the Field Artillery and the Cavalry in areas where the terrain is rough and tractors cannot operate.

Pack trains in mountainous sections are often necessary and here the mule, slow but sure-footed, plays an important role. Our Army buys thousands of mules paying from $175 to $190 for each. The mule eats less, carries more, and some declare is smarter than the horse. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps helps pay for these Army Mules. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day. U. S. Treasury Department

Mrs. Mary Hitchcock and son Burton of East Jordan called on the F. K. Hayden family at Pleasant View farm Sunday afternoon.

A large number of the young people attended a birthday party for Jr. Kitson Deer Lake Saturday evening all report a very pleasant time.

Miss Minnie Taylor, who makes her home with her sister, Mrs. Ted Westernman in Three Bells Dist., has a position in the East Jordan Co-op. Co. office.

Only five members of the Pine Lake Telephone Co. attended the annual meeting at the Eveline Twp. Hall, Thursday evening, so all the old officers and directors were re-elected.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ranny of South of East Jordan called on their cousins the Duncan McDonald family in Three Bells Dist. and the O. B. Nicoly family at Sunny Slopes farm Sunday afternoon.

Chery picking is just about finished and wax bean picking has begun, a few light showers during the week is boosting the crop, having still hangs on and wheat and oats are ready to cut.

Bruce Sanderson who has been studying Warfare at Baltimore is expected Monday to arrive for five day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sanderson at North Wood.

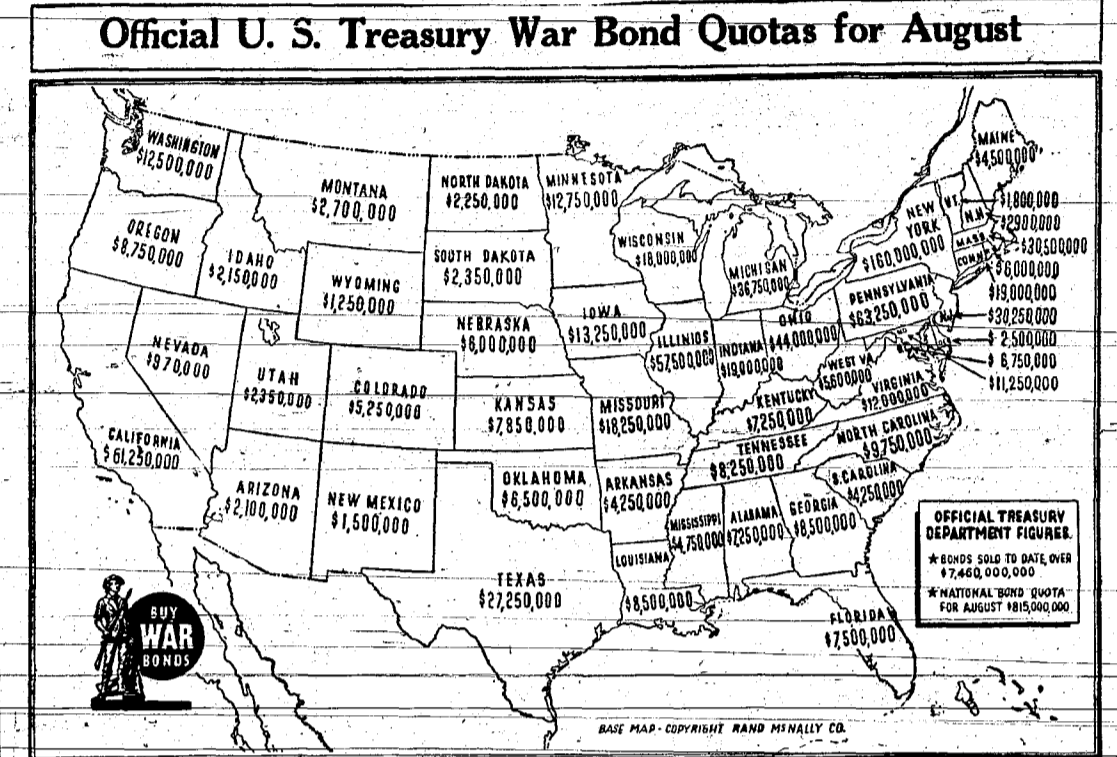

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Tibbits of Detroit visited their farm Cherry Hill Saturday and called on the Orvel Bennett family and F. K. Haydens at Pleasant View farm and the A. B. Nicoly family at Sunny Slopes farm they returned to Detroit Sunday a. m.

Old residents will be concerned to hear of the death of Mrs. Clinton B. Lane a resident of Peninsula for many years. The remains are being brought to Charlevoix, where funeral services will be held Tuesday after-noon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hadley Edwards and five children of Dearborn arrived Saturday evening to spend two weeks at Hayden Cottage. Mr. Edwards will return to his work in Detroit, Monday but the family will make a longer stay.

A large delegation from the Peninsula attended the funeral of James Wilson in Boyne City at the Stackus Funeral Home, Thursday afternoon. The beautiful floral offerings spoke very highly of the regards of the neighborhood for the Wilson family.

Supervisor Wm. Sanderson advises me Cemetery Day is the third Wednesday in August or August 19. He plans and hopes to have a regular meeting at the Advance Cemetery either with a pot luck dinner at the Cemetery or by 10 o'clock. Lets all mark the date on the Calendar and be there.

Washington, D. C., August 5.—While maintaining a tentative annual level of twelve billion dollars as its goal, the Treasury Department today fixed the August quota for the sale of War Bonds at $815,000,000 as shown by the accompanying map by states.

In lowering the quota from a billion dollars in July to $815,000,000 in August, the Treasury has given recognition to certain factors which may be expected to result in variations in sales over the 12-month period, such as the seasonal character of farm income.

These factors have been taken into account in determining each state's share for the national quota for August and will be given consideration in fixing quotas for subsequent months.

In addition to the state quotas as set out in the map there is a federal payroll allotment; quota of $9,750,000 and territorial quotas as follows: Alaska, $760,000; Canal Zone, $213,000; Hawaii, $1,800,000; Puerto Rico, $440,000 and the Virgin Islands, $17,000.

The Girl He Left Behind
A tale with a moral for advertisers

The boy was very much in love with the girl, and she with him, But she was a beautiful girl who had many admirers. And our young friend was too wise to believe in the old proverb: "Absence makes the heart grow fonder."

He resolved that after all the time and the effort he had spent winning the No. 1 place in his sweetheart's affections, he would not let his rivals win by default through his absence. No, indeed, he would see to it that she was reminded of him often and of the good times they had had together and of the better times they could have after the war was over.

So he inaugurated and carried out a campaign to keep from becoming the forgotten man. He wrote her regularly about his life in the army, always ending with how much he missed her, how much he loved her, and how much he wanted to be with her again. Those letters she got from him every week or two kept her thinking about him, and kept her from thinking too much about the temporary beaux with the advantage of proximity.

The moral for advertisers? Your biggest promotion job under present day conditions when your production is diverted into war channels, is to make people keep on wanting your peace time products, whether or not they can get them. And to keep them wanting them until you again can supply the demand. It's hard to forget someone that you're made to remember.

U.S.O. War Fund Drive

TO BE HELD IN THIS REGION
AUG. 7th TO AUG. 17th

During the first World War the various welfare groups in the United States: YMCA, YWCA, Catholic Community Service, Jewish Relief and others all operated as separate and distinct units, both in their drives for funds and in their work among the soldiers and sailors of our country.

In this war we have the United Service Organization which is composed of all these separate groups, organized together in order to provide greater service to the boys. The U.S.O. sponsors club houses near Army and Navy posts to provide recreation for the boys during their off-duty hours. The motto of the U.S.O. for these club houses is "A Home Away From Home" and they are really living up to that motto.

The organization sponsors free shows and entertainments in the camps, looks after the boys in bus and railroad stations and in general works to make the life of the boys in the service more pleasant and more comfortable.

The budget of the U.S.O. is set up on a yearly basis. The funds raised in this campaign are to provide all this service to the boys for the next year. We, in East Jordan are asked to raise $550 as our share in the work of the U.S.O. From East Jordan alone we have more than 150 boys in the armed forces. We all know those boys and know what they have given up to be in the service of our country. When you are asked for money to carry out the work of the U.S.O. remember those boys—those are the boys you are helping and Please Be Generous.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Hitler found out that his high powered mechanized and motorized army bogged down in the snow and mud of the Russian Winter. Although our Army is largely mechanized the cavalry horse is still a highly essential factor in this mounted division and in the Field Artillery. The Army also maintains remount farms where many cavalry horses are bred and raised.

These select horses cost from $100 to $165 and our crack cavalrymen are expert riders and carry on the traditions which have followed the cavalry from the earliest days of the Army. Purchase of War Savings Bonds will insure good mounts for the Cavalry. You and your neighbors buying War Bonds and Stamps regularly every pay day can help buy these horses for the U. S. Cavalry. Invest at least 10 percent of your income in War Bonds.

Japs Now Control Orient's Rice Crop

Chief Staple Food for More Than Half of Mankind.

WASHINGTON.—Japan's control in Burma, Thailand and French Indo-China has revealed that other Oriental countries depended for much of their food on these countries, the only exporters of rice.

About 85 per cent of the world's rice grows in Asia, says the National Geographic society. China produces the greatest amount, but not enough for its own needs.

Rice, chief staple food for more than half of mankind, rivals wheat as the world's daily bread.

Rangoon, Burma's capital, was the world's leading rice port. It built the largest rice elevators in the world, annually shipping some three million tons.

Rice and Curry. French Indo-China in 1939 exported 1,692,000 tons of rice. The country normally produced some six million tons. Cholon, just outside Saigon, was devoted largely to milling rice. The country's popular dish is rice-and-curry. The natives favor it with an evil-smelling fish sauce.

Thailand (Siam) normally produces about 4,500,000 tons of rice each year, but of this less than a million tons is available as export surplus. At Bangkok some 80 rice mills face the river front. The rich territory recently ceded by French Indo-China to Thailand includes part of Asia's finest rice paddies.

Chinese rice production is estimated at more than 15,000,000 tons. The Philippines relied on outside sources.

Japan obtains most of its imported rice from Formosa and Korea, where the yield per acre is high. In Japan rice is the leading food.

Link 5 Deaths in Paris To Faulty Stove Fumes

BERNE, SWITZERLAND.—Five persons were reported dead in Paris from carbon monoxide poisoning caused by faulty flues. At least a score of others were being treated in hospitals, but their lives probably would be saved, it was stated.

Ever since winter set in the heating problem has been acute in the occupied capital. Central heating was not authorized and what little coal was available for households was carefully husbanded. Fires were being lit in many an old stove with faulty draft, frequently with serious consequences, it was explained.

Firm Has 369,549 Tires, Can't Get 4 for Trucks

CHICOPEE, MASS.—The United States Rubber company has 369,549 brand-new tires in its warehouses here. Lucky, you say—but wait. A month ago the company applied for permission to use four of the tires on one of its trucks.

A rationing inspector looked at the old ones. "They can be retreaded," was his edict. They were. Later, a second request came for two new tires. Again with the order—"Get them retreaded."

Lone Russian on Guard At Northern Tip of Front

KUIBYSHEV, RUSSIA.—The last Red army man on Russia's right flank is Nikolai Khitroff, an infantryman who stands watch in the Arctic night on the northern coast of the Rybach Peninsula, covering the approaches to Petsamo. He was stationed on the edge of a cliff and was wearing a loose-draped white cloak when he was seen recently by a Pravda correspondent.

The extreme southern point of the front is in Crimea. Seventeen hundred and fifty miles of war front lie between the watchers there and Infantryman Khitroff.

Russians Find Palace of Tamerlane's Grandson

KUIBYSHEV.—Soviet archeologists carrying on their explorations despite the war were reported to have discovered the palace of Tamerlane's grandson, Ulug Bek, at the foot of a mountain near Samarkand. Tamerlane—or, as he is more popularly known, Timur I Leng—is the famous Oriental conqueror of the Fourteenth century.

Ulug Bek's palace is known as "the porcelain house" because of its Chinese ceramic decoration. It was announced it would be excavated by an expedition headed by Prof. M. E. Masson.

Machines Will Plant Kansas Shelterbelt

MANHATTAN, KAN.—A fleet of 16 tree-planting machines will be used in planting shelterbelts in Kansas this spring, according to Russel Reitz, state director of the program sponsored by the department of agriculture. It is estimated that over 500 miles of new shelterbelts will be planted on the state's farms this year.

The flag of victory may yet fly over the trash heaps of America. The odds and ends, the left-overs, the scraps of rubber, the bits of tin and steel, the old cans, rags, wastepaper, etc., may help to weight the scales of war in our favor. Therefore, every American, young and old, should join in salvaging the vital materials needed for victory. Let us not waste anything today which might have value tomorrow.

RUTH WYETH SPEARS

IF IT ever seemed to you that the walls and ceiling of an attic room were coming down on your head you know how the owner of this room felt before she began to experiment a bit with wallpaper and furnishings.

Large samples of wallpaper were thumbtacked in place to test them. Stripes only accented the slant of the walls. Plain papers brought out angles with sharp shadows. Large designs made the room seem smaller. Wide borders made the ceiling appear to be even lower. But when a paper with tiny evenly spaced pattern and narrow border was tried all these defects seemed to melt away. The long curtains with ruffles on three sides also helped to make the ceiling seem higher. Pink and white striped material to repeat the wallpaper color was used for the chair cover and dressing table skirt. The chair is a remodeled rocker and the orange crate-dressing table has hinged arms. Directions for them may be found on pages 4 and 19 of SEWING, Book 5.

SADDLE and RIDE

By ERNEST HAYCOX WNU-Release

THE STORY SO FAR: Clay Morgan is determined to play a lone hand against Ben Herendeen, a rancher who is out to run the cattle country his own way. As a rancher, Morgan knows he must protect his own rights, but he doesn't like Herendeen's methods. Of his former friends, only Hack Breathitt has not gone over to Herendeen's side. The rest—Charley Hillhouse, Gurd Grant and Lige White, for example, are supporting Herendeen, more or less in self defense. They don't like his methods, either, but they believe that if they don't follow him they will lose everything.

CHAPTER IV

At daybreak Clay Morgan rode as far as the Antelope Plains with the roundup crew and worked with it until mid-morning. Afterwards he set off to have a look at the grass and water on the western edge of the Moguls. Gurd Grant, having business at his own ranch, went along. Gurd was a big and completely friendly man of Morgan's age with light features and a consistently pleased expression in his eyes. There was no malice and no subterfuge of any kind in Gurd. But now, as he rode, he spoke in a rather troubled, uncertain way of Herendeen.

"You know, Clay, he ain't such a bad fellow. I hate to see you two start chewing the same piece of leather. Of course, you never did like each other. I can remember as far back as school when you and Ben got in some pretty tough jangles.

"Gurd," said Morgan, turning toward his partner, "I want to warn you. Ben's the kind of a fellow that gets worse the farther he goes. Maybe he'll start by chasing a few crooks out of the country. But he won't stop there. He'll get the idea that nobody has any rights unless they're riding close to him.

Riding on through the short hills, they came to Crowfoot's quarters seated in a small round valley backed against the Haycreek Hills. A creek, charging out of the pine timber, crossed the meadow in front of a low, long-galleried white-house surrounded by poplar trees. The two dismounted in this pleasant shade and went back to the dining room for a late-noon meal. They were still at the table when a single rider came out of the hill trail at a full gallop. A moment later Catherine Grant appeared.

"Gentlemen," she said, "you are both very solemn."

Gurd Grant held his seat with a brother's habitual indifference but Clay Morgan rose at once before this laughter-loving girl with the gay and gently blue eyes. This was Catherine Grant, who, with her brother Gurd, ran Crowfoot.

"Once," she reflected, "there was a man named Morgan. He lived on top of a mountain and never did come down. He grew a beard, so they say, and got the habit of talking to himself. I wonder whatever happened to him?"

"Crazy as always," said Gurd. "And quit running your horse down that trail, you hear?"

She didn't hear. She stood in front of Clay, stripping away her riding gloves—smiling and watching his answering smile break the solid healthy darkness of his face. Gurd Grant sat as an interested and forgotten spectator to this scene, quick to note his sister's instant gaiety in front of Clay, and Clay's lightning expression. There always had been an odd closeness between these two people. Sometimes, as now, that closeness puzzled him and sometimes bothered him; he never could get at its meaning. All he knew was that whenever they met they seemed to share some old memory which excluded everybody else, as now. He rose and left the room.

The cook brought Catherine her meal. She sat opposite Clay, eating a little and talking a little. Clay lighted a smoke. He braced his elbow on the table, chin propped in his long, heavy hand. "You hair," he said, "is getting darker."

"That's gray you see. Gray from worry."

"When you were eighteen it was almost a carrot red."

She said: "I remember you said that once, a long time ago. It almost made me cry. I came home and wondered if I could dye it."

"We used to talk pretty straight, didn't we? We had some tall quarrels."

She gave him a straight, smileless look. "Why did we ever quarrel, Clay?"

"Maybe," he said, "it was because we always stuck together and had so damned much fun." He wasn't sure of what he wished to say. This girl was a close, deep part of his life. Once, she had been nearer to him than any other woman. Some of that old feeling remained, so that when he sat by her now he had a feeling of pleasant ease; knowing that he had to explain nothing to her, knowing that she understood.

Suddenly she rose and turned away, knowing what was in his mind. He left the table, following her out to the house porch. He said: "See you later, Catherine."

"All right, Clay."

Gurd came around the house. He said to his sister in a teasing, amused voice: "Rakin' up the ashes of an old fire?"

"Hush."

"You two," commented Gurd, "used to be pretty thick. Before

"Why don't we go into War Pass some night, Catherine, and paint the town?"

Lila came along. I always wondered how thick?"

She straightened against the porch post and showed him a self-contained expression. Gurd laughed a little, seeing his sister close up on him, and ceased to laugh, when he thought of something else. "I don't like the way he's acting. He won't talk to Ben."

"No," said Catherine. "He never will."

"It was something that had to do with Lila and Ben, wasn't it?"

She shook her head. "Never mind, Gurd."

The quick ruffle of horses' hooves turned her against the porch post and in this attitude she watched Herendeen and Lige White cross the meadow. When they reached the porch Lige White lifted his hat with a gallant flourish he could never escape. Herendeen simply stepped down, saying: "Want to see you, Gurd."

Herendeen said, "Why don't we go into War Pass some night, Catherine, and paint the town?"

They sat down in the drowsy shade of the living room. Lige White looked around, chuckling over a sudden fancy. "I remember how your mother used to receive visitors here. A very proper and courteous woman, Gurd."

"Gurd," said Ben Herendeen, blunt and impatient as always, "we're going to set some men on these hill trails at night. Just to see who travels 'em after dark. Lige has agreed to take care of the Antelope Plains. I'm posting one near the west base of the Moguls. I want you to keep some men up there on the high trail to War Pass. Be sure they don't talk and be sure they do this after dark."

"All right," said Gurd. "But you're fishin' with a pretty loose net. What we need is a man to just ride around with his eyes and ears open, without being suspected."

"Range detective," said Lige White.

Herendeen gave both of them a stolid look. "Already got that man."

"Who?" asked Grant.

Herendeen bent forward and let the man's name drop softly into the room. "Now," he added, "say nothing about it. Anybody knew it was him, his life wouldn't be worth much." He put his hard stare on Gurd Grant. "I don't want Morgan to know, either."

"Well now," answered Gurd Grant with slow discomfit, "I don't know about that. He's in, this, too."

"What was he playin' along with Ollie Jacks for? Anybody know where he really stands? Anybody got a square answer out of him? No. Until we do we'll keep this to ourselves." He had a way of dropping his closed fist through the air to drive home his talk; he did it now. Then he added, dryly: "It may be he's on the other side of the fence."

"That's a damned fool thing to say," flared up Gurd Grant. "I don't like it."

"He's protectin' Hack Breathitt," pointed out Herendeen. "And what's Hack? Figure it out."

"Wait a minute," said Gurd Grant, "Hack's all right."

"He made camp with Pete Borders last night," said Herendeen. Grant scowled at the news. "Foolish thing to do," he admitted.

Herendeen rose. "You two fellows meet me at my place around six. Maybe I can show you something. Maybe, before long, we'll smoke out Morgan. Far as I'm concerned, it's fish or cut bait. We'll have this country empty of people that don't belong in it by ninety days." He slapped his hand sharply against his knee and rose, leading the other two to the porch.

Catherine remained by the steps. Herendeen paused and put his round blue glance on her, cool and appraising; he betrayed himself to her, in the way he used his eyes. He showed her what he was thinking. "Friday night then, Catherine," he said and went to his horse, riding out of the meadow with Lige White.

"Gurd," reflected Catherine, "be careful in what you promise Ben."

Gurd said: "We've all got to stick together," and went back through the house.

Catherine turned into the house, climbing the stairs to her own room. She started to remove the riding habit but stopped and sat on the edge of the bed, closely thinking. All the talk of the men had come through the front room's open window to her—all of it, excepting the name of Herendeen's informer.

Leaving Grant's ranch, Clay Morgan rode north through a gentle up-and-down roll of hills carpeted with twisted, ancient junipers and jack pine. Later in the afternoon he passed the valley of Herendeen's ranch at some distance and entered the footslopes of Mogul, through short ravines shaded by box elder and alder and cottonwood.

Thus he rode upward with the quartering trails of Mogul, toward its plateau in the late afternoon hours. The sun fell behind the western mountains in a formless red eruption. In another half-hour twilight, cool and tremendously still, whirled about him. Beyond eight o'clock he sighted the glint of light from his ranch house, shining across the flats. Reaching home, he had supper and sat on the porch. Muscular weariness loosened his long frame and the ease of the darkening night got into him; fed and indolent, he swayed the rocker across the loose porch boards and breathed the fragrance of his cigar.

Quietly he smoked his cigar, until he heard the far rhythm of a horse coming out of the west, around the foot of the Mogul Hills. He took the cigar from his mouth, cupping its glowing tip in his palm, and sat quietly until the rider turned in at the porch. Catherine Grant called quietly, "Clay," and got down.

He brought over another rocker. She sat beside him, lying back. Her arm trailed over the rocker's arm, her face was a round soft-shining blur in the dark. But he didn't need to see it; he remembered how her lips would be long and gently pursed, how half-grave and half-amused her eyes would be. She said in a serious voice: "Maybe I'm doing something you won't like. I'm carrying tales. Ben and Lige White came over to see Gurd directly after you left. Ben's going to have men out in the hills, looking for rustlers. He's got somebody in the country pussyfooting for him. I don't know who it is—but somebody we're all acquainted with, I think. Gurd wanted to tell you all this. Ben said he didn't trust you."

Morgan said: "Sounds natural."

She let the silence go along quite an interval. Her voice was cool and near. "You hate him more than people realize, Clay. As he hates you. Nothing ever would bring you together. Is that why you took Ollie Jacks' part?"

"No," he answered.

She didn't press the point. This was the way they had always been, close and tolerant, sometimes angered and frank, but never demanding. She had a silent streak of her own, a depth she never let others see; and she gave him the same respect. She said now: "Do you know why I came?"

He said, cheerfully: "To sit on my porch again."

"Clay," she said, almost as a warning, "let's keep away from that."

"Why did you come?" he said obediently.

"To tell you I think Ben would do anything to lay a trap for you. Remember that—always remember that."

He said: "I'll tell you this," and turned slowly in the rocker, hearing other horses sweep around the base of the Mogul Hills. Catherine came to her feet. She murmured: "I don't want to be seen here," and stepped inside the house.

Morgan went to her horse and led it around to the dark side of the house. A single rider rushed at the porch, with other riders pounding more distantly behind him. Clay returned to the porch, watching the first rider's shape break the blackness and circle into the yard. His horse was hard-breathing, pushed by a long run; he said, as he stepped to the ground: "Me, Clay. Me—Hack."

"What's the trouble?"

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

PEARL BUCK, head of the East and West association, which promotes cultural understanding between the Orientals and ourselves, wants a list of movies which really represent American life. She ought to include "Pride of the Yankees," starring Gary Cooper, with Teresa Wright playing opposite him. It's the story of Lou Gehrig's life—shows an earnest, rather shy young man who loved his mother and worked hard, attaining success and the honest admiration and affection of his countrymen. A typical American, we hope.

It's too bad that the dim-out forbade the use of Kleig lights for the opening of this swell picture. Never did another picture have such a first night; it took place simultaneously in 40 RKO houses in New York, and more than 100,000 people attended it.

If Richard Haydn develops indigestion it will be the fault of the writers of "No Time for Love." That's the new Claudette Colbert-Fred MacMurray comedy, and Haydn eats in every one of his scenes. Might sound like heaven to some, but not to him!

They probably won't give Jerry Bulkeley a chance to dance in "Du Barry Was a Lady"; probably won't even know that she's a dancer. She's gone to Hollywood with a group of fellow models, and if they have an opportunity to do more than just look pretty they'll be lucky. New York models aren't very enthusiastic about Hollywood any more; most of them refuse to go. Even $200 a week for three months or so doesn't tempt them, since they may never face a movie camera in that time, and when they come home folks think they just didn't make good.

Sounds strange, but here's what we hear from Metro about an important role in Katharine Hepburn's picture, "Keeper of the Flame." The actor chosen will portray the star's husband, and will appear in seven important scenes before meeting death in an accident. After that he'll still be a key figure in the picture. But—he'll never speak a word. Swell chance to be paid for keeping mum!

The latest addition to the new crop of players recently signed by Metro is William Bishop, nephew of Helen Hayes. He's six feet two, with dark brown hair and eyes, and has won fame as a football player. He's played in stock and in various stage plays in New York; in two of them he supported his famous aunt. He has also appeared on her radio program. A coming star, maybe.

Another newcomer to the screen is Lenore Aubert, chosen by Samuel Goldwyn to play opposite Bob Hope in "They Got Me Covered." Born in Yugoslavia, daughter of a general in the Austrian army in pre-Hitler days, she worked in pictures in Vienna. She was discovered by a talent scout while appearing in a play in Los Angeles. Goldwyn did more testing for this role than he has for any in several years. It's a break for Miss Aubert—she has been signed to a seven-year contract.

Bob Hawk's "How Am I Doin'" show has been on the air for exactly half a year, and in that time 211 contestants have walked off with winnings totaling $15,213. The average take, according to Quizmaster Hawk, is from $10 to $480; Mrs. William Riley, a South Bend, Ind., housewife, is the top winner. Six contestants have gone over the $400 mark in the last 28 weeks.

ODDS AND ENDS—Ginger Rogers will play the title role in "The Gibson Girl," a romantic comedy in technicolor based on the lives of Charles Dana Gibson and his wife. "Lassie Come Home," story of a Yorkshire family and their collie, by Eric Knight, will be filmed in technicolor by Metro. Those who recall Margo's moving performance in "Winteres" and other productions will be glad to know she'll act as well as sing in the CBS Caravan hour, Friday evenings. Joan Blaine's getting numerous long distance calls from Private Charles Carroll, formerly her leading man in "Foliant Lady."

Chamois leather gloves will not dry stiff if, after washing, they are rinsed in warm water to which a teaspoonful of pure olive oil has been added.

A simple way to freshen white washing silk which has become yellow through constant washing is to add milk to the rinsing water and allow it to soak for a few minutes before squeezing out.

When a jelly will not set, add a few drops of lemon juice and the difficulty will be overcome.

Always warm the pot before making coffee, then sprinkle a little salt on the coffee before adding the boiling water. This will improve the flavor.

Telling time in the Navy is on the 24-hour system. Morning hours are from one to twelve, but afternoon hours are from 1300 to 2400 (midnight). So if you ask a sailor the time and he says "seventeen," subtract 12 and you get five o'clock in the afternoon. It's simpler if you ask him what cigarette he smokes. Chances are he'll say: "Camel," for Camel is the favorite cigarette among Navy men as well as among men in the Army, Marines, Coast Guard. (Based on actual sales records from service men's stores.) Local dealers are featuring Camel cartons as gifts for men in the service from the folks back home.—Adv.

Summertime Means Picnic Time!
(See Recipes Below.)

Sandwiches Plus

Your fling with summer isn't quite complete without one or a dozen picnics with those sandwiches that taste so good, bubbling hot coffee and fresh, juicy fruit to top off that outdoor meal. You'll have fun with these simple things, even if you don't make a long trip in the family car to some far-away, favorite picnic grounds. Try the back yard, the park, the beach or even that shady spot down the road a mile or so for this year's picnic.

Scrub your favorite picnic hamper clean and sun-dry it to assure your food freshness and cleanliness. Fill it to the brim with exciting sandwich combinations that your family will get such a surprise when they begin digging into the pleasant recesses of the big basket. Remember the salt for the tomatoes, paper napkins, paper plates, plenty of glasses or paper cups and, yes, a gay checked cloth to add atmosphere to the affair.

Are you in a quandary as to what sandwiches to make? Well, glance over the following combinations for some really tasty ideas in fillings:

Chopped bacon (broiled until crisp) and hard-cooked egg, moistened with mayonnaise or softened butter.

Sliced ham and American cheese, lettuce, sandwich spread.

Cream cheese, finely minced onion, chopped stuffed olives.

Chipped beef, ground fine, mixed with crumbled Roquefort cheese, seasoned with Worcestershire sauce.

Liver sausage, mashed, seasoned with chili sauce.

Summer sausage, ground with sweet or bread and butter pickles, moistened with mayonnaise.

Cucumber, chopped fine, excess moisture drained off, mixed with cream cheese, salt and pepper.

Peanut butter mixed with honey.

Tuna or salmon, flaked, mixed with lemon juice, finely chopped celery and mayonnaise to moisten.

Fillings combined generously with butter are often known as spreads. This facilitates the handling of sandwiches. Just spread the "butter" thickly between slices of bread and your sandwich is made, ready to be wrapped in waxed paper for picnicking.

Cheese Spread.
Blend cream cheese with lemon juice and add 2 tablespoons butter to each package (1-ounce) of cream cheese. To this add one or more of the following: chopped watercress, green pepper or celery; pimiento, green olives, or nuts.

Sardine Spread.
Cream 2 tablespoons lemon juice with 1/2 pound sweet butter. Spread this on toast or plain whole wheat bread. On top of this place tiny sardines, sprinkle with lemon juice and top with slice of toast or plain whole wheat bread.

"Make-your-own" sandwiches are loads of fun for picnics. Just pack your lunch box with meat loaf or ham loaf already baked at home. Provide the crowd with bread and butter, and let them slice the meat for their own sandwiches:

The Score Card: Your best bargains during the present can be found in eggs and cheese, so plan to fortify your meals generously with both of these foods.

The campaign to save fats is really getting under way, and it's good policy on your part to turn all excess fats to your butcher.

Economy's yours if you use a variety of meat cuts in planning your menus. Best bargains can be found in the less used cuts such as liver, sweetbreads, hearts, kidneys, rump roasts, etc.

Primary or unlimited production in canned fruits is decreed for the following items: peaches and pears (not whole), pectin, fruit cocktail, fruit for salad, and concentrates of grapefruit, lemon, lime and orange.

*Ham Picnic Loaf.
(Serves 10)
1/2 cup quick-cooking tapioca
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 pound lean ham, ground
1 pound lean pork, ground
2 cups milk

Combine tapioca with remaining ingredients in order given. Bake in a loaf pan in a hot (450-degree) oven 15 minutes, then decrease heat to moderate (350-degrees) and bake 45 minutes longer or until done. Serve hot or cold.

*Country-Fried Chicken.
(Serves 6 to 8)
2 3-pound chickens
3/4 cup flour
1 1/2 tablespoons salt
1 teaspoon pepper
Lard or shortening for frying
1/4 cup butter

Clean chickens and cut in pieces suitable for serving. Mix flour with salt and pepper and place in paper bag. Place several pieces of chicken in the bag, and shake to coat evenly with flour. Take out and fry chicken until brown, slowly, in the lard which has been placed in a heavy skillet. When all the chicken has been browned, dot with butter, cover closely and let cook for about an hour over low heat. Or, if you prefer, after chicken is fried, let cook in a moderate (350-degree) oven until done. Uncover during last 15 minutes of cooking time to brown and crisp chicken.

Potato Salad
(Serves 8)
6 potatoes, cooked in jackets
1/2 cup french dressing
1 onion, chopped fine
1 cup celery, chopped fine
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 recipe cooked dressing

Peel potatoes, and cube. Marinate in french dressing for 1/2 hour. Combine with other ingredients, and chill thoroughly before serving. Garnish with paprika.

Cooked Dressing.
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 egg yolks
3/4 cup milk
1/4 cup vinegar

Combine dry ingredients. Add egg yolks, blending carefully, then mix in butter, milk and vinegar slowly. Cook until thick in double boiler. Let cool before adding to salad.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

ABRAHAM'S INTERCESSORY PRAYER

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 18:23-33.
GOLDEN TEXT—The eternal fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much.—James 5:16.

Prayer has been the subject of thousands of books of sermons without end; yet how little it is actually practiced. Conferences are held to discuss it, and they attract large audiences, but at prayer meetings we find only a handful.

We are sure that "prayer changes things," and we agree that it is the most powerful force at man's disposal, but we go right ahead trying to change things in our own strength. "O what peace we often forfeit, O what needless pain we bear, All because we do not carry Everything to God in prayer!"

Our lesson from the life of Abraham stresses one important phase of prayer—prayer for others.

I. The Nature of Intercessory Prayer.

1. It Is a Privilege.

We speak of the burden of prayer, but let us also recall that it is a privilege. Abraham had been honored by a visit from the Lord. The covenant had been renewed and a son promised (Gen 18:1-16). Then the Lord, because of His friendship with Abraham, shared with him (v. 17) His purpose of judgment on wicked Sodom and Gomorrah.

How glorious to be on such intimate terms with God—to know Him and to know His plans and purposes. Would you enjoy having such fellowship? You may through Jesus Christ and through the study of God's holy Word.

2. It Is a Duty.

Privilege brings corresponding responsibility. The two men went toward Sodom, but "Abraham stood yet before the Lord" (v. 22), to pray for the wicked cities.

Those who know God's plans are to share them in prayer. Those who have audience with the King of Kings are those to carry the blessed burden of prayer for others as well as for themselves.

Are we praying for our nation, for its President and leaders; for our city, for our church, our families, our children, our friends? The deeper the need, the greater the wickedness, the more we need to pray. If we as Christians do not pray, who will pray?

3. It Is a Reality.

Some modern religious leaders would take all reality out of prayer by making it a sort of spiritual exercise which operates only on the soul of the one who prays, giving him new strength and a sense of well being. Undoubtedly the very fellowship with God which is inherent in true prayer is spiritually beneficial; but prayer is objective, not merely subjective. It deals with nations and cities, men and women, problems; and sin and sorrow. It concerns every need of man—physical, mental and spiritual.

II. The Spirit of Intercessory Prayer.

1. Unselfish.

Abraham had the assured blessing and promise of God. The cities were wicked and unrepentant. If he had taken the attitude of many church folk, he would have said, "It serves them right. Wipe out their wickedness."—But Abraham prayed for them in complete unselfishness. Can those who know the spirit of Christ be selfish in prayer?

2. Bold and Courageous.

Note the reverent boldness with which Abraham pleaded the cause of the cities. God is not displeased to have us press our cause in prayer; in fact, the Bible reveals that He frequently answers according to the earnestness with which men pray. He has always honored and used men of holy courage.

No one—not even God—likes a "quitter." Remember those who were heard for their importunity? (Luke 11:8; 18:1-8). Many pray like the little boys on Halloween. They ring the bell and run.

Abraham persisted; fifty, forty-five, forty, thirty, twenty, ten—perhaps he should not have stopped even there. God who saw his persistent faith went the rest of the way and saved the only four who could be saved, and even of those, three were infected with the wickedness of the place.

"Let us not be weary in well doing" as we pray, "for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not" (Gal. 6:9).

III. The Result of Intercessory Prayer.

God had to destroy the cities. There are some kinds of violent infection which must be destroyed by fire for the sake of others. Out of the destruction, however, God did deliver the righteous Lot, which was doubtless Abraham's real desire.

God hears and answers prayers. That is not only the testimony of His Word, but of countless Christian men and women down through the ages even to our day. The one who would deny the efficacy of prayer must face an overwhelming flood of authenticated answers.

Advance Collections Herald Narrower Silhouette for Fall

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

an important fashion in that it is tailored of black bengaline, and it's bengaline that fashion-alert women are clamoring for this season for their best-looking suit. You'll be starting your fall wardrobe going in the right direction if you buy a bengaline suit. Suits of this kind take kindly to accents of lovely lace lingerie neckwear and it's also smart to wear accessories which give the vivid touch. The front fullness of this skirt is typically "Autumn 1942" in its styling. The jacket is a newly inspired version, which stresses up-to-dateness.

THE big news as to fall style trends centers for the most part around the idea of slimmness for the skirt silhouette. It's quite all right and definitely style-correct to continue to wear the ever-beloved all-around pleated skirts through the summer-to-fall midseason period, but the moment fashion's swan-song sounds the knell to summer and you know by the calendar that autumn is here in will come such an array of smart and figure-flattering narrow silhouetted skirts you'll yield to temptation at the very first glance. In fact, the new slim, black frocks are ever so good-looking for immediate wear, and they'll be smart right on through into fall and winter.

These charming dresses, styled as they are with utmost simplicity, are ushering in a new era in costume design, one that patriotically makes fabric conservation its theme. Valiantly and victoriously have designers met the challenge to create beautiful fashions out of minimum yardage. Once you've donned one of these figure-flattering narrow silhouetted gowns, suits or coats, as the case may be, you'll be all enthusiasm for the new order of things, for it is a fact that the narrowed silhouette is one of charm and chic.

A suit tailored of black bengaline or a dress fashioned of sleek jersey in either black or lush colors fashioned after the manner of the smart modes pictured in the above illustration (each is within the new fabric-saving rulings) gives the perfect answer as to what to wear now and on through the midseason days. In fact, these fashions are scheduled to function smartly far into the future.

Practical Trio

For gardening, tennis, cycling or what-have-you in the way of hard work or sports, here is the ideal outfit. Overall shorts of blue cotton denim, with a calico print blouse and a wrap-around skirt, are ready to meet every demand. It's the type of clothes everybody's calling for now that there's work to be done, something dependably washable, chic and becoming, and attuned to all occasions, whether they be work or play. This outfit will hold good "for the duration."

Helps Give Variety To Work Costumes

In planning and designing practical clothes for the thousands of women now engaged in wartime factory work, every effort is being made to avoid regimentation or suggestion of monotonous uniforms. Thus, much importance is attached to color, as it offers variety and cheer.

Necessarily certain requirements must be observed in behalf of safety. For instance, most factories stipulate that women and girls wear slacks or coveralls or jumper slacks carefully styled so that nothing will catch in the machinery. Covering for the head is required to keep the hair protected. Dresses are out of the picture, with a ban on culottes or skirts. Banned also are toe-less or heel-less shoes and long fingernails. Blouses must be simple, so that no frilly details get caught in the machinery, but they may be, and are, very colorful.

Quilted Fashions

Enthusiasm for things quilted extends to every phase of fashion. Quilting as designers are employing it gives novelty to hats, will give warmth to coats this fall by bright colored quilted linings, is used for large flat pockets and offers clever novelty ensembles which include hat, bag and jacket sets.

For Trimming

There will be a generous use of embroidery this fall and also of applique design. And again designers are lavishing fringe on dressy frocks in unique and attractive ways.

JUNK needed for War

In the attics and cellars of homes, in garages, tool sheds, and on farms, is a lot of Junk which is doing no good where it is, but which is needed at once to help smash the Japs and Nazis.

Scrap iron and steel, for example. Old radiators, lengths of pipe, refrigerators, garbage pails, broken garden tools...

It may be rusty, old "scrap" to you, but it is actually refined steel, with most impurities removed—and can be quickly melted with new metal in the form of pig iron to produce highest quality steel for our war machines.

Even in peacetime our Nation relied on scrap to provide about 50% of the raw material for steel. Now production of steel has gone up, UP, until today America is turning out as much steel as all the rest of the world combined.

But unless at least 6,000,000 additional tons of scrap steel is uncovered promptly, the full rate of production cannot be attained or increased; the necessary tanks, guns, and ships cannot be produced.

The rubber situation is also critical. In spite of the recent rubber drive, there is a continuing need for large quantities of scrap rubber. Also for other waste materials and metals like brass, copper, zinc, lead, and tin.

America needs your active assistance in rounding up these materials. The Junk which you collect is bought by industry from scrap dealers at established, government-controlled prices.

Will you help?
First—collect all your waste material and pile it up.

Then—sell it to a Junk dealer, give it to a charity, take it yourself to the nearest collection point, or get in touch with your Local Salvage Committee.

If you live on a farm, consult your County War Board or your farm implement dealer.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

LOCAL SALVAGE COMMITTEE

PHONE 190 or 184-F2

B. Milstein, Chairman; Clarence Healey, J. C. Mathews, O. Weisler

JUNK MAKES FIGHTING WEAPONS

One old radiator will provide scrap steel needed for seventeen .30 calibre rifles.

One old lawn mower will help make six 3-inch shells.

One useless old tire will provide as much rubber as is used in 12 gas masks.

One old shovel will help make 4 hand grenades.

MATERIALS NEEDED

Scrap iron and steel.
Other metals of all kinds.
Old rubber.
Rags, Manila rope, burlap bags.
Waste Cooking Fats—Strain into a large tin can and when you get a pound or more, sell to your meat dealer.
NEEDED ONLY IN CERTAIN LOCALITIES: Waste paper and tin cans, as announced locally.
NOT NEEDED at this time: Razor blades—glass.
