Char. Co. Fair Coming Week

RESUMES ANNUAL EXHIBITS AFTER BEING CLOSED DURING WAR YEARS

The Charlevoix County Fair will be held at East Jordan next week, September 3-4-5-6.

Agricultural and 4-H exhibits for Antrim and Charlevoix Counties will be well filled according to the reports of the committees in charge. Attractive premiums are offered for exhibits in all lines except poultry, as the Department of Agriculture has banned all poultry exhibits for the balance of 1946 because of an epidemic throughout the State.

Plenty of excellent entertainment will be provided with a fine program of Free Acts each afternoon and evening, two ball games each afternoon featuring the outstanding teams of Northern Michigan, running and harness races each day, and a horse pulling contest Friday afternoon.

Farm Bureau Notes

South Arm Farm Bureau met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Boss, Aug. 20, at 8:00 p. m. Minutes were read and approved. Mrs. Secord led the singing and the group sang several songs.

George Klooster, one of our Charlevoix County Directors, explained that 1937 Farm Bureau dues had not been raised to $10 as yet and our directors were not in favor of doing so unless some definite service could be offered in return by Farm Bureau.

The discussion topic "Industrial Income and the Farm Market" was led by Mrs. Secord.

Marketing was considered our biggest problem. Some members thought farmers should protect local merchants by selling direct from farm to market at the same retail price as the merchant would receive.

Farm Bureau is joining with other farm groups in sponsoring the Labor Day Picnic at Whiting Park this year.

The next meeting will be at Delbert Ingalls, Sept. 17, at 8:00 p. m.

Highway Dept. Will Continue Letting Contracts For Pavements, Bridges

The Charlevoix County Road Commission makes the following announcement:

The State Highway Department expects to continue letting contracts for pavements and bridges despite a recent public roads announcement suggesting the curtailment of highway projects, particularly those requiring the use of structural steel.

Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler has announced that the department will put an escalator clause in its contracts, thereby enabling contractors to order steel at once for delivery as soon as possible.

The escalator clause will protect contractors on any increase in prices on steel, labor and freight rates. He pointed out that these prices and rates would be based on official figures and the freight rates on published schedules to protect the department at the same time.

With this escalator clause it will be possible to get projects under contract now and work started as soon as material is available.

MSC Botany Expert Warns About Use of Weed Killer

Dr. B. H. Grigsby of the botany department at Michigan State College, whose specialty is weed control, has a word of warning about 2, 4-D. He says the experience of some gardeners and homeowners who were not careful with the application has been "weed 'em and weep." For along with killing the dandelions and other unwanted plants in the lawn, they have destroyed some flowering plants and shrubs in beds bordering lawns sprayed with 2, 4-D.

Spraying of the lawn should be accomplished only on a still day. When spraying near a flower bed or shrub, spray away from the flowers or shrubs — not toward them. Even the fine mist that is invisible to the eye is enough to kill some plants or shrubs.

Dr. Grigsby explains that some trees and shrubs growing near the spot where he parks his spray truck shows the effects of the weed killer. None of the 2, 4-D was sprayed on the vegetation, but the effect is caused merely by evaporation from the tank.

Another source of occasional trouble has been the use of the same spray equipment for 2, 4-D and for a pest-control spray. While some believe four or five thorough washings with hot soapy water and repeated rinsings will remove any traces of 2, 4-D from a sprayer, Dr. Grigsby recommends using the sprayer for that solution only. He points out the residue which remains in the sprayer or the hose may be insoluble in one solution, but may become soluble in a different spray solution at a later date and cause damage to a highly valuable plant.

He recommends spraying lawns with 2, 4-D in late summer or early fall while weeds are still growing.

MARRIAGES

Sturgell — Shepard

Baskets of white gladiolus and white asters with tall white lighted tapers decorated the altar in the Methodist Church before which Miss Shirley Irene Sturgell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Sturgell, and Walter C. Shepard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shepard, were united in marriage Sunday, Aug. 25, at 7 o'clock, by Rev. Howard Moore, pastor of the church.

With Margaret Blossie at the piano, Iris Petrie sang "As Long As I Live".

As the wedding march was played the bridal party entered. The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore an aqua street-length dress with black accessories and a corsage of white gladiolus and white asters. Doras Shepard, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and wore a rush dress with black accessories and a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Boyd Heaton, also a sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and wore a yellow dress with brown accessories and corsage of yellow chrysanthemums. The bride's mother wore a grey suit and wore a corsage of orchid asters and red roses. The groom's mother wore a navy blue dress and a corsage of white asters and red roses.

The groom was attended by Willard Howe. The ushers were Boyd Heaton and Bruce Bartlett.

The guests then repaired to the church parlor where refreshments were served. Ann Hiller cut the cake and Mrs. Bruce Bartlett poured the coffee.

The bride and groom were both graduates of the East Jordan High School; the bride with the Class of 10 and the groom with the Class of 38. The groom served in the Army Air Corp in World War II.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Shepard will be at home at Mrs. Julia Gunthers cottage on Lake Charlevoix.

Guests from out-of-town were — Miss Doras Shepard of Saginaw; Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Heaton, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Reiman, Boyne City; Miss Ann Hiller, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bartlett, and Mrs. John R. Struthers, Helix.

Goldstick, Charlevoix.

A pre-nuptial shower was given August 19 at the home of Mrs. Merle Thompson with Mrs. Thomas St. Charles assisting.

Lutheran Reunion Service

The service next Sunday at Christ Lutheran Church, Wilson Township, will be in the form of a Confirmation Reunion and Roll-Call of all living catechumens of the congregation. An annual feature prior to the war, it is being resumed this year.

It is estimated that approximately twenty of the two hundred and twenty who have been confirmed, either as children or adults since 1884, are deceased. Letters of greeting from catechumens unable to attend will be read in connection with the roll-call.

The service, which will begin at 2:30, will include the celebration of the Holy Communion. The Sunday School will convene at 2:00. The following Sunday, services will be resumed at the usual time, 9:30 a. m.

The Rev. Norman Kuck of Boyne City is the pastor.

You Can't Vote If Not Registered

OCT. 16th LAST DAY — BUT WHY WAIT UNTIL THEN

John A. Wagner, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, recently called on all citizens, regardless of party affiliation, to be alert to the changes made by the 1945 legislature in the Michigan election laws.

"It is vital to the cause of representative government," the GOP chairman declared, "that all Michigan citizens eligible to do so register and vote in the November election."

"We may not all agree on issues," he pointed out, "but we should be united in the declaration that the best way to decide issues is through the ballot. It is the duty of every citizen who believes in representative government to register and vote."

Calling attention to changes in Michigan election laws, Mr. Wagner said: "The 1945 legislature amended the general election law to make it mandatory for all townships and cities, regardless of population, to adopt the permanent registration system. Prior to this, the permanent registration was mandatory only in townships and cities of 5,000 population or over."

"The initial registration or re-registration," he explained, "in those townships and cities not now operating under the permanent system must be completed not later than the twentieth day preceding the election November 5. This would make registration necessary by October 16."

"Registration on election day is limited to those who, on account of illness or bodily infirmity of himself or some member of his family, or owing to his absence from the township or city on public or personal business, were unable to make application for registration on prescribed registration days, provided he or she is accompanied and identified by a registered voter known to a member of the election board."

"Therefore," the Republican chairman said, "no general registration or re-registration of voters may be made on any election day. Under the permanent registration provisions of the election law, however, registration may be made on election day in case of an elector's removal from one election precinct of a township, city or village to another precinct of the same township, city or village."

CANNING TOMATOES

Mrs. Vivian P. MacFawn, foods and nutrition extension specialist at Michigan State college believes if you are one of those who could not buy canned tomatoes last winter and early spring you will be easily encouraged to can tomatoes during the harvest season this year. Tomatoes play a double role—they are handy in cooking or make a good vegetable. Also they can take the place of fruit for desert in emergencies.

Mrs. MacFawn says the average family of four needs 65 quarts of tomatoes to have one cup a week per person for the eight months fresh tomatoes are not in season. Tomato juice is full of that much needed vitamin C, so you can use even more than that amount.

Here's the newest method for canning tomatoes to keep as much vitamin C as possible:

Use only perfect, ripe tomatoes. Scald, remove stem ends peel and quarter. Bring to a rolling boil and stir as tomatoes heat. Pack hot add 1 teaspoon of salt to each quart. Adjust lids and process ten minutes in a boiling-water bath.

To prepare tomato juice, prepare the fruit the same way but cut the fruit in smaller pieces. After simmering until softened, the tomatoes should be put through a fine sieve and then reheated just to boiling after one teaspoon of salt per quart has been added. Put into hot jars or bottles at once. Leave one-quarter inch head space in jars and one-half inch in bottles. Adjust tops and process 15 minutes in boiling water bath.

Remember, the less cooking and handling tomatoes the more vitamin C is retained. But can plenty of tomatoes this year. You'll appreciate them throughout the winter and early spring. Ed. Reiman, County Agr'l Agent.

FERTILIZER APPLICATION MAKES BIG HAY INCREASE

An application of 300 pounds of phosphate and potash per acre this spring by Gerrit George Drenth of Ellsworth returned him a large dividend through increased hay production, states E. M. Gulembo, Work Unit Conservationist.

Mr. Drenth states "If it had not been for the fertilizer application I made this spring I would be short of hay. I estimate my fertilizer application made me two tons more hay per acre. On a check strip I left unfertilized, the hay was very light."

Mr. Drenth also states that field stripping, as he has carried on this summer, has cut down erosion and from this years experience, he states, he would not change back to the old method of square farming.

Gerrit is just one of many farmers that attended group meetings during the past winter conducted by the County Agricultural Agent and Antrim Soil Conservation District.

Safe and Sane Holiday Driving

Anticipating a surge of holiday traffic and accidents over the Labor Day weekend, Automobile Club of Michigan today joined police and other safety agencies in a plea to "take it easy" on the state highways and city streets.

Our record in the past ten years for the three or four days which usually comprise a Labor Day weekend has not been an encouraging one," said Ernest P. Davis, Auto Club Safety and Traffic Director. "During this last big holiday weekend for motorists it is hoped that every effort will be made to take it easy while driving or walking."

Davis emphasized that more cars will be on the road this weekend than anytime since 1941 and that most of them are more than six years old.

He listed six suggestions to insure a safe and sane motor holiday.

1—"Take It Easy!" Don't weave in and out of traffic. Maintain a steady driving pace without excessive speed or racing spurts in traffic.

2—Don't drive on the wrong side of the road. Keep to the right particularly on curves.

3—Don't pass on hills, curves or at street intersections.

4—Get an early start, going and coming, to avoid tension in crowded traffic. Rest when necessary to overcome fatigue.

5—Slowdown at sundown; don't overdrive your headlights.

6—Watch for cars coming out of side roads, particularly after dusk; and obey all traffic signs calling for a "Full Stop."

Mrs. Mae Ward spent the weekend in Lansing, visiting her daughters and attended the wedding of her grandson, Chas. Caldwell, Saturday evening.

Act Fast on Vets' Furlough Pay; Axis Allies Seek Soft Peace; Tighten Consumer Credit Rules

Released by Western Newspaper Union. (EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

FURLOUGH PAY: Fast Action

Application forms for vets' unused furlough pay will be available at all post offices by mid-September but disbursement of the five-year bonds will not take place before the end of the month because of time required in printing.

In announcing the procedure to be followed, the war department stated:

1. Applications will be acknowledged when received to assure the vet his claim is on record.
2. Disbursing officers will accept sworn statements of applicants unless there is suspicion of fraud.
3. Army vets unable to determine how much unused furlough pay they have coming, figured on the basis of 2 1/2 days per month, can apply for information to the adjutant general's personnel records branch at St. Louis, Mo.

PARIS: Wanted: Softer Terms

Addressing the delegates of 21 Allied nations at the peace conference in Luxembourg palace, representatives of Italy, Romania and Bulgaria pleaded for moderation of terms on the grounds that, as co-belligerents of the victors in the closing stages of the war, they had made substantial sacrifices for victory.

Speaking for Italy, Premier De Gasperi stated that his country had contributed troops, naval power and materials for three years and that the Allies should think twice before internationalizing Italian dominated Trieste and submitting 180,000 Italians in Venezia Giulia to Yugoslav rule. He also asserted that excessive reparations would weigh down the Italian economy and reduction of armaments would imperil the safety of the state.

Foreign Minister Giurgu Tatarascu of Romania followed De Gasperi to the speaker's dais and asserted that no less than 385,000 Romanians had fought on the allied side during the last six months of the war. Furthermore, he said, German and Hungarian forces had inflicted large-scale damage of Romania after she had deserted the axis cause. Tatarascu asked for a larger army and scaling down of heavy reparations.

On behalf of Bulgaria, Foreign Minister George Koulishev claimed that his country had suffered 32,000 casualties during the eight months it fought on the allied side. He charged Greek demands for $750,000,000 in reparations were excessive and asked that Bulgaria be permitted to disarm within reasonable limits. Regulation of traffic on the Danube should be the interest of all the countries bordering the river, including Bulgaria, Koulishev said.

Unable to come before the peace conference like Italy, Romania and Bulgaria as 11th hour co-belligerents, Hungary pleaded that, despite its participation on Germany's side, it never really was sympathetic to the Nazi cause. After this lame assertion, the Hungarian representative called for the return of at least one-fifth of the province of Transylvania from Romania.

C.O.'S: Amnesty Asked

In all, the Wagnalls have left $3,800,000 to the little settlement in which Adam Wagnalls of the Funk and Wagnalls publishing house, was born. Following an initial gift of $500,000 for a 9,000-volume library, auditorium and dining hall, Mrs. Mabel Wagnall Jones then willed an additional $2,500,000 to Lithopolis to establish a community memorial in honor of her famous father.

Discussing use of the latest endowment, Will E. Sitterly, 66-year-old farmer member of the board of trustees of Lithopolis, declared the money must be used to the advantage of both rich and poor. Although believing that it will take years to complete a program of sound expenditure, villagers looked for an immediate expansion in educational facilities.

Meanwhile, economists figured that the total endowments amounted to $10,000 for each of Lithopolis' 288 residents.

CONSUMERS: Credit Curbs

Apprehensive over an inflationary trend, the federal reserve board clamped down on consumer credit regulations to slacken the flow of easy money in the face of a continued shortage of goods.

The action came after consumer installment loans had risen to the unprecedented rate of 575 million dollars a year during the first quarter of 1946. Normally, consumers do not add to their debts during this period, when they are paying off obligations contracted during Christmas time.

With the price of many automobiles topping $1,500, the board hiked coverage of its credit regulations up to $2,000. Anyone purchasing a car in the $1,500 to $2,000 range will have to put at least one-third down and pay off the balance in 15 months.

Time for paying off credits on non-durable or semi-durable goods was cut from 18 to 15 months while the period for so-called hard goods was continued at 12 months. With many personal loans being used for purchase of such hard goods as furniture, refrigerators, autos, etc., such obligations will have to be repaid in 15 months.

DARDANELES: Hot Spot

Another major international row appeared in the making with Soviet Russia's demand upon Turkey that she break the Montreux convention of 1936 and share control of the vital Dardanelles straits leading to the Black sea with Moscow.

Under the convention, the Turks have been entrusted with the guardianship of the strategic waterway and, while they have expressed a willingness to maintain the present arrangement, they have informed the U. S. and Britain that they cannot hold out against the Russian proposals alone. By granting Russian demands, the Turks would be forced to permit Red troops to occupy parts of their soil along the straits.

In vesting control of the Dardanelles only in nations bordering upon the Black sea, Russia proposed to exclude the warships of other countries from the region. While the Reds recommended that all merchant vessels be allowed to ply the Black sea, dominant Soviet control of the straits would permit Moscow to lay down shipping conditions and put an iron clamp on Allied naval moves against southern Russia.

FARM BRIEFS...

Of farm-retail price spreads, the department of agriculture says, the farmer's share of the consumer's dollar spent for food products in June remained at 53 cents. This share was slightly lower than the share of 54 cents in June, 1945, and 3 1/2 per cent lower than the record of 55 cents. Charges for marketing farm food products remained relatively stable during the month.

FARM CREDIT: Co-Ordinate Activity

President Truman's approval of the Farmers' Home corporation bill sponsored by Representative Cooley (Dem., N. C.) set the stage for the streamlining of the government's agricultural credit activities for low income borrowers.

As expressed by Cooley, purpose of the bill is to empower one agency under the secretary of agriculture to make direct loans to farmers who cannot get credit elsewhere for 5 per cent or less. Three-member county committees, consisting of at least two farmers, will be set up to pass on loan applications, and no short-term advances will be made without their approval.

In the reorganization, the Farm Security administration, some activities of the Farm Credit administration and all programs of the National Housing agency pertaining to the FSA will be abolished. The secretary of agriculture also will be required to liquidate all resettlement and rehabilitation projects described by Cooley as "communitic."

DRAFT: Plan Calls

Unless there are more volunteers, draft boards will be asked to call up 185,000 more men in the seven months beginning September 1 to enable the army to maintain its authorized strength through the year, the war department revealed.

Although enlistments are expected to total 279,000 by next June 30, discharge of fathers and soldiers with 18 months of service as required by law will necessitate the heavy peacetime induction, it was said.

With army strength authorized at 1,310,000 on January 1 and 1,070,000 next July, 20,000 active duty reserve officers volunteers will be recalled to duty. Another 25,000 officers will be selected to bring regular officer strength up to 50,000 as authorized by law.

POLITICS: La Follette Falls

While Circuit Judge Joseph R. McCarthy attributed his victory over Robert M. La Follette in the Republican senatorial primary in Wisconsin to the voters' reaction against centralized government, political wisecracks blamed late campaign boners as potent reasons for Young Bob's demise.

Perhaps the most serious of La Follette's blunders was his open last-minute support of Gov. Walter S. Goodland's opponent after the 63-year-old chief executive had vetoed a bill earlier this year which would have prevented Young Bob from returning to the GOP fold. With many of Goodland's supporters resenting La Follette's 11th hour move, it was figured that enough may have deserted his cause to result in his narrow loss.

Young Bob's defeat temporarily ended the La Follette's 41-year dominance in Wisconsin politics, with the old Progressive leadership built up by Fighting Bob Sr., making way for the rising star of industrialist Tom E. Coleman as the conservative boss of Badger State politics.

PALESTINE: Turn on Heat

The illegal Jewish underground organization, Irgun Zvai Leumi, called upon all Jewish resistance movements in Palestine to unite in the fight for attainment of a Jewish national home in the Holy Land even as British officials lambasted Zionists for seeking to high pressure the government into acceding to their demands.

Pointing out that it was necessary to press their drive now while the British were being hard put to maintain order in Palestine, Irgun suggested that the two other resistance groups, Haganah and the Stern gang, combine to form the nucleus of an underground government and army.

Meanwhile, the U. S. refused to formally participate in implementation of a proposal to divide Palestine into Arab and Jewish zones and advance Arabs in the Near East $300,000,000 for economic development to offset overcrowding from large-scale Jewish immigration.

SCHOOL LUNCHES: Set Program

Twenty-six states and the territory of Hawaii have already signed agreements to take advantage of federal school lunch program funds provided under the national school lunch act, the department of agriculture announced.

During past years, the school lunch program has been run on a year-to-year basis, but the new act makes it permanent and increases the responsibilities of states in the administrative field.

Washington Digest Truman Purge Aimed at Restoring Party Machinery

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Before the Paris Peace conference even got underway we learned that the rules committee, which heard so much heated oratory, was as powerful as the powerful rules committee of the house of representatives.

It wasn't until after the primary returns were in, and Representative (Truman-hater) Slaughter of Missouri, a member of the rules committee, was defeated, that most laymen realized the importance of that battle, and why the President stuck his neck out as far as he did in helping to beat him.

I can see the President now as he looked up with that pert, bird-like glance he has—just enough of a smile to make you try to listen sympathetically—and say that if Slaughter was right, he (the President) was wrong.

Think what Slaughter could have said if he had been elected! But he was defeated—and the day after the primary, the real significance of the battle became clear.

Never in American history has any administration been up against the situation which developed when the Roosevelt honeymoon ended. I am not arguing how or why that situation came about. But the fact is we have had a situation where party lines meant little, and the age-old principle of majority rule, the theory on which congress, as a working body, is organized, has been violated.

Outstanding example was the rules committee. There were five southerners—anti-administration Democrats—on that committee, and with Slaughter's help, they could tie up the vote and tie up any legislation Truman asked for.

Now maybe the fact that the administration couldn't get its legislation before congress, or couldn't get it passed when it did, was a good thing. I am not discussing that. I merely say that what happened is not a good thing for the two-party system. And as the situation grew more acute, congress wasn't a working body.

Let's take the testimony of a thoroughly loyal Republican member of the committee and acting minority leader, Representative Michener of Michigan. If the Democrats retain control of the house, Michener said, the absence of Representative Slaughter will permit the rules committee to function the way it was intended to function; namely, the legislation of the party in power will be sent to the floor.

That didn't mean Michener wanted the rival party's legislation passed. It simply meant he knew that Slaughter, teaming up with the anti-administration Democrats and the Republicans, was able to tie the vote and stymie action. And that isn't two-party government.

Air-Power Big Killer in War

This has been an aviation year. The first peacetime year that America has been acknowledged as mistress of the air as well as of the sea and the land. It has been a time of reminiscence, of recapitulation, as well as forecast and foreshadowing.

I remember the interview I had with a certain army official during the war. His impatience, smashing the ordinary rules of censorship, had revealed the secret of the bazooka kept "confidential" long after it was in use, and the details of which Germans had long since learned to their sorrow. (The bazooka functions on the rocket principle.)

The officer pointed to an old print on his wall. It was a picture of American soldiers discharging a rocket projectile in the War of 1812.

Why, then, if the rocket principle was known to us in those early days, did we not develop it as the Germans did, I asked.

The reason the rocket was neglected in the Civil war period, I was told, was because ordnance experts were concentrating on the development of the breech-loading firearm, and the perfection of rifling—the making of spiraled grooves inside the barrel which gave the bullet or projectile a twisting movement, and kept it from tumbling "head over heels." This increased range and accuracy.

The emphasis was still on the riflemen rather than the artillery, and such statistics as we have indicate that the infantry in the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 wounded 10 times as many men as the artillery did. Undoubtedly the bayonet claimed many.

By 1914-15, however, artillery produced one-half the wounded, showing the rapid advance which, in part, made experts forget the rocket again.

Artillery, according to the old definition, is "group-served, mounted firearms of caliber greater than that of small arms." This definition could easily be made to include the firearms, shells, or bombs carried by planes, or contained in the war-head of a rocket.

I mention the effectiveness of "artillery" in the latter sense, not to belittle the doughboy who is really the "ultimo ratio," but because the projectile, either carried in a plane or by propulsion in a rocket, is what might be called the definitive weapon.

The point is we did not develop the rocket in the Civil war because we felt we had something better (breech-loading rifled artillery and small arms). And again the rocket was set aside by a decision arrived at before we engaged actively in World War II when our experts, both in the army and out of it, including the great industrialists who could gauge our production capacity, felt the airplane was a superior weapon.

We did not entirely neglect study and experimentation on the rocket during the war, however, and now we are probably farther advanced in this type of "artillery" than any other nation. We also have learned to project our "artillery" by means of the "drone" (pilotless airplane). On August 7, the drones dived their way from Honolulu to California. One of them dropped a bomb. The rest landed successfully. A plane with no pilot can bomb a nation that far distant without risking human life.

Is This the Army, Mr. Jones?

In World War I when YMCA and Red Cross canteens were established right up into the zone of the advance, and even nearer the front, some of the "old timers" of those days wrote to the editors insisting that the Civil war was won on "salt horse and likker" (I recall that phrase in one of the letters) and we were just softening the boys. Well, it didn't soften them too soft for Chateau Thierry and the Argonne.

Then came World War II, and some of the veterans of the earlier war raised their eyebrows at the USO, turkey dinners at the front on Thanksgiving, ice cream (instead of beans, salmon, corn willy or nothing).

But, soldier, you ain't heard nuttin! When they say "This is the army, Mr. Jones," to you future G.I.s, you'll hardly believe it.

Did you hear what Field Marshal (blood, sand, and green for the Normandy hedges) Montgomery had to say? He believes enlisted men in the British army ought to live like other folks. Bedrooms, not barracks.

"You had your breakfast in bed before," goes the warning song, "but you won't have it there any more." Maybe not. But if Monty has his way, British soldiers can read in bed.

And what about those tricky uniforms American soldiers are going to wear? Blue! (Like the boys in blue who said good-bye to Blue Bell). And perhaps "two-note," with a lighter shade for the trousers! And overcoats AND CAPES!

You aren't in the army now, Mr. Jones. You're in grand opera!

And then there is that terminal leave pay bill passed by congress, I suppose, to pacify the fellows who got out of the army without knowing what they were going to miss. Almost three billion dollars dumped into G.I. pockets to even them up with what the officers received for furloughs they hadn't taken.

BARBS... by Baukhage

Roy G. Owen, said to be an engineer economist, offers me (and you) this suggestion: Only by supplying the mouse with cheese to the point of self-satisfaction can the mouse be taught to abstain from stealing. He says this point is much advanced beyond this point.

Remember that onto each race-track a little rain must fall.

It seems to me White Russia and Ukraine have as much right to a separate vote in the UN as do California and Maine, not to mention the District of Columbia, which ought to have a vote somewhere.

Automobiles soon will be sold through army post exchanges. Neither jeep nor cheap.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS By PAUL MALLON

WAR CONTRACTS INQUIRY COULD GET OUT OF HAND

WASHINGTON.—The politicians are chucking at the political implication behind the May scandal case.

The inside story is that Mr. May, chairman of the house military affairs committee, walked into the difficulties with the Mead investigating committee, and that the investigation was not inspired otherwise. As May is a conservative Democrat, and Senator Mead of New York has aspirations for the governorship, certain political authorities had circulated the report that the case against May was worked up for purposes of widening the split within Democratic ranks by the liberal side for the purposes of punishing a conservative Southerner. If it did not originate in such purposes, it certainly had that political effect.

However logical this report may sound to some, the inside story is that the Mead committee membership was making a routine check into the complicated financial set-up in the Garsson companies. Some suspicious about the May transaction were uncovered but not made public. Then May brought Dr. Henry Garsson to see Mead to complain about the companies being "persecuted" by a meddling investigation, which they contended, was holding up reconversion to peacetime activities.

MEAD HAD TO ACT.

The committeemen claim other efforts were made to get them to desist, but they will not identify these efforts beyond the point of saying these came from within the Democratic party.

Despite the imminence of the coming congressional election, the Republicans co-operated with the Democratic members in all ways. The Republican Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan (who does not run again until 1949) has been termed the "bird dog" of the committee. Ferguson and his Republican colleagues were in a position to force Mead to act if he tried to cover up. Perhaps they may have been gleeful at the prospect of roasting a Democrat on the eve of departure for home and election.

Another inner political sidelight is that the Garssons hired as their counsel for the inquiry Wayne Johnson, a well-known New York City Democrat.

The evidence carried adors reaching to high heaven, but did not prove conclusively that May ever received any money directly, although it produced testimony indicating money was sent. The committeemen have been authorized to look over the income tax returns of May to supply the missing links, and while these cannot be used as evidence or made public in any way, the committee may get some leads to the links. The law permits President Truman to authorize such looks at the returns.

All in all, the newsmen who sat at the press table throughout the inquiry thought the whole case could be put down as a scandal so plainly marked with evidence that no one could cover it on any side, Democratic, Republican, PAC, or any other.

REP. COFFEE INVOLVED.

But lo and behold, the case produced a political tail larger than the dog. The coffee case, following immediately thereafter, concerned a left-leaning Democrat, Rep. John M. Coffee, who received $2,500 from a war contractor for services. He votes mostly on the leftish side.

Thus the scandals came out even in Democratic ranks between the two conflicting factions, and the Republicans gained the most ground from the entire transaction. At least, no one showed they claimed to have or were selling any influence. It was Senator Brewster, Republican of Maine, who told the committee of the Coffee matter, which first was mentioned in a mayoralty campaign in Tacoma, Wash., by Republicans.

I think the sum total of the scandal matter is this: If anyone started turning over every war contract, at this particular time of world crisis and difficult peace, even to gain ground in an election, the ultimate outcome would be difficult to foretell. At any rate, the Mead committee went to work on some presumably minor cases on the Pacific coast.

CAN'T GUARANTEE FREEDOMS

The Paris gathering of 21 nations to consider the Big Four peace deal started off under unique circumstances. The 170 mimeographed pages comprising the proposed texts are considered by experts to have been very poorly drafted from a technical standpoint of expression. This was charged to the difficulties of translation. As to the meanings of the agreements and guarantees, few thought them any stronger than the governments which would operate them.

Notes from a traveler's journal:

What is going to become of Captain Joe Beach's delightful, leisurely "Toonerville Trolley" and river boat excursion to the Tahquamenon Falls in Luce County, Upper Peninsula? The state conservation department has appropriated $50,000 to build an improved highway to the upper and lower Tahquamenon Falls — two of the scenic attractions of Michigan's famed north country.

The road will start at Paradise on Whitefish Bay, Lake Superior. It will proceed fourteen miles west to the lower falls and thence several miles more to within a quarter mile of the upper falls. To safeguard the falls from the noise of motor traffic, the state will require travelers to park their cars and to walk over a trail to the upper falls. There the visitors will view the 200-foot wide waterfall.

As we traveled on Captain Beach's excursion early in August, the question arose of what would happen to this unusual day's journey to the falls. The average American seems inclined to go places as quickly as possible. Leisure is a luxury in a two-week vacation. Somehow, we hope travelers will not overlook Joe's opportunity for a day of relaxation. On our trip we saw numerous deer, many ducks, and one bear.

Two so-called "night clubs" mark the town of Dollarville, a mile and a half south of Newberry.

In company with a group of newspaper people we visited one of these hot spots. A piano player was banging away. A few minutes later, when the word was relayed of the Monday night "rush", a drummer arrived to reinforce him.

It seemed to be a far cry from the pioneer times when Robert Dollar was a "cookee" in a nearby logging camp and later rose to become the president of the Dollarville Lumber Company with vast mill and timber holding. Dollar invested his logging profits in a steamship line. Yes, the Dollar Line of today was started on dollars earned by the ex-cookee of the Upper Peninsula many years ago.

Life is in constant transition, and Newberry is looking for a better post-war world.

Lumbering has been going on in Luce County since the Civil War. You begin to wonder how much longer it can continue.

Selective cutting was forgotten in the war-time rush to get out the lumber. From what the lumbermen say we doubt if selective cutting ever will be adopted voluntarily by the lumber industry. There is always a competitor and a competitor's price. Eventually state control must come, perhaps on a cooperative basis.

A one-time big industry in Newberry, the county seat of Luce county and home of the Newberry State Hospital, was the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company, founded in 1882 as a charcoal kiln and iron-furnace venture. Thousands of cords of hardwoods have been converted into charcoal for use in smelting iron ore.

After a brief war-time revival, the plants are idle. New industries have taken their place, offering better wages for workers. Newberry is better off.

True life story from Newberry: Every morning & afternoon, when the weather permits, a woman patient of the Newberry State Hospital goes to the nearby state highway and begins peering down the road, expectantly awaiting the arrival of her husband. She has been doing this now for several years. Her husband abandoned her, and the shock unbalanced her mind. Each day she returns and says: "He will come tomorrow." But tomorrow never comes.

Canadian geese are nesting at the Casino state game refuge at Seney. Years ago, in the 1880's and 1890's Seney had the reputation of being the toughest spot in the upper Peninsula. Gambling, fighting, drinking & prostitution were too commonplace to merit newspaper attention. A woman reporter for a New York metropolitan newspaper concocted a wild yarn about strangers being "shanghaied" on the frontier and forced into chain peonage at the Seney Lumber camps. She called it "Ram's Pasture". The yarn became an overnight national sensation.... One of the section hands on the railroad crew at Seney played a part in shaping our nation's history. Leon Czolgosz became the assassin of President Willan McKinley in the days of "manifest destiny."

Travelers to the Canadina Sault Ste. Marie—the Soo—must declare radios, cameras, typewriters, outboard motors and other valuable articles at the Canadian customs office. Serial numbers are carefully noted. American travelers who remain 48 hours in Canada may return with $100 worth of Canadian merchandise without requirement of duty.

The new MacArthur lock at the St. Mary's canal is now fenced off. The war department provides guides who conduct visitors through the property.

Fort Brady is being converted into a branch of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology. Classes will start next month.

On the west coast of Michigan you hear reports that the tourist business is on the east coast. And vice versa.

So we did a little investigation of our own at Petoskey. Joseph W. Scoggin, manger of the J. C. Jenny company store, said business was "excellent" and on a parity with 1940. The Northern Automobile Company, agents for Fords and Sinclair gasoline, reports a 40 percent increase in sales over 1945.

Petoskey is joining with Cheboygan and Indian River in pushing a program for improvement of the inland waterway, a 40-mile route for pleasure boats from Cheboygan to Petoskey. In 1900 the resorters induced Congress to declare the waterway a Federal controlled route. Active in this promotion are Charles T. Lathers, ex-Tiger player who has a dairy farm near Cheboygan; James Harrington, former Ford official and cottager on Burt Lake, and Joseph Graham, summer resident and one of the Graham brothers of automobile pioneer days.

CAN PREVENT SPREAD OF NEW POULTRY DISEASE

Although Michigan is comparatively free from the new poultry malady known as "Newcastle disease," Michigan State college poultry specialists and bacteriologists believe precautions taken by the poultry raisers can prevent its spread.

Dr. Charles H. Cunningham recommends that poultrymen having any suspects among their flocks should bring them to the bacteriology laboratory of the college at East Lansing. Since many baby chicks are shipped through express and parcel post channels, he recommends that the suspected birds not be shipped, as this may spread the disease, should it exist. Bringing in suspected live or dead fowl also enables the scientists to obtain from the flock owner more case history. At least three birds, preferably one or two recently afflicted, should be brought in, he said. The service is free to Michigan residents.

The disease is difficult to diagnose without laboratory tests, but symptoms include the bird's inability to keep balance and a twisted neck.

Dr. James A. Bivens, also of the bacteriology department, says the greatest loss in adult birds is in decreased egg production. Few of that age die, but egg production stops for about five weeks. Fatalities among younger chickens averages about 40 percent in the United States. In other countries, mortality has been almost 100 percent in all ages.

Should any birds with the disease get into the commercial market, which is unlikely, the meat, if properly cooked, would not be harmful to the consumer, the bacteriologist report.

Poultry producers should take particular care to disinfect all crates coming on premises, be careful in disposition of dead birds, never reuse feed bags, do not admit visitors among flocks without proper precautions and practice every care of sanitation to prevent the disease.

LOOKING BACKWARD

From the Herald Files of Forty, Thirty and Twenty Years Ago
Compiled by Mrs. Mabel Secord

August 25, 1906
The Herald item relative to the hotel change last week was right as far as it went but it was not known at the time that R. F. Steffes was a joint purchaser with Mrs. Newson. The hotel will no longer be known as the "Lakeside" but as the "Russell House." Mrs. Newson is an experienced hotel keeper and we predict for the new firm unbounded success. Mrs. G. L. Sherman is taking china painting lessons of Mrs. Davis of Kalamazoo at Charlevoix. Jerome Smith and family left this week for Benton Harbor where Mr. Smith teaches in the public school the coming year.

Miss Sadie Olmstead and William H. Supernaw were married at the home of the bride's parents in Charlevoix August 17th.

September 1, 1906
The dilapidated remains of the old sugar factory at Charlevoix have no meaning to the present generation but forty years ago it was a symbol of coming prosperity to farmers of the region. Here is an account of a big celebration in it. "The West Michigan Sugar Company at Charlevoix are planning a big Farmers' Basket Picnic next Thursday, Sept. 6th, and invite the citizen of East Jordan and vicinity to come and participate. The East Jordan Military Band and the Kalkaska Ladies' Band have been engaged to furnish music. Dancing will be given on the spacious floor of their warehouse. Tables and coffee will be furnished in the main machinery building, Parade at 4:00 P.M. and other attractive features planned. Manager Hubbard is sparing nothing to make the picnic a successful affair. A round trip excursion rate of 25c is offered by the Hum and Gordon on that day. Jacob E. Strong and Miss Josephine Reed were married at Charlevoix Wednesday by the the Methodist pastor. Mr. and Mrs. Reason Renard and daughter, Mrs. M. A. McHale and the latter's two children left Thursday noon for Mangum, Oklahoma, where they will make their future home. The Renard property was sold to Louis Peppin. (Note: Mr. Renard built this building, one of the first to be erected along Main street, to use as a restaurant and has never been used for any other purpose. Chris Taylor will be the first to break the chain when he installed his recently purchased mens' clothing stock replacing the Coffee Cup Cafe equipment.) Oral Misenar and Miss Maud St. John were married at Boyne City Wednesday evening and left for Coldwater for a short wedding tour. Vernon Payton, son of County Treasurer D. Swayne Payton, was at Houghton last week taking the pharmaceutical examination before the State Board. He has been attending the Ferris Institute and is well advanced for his age. — Charlevoix Courier." (Note: Mr. Payton was 18. Later he operated a drug store in East Jordan, first on Mill St. and then in the Madison building where the Shaw grocery is located. He died in San Diego, California July 15, 1946.)

W.N.U. RELEASE

THE STORY THUS FAR: Jim MacTavish admits to Meg that Alicia had been on and made a fool of him. It had seemed to amuse her. In their misery Jim and Megan are reconciled. It was a relief when neither one was called to the inquest, and they waited anxiously for Larry to return to tell them what had been found. "She was killed with a knife—which we found where old Amos saw a ghost burying it," he explained. Bob Reynolds, the detective, could find no fingerprints due to a heavy rain later. Old Amos was interviewed again to get more information on the size of the ghost, how it acted, and the exact time he saw it. Both Meg and her father were breathing easier.

CHAPTER XIV

Annie chuckled richly. "Effen y'all had seed him w'en he come bustin' into de house dat night, Mist' Larry, y'all would a'knowed right den he'd seed plenty!" she assured him.

"We still are not quite sure about that eight-foot-high ghost with the glaring yellow eyes," Laurence told Annie, "but Reynolds is talking to Amos now, trying to see if he can't get him to scale the ghost down somewhat, so we can feel that it was human!"

He turned to Megan as Annie padded away. "It was a knife," he answered the look of questioning in her eyes, and Megan caught her breath and went white as the collar of her trim morning frock. "Bob feels sure it is—the knife."

She did not speak, but her eyes pleaded with him and Laurence went on quietly. "There's not much possibility of fingerprints. The knife was buried halfway up the hill, and it rained later on that night, and of course, the dew is very heavy this time of the year. It was just an ordinary kitchen knife, such as any hardware store sells by the gross every year—probably every kitchen in Pleasant Grove has one or two exactly like it."

Megan was conscious that she was breathing a little more easily. She said hurriedly, lest Laurence should notice that, "Then—you aren't much better off than you were before so far as identification. Have you any suspects?"

Laurence grinned. "You should have heard Ma Stuart at the inquest," he said dryly. "According to her, there wasn't a man, woman or child in Pleasant Grove who didn't have a motive for wanting the Stevenson woman out of the way. She mentioned a few of the reasons. Some of the people mentioned resented it quite a bit, and fistcuffs were barely avoided. The search for alibis became quite intensive, but except for two or three, all were eliminated as suspects. And the evidence against the two or three is slim."

Megan touched dry lips with her tongue and steadied her voice to ask faintly, "Who—are the ones who couldn't manage an alibi?"

"Well, the Teasley boy and his wife and baby seemed to have excellent reason for disliking Mrs. Stevenson," said Laurence reluctantly. "It seems, according to Ma Stuart, that Mrs. Stevenson made a remark that tended to discredit the legitimacy of the Teasley baby, and that Will Teasley publicly slapped her face in front of the Mercantile a week ago."

"I remember that," said Megan. "Do you?" asked Laurence quickly. "Do you remember how Mrs. Stevenson took it?"

"Well, it was pretty unpleasant, of course—but Will Teasley's a Pleasant Grove boy, and his wife has lived here all her life, except for the year she worked in town, so everybody sided with 'Will.' Megan remembered aloud. "Alicia sort of staggered, and her face got very white, and then she laughed and said, 'What is the old-fashioned crack about a hit dog always howls loudest?' And walked away."

Laurence nodded. "That checks with Ma Stuart's testimony," he admitted.

"And finding the knife doesn't help a bit?" asked Megan.

"Afraid not," admitted Laurence frankly. "Though if we can get any sort of description out of Amos, about the so-called 'ghost' it might help."

He grinned at her and said, "Notice I said 'we'? I'm sort of unofficial assistant to Bob—because I know the town and the people," he explained.

A little later Bob came in, greeted Megan pleasantly, and lifted his shoulders and spread his hands palm upward in a gesture of discouragement and futility.

"I can't get anything out of that old man to save my life," he admitted. "He goes on saying 'hit wuz 'bout eight feet tall, boss—an' hit wuz all white and jes' floated 'long—and had big glaring yaller eyes like a cat—dat's all I know.'"

"I wonder what Amos had been drinking," Laurence said lightly. "Some of that 'white mule' they brew up over at Frogtown would make a fellow see pink cows and green elephants."

"That's the darndest thing of all—he swears he hadn't had a drink, and Annie backs him up," exploded Bob furiously. "I could understand his telling such a tall tale if he'd had a few shots—" right where he said the 'ghost' stood. Doesn't that prove that it isn't entirely a tall tale?" protested Megan, resenting their casual assumption that Amos was a complete stranger to the truth.

"Oh, now, see here, Bob—be reasonable," Larry snapped. "If Amos had hidden the knife there, would he have told about it? Look, fella, I know Amos. He would never voluntarily go near a place like that, at night—especially with a murder on his mind. And if he had—he had been so frightened by what he had done that that fear overrode any other—wild horses could never have made him tell a living soul about it. Look at it from a sane standpoint. If he had hidden it there, the object would have been to keep anybody from ever finding it. Why, then, would he turn right around and insist on telling me about it, and being perfectly willing to tell you? He even went with us this morning and pointed out the spot where the 'ghost' bent down. Use your head, man."

Bob grinned. "Sure—sure—lay off, pal! I only said that I don't believe

"Now, see here, Miss MacTavish, you're not going to tell me you believe in ghosts?" he protested.

in ghosts, yet I can't picture a human being eight feet tall, wrapped in a white sheet and with glaring yellow eyes doing a murder and then picking that spot to hide the weapon. In fact, I can't picture a human being eight feet tall—period! Maybe you can suggest something?"

Laurence shook his head. "It's got me licked," he admitted.

"Miss MacTavish?" suggested Bob and she had to steady herself and tell herself that she was a fool to be frightened of that question in his eyes.

"I don't believe in ghosts—but I do believe Amos' story," was all she could manage.

Bob sighed, ran his fingers through his hair, leaving it standing on end, and said helplessly. "Well, I think we're licked, too. Though we'll keep slugging away at the case, of course, hoping that something will turn up—"

"You couldn't be persuaded, of course, to accept Ma Stuart's suggestion that you just drop the whole matter with the thought that whoever did it, did Pleasant Grove a great service?" suggested Laurence wryly.

Megan gasped. "Oh, no, Larry—did she really say that?"

"She did!" said Bob laughing. "Boy, what a character! She gave the department a going over that it hasn't had since they drafted our captain for a job in the Marine Training Camp! I would like to know that lady better—under, of course, pleasant circumstances."

"She's really a grand person," Megan said eagerly. "Everybody loves her."

Megan hesitated and colored. "Well—Alicia liked to—stir things up," she admitted reluctantly. "I think she was very bored here, and she admitted frankly that she only came here to live because her income had shrunk, and because her money went farther here. And to keep things stirred up gave her—well, something to relieve her boredom, I suppose. She did not lie, that is, not to any great extent. She simply had a way of digging out truths that people wanted hidden and dropped them publicly where they would be most certain to stir up trouble."

"She sounds like a lady who was a self-elected candidate for a murder, at that," Bob commented.

Annie appeared at the door behind him, unobtrusive, yet obviously excited. Her eyes were rolling and her voice was high as she answered Megan's questioning look, "Dey's a lady hyah, Miss Meggie—hit's Mist' Fallon's sisteh."

Megan caught her breath and felt as though every drop of blood in her body had congealed about her heart. Her eyes were wide and frightened, and she was suddenly conscious that Bob Reynolds was watching her narrowly, an odd light in his eyes.

"Of course, Annie, I'll see her," she made herself say swiftly, then steadying her voice with an effort. "If you'll excuse me—"

But Bob Reynolds said casually, with a look in his eyes that was not at all casual, "Why not see her in here, Miss MacTavish?"

Megan looked sharply at him and said instantly, "But why? It's no doubt a personal matter—I mean it can't possibly have any connection—"

But beneath the look in his eyes her voice broke.

"Of course not," Bob agreed amiably, but still with that wary look in his eyes. "But just the same—"

And behind Annie, Megan saw, with a feeling of shock, Martha Fallon, short, stocky, commonplace looking. Her neat dark percale dress and the smoothness of her hair that was streaked with gray only emphasized the look of barely restrained terror in her eyes; just as the ineffectual daubs of rouge and the powder that was not quite smooth only emphasized the pallor of her drawn face.

She came into the room and Annie faded out of the doorway. But Megan knew subconsciously that Annie had only slipped back a little into the shadows and that she was listening with almost visibly distended ears.

Miss Martha nodded to Megan and addressed herself to Bob, after giving Laurence a steady, straight look.

"You're the detective-fellow?" she asked Bob curtly.

"Yes, Miss Fallon—my name's Reynolds," answered Bob.

Martha nodded and said, "Well, my name's not Fallon. I'm Tom Fallon's sister-in-law, not his sister. My name's Evans—Martha Evans."

Laurence unobtrusively turned a chair towards her and she nodded her thanks and sank into it with a movement that was almost of collapse, as though her knees were shaking violently, and she was very glad of the support the chair gave her.

"So you found it," she said when she had drawn a deep hard breath and Megan, sick with pity and bewilderment, saw the work-roughened hands gripped so tightly together that the knuckles were small white mounds.

Bob said gently, "Found what, Miss Evans?"

She looked up at him so sharply that the sunlight fell harshly on the round lenses of her old-fashioned spectacles and she made a sound that was half a snort, half a sniff of contempt.

"The knife, of course," she answered curtly.

Bob made a short, swiftly controlled movement, but his face was guarded, so that only if you had been watching him closely could you have noticed that involuntary start of surprise.

"Suppose you tell us about the knife, Miss Evans," Bob said gently.

Miss Martha nodded. "What else do you think I came here for?" she sniffed, and abruptly she added, "Only the Stevenson woman wasn't killed with that knife, young man."

"No?" asked Bob very swiftly, very politely, almost as though his interest had been too casual to make the statement of any importance.

"No!" the word came explosively. "Then why was it necessary to hide it so—er—melodramatically?" wondered Bob aloud.

Miss Martha breathed deeply and with difficulty.

"Because," she told him—and Megan's eyes were thick with tears for the stark agony that shone so clearly in the tired, faded eyes behind those old-fashioned spectacles—"because—my sister is a—mental case," she managed at last.

Bob waited.

Laurence was very still, watching Miss Martha, his arms folded across his chest, leaning against the big old-fashioned rolltop desk where Megan kept her accounts and books.

Megan was on the very edge of her chair, her body tense and still, almost rigid, as she watched Miss Martha; and so deep, so intense was her pity and her sympathy that her own body felt some of the suffering that stood forth so starkly in Miss Martha's tired eyes.

"You mean," said Bob, after a moment designed to give Miss Martha a respite so that she could breathe again, "that your sister was not accountable for her actions—"

"I mean, young man, that my sister—had periods of lucidity," she said harshly. "But Tom, her husband, didn't know that those periods were coming less frequently and lasting for shorter periods of time. I couldn't bear to tell him; he thought, poor soul, that she was getting better—that there was hope for her. But I didn't deceive myself. Even if I had wanted to—her attack on me one night—" Her voice broke and her face worked convulsively, but she did not lower her head, nor make any effort to hide her face from them.

Megan said quietly, "That night you fell and hurt your ankle?"

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SUNDAY SCHOOL—12:30 P.M.
By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.,
Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

Lesson for September 1

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

JESUS AND RIGHT USE OF PROPERTY

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:15; Proverbs 30:7-9; Matthew 6:1-13.
MEMORY SELECTION—But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also (Matt. 6:20-21).

Labor Day tomorrow! And much in the thinking of all America will be the right division of the fruits of investment of time and money. Property rights are fundamental. God's Word teaches us the proper attitude toward our own rights and the rights of others; namely, honesty, yes, just plain old-fashioned honesty.

In such a time, the believer in Christ needs to be doubly vigilant lest he accommodate his own standards of honesty to those of the world.

I. Honest in Purpose (Exod. 20:15).
We cannot tolerate anything in word or deed that can be regarded as stealing what belongs to another. The very commandment against stealing implies that men have a right to that which they have made, earned or saved.

If no one had any property rights there could be no stealing. Some of our modern political and social isms deny such rights, but their reasoning is clearly not biblical or Christian.

"Thou shalt not steal," forbids every kind of theft, and this includes more than robbery or ordinary stealing (see Lev. 19:11-13).

It relates to every kind of false dealing with another, such as oppression or the withholding of just wages. That, too, is stealing in God's sight.

Perhaps we ought to be more specific and apply the truth to our own day. Stealing includes such things as loading on one's job, borrowing money from the cash drawer, taking goods from the stock with which one is working, stealing another man's sermon and preaching it as one's own, lifting material out of another man's book without credit, contracting debts which one can never pay, using false weights and measures, adulterating food or other material, "watering" milk for sale, selling worthless stock, dodging taxes or lying to the tax assessor, or using a slug instead of a nickel in the telephone to escape proper payment.

One might add gambling (which is taking another man's property by skill or by chance), making an unduly large profit on the labor of another, making money out of the sorrows and failures of others, etc. To be honest means to be fair, and that has broad implications.

II. Humble in Practice (Prov. 30:7-9).
It may sound a little odd to hear this man pray that he should be delivered from prosperity. To ask to be kept from poverty is certainly to make a wise request, but to be delivered from riches, why that's certainly not sensible. So reason's the world, but as usual, it is entirely wrong.

Experience has demonstrated that the man who has an abundance of good things usually becomes self-satisfied, assuming that he deserves the credit for his affluence, he forgets God, and what had been a good and useful life is soon destroyed.

On the other hand, it is true that extreme poverty tends to break down a man's morale. Watching his family starve is not conducive to honesty if a man can lay his hands on something to save them, whether it be his or not. We do not justify stealing at any time, but we can well understand that starvation can turn the mind of a normal man into abnormal channels.

III. Heavenly in Principle (Matt. 6:25-33).
The Bible is concerned almost entirely with life on this earth. It tells us very little about heaven except how to go there. But (and here is the important point for us just now) it does give us laws from heaven for life on earth. Our life here, our attitude toward property, is to be heavenly in principle.

We are not to be anxious (the correct translation of "take no thought," vs. 25, 27, 31) about our life, about food, raiment and other necessary things. Proper forethought is all right, but worry? Never!

How shall these things be provided? God will provide. Consider the birds. Do they have nervous breakdowns about where their food and shelter are to come from? They cannot even pray and they are not able to work, and yet God feeds them.

Consider the glory of the flowers of the field, for not even a king can dress as they. The Lord does it. "Are ye not much better than they?"

What about the future? It is in God's hands, and even if it were in our hands what could we do with it? Even tomorrow with its needs, its blessings, its joys and its sorrows is not here yet, and when it does come there will come with it God's gracious provision (v. 34).

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Eggs Add a Thrifty Note to Menus (See Recipes Below)

Economy Pointers

When you feel that you want to be economical in the midst of rising living costs, a good idea to follow is to serve an inexpensive main dish every other day. In this way, you won't feel that you are working any hardship on the family, and at the same time, there will be plenty of good eating in the economy dishes.

Eggs are plentiful and economical, so are fresh fruits and vegetables. Fish is also a mighty good food that lends nice variety to the menu.

Vegetables can be combined with other vegetables or with fish and eggs to add color as well as flavor to the food. Consider for example, these egg cutlets that are served with peas:

Egg Cutlets with Creamed Peas. (Serves 6)
2 tablespoons fat
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
6 diced, hard-cooked eggs
1 egg, beaten
½ cup dry bread crumbs
2 cups cooked green peas
2 cups well-seasoned white sauce

Melt fat, add flour, then milk and seasonings. Cook, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Add hard-cooked eggs and chill thoroughly. Shape into cutlets or patties, dip in egg, then bread crumbs. Brown on both sides in shallow fat. Heat and top each cutlet with green pea sauce.

Stuffed Baked Potatoes.
6 baked potatoes
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup deviled ham
¼ teaspoon salt

Cut a slice from top of each potato, and scoop out the potato carefully. Mash potatoes free from lumps, then heat milk and add to potatoes. Beat until light and fluffy. Add butter and deviled ham. Beat well. Pile lightly in potato shells, place on a shallow pan and bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees) for 10 minutes or until lightly browned.

Here's an easy dish that can be made with an inexpensive meat and a favorite vegetable:

Meat 'n Corn Cakes. (Serves 6)
1 pound ground beef
½ cup dry bread crumbs
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 egg, slightly beaten

LYNN SAYS:
Garnish Your Salads: Add to their appeal by making them pretty enough to eat, but always use an edible garnish. Slice carrots paper thin, roll around your finger and chill in ice water. Shape cream or cottage cheese in balls, dust lightly with paprika or roll in finely chopped nuts or olives. Pare a cucumber as you would an apple, in a continuous strip. Chill in ice water. Slice crisp green peppers and Bermuda onions very thin, separate rings and chill in ice water. Toss over vegetable or meat salad.

Cut sweet pickles almost to the stem. Spread apart to look like a fan.

LYNN CHAMBER'S MENUS

*Stuffed Squash Bacon
Cottage Cheese and Fruit Salad
Carrot and Celery Strip
Muffins and Butter
Chocolate Cake Beverage
*Recipe given.

¼ cup diced onion
1 cup canned whole kernel corn
1½ cup tomato soup or tomato sauce

Mix ingredients in order given. Form into patties and fry in two tablespoons of fat until golden brown. Place in a greased casserole and top with tomato soup or sauce. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 45 minutes.

Sausage and Oyster Loaf. (Serves 6)
1 pound bulk pork sausage
1 pint oysters ground while raw
2 cups soft bread crumbs
2 eggs, slightly beaten

Mix all ingredients together and place in an ungreased loaf pan. Bake in a slow (325 degree) oven until loaf leaves edges of the pan. Drain excess fat off occasionally. Serve with hot hollandaise sauce and green vegetables.

Before you start using your newly canned vegetables, make sure all the old ones are gone from the shelf. Here is fine supper dish that will use many home-canned vegetables easily:

Country Style Vegetables. (Serves 6)
¾ pound bacon or salt pork
1½ cups onions, sliced
1½ cups canned carrots
1½ cups canned string beans
1½ cups canned kernel corn
1½ cups potatoes, sliced
1 cup medium white sauce
¼ cup buttered crumbs

Cook bacon or salt pork slightly, then add onion and cook until crisp and brown. Arrange vegetables in layers in a buttered casserole and sprinkle each layer with bacon or salt pork. Pour white sauce over all. Top with buttered crumbs and add a dash of paprika. Bake in a moderate oven 20 to 25 minutes until casserole is browned.

Cream vegetables—any vegetable that will hold its shape, and serve with bits of diced leftover chicken or ham. This makes a nourishing, week-night supper.

The long yellow squash are delicious when properly prepared. You'll not need any meat with this one:

Stuffed Cymling Squash. (Serves 6)
3 medium sized cymling squash
½ cup thick white sauce
1 tablespoon grated onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
3 chopped hard-cooked eggs
1 cup grated cheese
¼ cup buttered crumbs

Boil squash 10 minutes. Drain and scoop out center. Mash pulp, add white sauce, onion, green pepper, cheese and eggs. Fill shells with mixture, sprinkle with crumbs and paprika. Place in a shallow pan containing a little water. Bake in a moderate oven 20 to 25 minutes.

Veal Rice Loaf. (Serves 6)
2 pounds ground veal shoulder
1 pound ground pork
1 cup cooked rice
4 eggs, well beaten
½ cup milk
¾ cup chopped pimiento
½ teaspoon paprika
Salt and pepper.

Have meats ground together. Combine with rice. Season with salt and pepper, paprika and pimiento. Moisten with eggs and milk. Pack into a greased loaf pan or ring mold and bake in 350 degree oven for 1½ hours. Serve with mushroom sauce. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

THE PENINSULA....

(Edited by Mrs. E. Hayden)

Quite a number have some black-berrying and found some fine berries.

Mrs. J. W. Hayden of Orchard Hill called on Mrs. D. D. Tibbits at Cherry Hill, Wednesday afternoon.

There is still quite an acreage of hay out because of wet weather and threshing. Some of it must be spoiled.

B. Holland, the new Rawleigh man from near Deer Lake, was on the Peninsula, Friday, in the interest of his company.

The four small jobs of threshing were finally finished Friday afternoon, being held up time after time by the rain.

An article in a Detroit paper tells of the death of Mr. G. C. Ferris sister but as I did not see the paper can say nothing more.

The Peninsula items failed to appear in the Charlevoix County Herald last week although sent in Monday a. m. as usual.

A. B. Nicoloy and son Curtis and LeRoy of Sunny Slopes farm spent Wednesday in Petoskey trying to get repairs for the threshing machine.

Geo. Staley of Stoney Ridge farm has just finished the first time over and got 1 ton and 2 lbs. of string beans of nearly all the highest price.

Miss Dorothy McDonald still keeps the Star Sunday School going. Aug. 25 there were 12 in attendance, all children but Miss McDonald and Mrs. Muse.

Orvel Bennett and sons Paul and Earl of Honey Slope farm helped Mrs. Bennett's sister, Mrs. Edith La-Croix, south of Advance, with her threshing, Saturday.

The annual cemetery meeting was held at the Advance Cemetery, Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 21, but only Supervisor Wm. Sanderson of Northwood, F. D. Russell of Ridgeway farms and C. A. Hayden of Orchard Hill showed up to work. Mrs. J. W. Hayden and grandson, Billy Hayden, of Orchard Hill, went along to help make the crowd.

Wm. Gaunt, Pine Lake Telephone Co. troubleman and Mrs. Gaunt worked on the telephone lines Thursday and gave us service for only a day and is as bad as ever again. An effort is being made to get someone to put the line in repair but no one has been located yet. The job is too big for the troubleman. There is also an effort on foot to get up a bee to do the repairs, as money is no object if we could only get service.
