Easter Egg Hunt

Attention Veterans

About 50 youngsters and 12 mothers from M. E. Sunday School gath-ered at the East Jordan Tourist Park aturday afternoon for an Easter egg unt from 2 to 4 o'clock. The children were divided in two groups according to age. The eggs were hid in two different clumps of cedars. The children were then taken from the kitchen in the park and set out to find the eggs. Among eggs hid were ten prize eggs. Any child finding an egg with prize written on it was given a prize.

After the hunt the children return ed to the kitchen bubbling over with fun and laughter and ate eggs and up cakes. The M. E. Sunday School wishes to thank Mr. Meredith for opening up the Park for our use.

County Red Cross To Leud Aid For Victims of Fires

The Charlevoix county chapter the American Red Cross voted, at their last meeting to set up a fund immediately for the aid of those families who suffer loss from fires and who fail to have necessary insurance During the war Red Cross assistance was restricted to servicemen and their families and veterans and families, due to the heavy call of those groups, and to disasters which involved five or more families

With the cessation of hostilities and the return of so many men to civilian life and the sharp curtail-ment of the production, surgical dressing and other Red Cross pro-grams which took a large percentage of local funds, attention can - once more be paid to civilian problems. Knowing that local and county organizations, friends and neighbor usually aid with clothing and food it was decided to make the Red Cross assistance in the form of a check. Application should be made to the Red Cross officials in the town earest to the disaster.

This Springer Spaniel Is In the Doghouse as far as Owner is Concerned

There is one springer spaniel in Chippewa county that definitely is in he doghouse so far as its master is oncerned.

Patrolling the Hendrie river, which is closed to trapping, Conservation Officers Dick Beach and Richard Beach Jr. encountered Donald and Ray Burkett of Hulbert with their spaniel, supposedly just out enjoying the beauties of nature.

Durng routine questioning by the officers the playful dog sniffed the ground, dug under a root and pulled out a freshly skinned muskrat carcass and pelt which it proudly deposted at the feet of Officer Beach jr. Red faces and denial of any know ledge of the muskrat by the Burketts eventually changed to admitted pos-session of the animal by Donald Burkett. Arraigned before Justice Ralph

Finest Since War Years Began OVER 700 VIEW THE 4-H EXHI-

BIT AT EAST JORDAN, TUESDAY, APRIL 16

According to K. C. Festerling, District Club Agent, the exhibit was the finest since the war years began. Although handicraft articles were not large and plastic was substituted in many instances, yet, the quality of work was very high. Many of the clothing projects were made of printed feed sack material. Interesting design and expert workmanship made them very attractive. The youngsters started the day of festiv-ities by attending the Temple Thea-ter and seeing Shirley Temple in "Kiss and Tell."

The afternoon program was highlighted by a Style Revue in which the members of the various clubs of the county modeled their garments. Members were introduced by the leaders of their respective clubs. Betty Erber of Boyne City was chosen to represent the county at Gaylord Camp as Style Revue win-ner. Alternates were Carla Nowland of Boyne City and Joyce McGhan of the Marion Center School. The following is a list of members

Wheat Stocks Shrink

With heavy domestic and export demands being made on the nation's shrinking wheat supply, the govern-ment mapped additional conserva-tion measures for grain but reject-ed a British proposal for bread ra-tioning by the two countries.

Current figures point up the pinch developing in wheat. Against an esti-mated supply of 332 million bushels, U. S. commitments for export before July 1 total 125 million bushels, the present domestic rate of consumption will take another 125 million bushels, at least 35 million bushels will be used for feed and 13 million bushels may be used for spring seed.

spring seed. Use of 298 million bushels of wheat by July 1 thus would leave the U. S. with a visible supply of 35 million bushels at the beginning of the new crop year. In arriving at the cur-rent figure of 332 million bushels, agronomists added the department of agriculture's estimate of 203 mil of agriculture's estimate of 203 mil lion bushels on farms on April 1 with projections that elevator holdings matched last year's high mark of 129 million bushels.

In turning down Britain's bid for mutual bread rationing, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson declared that the extensive widespread pro-duction of grain in the U. S. would make control difficult. Small nations like Britain depending chiefly upon imports for their wheat can exer-cise more efficient check on their supplies, he said.

Relax Building Order Farmers and workers engaged in output of essential products were made eligible for building material priorities through gov-ernment relaxation of emergency housing regulations. It was also determined to provide priority determined to provide priority assistance for the repair or alter-ation of existing dwellings either to maintain them or restore them to a habitable state. HUNTER COLLEGE, The Bronx, N. Y.-Fifteen minutes ago the ses-sion of the security council of the United Nations adjourned and the attractive room which it is hard to believe was ever the gymnasium of Hunter college in the northern lati-tudes of New York City, is almost empty.

Since 11 o'clock the council mem bers have been at their places at the curving table on the platform and every seat in the "audience" has been filled. The first 40 persons to line up at the gates are given seats. Tickets are issued only to seats, lickets are inside only to those with some plausible reason to hold them. Some of the "visitors" remain and the marine guards are still on duty while other attendants clear away the various impediments before each place from the Russian ambassador's at one end to the

I have covered many interna-tional gatherings from the peace con-ference of Paris after World War I and none has given as much pro-portional attention to providing the necessary facilities for bringing the proceedings to the citizens of the world as this gathering at Hunter college. Of course the council is relatively small and the army of reporters small and the army of reporters seems large in comparison to its scant 11 members, the secretary and assistant secretary general and the various advisors. The fact that the principals are so few increases the informality and the feeling of intimacy which seems to exist be-tween the organization and the group of men and women who ob-serve, record and report its doings. serve, record and report its doings. May Leave Reds On Political Limb

I never realized before that New York was NOT an "early" town. When transportation is normal I can buy a New York newspaper in Washington on my way to work. On the other hand, in New York at the same hour (7:30) I found there were no newsstands open be-tween the club where I stayed on 57th street to the subway station, nor in the subway where I got on, or where I got off, 40 minutes later. Of course the crowds were pour ing southward in the subway at that hour and they had been able to buy their papers when they got on, but in the normally busy area of the 50's the natives were not abroad in suf-ficient numbers at 7:30 to justify the presence of news vendors.

On the streets at the end of my run which is about 200th street (Kingsbridge station in the Bronx) (Kingsbridge station in the Bronx) the stands were open and most of the people who bumped against me as I reached for the staid Times and the Republican Herald Trib-une, were buying the left-wing PM. PM can't be called Communist since Editor Ingersoll is not a Com-munist but while he was off to the wars it hewed pretty close to the munist but while he was on to the wars it hewed pretty close to the party line. The Daily Worker, however, is considered to express the official "wishes" of the Com-munist party and, according to most of the other newspapers these "wishes" come direct from the Normalic as marked part door. With Iran opposed to the Russian demand, diplomatic circles felt that Moscow's action was inspired by its desire to avert a security council probe of the recent oil agreement reached between the two countries, in which the Reds ob-tained a 51 per cent stock control of a joint Russo-Iranian company for exploiting petroleum deposits in northern Iran.

Motor Power Passes Famed Horse Cavalry

Making way for the new, the historic cavalry will be merged with the comparatively new armored force into a single "armored cavalry" arm in recognition of new developments during World War II, Sec. of War Robert P. Patterson revealed.

Personnel for the new "armored cavalry" will not be drawn solely from the cavalry but also from other branches and in the same manner as it was drawn for the armored forces. While it was planned virtually to eliminate the horse from the army, it is contemplated that a small detachment of skilled mounted troops will be maintained to give instruction and train small units for use in rough terrain, and that pack animals will be retained for specialized work.

Most of the speaking by the dele-gates, except when formal stat-ments are read, is done from notes or completely ad lib and since all of the members speak either English or French the pauses for interpreting are short—either into French or English except when Ambassador Gromyko speaks in Rus-sian. These words must be intersian. These words must be inter-preted into both French and Eng-lish and Gromyko doesn't hesitate to stop the interpreter and give his own English translation if he doesn't own English translation if he doesn't like the interpreter's choice of words. He could speak in Eng-lish himself if he wanted to but probably wants the Russian for the record for home consumption. Eventually when the permanent meeting place is established the sys-tem employed at Nuernberg will be used—earphones and simultaneous translation. This slows down the

It would take a great stretch of the imagination, however, to visu-alize either the communist append age of CIO, of the non-Communist CIO-PAC head, Sydney Hillman, embracing the elephant. It has already been demonstrated that the Communists are becoming anything but an asset to the Democratic party and Hillman probably would be glad to get rid of them.

Where the Communists will go is a question. It is not likely that they and such fellow travelers as they and such reliew travelers as are willing to travel with them would essay a third party. But politicians hereabouts believe that they will be able to shift their weight about in such a manner as to upset more speakers but is much more rapid in than one state and congressional the long run making repetition of political apple-cart.

This year the Red Cross of Charlevoix County packed 300 gift boxes with both school upplies and toys for school children in foreign countries who have had neither during the years of war. Through the cooperation and direction of school instructors from Charlevoix, East Jordan and Boyne City schools and Mrs. Gregg Bosell of East Jordan, the Junior Red Cross members of the county contributed excellent work this year and a result successfully operated the gift box project.

In addition, JRC's, at the request of the U. S. Army, decorated more than 1000 paper napkins in holiday designs for patients of the Ft. Cus-ter hospital, Ft. Custer, Michigan and are now nearing the completion of lap boards, writing boards and cribbage boards for future shipment. Of particular mention is the Char-levoix County Junior Red Cross contribution of $200 to The National Children's Fund, a fund maintained by the members of the American Junior Red Cross since 1919. It is a special restricted account used to meet emergency needs of children throughout the world and at the present time assumes unprecedented mportance in the work of educational rehabilitation

The American Junior Red Cross is one of the outstanding organiza-tions in the United States today for boys and girls. The future is in your hands—and theirs !

PROGRESS IN EAST JORDAN

There are still a number of people waiting for telephones in this area. Before we can serve everybody, we'll need more outside wire and cable to connect new customers' premises with the central office. These facilities have been ordered and are now being manufactured.

Even after we receive the new wire and cable, there will be the painstaking job of interconnecting it with the present telephone plant . . . a job that must be done carefully without interrupting existing service.

Meanwhile, we are continuing to stretch our present equipment far beyond its normal capacity, making it handle more subscribers than it was engineered to accommodate. At the risk of temporarily lowering the quality of service, every terminal, every line, every telephone we can possibly use is being put to work, to bring some type of service to as many new customers as possible. And we'll continue this policy until our new facilities are available to solve the problem.

If you are waiting for a telephone, you can be sure your order will be filled in its proper turn just as socia as possible.

THE STORY THUS FAR: Spratt Her-long, motion picture producer, met and married Elizabeth, whise first husband, Arthur Kittredge, was reported killed in World War I, but who later appeared in Hollywood and secured a job with Spratt. Under the name of Kessler, and with his disfigurements, he was not recognized and became a good friend of the Her-longs. While Elizabeth, Cherry and Dick were helping. Margaret, Kessler's ward, decorate her Christmas tree, she told them about the man who killed her moth-or. Kessler later told them the truth of Nazi Germany, how Margaret's parentis Nazi Germany, how Margaret's parents were driven to suicide, and how thou-sands of children were killed before they could contribute to mankind.

CHAPTER XIX

He lerked himself back angrily He had given her the chance to be happy and she had used it; if happiness brought its own penalties that was not his fault or hers. She had a great deal to lose. Nobody knew what the war might do to this coun-try before it was over, and the whole fabric of her life and her children's future might he inpad to shreds in future might be ripped to shreds in the days to come. She had made that clear to him when she said, "If my world is shot to pleces again I can't go back and start over. I did that once." Elizabeth did not suspect that when he heard her say that he had nearly burst out sobbing with defeat. He had been so sure, back in 1918, that when he gave her the chance to start over it was the chance to build for permanence. chance to build for permanence. Now he had no consolation to give her, or to give himself—nothing but a desperate courage. There was uothing to do but go on telling her what he had already tried to tell her: that in the final analysis life consisted mostly of doing things one did not want to do, and the only way to keen any self-respect through the to keep any self-respect through the whole wretched business was to look squarely at what had to be done and squarely at what had to be done and then go ahead and do it. Now he had to tell Dick the same thing. Not tell him to go to war, that Dick was ready to do; but he could understand from the boy's awkward little letter that now Dick wanted to be told what it was all about. It would be so much simpler if Dick could be left with the idea that it was merely a matter of kill-ing Japs and Germans before they killed.

Kessler turned to his typewriter, holding the paper with his thumb and forefinger while he turned the platen with the other three fingers, made steady by the pressure of his palm. He wrote:

My Dear Dick,

Can you come around Sunday aft-ernoon about three? Margaret is learning to skate and will be at the ice-rink with her playmates, so we an count on not being interrepted. I'll be very glad to see your

Your friend, Erich Kessler.

Dick arrived at ten minutes to three. They did not waste any time on preliminary courtesies. Dick had lot to ask and he immediately started asking it. "You see," said Dick, "I'm just about to be eighteen, and as soon as I'm eighteen I'll get into the service. Maybe I'll join up before then. I kind of like the Marines. That's okay

-I'm not saying I'd join the Ma-rines if there wasn't a war, but there is a war, so that's what you do, the Marines or whoever will have you. But there are some things—" He hesitated.

"The day of Pearl Harbor I was so mad I could have lit into every Jap gardener I saw and it burned me up to think I couldn't do anything about it. I just wanted to kill them. I still do. The Japs, I mean. I never did get that excited about the Germans, I guess it was because they were going after othe people but it was the Japs who had tried to sink the whole Navy when the Americans weren't doing anyhing to them. The Germans-'t mean because you're a Ger man, anyway you never do seem like one—but I'd been hearing about Hite one-out I'd been hearing about Hitler practically all my life and I guess I'd got kind of used to him." "I suppose you would," Kessler observed thoughtfully. "You were sight years old when he burned the nooks "Well, I was pretty innocent myself until just lately," Dick con-fessed with confiding wisdom, "I thought wars were just wars, be-ause somebody had to run the earth and it had better be your side than their side, and mostly wars were (ought to take care of trade and profits and it was principally the Morgans who got us into the last one, and we'd never have been in this one if the Jaus had minded their own business. Now I see that's not right, you can't go along letting things happen the way they are hap-pening, things like Margaret I mean. But what I want to know is, what can I say to my mother and father! I can't just go off and have them miling and shriveling up inside the way they are doing. Don't think my mother has said anything to me, Mr. Kessler! She hasn't. She won't either.

to be the emotion of the moment, It's not merely that they have a right to think better of you than that. But if you expect them, and the rest But if you expect them, and the rest of the decent people in the world, to get anything from this war except more destruction and suffering, if you want it to be so fething more than just another war, you've got to have an idea of what you want it to hring about Even if you know to bring about. Even if you know what you want you may not get it, but if you don't know, this certainly won't be anything but just another war" war." "Well, what do we want to get?"

Dick demanded. He laughed uncom-fortably. "I guess you think I'm pretty silly to ask that, don't you? pretty silly to ask that, don't you? I guess you think I ought to know." "No, Dick, I don't think you're silly not to know. We who are older than you ought to be wiser, but sometimes we feel we don't know any more than you do. I'll try to tell you how it looks to me. That's all I can tell you."

"Go ahead," said Dick. He added with an embarrassed grin, "I guess I've been talking a lot. But now I'm listening."

Kessler turned his cane under his hand and looked at it, then raised his eyes again.

"Dick, the sweep of history doesn't take much account of indi-viduals. That's hard for us to realize, because we are individuals and we can't think except in terms of ourselves.'

"I guess it didn't," Dick acknowl-dged. "But Mr. Kessler, what's edged that got to do with us?"

"Don't get too discouraged about your country, Dick. The United States has a standard it's trying to live up to-of course you haven't reached what you're aiming at, but you're closer than you used to be. Look back and you can see the idea coming—slowly, painfully, cruelly, but always on the march. The American Revolution was part of it and the French Revolution another part. They want as far as thay part. They went as far as they could, but not as far as the idea was destined to go. The American Revolution was a war for liberty, but it didn't finish the fight-haven't you ever read about the howls that went up in this country, long after the Revolution, at the suggestion of free public schools for all children?" Dick shook his head. "I thought they always wanted schools in this country."

everal of the most powerful nations of the world, people were actually asking one another if any common wealth was benefited by benefiting part of its citizens in compulsory degradation. In cases where they were still doing so—as with the Ne-groes in this country—they were ashamed of it and made excuses for it. The march toward human free it. The march toward human freedom seemed to be going along very well. But then, certain persons, more farsighted than their neighmore farsigned than their heigh-bors, looked ahead and saw what we were headed for. The result was a long, long way ahead, so far ahead that most of its never thought about it, but for those who did visualize it the very suggestion was so dan-gerous, such a threat to all nations and all established institutions, that something simply had to be done to stop the march, and quick." "Gosh, go on!" exclaimed Dick. "What's that suggestion you're talk-ing about?" "Can't you see it? It's very logical-simply the suggestion that if a country could be improved by re-leasing the talents of its people, might not the world be improved by releasing the talents of all its peo-ples? That's a terrible idea."

"Why?" Dick asked with ingenu-ous defiance.

"Don't be so simple-minded, Dick! Why, that contradicts everything we're used to. It takes away our colonies. It drives us out of places where we've invested our hard-earned money. It means that the coolies no longer have any respect for their betters. It makes us ac-knowledge we are no longer called of God to meddle with the private lives of the heathen. It turns us upside down and flattens us out and leaves us no better than anybody else.'

Dick considered this, slowly and soberly. At length he said, "I bebler considered this, slowly and soberly. At length he said, "I be-lieve I get it." He turned it over in his mind again, then ventured, "Ite means--iall men are created free and equal, endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights--' it means all. Not just us. Every-body."

"Most of the important facts of ife are very simple, once you make up your mind to look for them, but they're often very hard to accept. Like that business of loving your neighbor as yourself, for instance-it's very difficult to admit that he's as much worth loving as yourself. Most of us hate nothing so much as an idea that threatens our good opin-ion of ourselves. We don't like owning up to it that if the earth belongs to us, it also belongs to the Chinese coolies.'

Dick began to laugh suddenly, then he sobered again. "Cherry said once that Mr. Wallace thought this war was being fought for the coolies. We laughed when she said it. It sounded preposterous. But you mean it really is?"

"Why yes, though not many of us are willing to admit it. But that's what we mean when we say we're fighting for human freedom.

"This country is still uncertain," said Kessler, "because it has gone into the war on the side of history. The people know it's the right side, they're fighting valiantly for victory, but they're frightened at what vic-tory will mean."

"It will mean-?" Dick stopped.

"That Americans will have to go on, marching through more blood and pain toward a goal they are not sure they can bear to reach. You are fighting for the coolies, Dick, not because you give a damn what becomes of the coolies but because you care a great deal about what becomes of yourself. You don't dare not to fight for them. They've come so close to you that what happens to them touches you already, and vour c Don't stop to think of this now if it's too much. I know it's terrifying. Go on and fight for your country. That's what is being asked of you now." "I want to think about it," said "But you don't think I'm a Dick. dope because I'm-well, kind of shocked, do you?" Kessler laughed a little. "Of course not. It's the most shocking conception that has shaken the minds of men and women since they were asked to believe that on the other side of the earth people were walking upside down. If you said you weren't shocked by it, I shouldn't believe you."

"Not for everybody. There were opponents who said compulsory schooling would break up the home by taking children away from their parents and putting them under control of the state. There were others who said it would destroy the or-dained order of society by making the working classes dissatisfied with the position in which God had placed them. But the schools came, be-

"Gee," said Dick. "You know, you're encouraging. The place is getting better, isn't it?"

"Of course it is. Whenever you're tempted to believe it isn't, you might remember that it was in 1870, a good deal less than a hundred years ago, that the State of Massachusetts was hailed as an enlightened leader of progress when the legislature passed a law that children under twelve should not be allowed to work in factories more than ten hours per day.

Dick nodded slowly. "I'm begin-ning to see it." He wrinkled his forehead, and exclaimed, "But right now, I don't mind telling you, that big idea sure is up against a lot."

Kessler nodded too, in agreement. "Suppose I try to tell you why it's up against so much right now. Shall I?"

"I wish you would."

"Well, you see, a few years ago the idea had gone so far that in

Dick rambled among his own thoughts for a moment. At length he inquired, "How did you come to think of all this?"

"I was pretty badly hurt in the last war," Kessler answered frank-ly. "When a man's life is so violently changed, he has to do a lot of thinking. At first I thought in of thinking. At first I thought in terms of individuals, each learning terms of individuals, each learning to manage his own problems. But when hell broke loose again I had to start thinking all over, not in terms of individuals only but in terms of the human race. That's all." Again Dick was silent. He thought, contemplating himself, the world, and himself again. Finally he said, "Well, I'm going to stick to my own country awhile. I like Americans and you can say what you please but by and large I do think they're more decent than other peo

By VIRGINIA VALE. HAVE you even how it happened that so many movie stars were accomplished musicians? Some are, of course. But-well, at Warner Bros. there's a music school which teaches stars to "finger," but not to play. Recording artists, off stage, supply the music. Errol Flynn learned to look like a guitar player for "San Antonio"; Victor Francen fakes a piano solo for "The Beast with Five Fingers." And John Garfield turns concert violinist for "Humoresque." Of course many a star has seemed to sing while someone else really did it.

LESSON TEXT-John 1:42; Mark 8:27-29; Luke 22:54-57, 61, 62; John 21:15-17. MEMORY SELECTION-We ought to obey God rather than men.--Acts 5:29. Men are of primary interest to God. Our Lord Jesus has always been concerned about men, eager that they should be filled with all that they should be filled with all the fullness of His love and the beauty of. His grace. He it is who stands by in the hour of weakness and failure to give renewed strength to His repentant child. The life of Peter runs the gamut of human feelings from the height of joy and assurance to the depth of despar. He learned many of his

of despair. He learned many of his lessons the hard way-by a stubborn struggle in the school of experience -but he came out into a glorious and triumphant faith in Christ.

I. A New Name and a Great Confession (John 1:42; Mark 8:27-29). When a man comes to Jesus in true faith and devotion he becomes a changed man. The Bible speaks of it as a new birth, a radical change from darkness to light, a going from death to life.

A name is important in its bear-ing on the individual's life. How often parents hinder or embarrass a child with an unworthy name. or a foolish imitation of the name of some giddy individual in the pub-lic eye, but lacking real character. Simon, which means "hearing" was completed by the name Peter meaning "rock," a token of this change of direction of life. The Lord gave it to him, and He knew all about the man, his past, present and future, the longings of his heart which were to be fulfilled in serv-ice for Him.

The great confession of Christ (Mark 8), which became the foun-dation of the church (see Matt. 16: was the expression of the heart of this spiritually changed man. "Thou art the Christ!" Such is the conviction and confession of the man or woman with the reborn life! II. An Awful Failure and a Deep Repentance (Luke 22:54-57, 61, 62). Peter had vaunted himself in declaring his everlasting loyalty to the Lord. His old self-satisfaction and Lord. boastfulness had overcome him. He had even come to the place where he felt capable of telling the Lord that He was mistaken.

He made the grave mistake of following the Lord "afar off" (v. 54). He did not intend to deny the Lord, but he had allowed himself to get into a position where it was hard to stand up for Him.

The lesson for us is evident. If we want our faith to be steady and true in the hour of the enemy's at-tack we must not get far from the Lord, nor may we find our fellow-ship with this Christ-denying world. Peter's strong denial of our Lord, his use of language unbecoming to a believer, his quick false-hoods—all these mark the thing he did for what he knew it to be when he heard the cock crow-a terrible sin against the Christ.

The look of Jesus doubtless carried conviction, but one somehow feels that it was even more a look of tenderness and of assurance of the Lord's promised prayers for

Scout Meeting Held at Boyne City Gym For Northern District

Six patrols, which attained "A' ratings in first aid qualifying contests, are to compete here in North-ern District, Scenic Trails Council, competition in the Mid-West First Aid Contest in the Boyne City high school gymnasium April 25th. The contest is to begin at 8 p.m. American Red Cross.

MOTHER'S LITTLE HELPER

Yes, little sister swings an inspired broom! She's Mother's Little Helper - and what a help she is!

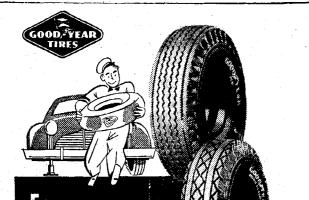

Mother has a Big Helper, too-a really efficient helper-always at her finger-tips-ready to cook and wash and clean-ready to make life easier for all the family.

This tireless helper, of course, is electric service. It does a lot of jobs at low wages. It never asks for time off.

Maybe Mother and the rest of you take this faithful servant for granted. When you flick a switch you expect the power to be there-instantly-always. And the fact that it is didn't just happen. It comes from the friendly efficiency of the folks in this company.
