E. J. Band Presents Winter Concert

AT H. S. GYM THIS FRIDAY NIGHT. ADMISSION FREE

The East Jordan School Band, under the direction of Don Winkle, will give their first concert of the year this Friday night, Feb. 11, at 8:15 p. m.

Mr. Winkle and the members of the band are planning a wide variety of music for the occasion—solos, trios, a swing sax quartet and the Majorettes are among the specialties on the program.

The boys and girls have been working very hard, in order to put on a really fine performance. Those who have heard this group are high in their praise on the improvement. The Band members hope that there will be a large attendance from the community, so that they can see what this organization is accomplishing.

There will be no charge for admission to the concert. Bonds and stamps will be sold before the concert and during the intermission for those desiring to help out in the FOURTH WAR LOAN DRIVE, and to aid the school in reaching their quota of $5,000.

Elmer Hott Wins Sweepstakes

AWARD AT STATE SHOW. LEE SNEATHEN AGAIN NEAR TOP

When it comes to potatoes, Charlevoix County's outstanding exhibitors again came through with flying colors. At the recent State Seed Show held in connection with Farmer's Week, Elmer Hott of East Jordan won the sweepstakes award on his peck of Chippewas. Local farmers who saw the show reported that it was easily the best peck exhibited. He also won first on his bushel of Chippewas.

Lee Sneathen of Charlevoix came within one place of winning two prizes but had to be content with seconds in both the peck and bushel of Russet Rurals. These two exhibitors along with those from Dickinson and Emmet Counties dominated the Potato Show.

Other winners were Harry Benning of Boyne City and William Shepard of East Jordan who won fifth places in Cobblers and Chippewas respectively. In the 4-H Club competition the Boyne Falls club won third. Within the club exhibits Eddie and Henry Salisz won B awards, while Felix Brown, Ralph Harmon and Walter Kondrat were placed in the C group.

Among folks from Charlevoix County who attended the Farmer's Week were K. C. Festerling, District 4-H Club Leader, Percy Penfold, Manager of the East Jordan Creamery, William Petts of Boyne City, Clayton Healey, Ray Loomis, and Art Nicloy from East Jordan and Joe Leu of Charlevoix. All report a big crowd, wonderful programs, and a most enjoyable time.

MARRIAGES

Maze — Rude

(From Muskegon Chronicle, Feb. 1.) In a candlelight service in the First Congregational church, Monday, Jan. 31, Miss Vivian L. Maze, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gail D. Maze, 1938 Jiroch street, and Lt. Arthur M. Rude, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rude of East Jordan were wedded.

Dr. Samuel N. Oliver, pastor, read the service at 7:30 p. m. before the altar, decorated with palms, gladioli and snapdragons. Robert E. Sheets, organist at Samuel Lutheran church played.

New Owners At Temple Theatre

DREWS HAVE DEVELOPED THE THEATRE IN PAST YEARS. CONTINUE AT RECREATION

THE DREWS ANNOUNCE

Dear Friends: It is with reluctance that Mrs. Drew and myself have relinquished our interest in the Temple Theatre. During the past eleven years it has been our endeavor to provide the community and this section with the type of theatre and the calibre of entertainment in which you would find pleasure and in which we all could take some measure of pride. That this policy has met your approval is evidenced by the numerous improvements and constant modernization your generous patronage has made possible.

Of even more importance has been your friendly loyalty and repeated cooperation. Our school, our business men and our churches have all shared equally in the Temple's advancement. The support of Mr. Wade and our Board of Education have made the presentation of many exceptional productions possible. The co-operation of Rev. J. J. Malinowski and the Catholic Legion of Decency has made possible the elimination of many questionable subjects that usually are forced on both the public and the theatre by block booking practices.

The participation of our business houses has made possible an advertising and drawing area of three counties. And so, to us, the Temple's success has been but the reflection of the East Jordan spirit that made it a reality.

The eleven years that have passed have made East Jordan 'Home' with all that it implies and we have never considered leaving. We expect to devote our future attention to the affairs of the Recreation and trust we will be privileged to participate in the continuing progress of our Community.

Sincerely yours, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Drew

TO PATRONS AND FRIENDS OF THE TEMPLE THEATRE

The new management of the Temple wish to take this means of expressing their appreciation of the friendly spirit with which the people of East Jordan have greeted us.

We also want to thank the Dreads for their invaluable help and advice without which we should have been at a distinct loss.

It shall be our policy to continue in the same plan of furnishing to the community the finest entertainment at the lowest cost, the policy practiced by the Dreads.

We want the people of East Jordan to feel that the Temple is "their theatre" and feel proud of it as they do their fine school and their fine civic spirit.

Yours sincerely, M. N. McDaniel, Lee M. Harte

YOU CAN HEAT YOUR HOUSE WITH SUNLIGHT

One way to beat the coal and oil shortage is to let O' Sol do the heating. Dr. Robert D. Potter, science editor, writing in The American Weekly with this Sunday's (Feb. 13) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times, describes a new house which sunlight helps to heat, and how old houses can easily make use of the same principle. We're Not Yet Over The Top

EAST JORDAN HAS A REAL TASK AHEAD OF IT. WE CAN DO IT

The Fourth War Bond Drive comes to a close next Tuesday, and East Jordan has yet a long way to go. It is possible to go over the top, but it will require hard work and a determination that nothing shall stand in the way of subscribing for additional bonds.

A War Bond is considered the safest financial investment that anyone can make. But that fact is beside the mark. We are in a grim, costly, bloody war. The more and better our equipment, the fewer will be our casualties; the better hospitalization we can give our wounded, the fewer will be our fatalities.

This takes money. The more we loan, the more of our boys will come back. We simply dare not think of the possibility of East Jordan not doing its share — but to do our share means the raising of a lot of money before next Tuesday night.

We are publishing the paper that won third place in the High School contest. It is by Anna Gibbard who has two brothers in the service. We are also publishing an article by Henry Drenth, editor of Reveille on the Jordan. He hears from the boys and he knows what is in their minds.

"BACK THE ATTACK"

The boys on the battle fronts aren't taking time off. They fight every day. We on the home front can't stop fighting either. We can keep the boys fighting by fighting ourselves with War Bonds and Stamps during the Fourth War Loan. "Back The Attack." Do it now, today!

If you want that boy home from the battlefronts for a grand reunion; keep that star in the window shining bright by buying War Bonds and Stamps to help win our total victory. You say that you can't help much because you haven't the money. Buy them anyway because it's the little things that count.

Keep those tanks rolling, ships sailing, planes flying and guns and cannons roaring by "Backing The Attack" with War Bonds and Stamps. A. Gibbard

WHY WE SHOULD BACK THE ATTACK

First let us call to memory a few statements taken from letters received from this communities servicemen and women: "Best of all, it will be nice to see the lights shine again, just think of what it will mean to the people over here"; "I sure would like to get back and see the old home town and all my friends"; and, speaking of England, "It hasn't been hit by the war, it has been slugged."

These few expressions give a small inkling of what these servicemen and women are seeing and thinking, and their reaction to war conditions of other lands.

Another special opportunity to show OUR reaction presents itself now in the FOURTH WAR LOAN DRIVE. Opportunity did we say, yes but more especially duty. When so many letters are received with like expressions as quoted above, it can be nothing short of duty; duty to ourselves, duty to our own immediate kinsfolk and friends in the service, duty to our country and duty to the cause of peace.

Let us then perform this our duty in bringing the quota of the FOURTH WAR LOAN DRIVE over the top.

Henry Drenth, Editor of Reveille on the Jordan.

Temple Highlights

Beginning Friday, Feb. 11, The Temple is offering a bill of unusual interest to all ages.

Friday and Saturday the Radio Favorite, Henry Aldrich in Henry Aldrich Haunts a House, with his Pal Dizzy, undertakes to solve a murder that wasn't committed. Henry and Dizzy get into their usual entangling predicaments and this time hobnob with ghosts and gangsters. If you like Henry and hilarity you have a perfect combination.

Sunday and Monday, Delectable, Dazzling, Deanne Durbin at her best in HIS BUTLERS SISTER. She has every servant at her beck and call but can't hit the right note to her Boss's heart. The Durbin voice at its best presenting a joyous treat of laughs and melody.

Tuesday and Wednesday — Fascinating Franchot Tone and Ella Raines with Alan Curtis in THE PHANTOM LADY. A sensational masterpiece of Mystery. Thrills, Suspense and the Strange story of a New Design for Murder, conceived by the mind of a Madman.

Thursday — Family Nite, The Andrew Sisters with Harriet Hilliard and Peter Cookson in SWINGTIME JOHNNY, a joyous chorus of stars and song. The Andrew Sisters singing and swinging, a strawberry blonde chorus and an all out Jive Jamboree. Your patronage is appreciated and we hope to see you at The Temple.

Ice Rink Soon In Operation

JANUARY THAW CAUSED A MONTHS SETBACK

The ice rink on the school grounds will soon be in operation again. At least a month of good skating has been enjoyed already this season.

Credit for this splendid project is due to Bill Porter and Del Hale whose time and labor have been largely responsible for its success.

It should also be noted that the rink is open to the public and is equipped with lights for evening parties. The buildings from the old rink have been moved to the new location and plans for enlargement and improvements are under discussion.

BOWLING

It looked somewhat like pre-Pearl Harbor the other night at the Recreation with a foursome of Spin Cihak, J. J. Malinowski, Greg Boswell and Joe Nemecek hard at it in a win-lose — round-robin of doubles. Buy an extra bond folks and hurry the return of those days . . . and those boys who are always in our hearts.

Louise Bugai threw in the gauntlet for the Ladies Weekly Hi with her 168 of Sunday evening. Husband Joe looked just a little sheepish when he turned the sheets in . . . but he insists it was only a matter of chivalry!

Hollis Drew subbed for Jerome Sulak as lead off man on the Recreation team last Monday without helping the team any too much . . . they dropped two straight to Baders Standard Oils. Maybe this doesn't prove anything because the Recreations are still leading this round in the Merchants League.

Gordon Sloan is th latest local sensation of the maple lanes with two consecutive weeks of top scores. His easy delivery and good sportsmanship classify him as a regular feller . . . and quite some klegler.

A new match-game team has been organized to continue the Bellaire—East Jordan feud and enter the lists next Sunday. Composed of Hud Summerville, Bob Campbell, Gordon Sloan, Greg Boswell and J. J. Malinowski this team should be formidable opposition to any aggregation this part of the State can muster, and Bellaire had better be forewarned.

The John Porters cleaned out their lockers preparatory to a holiday in sunny Florida. Good bowling and good health, John and Eve, and we'll be awaiting your return.

The Two Revents that Kiley Bader had in his Monday night line-up surely proved that old line about 'living right!' Better look out for these guys they're the toughest kind of opposition. . . they always find the head-pin!

Have you noticed that new-ball shine the Recreation's house-balls have just acquired? It's all due to the Luxor Electric ball-cleaning machine that the management has installed and in from 5 to 10 seconds the dirtiest ball possible to imagine is as clean as the proverbial whistle. Owners of private balls are invited to use this new equipment whenever necessary.

We'll wager our income tax payment against 16 red ration points that there'll be plenty of wood falling next week. . . a flash from Princeton says that Ed Reuling is due home on furlough the first of the week. We still remember those 20 game championship matches between Ed and Mort MacQueen and if there has ever been a better demonstration of sportsmanship and never-say-die spirit we just haven't heard of it!

Farm Income Tax Meetings

AT ROCK ELM AND EAST JORDAN NEXT WEDNESDAY

Wednesday, Feb. 16 — 9:30 a. m. Rock Elm Grange, 1:30 p. m. East Jordan City Bldg.

Thursday, Feb. 17 — 9:30 a. m. Horton Bay Hall, 1:30 p. m. Walloon Lake Comm. Hall.

All reports indicate that farmers are somewhat uncertain about making out their income tax statements this year. The forms are more difficult and do require very accurate information of all income and expense. It is suggested that each farmer list previous to the meeting, all items of income and expense for instance, in the case of income, total the cream, egg, cattle, potato and other crop sales. By the same logic separate the expense such as feed bought, crop expenses, livestock expense, repair and maintenance of machinery and hired labor, etc.

The following meetings are scheduled for the entire county beginning this week and continuing the following week:

Friday, Feb. 18 — 9:30 a. m. Boyne River Grange, 1:30 p. m. Boyne City, Library.

It is felt that in three hours time most reports can be completed or at least so nearly finished that they may be completed at home without too much difficulty. That is why it is suggested that each person spend sufficient time previous to the meeting so that all information is known relative to the farm income, farm expense and contributions to charitable organizations, war fund and churches. The problem is so complex that your County Agent does not pretend to be an authority but merely desires to assist you as far as possible. In fact even experts do not seem able to take the same case and arrive at a common result. So let's come with the thought in mind that we will face the situation and do the best possible. It will be helpful if each person would bring paper and pencil. The presence of your wife might help in securing the complete financial history of the farm operations. Please be on time as this will be a long job.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Tire life on rough gravel roads is about 40 per cent less than on smooth concrete pavements. This was proved by tests conducted by the Iowa State College.

Soap, it develops, is to be a growing factor in maintaining motor transportation. It has been estimated that 100 million pounds of soap will be required for one year's production of synthetic rubber.

Camelback, which gets its name because it originally had a hump in the center, is a growingly important product of the rubber industry. Over 20 million pounds of camelback are now being made monthly to recap tires.

You can add a cute note to your skirt by cutting out musical notes from odd pieces of felt and sewing them around the hem. Or one applied on your sweater will make a nice conversation piece too.

Painted kitchen chairs often get a shabby look around the legs and rungs where shoes rest against them and the polish leaves a mark. Complete repainting of the chairs can frequently be avoided by giving these sections of the chairs a good soap and water washing. Dip a moistened cloth, sponge or brush into some soap jelly, or into thick suds and rub the soiled parts. Rinse with cloths wrung out in clear water, and dry with a soft, clean cloth.

Mix plaster of paris with vinegar instead of water and it will not harden so quickly when you are filling in cracks and holes in plaster.

Might Have Been Different Had the Lady but Said

Before the bar of justice on wife-brought charges of desertion, Mose Brown, meekly admitted his guilt and offered nothing in extenuation except that the lady talked too much.

"That's no excuse for desertion, Mose," the court said. "The constitution guarantees every woman the right to talk all she wants to."

"Jedge, I knows it do. Only Lucy she never stop talkin'. She keep it up, mo'nin', noon, and night, till I just 'caint stan' it no mo', jedge."

His mournful earnestness impressed the court. "She does? What does she talk about?" "Jedge, suh," he said, "she don't say."

A sharp knife, rinsed in hot water, will do a good job of cutting cake and keeping neat cake and frosting edges.

If a small leak makes it impossible to use the hot water bottle in the regular way, try filling it with hot salt. You'll find it holds the heat even longer than water and will last a long time.

Honey should be kept in a warm place in the kitchen. If it does granulate, place the container in a pan of hot water until it liquidizes.

STATE OF MICHIGAN

In the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix in Chancery

In the Matter of the Petition of Vernon J. Brown, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

To the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery: Vernon J. Brown, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

1. That he is the Auditor General of the State of Michigan and makes and files this petition under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 126 of the Public Acts of 1933, as amended;

2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, and the description of all lands in said county which are delinquent for any installment of taxes under the provisions of the act last above mentioned;

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four per cent and (d) $1.00 for expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned;

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your petitioner prays: a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and decree that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended;

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained;

c. That said decree provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount decreed against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides;

d. That your petitioner may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable. And your petitioner will ever pray, etc. Dated: January 12, 1944

VERNON J. BROWN, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State.

Whether the State of Michigan is to have an adequate post-war planning program during the next five years will depend, to a large degree, on what the state legislature does — or does not do — during the next few weeks.

General reception of the program has been favorable by legislators and the public, due chiefly to the careful preparations made by the state planning commission in consultation with key legislative leaders. But the big test is to come.

Auditor General Vernon J. Brown sums up the situation in these words: "The program as developed and adopted by the State Planning Commission is based upon the assumption that the experience of the State of Michigan in the matter of finance over the past 5 years will be matched by a period of equal affluence during the next five years."

In other words, the sales tax revenues will remain high and the State Treasury will be able to accumulate and retain a surplus annually.

Of course not even the auditor general can determine with accuracy today what the economic trends will be during the next five years. He cannot overtell whether the present high level of sales tax revenue will continue to permit, during the next five years, a continuation of the annual surplus that has blessed the state treasury.

But, assuming that the inflationary period will continue for several more years, then the next hurdle before the post-war planning program is already discernible. It is the pressure of local governments — cities, counties and townships — for a greater share of the state's surplus. The township supervisors have already informed the governor that they want some of the Lansing plums, and the governor has informed them that the state's need should have priority.

Actually the records for 1943 fiscal year show that local governments received 62.5 per cent of all state-collected revenue.

The Kelly administration has adopted the following program for use of the surplus state funds:

1. To create a reserve fund for post-war contingencies. As Auditor General Brown explains it, "the program of expenditures is based upon retaining at all times approximately half of the total accumulated surplus as an emergency fund against any contingency which might arise." This is a bread-and-butter insurance for a post-war unemployment period.

2. To spend the remainder, or one-half of anticipated surplus funds, for a state building program plus acquisition of lands for recreation and conservation. This is the state's own responsibility to its citizenry: Adequate building facilities for hospitals, educational institutions, state departments, and prisons and penitentiaries. Fire, hazards would be removed; rentals for state offices would be saved through a new office building.

The state's building program, which is spread over five years, began with an inventory by the planning commission of the state's 1200 buildings throughout Michigan, representing an investment of $500,000,000 and utilizing 20,000 acres.

Here is big business — YOUR business.

Amazing to state elective officials was the discovery of disgraceful fire hazards actually fire traps worthy of immediate condemnation — through an inventory made by A. N. Langius, acting director of the planning commission. These records alone have meant a substantial saving to the taxpayers in annual operating expenses. For the first time in its history, Michigan possesses a complete technical file of the networks of pipes, conduits, tunnels, sewers, and electrical cables, existing under the ground of every state building. This technical file permits intelligent and economical planning for future needs.

Governor Kelly's policy was expressed by these words in his message to the legislature: "It seems self-evident that it is unwise to reduce taxes in good times and later be called upon to increase taxes in hard times."

It is interesting to note that the New York state legislature, under leadership of Governor Thomas Dewey, recently adopted, with only one dissenting vote, a bill impounding a $140,000,000 surplus in the New York state treasury to be used for a post-war program of the state government.

The same philosophy that prompts the purchase of war bonds during the Fourth War Bond campaign is likely to induce the Michigan legislature to safeguard Michigan's reserve fund for post-war needs. As the governor phrases it, "this fund belongs to the soldiers who are fighting today as much as it belongs to the people who are such an important part of the supporting line in Michigan."

(Delayed from last week)

They say there is a manpower shortage in Michigan. Sure, didn't you read about it in the papers?

Then read this story about Muskegon. The waste of manpower in Muskegon war industries has become so disgraceful the town's newspaper, the Muskegon Chronicle, pronounces it to be "rotten" and worthy of the word "sabotage."

Freedom of the press still exists in the United States.

And newspaper editors are still expressing their convictions candidly for what they are worth. In the case of the Chronicle the newspaper's verdict cannot be interpreted as "anti-labor" for several reasons.

First, the newspaper employs union printers who have enjoyed contractual relations with the Chronicle and previous daily papers for 57 consecutive years. Second, the newspaper concludes that Muskegon's waste of manpower, scandalous in its proportions, is the joint responsibility of labor and management and that "both sides . . . invited what is happening."

Proof of this joint responsibility is presented by the newspaper in the following cases, both of which are vouched for as authentic. We quote:

(1) "I am leaving Muskegon although it is my home and I want to stay here.

"I have recently been honorably discharged from the navy after two years service. I wanted to do my part on the home front.

"I applied for work at the office of an industry where it seemed my previous experience would be of value. I was employed and assigned to a desk. I sat there for nine days without a thing to do. I protested I would sweep floors, if they did not have anything else for me to do, rather than do nothing. The answer was, "You are being paid, aren't you?"

"I found two hundred men and women in the plant in about the situation. I could not stand it any longer, so I am leaving."

(2) My small business has been curtailed by war conditions. I found I had time on my hands. I felt I should be doing something in the war effort, and besides I could use the money very conveniently because of reduced income.

"So I sought employment in a war industry near my home. I am a pretty good mechanic and hoped to get a chance to operate a machine, so I went to work as a helper.

"On an eight-hour shift, I could manage to keep doing something; for an hour and a half. Then there was absolutely nothing for a few hours; then about twenty minutes of honest work that I had to try to make last the rest of the turn.

"Everybody in the shop was killing time the same way. I stood it as long as I could and quit."

In a few months our American troops, forming a majority of Allied Nation forces, will launch the crucial assault upon Hitler's fortified Europe.

Of course, we expect these invasions will succeed. Competent military authorities warn us, however, the price will be high in lives. Many thousands will be wounded. Who will pay the price? Will it be your son or perhaps his buddy? Think it over.

The war manpower commission has bluntly told Muskegon that additional labor is not needed there; that the production job could be accomplished by workers who are already on payrolls; that landing boat parts are urgently needed — today!

In the failure of labor and management to do their duty under our present voluntary system that we sentimentally call "private initiative," the "American system" and "free labor," labor and management are recklessly sowing the seeds of fascism.

Men in the military services — and there are millions of them, remember — will not forget this treason at the hour of national crisis. Surely, today's greed is going to be costly tomorrow. Here is a field awaiting the demagogue, an invitation to iron dictatorship itself.

The moral in the Michigan newspaper's courageous appraisal is clear. American labor and management must not put private profit ahead of the lives of our American sons and fathers. If they fail to do their duty today, they will inevitably lose their freedom tomorrow!

Temporary Ferry Schedule At The Straits of Mackinac

9:30 a. m.	11:00 a. m.

3:30 p. m.	5:00 p. m.
6:30 p. m.	8:00 p. m.

Central War Time

The schedule change was necessitated because of damage to the ferry Sainte Marie caused when the boat ran into a crib at St. Ignace last week. The Sainte Marie, an ice crusher, had been leased by the Highway Department from the Macman Transportation Company to provide transportation across the Straits during the winter months. It is expected the boat will be laid up three weeks for repairs to its propeller and possibly to its shaft.

The Chief Wawatun will continue to handle the morning north-bound and night south-bound passenger trains across the Straits as well as provide service for highway users, it was reported.

No Smelt Runs Are Anticipated

CONSERVATION DEPT. SAYS NONE IN LAKE CHARLEVOIX

With smelt present only in Crystal Lake near Beulah in Benzie county, no smelt runs are anticipated this year according to Fred A. Westerman, chief of the conservation department's fish division. Although ice fishermen are catching one or two pounds a week at Escanaba, they are getting none at all in Lake Charlevoix where the fish were so plentiful until last year.

If juvenile fish were not affected by the plague which caused the death of adult smelt and prevented the run last spring for the first time in ten years, it is possible for the species to become abundant again by the spring of 1945. If the young fish were also killed, however, it will take a much longer period to build up the species to its former proportions, fish authorities state.

Smelt were first introduced in Michigan when 16,400,000 eggs were planted in Crystal Lake in 1912, but the first fish were not observed until 1918 and the first time the species was caught was in 1923. It is believed that the Crystal Lake population may have been the source of the smelt population in the Great Lakes and may help to propagate it again.

The first smelt run was at Cold Creek, Beulah and since then the species had increased in quantity and extended its range until last year's sudden disappearance. For several years the smelt ranked second in yield to herring production in the state.

Farmers Using Fertilizer Must Place Orders Now

All reports indicate that the fertilizer situation is rapidly reaching a crisis. Problem is not whether there will be sufficient supply available but that it takes many weeks to deliver the goods.

Labor shortages in the manufacturing plants are delaying the preparation of fertilizer. Delays in transportation and distribution are even more evident. Limited manpower in shipping departments combined with decreased trucking facilities are slowing down the rate of delivery after they are made. The result is that a large quantity of fertilizer can not be handled in a limited time shortly before the planting season as has been done in the past.

Our advice is to immediately order your fertilizer. Give the local dealers a chance to serve your needs early. Even if you have to store it for two or three months at home don't hesitate because the man who gets his fertilizer now will be the State Highway Dept. last week announced the adoption of the following temporary ferry schedule at the Straits of Mackinac by the chartered railroad ferry, Chief Wawatwan.

Leave St. Ignace — Mackinaw City one that will have it when the planting season arrives. See your local dealer today and make your plans. Don't wait.

People who are worthless are not talked about very much. It is the man who is trying to make the most of his time and talents who is a target for the abuse and aspersions of jealous minds.

A simple feeding station like the one pictured is easy to construct and makes any backyard popular with birds that winter in Michigan. Bread, suet, sunflower seeds and grain are foods that will attract many species besides the gay and companionable blue jay.

LOOKING BACKWARD

From the Herald Files of Forty, Thirty and Twenty Years Ago Compiled by Mrs. Mabel Secord

February 13, 1904

The two following articles are copied, verbatim, from the front page of this issue.

An Editorial Change With this issue we lay down the editorial pen, resigning in favor of Mr. G. Arthur Lisk of Lapeer who has purchased THE HERALD, taking possession this week. Mr. Lisk is a young man of energy and ability, being thoroughly conversant with all branches of the printing trade. For twelve years past he has been with the Lapeer Clarion, filling the position of foreman in the job department.

We feel assured that Mr. Lisk will continue to make THE HERALD a live local paper, and merit the support of both the business men and citizens of the community. During the three years in which The Herald has been under our guidance our relations with East Jordan's business men and people have been of the most pleasant and we will always cherish the brightest recollections of our editorial experience. We take pleasure in introducing Mr. Lisk to the public and hope that he will meet with the full measure of success.

R. L. Lorraine

Embarks in Journalism (From the Lapeer Co. Clarion.)

G. Arthur Lisk, of the Clarion, has purchased the Charlevoix County Herald and leaves for East Jordan to assume editorship of the same, Monday next. R. L. Lorraine is the retiring publisher. Mr. Lisk began his work in this office, as a novice, twelve years ago. Although he has had numerous opportunities to leave the Clarion, at apparently better financial advantage, he sized them all up judiciously and decided not to throw down a good and satisfactory thing for an uncertainty, no matter how flattering in appearance. He is one of the steadiest, most reliable, well equipped in experience and ability, and all year round dependable men we ever had the pleasure of having on the Clarion pay-roll. His level headedness in sticking where he found pretty fair picking, has put him in possession of such capability as he could not otherwise have acquired, and such as will prove invaluable to him in undertaking business for himself. We predict for him success and feel sure that he will give the people of East Jordan such a newspaper as they have not heretofore even pictured as possible at that point.

Chris Taylor has been moving into the Lakeview hotel this week.

A water pipe burst in the kitchen of the Lakeside hotel first of the week and a miniature flood ensued. The pipe was immediately repaired and things again moved along with their usual smoothness at that popular hotel.

E. A. Lewis of Ironton, the hustling "Singer" man, with his daughter, Jessie, were at the Lakeside, Thursday.

L. A. McIntyre has organized physical culture classes here, to be held in the High School building. Ladies' class will meet at 4:00 p. m. on Wednesdays and the class for men and boys will meet Wednesday evenings at 7:30.

Dr. and Mrs. Pray are at Mancelona and the two children were taken sick with measles there.

Funeral services were held Friday in the South Arm Grange hall for Edwin L. Rose, 67, who died in Oregon January 31. He was a resident of this region for twenty years.

The Rock Elm correspondent offers this item: "Morris C. Wetherall of Boyne City and Miss Edith Brodie of this place were married at Charlevoix Tuesday. They will start house-keeping in Boyne City. The fellows have been stealing our girls, one by one and taking them away until we have very few left. This neighborhood will have to import a lot of savage dogs or be depopulated of girls."

DOAN'S PILLS

Indian BEEF

by HAROLD CHANNING WIRE

LEW BURNET had been engaged by TOM ARNOLD, owner of the Cross T herd to act as trail boss on the drive from southern Texas to Ogallala in the spring of 1875. Tom, with his son and daughter, STEVE and JOY, are moving to Wyoming. Tom must deliver 3,000 longhorns to the Indian agent by September 1, or lose a profitable contract. Lew has reason to believe that the Indian Supply Co. is trying to delay the Cross T herd, and he suspects that Clay, Steve and ED SPLANN are working in league with the company. Lew heads west and runs into a furious dust storm that chokes and blinds men and cattle alike. The herd is near death from thirst when the storm ends and a misty rain falls.

CHAPTER VII

Far off, in what he knew now was south, Lew picked out the first column of his scattered herd. Two others were separated from it by perhaps three miles. On behind them he found the white tops of the wagons. But as he moved his gaze on slowly around the sharp horizon there was no sign of water nor the double butte to set him on his course. His moment's gratefulness sank to a heavy dread. They had come too far from the last watered camp. The cattle couldn't go on. Another day would bring its killing heat, for clouds that followed a dust storm never held long.

He was staring east; he gave his head a sudden jerk to clear it. He wiped one hand across his swollen eyes. They weren't tricking him. As if from the grass roots smoke twisted upward over there. It rose and shaped a pillar, broke and rose and broke again. Willy Nickle . . . sending up his talk!

He spurred his tired horse south. Halfway toward the scattered columns he drew his gun again and fired it. He pulled his horse around into short fast circles.

They heard his shots that time and saw his signal. Little figures of men started out toward him. He rode on and met John Quarternight first. The old man's beard was muddy white, his eyes puffed almost closed.

"Boy," he said, "we got here. Wherever that be. There's someone's camp, though, yonder."

"Willy Nickle, I think," Lew said. "I'm going to look. I'll leave you to gather up."

The creek was still two miles off, and before he reached it the smoke ended. Riding into a little grove of trees, he found only the embers, no sign of Willy Nickle at first, until he saw the forked stick. It had been thrust into the ground with one prong like a thumb pointing downstream. He followed in the stick's direction.

Sheltered from wind and rain, a snug retreat, Willy Nickle sat, contentedly smoking his black clay pipe. He threw up his left hand in a silent salute and dropped it. His gentle face was brown and smooth from a recent shave.

Lew grinned and shifted over into one stirrup, halting. "Well," he said, "we had a wind."

Willy nodded. "So you did."

"I guess," Lew said, "we clean missed the double butte. Came too far north maybe. But here's a river."

"South branch of the Pease," said Willy. He took the cherry pipe-stem from his mouth and pointed with it. "If a man heads out of here quarterin' east of north he'll hit a creek of the Red. He'll follow that to the Red herself, ten miles above Doan's store. Two days, maybe, if his men have made it."

In three days they were still crawling through low hills south of the Red. Blindness healed slowly in both animals and men. Three had ridden in the cook's wagon. Clay and Steve rode with Joy. They both had bandages smeared with axle grease over their eyes and sat up with her on the seat.

He had a queer feeling sometimes, seeing them in a row like that. When he dropped back along the herd he could see their fun and hear them laughing together. They sang a lot. Old songs that he used to sing with her. It took him back to Three Little Apaches; only it was Clay's big shape there now instead of his.

But today all of his crew were in their saddles, eager to reach the Red. That meant something. It was halfway to Dodge. It was the last of Texas soil. Beyond the Red River lay the Indian Nations and the north. Every trail drive marked it with a celebration of some kind.

He rode the point with Quarternight and could see old Rebel John was feeling what he felt. A man would never feel this loneliness about leaving any place up north. He was sure of that; not a Texas man. There was Tom Arnold riding back behind the horse herd—what must this crossing the Red River mean to one like him? It must go hard. He was leaving the biggest part of his life down here, the best part. What was Tom looking ahead to in Wyoming? Not much, so far, if he was counting on Steve. That had been his hope at the start. Well, what was he looking ahead to himself? Nothing that he could see. Not the ranch he'd planned there on the Powder when he had thought he was going to build it up alone. You didn't pen two bulls in the same pasture. Get this herd to Ogallala. Beyond that he didn't know.

His head bobbed to the slow walk of his horse. He let it nod, peacefully drowsy, until Quarternight's quick voice came across to him.

"There she is!"

He looked up. The fold between the hills had widened. Beyond its mouth lay a five-mile level shelf of grass. Far-off red bluffs marked the river, high and shining in the sun.

He grinned and said, "A man's glad to see that old girl somehow."

"Glad when he's across her."

"Well, sure," he said, "that's right." Men had reason to want this river behind them. No other, except perhaps the Canadian with its quicksands, farther north, had taken so many lives.

In a little while he was pointing out upon the open shelf, as flat as a floor, and he could look far east along its great bend. No other herds swarmed across its grass. Doan's store and the main trail's crossing were ten miles downstream.

"We're alone here, John," he said. "That's good."

Behind them the crack of rope ends against leather sounded like pistol shots. Swing men were crowding the longhorns on. But even the cattle had sensed the river and walked at a faster pace of their own accord.

His plan had been to cross at once and go into camp on the north side. There would still be time for an aft-noon's rest and the night's fun. But riding ahead, he reached the lower bluffs of the south shore and looked down upon an angry, churning stream. The Red was full from bank to bank. There had been heavy rains somewhere west.

He swung back and met the point and told Quarternight, "She's up, John. Too high to swim. We'll have to hold over." He shook his head. "I don't like it much. We may get some neighbors we don't want." "No use worrying about that now. I'll ride down to Doan's after we water and see what herds are on the trail."

Under the added pressure of swing riders he bent the point west toward a creek. He let the herd spread out there to drink and afterward left them standing drowsily under a two-man guard.

"Lew, is this a holiday?" asked Clay.

"Part."

"Then I'm riding down to Doan's." It was an ordinary-enough request; a man could get a few things at the store. But that was not the reason, he felt, with Clay. He shook his head. "None of the crew's going there. I don't figure it's safe."

Clay's stare sharpened on him. "Kind of high-handed, aren't you? Maybe you'll find it hard to make that order stick!"

He didn't answer. But afterward, standing ankle deep in the water, shaving in front of a mirror propped against a willow fork, he went back to find Clay's meaning. It wasn't clear. If a man deserted against the trail boss' order he might as well quit. Clay wouldn't do that. He continued his shave. The scar made his cheek stiff.

He had forgotten about Clay's threat and he felt good, cleaned and dressed once more, walking back into the shady grove of the camp. Then he saw Ed Splann.

Splann had not been at the river and he had wondered. Only Jim Hope and Tom Arnold were on guard with the herd. But he was here in camp now with his horse saddled. His clothes that he had worked and slept in for a week hadn't been changed.

"Thought I'd tell you," he stated bluntly, "I'm ridin' down to Doan's. You won't need me till night."

Lew walked past him and tossed the her bag into the cook's wagon. He turned back and said, "Not this trip," and started on.

Splann's surly growl jerked him around: "What the hell kind of a boss are you?"

He walked up close, his high shape coming above Ed Splann's broader and more powerful build. He could feel the scar burn hot and red. But there were times like this when he let his voice come out of him in a slow drawl. "My friend," he said, "I'll tell you what kind of a boss I am. No man in my outfit fools me any. You don't." He let it hang there, watching Splann weigh it behind his pale eyes.

They narrowed coolly. "You think you know something. What?"

"You've got no warning coming," he said, his voice still held to that quiet way, "but I'll warn you this much. I'd as leave have a rattlesnake in my bed as a spy and traitor in this camp. You don't need to ride to Doan's; I'll see your friends for you. Is that clear?"

A wicked brightness leaped into Splann's eyes. "You talk tough. You got anything to back it up? Show or lay down, Burnet. I've called your hand!"

He didn't underestimate this man. There was the experienced gun fighter's arrogance about him. He let his muscles go slack and ready and felt only that cool alertness as he said, "Any time."

He could almost see the huge right shoulder begin its lift that would bring the gun up out of its holster. His own fingers curved when Splann's eyes went past his and swung back. A subtle change came over him. He leaned forward a little, confiding, "Burnet, you stay clear. You've got a lot to learn, some things you don't want to know. And you've got a lot to lose." His eyes moved again.

Footsteps crackled in the dry leaves, and then Joy called gayly, "Lew! Come and look!"

She passed beyond them looking pleased, with something bungled in her arms. She was bareheaded and her long hair, washed and dried, was soft around her head.

Splann's eyes followed her through the trees. Then they came back with a knowing shrewdness. "You take my advice and you'll get your pay. One thing about you ain't hard to read." He wheeled and led his horse toward the picketed mounts.

Joy was up on her bed in the wagon, sitting crosslegged with both hands covering her lap. "Lew . . . eggs!" She lifted her hands. "Turkey eggs. I found a nest!"

He leaned in to her and turned them with mock gravity. "Real eggs. Think of that." But it was her scrubbed fragrance he was aware of, her soft hair and skin that was warm and glowing. It put a tight quietness in him that was not mockery. Then she laid both of her hands on his.

The laughter was gone from her eyes. She looked up soberly. "Lew, I've been sorry about something. Dreadfully sorry. I mean back there when Steve went blind. I wasn't hating you. It was only that everything seemed so wrong. I understand what you're going through these days. I shouldn't make it any harder."

He pulled his hand from under hers. "I've never asked for pity, Joy, not from anyone. Let me pity myself if I want to. We all do that sometimes. But I don't want it from outside."

"This isn't pity! Don't you understand?"

Something turned her lips soft and gentle, parting them with a slow and even breath. Her dark eyes searched his face. "We've meant so much to each other. Nothing must end it. I want you to know that."

She stirred him with an irritable violence. "That's past, Joy. We aren't children any more. You've grown up and what I have is not a brother's feeling."

"I know it." Her voice was hushed.

"Look here!" He put his hands roughly on her arms and pressed them against her sides. He hurt her and wanted to hurt. "You've got one man. What do you think? You can still offer some little part of you to another?"

"No. It's only—" She faltered.

His grip tightened. "Joy, this is nothing you can play with. You'd better not try!"

Her breath was quick. He could feel the tremble of her body beneath his hard hands. He let her go and stepped back. "Anything you want from Doan's store?"

She didn't answer but only shook her head, staring at him. He wheeled from her, shaken by the violence of the feeling she had aroused.

In five miles he reached the bend of the river shelf and saw an unexpected sight beyond. Far on east of the bend a dozen trail herds flood-bound south of the Red made dark blots against the grass. That was the crowd he had missed by taking an unknown route. He could not judge the number from this distance, anywhere up to forty thousand, a bare fraction of the longhorns pouring north.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for February 13

JESUS ON THE MOUNTAIN AND IN THE VALLEY

LESSON TEXT—Mark 9:2-6, 17-27. GOLDEN TEXT—I believe; help thou mine unbelief.—Mark 9:24.

The vision of the mountain top prepares the believer for service down in the valley. "Where there is no vision the people perish," said the wise man of old (Prov. 29:18). For want of a true vision of God, a knowledge of His truth, and the God-given constraint which makes men give themselves in sacrificial service, the people will perish in their sins.

But let men come to know the truth as it is in Christ, learn to know Him as the Son of God glorious and powerful, and then let them translate their knowledge of Christian truth and their personal spiritual experiences into the daily ministry to the needs of their fellow men, and there will be songs of salvation and joy.

I. Knowing (vv. 2-7). The transfiguration of Christ doubtless meant much to Him in preparation for His coming death and resurrection. It was a foregleam of His kingdom glory.

In this lesson we are concerned with the experience of the disciples rather than the feelings of our Lord. Fundamental in both Christian life and service is a clear understanding of the person and work of Christ. One may come to Christ knowing little more than that He is the divine Saviour, and one may enter into Christian living with a meager knowledge of the doctrines of the Bible. But the Christian who fails to grow in knowledge will not grow in grace as he should.

God sets no premium on ignorance, in fact it is quite evident that the great blight on the Christian church today is the appalling lack of understanding of God's Word.

The disciples came to a fuller conviction that He was the Son of God as they saw Him transfigured and heard the Father say, "This is my beloved Son." They learned more plainly the truth of His coming death for the sins of all mankind. They saw in the indescribable beauty of that moment the foregleam of His coming glory. What important truths these are—His deity—His redemption—His coming kingship. Do we have a clear grasp of these truths? If not, let us search the Scriptures.

II. Growing (v. 8). "Jesus only." He filled their vision and their hearts. They had made spiritual progress as they had seen His glory and heard the commanding voice of the Father.

Great experiences of spiritual renewing and power are necessary to effective life and testimony. They may not be in outward manifestation, in fact they are more often in the inner recesses of the soul; but they transform men and send them forth to magnificent living for God. One wonders if much of the dearth of power in the Christian church is not to be attributed directly to the lack of such experiences with God.

The disciples had an unforgettable mountaintop experience. Even so have many others found the secret of power.

Let us remember that such privileges are not reserved for a few, they are the birthright of every Christian. Power without knowledge is a dangerous and destructive thing, but knowledge without power is a dead thing.

Let us study God's Word, but let the truth be baptized in the overflowing spiritual power of a personal experience with God.

In regeneration all that Christ is and has for us is made available. If we have not taken out our inheritance let us do it at once.

III. Serving (vv. 17-27).

One of the lessons that seems hard to learn and to keep constantly effective in the life of a Christian is that mountaintop experiences of spiritual uplift are not an end in themselves, but a preparation for service. All too often we come to regard such times of peculiar blessing, whether in the privacy of our own room or in the great conference of Christian workers, as something which should glow warmly in our own hearts, making us glad in the Lord, and not as a preparation for ministry to others.

Jesus and the disciples went up to the place of prayer, into the place of glory, and down to the place of service. How fitting is that sequence.

Much confusion exists in the church because those who have foolishly abandoned God's Word and substituted the energy of the flesh for spiritual power have been most diligent in service to humanity; while those who know and accept the truth about Christ, and who profess to believe in the power of the Spirit-filled life, have failed to serve their needy neighbors.

"But Jesus took him by the hand and lifted him up" (v. 27). Verses 28 and 29 indicate that the disciples might have done the same by believing prayer.

Reveille on the Jordan

Just a little message to the boys in the service from the folks back home. Sponsored by the East Jordan Community Service Club.

Friends: Another war bond drive is on in the old home town as well as all of the U.S.A. The slogan for this drive—the fourth one—is “Let’s All Back the Attack.” No it’s not exactly the same as a former one, two words have been added, and yet it seems to me these two words add a multitude of meaning to the slogan by bringing it to each one of us individually, in other words it makes it more than just a slogan, it brings it home to each one of us personally. You no doubt remember the other slogans which were in order of the drives—“Remember Pearl Harbor”—“They give their lives—You lend your money”—“Back the Attack.”

The quota for Charlevoix County in this drive is $352,000.00 for all series, approximately one third of which is East Jordan’s share to raise as the County quota is distributed between the three cities of Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan.

This drive started January 18th and will end February 15. Of course this does not mean that this is the only time bonds should be purchased, neither does it mean that this is the only time bonds are purchased as many of the home folks are regular purchasers through the payroll deduction plan having a certain percentage of their wages set aside to accumulate towards the purchase price of a bond.

Every special drive has had its boosters or solicitors, and so also this one. It seems to us that no other group would be more interested in selling bonds than the present group in charge—“The Blue Star Mothers.” You in the service certainly can appreciate this; would there be anyone who could be more hopeful in having a speedy termination of this conflict than the mothers of servicemen and women of which this group is composed.

For this reason we feel quite confident that the quota as mentioned above will be met even as past quotas have not only been met but have been bettered.

REVEILLE ON THE JORDAN'S SOCIAL COLUMN

Last week we made mention of the engagement of Lt. Arthur Rude and Miss Vivian Maze of Muskegon. We now learn that Lt. Rude and Miss Maze were married January 31st in the First Congregational church in Muskegon. At the present time they are making their home at Aberdeen, where Art is stationed with the army ordnance department.

For all the servicemen and women and the folks back home we extend our best wishes to Lt. and Mrs. Rude for a long and happy wedded life.

HOME FRONT NEWS

Last week we wrote that the two Gee brothers, Dale was not as fortunate as Russell when it came to furloughs and that we hoped Dale too might have a furlough within a short time. Well whether or not this had anything to do with it, on the day the paper in which this was printed came out, who should arrive home but Dale himself. At the time of this writing, we haven’t had the opportunity to talk with him but hope to have the first hand information for next week. A few other servicemen we have seen and heard of being home this week are: JOHN SMITH, JERALD W. DAVIS, ERNEST STALLARD, LAWRENCE BENNETT, HAROLD BEL, REX MURRAY and JOHN KOTOWICH. It seems good to see a few more servicemen around again after a couple of weeks of not seeing very many. John Smith comes home from Camp Wheeler, Georgia, where he has been with the heavy weapons division of the infantry. However, his trip home is only made possible because of a delay in route as he is to report to Ft. Meade, Maryland, where, as John says, he does not know what his next assignment will be as he has also learned not to bank too strong on army rumors. As yet we have not been able to contact the rest of those mentioned who are enjoying furloughs so cannot report anything about them.

NEWS FROM THE FRONT

The most prominent thing that we have noticed from correspondence and information received during the past week is that so many of you are on the move, at least it seems that way to us judging from the numerous changes of addresses and from the shortage of letters. We realize of course that it is rather difficult for you who are moving to find much time for letter writing, and yet don’t let us down, as your letters are our source of information for building up this column each week.

Some of the gang that have moved overseas on the Pacific side include JACK ISAMAN, CLOVER SCOTT, CLARENCE STALEY, HERSHALL NOWLAND, and WILLIAM HOFFMAN. They are all in the same outfit and their going came as a surprise. Another of their buddies, CHARLES CHADDOCK, remained at Camp Pickett, Virginia, where the group trained with a field artillery unit. The army decided they didn’t want Charley in combat duty just yet, so transferred him to the Headquarters division. —A new address comes to us for BERNARD STURGILL, who we learn is now overseas. We also have overseas addresses for BRUCE ROBINSON and JAMES CHANDA CHARLEY DENNIS and JASON SNYDER are at eastern ports of embarkation while CLIFFORD DENNIS is now with a replacement battalion at Fort Ord, California, preparatory to going overseas. . . . As many are moving overseas, so also there is much moving going on in the states. One of the movers is your former editor, Lt. (j. g.) ED REULING, who is all finished at Patton Hall, New Jersey, and is now spending a few days with his family at East Lansing. Ed writes he will spend a few days here in East Jordan, weather permitting. Ed probably doesn’t realize we have had one month of spring already but we aren’t guaranteeing anything ahead. . . . EARL MOORE has shifted from Camp Bowie, Texas to Camp Edwards, Mass., and JOHN HODGE pulled stakes out of North Carolina and is now at Yale University in New Haven, Connecticut. . . . LEO NEMECEK finally received the transfer he had been waiting for and is now at Gulfport, Mississippi. Leo and Archie represent the Ed Nemecek family in the armed forces while their sister, Helen and Dad work in a defense plant in Detroit. Their mother does her part by working part time at Grace’s Pie Shop. At the present time, Archie’s whereabouts is not known but the last letter received by his mother came V-mail and was written on the boat carrying him overseas. . . . Another transfer is for Lt. WALTER THORSEN who has left Fort Lewis, Washington, and is now at Muroc Air Base, California. Perhaps some of you in California could look him up at that base and you can find him with the Hdqs. Btry. of the 548th A. A. — A. W. Bn. . . . This week news of promotions have been on the increase too. CHRIS BULOW and ROY HOTT have been promoted to Corporals out in the South Pacific area. KENNETH MORRIS, now in Sicily, is wearing three stripes plus the good conduct ribbon he has been recently awarded. Another Master Sgt. is ALBERT RICHARDSON, who has been overseas for several months. We also hear that PETE HAMMOND made corporal, and by the way, Pete, we are still wondering about that ten day leave you expected to come your way. Hope they don’t change their minds about that. . . . We are glad that SONNY HOSLER is keeping us posted as to his boxing career, as we know that all of the rest of you are very much interested in it also. Sonny now has a real string of victories to his credit having lost only one fight since his entering the army, and is still fighting a lot and is now the middleweight champ at Fort Meade. Some of the victories mentioned in his letter are his decision a short time ago over Slim Summerville, the navy champ, his win by a knock-out over Tony Filasino, a Madison Square Garden Boy. The one contest in which Sonny says he was not so successful was the one lost to Lew Pavone, The National Amateur Champ, and was fought in Turners arena in Washington, D. C. In the near future he expects to be among those contesting in the “Tour-nament of Champions” in Chicago, and so for all of you who are stationed in or near there, don’t forget to be there rooting for him as we are sure Sonny would appreciate this not only, but also meeting you. Our boxer’s present job is boxing instructor for the Military Police, which naturally he enjoys very much. . . . By all appearances ROBERT RICHARDS may be somewhere near MURRAY NELSON, ABE COHN, or ELWOOD BRICKER, as his new A.P.O. number is the same as their number. Another home-towner for Abe to look up who now has seven to his credit. . . . BOB READ’S A.P.O. number has been changed too and you may arrive at the correct number by adding 232 to his old number. Bob is still with the same outfit. . . . Two more Jordanites have met. LAWRENCE STANEK and CYRIL DOLEZEL had a swell chat last week at Santa Anna, California where they happen to be training with the same group. Lawrence says seeing someone from home is really a treat and we know Cy enjoyed meeting up with him too. . . . Last week, BILL SAXTON and BILL WALDEN teamed up and started to hunt up OSCAR MILLER, AL WALDEN and HAROLD MOORE at Gulfport, Mississippi. The outcome of their search we haven’t heard but spending the day together must have been pleasant by itself. It so happens that the Bill’s have the same day off each week and since their station, Keesler Field, is only eight miles from Gulfport they are able to contact the other fellows there soon. Another one for them to look up is Leo Nemecek, an old pal of theirs in civilian life. . . . Word comes that MARSHALL SHEPARD has reached Italy and enjoyed the luxury of a taxi ride—Horse and Buggy. Just before shipping overseas Marshall was transferred into the air corps and we aren’t able to figure out what his work may be. . . . The first news to come to us about Sgt. CLIFFORD GREEN being wounded came from Cliff himself in a V-mail letter dated January 14th from somewhere in Italy. We learn Cliff has a foot injury and is in a hospital there and is feeling O.K. He tells us he knows for sure he is all done with the army but doesn’t know what they will do with him. He asks us where DALE GEE is and as we are writing this he has just pulled into town on his first furlough since being in service. It seems Cliff is not hearing from his brother, CLYDE and is very anxious for some mail from him. He wants Clyde to be sure and write him and if he does not have his overseas address the old address will do. . . . Two others who are listed with the casualty group are EZRA NEUMAN and CARL LEWIS. A telegram and confirming letter received from the War Department states that Ezra Neumann was seriously wounded on January 5th in action in the Italian war area, and as this goes to print no further word has been received. An unofficial report just received also names Carl Lewis as wounded, however, as we said, this is unofficial and has not been confirmed as far as we know. . . . Apparently we do not have the correct address of BASIL SWETT so if anyone could help us out in this it would be appreciated. . . . A local telephone call just informs us that ROBERT BLAIR now has a new A.P.O. number and that he is now somewhere in New Guinea where, according to latest reports, ORLANDO (BUGS) BLAIR and ASA BEALS are also located.

As was mentioned before, we know you do not have much extra time for writing when you are on the move as so many of you are, however, we

TAKE IT EASIER WITH BISCUITS

It’s not the mixing and the heavy exercise, but rather the mix that determines the texture of a batch of biscuits, claim those who have accurately tested the process.

Home economics specialists at MSC recommend no prolonged kneading of the biscuit dough, but point to tests conducted by the US Department of Agriculture which says 18 strokes of kneading do the trick.

A standard recipe calls for three cups sifted flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, four tablespoons fat and one cup of milk. Ingredients are stirred together in a bowl until just moistened and then turned out on a board. When no kneading was tried, biscuits were flat, crusty and only fairly light. A long strenuous kneading turned out tough, flat and close-grained biscuits. The 18-stroke test gave light, flaky, tender and tall biscuits.

know too you will not let Reveille down. Many of you too will have much to write about as soon as your destination is reached and so for this week again we will sign off awaiting more letters from you so that it will be possible for us to carry on.

'Twas A Good Game Even Though East Jordan Loses to Pellston

(By Don Winkle)

As was promised in last week’s article, a fine demonstration of basketball playing was put on in the East Jordan gym last Saturday night. The East Jordan quintet lost the game to the Pellston high five by a score of 36—23. The Pellston team was a more experienced squad as was demonstrated by the ease in which they handled the ball.

Although the East Jordan boys have lost the majority of their games, it must be remembered that the team lacked in experienced players at the beginning of the season. The Red and Black squad is improving with each game and by tournament time should make a good showing for themselves.

Shurtliff was high point man of the evening making a total of 17 points, for the home team. Bonter was without doubt the out-standing player on the floor as was demonstrated in the ease with which he handled himself and the basketball during the game. Russell Weaver sort of slipped the other night. He only made two points and went out on fouls the first two minutes of the second half.

The East Jordan “Seconds” lost the Curtain Raiser to the Boyne City “B” team by a score of 28—16.

THE AVERAGE AMERICAN FAMILY

AND gets about twice as much electricity for its money as it did 15 years ago!

STATISTICS are tricky things to toss around.

Obviously, 3/8 of a bathtub wouldn't hold water very well! That figure means merely that some 3 out of 5 American homes have bathtubs.

Obviously, also, the electric figure applies only to homes that have electric service. But as a nation-wide average of all those homes, it is a fact—and perhaps surprising to many people.

Most families own more electric appliances now than they did in 1929. Over the years, as they used more electricity, they earned lower rates—and the rates, too, were steadily reduced.

So—though your bill today may be as much as it was in 1929—or even more—you're probably getting twice as much for what you pay. And remember that the price of electricity has stayed down while most other prices are going up.

That makes it just about the biggest bargain in your wartime budget!

For this you can credit the electric companies, manned and managed by business people, under public regulation. Their hard work has made electric service dependable and cheap.
