EAST JORDAN, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1944.

NUMBER 20

Mrs. Irene Snyder Laid To Rest

BELOVED CITIZEN AND PIANO INSTRUCTOR LEAVES MANY FRIENDS TO MOURN HER LOSS

Mrs. Jason Snyder passed away at Little Traverse Hospital, Petoskey, Friday, May 12, after an illness of three months, from a rare infection, following surgery.

Irene J. Bashaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Bashaw, was born in South Arm Township, Oct. 25, 1902; and had spent her entire life in this community.

After graduation from St. Joseph's Parochial school, she attended Wisconsin Conservatory of Music, at Milwaukee, Wis.; Mary Wood Academy of Music in Grand Rapids, and Bay View Assembly at Bay View.

For twenty-one years she taught piano lessons in East Jordan and Ellsworth, having as high as forty pupils at one time, her winning personality inspiring them to their best efforts.

She was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, St. Ann's Altar Society and an active member of East Jordan Study Club, always ready and willing to give her talent when needed for civic enterprise. For many years she was organist and director of music of St. Joseph's Church.

On November 6, 1936, she was united in marriage to Jason H. Snyder who, since January, 1944, has been in the armed forces, serving in England.

Beside the husband, she is survived by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bashaw; a sister, Bernice, of Petoskey; and a brother, Francis A. Bashaw of Dowagiac.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning, May 16, at 8 a. m., at St. Joseph church, conducted by Fr. Joseph J. Malinowski, with burial in Calvary Cemetery.

The bearers were Oscar Weisler, Frank Nachazel, John B. Brennan, Glenn Supernaw, Rocco DeMaio, and Robert McCarthy.

While in the measure of years, Irene's life has not been a long one, it has been a full and useful life and by her kindly disposition, her co-operation and willingness to do her part she has left a vacancy in the community.

Those from away to attend the funeral were, besides the sister and brother: Erwin Wixom and Mrs. Stella Zimmerman, Petoskey; Mr. Prokop Pesek, Onaway; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Reinhardt, Flint.

Farmers Needing Labor File Applications Now

Latest reports indicate that farmers throughout the nation plan to grow approximately 4 percent larger acreages of crops than in 1943. This means that the problem of furnishing sufficient labor will be the big job during the next four or five months. Prospects today point to a good crop of fruit. The cherry harvest alone will need all of the available supply of both adults and youth that can be recruited.

Right now, it will facilitate making this labor available if all farmers will file their work orders at the County Agent's office, indicating their needs.

The enrollment of Victory Farm Volunteers is nearly complete in the rural communities and is being conducted in the city schools at the present time. Only by 100 percent co-operation between employers and employees can success come from our efforts. All cherry growers in particular are urged to analyze their needs, as that will be the first big demand for labor. Following this will be the canning factory crops which will demand all the available help that can be recruited in the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Vance Celebrate Silver Wedding Anniversary

Saturday evening, May 13, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Vance held open house, the occasion being their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

The house was decorated with spring flowers. Music was furnished during the evening by Mrs. Howard G. Moore who sang O Promise Me, I Love You Truly, Bless This House, In May Time, and When Song is Sweet.

To the strains of Bridal Chorus by Lohengrin, played by Mrs. H. G. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Vance took their place attended by their daughter Jane Ellen and son Bryce C. and renewed their vows, Rev. Howard G. Moore reading the Silver Wedding Ritual.

A four-tiered wedding cake, baked by Mrs. E. E. Wade and Mrs. R. G. Watson, formed a centerpiece for the table. Assisting at the table were Mrs. Alice Sheppard and Mrs. Carlton Smith who pourer and Mrs. Clarence Egler served the cake.

Two other decorated wedding cakes were presented by Mrs. Sam Bennett and Mrs. Naomi Erickson.

Assisting in the kitchen were Leona, Doris Arlene and Hilda VanDeventer and Alice McClure, 4-H girls, of whom Mrs. Vance is the leader. Many lovely gifts were received by Mr. and Mrs. Vance.

There were about 125 guests present from Ellsworth, Central Lake, Mancelona, Bellaire and East Jordan. Also the two daughters, the Misses Jane Ellen and Patricia Vance, the former an instructor and the latter a student nurse at Munson Hospital, Traverse City.

Methodist Church Hold Fourth Quarterly Conference

On Friday evening, May 12, about 75 members and friends of the Methodist church met in the church parlors for a co-operative dinner. Representatives were present from the Barnard and Norwood churches.

After dinner, Rev. L. J. Nevins of Traverse City, District Superintendent, conducted the fourth quarterly conference.

Complete Information On Gardening Available at Extension Office

All Victory Gardeners are invited to get a copy of a new bulletin just received entitled "Michigan Garden Guide." Full and complete information on all gardeners' problems is enclosed in this valuable booklet. Such topics as 'What to Grow,' 'Several Practical Garden Plans,' 'Varieties to Plant,' 'Time to Plant,' 'Preparation of the Seed Bed,' 'Insect Control,' 'Spraying Schedules' and other information is included in this booklet.

Individuals or groups are urged to secure copies of this material. The public seems to like all the information in one book rather than in different booklets as was the case last year. Just remember that a good home garden should be a part of your war effort and will insure a fresh supply of vegetables for your family throughout the summer.

East Jordan Rotary Club Offer Condolence To Jason Snyder

To Jason Snyder, Somewhere in the armed service of our country.

Dear Jason: We do not know just where you now are in the service of our country, but we are thinking of you, and our hearts are with you. Wherever you are, we know, that as you always have, you are putting "service above self."

You being what you are, and Irene having meant what she has to East Jordan, our spontaneous sympathy is with you in this time of her translation. She, too, has always placed "service above self." Her splendid talents, her dynamic energy and her radiant personality were ever used in unstinted service for the benefit of every good cause. She has served us all with a graciousness that endeared her to the entire community.

We know that you will already have been comforted by a Source that is more than human. But we, the members of the East Jordan Rotary Club, wish to express to you the high esteem in which we have held Irene because her life has been a shining example of unselfishness, the spirit of which we desire to have in our own lives.

In Sympathy,
 Signature of the several members

"Jack" McKinnon Passed Away at Mancelona; Funeral Here Tuesday

John Wilmer McKinnon was born March 30, 1893, in West Superior, Wis., and died at his home in Mancelona, May 13, 1944. He had been ailing for about five months and for the past four weeks had been confined to his bed; coronary thrombosis causing his death.

In 1894 his parents moved to Spruce, Michigan, and in 1906 the family moved to East Jordan.

In 1913 he was united in marriage to Gladys Whiteford at Boyne City. They made their home in East Jordan until 1928 when they moved to Mancelona, where they have since resided.

Beside the widow he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Eunice Bradshaw of Detroit, and a grand daughter, Karen Bradshaw of Detroit; also a brother, Albert McKinnon of Toledo, Ohio.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the East Jordan Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, of which he was a member, conducted by Elder Allen Schreur of Gaylord, with burial in Sunset Hill.

Bearers were: David Whiteford, Vern Whiteford, Hugh Whiteford, Norman Whiteford, Theo Scott and Arnold Dedoes.

Among those here to attend the funeral were:— Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bradshaw and Karen, Detroit; Albert McKinnon, and Mark McKinnon, Toledo, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. William Bradshaw, Ludington; Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKinnon, Mackinaw; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schreur, Gaylord; Hector McKinnon, Michigan City, Indiana; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Whiteford, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Whiteford, Harry Doerr, Charlie Doerr, and Mrs. Iva Yorks, Traverse City.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan McKinnon and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gillard, Spruce; Al Gierke, Ed Gierke, Sr., and Ed Gierke, Jr., Grayling; Mrs. Kenneth Isaman, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Dedoes, Detroit. Also several friends from Mancelona.

BOWLING

As we go to press the Recreation is just reopening after a brief shutdown for resurfacing the alleys, and so for most of the past week the Brunswick crew of alley-men have been the sole occupants of the lanes. Under usual conditions this refinishing chore is an annual procedure required by the American Bowling Congress as a prerequisite to their official sanction, however under war time conditions this rule has been suspended to allow a two year interval providing the other specifications comply and the physical condition of the alleys meet the test of an ABC inspection. As this is the second year for the local lanes the workmen found much to do . . . particularly in regard to sanding operations. A certain amount of "lofting" during the past season left depressions in the alley surfaces that were very difficult to remove and required more machine work than otherwise would have been necessary and it is hoped that in the future more care and consideration will be evidenced by the offending players.

A newly developed surfacing material provides the alleys with a much harder and faster finish than heretofore and presents a cleaner playing surface than the old style shellacs and lacquers. Players accustomed to using pronounced "hook ball" deliveries will notice a considerable difference at first . . . while the "straight ball" artists will be "set" from the start. Care also must be exercised on the newly surfaced approaches and it would be wise to try your footwork out before attempting an actual "delivery". Last night we observed several players on their knees after too sudden stops!

And the old "grooves" have all disappeared, you'll be strictly on your own. As one player was heard to observe, "Gosh, you only get what you hit now!"

Open House Celebrates Mrs. W. E. Malpass' Eightieth Anniversary

Monday afternoon, May 15, Mrs. W. H. Malpass held open house, honoring Mrs. W. E. Malpass on her eightieth birthday anniversary.

Spring flowers were used throughout the rooms for decoration.

Over fifty friends and relatives called during the afternoon, and many lovely gifts and cards were received by Mrs. Malpass. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Charles Malpass, Mrs. Richard Malpass, Mrs. Ted Malpass, Mrs. Grace Galmore and Mrs. Alfred Dudik.

Mrs. Malpass, a pioneer resident of East Jordan, has won many friends by her kindly nature and gracious manner. She has a keen interest in civic affairs, and has been an active member of the Presbyterian Church for many years.

Attending from out-of-town were Mrs. Emilia Dudik, and Mrs. Alfred Dudik and daughter, Jane Elizabeth, from Petoskey.

Seeks Nomination For Office of State Representative

Rep. Andrew Johnson of Beulah, now state representative of the Westford-Benzie district announced his candidacy this week for the newly created Charlevoix district comprising Charlevoix, Leelanau and Benzie counties.

Rep. Johnson who is completing his first successful term as a member of the House of Representatives, has been a publisher at Beulah for the past 20 years, and before that was publisher of a newspaper in Leelanau county for seven years. He has also served as a member of the Executive Committee of the Board of Managers of the Michigan State Fair at Detroit.

He is married, the father of five children with two sons serving in the armed forces.

Funeral Services for Mrs. Lawrence LaLonde Last Friday Afternoon

Esther Thorsen LaLonde was born in East Jordan, December 18, 1903, and passed away in Hurley Hospital, Flint, May 9, 1944, after an illness of several weeks.

On September 18, 1920, she was united in marriage to Lawrence LaLonde, who passed away in Veterans' Hospital, Dearborn, Oct. 31, 1941. Since this time Mrs. LaLonde and daughters Nancy and Clare have made their home in Holly.

She was a member of the Norwegian Lutheran Church and The American Legion Auxiliary, and was active in the Presbyterian church.

She is survived by the daughters, Nancy Jane and Clare Christine. Another daughter, Alice, passed away at the age of 4 1/2 years. She is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Charles Heise of Charlevoix and a brother, Emil Thorsen, of East Jordan.

Funeral services were held at Fenton, Mich., Thursday, May 11, conducted by Rev. R. C. Kaas of the Fenton Lutheran church.

The remains were brought to East Jordan and services held from the Norwegian Lutheran church, last Friday afternoon, conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. C. Johnson of Frankfort, with burial at Sunset Hill. The bearers were Edd Kamradt, Ole Olson, Vern Whiteford and M. N. McDaniels, members of the American Legion.

Those from away to attend the funeral were, besides the daughters, Esther and Julia Pederson of Holley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heise and daughter Joan of Charlevoix; Jack LaLonde and daughter, Joan, of Roscommon.

Harbor Springs Graphic Has New Owner

The Emmet County Graphic of Harbor Springs, formerly owned by Elmer J. Hanna has been sold to Charles H. Fowler a former employee. Mr. Fowler who returns to Harbor Springs from Vassar has announced that the paper which has been Republican will henceforth be Independent.

The Graphic was established in 1875 and will be taken over by the new management in a few days. Mr. Hanna has gone to Lansing where he is the administrative assistant to Governor Kelly.

Former E. J. Resident Dies in Muskegon

Funeral services were held Saturday morning, May 13, at St. Mary's church, Muskegon, for James Crowley, a former East Jordan resident, following an illness of three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Crowley left East Jordan about eighteen years ago for Muskegon where they have since resided.

Mr. and Mrs. Cort Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Weisler and Charles Weisler attended the funeral, returning home Monday evening.

New Insurance Effective Soon

BROADER, SIMPLER AND MORE LIBERAL FORM TO BE AVAILABLE TO HOUSEHOLDERS

Insurance Executives Ass'n, whose members consist of the chief executives of a large number of Stock Fire Insurance Companies and whose activities are directed towards research in broader questions of policy in fire insurance towards the end of encouraging improvements, reforms, and economies in practices and methods, have recently developed a new, broader, simpler and more liberal dwelling house form which it has recommended for nationwide use.

The new form will not become effective until formally adopted or filed by various fire insurance organizations having to do with such matters and after the securing of approval under applicable State laws or regulations.

Some of the benefits to the policyholder of the new uniform policy form are indicated by the following examples:

(1) He has the option to apply ten per cent of his insurance on household goods to that property off premises anywhere in the United States, Alaska, Canada and Newfoundland. The protection thus afforded is made "primary" insurance regardless of other insurance which may apply to the property covered. This will tend to minimize controversies respecting overlapping coverage.

(2) An owner losing the use of his house by fire or other peril has the option to apply up to a maximum of 10 per cent of his dwelling insurance for reimbursement of the "rental value" of his burned dwelling.

(3) A house owner has the option to apply up to a maximum of 10 per cent of his dwelling insurance to the loss of garage or other outbuildings on the premises.

(4) A tenant renting a house has the option to apply up to a maximum of 10 per cent of his insurance on household goods to improvements he has made to his leased quarters.

(5) Automatic reinstatement of insurance after a loss has been suffered is provided for up to $250. This means that any fire loss less than $250 does not reduce the face of the policy.

In addition to these, extended coverage has been broadened, so that the householder gets more protection for the same cost. Extended coverage includes protection against damage by windstorm, hail, explosion, riot, civil commotion, aircraft, vehicles and smoke. As an example, smoke or smudge damage was formerly collectible only if it was caused by a furnace or fixed-position heating apparatus leading to a chimney, but new coverage includes portable heating and cooking units attached to chimneys.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nazi Rail Lines Hammered by Allies In Pre-Invasion Softening Process; Lend-Lease Grants Total 30 Billion; Stilwell Advances in Northern Burma

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Beachhead—There's more to establishing a beachhead than merely forcing a landing. At Aitape in Dutch New Guinea, Doughboys are shown bringing up supplies for continued operations.

EUROPE:

Nazi Preparations

As it was reported that the Germans were prepared to sacrifice 200,000 men along the "Atlantic Wall" to slow up the Allies' landing operations and allow the German high command opportunity to shift large reserves to the most critical battle areas, U. S. and British bombers continued their non-stop bombardment of enemy defense installations and communication lines to blast a forward path for the invasion forces.

As the zero hour approached, the Nazis sought to assure against Allied landings in Holland by preparing to flood the lowlands, part of which already have been inundated following the removal of the inhabitants.

Heavy U. S. and British aerial bombardments reportedly razed Nazi rail lines 100 miles inland from the channel coast, putting a severe crimp into the transport system over which the Nazis hoped to rush seasoned troops to encounter early Allied landings, possibly made in conjunction with a great Russian offensive in the east.

U. S. SEIZURE:
Congress Acts

Stirred by U. S. troop seizure of the Chicago plant of Montgomery Ward and company after the latter's refusal to extend a CIO union contract upon order of the War Labor board, both the senate and the house moved to review the whole field of wartime executive authority.

In introducing a resolution for studying the Ward case which was quickly adopted, Sen. Harry Byrd (Va.) said: "... the measure ... should lead to correction of legislation under which this (the Ward) seizure of a private business was made."

Previously, Rep. Charles Dewey (Ill.) called upon the house to authorize an investigation of the government's occupation of the Ward plant, a seizure nation's No. 2 mail order company contested in federal court on the ground it is no war industry, and an action the U. S. defended on the strength of its claim that the business sells productive machinery to farmers in advancement of the war effort.

MEAT:

Plenty on Hand

Reduction of government purchases of meat in the face of crowded warehouses and heavy hog receipts at markets resulted in OPA's removal of meat rationing except on beef steaks and roasts.

On April 1, warehouses held a near record of 1,246,813,000 pounds of meat compared with 780,806,000 pounds a year ago. Packing facilities were being stretched to the utmost as farmers continued heavy hog shipments, partly because of the tight feed supply recently aggravated by the government's embargo on all private corn sales in 125 mid-west counties to divert stocks to industrial processors.

As a result of the government's program, virtually all wet corn millers were operating, with enough grain pledged for four months.

PACIFIC:

Stilwell Advances

Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell's mixed U. S., Chinese and native Burmese troops pushed the Japs farther back in northern Burma in their drive to clear a new supply road to distressed China, while British and Indian forces continued to slow up the Japs' determined campaign to sever the Assam-Bengal rail line feeding General Stilwell's army.

In the South Pacific, U. S. troops strengthened their hold on the Hollandia area in Dutch New Guinea, while American bombers ranged up and down the island smashing at Jap bases supplying straggling enemy troops.

In addition to threatening General Stilwell's supply lines, the Jap drive in India reportedly was designed to establish India's Collaborationist Subhas Chandra Bose on native soil for an intensive propaganda drive to arouse the Hindus to revolt against the British.

LEND-LEASE:
30 Billion

Including special assistance given by other government agencies, lend-lease aid now approximates $30,362,687,362, the senate was told in considering extension of the act.

Broken down into loans, grants, investments, construction, purchases in foreign countries, current expenses and other aid and expenditures, the special assistance alone, chiefly extended by the army and navy, amounts to $8,500,000,000. Ordinary lend-lease assistance totals $21,794,237,819.

Of the $30,362,687,362 spent, Great Britain has received $19,700,297,674; Russia, $4,214,921,449; So. America, $2,327,378,789; China, $920,349,451.

SURPLUS MATERIAL:
Use Considered

With U. S. sales of surplus war goods already running between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000 monthly, the knotty problem of allowing production of civilian goods, with raw materials and scrap reverting to the government through termination of war contracts, has arisen.

Although some flatirons, alarm clocks, furniture, kitchenware, radio tubes, electric fans, stoves, kitchen ranges and bathtubs are scheduled for delivery in 1944, they are but a drop in the bucket compared with civilian requirements.

Despite the admitted surplus of many raw materials, the War Production board has opposed their appreciable use in civilian goods on the grounds that such manufacture would aggravate the manpower situation.

POLITICS:

Army Impartial

The ticklish problem of supplying U. S. soldiers with political information on the 1944 national elections was bravely approached by the war department, with emphasis firmly placed on impartiality.

Although doughboys will be permitted to read their favorite magazine or newspaper, the war department ruled that in radio broadcasts and service publications, equal time or space must be granted to both sides.

Motion pictures and entertainments also drew the attention of the war department, with no partial material to be tolerated in either source, and commanding officers to closely guard against the revision of scripts violating the regulation.

CHINA:

Japs Tighten Hold

With no less than 80,000 troops backed by large forces of reserves, the Japanese pressed their drive to clear the embattled Chinese from the Hankow-Peiping railway in northeastern China.

Japanese success would clear a considerable belt of the road for north-south traffic, strengthening the enemy's stranglehold on eastern China, which includes all of that stricken country's principal sea-ports.

Since overrunning eastern China, the Japs have worked hard to establish new industries in the occupied territories to capitalize on the country's material and manpower resources, and there have been reports that the Jap war machine has considered transfer of government and economic administrative offices to the Chinese mainland in the event of sustained U. S. bombardment of the home islands.

MEXICO:

Ends Snooze

As one means of saving tires by cutting down travel between business and home, and of conserving electricity by avoiding the necessity of working later at night, Pres. Manuel Avila Camacho ordered an end of Mexico's famed midday siesta for government and industry.

Beginning June 1, government offices will open at 8 a. m. and run throughout the day; stores will operate from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m., and factories will work from 6 a. m. to 2 p. m.

In putting an end to Mexico's midday snooze, President Camacho said that because of the time consumed in travelling, few people got in a real nap, anyway. Chief objection to the new order is expected to come from conductors and drivers, who receive a share of fares.

WHISKY:

No Prospects

Unless there is a sudden reduction in requirements for alcohol for synthetic rubber and other war needs, there is no immediate prospect for a resumption of whisky manufacture, War Production Chief Donald Nelson said.

"I'm opposed to the use of any facilities for production of civilian commodities if it is not feasible and might interfere with necessary war production," Nelson declared.

PROFITS:
Going Up

With some industries like petroleum showing a 46.8 per cent boost in net incomes, and others like the wholesale and retail group reporting a 16.5 per cent drop, profit of 259 leading big businesses for the first quarter of 1944 amounted to $274,032,000, 6 per cent higher than last year, but 19 per cent below 1941.

At the same time, an analysis of operations of 50 manufacturing companies for 1943 showed that costs helped to counterbalance income, and profit was held to 3.1 per cent per dollar of sales.

For instance, it was reported 1943 wages and salaries took 72.8 per cent of gross income, before taxes but after other costs, compared with 66 per cent in 1940. Taxes claimed 20.8 per cent against 15.8 in 1940.

AIR TRAVEL:

Monopoly Debated

Burning question in aviation circles today is whether various U. S. lines shall form a single company for international service or whether they shall compete for business as separate organizations.

Although only two of 19 U. S. lines favor a single company, there is strong pressure for such a setup on the grounds that its operation on a volume basis could allow it to compete against foreign air lines which undoubtedly will be financially supported by their governments.

In opposing the single company idea, no less than 17 U. S. lines feel that competition could be expected to result in improved service and promotion of air travel, without fettering free enterprise.

CASUALTIES:

Total 197,841

Latest figures put U. S. casualties in World War II at 197,841, with the army suffering 153,302 and the navy 44,539.

Of the army casualties, 26,575 were reported killed, 62,312 wounded, 33,814 missing and 30,601 prisoners. Navy losses included 18,992 killed, 11,899 wounded, 9,192 missing and 4,456 prisoners.

With 45,567 deaths already reported, the death toll already neared World War I's, when 53,000 men died in action or of wounds.

WOOL CHEAPER

To move a part of the large stockpile of wool on hand, the Commodity Credit corporation has decided to fix the price of domestic wool at a figure equal to or slightly below imported wool. At present, the imported article is 18 cents a pound cheaper than the domestic.

This procedure will mean a loss to the CCC but another federal agency, which owns the foreign wool ultimately will make a profit which will more than offset the loss on the domestic sale.

PAUL IN CORINTH

LESSON TEXT—Acts 18:1-4; I Corinthians 13.

GOLDEN TEXT—But now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love.—I Corinthians 13:13.

Who is a Christian? One might answer in a number of ways. He is one who has been saved by the redeeming grace of Jesus Christ. He is one who seeks to live a life in accord with the will of God. He is a witness for God, and so on. But the answer that the whole world understands is a life in which the redeeming love of Christ begets a true love for one's fellow man.

I. An Example of Christian Love (Acts 18:1-4).

Teaching and preaching are God's ordained way for presenting the truth. They are effective, but only when done by one whose life exemplifies the truth. In his letter to the Corinthians Paul gives the greatest discussion of love known to the world, but before he wrote it he had lived that truth before them. The Holy Spirit spoke through him of love, because He had already lived the truth out in the preacher.

Two things appear here: Paul was:

1. Working (vv. 1-3). The world's most distinguished missionary and preacher had arrived in Corinth. Where was the welcoming committee of local dignitaries? There was none. Whose comfortable home would receive him? None was offered. His was the lot of the pioneer for Christ. He had to hunt up a Jewish fellow craftsman and go to work to earn his bread.

Paul, like every other Jewish boy, had learned a trade, something he could do with his hands. He was a tent and sail maker, and was not ashamed to work at his trade. A more recent follower of Christ put it thus: "My business is to preach the gospel, but I pack meat to pay the expenses."

But notice that Paul did not let this work become the chief thing. As the Lord prospered him he did not decide to "go back into business." No, for his real business was:

2. Witnessing (v. 4). He began, as was his custom, in the synagogue, presenting Christ to Jews and Greeks. The Jews opposed him (see v. 6), and then Paul addressed himself to the Gentiles.

God prospered that ministry and encouraged Paul by a vision, assuring him that the Lord had "much people" (v. 10) in that wicked city. The love of Christ in Paul thus shone forth as a light in the darkness of sin and superstition.

Love was something which the heathen world of Paul's day had so misrepresented and distorted (even as it has today) that it needed definition and exposition. So we have—

II. An Explanation of Christian Love (I Cor. 13).

This is one of the outstanding chapters of all Scripture. Its magnificent discussion of the greatest of all themes has drawn forth many choice expositions.

The thought centers around the emptiness of the loveless life, the glory of the life of love, and the eternal unchangeable power of love. We gather it up in three words.

1. Indispensable (vv. 1-3). Without love man's attainments are empty. He may become an orator with a "heavenly" gift of speech, but unless he truly loves, his elegant and persuasive talk is just a meaningless noise. How true!

One may also have marvelous gifts of prophetic insight and a wonder-working faith, and find that it is all a vain and empty experience without love. Our world leaders could well study that verse just now.

Sacrificial interest in the needs of mankind is a fine trait in man, but it must have the love of Christ in it or it too is profitless. As we think of feeding the hungry nations of the earth, let us not forget to make it worth while by doing it in Christian love.

2. Incomparable (vv. 4-7). The standard for the life of a Christian is a very high one; in fact, it is impossible of attainment apart from the grace and power of Christ. Naturally, we find ourselves to be impatient, proud, suspicious, resentful, etc. The new nature in Christ is just the opposite, for love loves.

Note that phrase "endureth all things." We need that in these days when it is so hard to keep on going, or as someone said, "to keep on keeping on." Love endures all things.

3. Immutable (vv. 8-13). All things in life change and pass away. Love is eternal and unchangeable. Even the spiritual gifts have their fulfillment and pass from view, but love shall endure through all eternity. God, the Eternal One, is love (I John 4:8, 16).

When we shall come to that perfectness of understanding which is to be ours one day, when we shall know even as God now knows us, then we shall see love as the supreme gift, eternal in its power and validity.

Justice Is Sole Principle Guiding Steps of UNRRA

Relief and Rehabilitation Program Claims
Support of Congressmen Noted for Internationalist Viewpoint.

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building
Washington, D. C.

While the bombs are bursting over Europe, it is pretty hard to think of postwar activities. America just doesn't like to do it. Furthermore, it is perfectly natural that, after our experience in the last war, when we talk about "relief" for Europe, we feel we don't want to play the role of "Uncle Sam" again.

The one organization which has gone ahead with very definite, specifically delimited plans for civilian international activity, is the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. Forty-four nations have combined to set up this organization and finance its work.

The United States' part in this organization has the specific authorization of Congress. But it never could have had this backing if it hadn't been for the wholehearted cooperation of certain men in Congress whom nobody by the greatest stretch of imagination could label as internationalists. One of them largely responsible for the unopposed authorization by congress for the $1,350,000,000 which is America's contribution to the UNRRA fund was Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, a member of the foreign relations committee, who cannot be described as an "internationalist."

He supported UNRRA in this way after a long and careful consultation with the State department concerning the administration's obligations which the United States had to accept if it joined this body of 44 nations. Vandenberg was supported by representatives of the delegation from Ohio, among others, a middle western state not noted for international tendencies.

I asked a member of the UNRRA staff why he thought these people were convinced that the United States ought to take part in this humanitarian movement which although it proclaimed ultra-practical aims might naturally be doubted by the cynical.

"Nobody who has read the limitations which this organization has placed upon itself could have the crust to oppose it," was his answer.

Selling Point

At that moment, I took this rather categorical statement with a grain of salt. Later, after talking with Morse Salisbury, who is well known over the air to many of the readers of this column and all of the listeners to the "Farm and Home Hour," I must admit I was sold.

Morse Salisbury gave up an important position in the department of agriculture which he had held through various administrations to handle the public relations for UNRRA under former governor of New York Herbert Lehmann, its administrator. I broke in on him when he was puzzling over the question of an emblem or flag or a designation for UNRRA—somebody thought it ought to have a distinguishing insignia but he was unconvinced and then he said something to me which is important to remember.

"Here is one governmental institution—governmental in the sense that 44 nations are backing it—which, instead of wishing to perpetuate itself, as most bureaucratic units are said to do, has for its chief aim—self liquidation. Like the boys in the front lines, it wants to get the job done and then quit."

The object of UNRRA is to do what it can to resolve to normalcy the chaos produced by the war and then quit.

For that reason, former Governor Lehmann has set as one of his objectives the keeping of the number of administrative employees down to the absolute minimum. I'll have more to say about that later, first just a very brief summary of what UNRRA has set as its objective, how it hopes to obtain the objective, as set forth in its so-called "bible," containing the official statement of the resolutions of the organization. This is the document which I was told if anyone read he would not have the crust to oppose the UNRRA program.

On November 9, 1943, the representatives of these 44 nations met in the White house and signed an agreement to cooperate in binding up the wounds of war. Later, they met in Atlantic City and drew up resolutions spelling out what would be done under the agreement.

Since they knew the bitterness and controversy which grew out of the unpaid war loans of the last war, one prime purpose is to achieve their aim without running up a lot of uncollectible debts. In other words, they got down to brass tacks and decided that their effort to restore normalcy in the world should be accomplished on a very simple principle of justice. They divided up the world into two categories. First, those who have enough of the things needed to feed and clothe and house their people, and those who don't. Then there is another division between those who, while they don't have the basic resources, nevertheless have the money to pay for them.

All of the nations which have enough to take care of their own people are to contribute 1 per cent of their national income as of the year ending June 30, 1943.

Those nations like France and Holland and Belgium and Norway and others which have been able to get gold or other wealth away from the Axis robbers and into Allied or neutral countries expect to pay for the supplies they get.

Those countries which have no foreign trade or credit balance abroad will receive supplies and services to bring their people up to a rather stern standard of living and get normal daily life started again. The supplies contributed will be put into regular business channels and most of the people who get them will pay in their own money. Of course, this money would have no value outside of the country involved. It would, however, have value within the country and UNRRA would take, we will say in the case of Greece, drachmas for the supplies delivered.

No Big Payroll

Those drachmas would be spent within the country and will help carry out the principle which Governor Lehmann has laid down—that UNRRA itself will not develop a big payroll. It will help the people to help themselves. Let me give you an example:

The Greeks haven't enough food. Their various public utilities are smashed to pieces, they have no shoes to walk on, their hospitals and other health institutions have been destroyed or disintegrated. All right, UNRRA will set down a certain number of pairs of shoes in Greece—it will set down a certain amount of food, a certain amount of clothing, a certain amount of machinery and other supplies—that will be paid for in drachmas which are nothing more than pieces of paper as far as the rest of the country is concerned, but which have a cash value in Greece.

They will take those drachmas and hire personnel, people who will arrange to load the supplies into trucks at the ports where UNRRA sets them down and handle the distribution of food and clothing through the agencies within the country; they will do the dirty work of rebuilding the waterworks and electric light plants, the public schools and other buildings necessary for an ordered life. Thus employment will be furnished out of the nation's own wealth.

This is a very brief attempt to show how UNRRA works but as I sat in the Du Pont building on Connecticut avenue and heard Mr. Salisbury, who is one of the most practical-minded government officials with whom I have dealt in my 30 years experience in Washington, detail UNRRA's activities, I began to feel quite an emotional upsurge. Salisbury may have felt it too but, of course, he wouldn't show it any more than I would since both of us are laconic middle-westerners.

I said: "Isn't this whole idea a historical innovation?" He replied: "Well, yes. But don't think the 44 member nations are laying any pattern for postwar planning in UNRRA. They have created here an organization of a purely transitional nature. It's merely an attempt on the part of the nations which have something to offer to provide it. If the others can pay for the food and clothing and other things they get, they are willing to pay for it. If they can't, the contributing nations are going to get it to them."

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

At present 19 per cent of the trucks on the road are at least 10 years old and a minimum of 8 per cent are more than 15 years old.

Nylon's high-service temperature of approximately 275 degrees Fahrenheit, greatly exceeding that of other thermoplastics, has contributed to the plastic's quick adoption for war use.

Vital messages are carried for marines by trained dogs when phone wires are cut.

An increase of 31 per cent in the number of juvenile delinquency cases disposed of by representative juvenile courts last year over the 1942 figure is reported by Katherine F. Lenroot, chief of the Children's bureau, U. S. Department of Labor.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

POSTAL NOTES: A plan to provide "postal notes" for transmission of money by mail in sums under ten dollars for a flat five-cent fee is being considered by the senate postal committee. The house has already approved the proposal. These notes would not supplant the use of the regular money order for small sums but would be a convenient addition to the postal services.

DESIGNER: Paul Poiret, 64, once among the world's most famous fashion designers, died in Paris virtually a pauper.

RAYON HOSE: More thin rayon hosiery will be produced and less of the heavier grades, by permission of the War Production board. The industry has been complaining that women were not buying the better wearing heavier lines.

Reveille on the Jordan

Just a little message to the boys in the service from the folks back home. Sponsored by the East Jordan Community Service Club.

Friends:

Before giving you the news of all your friends and buddies, we'll try and write a few lines on what's what and who's who in the old home town. You will remember a short time ago we tried to give you some kind of an idea of what our service men's honor board looked like and what had happened to it. You remember too at that time that we stated all the spaces allowed for name plates had been filled and that some measure would have to be taken to make room for extra names. The committee in charge decided on the following method of doing this and at present most of this work has been done. When the board was first planned, spaces were left between the name plates so as to set off the names one from another and also so the board wouldn't be too vulnerable to a sudden attack from a gush of wind coming up through the funnel formed by the city building and the A & P store. And so it was decided the best and easiest way to make the necessary additional room would be to allow only half as much space between the name plates. By so doing sixty-five additional names can be placed on the board without increasing it's size.

Gradually more boats are being put to use on Lake Charlevoix and many a fisherman is already trying his or her skill at the sport. Many of you will remember from last year our friend, Mr. Zaier, sitting in his outboard motor boat at the mouth of the river near the bridge patiently awaiting that trout to strike. Yes, he's right back at that usual spot again this year; when he gets that "catch of the year" we'll let you know.

Occasionally it is brought to our attention that you have not written in because we are not personally acquainted. For this reason too, address changes are not forwarded direct to us, which might cause a delay in the change being made and also a delay in the papers reaching you. Remember this part of the paper is your column and so if you prefer not to write to us just write to "Reveille" instead, if that would make a difference.

HOME FRONT NEWS

Several service men were seen or reported to be in the old home town during the past week. One of these is LEO BEYER who was given a delay enroute in traveling from Camp Roberts, California, to Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. Leo has now completed his basic training, which in his case lasted considerably longer than ordinary basic, however, Leo says he really didn't mind, as California is quite a pleasant place about that time of the year especially after his wife moved there too. Although the duties at the new location are unknown, Leo expected maneuvers. We liked Leo's optimistic view of the progress of the war and sure hope the end comes as soon as he predicted. By the way we notice a change of address this week for Leo's brother, CARL, who is now located at Clemson College, Clemson, South Carolina. Last week we mentioned that Bill Malpass was spending a leave at home and we now learn that THEO. JEFFERY came home with him and expects to report back the same time as Bill. Both have completed boot training at Great Lakes. Another sailor just finished boot at Great Lakes is ARTHUR BOLSER who is spending a twelve day leave at home. CHAS. CHADDOCK and OSCAR MILLER were both reported to have been in town last week and by the shoeing news agency we learn that Oscar has just returned from a trip to Australia; further details are not yet known. During the past week an army news release was received stating that our soldier, RICHARD "TICH" SXTON, had been promoted to Second Lt. upon completion of the Field Artillery Officer Candidate course of the Field Artillery School at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. Shortly after this news was received, Tich himself shows up wearing a gold bar on each shoulder. Apparently Tich is considered to know the lay of the land quite well around Fort Sill as he plans on reporting back to the same camp and train new inductees. Another soldier in town and that unexpected is BUD THOMAS. Bud did not expect this furlough, but having completed basic at Sheppard Field, Texas, he was sent to Harlington, Texas, where he was to attend gunnery school. Upon arrival there, however, the school was still found to be full so a short furlough came his way until room could be made for the new class. Last week you will remember our mentioning that GEORGE SECORD had again returned to the United States. Before these words even appeared in Before these words even appeared in having received a ten day delay enroute from the west coast to the east. George tells us now that his travels have taken him to the Southwest Pacific area, which, as George says, are pretty much submarine infested. At the destination he also reports having had the opportunity of going inland a short distance so that he knows what jungles and jungle life are like with all of its denseness and yet beauties of animal and bird life. True to the remark that "Russians fight for their lives while Americans fight for souvenirs", which he later heard in California, George also purchased some grass skirts and other trinkets from the island natives. "The most interesting thing I have seen in my army career, and my travels have taken me through forty states of the union, George says, was the Russian merchant ship docked at a western port that was entirely manned by Russian women." After being invited aboard with another member of his party, George says he discovered the ship to be in the best of condition, especially the engine room which was being kept in repair by a Russian girl of less than twenty years, and believe it or not, the ages of the various members of the crew ranged only from 18 to 26, the captain being only 26 years old and already had spent 10 years on the high seas. This certainly gives us some idea of the Russian sacrifices, and then too if we consider, as George was later informed by the captain of the boat, that the girl machinist had lost her entire family in the Karkov sector. As yet George had no definite assignment for the future.

NEWS FROM THE FRONT

More and more changes of addresses are pouring in each week which indicates more of our servicemen are leaving the shores to do that big task that lies ahead. Just how many of you have left the shores we dare not tell but hope that through this column we can somewhat keep you informed as to some of the fellows that have left. Some that have left the states recently are HAROLD GOEBEL, VESTAL CLARK, and JOHN KOTO-WICH. Harold and John are in the same outfit so no doubt are traveling together. . . . There are always many of you moving around in the states but it isn't often that our servicemen get sent to Michigan; however, HOWARD ST. JOHN has just arrived at Fort Custer from sunny California. Right now we only are able to recall two others, TOM JOYNT and FRANK CIHAK, as being stationed in Michigan. . . . It's congratulations to AL BURKLAND on his promotion to Sgt. at Camp Croft, South Carolina. We also learn that Al had the misfortune of being hurt while on maneuvers and is now in a hospital. . . . Some of you have no doubt been reading in the papers of the Missouri floods and how army soldiers are busy working in that territory. A card from TOM HITCHCOCK, Missouri, tells us that he is one of the soldiers from Camp Ellis, Illinois, working there. Tom was one that was transferred out of the air corps to the ground forces because of the new order, so is now assigned to an engineer training company at Camp Ellis. . . . Several of our group are fighting the battle on the Anzio beach-head and we learn that PAUL WILKINS is one that is there. It wasn't until we received Paul's letter this week that we knew he had been wounded in the hand while making the invasion at Anzio. Paul sends his regards to all his buddies and takes this opportunity to tell PETE HAMMOND to write him. . . . For a few weeks JIM MCKINNEY was off the mailing list because he was being transferred from Great Lakes. Jim is now stationed at Camp Bradford, Norfolk, Virginia, with an LST induction group. . . . HAROLD BATES has moved to Camp Maxey, Texas, which brings the number to four home-towners that are there. The others are Capt. VOTRUBA, LELAND BEAL, and ERNEST STALLARD. Perhaps it would be possible for this group to get together at Maxey so here are the outfits that each can be found with: Francis Votruba is with the 45 Cav. Sqd., Leland is with the 480 Ambulance Co., Ernest is a member of the 99th Infantry division, while Harold is in Co. G. of the 125th Infantry. We understand too that Harold's wife is spending some time down that way. . . . Another who we expect to be in the same vicinity as Paul Wilkins is our former school principal, JOHN SMITH. At the time John was writing he had just received three issues of the paper since being overseas. One of the issues contained the news that Joe Lillak had been wounded again so John will be interested in the good news concerning Joe found elsewhere in this column. Since being overseas John has had the privilege of visiting many places he had studied about in Latin. He tells us he took advantage of every opportunity possible to visit these places and found it very interesting but wished that his Latin class might have been able to visit them with him. . . . A change of address has come in for both RICHARD and HERMAN CLARK. Sailor Richard is now at the naval hospital in San Diego, California, while his soldier brother is overseas with a replacement company. Herman is probably located in the south Pacific. . . . Some of us at home probably spend part of Saturday evening listening to the WLS barn dance and when CLIFFORD GREEN was writing on a Saturday night from his location in Italy he too was tuned in on this program. It was a long time before the paper began to reach Cliff in proper time as he was being moved a great deal and also changed outfits. He now tells us that the paper arrives within ten or fifteen days; this we consider to be good mail service considering his location. Cliff is now with the MP's and is ever on the lookout for East Jordan fellas. . . . ELVERA SKROCKI arrived in Miami Beach, Florida, a little too late to spend a winter in Florida, but nevertheless will enjoy her stay there. Elvera, a member of the WAC, received her basic training at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, before being transferred to her present location. She is now serving at a redistribution station where AAF returnees from overseas are examined by medical and classification officers and by these findings are selected for new assignments. This work sounds real interesting to us and we can almost imagine how large a job it must be considering the number coming home from the war fronts for new assignments. . . . The first news from RONALD HOLLAND arrived just in time to make this week's column. We aren't sure where he was at the time the letter was written but he supposed that by the time we received his letter he would be in New Guinea. According to Ronald the trip over was a long one but they were well entertained considering the crowded quarters or rather cramped quarters, which he believes is more the proper definition of it. The only time he wants to ride that way again is on the way back home. In closing this letter, Ronald promises to try writing in more often. Good idea, Ronald. . . . RALPH CLARK, a brother of PEGGY BURKLAND, has earned another half stripe which brings his rank to that of Lt. Commander in the navy. . . . We are glad to report this week that both JOE LILAK and EZRA NEUMANN have been released from the hospital and are recuperating nicely. A letter from Joe this past week, written from somewhere in North Africa, informs us that he is waiting assignment to some sort of light duty for a time at least. War also has its grim realities which we dislike printing. This week another report of killed in action has come to us for First Lt. Martin Kadrovich. Although not on our mailing list or honor board, nevertheless we feel that he is one of our number as he was married to Muriel Galmore of this city. Lt. Kadrovich was sent overseas in September of last year and spent some time in North Africa where he acted as a volunteer chaplain being an ordained Baptist minister. He was killed at Anzio on March 24 where he was in charge of a machine gun battery. Although he had made his home in Flint, some of you might remember him from his summer visits to his grandmother, Mrs. Emma Kale.

Again the material at our disposal has been covered for the Reveille column for another week, and as usual, it's so long until next week.

PROBATE ORDER

State of Michigan, The Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix. In the Matter of the Estate of William E. Malpass, Deceased. At a session of said Court, held in the Probate Office in the City of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 1st day of May, 1944.

Present: Rollie L. Lewis, Probate Judge.

The giraffe and the turtle tell their own story. They help to remind you that electricity, almost alone among household necessities, is still sold at low pre-war prices.

You realize how low these prices are when you know that the average American family now gets about twice as much electricity for its money as it did 15 years ago.

If your bill isn't smaller, it is because you have more electric servants and use more electricity now than then.

It's a real achievement to keep electric service cheap in spite of rising costs and taxes — and to keep it plentiful in the face of war's tremendous demands for power.

The credit goes largely to the hard-working men and women of your electric company. Their skill and experience — plus the planning and foresight of sound business management — have made this record possible.

Split Second Thinking

A new guard was stationed at the main gate of one of Uncle Sam's large Naval Centers recently. Instructions were fresh in his mind that no car was to be admitted without an identification tag. The new guard was getting on fine with his work until a high ranking officer came along. The guard shouted halt. The officer ordered the driver to get out, whereupon the guard said: "I'm sorry sir, but I'm new at this. Who do I shoot — you or the driver?"

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Guess we're pretty lucky in our town, Judge, that we don't have the youth problem you read about in other places." "Don't know as you can call it lucky, Harold... we saw it coming with the war and we did something about it before it hit us. We gave our 'teen age youngsters the recreational facilities they needed and really wanted. Those familiar with this wartime problem know that young folks go to places they shouldn't only when the proper places are not provided for them. Young people always want to be with others of their own age... want their own type of entertainment. Town after town has found out that once these simple wants are met, the problem is well on its way to being licked." "Guess I didn't really know how farsighted our town really is, Judge. If we hadn't looked ahead we wouldn't have had anybody or anything to blame but ourselves, would we?"

Economical and Patriotic If You Save More for War Bonds

Tropical heat waves will leave you as cool and calm as this Powers model if you wear this crisp two-piece gingham, right for town or country. You might make it in a red and white plaid, with trimming of red bias binding. Besides being fun to sew for yourself, it is economical and patriotic, for you will be able to save for more War Bonds and stamps. A suitable pattern may be obtained at your local store.

Men Behind The Chamber of Commerce

Bert Lorraine is on the advertising committee. He was born in Bird Island, Minnesota, came to East Jordan at the age of four, went to school here and played on the first football team our school had (1900). Bert was a very active youngster, and the stories he could tell you about his kid days would fill a volume of books. He started to earn his first spending money at the age of five, learned the printing game and traveled the country doing printing work until he was ready to settle down, and then came back home and did his job of news printing well. This lasted for thirty years, and then started to do custom printing, and is still at it and doing a swell job. He is a very active citizen, and has been on our city council, and made a very good alderman. Bert is a friend of everybody and is called uncle Bert by all in his neighborhood. He is the father of two children, Claude and Cathola, who live at Midland. His wife, Claudie, passed away July 4th, 1936.

Bert's hobbies are raising peonies, and watching over his rotarians of which club he is Sergeant at Arms, and he sure loves Rotary. We Rotarians think that there isn't anybody like Bert, God bless him. Bert, this is probably the only way I have of telling the world that you have always been tops with me.

SOUTH ARM....

Survey Now Underway of Farms In Charlevoix and Antrim Counties

Farm operators and farm workers being interviewed this week in Antrim-Charlevoix Counties by representatives of the Bureau of the Census are being given copies of a joint letter from Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard and War Food Administration Marvin Jones explaining the purpose of the survey now under way in approximately 150 counties of the United States.

The text of the letter, made public today by Donald P. Watkins, local supervisor of the Census Bureau survey staff, is as follows:

The U. S. Department of Agriculture and the War Food Administration need information about farmers and farming conditions in all parts of the country. They need this information not only to carry out their responsibility for planning and conducting agricultural programs, but also to deal with other Federal agencies which carry on programs that affect agriculture.

"We use many different ways to get the information that is needed, but at times we find it necessary to check up by going directly to farmers and asking them for facts about their own operations. We are now joining forces with the Bureau of the Census in calling on representative farmers to get some of the information.

The farmers from whom we are seeking information at this time have been selected so as to give a cross section of farmers and farming conditions in all parts of the country. All of the information will be used only in the form of statistics, totals, averages, or percentages, which are useful to many government agencies. No, figures for any individual farm will be disclosed.

Your cooperation in supplying this information will be another contribution toward winning the war. Facts are an important weapon in this war and is for the purpose of getting the facts that we are asking your help."

Only national estimates resulting from the survey will be compiled because of the limited number of interviews in each of the areas included in the survey. Watkins explained that these will provide, at the lowest cost and with the least delay, the information required by the Department of Agriculture and the War Food Administration.

GIDLEY & MAC, DRUGGISTS

Yes, suh! You should be glad to live in Michigan.

Influx of Many Southerners into Michigan during the current World War II industrial boom is a social movement that is bound to aggravate our post-war problems. It also should re-awaken in Michigan natives a greater appreciation of their own state.

Too often we take for granted the things that are highly alluring to outsiders.

The significant fact that Michigan possesses a unique combination of qualities which make it the state outstanding among all others in the Middle-West is often forgotten or overlooked. This is not chamber of commerce "blue sky." As an adopted son who resided previously in Indiana, Wisconsin, and Illinois, not to mention a sojourn in the East, we write this with personal conviction and sincere gratitude.

Take the Southerners' viewpoint, if you please.

Dr. Henry F. Vaughan, dean of the University of Michigan's school of public health, recently discussed a new health problem that is arising from the war-time migration of Southerners to Michigan.

"Through no fault of their own, many southern workers have had to exist on a relatively low living standard," he was quoted in the press. "Economic conditions precluded the cultivation of the more nutritious food crops for the sake of producing the maximum yield of cotton. As a rule the diet has been lacking in many of the protective foods."

"Overcrowding and lack of sanitation further lowered the general health rating."

"It must be recognized that many if not most of the workers from the southern states who came to the north war plants in response to a demand for manpower will NOT return to their former homes."

"Many for the first time are enjoying an adequate income which should insure the necessities of life, at least."

Can you blame the Southerners for wanting to stay in Michigan?

Diversified Michigan offers an astonishing array of natural resources: Vital protective foods, such as dairy and poultry products, beans, peaches, potatoes, cherries, apples, canteloupes, carrots, cucumbers, celery, strawberries, peppermint, spearmint, maple syrup, grapes, buckwheat, onions, tomatoes, pears, beets, asparagus, sugar beets and fresh lake fish.

Plus: Minerals such as iron, copper, and gold. (Yes, a gold mine in the Upper Peninsula produced more than $800,000 of the precious metal!) Also: Coal, gypsum, salt, oil, sandstone, limestone, natural gas and timber.

Charles E. Stone, manager of the American Dairy Association of Michigan, reports that Michigan ranks sixth in milk production, fifth in butter, fifth in evaporated and dried milk, fourth in cottage cheese, and sixth in ice cream.

This food diversification presents a problem in grower organization which most state agricultural authorities believe must be solved if Michigan food products are to compete successfully with foods from other well-organized states in postwar years.

It does emphasize Michigan's important role in the field of health-inducing foods and the farm-to-store benefits available to Michigan consumers.

The economic importance of Michigan is indicated by the United States trade census of 1935 which listed Michigan as seventh in the entire nation for retail sales and fifth for industrial wages. States that outranked Michigan in retail sales were, in order: New York, Pennsylvania, California, Illinois, Ohio and Massachusetts. States with higher payrolls: New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio.

Placing seventh and fifth, respectively, among the 48 states is an indication of what Dr. Vaughan was speaking about when he concluded that "many if not most" of the Southerners, who have come to Michigan during World War II, are "for the first time enjoying an adequate income."

It is this earning power that makes possible our splendid educational institutions, our superior highway systems.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lloyd Tracewell of Louisville, Ky., announce the marriage of their daughter, Laura Frances to Gordon Fanar Sweet on Wednesday, May 10 at 8 a. m. at the church of the Holy Spirit.

Commercial fertilizer can be used profitably in growing cucumbers, especially in conjunction with stable manure and other organic materials. A complete fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potash is usually best especially where supplies of stable manure are limited or where green manures are plowed under. One of these mixtures is recommended: 3-12-12, 4-12-6 or 4-16-4. On soils that are rich in nitrogen, one of the following should be satisfactory: 2-12-6, 0-20-10 or 20 percent superphosphate (0-20-0).

The value of commercial fertilizer depends on the method of application. It should be placed deep in the soil where the feeding roots can reach it. An economical method is to place it in concentrated bands beside the rows 4 inches deep if possible and three inches from the row, at time of planting the seed, at the rate of 150 to 200 pounds per acre. Placing the fertilizer in the row directly under the seed is not a safe practice.

Commercial fertilizer also may be broadcast and plowed under, or drilled in as deeply as possible over the entire field just before planting. When broadcast, an application at the rate of 500 to 600 pounds per acre is recommended.

MOST INSECTICIDES WILL BE AVAILABLE THIS YEAR

Sufficient quantities of most insecticides will be available to Victory Gardeners this year, according to Mr. Paul Kroene, Michigan State Victory Garden Chairman. Exceptions are rotenone, of which the supply is expected to be very limited, and pyrethrum, which is practically unobtainable.

For the control of chewing insects gardeners will be able to purchase calcium arsenate, lead arsenate, or cryolite. Sucking insects can be combated with readily available nicotine. As to fungicides, the supply of most copper sprays is adequate &, in contrast to last year, mercury compounds are plentiful. These may also be used for seed treatment.

Gladiolus growers who use tartar emetic to combat gladiolus thrips will find ample supplies in the market. Restrictions on sugar, for use with tartar emetic in the control of pests, have been eased.

This year there will be more sprayers and dusters available than in 1943.

tems of state and county governments, and our many other public services.

Michigan also possesses an amazing array of recreational facilities — all within a comparative easy access of Middle-West millions by train, bus, automobile and airplane.

Michigan leads all other states in miles of coast shore. Constituting 2 peninsulas, Michigan possesses the singular benefit of 1,715 miles of land along the shores of Lakes Michigan, Huron, Superior, St. Clair and Erie. The number of lake cottages along these miles of sandy beaches runs into the tens of thousands.

Our 5,000 inland lakes offer some of the finest bathing beaches in the world — barring none — plus the healthful recreation of fishing and boating. We are famous nationally for our deer hunting.

Michigan's cool summers are nature's gift from the global flow of winds across the Great Lakes. It is a blessing to the fruit grower, the factory worker, and the vacation-seeker. The exhilarating climate is a recognized factor in the industrious spirit of our inhabitants.

These natural attributes — such as diversified food products and diversified natural resources, as well as our healthful climate — are counterbalanced, in part, by the rise of new social problems.

Automobile towns, for example, attracted tens of thousands of families from states along the Mason-Dixie line. Rise of unions, under collective bargaining, brought new responsibilities to factory workers, many of whom lacked an adequate background of education to fulfill these duties properly. The level of adult education in Michigan is a little over the eighth grade; you don't read much about economics and political science in the lower grades.

Among Michigan's post-war problems is the threat of mass unemployment, particularly in our industrial centers. This problem will be increased, obviously, if the Southerners decide to remain here, as Dr. Vaughan believes many will do.

As an adopted son of Michigan who has found "an abundant life" in this historic lake state so richly blessed with natural resources, diversified vital foods and numerous lakes and forests, we wouldn't blame the Southerners a bit for wanting to stay.

MR. WINKLE GOES TO WAR
By THEODORE PRATT
W.N.U. RELEASE

THE STORY THUS FAR: Forty-four-year-old Wilbert Winkle, who is the proprietor of a modest general repair shop located in the alley back of his home, is notified by his draft board that he is in 1-A. He is very despondent about it. He had thought that the doctor who examined him would not overlook his dyspepsia, his near-sightedness and his caved-in chest. He believes there must be some mistake. Anyway, he breaks the bad news to his wife, Amy, who has always dominated him. It is quite a blow to her, too, for she is threatened with not having Wilbert around to order about. Winkle leaves the house to get busy with the day's work, but forgets to kiss his wife goodbye.

CHAPTER II

Mrs. Winkle, upon learning that her husband planned to open a general repair shop practically in their living room, decried it bitterly. She felt that being the wife of what she termed a handy man lowered her social standing. She declared she would have nothing whatsoever to do with the enterprise and would rather starve than to so much as glance at it. She took this decided stand despite the fact that she had a modest income from a small estate left by her parents and that on this account she and Mr. Winkle could have managed, though their standard of living would have been sharply curtailed.

At that time Mr. Winkle still wore one leg of the trousers in his house, so he proceeded on the basis that it was more respectable for him to provide, and more reasonable to eat well, than to have a social standing. He took his wife at her word and built his shop across the rear of their property without an entrance or even a window on the house side. Mrs. Winkle had never visited him, even when she found it more comfortable not to starve. And from then on she developed into what he preferred to think of her instead of by any other word; a termagant.

Each morning Mr. Winkle marched out the front door quite as if he were going downtown to business. He walked up the block, around the corner, and then to the alley. Along this he went to his shop, where he worked until dinner time, and then retraced his steps.

The alley in which he had his shop was not a depressing thoroughfare, but quite an attractive one. It was a dirt lane lined with trees and a number of private garages. Mr. Winkle's shop was no eyesore, but a substantial frame building painted a cheery blue, with wide double doors to permit the entrance of automobiles needing his attention, and tall windows. Above the doors was a sign announcing:

THE FIXIT SHOP
We Repair Anything

Mr. Winkle had worried a little about the wording of this. Making his promise in the plural was more impressive, as if there existed a large staff of workers. The fact that there was no one except himself was perhaps deceptive. But he felt all right about it when he considered that he and the shop itself could be counted as two.

He lived up to the boast on his sign. He was adept at finding out what the trouble was with any mechanical gadget and, what is more, at putting it right. People from all over his section of town, and many from farther away, brought him their difficulties or called him in. He accepted—with one exception—any work that came along.

The only thing with which he would have nothing to do was firearms.

This morning, as Mr. Winkle walked a little over a block along his circuitous route to get the fifty feet away from where he started, he was a thoughtful man.

He opened his shop methodically, throwing wide the doors and letting in the sun. Usually, every morning he looked at his place of work with pride while he changed his clothes, peeling all the way down before donning his working outfit. He admired his own neatness, the spickand-span concrete floor, the shining lathes and other power tools, the clean benches with every screwdriver in its proper place, and the work in hand left and waiting in good order from the day before.

Mr. Winkle and the other men of his age had assured each other that they would never be used as soldiers. They were of that lost generation between rounds of the world war, too young for the first session, and too old for the second.

Even after the draft registration for them, they had said the same things. "We couldn't stand the life," they proposed. "Marching all night and crawling on your stomach in a ditch is for the young fellows."

Yet Mr. Winkle had wondered. If there wasn't some plan for using them, why were they registered?

There followed a period of listening to every scrap of further information to be found in the papers, over the radio and in the magazines. Most of this was conflicting, with no one able to make up his mind. Finally a few bold facts became plain, at least in relation to Mr. Winkle's draft board in the town of Springville. It began to call older men. Right now it had reached those married without children, but with wives who had independent incomes of their own.

Mr. Winkle met the first requirement. Mrs. Winkle lived up to the second regulation. Her small income, together with the fifty dollars a month allotment paid to the wives of soldiers, would be enough for her to support herself.

Sitting there in his shop, Mr. Winkle thought of his fighting background. It had not been much. Up until the time he was ten, he was known in his neighborhood for having won several fights. There was a certain group of boys he could bully and bluff, or lick, if it came right down to it.

Then that prowess had come to a quick end. His teeth, growing in crookedly, were being straightened by that ignominious process of having wire bands put around them to draw them into place. Returning home from school one day with two other boys, a discussion rose among them as to whether or not he could lick one of them.

During the experiment of proving he could not, the inside of his mouth was cut to ribbons by the copper bands—the main contributing cause of his humiliating and painful defeat.

From then on Mr. Winkle, boy and man, ceased to be a warrior.

That was the extent of Mr. Winkle's fighting history. Now, belatedly, at forty-four—the moment made him think of his age as being only six years until he was fifty—it seemed as if it were to have a future.

Why, he thought, this is impossible. It's really incredible. Mr. Winkle wasn't in the least sure about how he would fight. It would be different if he were younger, or happened to be a great big strapping sort of fellow.

He wanted to uphold his country. He questioned not at all his country's calling upon him to do it. But he felt doubtful of what kind of soldier he would make.

He hoped there was no question about this matter in the mind of anyone who detected in him signs of not looking forward to going to war.

Mr. Winkle roused himself and began to work on a bicycle. The representative of the newspaper arrived in the middle of the morning. He was a tall, brash-looking young man with a wild mop of hair who introduced himself, "I'm Onward, the reportographer."

"The what?" asked Mr. Winkle, staring at him with assurance that he was not going to like Mr. Onward any more than he cared for being interviewed.

Mr. Onward set down the camera he carried and explained with broad patience, "Reportographer. It's a contraction of reporter and photographer. Technically, I'm only the last part. But with so many reporters gone off to war, I got to be both. I made up the name myself."

"Listen," he said as he opened his camera, "I got one divorced wife, two kids. I got one married wife, three kids. I haven't taken a vacation the last two years because I couldn't stand being home all day. I tried to enlist to get away from it. They wouldn't have me. I guess they figured if I got killed they'd have too much to support."

The reasons why men went to war, Mr. Winkle thought, were varied.

Mr. Onward regarded Mr. Winkle with some amusement. He seemed to think it a little funny that he was being drafted. When Mr. Winkle protested that his activity was somewhat premature, and that he might not be accepted by the Army, Mr. Onward grinned and began ordering him to stand at different places about the shop. He proceeded to take a series of flashlight pictures, meanwhile asking questions in an indifferent, offhand manner.

"How do you feel about being a soldier?"

Mr. Winkle blinked as a flash went off in his face. "Why," he stammered, "I guess I feel all right."

"Do you regard it as a privilege to be the first of your classification to be called on to defend the four freedoms?"

"Privilege?" Mr. Winkle repeated. The flashlight had blinded him momentarily and made him slightly dizzy. He could think only that he must be agreeable. "I expect I must."

"Listen," the reportographer urged, "how about a smile on this one?"

Mr. Winkle spread his lips and exposed his teeth. He looked straight at the camera, holding his head a little high as previously instructed so that his glasses wouldn't reflect the light.

"Do you think any sacrifice is worth making to defend your country?"

Another flash went off. Mr. Winkle blinked and coughed unhappily. "Of course," he said. "Yes. Certainly."

Mr. Onward gazed at him and then shrugged his shoulders, as if telling himself that nothing more could be done with this quizzical subject.

Quite suddenly he went away. Mr. Winkle worked on a bicycle, then on the motor of a washing machine. He ate his lunch, listened to the radio, and attacked the motor again. All the while he felt queasy about the visit of Mr. Onward, the reportographer, but at the same time wondered what he had concocted.

He learned sooner than he expected. Early in the afternoon he heard the newsboy calling his wares from afar and then down at the end of the alley. Evidently the paper was cashing in on the hot news in Mr. Winkle's vicinity.

The boy appeared in the entrance of the shop, announcing excitedly, "Your picture's in the paper, Mr. Winkle! Right on the front page!"

Mr. Winkle could not overcome his resolve to wait until he went home to see in the delivered paper there just what the Evening Standard had to say about him. And after all, it wasn't every day that you got your picture in the newspaper, especially on the front page.

He purchased a copy and, after the boy left, he looked at it. It wasn't as big as what the Russians were doing in Russia, or what the United Nations were doing around the Mediterranean, or what the U. S. Navy was doing in the South Pacific, but it was the next most important thing to those large events.

There was a picture of Mrs. Winkle standing outside their house, just as he had seen her last that morning, with Penelope at her feet. There was a picture of himself, the one where he smiled. The smile looked rather ghastly, and set and stiff, but to anyone who didn't know him very well it might have been taken for happiness. Most of all, above this exhibit, there was a sizable black headline which said:

WINKLE PROUD TO FIGHT

Mr. Winkle felt not only conspicuous, but misrepresented. He was glad to learn that Mrs. Winkle had made no comment, and in passing noted what a phenomenon this was. He was happy to see that Mr. Onward had kept his promise of not mentioning his method of carrying on his work, but he was astonished to read what he had written.

"Listen," the reportographer urged, "how about a smile on this one?"

"I'm proud to fight for my country," Wilbert Winkle, 44, of 711 Maple Avenue, first married selectee in the 36 to 45 draft age group to be called in Springville, declared today. Winkle, who operates The Fixit Shop, went on to say that he is anxious to defend the four freedoms, which he regards as the privilege of every American today. "This," he stated, "is worth any sacrifice, if need be, my very life."

Mr. Winkle was keenly interested in learning if Amy's change of attitude had persisted from morning until night, or was simply the temporary result of the first upsetting event of the day.

Upon reaching home, he saw at once that its effect still had its hold on her. At least she was in something of a dither, a condition she had rarely entered ever since he had become a repair man instead of a respectable accountant.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Natural rubber is still something of a mystery, even after years of laboratory experiments. It has carbon and hydrogen, but there are other qualities which have not as yet been determined.

Before the war, 60 per cent of the tires and tubes made each year were used as replacements, and 80 per cent of the new motor vehicles sold replaced those annually scrapped.

Brazil rubber selling at $3.06 a pound in 1910 stimulated the development of the Middle East plantations to the extent that 3,000,000 acres were under cultivation in 1915, providing the bulk of the world's supplies.

Household Hints

For a light at night in the sick-room, place an electric light under the bed. The patient will be in darkness, but the light will be on the floor, where it is needed.

When painting around windows or chromium fixtures, first apply vaseline on the windows and fixtures. Paint will not stick on the vaseline, and when the paint is dry, rub off the vaseline and clean with a rag moistened with gasoline. This will do away with removing paint smears from the glass and fixtures.

An oilcloth cover made to fit the ironing board will be found very useful. It makes a good protector when the board is not in use, and protects the clean cover when brushing and sponging outer garments.

Garments with elastic waistbands should not be pinned to the clothesline by the waistband. Instead, drape over the line or pin at some other point.

When kiddies get chewing gum on the living-room upholstery, don't worry. Freeze the gum until stiff with an ice cube—it will become so brittle you can break it off.

Porch Suppers Furnish Tonic For Appetites

Serve the family quickly prepared cool drinks made with flavored powders. They're economical and can be made in a flash by any member of the family.

Save Used Fats!

Wise homemakers will plan porch suppers for warm evenings. Not only will the family enjoy the gay informality of the porch but the changing of meal-time locale just naturally will pep up lagging of appetites that warm weather brings.

Checked cloths in bright colors will carry out the simplicity of theme that is customary when you "rough it" on the porch, or if you have them, fringed cloths or bric-a-brac edged ones will do fine.

Centerpieces of fruit from the orchard or big bowls of colorful vegetables will dress up the table. Fat candles in squat glasses will add a homey touch to supper, and the family will love to linger over the table just chatting until the last candle burns low. All this promotes a nice social atmosphere which we call home, and that you'll agree is important!

Keep to the simple and sensible with food and try to have foods combined on one platter so there aren't too many trips to the kitchen. Meat and vegetables can go on one platter, salad in a bowl, rolls in a basket and dessert on one plate, everyone dishing out for himself in "help yourself" style.

Barbecued chicken is an appetite bracer and so colorfully golden brown it will make an immediate bid for attention at the porch supper:

Barbecued Chicken.

- 1/2 cup catsup
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1/2 cup salad oil
- 1 large onion, grated
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- Dash of cayenne
- Pinch of thyme
- Chicken, cut in pieces

Combine ingredients in order given, stirring until salt is dissolved. Let stand several hours or overnight. Brush over chicken just before broiling. Broil in a hot oven 20 to 30 minutes, turning frequently, and basting again with sauce, until chicken is cooked thoroughly. If sauce is kept for more than overnight, remove garlic clove.

*Veal on Skewers.

Cut boneless veal in pieces 1 1/2 inches square by about 3/4 inch thick. Place on wooden skewers, alternating meat with slightly smaller chunks of peeled potato, carrot and whole, small onions. Lay skewers in roasting pan with 1 cup hot water and salt to taste. Cover and bake in a hot oven for 1-1 1/2 hours

Lynn Says

Spring Vegetable Tips: Cut string beans with scissors. It saves time and fingers.

Carrots peel easily if blanched in boiling water for two or three minutes.

To retain the red color of beets, always cook them with about two inches of their stem left on when boiling.

Old coffee percolators are excellent for cooking asparagus. Stand asparagus in percolator, add boiling water, adjust cover and cook. The tips steam beautifully while the stems are cooked to perfect tenderness.

To wash spinach, use warm water rather than cold. It loosens the sand from the leaves.

For a quick supper dish you might try this meat pie, flavor rich and economy-wise:

Hamburger Noodle Pie. (Serves 6)

- 1 1/2 pounds hamburger
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup fine, soft bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons onion, minced
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Hot buttered noodles

Combine all ingredients except noodles and pat mixture into bottom and sides of pie plate. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 minutes. To serve, fill center with hot, buttered noodles and dust with paprika.

Don't forget the lovely spring greens when it comes to adding color to the table and vitamins to your diet.

Wilted Greens.

- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1/4 cup bacon fat
- 1/2 cup mild vinegar
- Greens

Cook onion in bacon fat until yellow, then add vinegar. When heated through, add greens and cook until just wilted. Season with salt and pepper and serve hot.

Mixed Spring Greens (Serves 6)

- 1/2 pound beet greens
- 1/2 pound dandelion greens
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup milk
- 1/4 pound chicken livers, sauteed and cut fine

Cook and drain greens. Add lemon juice and salt. Pack into buttered mold or loaf pan and place in oven to keep warm. In the meantime, melt butter, blend in flour and add milk. Stir while cooking until smooth and thick. Add chicken livers. Turn mold onto platter and pour sauce over them.

*Beet Greens With Diced Beets. (Serves 6)

- 1 pound beet greens
- 1 1/2 cups cooked beets, cubed
- 1/4 cup melted butter
- Salt and pepper to taste

Cook greens until tender and drain. Add beets, butter, salt and pepper, mixing until blended. Serve piping hot.

This veal wheel will turn a new trick for your porch suppers. Pieces of veal, carrots, potatoes and onions all go on wooden skewers to make up the colorful platter and adds new design to menus.

You'll want desserts that aren't too rich and are easy to prepare. Berries are good and in season now:

*Strawberry Meringue Pie.

- 2 cups milk
- 1 package vanilla pudding
- 2 beaten egg yolks
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 9-inch baked pastry shell
- 1 cup strawberries

Gradually add milk to pudding, stirring constantly. Cook over low heat until thick. Add part of hot pudding to egg yolks; stir in remaining hot pudding. Cool slightly; add vanilla. Pour into shell. Place strawberries on top of filling. Pile on meringue.

For Meringue:

- 1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
- 2 tablespoons cold water
- 2 egg whites
- 3/4 cup confectioners' sugar
- 1 cup crushed strawberries
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice

Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve over hot water. Combine remaining ingredients. Beat until thick; add gelatin. Continue beating until mixture forms peaks.

Get EXTRA TRACTION BAR LENGTH AT No Extra Cost and YOU WILL GET EXTRA TRACTION, BETTER CLEANING and LONGER LIFE TOO!

FIRESTONE traction bars are built into the tread of a farm tractor tire to serve just one purpose. That purpose is to give traction.

Because the traction bar is the source of pulling power of tractor tires, it is obvious that greater traction bar length gives greater traction. By the same token, a shortened traction bar design, such as the broken center, gives less traction.

Firestone Ground Grip Tractor Tires provide up to 215 extra inches of traction bar length per tractor at no extra cost. And the bars are joined in the center to form a powerful, triple-braced, leakproof traction unit.

That's why farmers prefer tires built by Firestone, the pioneer and pacemaker in putting the farm on rubber.

LOOKING BACKWARD

From the Herald Files of Forty, Thirty and Twenty Years Ago
Compiled by Mrs. Mabel Secord

(The issue for May 21, 1904, is missing.)

May 23, 1914

The following is copied from a long article, headed, "East Jordan's Table Industry." "A steady growth is the healthiest for any business enterprise and since its inception, The East Jordan Cabinet Company have steadily increased their output and the demand has steadily increased for their main product — High Grade Library and Parlor Tables. * * * The East Jordan Cabinet Company is an outgrowth of its parent company — The East Jordan Planing Mills Co. This company was organized about eight years ago. At that time, East Jordan had two planing mills in operation — the East Jordan Lumber Company's, located near Mill "B" and the B. E. Waterman Mill located on North Main Street near where Mr. Waterman now resides. Both were doing a good general planing mill business, but the owners of these plants wished to branch out. To this end the East Jordan Planing Mills Co. was incorporated with Messrs. W. P. Porter, A. H. Frost, and C. L. Ames of the East Jordan Lumber Co., and B. E. Waterman as the owners of the new enterprise. The factory site on Spring Street was purchased, a fine roomy factory was built, and a part of the machinery from both the dismantled plants was installed." The article goes on to state they were making more than 20 table designs, employing a large force of expert workmen, and had a number of salesmen on the road.

The Christian Endeavor had an announcement of a home talent play they were to give at the Temple Theatre May 29th. It was "The New

Victory Garden Versus Helping the Axis

Do the Citizens of East Jordan want to see a prolific Victory Garden on every plot of land, or are there some who want to help the Axis.

In other words, Keep your dog on his own premises. Your neighbor don't like your dog tramping out seed beds and young plants, nor do they want to complain against a neighbor.

If owners of dogs want to be fair to their neighbors they will keep their dogs confined to the premises. If they THINK their dog is different they have another guess coming.

Should anyone wish, they may file a written and signed complaint with the Justice of Peace and the matter will be taken care of.

It would be much pleasanter all around if dog owners would approve of Victory Gardens and not be an indirect Axis sympathizer.

Great news this week from our baseball team. Their first four victories were: Ellsworth 0, E. J. 8; Harbor Springs 1, E. J. 9; Mancelona 3,

E. J. 8; Mancelona 1, E. J. 7.

Our first home game was last Tuesday and quite a large crowd was there. But let's see if we can have a larger crowd next Tuesday. So come on everybody and back that team!

F. F. A. — MR. KARR

There will be an FFA meeting, May 19, at the schoolhouse. This meeting will be for the purpose of making plans for our trip to Beaver Island.

SENIOR BIOGRAPHIES

ELGY BRINTNALL

Elgy Brintnall has spent all of his years in this community, having been born on a farm near East Jordan on March 31, 1926.

He has been a member of the boys 4-H club for these past five years. Elgy's favorite sports are hunting and fishing.

This summer Elgy may again work on a bee farm, although he is not certain.

HAROLD DONNER

Harold Donner, known to many as "Doc", was born in Passiac, New Jersey on January 21, 1926.

He attended school in Flint until coming to East Jordan at the age of 11. Harold's hobbies are guitars and girls. He also likes to hunt and fish.

Already having gone through the draft procedure, Harold will enter the army shortly after graduation.

GLADYS LARSEN

For the past eight years, Gladys

Larsen has been a member of the girl's 4-H club.

Although born in Jackson, Michigan, on July 10, 1926, Gladys has received all of her schooling in East Jordan.

She likes many sports and is especially fond of basketball, swimming and dancing.

Gladys plans on entering nurses training in the fall.

MARY ANN LENOSKY

The Valedictorianship this year belongs to Mary Ann Lenosky who has earned a very fine record in high school.

Mary Ann was born in this community on April 5, 1926. She has played a flute in the school band for six years. When searching for recreation, she finds a book or a magazine very refreshing.

Mary Ann is leaning toward Nurses Training in the future, but she will not commit herself for certain.

MALCOLM McDONALD

"Mack" McDonald was born on a farm north of East Jordan on June 3, 1926. All his schooling was obtained at the East Jordan school.

Mack enjoys hunting and fishing and he also likes to tinker with his Model A Ford car.

He has been enrolled in the 4-H Club for 5 years.

Mack will work at home on the farm until the army changes his plans.

MICHIGAN IS THE ARSENAL OF VITAL FOODS!

Sure, Michigan is only one state out of 48. Washington says we're the arsenal of democracy, referring to Michigan-made airplanes and tanks and other munitions for our fighting Yanks and Allies.

But did you know that Michigan is an arsenal of vital foods? Michigan is FIRST in cherries, field beans, cantaloupes, carrots and cucumbers; SECOND in celery, strawberries, and peppermint; THIRD in onions, tomatoes, sugar beets, grapes and buckwheat; FOURTH in potatoes, beets and pears; FIFTH in apples, asparagus, and maple syrup — just to mention a few. In vital foodstuffs, Michigan rates among the ten leading states in the U.S.A.

We're mighty proud of Michigan-grown vegetables, fruits, dairy products, poultry, meats and sugar beets.

When you buy More Michigan foods, grown on Michigan farms, you assure yourself of the best in taste, in quality, in vitamin freshness. Moreover, you also help Uncle Sam by reducing the load on railroads and trucks. You lessen the amount of vital transportation used in shipping foodstuffs from farm to stores.
