Third War Loan Drive Now On In This Area

EAST JORDAN'S QUOTA IS $140,000. DO YOUR PART IN "BACKING THE ATTACK."

You are reading this on the Zero hour for the home front, for today East Jordan opens an all-out campaign "Backing the Attack" of our some 400 men and women now serving under the Colors of freedom. East Jordan's quota of $140,000 in bonds in one of the biggest jobs that we have ever tackled, and on behalf of East Jordan, the local war finance committee has pledged that this community will do its full share in the fifteen billion dollar drive that the whole nation is participating in during September. It is an effort that requires the cooperation of each one of us to the fullest extent and the most we can do is little indeed when compared with the sacrifices our own boys are making on the field of battle.

Chairman Robert Campbell of the War Finance Committee has organized his unit to do the "foot work" in this undertaking and starting today these minute men are conducting a house-to-house and person to person canvass which will reach the entire community and afford every single person the opportunity "of shouldering a gun" side by side with the troops on the hundred battle fronts around the globe.

A high spot of the campaign will be the Victory Bond Show on Wednesday, the 22nd, under the joint sponsorship of the Temple Theatre and the Rotary Club. Admission to the special event will be free to all bond purchasers and in fact a bond purchase is the only admission that will be recognized. This applies to all bonds sold during the campaign, whether from a minute-man, the Temple or any established issuing agency. This is an "extra" that you won't want to miss.

So greet your minute-man with a smile, it will make his work easier—and buy Bonds to your limit—it is our only way to BACK THE ATTACK.

Oldest Resident Passes Away

MRS. SAMUEL G. ROGERS CAME HERE 74 YEARS AGO

The death of Mrs. Samuel G. Rogers, aged 92, at her home south of East Jordan Monday morning, September 6, 1943, marked the passing of this region's oldest pioneer resident. Eleanor Johnston was born in Egremont township, Grey county, Ontario, January 18, 1851. She was married to Samuel George Rogers there October 22, 1869 and came here that year to the homestead Mr. Rogers had taken up the previous year. Here she lived for 74 years. Mr. Rogers passed away December 14, 1931. Seven children were born to this union, three of whom have passed on.

Surviving are two sons, Alfred G. and Samuel E. Rogers; two daughters, Mrs. Sarah Cooper, who has cared for her mother for a number of years, and Mrs. Alida Hutton, all of this vicinity; sixteen grandchildren; twenty-six great grandchildren; and three great great grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Jams C. Mathews at the home at 2:30 Thursday afternoon. Bearers were Ira Bartlett, Samuel Colter, S. Ulvund, Ole Omland, Daniel Bennett, and Ludwig Larsen.

Temple Hi-Lights

The new entertainment week at the Temple will well merit your attention in this issue of your paper with its four splendid and unusual attractions. Particularly noteworthy are, "The Ox-Bow Incident," and "So Proudly We Hail," both of which are entirely unorthodox both as to treatment and story content. The remaining two programs are of a topical nature, as timely as tomorrow, particularly well cast and completely interesting. The schedule of presentation of these out-standing entertainments is immediately following:

Fri-Sat; Henry Fonda, Dana Andrews, Jane Darwell, Mary Beth Hughes in, "The Ox-Bow Incident."
Sun-Mon: Claudette Colbert, Paulette Goddard and Veronica Lake in, "So Proudly We Hail."
Tues-Wed; Preston Foster and Ellen Drew in, "Night Plane From Chungking."
Thur. Only (Family Nite); Richard Arlen and Jean Parker in, "Alaska Highway." Screen Snapshots: Cartoon, Chap. 6 of "Secret Service In Darkest Africa."

County Picnic Draws Crowd

DESPITE UNFAVORABLE WEATHER, MANY ATTEND ANNUAL EVENT.

The Annual Charlevoix Co. Picnic held at Whiting Park on Labor Day had a sad handicap in the decidedly spotty weather that day. Dull and threatening in the earlier morning hours it climaxed around 12 noon in a rousing thunder storm which chased home a large number of those who had braved the lowering skies to come anyway. The livestock exhibit was very light this year due to this same inclement weather but of excellent quality. In fact all exhibits of stock, garden produce and canning appeared even finer than in previous years and it was a pity that the attractive Victory decorations ornamenting so many exhibits became so bedraggled in the rain.

After the thunderstorm the sun re-appeared and rapidly dried the water standing all over the picnic grounds. Most of those who fled the deluge failed to return but new picnic-ers appeared, somewhere between 1200 and 1800 enjoying the afternoon's program. Dallas Henry monies and had charge to the affair of Charlevoix was Master of Ceremonies' activities. There were the usual running races with small boys and girls competing valiantly for the prizes. The ballgame between the Boyne City Rotary Club and the East Jordan Club was a great success—for Boyne, who won by one run in a 15-14 score.

The Amateur Show was well received with the Ladies Trio-Mesdames Bellinger, Hawley and Webster of Charlevoix carrying off the 1st Prize. Second prize went to Jack Carman of Boyne for his impersonations and imitations and Third went to the Bentley Hill Hill-billies of Ellsworth.

The hot-dog Hamburger concession of the Boyne City American Legion did a land office business as did the Bingo game which wound up the afternoon's activities. If the stray breezes hadn't ruffled the trees-sending showers down on the un-way and if occasional unsuspected puddles hadn't caught a few the afternoon would have been typical 4th of July weather. As it was the festivities were well over before another brief storm ended the day. From the number of cars present it was evident that a great number of people had saved an 'A' coupon especially for this event and if the rain hadn't driven so many out earlier in the day despite gas rationing it would have been a record attendance.

Wilson MacDonald, secretary of the Potosky Chamber of Commerce was present during the afternoon and gave a talk on the progress of the Milkweed Processing Plant located in that city and explained the milkweed pod collection program scheduled to start soon throughout this area.

Judges of the exhibits of the day were: Kenneth Lechrone, Boyne City Agriculture instructor 4-H Club stock and gardens; Jayne Peterson, Boyne City Home Economics instructor 4-H Club canning and food preparation; L. B. Karr, East Jordan adult gardens, flower, exhibits. Mr. Karr, assisted by Mrs. Maude Kightlinger, Boyne City. Ten Victory garden certificates were also awarded. (Continued on last page)

Mrs. Louis J. Young Passed Away at Muskegon, Tuesday

Mrs. Hermina DeWitt Young, a former East Jordan resident, passed away at Muskegon, Tuesday, Sept. 7. Mrs. Young was born at East Jordan Dec. 1st, 1903. On Nov. 24, 1920, she was united in marriage to Louis J. Young at Holton, Mich. She was an active member of the Rebecca Lodge and of the Methodist Ladies Aid and Mary Martha Circle of East Jordan.

Surviving are the husband. Six sons — Howard, serving with the U. S. Army at Chickasha, Okla.; Herschel, Carl, Glen, Lloyd and Doyle. Four daughters — Gloria, Beverly, Lois Jean, and Hermina Mary. All at home. Also one sister, Mrs. C. O. Porter of Flint.

Funeral services are this Friday, Sept. 10, at Holton Methodist Church and burial at the Holton Cemetery.

MARRIAGES

Derenzy — Edson

Dora Alice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Derenzy of East Jordan and Sgt. Ethan Edson of Ellsworth, were united in marriage Thursday evening, August 26, at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. J. C. Mathews, the officiating clergyman, performed the ceremony at his home in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride was lovely in an aqua blue dress and carried a bouquet of roses and larkspur. The groom was in uniform. The attendants were Mrs. Gerald Derenzy, sister-in-law of the bride, and Robert Smalley, cousin of the groom. Mrs. Derenzy wore a blue suit and carried a bouquet of roses and baby breath.

After the ceremony, a three-course wedding dinner was served to the guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edson in Ellsworth.

Sgt. and Mrs. Edson left Tuesday evening for Detroit where the bride is employed and Sgt. Edson will return to Camp Tyson, Tenn.

Infant and Preschool Conference Here Sept. 14.

The monthly infant and preschool conference will be held at the City Building on Tuesday, September 14th from 9:00 a. m. to 12 noon.

Physical examination together with preventive measures against diphtheria and smallpox will be given by Dr. J. Van Dellen and assisted by Mrs. Scudder county nurse.

Mothers with children up to school age are invited to attend the conference. Not only is the conference for children in the immediate vicinity, but also those living in nearby townships are invited to come.

Culling Poultry To Be Demonstrated At Farm Meetings

Of great interest to all poultry producers is the announcement that a series of nine meetings will be conducted on Friday and Saturday, September 10-11. Mr. O. E. Shear, Specialist, Michigan State College, will supervise the culling of undesirable layers assisted by two squads of four 4-H club and F.F.A. boys who are being trained to help poultry folks in their respective communities.

This is the year when it would pay big dividends to eliminate all undesirable layers. The price of feed is high and not alone that but it is hard to get. Our war effort demands that we conserve feed and use it where returns are high. The following farm flocks will be culled by Mr. Shear and the squad helpers.

Friday, September 10th

9:00 a.m.—A.B. Todd on M75, edge of Walloon Lake.

10:45 a.m. — Edwin Bradley, 1/2 mile north of Horton Bay on Carpenter Road.

1:30 p.m.—Frank Wangeman farm 1/4 mile east of Porter's cherry orchard.

3:00 p.m.—Art Geer on M66, 3 miles SE of Charlevoix.

Saturday, September 11th

9:00 a.m.—Walter Goebel and Arnold Smith, located just south of Ranney school.

10:30—Claude Gilkerson and J. Addis of Ellsworth road, 3 miles west of East Jordan.

1:30 p.m.—Carlton Bowen Hatchery, 1 mile east of East Jordan.

We urge all farmers interested in poultry to attend one of these demonstrations. It is not difficult to cull poultry and it will pay big dividends. If birds are found that are affected by lice they will be de-loused with sodium fluoride free of charge by Mr. Shear. We are glad to state that after these two days of demonstrations a crew of 8 4-H club boys and F.F.A. boys will be trained to do this work in their respective communities.

Labor Shortage Doesn't Mean Much

"BUSINESS MENS' WORKING CORPS" LABEL AND CRATE CANNED PRODUCTS

Labor shortage need not be a serious set back in a community of loyal, enthusiastic and patriotic citizens. This spring the growers increased their acreage of beans, beets and carrots. During the past weeks the bean crop has been picked by hundreds of boys, girls, men and women, and taken to the Canning Factories for processing. Some two hundred and fifty men and women have been employed in the local plant.

Recently a crisis developed due to the fact that more men were needed to label and box the products. A number of our business men came to the rescue and have been working nights in the labeling room. Those so far taking part in what may well be called the "Business Mens' working Corp" are:— Robert A. Campbell, Gregory Boswell, Howard Darbee, Oscar Weisler, Walter Davis, Ing Olson, E. E. Wade, W. A. Porter, John Porter, Joe Martinek, Frank Kortan, Buri Braman and R. G. Watson.

Thanks A Lot, Mr. Hanson

Dear Mr. Lisk. One of our East Jordan friends, living in Detroit, gave us a copy of your paper and right then we realized how much we had missed—news of East Jordan. It was fun to read about folks we knew, especially the news about the boys in service, so many of them were in Hi with Paul.

Enclosed find $2.00 for subscription and I hope we never miss a copy.

Squint on Fishing HUNTING — TRAPPING

—by Milton E. Meredith

So this is where the fishes' went. The local river guides and fishermen report the Jordan River as loaded with fish from Roger's bridge on down to the lake with fish that are foreign to river life. One is apt to get a Pike, Bass, or a Trout on his line.

The high winds from the west have been shoving Lake Michigan into Lake Charlevoix so now I have lost another foot of my front yard.

While standing in my front door last Monday watching a fellow in a row boat fishing I saw him make some rapid movements with his oars, and head for the dock. He trusted the elements just too long and the clouds all gathered over-head and dropped their load down the back of his neck. Maybe it needed washing. Who knows?

Yours, Milt.

An entertaining modern version of these stories appears — illustrated in Full Color — in The American Weekly with this Sunday's (Sept. 12) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.

SLAVE TO PURGATIVES FINDS FREEDOM!

Feels 20 Years Younger, He Says!

Everyone who has despaired of ever finding normal regularity should read this unolicited letter:

"Six years ago, I was quite constipated. I'd taken many so-called 'cures', but it was the same old story. It seemed that each dose had to be stronger than the last. Then, I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Soon I was 'regular' again, with none of the old griping pain. In fact, I now feel younger than 20 years ago when I was a victim of chronic constipation." Mr. A. Bousfield, 256 E. Villa Avenue, Villa Park, Ill.

What's the secret of such reports of ALL-BRAN's wonderful results? It's simply this: Lack of certain cellulose elements in the diet is a common cause of constipation. Scientists say KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is a rich, natural source of these elements—which help the colonic flora do their job—lightening and softening the accumulated waste for easy, natural evacuation. ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Not roughage that acts by "sweeping you out"! It's a gentle-acting "regulating" food! Eat ALL-BRAN regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't find the relief you've dreamed of! Insist on the genuine ALL-BRAN! It is made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

See Here, Private Hargrove!

by Marion Hargrove

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Hargrove, former feature editor of the Charlotte (N. C.) News, has been inducted into the army and completed the first few weeks of his training at Fort Bragg. Before getting into the army, Hargrove advises selectees to "paint the town red." Once in, "the first three weeks are the hardest" so keep "an open mind." Hargrove has had plenty of trouble learning the fundamentals of army life and as a result has spent a good share of his time on KP duty. Classified as a cook he thinks it's good experience. His sergeant doesn't agree. Hargrove has learned a large portion of army slang and is about to enlighten the civilian on this score.

CHAPTER VI

When Junior comes home from camp on furlough or for the weekend, he probably will throw out his chest, pull his shoulders almost out of joint, and speak a sort of jargon entirely unintelligible to you. There is no cause for alarm; Junior is merely exaggerating to show off his familiarity with military life. You will not be consoled by this knowledge when he begins speaking this unknown tongue. In order to understand some of his conversation, you might tear out this page and tuck it away in the drawer with your recipes and patterns.

Goldbricking is an Army term signifying in a word, loafing. In its strictest sense, it means avoiding your fair share of the work, thus making the load harder for the other boys. When Junior uses the term, however, it merely means hiding from the work in the first place or stretching an easy job out to make it last as long as possible.

Battling the breeze is the military equivalent of "bullshooting." Police, as nearly as it can be explained, means "to clean up" or "to keep clean." Examples are kitchen police, or kappes, canteen police, and police the area.

Fatigue duty is work that is not actual military training, but a part of the turnabout method of getting the dirty work done. Fatigue clothes are the blue denims worn for extra duty. Regular uniforms are called OD's, an abbreviation for "olive drab."

GI is short for "Government Issue." GI soap is the yellow laundry soap, a GI brush is a hard-bristle scrubbing brush, and a GI haircut is the regulation style which sacrifices two-thirds of Junior's wavy locks to cleanliness and sanitation.

The PX is the post exchange, or canteen, a co-operative enterprise which sells practically everything the soldier needs. Three times a month, canteen books of credit tickets may be obtained in denominations from one to five dollars. Ten per cent of the proceeds from these are returned to the battery fund, which is used to buy nonessentials for the battery.

The old man is the battery commander, who may also be referred to among yourselves as the BC or the skipper. The top kick is a first sergeant, the chief of the battery's noncommissioned officers.

Jawbone is an apt word meaning "credit." A Jawbone corporal is an acting corporal, who has neither the rating nor the pay of a corporal. Over the hill is an artistic way of referring to unauthorized absence. This is another expression for AWOL.

Food is chow or mess. Stew is slum or slungullion. Salt pork, which you rarely see in the Army, is called lamb chop. "They lam it against the wall to get the salt out of it and then they chop it up into the beans."

"Over the hill is an artistic way of referring to unauthorized absence—AWOL."

To fall out, soldiers vacate the barracks quickly, before the sergeant gets really mad. To fall in, they take their places in ranks.

A yardbird is the lowest form of animal life in an Army camp. Under the common law, he is rated as one rank below a buck private. The yardbird, for this misdeed or that shortcoming, spends most of his time in menial labor about the battery area.

When Junior refers to a yardbird, you will notice, he is invariably speaking of someone else.

It was our afternoon off and we were lying around in our barracks, too lazy to dress for a movie or a trip to the Service Club. All of us were, that is, except Private Zuber. With an enthusiasm and energy foreign to a cook's afternoon off, Zuber was applying a blinding glaze to his shoes. This finished, he connected an iron and began sharpening the creases in his trousers.

"Going somewhere, I take it," asked Private Clarkin, the Jersey milkman.

Private Zuber grinned happily, and nodded. He donned his fresh clothing, gave his necktie several unnecessary tugs, and combed his hair for the twelfth time.

Private McGlauffin, late of the Minneapolis bar, laid down his copy of the Bartender's Guide and sat up on his bunk. "Didn't you know?" he asked. "Zuber's girl's come down from Rochester. They're going riding."

"That's a fine thing," crowed Clarkin. "I haven't been for a spin since I've been here. Get your shoes on, Hargrove. And straighten your name plate, McGlauffin. We must make a good impression on our guest."

"You sure are a pleasant surprise, ma'am," Clarkin rattled on to the pretty girl in the front seat. "Fancy Ben Zuber even knowing anybody like you. You should see the homely looking things he brings to the dances here."

She smiled a polite thank-you at Clarkin and glanced sharply at Zuber. "I never could even get him to the dances at home," she said. "He wouldn't even look at the girls at all. Would you, dear?"

"No, ma'am," groaned the martyred Zuber, who spent almost all his evening hours writing letters to Rochester.

"Just to look at Ben," said McGlauffin, "you'd never think such a quiet-seeming boy could raise so much devil. It constantly amazes me."

Private Zuber's girl friend's smile was not so spontaneous this time, and there was a baleful gleam in her glance at poor Benjamin. "What have you been doing, dear?" she asked with terrible gentleness.

Private McGlauffin went on glibly. "Tell her about the time you got tight in Fayetteville and tried to take the policeman's hat away from him, Ben!"

The one-girl audience was shocked. Her expression, as she looked at Zuber, was one of anxiety and doubt.

Clarkin began again. "And the terrible fight he had that time—ooof!" McGlauffin gave him a hearty dig in the ribs. To make sure that it had registered and created sufficient horrible curiosity in the feminine mind, he repeated it.

Private Zuber, guiltless but helpless, drooped his shoulders further as the terrible ride continued. "Here's the Service Club, dear," he finally said. "Shall we go in and have something to drink?" He gave the three of us a pathetically beseeching glance.

"They don't sell lemon extract in there, Zuber," I suggested. Clarkin, McGlauffin and I exchanged looks that purported to show a hidden knowledge of another terrible paragraph in the collapse of the soul of Benjamin Zuber.

We sat at a table in the Service Club drinking the sodas our victim bought for us. Clarkin looked long at his glass of water.

"The sight of water," he remarked, "reminds me of what the sergeant was telling Ben last week about daily bathing."

McGlauffin took pity on the innocent Zuber, who was dying for a cause he knew not. "We'll have to be going. We have things to do and I imagine you two young people want to enjoy each other's company."

"Yes," said Zuber's fiancée slowly. "Ben and I have SO much to talk about." Private Zuber shuddered and his shoulders slumped tragically.

"We certainly have enjoyed the afternoon," crowed Clarkin. "Lovely time."

One of the first people I looked up when I went to Charlotte on leave was Ward Beecher Threatt, who writes a column of sorts for the Saturday edition of the Charlotte News. "Well, Hargrove," began the postcard philosopher, "how's the Army agreeing with you? I've been aching to find out what you've been doing." This was a subtle slam at my column.

"Well, all things considered—" I began.

"Nothing like the Army," said Ward Beecher. "I wouldn't take a million dollars for the time I spent in it. Nobody'd offer me a million anyway. Have you got a rating yet?"

"Well—" I began again.

"Lord, did I have my ups and downs! Got all the way up to sergeant three times and was busted three times—for the good of the service." He paused to light another cigarette and I thought I saw an opening.

"Let me tell you about the trip over," I said. "We left the—"

"We started a crap game on the train," said Threatt, "and I had to wire home for money before I got to Rock Hill. Have you had a payday yet?"

"We'll have one—" I started.

"On that ocean voyage," he broke in. "I went for fourteen days without a cigarette. I followed one man all around the boat waiting for him to throw away a butt. Instead of throwing it on the deck, where I could have scooped it, he flung it over the rail. I followed another and just when I thought he'd be ready to throw it away, I asked him for the butt. The son-of-a-gun told me he had three different kinds of colds—and he threw his cigarette over the side. He didn't have another, he said."

"We landed at Brest," he said, "and we had to walk up one of the longest durned hills I've ever seen before we could drop our suitcases. The Frenchmen swarmed around us, selling everything from steamer trunks to fine-toothed combs. Twenty of us boys pooled our pocket money to buy a pack of cigarettes for fifty cents. What are you going to spend your first pay on?"

"Oh, I suppose I'll—" "First payday I had I went out and bought myself a pack of cigarettes and lay awake almost all night smoking them. Best cigarettes I ever tasted. By the way, how's the food at Fort Bragg?"

"I find it very—" "Over in France we used to take our drinking water and swap it to the French for wine. It was a toss-up which tasted worse—our water or their wine. Ah, them was the days! Like your uniform?"

"I think it's very—" "Nothing like the ones we wore. There were, in the hottest part of the summer, with these woolen

"Over in France we used to take our drinking water and swap it to the French for wine."

OD's, Russian high collars, wrap-around leggings, and all the works. How do you like my costume?"

"Well, confidentially—" "This field cap ain't the one they issued to me. I lost that one and had to help myself to this one. I wouldn't tell you where I got it. I used to get into more potato-peeling work for not getting this collar fixed right, too. Looks right distinguished, doesn't it?"

I looked at the modernistic clock on Ward Beecher's parlor table. I took my eyes off it quickly, lest he tell me again about how he won it at the firemen's convention.

"Well, Ward," I said, jumping desperately into a gap in the conversation. "I've enjoyed talking to you about my life in the Army, but I have to get along uptown again. I've got—"

"Sure thing, fellow," said the man of letters; "it certainly is interesting to hear from a soldier in this army. I could listen to you for hours."

When a sergeant tells you that it's the little things in life that are important, he's not just saying it. A sergeant who impresses that one corny slice of homely philosophy upon a rookie's mind is giving him one of the most important lessons of his Army life.

The soldier has a thousand and one small things to remember in his everyday life. Most of these he forgets at least once before a non-com etches them vividly on his mind with kitchen duty.

At retreat, the afternoon inspection of the soldiers, I always check everything before I fall out for the oncoever. Are my shoes shined? Is my rifle cleaned and oiled? Is my name plate pinned straight over my left shirt pocket? Can I get by with this morning's shave? Do I need a haircut? Are all my pockets buttoned? When I make sure that everything is as it should be, I sigh with satisfaction and fall out.

The battery assembles in a neat, precise picture of mass formation. The battery commander orders the top kick to "Prepare the battery for inspection!" The top kick opens the ranks and the lines straighten out to perfection. From where I stand, everything looks perfect.

The battery commander begins his inspection. Until he gets almost to me, I feel almost smug to think that for once I've stood retreat and not fallen short somewhere. To bask in my own perfection, I sneak a forbidden peek at my gun and uniform.

Then, to my horror, I see two shiny strands of stainless steel just below my belt—the chain on that daddablasted dollar watch! Your whole day can be spoiled by doodads such as that marring the neatness and simplicity of your uniform. Back to the kitchens, Dulcy!

There's one good thing, however, about forgetting to take off your nonkosher watch chain for retreat, or to put on your leggings for reveille, or to straighten the shoes under your bunk! After the first time, you remember them!

QUAINT chintz curtains are always appropriate for casement windows and their colors give the best effect by day if they are lined to keep the light from shining through. At night they may be drawn together to serve instead of shades if the lining is of fairly heavy material such as sateen, and this material also gives them body which adds richness.

The secret of making curtains of this type hang well is in not joining the two layers of material at the bottom. If your windows are narrow, a half width of chintz and of lining may be wide enough for each curtain. Plan them to be wide enough to hang slightly full

Reveille on the Jordan

Just a little message to the boys in the service from the folks back home. Sponsored by the East Jordan Community Service Club.

ED REULING — EDITOR

Dear Friends:

When bad news comes, its impact on the folks back home is undecipherable. People gather in small groups and talk in hushed tones. Here and there a tear splatters down on the sidewalk with no attempt at concealment. Even the wheels of our industries seem to soften their tune as they turn. As we recover from the blows — Keith Bartlett killed in action — Charles Kotalik killed in action — Reuben Sheldon a prisoner of war — Bill Clark and Winifred Savage seriously wounded — and now Harvey Harrington missing in action — we raise our eyes heavenward and say a silent prayer for them and the rest of you, and then, back to work again with more determination than ever to help you all we can.

That such news raises hidden talents and emotions in our fighting men is made clear in the tribute one of our boys, Johnny Skrocki, paid to his buddy, Charles Kotalik, when he heard the news. He wrote:

"So Chuck Kotalik has gone to join the other heroes of Bataan, Corregidor and Wake Island. My buddy, with whom I played as a boy, attended school, double dated together and enjoyed all the joys and pleasures of friendship, has gone down the long dark road of death. 'Killed in action' the paper said. And what a battle it must have been to have claimed his life. I'm sure up there in the sky where all good soldiers go, Washington, Colin Kelly, Farragut, Perry, Jackson and the rest of our great soldiers, they must have welcomed another hero. The army has lost a good soldier and America has gained another star on her crown. East Jordan shall long remember Chuck Kotalik and his absence is one of the pains of war that our town must bear. But his death shall be avenged by me and ten million other American soldiers. We shall sweep from Victory to Victory on an irresistible tide until our last enemy is wiped from the face of the earth. The bodies of millions of enemy soldiers shall pave the road he trods until there shall come at last a true and enduring peace. Not a peace of twenty-five years but one that shall and must be absolute. Thus shall Chuck Kotalik live in our hearts forever."

Johnny, I know your words were inspired from the heart. So too are the unspoken and unwritten words of all of the buddies of all of our East Jordan heroes.

Your faithful correspondent and friend, Ed Reuling.

HOME TOWN CHATTER

The choice news of the week is a wedding. Ellen Hill of Pickford, a childhood sweetheart of our ALEX STEVENSON, was lucky enough to finally get Alex to say "I do." Alex came up from his duties at Jefferson Barracks and was in town a couple of days before going on up to Pickford where the knot was tied on Saturday, August 28. I missed him all three times he stopped in to say hello. Sorry about that Alex. From all reports your soldiering experiences have been broadening, physically, as well as other ways. Will your better half be down in Missouri with you, or will she go back to her school teaching at Mt. Clemens? Congratulations to both you and Ellen. East Jordan wishes you the best of everything.

Lt. (j. g.) GILBERT JOYNT hitchhiked (via plane) from the west coast to Detroit — came up here for a few days, and is now taking a five with his sister at her cottage over on Torch Lake. Gilbert is the first service hitchhiker I've heard about. Without priorities, flying on personal business is pretty much out — unless a service man is lucky enough to catch a plane headed his way on business. Gilbert hooked one from the coast to Salt Lake City, thumbed another to Kansas City, a third to Chicago and a fourth to Detroit. Of course the guy only has 1500 hours to his credit (mostly on Alaskan patrol and convoy work) so it was a new experience. He reports having had a chat with DESMOND JOHNSON and PAUL WHITE up at Atka, Alaska. He says both boys are looking well and are regarded at their station as tops in doing the jobs assigned to them. His own account of his flying experiences, as he tells them, are rather unexciting. A lot of bad weather flying but not much action. His orders call for a return to San Diego. From there he doesn't know what, but is guessing he might be brought up to date on the newer types of planes the navy uses and then shove off to help you lads in the Pacific. It was swell seeing you, Lt. Here's luck to you on your new assignment. Keep us posted when you can.

CARL KAMRADT made it in a week ago from Wendover Field, Utah. The lad is a two striper. It seemed mighty good to see him, and he was plenty glad to be here. This — even though his heart interest, Betty, couldn't come up from Grand Rapids and Carl had to take off a couple of days early to make sure of seeing her too. Carl kind of figures he is permanently assigned now. He is a ground crew mechanic and works on all types of planes doing everything from simple servicing to complete overhauls. His mom liked the news that the assignment was permanent but Carl kind of wanted something a bit closer to the real thing. Even so, young man, it takes guys like you just as much as it takes fellows like all of your buddies in the front lines to win this war. We are just as proud of you as we are of the rest. Keep up the good work.

LELAND HICKOX took off Saturday for Madison, Wis. He won't be eighteen until next month but figured he might as well get in while the getting is good. He gets 12 weeks of basic and then is classified and assigned to the job the army thinks he is best fitted for. The lad was No. 1 man in his class all the way through high school, a hard worker, an athlete, a friend of everyone, and now a man and a soldier. We have an idea his rating in the latter two will be just as high as it has always been in everything else. Here's luck, Leg. Keep us posted.

I do not have a complete list of those who passed their physicals and will be inducted on the 22nd but do know it includes BARTON VANCE, Navy, and RUSSELL CONWAY and JOHN SMITH, Army. They will be around yet for another week and I'll try to give you more then.

NEWS FROM THE FRONT

A report from a pretty reliable source out Pleasant Valley ways brings us the bad news that WINFRED SAVAGE has been seriously wounded in the Southwest Pacific. We don't know when or how. As in the case of BILL CLARK all we can hope is that "No news is good news", and we can and will pray that when news on both these lads comes it will be good news. The old home town is pulling for you fellows. We are mighty worried, but never will we give up hope. . . . The bad news of HARVEY HARRINGTON being reported missing is still no better — nor is it worse. We still can't help but feel that the Lt. will show up somewhere, somehow. The news when it did come through was timely to the extent that it came when another flyer, Lt. GILBERT JOYNT, was visiting Harvey's folks. He, having been a pretty close buddy of Harvey, and, having seen a lot of such things, was able to show Harvey's folks that there was hope, and lots of it, where, to them, no hope seemed possible. . . . The fellows who went to Custer recently are, so far as we know, just about in transit to their new assignments as this is being written. No direct report from any of them but an indirect one addressed to Paul Lisk by JAKE SNYDER goes something like this. "Hi there you big Palooka, I'm feeling fine. This place is good for ailments, I've just been sighseeing, I object to our shavetail, What I need is a good long sleep, Please send along arch preservers, Give my regards to all the folks. Keep those lawn mowers sharp." Well, well. For once I missed out on the name calling and Paul got it. Thanks Jake for the indirect report. How about a direct one. The same goes for the rest of you who left when Jake did. . . . I hear that ED STANEK and GEORGE REBEC finally found each other over in Sicily. We still haven't the details but are anxiously waiting. As still hoping that GUY RUSSELL, FRANK JUSTICE, BOB REED, ROBERT RICHARDSON and BRUCE SANDERSON can get in on the East Jordan reunion in Sicily, or Rome. They all have the same APO number. . . . EARL PARKS is in Sicily too with an AAF squadron. It must be his squadron has about run up its quota of missions for the good word is that Earl may be getting home before too long. Sure hope it's true, Earl. . . . It's Sgt. MERLE POLLIT now. Congratulations, Bill, on the promotion. Drop us a line and tell us if Camp Moxey, Texas changed any while you did your tour of duty at Benning. . . . We have heard about two new sailings this week. Marine BOB MCCARTHY has taken off after the Japs and BILL SCHROEDER is on the Atlantic side of the battle. Bill did a long tour of duty at the Soo and it was some surprise to learn that he had gone. Bob didn't join up until January and don't think he made it home even once before going. Here's luck to the both of you. Write when you can. . . . MARVIN RUSSELL is with a FAFRD Squad at Hammer Field, Fresno, Calif. What does the FAFRD stand for, Marvin? . . . We hear that Corp. KEN MORRIS has gotten quite a lift over in North Africa by finding 1942 Jordan Brand cherries and carrots on the menu. Let's hear more Ken. . . . GEORGE SECORD finds himself doing new work with the Chemical Warfare branch of the service at Camp Liberty, Ala. Enroute through Texas he wangled a lay over and paid his respects to Mexico. Says George "You know — Good Neighbor Policy." He said he was writing at 4:30 a. m. and was just back from the excursion. Are you sure, George, that good neighbor policy requires staying up that late — or — was there something else that might have also been of interest? . . . STUB BOWMAN now calls Camp Barkley, Texas, his headquarters. If any of you fellows there want to find the Sgt. try looking him up in Co. G of an armored Div. that pulled in there recently, or drop me a line and I'll send his address along. . . . Corp. MAURICE KRAEMER takes up his tower control duties at an airfield somewhere in the southwest Pacific. Here's luck to you fellow. Seems like only yesterday you were home here giving us the low-down on your work at the field in Nebraska. . . . The guess we made last week on FRED SULAK was right. He has gone across. Write when you can, Fred. Meanwhile all the luck in the world to you. . . . DON WALTON has finished his paratroop training at Benning and the last word we have on him is that he has taken off on the Atlantic side. It could be that Don is in on the big push in Italy. He surely will have some thrillers to tell when he gets back home. . . . Which reminds us to inquire if anyone has heard from Lt. CECIL GIBBARD recently. He is another paratrooper that is long overdue in reporting in. The last we heard he was in North Africa. . . . The latest dope on PEGGY BURKLAND is that the Lt. is back from her demonstration at Montreal, has wangled a leave, and is spending it in the vicinity of Camp Croft, South Carolina with hubby Al. We don't expect a report during the leave, Peggy, but you might bring us up to date if, as when you report in at Fort Oglethorpe which is what we are told will be the new headquarters. Meanwhile you might get some pride in what another soldier has said of your hubby. As SONNY HOSLER took off for a new assignment at Fort Meade he wrote "I sure hated to say goodbye to AL BURKLAND and I'd like to have you tell Peggy that Al is the best darn soldier in the whole infantry. I'm going to miss him." I'm telling you, Peggy, and I'm also telling the world. The folks back here are mighty tickled to get such good reports. . . . Incidentally Sonny left Camp Croft undefeated and the champ in his class. His new assignment is with the MPs. I was talking with Dinty LaLonde last night about your Sonny. He is mighty pleased at your progress both as a soldier, and a fighter. So are the rest of us. . . . CLIFFORD AYERS didn't have much to report on his activities but the sailing word to take FRANK CROWELL down a peg for his cracks about the navy. Cliff, in fun, speaks of the marines in unprintable language and adds "Please tell that sea going bell hop for me and my ship mates he is still living and making liberts in that high school band uniform, but seriously, they are a swell bunch of fellows, they have to be if they wouldn't be Americans." The only reason I quote such things as Cliff said is to get you fellows talking. As far as yours truly and the folks back home are concerned, you are all swell guys and your uniforms are all tops. Confidentially we think the marine uniform is pretty snappy even if the sailors do think otherwise. . . . A letter dated Aug. 14th has just come through from CLEM STANEK in New Guinea. He reports himself in good shape, and spirits, even though the payroll Sgt. hasn't caught up with them since May. The boys down there are living a plenty rugged life says Clem, no recreation except a movie and even that is a rare luxury. Even so their first interest is getting the war over with. From latest reports they are doing a swell job. . . . DALE GEE wishes he could tell us what he is doing in Canada but can't get by the censor. He figures on making it back to the States before too long. Maybe you can make it home, Dale. You haven't had a furlough since you went in last December. . . . You fellows who make Chicago and have any time at all are invited to look Sgt. GAYLE SEXTON up at the YMCA at 501 North Central Ave. He rooms there and puts in his time as the Sgt. in charge of all ROTC at Austin High. The only sailor I know of in Chicago, Joe, is FOREST ROGERS. He is in Co. 28 — Sec. E — Billet 108 — Navy Pier. FRANK CROWELL's cracks got a rise out of Joe too. He said "Yeh! Frank goes all the way out for the marines. That's natural. That's what makes them the fightingest bunch of men that they are." . . . Here's another quote from JOHNNY SKROCKI's letter. "We are in the Oregon desert on maneuvers preparing. I hope, to go across as replacements. This desert is a place of great contrasts. In the day the sun beats down with the fierce intensity of molten iron, the thick choking alkali dust sweeps along in great clouds covering everything with a grey mantle. The dry unburned land is covered with sagebrush and juniper bushes and rolls along in an unending sameness. At night the stars come out with a clear, cold humanic unknown in the east. The bitter cold wind whines through the sage freezing the morning washing water in our battle helmets, and the coyotes howl their hunting cry through the darkness. Decidedly an unpleasant place to be. Please give my regards to all my friends in East Jordan. Tell them I'll be back when Victory is ours." You know, Johnny, such words as "mantle," etc., make me wonder. But I'm not going to wonder out loud lest maybe I discourage you from trying the same thing again. It really was a swell letter. Perfect — and despite its elegance — we do know for sure that it does say pretty well just how you feel about the whole thing. . . . BOB REED wrote from Sicily on Aug. 17th. Those fellows who are actually in action can't say much — but — still it's good to get word that they are well. Thanks for writing, Bob. We will hold you to your promise of a full report when you get a chance. . . . TOMMY HITCHCOCK at Fort Riley, Kansas (an old cavalry base) is what he calls a Remington Rough Rider," or in other words a student clerk. The training involves obstacle courses and plenty of other rough work so it isn't all the hunt and peck it might sound like. His platoon is the best looking outfit in the troop. Congratulations, Tommy. Come again when you can. . . . MURRAY NELSON is still on his Pacific Island and still censoring mail. Because of that he knows better than to even try to tell us what, where or how. He does say though that his outfit has seen quite a few of the latest movies such as Broadway Melodies of 1943, Take a Letter Darling, Arsenic and Old Lace, etc. Don't think those shows have even made the first run theatres yet. Thanks for writing Sgt. Try it again. . . . ABE COHN reports himself hale and hearty and still trying to locate someone from here in that area. Wish I knew how to help, Abe. The three sacred thing, women, pigs and gardens, which the natives hold untouchable, is interesting, particularly because, with meat rationing and all, plus a little imagination, such things could be almost as sacred here. —Of course our Women have always been that. Sailor REX 'JEEP' GIBBARD says "When they start daily service out here where I am I promise to write you every day, and I'm not just beating my gums either," and, "Would you be so kind, as to drop a line in the paper and remind SAM ROGERS that my address hasn't changed and that I would like to hear from the old land lubber." Thanks for writing, Jeep. You are fairly safe on that daily letter business — but — we would settle for a monthly letter if you can get your ship to stop rolling long enough for that. . . . It apparently took BRUCE BARTLETT'S wife to jar him loose. They report she arrived safely in Texas and they are, of course, again in the clouds. Just now Bruce is working in the office of the squadron Commander at Midland, but he kind of expects a transfer back to the line which, I think, means servicing the planes that the navigator trainees use for training. Am I right Bruce? . . . LUELLE NELSON ERSKINE (sister of Murray and Al) was so pleased that she was still considered an East Jordan girl that she promptly wrote to give us the dope on SPAR training. About 2000 of them are quartered in the Biltmore Hotel at Palm Beach, six to a room. From her description I would guess that they do about the same things you fellows who were boots did. She thinks the SPARS can take over a lot of shore jobs and release the men for sea duty, and "that's why I enlisted," says she. Thanks for writing, Luella. Your Mom and Pop are mighty proud of you. So are we all. . . . Another Coast Guard, MARION HUDKINS, tried his hand at writing.

His work is apt to take him most any place on convoy. One trip he freezes, the next roasts. He thinks that almost all of the convoy work is Coast Guard and while he doesn't want to discredit the Navy one bit — he is of the opinion that the Sea Going Coast Guards are deserving of just as much publicity, & credit for the dangerous jobs they do as the navy gets for their work. We think so too, Marion. His ship is out for 40 days at a lick and is apt to take off for most any place. He wanted to be sure and say hello to BILL SIMMONS, BOB CROWELL, BUD and FRANK STREHL, BUD HITE, STUB BOWMAN, JACK REUTER, TOM BREAKKEY, ROY HOTT, and all the rest of his buddies that he used to get into deviltry with back home here, and, to tell them he hasn't much time to write but he does think of all of them often. . . . Lt. BILL SWOBODA reported in at Camp Pendleton, Cal. on the 14th of last month. The luxury of new barracks and officers' quarters is really something after the wilds of North Carolina says Bill. Sure hope you can look up the rest of our marines out that way. If you do you can at least talk over with them the good old hunting and fishing days even though you can't try your hand at it. If you go across soon, as you expect, Bill, let us know beforehand, and as you go just remember the old home town is pulling for you and your buddies one hundred percent. . . . This past week must have been Nelson week. Sgt. AL is the third to report in. He is in Morocco, Africa but says nary a word of his activities. "Peace time chatter" is what he called his writing. His letter was in the form of a travelogue telling of his experiences with the Caid (Ruler and Mr. It over about 10,000 Arabs). He was invited to a Duffa (a dinner party) at the Caid's house. He said the five officers in his party were the Caid's first American guests and they were received in regal fashion. The party was staged in a round tent, the floor covered with thick rugs, cushions and silk pillows around the edges, etc. The meal was served on low tables with the diners sitting on the cushions. The only utensil was one knife per table to make the first cut of meat. The meal consisted of a lot of courses which were served in the following order, a quarter of lamb covered with bits of liver, a 3 foot in diameter chicken pie with a honey crust, baked whole chicken (6 chickens per 7 guests covered with small patties of egg, pepper and almonds, stewed fruit with a honey sauce Kous-kous (a small grain similar to rice baked in meat broth with fruit and nuts and eaten by rolling into small round balls), grapes, melons and mint tea. No woman or girls were at the party and Al didn't get knocked down to any of the Caid's four wives. All in all it was real adventure you had, Al. Thanks for writing about it.

Ordinarily I do this job on Sunday. Since Labor Day followed I decided to get in one day of fishing before the season closed and so did that yesterday and am writing this on Monday. I had fair luck and just now am kind of anxious to get up the hill and sample the 12 inches that hopped in my basket. Until next week it's, as always, Good luck and So Long.

PENINSULA...

(Edited by Mrs. E. Hayden)

Whiting Park is entirely deserted by campers, the earliest ever.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Russell of Ridgeway Farms motored to Traverse City Monday to attend the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Erber and little son of Boyne City spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Will MacGregor at Whiting Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Healey of Far View farm spent last week on a motor trip to southern Michigan visiting relatives.

Mrs. Elmer Olstrom and children of Three Bells Dist. spent Tuesday evening with the F. K. Hayden family at Pleasant View farm.

Another of those very popular bingo parties was held at the Star Community Building, Saturday evening, with a record crowd in attendance.

Young Master Kowalski of Boyne Falls spent the week end with his sister, Mrs. Raymond Lachinski at Willow Brook farm tennant house.

Mrs. Derby Hayden and sons Joe, Richard and Danney of east of Boyne City, picked beans at Pleasant View farm Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Loomis of Gravel Hill, north side, are the first to report finishing their string bean harvest, which has been an immense yield.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Stibbitts Sr. and Mrs. Earl Stibbitts of Traverse City, visited Mrs. Karl Stibbitts father, Geo. Staley at Stoney Ridge farm and attended the Whiting Park picnic.

A. B. Nicloy of Sunny Slopes farm dragged out the old company threshing machine, Friday and threshed for "Bob" Jarman at Gravel Hill, south side and Charles Arnott of Maple Row farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dietz and son Clare of Spring Lake, spent Labor Day with Mrs. Dietz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. D. McDonald and family in Three Bells Dist., and other relatives.

Mrs. Edna Reich Kitson and Mrs. Erma Kitson Reich of Detroit came up Saturday to visit their respective families, the A. Reich's at Lone Ash farm and the Ralph Kitson family near Deer Lake over Labor Day.

Mrs. Bell Wangeman, who has been with her son Lyle Wangeman and family at the Pine Lake Golf Course for several weeks, returned to the southern part of the state, Wednesday.

Anyone who saw the aurora Monday evening had an awe inspiring treat. Although it was the dark of the moon the whole sky was a blaze of light. I can't ever remember of watching the sight from a south window before.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Perry of Boyne City, who have been in Lansing where Mr. Perry has been employed on a paving job since early spring, but which is finished, were calling on relatives and friends on the Peninsula, Thursday evening, also on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Reich of Lone Ash farm had a family dinner at their home Labor Day before attending the picnic at Whiting Park. Besides their immediate family those present were Mrs. Edna Kitson of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leshar and family of Petoskey.

Mrs. Jamison of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, who has been visiting her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crane at Cedar Lodge, for some weeks, returned to her home last week, as did Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Little, their daughter, and their son Charles Wm. of Royal Oak, who was also there.

Master Stewart Hayden, who has been at Orchard Hill with his grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Hayden, and uncle Cash Hayden, since June 9, returned to his home in Dearborn, Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Will Ward and family who made a trip to Charlevoix Saturday night and returned Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. James Earl of Charlevoix went to Boyne City Sunday and got Mr. and Mrs. David Gaunt, who have been with Mrs. Martha Earl in Boyne City several weeks to Charlevoix. Enroute they called on the Wm. Gaunt and Robert Myers families on the Peninsula. Mr. and Mrs. David Gaunt will visit Mr. and Mrs. Earl and other relatives in Charlevoix for a while.

Mrs. Floyd Davis (Mildred Healey) and daughter Miss Jeanie of Manistee came Wednesday to visit her brother, Clayton Healey and family at Willow Brook. Mr. Davis came Saturday and they all visited relatives in Boyne City. They plan to return home Tuesday, taking Miss Joan Davis who has been helping with the housework at Willow Brook farm for several weeks, back with them. While here Miss Joan has made many friends among the young people and spent a pleasant vacation, besides lending a helping hand in a pinch.

The Victory Garden display and the 4-H Garden Display at the Labor Day picnic at Whiting Park, were fine indeed, and the 4-H Calf show was splendid as was the entertainment number, but what was the most enlightening feature was the talk by Mr. Wilson McDonald of Petoskey, on milkweed floss. I, for one, could not realize what has been a pest for 50 years can possibly come to be so useful. A little history may be interesting: Along about 1873 two plants of milkweed came up at the Ezra Fletcher home, which is now Willow Brook farm, owned and occupied by Clayton Healey for their dairy. The blossoms were so much admired for their beauty of color and fragrance, which in small quantities is very pleasing, the seeds were very carefully saved and the Hayden family, which had come from Gratiot County in October, 1871, planted them very generously at Hayden Point, only to have them come to be a pest. The workings of nature is beyond understanding. It may not be too much to hope for to find a use, for wild carrot, white daisies, wild asters, wild mustard, which are such a pest now. One advantage of milkweed it grows and bears its pods the first year or it may take the second year from planting the seed.

800 Uniform Laws Aid Close Interstate Action

More than 800 uniform laws designed to facilitate interstate action are now on statute books in 48 states as a result of half a century of activity. More than 80 of the 800 laws were added this year by legislatures of the various states, and more are pending.

Many of the 65 different uniform laws are to facilitate business and trade, which were hampered by statutory differences in the past, others pertain to social questions and some laws have been adopted this year to deal with wartime problems.

While the outstanding adoption of a uniform law has been the Negotiable Instruments act, enacted by all 48 states, at least 40 states have enacted the Veterans' Guardianship act. By 1942 at least 18 states had passed the Simultaneous Death act, and with the enacting of the law in 13 more states this year, over half the states now have this provision.

Every uniform law has been adopted by at least one state; some of them have been enacted by 30 or more states. For example, the Declaratory Judgments act and the Stock Transfer acts are now on the books in 34 and 35 states, respectively. Other uniform laws which have been adopted extensively concern such subjects as execution of wills, use of drugs, transfer of property, desertion and nonsupport.

Here Are Eleven Rules For Preserving Linens

If you want to sleep on bed sheets or dry your face with a towel for the duration of the war, you'd better mend your ways! Needs of the armed forces and our allies threaten to deplete stocks of material for work garments, towels, sheets and napery unless extreme care is taken to preserve present supplies. Among the rules recommended by linen suppliers for any time are:

Avoid all stains to tablecloths by putting smaller portions on plates and sitting closer to the table; use bedspreads to protect bed linens and blankets; dry towels before putting them in the clothes hamper. This prevents transfer of stains, mildew and incubation of disease germs.

If you wear a work uniform, be sure you get the right size. Ill-fitting garments are torn easily; don't hang uniforms or dresses on nails. Use hangers; don't use towels for wiping sinks, stoves, furniture, machinery; remove nail polish and lipstick with facial tissue, not towels.

Wash and rinse your hands thoroughly before using a towel; wash your brow before you mop it. Perspiration injures fabric, water doesn't; don't wipe razors and other sharp instruments on towels; don't pull bath towels back and forth across your body. This weakens fabric in center.

U. S. Produces Citrus Oils

As a result of the war, the oil cells in the rinds of citrus fruits that formerly went to waste are now giving up their contents to supply all the lemon and orange oils that flavor United States foods, beverages and medicines, the department of agriculture reports.

Until 1939, Italy supplied the United States with quantities of these oils. Italian small farmers and farm laborers extracted them, either by scraping the rind surface with a spoon, or by twisting the fruit against ridges set within a funnel—a sort of orange juice extractor in reverse—catching the oil from the ruptured cells as it trickled down the spout.

When war cut off shipping from Italy, citrus distributors here began to produce more citrus oil and by-products—usually expelling them from the rinds in hydraulic cold presses after the pulp had been removed.

Thin With Vegetable Water

Soups are always enjoyed especially during the winter months. In the warmer months, jellied consommés and bouillions are particularly appealing. We can use vegetable water in both of these types, either when making the soup at home or in serving the commercially canned concentrated soups. Instead of using plain tap water to thin the soup, add vegetable cooking water and increase the nutritive value.

Vegetable beverages have become increasingly popular in recent years, and many of these can be made at home by combining the liquid from cooked vegetable with tomato juice and seasoning to taste. A little experimentation many times gives surprising results. In making such mixtures, remember that parsley adds greatly to the flavor.

Flea Beetles Garden Menace

Most common of the many kinds of flea beetles are the black ones, about the size of a pinhead. As they are small, gardeners seldom notice them until they have done much damage by eating leaves. They feed on both the upper and lower sides of the foliage.

They make up in numbers what they lack in size, and riddle the leaves with small holes. Injured leaves turn yellow or brown and dry. Young plants may be severely stunted or killed. Tomato, potato, eggplant, and pepper are favorites of the flea beetle, and cauliflower, broccoli, cabbage, radish and other plants are often injured.

FATS DO MORE THAN PAD RIBS

Fats do more than pad a human's ribs and even though food fats are scarce the cook and the consumer can aid the war effort by understanding the function of food fats and how to conserve them, according to home economics extension specialists at MSC.

Weight for weight, fats supply more than twice as much body fuel as any other kind of food. Foods that have fat in their make-up include cream, fat meats and fat fish, soybeans, nuts, nut butters, egg yolk and cheese. The fuel that the body derives from such food fats gives energy to keep the worker on the job, as well as keeping the body warm.

Cooking heat must remain low when fats are melted in the frying pan. According to home economics information, when fat starts to smoke it is losing some of its valuable energy as well as flavor and keeping qualities.

Some processed fats keep well at room temperature, but most fats, such as those poured from a frying pan, should be kept cool. The leftover cooking fats spoil more rapidly than new fats.

Many housewives follow the suggested wartime process of salvaging waste fats, using some necessary in cooking, but turning in the excess for salvage. Such salvaged fat goes into munitions, the college specialists point out.

Fatty trimmings, such as those from good beef or ham, can wind up in a bean pot.

You Can't Tell 'Em Like This 'n Use A Want Ad

How Tom Dewey won the 1943 endorsement of the Native Sons of Eagle Harbor in Keweenaw county, and how Ping Foster rose to legendary glory as a hunting guide in the Michigan Copper Country were related to us the other day by Homer Guck.

Guck, a former $50,000 a year executive for William Randolph Hearst, is Eagle Harbor's most distinguished summer citizen.

He also is a loyal, native son of the Copper Country, having been managing editor of the Houghton Mining Gazette for 12 years and functioning between editions as head of the mining college's English department. He also wrote sundry items for both the Detroit Journal and Detroit News until their state editors discovered the accomplishment. Then fortune smiled at last, and from 1929 to 1936 Guck was published of the Chicago Herald-Examiner.

It was at Eagle Harbor, a picturesque resort in Keweenaw, sleepily existing this summer due to lack of tourists, that we met the colorful newspaper personality. He was effervescent with bubbling humor, a genial gentleman of carefree leisure, as he met us at the blue door of a white cottage, overlooking the harbor, and welcomed us graciously inside.

"Have you heard the story of how the Native Sons of Eagle Harbor endorsed Tom Dewey?" he asked. We had not.

"No?" — he seemed disappointed — "well, you should know about it. The story appeared in the New York Herald-Tribune, Knox's Chicago Daily News, Pulitzer's St. Louis Post-Dispatch and several downstate newspapers of Michigan.

"Some of the natives gathered, Fourth of July morning, on the steps of the Foley and Smith general store. The conversation centered on Tom Dewey. I decided to organize the Native Sons of Eagle Harbor Club and to have the club endorse Dewey for President, using the sentimental idea that Tom's grandfather had once run a newspaper in Eagle Harbor, years ago. I even sent the story to the Los Angeles Times, whom we designated as our Pacific coast representative. Among our sponsors were Walter F. Gries (Nogaunee resident who is chairman of the state welfare commission) and Thomas Uren, Thomas Parks and William E. King."

And here was the piece de resistance of reputed historical lore, around which the Dewey story was fabricated:

The paternal grand-sire of Tom Dewey acquired a newspaper press in Detroit, shipped it by boat through the Soo to Eagle Harbor, and published a newspaper there one winter, many years ago.

By spring the elder Dewey became discouraged, and despite the friendly assistance of Horace Greeley who used to assist him with his editorials, Dewey decided to return to the Lower Peninsula.

"And so he put his printing press on the first boat," concluded Guck, "and sent it back to Detroit from where it was taken overland by wagon to Owosso. And there, as far as I know, the press is still running!"

Guck chuckled as he detailed, as a perpetrator of waggish humor, how the story had caught on.

Although the Keweenaw natives had agreed that Dewey was their presidential choice (Guck admits he still had a Wilkie button around somewhere), the account of Grandfather Dewey's printing press at Eagle was purely and intentionally fictional, as the Dewey family at Owosso has since verified. George Dewey, the grandfather, left a sedate principalship at Niles to publish the Hastings Banner, a weekly journal. His two sons, George J. Dewey and Edward O. Dewey, later went to Owosso where they founded the Times and set precedence by becoming respectable Republican bosses in Shiawassee county.

A few years ago Guck conceived the capricious idea of building a bridge from Eagle Harbor to Isle Royale. He proposed facetiously that the structure should be built with WPA money and labor, and to this day the joke is being taken seriously by some of the Keweenaw natives who insist that the bridge just couldn't be put together. Why, it would be 30 miles long!

In a mellow mood of reminiscence, the ex-Chicago newspaper publisher told us about Ping Foster.

Ping, a hunting guide for many Houghton business men, (I raise my gun, and ping! down goes the bird) did not appear at his hunting camp one fall. When the word reached Guck, who then was managing editor of the Houghton newspaper, the latter instructed Pat Cook, an enterprising reporter, to prepare a story headed, "Where is Ping Foster?"

Th mystery grew as the winter lengthened, and it was not until the first boat returned from Isle Royal, whence it traveled traditionally on St. Patrick's Day, that the news reached Guck's desk how the missing

Ping had spent the entire winter snowbound with a trapper friend, the two men alone together, on the big island near Canada.

"I sends Pat down to find Ping, and to get the story," related Guck. "Pat takes Ping over to the Douglass House bar, and he gets a wonderful yarn. It seems that Ping and his friend had spent a most remarkable winter. One day they had venison, the next day duck, the next day partridges, the next day some brook trout. Everything went along fine until Ping notices, one morning, that his side was starting to swell, like a rubber balloon. He recalls how he had been operated on, the previous year, for appendicitis. The swelling keeps getting worse, and Ping's belly grows bigger and bigger, until finally he tells his friend to get out a hunting knife and to operate.

"Not me," says his partner, "I don't want to be convicted of murder. You would die, and I wouldn't have a witness to prove my innocence." "All right," replies Ping. "I'll do it myself!" And so he sharpened a spike to the fine sharp edge of a needle, packs the swollen side of his body with cakes of ice, and punctures his side with the spike. The freezing serves as an anesthetic, and in time Ping gets well.

"I reads Pat's story and smiles until I get down to the part where Ping freezes himself and sticks his side with a nail," Pat, says I, "You've got to cut out that nonsense. You've gone too far."

"Pat looks at me in disappointment and replies, 'Sorry, boss, but it's too late. I queried the New York Times and the Chicago Tribune on the news, and each paper asked me to send 500 words. I sent them a half hour ago. You wouldn't want the Gazette to be scooped on its own story, would you?'" And so the tale was printed. It is a Copper Country classic.

It is a bit of factual Houghton history that Ping Foster, while serving as a hunting guide for the late William G. Rice, publisher of the Gazette, was caught red-handed with eight partridges in his possession at Otter Lake before the season opened one fall.

St. Clair Willson, the game warden, took Ping to Justice of Peace Little's court upstairs on Isle Royale street. When Judge Little, haughty as the chief justice of a supreme court, asked Ping how he was going to plead, guilty or not guilty, Ping rises and astounds the packed courtroom: "Your honor, I plead insanity."

Later it was revealed that the unconventional plea had been suggested to the uniformed woodsman by Mr. Rice himself, who had once been a lawyer and who, incidentally, paid Ping's fine of $8 a bird. It was Bill Rice's $64 joke.

When a retired metropolitan newspaper publisher, fortified with savings from a $50,000 a year salary, selects a scenic end-of-the-road as Eagle Harbor to spend his summers, his creative talents must find a public outlet of expression.

If you read in the press one of these days that the Native Sons of Eagle Harbor propose to put 10,000 unemployed miners to work, after the

THE 3rd WAR LOAN DRIVE STARTS —TO BACK THE INVASION!

3RD WAR LOAN

15 BILLION DOLLARS
(NON-BANKING QUOTA)

What you will be asked to do—

MARK WELL the date—Thursday, September 9th. For on that day, you must answer to your country's call.

On that day, the 3rd War Loan Drive opens. To you—and to every other true American—a clarion call goes forth to rally to the support of our flag.

You will be asked to back our fighting forces to the very limit of your resources. You will be asked to go ALL-OUT FOR INVASION by investing in EXTRA War Bonds—more War Bonds than you perhaps think you can possibly afford.

To meet the national quota, every individual in the country who earns a wage or draws an income or has accumulated funds must invest, if he possibly can, in at least one EXTRA $100 War Bond. Those who can, must invest more—thousands of dollars' worth more. Each and every one must do his full part.

Scrape up the money from every source you can... turn in all the loose cash you carry with you... dig out what you had tucked away "just in case." Go without pleasures, luxuries, even necessities this September. And give our fighting men the things they need to fight with—and win.

These men are throwing everything they have into this fierce invasion push. They are giving their blood, their lives. No one can put a price on such courage, self-sacrifice, devotion. But you can show you're with them to the limit! You can say it with Bonds... EXTRA Bonds this month.

World's Safest Investments

For this 3rd War Loan, you will be offered your choice of various government securities. Choose the one that fits your requirements.

United States War Savings Bonds Series "E"; gives you back $4 for every $3 when the bond matures. Interest: 2.9% a year, compounded semi-annually, if held to maturity. Denominations: $25, $50, $100, $500, $1,000. Redemption: Anytime 60 days after issue date. Price: 75% of maturity value.

2½% Treasury Bonds of 1964-1969; readily marketable, acceptable as bank collateral. Redeemable at par and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying Federal estate taxes. Dated September 15, 1943; due December 15, 1969. Denominations: $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $100,000 and $1,000,000. Price: par and accrued interest.

Other securities: Series "C" Savings Notes; ½% Certificates of Indebtedness; 2% Treasury Bonds of 1951-1953; United States Savings Bonds series "F"; United States Savings Bonds series "G".

ISRAEL MARCHES TOWARD CANAAN

LESSON TEXT—Numbers 10:11, 12, 29-36.
GOLDEN TEXT—Come thou with us, and we will do thee good.—Numbers 10:29.

There is a time to wait before God, to be instructed and prepared for holy living. There is also a time for action. When God says, "Move forward," His people are to arise and be on their way.

Israel, who had now been more than a year on the way from Egypt to Canaan, had been resting for a time at Mt. Sinai, there receiving instruction and being organized into a nation. They had set up a place of worship in their midst, and now they were ready to go on. That is God's will for His people. They are to

I. Move Toward the Goal (vv. 11, 12).

God had a schedule. He wanted them to move forward on a certain day (v. 11). Since the Jewish religious year, referred to here, began with the spring equinox, this was about the middle of May. The dry season was ahead—a good time to travel.

Those who think the purposes of God for men are nebulous and uncertain, and that He has no real plan for us, are obviously mistaken. His plan is good and acceptable and perfect; let us find and follow it.

We do not have a pillar of cloud and fire to move before us. We do not need it, for we, unlike the Israelites, have God's Word for our guide, and His Holy Spirit as the One who will tell every responsive soul when and where to go.

The important thing is to obey, promptly and willingly, and we shall have the blessing of God.

II. Bring Others With You (vv. 29-32).

Those who go up to the promised land should not go alone, they should bring others with them.

Moses, who had been in touch with the family of his father-in-law (known both as Jethro and Raguel or Reuel), now sees the value of having with him his brother-in-law, who was so acquainted with the great and terrible wilderness through which they were to pass that he could be invaluable as a guide and helper.

In giving him the invitation, however, Moses stressed the opposite thought—that it would be good for Hobab if he came with them. "That was doubtless true, but it was not the right approach.

Men do not respond to the opportunity for advantage in spiritual things as readily as to the challenge to usefulness. The motive of acquisition is strong, but the best folk are not as interested in what they can get as what they can give.

The church may stress too much its value as a place of refuge and not enough the unparalleled opportunity it affords for sacrificial service.

When Moses changed his plea and revealed his need of Hobab, the response was immediate. He had thus won a friend and a helper.

III. Follow God's Guidance (vv. 33-36).

God gave special guidance on this occasion. The ark which commonly was found in the midst of the people, now moved out before them.

It was the symbol of God's presence. As they went out into the wilderness (which Deut. 1:19 calls "great and terrible") it was as though God Himself went before them.

Is not this always true? The "Captain of Our Salvation," Jesus Christ, is not One who tarries in safety at the rear and sends up orders for us to attack life's problems. He goes before us!

The pillar of cloud hovered over the people as though to give them shelter from the beating sun of the desert. God is mindful of the road His people must travel, and in His loving-kindness provides for their protection and care.

In our day there are many who are tempted to question whether God knows of their trials and afflictions. He does, and He will not permit them to be tried beyond their ability to bear it.

When the ark went forward, their leader, Moses, addressed God in the stirring words of verse 35. The people whose God is the Lord may count on Him to scatter their enemies.

All of human life is often a journey or a battle, and either it is both. We must arise and make valiant war against the forces of evil if we are to move forward for God. But we must recall that our foes, as Christians, are also God's foes.

The battle is not ours, but God's, and we do well to call on Him to rise up and smite the enemy.

Note that after the forward march came a time of rest. God always gives His people an opportunity for needed rest.

JUST SUSPECTED

As he was squeezing through the narrow space to his seat in the circus, the awkward man turned to a grim-looking woman. "Pardon me, madam," he said, "but did I tread on your foot?" "I think you must have done it," was the curt reply; "all the elephants are still in the ring!"

Boy's Choice
Son—Can I have any kind of sea food I like?
Mother—Yes, dear. What shall I order for you?
Son—Salt-water taffy.

That's Where
Doctor—So you are sick, my boy. And where do you feel the pain the worst?
Boy—Boo hoo! In school, sir.

Recipe for social success—Never open your mouth unless you have nothing to say.

Worth Consideration
Artist—I'll give you five dollars if you'll let me paint you.
Old Mountaineer—Wal, I dunno. Artist—It's easy money.
O. M.—Hain't no question 'bout that. I wuz jes' a-wonderin' how I'd git the paint off afterwards.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Experience shows that tire failures during the four hot months from June to September average 20 per cent higher than during the rest of the year.

Rubber sheeting should be washed with soap and warm water, thoroughly rinsed and then cleaned with a 5 per cent solution of caustic to get the longest service out of the rubber. Roll, don't fold, when not in service.

The granddad of the present-day raincoat, the Macintosh, was patented in England in 1823 by Charles Macintosh, of Glasgow, Scotland.

In our day there are many who are tempted to question whether God knows of their trials and afflictions. He does, and He will not permit them to be tried beyond their ability to bear it.

When the ark went forward, their leader, Moses, addressed God in the stirring words of verse 35. The people whose God is the Lord may count on Him to scatter their enemies.

But for Courage, Henpeck Might Never Have Known
Desperately in need of 50 cents, Mr. Henpeck finally got up enough courage to open his pay envelope before taking it home to his exacting wife. Somewhat mystified at what he found therein, he hurried back to the cashier who had given him the envelope.

"You've given me ten dollars too much, I'm afraid," he stammered. The cashier counted the bills and coins, then replied impatiently: "It's quite correct. I suppose you've forgotten that you got a ten-dollar raise last month."

Mr. Henpeck placed his hand across his eyes, shrank into his collar still farther, and said faintly: "My wife never told me."

Household Hints

If you have a zipper that is zipping stiffly, zip it up and rub the lead of a pencil up and down the center of it rather furiously. The graphite in the lead "oils" the mechanism and you will notice an immediate easiness in the way it works. Wipe the excess graphite from the zipper.

When the linoleum is particularly soiled, put a few drops of kerosene in the pail when washing it up.

Fiber brooms are often more expensive than broomcorn but they will last longer and wear more evenly. Fiber may be washed, too, or used with water, while water is harmful to broomcorn. Keep brooms clean and hang them on hooks when not in use.

When cutting a large onion with the intention of using just part of it, cut it so the remaining piece contains the root. Then the onion will not dry out so soon and may be saved until used.

The old practice of pouring water in holes in cement to clean out all dirt is not as simple as blowing it out with a hand tire pump.

Crab grass, one of the most troublesome lawn pests, is an annual weed and can be destroyed by constant mowing. This prevents it from seeding itself. Rake well before cutting to make the plants stand up so that seed heads will be cut off.

Avoid starch if the linens are to be put away for a length of time. Starch is inclined to make the linen crack. Fold away unstarched and wrap in blue paper to prevent yellowing.

Press most rayon fabrics when slightly damp. Spun rayons look best if ironed when almost dry. Press garments on the wrong side with a moderately warm iron using smooth, even pressure.

LOOKING BACKWARD

From the Herald Files of Forty, Thirty and Twenty Years Ago
Compiled by Mrs. Mabel Secord

While gathering data for the Chad-dock district story I resolved to delve into the LaLonde family history. I had never been able to sort them out but there was a good reason. An interview with Jack revealed the family had a habit of using the same name in the various branches. There were five Josephs, three Marys, and two each, Augustus, Eliza and Proebe. In the third generation there were two Fabians but "Curly Joe's" Fabian was always called "Dandy."

Three brothers, Joseph, Moses, and Supley LaLonde came here from Canada in the early 70's. Another brother, Augustus, remained in Canada but three of his sons, Duell, Joseph (Curly Joe), and Fred settled here. The second 'Fabian' was Duell's son. Moses had twelve children: Moses, Jr., Joseph, Augustus, Thomas, Eliza, Agnes (Mitchell), Jennie (Holben), Phoebe (John Duford), Nancy (Morrison), Hattie (Stanley Bush), Mary (first husband, William Renard; second, Charles Murphy). Supley had ten children: Angelina (Paul Duford), Mary (John McTavish), Katie (Arthur Ward), Supley, Jr. (first wife, Amelia Metz; second, Pauline Addis), Frank ("Dinty's" father), Joseph, Richard, Augustus, Andrew and William.

Joseph had three children: Joseph, Jr., John and Phoebe. Following his death Mrs. LaLonde married Oliver Hart, their children being Moses, Ector and Edgar (twins), Oliver, Jr., Mary (Ashland Bowen), Eliza, and Anna.

Note: In the issue for August 27 I accused the editor of getting the site of the new coopeage wrong. When I turned to the issue to be culled for this one I found the Company really did choose a site down by Mill B. When they started work they found it was underlaid with marl so a stable foundation was impossible. The East Jordan Lumber Company offered them a site south of town, donating ten acres of it to the Grief Manufacturing Company. Work on the buildings was to begin September 14 and part of the plant was expected to begin operations by November 1.

At a special meeting of the Board of Trade a communication was read concerning a canning factory. Quot-

Report to Room 13 — New Build-

A Substitute for Hell

Somewhere in New Guinea these wounded soldiers await evacuation. Flat on their backs, in the steaming heat of the jungle, where mosquitoes plague the air and ants and mosquitoes torment weary bodies, they dream of home . . . of clean white sheets and the touch of cool, comforting hands. You can help provide modern hospitals and the medicines they need for their recuperation by putting every dollar you can into War Bonds during the Third War Loan.

Paris' "Laughing Laundress." As the knife fell on the neck of pretty Marie Giraut, the merry washerwoman who had caused the death of scores of unborn children and expectant mothers, she shocked her executioners with a last grim wisecrack. Read about this unholy killer in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Sunday Chicago Herald-American.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Good morning, Doc. Your good wife tells me you're working night and day now that so many of the younger doctors are in the army."
"That's right, Judge, and I'm glad I'm still able to do it. Had a long letter from Harry... that bright young fellow I was breakin' in to take over my practice. He said the boys in the service are getting the best medical care of any armed force in our history. They really should with all those brilliant doctors and plenty of supplies to work with."
"Speaking of supplies, Doc, not many people realize that a large part of the war-alcohol required to make the medical supplies that are being used right this minute to alleviate pain, combat infection and save human lives, is produced by the beverage distilling industry. This entire industry stopped making whiskey months ago and has been working night and day producing nothing but war-alcohol."

"Nobody knows better than I, Judge, what an important contribution to our war effort that really is."
