Young Man Killed In Auto Mishap

JIMMY DAVIS SUFFERS FRACTURED SKULL LATE FRIDAY NIGHT

Jimmy Davis, well-known East Jordan young man was killed in a car wreck at a late hour last Friday night.

As there were no witnesses, just what happened is conjecture.

It took place on State st in front of the Bob Scott home. His body was found on the sidewalk in front of this house and the car was at the opposite side of State st.

The young man attended the basketball game at the Gym that night. He was seen there about 10:15. Just what took place between that time and the finding of the body about 11:15 is not known. Chief of Police Simmons was summoned, who in turn summoned a physician. The latter found the unfortunate young man dead from a skull fracture at 11:30. He had been dead for an indefinite period.

What evidently took place was that the young man had gone home and started back to town on State st. Possibly he decided to turn back in front of the Scott home, swung his car to the left and started backing toward what he evidently mistook for the drive in next to the house. He evidently had the car door open and misjudged his position. The car door struck an electric light pole, throwing the young man onto the sidewalk and nearly shearing the door off. The car, in reverse, executed a semi-circle stopping on north side of the street with the rear end in a sand bank. When Chief Simmons examined the car, he found the transmission in reverse, engine dead and the ignition on.

Mrs. Maynard Harrison with daughter, Barbara and Jack Valencourt, in a car, first noticed the car and then the body.

Corner McMillan was notified who ordered the remains removed to the Watson Funeral Parlors.

JAMES MONROE DAVIS
Was born in East Jordan Oct. 31, 1924, his parents being Alva and Matrie Davis. He attended our public schools from 1932 to 1942. He was united in marriage to Mary Lou Peterson Oct. 2, 1943.

The young man was employed at the Reid-Murdock Ellsworth Canning Factory. He took keen pleasure in bowling and was a member of the Standard Oil Team at the E. J. Recreation.

Deceased is survived by the wife; his parents, residing at Kalamazoo; and two sisters — Mrs. Marguerite Zibell, Detroit; Mrs. Melvina Kotalik, East Jordan.

Funeral services were held at the Watson Funeral Home Saturday afternoon, Feb. 28, conducted by Rev. C. W. Sidebotham, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Burial was at Sunset Hill. Bearers were Jack Valencourt, Gale Murphy, James Persons, Frank Ingalls, Ward Robinson, Charles Saxton.

Among those here to attend the funeral were Mrs. Marguerite Zibelle, Mr. and Mrs. James Davis, Detroit; Mrs. Lon Smith, Kalamazoo.

Soil Conservation District Organization Progressing Rapidly

The proposal to establish a Soil Conservation District in Charlevoix County is meeting with great enthusiasm on the part of farm leaders. Last week, Friday at a meeting in the City Building at Charlevoix, eighteen farm leaders representing the Grange, Farm Bureau and other County organizations met and discussed the program from all angles. Petitions are now being circulated throughout the county, requesting that a district be organized within he county.

Such a move will make it possible for farmers to receive the assistance of a soil expert on all problems that relate to the conserving of soil fertility and in preventing losses from soil erosion. This service will be given free to the farmers. The governing body will be made up of five farm directors who will have full responsibility.

Erosion has already depleted several inches of topsoil from a large portion of our land. In Grand Traverse District, land with 12, inches of topsoil produced 331 bushels of U.S. No. 1 marketable potatoes, while five inches of topsoil produced 113 bushels of U.S. No. 1 marketable potatoes on the Neil Morrison farm. The yield measurements were made by a Vocational Agricultural class and staff. Numerous other experiments show the same results. It is hoped that all farmers will become fully acquainted with the opportunity of organizing a Soil Conservation District in this county. A public hearing will be held March 30th. Talk this over with your neighbors.

Red Cross Juniors Active In County

ENROLL MANY NEW MEMBERS, AND ALL BRANCHES ACTIVE

The Charlevoix County Junior Red Cross completed its membership drive this week with every school in the county enrolled. The Maple Grove school, Mrs. Ruth Hair, teacher, was the first to enroll. A membership fee of fifty cents is necessary to enroll each room. A total of $41.50 enrollment fees were collected and sent to headquarters in St. Louis, Missouri. These memberships entitle each elementary room to receive The Junior Red Cross News, a magazine published monthly. High schools receive The Red Cross Journal. A total of $63.69 was collected by the Juniors over the enrollment fees. This is deposited with the county secretary and used to purchase materials for construction work.

Recently St. Mary's School at Charlevoix and the Charlevoix Public School completed two hundred napkins and tray favors which were sent to North Camp Hood, Gatesville, Texas and two hundred decorated paper napkins which were sent to Marfa Army Air Field, Marfa, Texas. A lovely afghan has been completed by the East Jordan Juniors who are also busy making writing portfolios, bedside bags and convalescent slippers. Boyne City Juniors are busy with bedside bags, slippers, afghans and utility bags. Boyne Falls schools are doing much Junior Red Cross work in connection with their 4H activities. Rural schools are busy with wash cloths and utility bags. Beaver Island Juniors are making icebag covers and washcloths.

Mr. K. C. Festerling, 4H District Leader has charge of the Handicraft construction and reports much interest being shown in the making of ash trays, hospital equipment and games. There is a great demand for metal ash trays. Materials for making these are hard to find so Juniors are asked to collect as many as possible that are in good condition or that can be reconstructed. Civilians will probably be glad to substitute glass or other trays so our armed forces may have the metal ones. Will Juniors please inform Mr. Festerling or the local teachers who lead Red Cross work how many they can collect? It also may be more practical to collect and refinish such articles as Chinese checkers, dominoes and chess. Jigsaw puzzles, and playing cards in good condition are requested. How many can you find Juniors?

Much credit for the success of Junior Red Cross activities is due to the teachers and mothers who sponsor the work in each community. It is hoped that we may organize the county Juniors and their leaders this year.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Work clothes will keep clean longer if they are starched. Factory managers recommend a hard finish because it is safer around machines.

A small pin cushion attached to the left wrist with an elastic is a handy gadget for catching the pins as you remove them when sewing.

Old pillow cases make good dress covers. Just slit the closed end and pull the case over the garment on the hanger.

"Clear" soup often is cloudy because every trace of fat has not been removed from the stock. Allow the stock to become cold, then remove all the fat.

Do not paint over whitewash. Wash off the whitewash with clear water and allow the walls to dry thoroughly before applying the paint.

To prevent the outside of the yolk of hard boiled egg from turning black, plunge the egg into cold water as soon as it is cooked.

WOMAN OVERCOMES HER CONSTIPATION!

"Once Took Laxatives 3 or 4 Times a Week," She Says!

Are you, too, a disappointed "doser"? Then read this unsolicited letter!

"I'd started working nights, and with my way of living changed around, I soon found I was taking 3 or 4 laxatives a week, and feeling terrible. Then I heard about KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN through your radio program, 'The Breakfast Club.' Since taking my daily helping of ALL-BRAN, I am regular as clockwork. Thanks for what your ALL-BRAN has done for me!" Mrs. Myrtle Wood, 274 Baumanville St., Akron, Ohio.

Yes, it does seem like magic, the way KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN helps so many people. "Gets at" one common cause of constipation—lack of enough dietary "cellulose" elements! That's because ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements—which help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic contents for easy, natural elimination! KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

If your constipation is this kind, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly, with milk and fruit, or mixed with other cereals. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't find real help! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

75¢ WORTH OF NITRAGIN PAID $390 IN MY CLOVER FIELD

One farmer writes that he spent 75¢ to inoculate half of 30 acres of red clover with NITRAGIN and got $390.00 worth of seed extra from the 15 acres he inoculated.

Inoculate all legumes with NITRAGIN

With clover seed at 25¢ and alfalfa 50¢ or more per pound, you can't afford not to inoculate every pound of seed you plant with NITRAGIN. For a few cents an acre, NITRAGIN makes up to 50% bigger yields of richer feed and helps build fertility. Tests show it pays to inoculate all legumes regardless of previous cropping. NITRAGIN is the oldest, most widely used inoculation. It costs only a few cents an acre... produced in the most modern laboratory of its kind. Be sure you get NITRAGIN for soybeans, alfalfa, clover—other legumes. Get it where you buy seed.

Tom, with his son and daughter, STEVE and JOY, are moving to Wyoming. Tom must deliver 3,000 longhorns by September 1 or lose a profitable contract. Lew suspects that the Indian Supply Co. is trying to delay the Cross T herd so their Open A herd will arrive first at Ogallala. Lew encamps on the Red river. They hear gunfire, and the herd is stampeded. After a night of running, the herd is rounded up, but Tom Arnold has been thrown by his horse, and killed. CLAY MANNING tells Lew: "This will make a big difference."

CHAPTER X

"Let him bark," Quarternight said. "It'll take more than that." But Clay's meaning was clear enough. With Tom Arnold gone Joy and Steve would be the Cross T owners. And since Steve wore the pants he could take charge. Clay could put the idea into his head.

From the river bluff he saw the water had dropped a number of feet. It was still high, but the churning flood was gone. Long red sand bars were uncovered out in the middle.

No matter what happened, the longhorns had to go on. He made an immediate plan for that. Then near camp he said, "You go in, John, and get tools from the cook's wagon. Don't be seen if you can help it. Go on back ahead of me."

He pulled in and waited until Quarternight rode out of the trees with a canvas bundle under his arm. Only Steve was there when he went in, squatted at the fire pit, drinking coffee. His head turned at the sound of the horse. His cheeks that never took much tan were smooth and rosy and he seemed all at once, in this moment, too young for what was coming. "Lew," he said, "where's the others?"

"Up the creek, Steve. Joy here?"

"Asleep."

"Then come on with me." The thing he had to tell him made him quietly gentle. Even Steve's quick, "Say, I've ridden enough! Can't you let a man rest?" didn't change that. He said again gently, "Come on. This isn't work. Something's happened."

He saw the high color drain away and rush back. With no talk then Steve got up and walked to his horse. But out of the trees, looking straight ahead, he asked, "Dad?"

"Yes, Steve." Lew put out his hand. There had been years when he and this boy were like brothers, and Tom Arnold had been a father to them both. It seemed to him that now, if at any time, the unexplainable barrier between them ought to be down. His hand touched Steve's arm. It jerked from him as if he had struck a blow. He did not finish what he wanted to say. It was no use. Inside him a desolate lonely feeling came crowding back.

He held deliberately to a slow walk up the creek, letting the men get most of their work done. There was no need for the boy to look at the trampled thing they had found. The grave on a little knoll close to the bank was already covered. They were mounding it over with rocks. Afterward, with that finished, they made a bareheaded circle waiting for someone who could talk.

Someone coughed and the little group moved. No one had spoken. That brief moment was gone.

"Clay," he said, "you go in now. Let Joy know. You and Steve."

He had seen Ed Splann stay off with the horses apart from the little group around the grave, and it seemed a kind of rank insult, the way the big man stood there casually rolling a cigarette, watching them and blowing out his gusty breaths of smoke.

As Steve and Clay got into their saddles and started toward camp Splann reached up for his own horn to follow them.

He called the man's name, walking toward him fast. Close, he said, "Not you. You stay here."

The heavy arm came down from the horn and hung loose. Splann turned himself around with a ponderous deliberation. "You talkin' to me?" His dusty fouled beard hid all expression. Then a quick hard mockery glittered in his pale eyes. "Maybe," he said, "I don't hear you any more. New owners make a new boss. You thought of that?"

He knew a certain end was coming, that he'd held back so far on the trail. Quietly he said, "There'll be no change. There's something here you've missed." The urge toward the end he wanted drove him on. "If you can't take it like that you can ride out."

He saw the instant way the pale gray eyes sharpened. Splann's voice dropped, low and oddly droning. "So you figure it's that easy?" "I've done my figuring," he said. "There it is."

This big man was no hotheaded amateur when a definite time came. He could see the veiled coldness behind the drooping lids and the slack readiness that slid over the huge body. Then some thought loosened the bearded lips in a half grin.

"All right." Splann turned a little from him. "You're smart. I've thought maybe you were only a damn fool." His right arm lifted again as if to reach the saddle horn.

He understood this man's kind too well. He knew the move was false even as the arm rose and so was ready when that hand curved suddenly downward to the holstered gun.

His own holster flap was buckled. In that fraction of a second he wasted no time in trying to loosen it. He grabbed left-handed at the dull steel of Splann's rising weapon and threw all of his weight behind a blow of his right fist upward against the bearded jaw. It rocked the big head. But the man was solidly planted. He felt the gun's hammer rise in his palm and hooked his thumb around it. It snapped with no explosion and he hardly felt the metal's sharp cut in the flesh of his thumb. For the hatred dammed back in him so long had released something savage and cruel. He threw his fist again into a body blow. The gun came free into his hand with his thumb still blocking the hammer. He swung it, lashing across Splann's face. It half turned the man around and he brought the heavy weapon's barrel once more against the side of his head. That dropped him forward onto his knees.

Standing back, he was aware then of the others who had come running off. He heard Quarternight's voice: "What's he done?"

He answered without turning. "Splann's quit. He's through." He released the gun's hammer and shook away the blood. Behind him Jim Hope blurted out as high and shrill as a girl, "Judas priest! Was he figurin' to kill you?"

"Kid!" Quarternight said, "shut up."

Splann bent over and wiped his face and got onto his legs unsteadily. He held the back of one hand against his cheek. His hot eyes glared over it. "You've started something, Burnet. I warned you once to stay clear."

"You've got a month's pay coming," he said. "You can take the horse for that. Now get out!" The heated rush of anger was gone now in the way of a storm's tumult that has passed and left only a knowledge of the damage in its wake. This wasn't a clean end; a killer's savage blood was not in him. "When you go," he said, "stay away from camp. I'll throw your bedroll off. I'm letting you out easy. I know... you'll head back to your Open A friends now and work from there."

Splann dropped his arm. "You want to save that?"

"How?"

"Let me see Clay Manning."

He shook his head. "You'll see no one."

Splann turned. He was in the saddle when he said, "You're draggin' down more than you know. I'll see Clay. Tell him so. And there'll be two others when I do!" He pulled his horse around and jumped him into a lope.

Quarternight growled, "Lew, you had him. Why didn't you finish it?"

"Not my way, I guess," he said. "Anyhow, Splann's only one. It wouldn't have settled anything."

Enough time had passed, he felt, for Steve and Clay in camp. He moved back to his horse. From the saddle, with the others up around him, he said, "I know we've all done enough riding in the past twenty-four hours, but I'm going to ask you to ride some more. We're lucky in getting ourselves bunched. That thunderstorm was bad and it must have given a stampede down at Doan's. Those herds were all camped too close together. If they ran they mixed, and it'll take a week to get them untangled. This gives us a chance to trail ahead. So we'll go in and eat and then we'll cross."

There was another reason also he had for moving now. Times like this work was better than anything else. He didn't want Joy, or the men either, with an idleness to go back over what had happened. Now the shock still held them in a numb way. Throwing themselves into the job of crossing would ease the bad hours that were bound to come.

Joy stood at the end of her wagon, both arms rigidly down at her sides. Clay had just stepped back from her. He didn't locate Steve.

She drew her head up and raised her eyes to Clay's. "I'm all right." He seemed to look far down in them and see all of this girl's quiet courage and something else in their steady gaze, unreadable to him.

Then Clay was at his side. His hand took her arm. "Honey, you'd better rest." His blue eyes turned with a hot stare. "That goes for the whole camp, I figure. Any objections, Lew?"

He saw where Clay was leading. The challenge was thinly veiled. And that a man even with Clay's surly temper should force any issue now showed him how unexplainably bitter the reasons must be.

"We'll rest," he said, "beyond the river. We're going across as soon as we eat."

"Not if I know it!" Clay jerked his glance to the girl. "Joy, this is up to us. You don't have to go on."

"Clay!" She stared at him with a suddenly lost look. "What are you doing?"

"Joy," Lew said, "never mind. We're all of us on edge. It'll be all right." He moved to Clay's side and put his hand on his arm, his body covering the hard grip of his fingers. He turned Clay and walked him, the grip digging in. They were jerked her hearing when the arm jerked free.

He halted. "Clay, damn your soul." He could speak without anger now. His own life had been bitter and twisted enough at times so that he could know the hounding torment of another's mind. He had that understanding without knowing what was behind it. "This is plenty hard for her," he said. "You haven't made it any easier. What kind of a devil's driving you, Clay? I'll tell you one thing. You needn't hide so much maybe. Splann's quit."

"Quit?" Clay turned and was suddenly rigid and still. "You mean he pulled out himself?"

"Well, no," he said. "I fired him. We had a run-in." He waited, watching that desperate, driven look set across Clay's big face. "Splann will go to the Open A. I know that. What does it mean?"

There was no hot violence that he had expected in the answer. "It means," Clay said, "you've played hell." He swung his broad shoulders and walked away.

Lying there with the mid-afternoon sun bright upon its surface and the green grass stretching away beyond the north shore, the Red looked as inviting as a man could want. But a trail boss never could be sure. He had learned that himself in the way all men had learned it, by grief. Yet he felt that now was the one time to cross. A man shouldn't wait for the high water to drop to normal level. Flood had scoured the river to its hardpan bottom. Later, when the current slowed completely, the silt would pile up. That made your quicksand, the dreaded deathtrap for cattle.

Wheeling from the bank, he saw Clay in camp arguing with the men around him. But Quarternight was in there. Clay wouldn't get far with old Rebel John. Off on the flat the pooled longhorns had lain down, resting. Moonlight Bailey and Jim Hope were grazing the horses apart from them along the creek.

He sailed a yell into camp and saw the men start toward him, all except Clay and Steve. And then, waiting for the riders to come out, and with that sign of Clay's growing rebellion so clear, his mind went to a thing he had not thought of before. Tom Arnold had said for him to look in an old account book that Joy's wagon carried if anything happened. A moment's speculation held him, but afterward in the rush of work he did not think of it again.

Riding on toward the horse herd, he could see the dead-tired heaviness of his crew. Yet there was no complaint and there would be none. "We'll get across and camp early," he promised.

The horses had no fear of the river. Under pressure of the riders strung out behind them they raced to the water and plunged in, sending muddy geysers higher than their heads.

He pulled off on the bank and watched them closely, seeing the flood touch their bellies but come no farther than that. It was safe enough, he thought, to cross the wagons.

When his wave brought them out of camp he saw Clay on the seat with Joy, driving for her, his big shape stiff and set. Without a wait for help he turned down the slippery bank.

Crabtree's Idea Might Have Serious Drawback

Old man Crabtree had become a chronic case of "determined to be sick" and had been boring his doctor, young Johnson, with talk of being bedridden for life, death, funerals, etc.

One fine morning he met the physician in front of the drug store and said: "Doctor, I know I'm gonna die before long! Yes, suh, I know it! Feel it in m' bones! I think I'd like to be cremated when I die. What do you think o' the idea, doctor?"

"Well, Mr. Crabtree," the young doctor replied, "the cremation idea may be all right, but your wife may complain of your leaving ashes around!"

STATE OF MICHIGAN

In the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix in Chancery

In the Matter of the Petition of Vernon J. Brown, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon. To the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery: Vernon J. Brown, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

1. That he is the Auditor General of the State of Michigan and makes and files this petition under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 126 of the Public Acts of 1933, as amended;

2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, and the description of all lands in said county which are delinquent for any installment of taxes under the provisions of the act last above mentioned;

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four per cent and (d) $1.00 for expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned;

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your petitioner prays: a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and decree that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended;

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained;

c. That said decree provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount decreed against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides;

d. That your petitioner may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable. And your petitioner will ever pray, etc. Dated: January 12, 1944

Father & Son
Banquet Success

25TH ANNUAL AFFAIR HELD AT HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM
LAST THURSDAY

East Jordan's 25th annual Father and Son banquet, held at the High School Gym, Thursday evening, Feb. 24, was a highly successful affair, which includes both the entertainment, and the bounteous dinner served by the Methodist Ladies.

The school band was much in evidence when the crowd marched to their places, then the crowd sang the National Anthem accompanied by the band, after which Parker Seiler gave the invocation. The Toastmaster of the affair was no less than Ted Malpass, who introduced our prominent potato grower, Bill Shepard, with the following remarks: It so seems Bill was sitting in church in his usual manner with one eye closed and the other half closed, while the Reverend was expounding on the subject of present day commentators. Bill, bright and early the next morning, was found standing at the Rev's door with a sack on his shoulder, when asked what he wanted he replied, "I heard your remarks yesterday about present day common 'taters and thought I'd bring you a bag full of good Chipewas potatoes that I raised!"

Bill, being the up-and-coming 'young' fellow that he is, came right back by telling of the discussion that he had with Ted's wife the other day, in which she told Bill that Ted was a model husband. Bill promptly went home and looked up the word in the dictionary, which gave the meaning: "Model — a small imitation of the real thing." After this mild "ribbing" Bill told what he expected of his son, which included that he be a good football player.

Francis Karr then told what he expected of his father, which included: Good advice, and a good example, as most kids try to imitate their father to a marked degree.

East Jordan's "Colored" Chorists, consisting of Robert McCarthy, Albert Omland, Henry Drenth, Wm. Malpass III, Ted Malpass, Bernard Brennen, Oscar Weisler, John Seiler, Wm. Malpass II, Richard Malpass, and L. B. Karr, with Don Winkle as director and Mrs. G. W. Bechtold as pianist, sang two songs, "Kentucky Babe" and "Cornfield Melodies." Their music was excellent and they were called upon for an encore which they gracefully declined to give. The kids were especially delighted with Henry Drenth's tenor solo of "Kabunk" in the "Kentucky Babe" number. The speaker of the evening was John Gill, Coach of Western State Teachers College, Kalamazoo. Mr. Gill pointed out the advantages football could give to the youth of today. During the last war, he said, Germany realized that our boys had a sense of leadership, understanding and determination that their boys lacked. They discovered that football had the advantage of giving this to the boys, along with muscle building, whereas their form of mass calisthenics failed to build anything besides muscles. Oddly enough, he continued, the army has scrapped the football plan during this war. Insurance companies point out that there are fewer suicides among those who have been football players.

Mr. Gill related how the village of Climax, Mich., failing in their efforts to obtain a coach, turned the job over to the fathers of the village, who produced a highly successful athletic program there. He also pointed out that good school work should only be supplemented with athletics, not neglected in favor of athletics. The advantages obtained from football, Mr. Gill showed, are: A tendency to eliminate cockiness, develop determination and stick-to-it attitude, teaches co-ordinating with the other fellow, leadership and last, but not least, to make your own breaks.

Mr. Gill's talk was followed with excellent colored motion pictures of the Notre Dame—Great Lakes football game played during the fall of 1943.

The Benediction was given by Rev. Howard C. Moore of the Methodist Church. East Jordan was well aware of the number of her sons in the service, as the majority of sons there were well under 15 years of age.

The Temple

The program for the week beginning Friday includes: The Battle of Russia, Fall in, No Time for Love, Happy Land and Million B. C.

Friday and Saturday, March 3-4. "The Battle of Russia" is one of the finest stories dealing with world affairs, that has been told on the screen. High school students, business men and women, in fact all people interested in world affairs, those who want to know the Why and How of Germany's attack on Russia, will find the story vividly and clearly told. A story of unusual interest and educational value today.

Also "Fall In," starring William, Joe Sawyer and petite Jean Porter, the stars of "Tanks a Million" and "About Face." The battling sergeants are at it again, louder and funnier in their third and most hilarious adventure of the war.

Sun—Mon. "No Time For Love," a bubbling, exhilarating comedy. The romance of a sand-hog, Fred MacMurray, who knows all about fist-cuffs and femmes, both of which he handles with directness and an expert photographer and smart set darling, Claudette Colbert. You will enjoy this wacky comedy of the girl who was all business until she "fell" into the arms of the handsome sand-hog who taught her a lesson in love. A Paramount production with an excellent rating.

Tues-Wed. "Happy Land", the story of an American family in war time with no heroics and no emotional outbursts. The proprietor of a small mid-western town drugstore, Don Ameche, receives a telegram announcing the death of his sailor son. From there the story of the boy's growth to manhood is told in retrospect. A picture based on the novel by MacKinley Kantor, which ran in the Saturday Evening Post and one which will linger long in the minds of those who see it. This picture has an almost perfect rating by all reviewers and is one which every member of the family should see. Tell your friends about it.

Thursday Nights, Family Night, "Million B. C." a United Artist production starring Victor Mature and Carole Landis.

Coming soon: Claudia, Riding High, Flesh and Fantasy, Sweet Rosie O'Grady.

We'll see you at the Temple.

Do You Know What War Is?

A Detroit visitor, Marine Pfc. William S. Gladkowski, 19, Buffalo, N. Y., said this: You know what war is when you've fought for months in the Southwest Pacific and then on the way home you have to guard your buddies who have become mental patients. When you see men you shared fox-holes with, throw their food on the floor and try to eat their knives and forks, when you see them locked up and stripped so they won't hang themselves with their clothes you have seen the terribleness of war.

No Connection Whatever

Following the unfortunate death of Jimmy Davis, a rumor started around town that another young man was mixed up in the matter. There was no foundation whatever for this. Chief of Police Simmons earlier that night had arrested a young man for disturbing the peace during the basketball game at the school grounds. The young man was lodged in the city jail over night, found to be a minor, and later the lad's father took him before the Probate Judge at Charlevoix. On the wall of the office of Auditor General Vernon J. Brown, in the capitol building at Lansing, is a chart that provides an answer, in Mr. Brown's judgment, to the current controversy over state surplus funds.

The chart graphs the dip of state revenues during the 1937-39 Murphy administration, the gradual retirement of the $30,000,000 debt during the Dickinson and Van Wagoner administrations, and the accumulation of approximately $35,000,000 surplus during the latter part of the Van Wagoner era and the Kelly regime to date.

"We went into debt at the rate of $15,000,000 a year during the 1937-39 recession when welfare needs arose sharply," Auditor General Brown pointed out. "Now we have been accumulating a surplus at much the same rate — $15,000,000 a year — over and above the normal expenditures of state and local governments. What's wrong with this?"

"Every prudent business man tries to accumulate savings in good times to meet unforeseen demands of bad times. The state government is doing just that — putting funds away for post-war rainy days."

As the auditor general sees it, the state's revenue is dependent chiefly upon the flow of retail trade. Business is dependent upon industry, for Michigan is an industrial state.

When employment is down, retail business suffers. Then the state collects fewer dollars from its 3 per cent sales tax, although demands upon it for welfare mount steadily.

Since Michigan spends normally one-third of all funds for welfare activities — old age pensions, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind, an so on — the dilemma is obvious. Confronted with this dilemma, Governor Murphy chose to spend money that the state didn't have — in other words, go into debt — rather than deny necessities of life to those who were in need of them. The next governor of Michigan may be called upon, should the state treasury lack a "rainy day" surplus, to ask the legislature to do likewise.

At Lansing this week the new legislative tax study committee met for organization purposes.

Represented on the committee are local and state governments, together with farm, labor, business and industrial groups. Appointments were made by the governor on recommendation of his advisors.

Affected by such a study are governmental units which recently formed the Michigan Institute of Local Government, headed by State Treasurer D. Hale Brake. The complications are many. The co. road commissions sought a $3,000,000 "cut" children eating medical tablets, thinking they were candy. Both children were about two years old. Also, both died.

At Ellsworth the Henry Vanderark home burned. The parents had put the two children to bed, then went to a neighbor's home. Neighbors rescued the children. Mr. Vanderark, not knowing they had been removed, rushed into the house and was burned to death.

Mrs. David Ruch died at her home on West Water Street March 3rd. This date was her 64th birthday.

Three new boys arrived in town at the homes of the Cecil Blairs, William Doyle and LeRoy Shermans. There is also a new girl at the John Dolezel home.

Mrs. Hunter of Marlette is here to help care for her son, George, who has been seriously ill with typhoid fever.

(From St. Joseph's school notes: "Yesterday the Fifth grade blushed and hung their heads as they witnessed the Fourth grade coming out victorious in an arithmetic contest held with them. Francis Nachazel still remains the star of the class.")

(From Rock Elm: "After a vacation of two months our school started last Monday. Miss Ethel Brintnall is again at the helm.")

March 7, 1924

Clippings from an Oregon paper announce the selection of Joe Maddock as University of Oregon Grid Coach for the coming three years.

Sherman White underwent an appendectomy at the Charlevoix hospital Thursday.

The Detroit and Charlevoix railroad was re-opened last week, after being blocked by snow for some time.

From the state surplus fund during the 1944 special session at Lansing, Mayor George Welsh of Grand Rapids threatened Governor Kelly with political reprisal in his plea for diversion of cities of money from the state surplus fund.

Township supervisors, assembling at Lansing, provided a political setting whereby Lieut. Governor Keyes criticized Governor Kelly for alleged failure to meet the financial needs of home governments.

The study commission has a tremendous task to perform. Ten months will be insufficient, we fear, to complete the job.

The state sales tax, which replaced the burdensome property levy, has become the Michigan goose that lays the golden eggs.

Local governments, more and more, are being subsidized by the state, while the state looks increasingly to the federal treasury for aid. Township highways have been taken over by county highways; county road commissions are subsidized, in turn, by state funds. This illustration can be multiplied many times.

All in all, the state spends only 37.5 per cent of its funds for state needs. The remainder is returned to home governments — 62.5 per cent! Result: A decline in tax responsibility.

The Michigan taxpayer sees a picture of more and more centralization of government at Lansing and Washington, while local home governments become more and more dependent upon state and federal funds.

Auditor General Brown sums up the trend as follows: "Farther and farther from the man who pays the bill goes the controls which once were his safeguards against waste, extravagance, dictation, inefficiency, arrogance and all the other evils which follow when local government surrenders its rightful prerogatives."

In a Lincoln Day talk, Governor Thomas Dewey of New York made this remark: "As dangerous as secession, abdication has also shown how the institutions of freedom are undermined. For free government must always work from the bottom up, not from the top down."

Surrender by local government of its rightful prerogatives, financed locally by the people, is just what Governor Dewey says it is: ABDICATION! Here is the open door to wasteful and arrogant bureaucracy.

Mrs. Laura Allen Schell Passes Away At Age of 79 Years

Mrs. Laura Allen Schell was born in St. Lawrence Co., New York State, August 6, 1865, and died at her home in East Jordan February 23, 1944.

Her first marriage was to Levi Hayes. By this marriage she leaves four children: Harry Hayes, Boyne City; Viola Anbury Smith, Saginaw; Rollie Hayes, Central Lake; and Maggie Parks, Ellsworth; a foster son, Walter Rangler, of Detroit.

She was married to Stephan Schell in 1910. After living on a farm near Vanderbilt for many years, they moved to East Jordan in 1925, and have made their home here since that time.

She had always been a hard worker, but the past few months her health made this impossible. She was a member of the Mennonite Church. The funeral service was at the home on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, conducted by Rev. C. W. Sidebotham. The interment was at Sunset Hill.

The feeling is mutual

THAT'S America marching — and America watching — both stirred by a warm patriotic pride so real you can feel it.

The strength of this nation in peace or war is the strength of all who have a mutual interest in it.

You realize that you have a large stake in America — but very likely you overlook the size of your personal stake in the industries that help build America.

Take the electric light and power companies, for example. Perhaps, like some of your friends and neighbors, you own stock in your electric company. But even if you don't, you have a definite interest just the same.

Your bank and insurance company, which have your savings in trust for you — as well as colleges, hospitals, fraternal orders — make large investments in utility securities. There your money goes to work — powering war plants, lighting homes — guided and guarded by experienced business management.

So you have a mutual investment in industry and in America.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

American Fleet, Planes Strike Truk, Major Japanese Naval Base in Pacific; Tighten Deferment of Farm Workers; Allies, Nazis Trade Blows at Anzio

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

PACIFIC: Strike Westward

Two years and two months after the Japs' assault on Pearl Harbor, U. S. air and sea forces struck back at the enemy's own big Pacific base of Truk in the Caroline islands, central hub of Jap naval operations for their extended empire reaching into the Philippines and Indies.

Preceding the attack on Truk by several hundred planes operating from carriers shielded by a strong armada of battleships, cruisers and destroyers, long-range Liberator bombers plastered the other big Jap bastion of Ponape in the Carolines.

Centrally located in Japan's Pacific empire, both Truk and Ponape serve as a radiating point for enemy naval and air forces to operate against an attacking force while close to home stations. Loss of the Carolines to the Japs would mean loss of their advantage of operating close to defensive bases, and, vice versa, give the Allies the advantage.

As the Liberators took to their wings to plaster the Carolines, U. S. ground forces were putting the finishing touches to fighting in the Marshalls where small islet garrisons were being rooted out, and in the Solomons, where Allied landings to the north trapped 22,000 Japs holding out on Bougainville, Buka and Choiseul.

FARM WORKERS: Draft Shakeup

Only those farmers who can produce 16 war units a year will be eligible for agricultural deferment, and the 700,000 farmers now in 3-C for dependency as well as occupational reasons, also will be reclassified and put into 2-C only if their work is essential.

More than 1,000,000 farmers are in 2-C, of which 400,000 are said to be single and under 22 years of age. With the 700,000 presently in 3-C, 1,700,000 farmers considered essential will be put into 2-C and given six-month deferments, with their cases again reopened at the end of that time.

Action on farm workers' cases followed general tightening up of draft regulations in the face of military demands for about 1,000,000 more men by July 1, with city dads no longer deferrable for dependencies and industrial deferments subject to stricter standards.

RUSSIA: Finns Talk Peace

Russian troops made further gains along the Estonian border on the north end of the 800 mile eastern front, while reports indicated that the Finns were sounding out Moscow for peace terms.

As the Russ continued to chew into Nazi defenses below Leningrad, the Germans fell back to avoid encirclement from the rear, and each step backward found them closer to Estonia and the other Baltic states of Latvia and Lithuania.

Russo-Finnish peace reportedly hung on terms Moscow might offer, with the Finns receptive to proposals based on the 1940 border, but opposed to occupation of their military and naval strongholds by the Reds.

With the Russ again in possession of much of the mining region of the southern Ukraine, Finland remained one of the last sources of nickel for the Germans, and Hitler reportedly sought to prevent Finland's desertion of the Axis to protect these deposits.

EUROPE: Beachhead Battle

With the sea at their backs, U. S. and British troops traded heavy blows with the Germans on the Anzio beachhead below Rome, as the big battle for the Eternal City raged.

While other Allied troops crawled forward up rugged mountain slopes about Cassino, the forces at Anzio fought with tanks on level terrain, countering the full weight of the enemy's famed panzer units.

In assaulting the beachhead, the Germans concentrated on the northern sector, 10 miles above the port of Anzio, through which supplies were streaming to Allied forces. With the area under fire of enemy artillery and bombers, Allied troops fought hard to keep the port open.

Bloody fighting continued on the Cassino front, with doughboys taking one by one concrete houses made into fortified pillboxes by the Germans, and other Yanks struggling up monastery hill to gain command over Nazi positions and the supply road leading to Rome, which lay below.

CONGRESS: Ban Subsidies

With congress voting against continuation of subsidy payments to reduce retail prices of meat, butter, milk and other food items, GOP house members served notice that if the President vetoed the bill they would attempt to make it part of the measure to extend price control after June 30, thus forcing the President to accept it or kill his whole anti-inflation program.

To assure continued existence of the Commodity Credit corporation in the event of a presidential veto of the subsidy clause, congress wrote in an emergency provision extending its life until permanent legislation could be passed.

In voting against consumer subsidies, congressional foes of such payments said they could only save the average family about 11 cents a day, during a time when national income was at an all-time level. Advocates of subsidies, however, said abolition of such payments would bring about a 7 per cent increase in the price of the foods affected, and a 3 per cent rise in the general cost of living, leading to a clamor for stricter wages.

Bucks Labor Draft

While congress was voting down consumer food subsidies, AFL President William Green told a senate military committee holding hearings on the Austin-Wadsworth labor draft that wage stabilization in the face of increasing living costs was the principal cause of strikes.

Sen. Austin Said Green: "The way to prevent strikes is through upward revision of wage rates, or even more effectively, by rigid reduction and control of prices of the necessities of life."

While Senator Austin (Vt.) contended that a labor draft would reduce turnover in war plants and allow the War Manpower commission tighter control over job placements, Green said the act would amount to involuntary servitude, since civilian workers would have to take jobs in plants operating at private profit.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

HICCUPS: A 21-year-old New York city girl, hiccupping for 44 days, appealed to the President to obtain a furlough for her physician, who is a captain in the army. She said that the doctor saved her life two years ago by a delicate operation when she was suffering from another prolonged attack of hiccups. The President granted a leave for the officer to treat her.

CENTENARIAN: George W. Camerer, a veteran of the Civil war, who now lives in Jerseyville, Ill., has just reached his 100th birthday. He said he "wouldn't mind joining the army and going to Africa if his feet would hold up." He has 10 grandsons, two great grandsons, and a granddaughter serving in the armed forces in the present World War II.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JESUS URGES HIS DISCIPLES TO WATCH

LESSON TEXT: Mark 13:3-10, 31-37. GOLDEN TEXT: Watch ye therefore: for ye know not when the master of the house cometh.—Mark 13:35.

God has a plan, and even now when men seem to have turned all order into chaos, we know that God is working out His purpose. The important crisis in that plan of God which we now await is the return of Christ, His second coming.

He will come secretly to call His own Church, the Bride, to Himself, and then He will come openly, in great glory, when every eye shall behold Him. Then His enemies shall be confounded, and His eternal kingdom be established.

We look for His coming, but while we wait (and it may not be long!) we are to occupy for Him until He comes. Our lesson tells men

I. What to Expect While Waiting for Christ (vv. 3-9).

First, we note that we are to expect the coming of false teachers and false Christs, who will claim to be the fulfillment of the prophetic Scriptures. We need only one admonition concerning them, "Take heed that no man lead you astray."

There have always been such false leaders who for the prominence or gain afforded them are willing to offer bewildered mankind all sorts of panaceas whereby it is supposed to solve its problems. It seems that these men increase in numbers when great crises, such as war, come upon the nations. Do not be misled by them. Just because a man seems to be devout and professes to be interested in Christ's return does not make him a dependable teacher. Are not these the very ones Jesus warned against? They must meet the test of all of God's Word.

Christ warns believers that before the end of the age there will be world-wide war, earthquakes in many places, and famines. These are to be expected, and will come. But here a word of caution is needed. We must not seize upon present events and rush out (or into print) and tell people that "this is it!"

We should be alert in relating world events to the teaching of Scripture, but let us "make haste slowly." But let no one assume that the need for caution justifies him in ignoring either the Word or world events. We are to be alert, well informed, spiritual and ready.

II. What to Do While Waiting for Christ (v. 10).

Preach the gospel! That is our first and most important business. Our Lord said that the whole world was to be evangelized before the end came. Please note carefully that He did not say that all nations will be saved, but that they will hear the gospel.

That is our responsibility—to see to it that every nation has a full and free opportunity to hear the blessed gospel message. We have not done it, and the failure of the Church at that point is a dark blot on its record.

There seems to be a revival of interest in the work of missions now, and there are many who believe that at the close of this war almost the entire world will be open for Christian missionaries. This will probably be true for a limited time only, and it is the urgent business of the Church now to prepare the missionaries who will then be needed.

And in the meantime we should all be busy about the all-important matter of teaching and preaching the gospel. It is the best preparation for the coming of Christ and the thing we would want to be doing when He comes.

III. How to Live While Waiting for Christ (vv. 31-37).

There should be an air of expectancy constantly characterizing the Christian. We are looking for Someone—yes, a very definite and glorious One—our Lord Himself. We do not know when He will come (v. 32). That is a matter hidden in the eternal counsels of God the Father, a secret into which angels do not pry, and which even the Son did not know. Why then do foolish men attempt to learn it? Beware of any man who sets a date for Christ's return or for the end of the age. He is setting himself up as being superior to Christ, and you can be sure that he is an impostor.

We do not know the day, but of the fact we are sure. Christ is coming again! So we are to be watchful as we wait. God has not called us to stand idle, looking for the dawning of that glorious day. We are to be about His business, but everywhere and always, wide awake and looking for Him.

That kind of a believer (and all believers should be that kind) will pray. We are to "watch and pray." They go together. The one who prays will watch. The one who watches will pray. Possibly some of us are not praying because we have fallen asleep and no longer watch for His coming. Then too we probably fell asleep because we did not pray.

ON THE HOME FRONT

WE KNOW that the Eighteenth Century is often called the golden age of the cabinet makers. We know that the English cabinet makers, Chippendale, Hepplewhite, Sheraton and the Adam brothers, flourished then and that their work was copied by our own cabinet makers of the late Colonial period. The furniture type of their day have become standard with us.

Visitors to the reconstructed village of Williamsburg, Va., are often surprised to find that Venetian blinds were the fashion long before the Revolution, and the well tailored canvas lined valance used with floor length chintz draperies also seem modern to them. Yet these were the curtain styles when ladies and gentlemen wore powdered wigs. Valances were made just as we make them today and were tacked to a valance board in pretty much the same manner as is shown here.

NOTE—This is the second of a series on modern adaptations of period curtain fashions. Another version of the shaped type of valance is given in BOOK 5 of the series of booklets on sewing for the home. To get copy of Book 5 send 15 cents direct to:

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

A gallon of latex is about one-third rubber and two-thirds water. GR-S, the synthetic rubber now used in civilian tire manufacture, requires more time in being fabricated at factories. With the equipment and labor shortage, this means that the industry has a tremendous problem ahead of it to make the 30 million new tires scheduled for 1944.

Back in 1823, when rubber shoes were shipped here from Brazil, they were not made according to sizes or for left and right feet. Just thick rubber coverings that were stretched over the regular leather shoes. They were solid in winter, gooey in summer.

Reveille on the Jordan

Just a little message to the boys in the service from the folks back home. Sponsored by the East Jordan Community Service Club.

Friends:

Elsewhere in this issue of the paper you will no doubt find the program together with a writeup about the twenty-fifth annual father and son banquet which was held last Thursday night in the High School Gymnasium. I too would like to tell you who are interested in this, that in my opinion the banquet, including both dinner and program was a success and was likewise enjoyed by all present.

Yes you were missed, faces were different, the average age of the sons was younger than in previous years, and yet, life goes on.

Last year some of those present were ready to be inducted, and so too this year. Last year practically all of those awaiting induction were sons, this year some are fathers.

Let us just stop and review a few tallies that might help you to picture what we are trying to say. There are approximately 400 servicemen and women now on our mailing list and by checking on the addresses in this week's list we find that about 190 are overseas and on the high seas, or close to 50 per cent of this total. Out of this approximately 400, only two, as far as we know, were present at this year's father and son banquet, they were LELAND HICKOX and JACK DIXON (Gothro).

This gives somewhat of an idea how many were not at the banquet this year who would have, had they been home.

So again we would say with all the rest of those who did attend the banquet, that we did miss you, but our hope and prayer is that next year it will again be possible for us to enjoy this event, who now certainly has been established as one of the outstanding annual activities, together with you.

Henry Drenth.

HOME FRONT NEWS

Last week you will remember our mentioning that we had heard a certain party was in town but up to that time we had not seen him. It was also mentioned that his certain party would certainly look us up if he at all practiced what he preached, but fellows, believe it or not, all that we can report is that he didn't. Now for the rest of you, don't follow Ed's example. We also mentioned in last week's column of having seen HAROLD MOORE who is with the Seabees. Well just before leaving, Harold called us up as he had not found time to do otherwise during his short stay at home, having only 12 days leave. Harold reports the Seabees to be just all right, in fact up until the time of his leave, he had not done much that would not compare with his former civilian duties, having operated a shovel most of the time.

Harold caught the afternoon train out of Mancelona and was to report to the same outfit and former camp, however, expecting a transfer not too far away. Via the party line, we hear that VESTAL CLARK was also home for a short time. The two PRAY brothers, DAVE and BOB must have just missed each other on their furloughs, as it seems Dave no more than returned to camp than Bob comes home, it sure would have been nice if you two fellows could have seen each other. A note left with us says to discontinue sending the paper to Bob for a short time at least, as he has now finished his basic training, which accounts for his furlough, which is being spent with his family at Gaylord. Bob is in the medical corps and has been stationed for some time at Camp Grant, Illinois. LEE HICKOX was seen in town this week but as yet have no further information. Another who has completed his boot training and given a 14 day leave is JACK DIXON who has been stationed at Great Lakes and made it home just in time to get in on the father and son banquet. Jack says he likes the navy just fine, in fact would hate to have to leave it. Upon completion of this training Jack was given a S-2c rating and is to report back to Chicago where he expects to receive further training at the navy pier.

NEWS FROM THE FRONT

Not so many issues back we told how JOE LILAK had recovered from wounds received in Italy and was in the fight again. Last week his mother received a letter from Joe telling her he had been wounded in the arm and would have to be in the hospital for some time. We're sorry it had to happen to Joe again but he has the assurance that all the folks back home are hoping for a speedy recovery for him. We hope that the time wouldn't be too far hence before we hear the news that all is well with him. From Joe's mother we also learn that FRANCIS LILAK now has APO number 400. We are wondering if this indicates a change of location for him, or just one of those things. . . . It wouldn't take long to cover the letters received this week as they were few and far between. Your letters are our main source of material and the only way we have of getting the news direct from you so don't let us down. Keep those letters pouring in. We get several cards giving only the change of address but when it comes to writing about them we can only mention the change of location and then try and guess the rest. Won't you just add a few lines on those cards telling us a little about your trip in transfer, the scenery, your new training, and just anything that the other four hundred service buddies of yours would like to hear about and don't forget we at home too are interested in knowing the news about you. This week, ROBERT WALKER wrote in from Camp Roberts, California, where he is beginning his army training. So far, Bob has no complaint to make about army life but is looking forward to the happy day when he can set foot on the old home town's main street. He is in training with a field artillery unit and as we thumbed through our file we noticed that LEO BEYER is also at Camp Roberts and is training with the 54th Bn. of the 12th Field Artillery regiment. If Camp Roberts isn't too large and if Leo hasn't moved from there, perhaps they could make contact and then sit down and write us a long letter telling about it. . . . GALE BRINTNALL has given up his corporal stripes to be an aviation cadet. Gale is now in a pre-flight school at Maxwell Field, Alabama, and is training for a bombardier. . . . Another aviation cadet who has recently been transferred is GALEN SEILER. During the transfer trip from Norman, Oklahoma, to Corpus Christi, Texas, his new station, Galen was in charge of the group and we hear he didn't have much difficulty maintaining law and order although the Texas girls were a big attraction. Galen will be glad to know that he is in the same vicinity with Cpl. and Mrs. MASON CLARK. Mason can be found while on duty on Wade Island with Training Squadron 51. Their home address is 3405 Ave. C, Plaza Courts, Cabin 8, Corpus Christi, Texas. We can guess that as soon as time permits Galen will make use of these addresses. . . . Probably TOM JOYNT got tired of Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, and had himself transferred to Albion College, Michigan. Anyway that's our guess but we'll need Tom to set us on the right track. A card from the St. Louis postoffice states he had removed to Albion, Michigan, but it's pretty hard to believe that Tom got such a break and was sent to his home state. Let's hear the details, Tom. . . . Congratulations to a swell marine, BUD STREHL! According to a news release from the headquarters of Bud's division we have word that he has been promoted from a Technical Sergeant to a Master Technical Sergeant. Bud has been overseas in the South Pacific for a number of months and at the present time is in charge of telephone communications. . . . In a letter from ALFRED ROGERS, JR. in England, we have a request for the APO numbers of all the boys overthere. It would almost be impossible to print them all but here are a few that may be close to you. Delbert Dennis' number is 15 less than yours, Eugene Crandall's is 253 less, and Guy Hitchcock, Donald LaPeer, and Eugene Umlor have an APO number of 252 less. With so many of you in England it seems a little surprising that more of you have not been able to contact each other but hope that before too long some of you will be able to get together. . . . And now looking over the changes of addresses for this week we notice that CLIFFORD DERENZY has moved with his same outfit from Port Richmond Station on Staten Island to Camp Stewart, Georgia. . . . HARRY MOORE should feel quite safe at Camp Campbell, Kentucky, as DEWEY "Johnny" LAISURE has been moved there to help protect the base. Since Harry has been at that camp the longest and probably knows the lay of the land a bit better than John, we suggest that he do the looking for his East Jordan buddy. He will find John with Btry. B, 787 AAA (aw) Bn. The APO number given was 402. Here's wishing success in your search, Harry. . . . ARCHIE DAVIS, WM. BENNETT, JOHN SMITH and THOMAS RUSSELL have new addresses in care of postmaster, New York. . . . The APO number of GEORGE TROJANEK and CARL GRUTSCH has been changed to 308. . . . We believe that LEO NEMECZEK is right where he's been wishing to be since his transfer to Gulfport a few weeks ago and that is at Keesler Field, Mississippi. The reason: Pals WILLIAM SAXTON and WILLIAM WALDEN are also stationed there. This reminds us that the box number in Bill's address has been changed to 147. . . . Maneuvers in Louisiana have just begun for RICHARD MCKINNON. . . .

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Somethin' special catch your eye in the paper, Judge?"
"Sure did, Chet...an article here telling about prohibition in India being written off by the Madras government as a dismal failure after a three-year trial. They found out that enforcement was ineffective and that there was a steady increase in bootlegging and other violations of the law which increased penalties failed to check.

"It all goes to prove what I've said time and time again, Chet...prohibition does not prohibit. It's been tried in this country 47 times in the last 33 years and discarded everywhere except in three states. Was found to be a failure and abandoned in Canada, Norway, Sweden, Finland and Russia, too.
"Same thing happens every time...as soon as legal liquor is voted out, bootleg liquor with its crime and corruption moves right in."

You won't get 'em soon after the war either. The automobile of the future will be sturdy, cheap, and good to look at, but scientists forecast they won't be those fantastic dreams most people expect. Read what Robert Potter, Science Editor, has to say on this controversial subject in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Sunday Chicago Herald-American.
