Zeigler States Road Plans

LETTER EXPLAINS DIFFICULTIES INVOLVING RELOCATION OF US-131

In answer to an editorial appearing in the Petokey Evening News, Chas. M. Zeigler, state highway commissioner, sent the following letter to the paper.

Due to the tremendous local interest concerning the re-location of US 131, the Herald is reprinting the letter as it appeared in a recent issue of the News.

The letter follows:

"I read with interest the editorial in your paper of August 12th entitled 'Talk Will Never Build a Highway.'"

"Knowing that you are interested in the facts, I am taking the liberty of writing you this letter with regard to your editorial.

"I believe it is general knowledge that there was a complete wartime restriction covering all normal highway construction. These War Production Board restrictions were put into effect when I took office in 1943. In fact, the Department had had several projects cancelled and the contractor moved off even though the projects were almost completed.

"I very sincerely realize the importance of completing the gap in US 131 from the top of the Elmira Hill to the concrete pavement north of Boyne Falls. This gravel gap is about 12 miles long and the construction of this section with concrete pavement will probably closely approach $1,250,000.

"It has been realized right along by me that with all the other work throughout the State probably just as important as this gap, that this would have to be built in sections over the three year postwar program period.

"It is also realized that due to the heavy grading, muck sections, etc., that the grading would have to be done in advance and allowed to settle before the pavement was placed.

"When the war ended a year ago we were immediately ready to place a section of this gap under grading contract. Due to a loss in revenue from the gasoline tax, however of some $13,000,000 per year during the gasoline restrictions, we had to rely on the Federal appropriations matched with State funds for our postwar program. Instead of these Federal funds being made available immediately, they were not available until the beginning of 1946.

More Sugar Available Providing Your Grocery has the Sugar

Housewives had another sugar ration stamp available Tuesday, spare stamp 51 which became valid Sunday and will be good for five pounds of sugar through Dec. 31.

OPA also announced that stamp 49, also in ration book No. 4, had been extended to Sept. 30. It was to have expired last Saturday, but the sugar shortage was so acute in many cities that consumers were unable to cash it.

Housewives now have two stamps valid for home canning purposes. These are spare stamps 9 and 10, good for five pounds of sugar each through Oct. 31 for home canning purposes exclusively.

MARRIAGES

Hood — Anderson

Married, Sunday afternoon, Sept. 1st, at the Presbyterian Manse, Robert G. Anderson and Helen Hood, both of Mancelona, Rev. C. W. Sidebotham officiating. Mr. Anderson grew up in East Jordan and attended the East Jordan Public School.

Sinclair — Hickox

Patricia Ann Sinclair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Sinclair, and Leonard A. Hickox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Hickox, spoke their marriage vows in the Presbyterian Church, Saturday evening, August 31, at eight o'clock in a candlelight service.

The double ring service was read by Rev. C. W. Sidebotham before an altar decorated with pink and white gladioli and white tapers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, choose a white net and lace gown, her finger tip veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses.

Attending their sister as bridesmaids were Shirley and Kay Sinclair, who wore identical gowns of rose colored tulle. The bridesmaids wore American beauty roses fashioned in colonial bouquets.

Bernard Sturgell attended the groom as best man. William Saxton, Bruce Malpass and Russell Conway acted as ushers. Mrs. M. F. Lewis presided at the organ. She also accompanied Elizabeth Penfold who sang "Because" and "O, Promise Me."

Mrs. Sinclair, the brides mother, wore black crepe, her corsage was of white gardenias. Mrs. Hickox, mother of the groom, choose a navy blue crepe, her corsage was of pink and white gladioli.

Both bride and groom are graduates of the East Jordan High School in the Class of '43. For the past three years the bride has attended Wayne University in Detroit. The groom received his discharge from the Army in April after two and one-half years in the service, part of which he served in the ETO, also in the Pacific area.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors for about one hundred guests. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sinclair acted as Master and Mistress of Ceremonies. The young couple left on a honeymoon trip, following the reception.

They plan on living in Lansing where the groom will attend MSC.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was feted at two showers; one at the home of Mrs. R. G. Watson, assisted by Mrs. Harry Watson; also a personal shower given by Mrs. Greg. Boswell and Mrs. Albert Sinclair.

St. Joseph School Alumni Reunion

FIRST ANNUAL AFFAIR HELD MONDAY NIGHT, AUG. 26th.

Monday night, August 26th, was a rather momentous occasion for a large number of our East Jordan residents and former residents of our city. It was learned by Mrs. Ole Hegerberg that quite a number of former residents had returned to soak up some of our beautiful atmosphere and renew former friendships. The following list includes those present: Elmer Merchant, Brookline, Mass.; Wallace Merchant and family, Harold Nachazel, Toledo, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Herrington (Florence Jenkins) of Indianapolis, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nachazel, Muskegon; Margaret Kenny Davis, Archie LaLonde, Detroit; Lawrence and Eva King LaLonde, Flint; Margaret Supernaw Sippel, Charlevoix; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Supernaw, Ellsworth.

Oscar and Nellie Jenkins Weisler, Bernard and Eileen Farmer Brennan, Frank and Ann Bodrie Nachazel, Ole and Agnes Hegerberg, Felix Green, all of East Jordan.

Mrs. Hegerberg, formerly Agnes Kenny, and several other of our up-to-the-minute housewives organized a supper and party which was held at the St. Joseph school hall.

Although scheduled to break up at 9:00 p. m., everyone apparently had such a delightful time talking over past events and reminiscing that it was midnight before the lights were turned out.

It was decided to organize the St. Joseph High School Alumni Association and the following officers were elected:

President, Frank Nachazel.
Secretary, Agnes Hegerberg.
Treasurer, Glen Supernaw.
Historian, Archie LaLonde.
Publicity, Harold Nachazel.

It was reported by one of those present that the business meeting was rather difficult to get under way due to the unusual amount of kibitzing by the bystanders with such irrelevant remarks as "Where has your hair gone, Naz?" "Gee, honey, where did I leave my teeth?" and so on.

Despite the distance that some of our friends traveled it was unanimously decided at the meeting to make this an annual affair, the time each year to be set in the spring by a mail vote. The out of towners were made to feel right at home and the home towners enjoyed having them here.

Clinic Next Tuesday

There will be a clinic for infants and pre-school children next Tuesday forenoon, Sept. 10th, 9:30 to 11:30, at the Masonic hall dining room. Dr. J. VanDellen and County Nurse Mrs. Marion Rice in charge.

Arthur Frederick Frazee District Governor Rotary Died Monday

East Jordan Rotarians, along with the Rotarians of all the clubs in the 151st District, are saddened by the death of their District Governor, Arthur Frederick Frazee.

"Art" as he was known to Rotarians, had undergone three serious operations in the past six weeks, and died Monday morning of this week. The funeral service was held in the Federated Church of Dowagiac yesterday afternoon.

"Art" was born in Hamilton Township, Van Buren County, in 1887. He graduated from the University of Michigan and took further work in Columbia University. He served as Superintendent of School in several Michigan cities and at the time of his death was manager of the Dowagiac Steel Furnace Co.

"Art" had a wide range of public interests but his chief enthusiasm was "Rotary". He showed in his Rotary service qualities that inspired respect, awakened interest and challenged interest. He had a creative mind, fine excellent ability and the gift of dramatizing Rotary in a manner that stimulated others to work at their best under his leadership.

Charles Samuel Sweet

Charles Samuel Sweet, a former East Jordan resident, passed away at his home near Marysville, Mich., Thursday, Aug. 8, from a heart attack.

He is survived by his widow; five sons — Gale of Otisville, Lyle and Roy of Postoria, Leo, Ray and Gordon at home. A daughter, Mrs. Basil Webb of Davison. Twelve grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

State Grange Master Draws Crowd to County Meet at Peninsula

Charlevoix County Grangers welcomed the opportunity to meet State Grange Master W. G. Armstrong of Niles last Tuesday and turned out over a hundred strong to hear him speak at the Peninsula Grange Hall. Mr. Armstrong is not only Master of the Michigan State Grange, but he is also Treasurer of the National Grange, and in addition serves actively on twenty-three committees pertaining to agriculture in both state and national scope. Mr. Armstrong is a forceful speaker and called on his audience for a return to the principles of integrity, hard work and an intelligent selection of public office holders. These traits, he said, were displayed by the founders of our country and it grew and prospered as a result. He called for an end of cack pot ideas and plans from Washington in which the American people are treated like guinea pigs.

Further Mr. Armstrong called on his audience for a careful analysis of releases, by both radio and press, much of which is financed at public expense, but is aimed at the very foundations of our country.

Mr. Armstrong was accompanied by deputy William J. Brake of Belleville and both have a host of friends in Charlevoix County.

East Jordan Library LIBRARY HOURS

Afternoons — 2:00 to 5:00 o'clock
Evenings — 7:00 to 8:30 o'clock
Except Tuesdays and Fridays:
On those days we will be open in the afternoon from 12:30 to 5:00 o'clock and will NOT be open in the evening.

The Library will return to its winter schedule, as indicated above, on September 9th.

Mrs. Bill Barnett has given the library two books and Mrs. Will Sloan has added one to our collection.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bretz and daughter Barbara of Detroit have been visiting Mrs. Bretz's mother, Mrs. W. E. Malpass, and other relatives.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

CIO'S 'WAGE BOOST' POLICY FORGES INFLATION ON US

WASHINGTON — Phil Murray called in his CIO union directors for what was supposed to be a re-planning of the economic, if not the political line—and who would not?

The news behind the news is becoming so plain it is beginning to show through. The transparency of recent events has been rather obvious.

Consider, for no more than a few moments, the salient news of the day upon which the CIO directors were gathering together their belongings to attend the supposed re-planning. The Packard Motor company reported its first half-year results upon that day. As CIO is primarily an auto workers union, no report could be more important for Mr. Murray's consideration. It showed this:

Packard netted a loss on operations the first six months of this year of exactly $2,590,158. Last year it earned $1,064,450 in the same period. The loss this year was attributed by the company to the auto and steel strikes for higher wages (increases were granted to the extent of about 20 per cent). Packard was typical of the motor and steel industries. Thus under ordinary circumstances you would expect a depression, or recession, or at the very least certain strongly deteriorating economic consequences to flow from losses.

DREW ON RESERVES

These were avoided because the company used its reconversion funds and reserves to hold its final net profits at or near the usual figure. If dividends had been cut, the amount of money going out to stockholders would be less, and consequently there would be that much less to be spent in the flow of the economy. The companies, then, have paid great sums for the strikes, mostly from their reserves and funds, but the economic consequences of the strikes have luckily been avoided because they had this money available.

On the very day preceding the foregoing of the CIO leaders, the OPA announced a price increase for automobiles, on the apparent ground that the companies could not be expected to make money at the old prices in view of the increased cost of labor, materials and what not. The prices of Packard were increased more than the average. Its cheapest car was moved up in the list price from $1,510 to $1,624 (about $114, or 7.5 per cent), while its highest list price auto was jumped from $2,654 to $2,863 ($209, which is about 7.9 per cent).

Here then is where we are. No ledgerman (and I do mean ledger) is necessary to figure it out. Several price increases have already been granted. Another is reported to be in prospect, although I do not have any information concerning that. The forces of inflation are so strongly and unmistakably at work no one can pretend to avoid or ignore them. But Packard stock is still selling around $9 which is hardly inflationary. We have had strikes, lockouts, have eaten up reserves, have increased costs of materials and workmanship, have held some lines, and some of the CIO leaders have thought the way out is to start the thing all over again with more strikes for another wage increase, which will help force another price increase—a process which would surely be ruinous because it would spread economic waste as if by whirlwind.

CONTRAST WITH RUSSIA

The AFL could give the CIO bosses some interesting information which should serve as a warning. The Labor Monthly Survey for August has collected recent news reports, penetrating the Russian censorship, and shows these facts: Average wage in a Stalingrad steel plant as late as this July was $24 a month and in a tractor factory $22 a month. The AFL composer of that collection of material on Russian wages and prices reported: "Automobiles, radios at home, bathtubs, vacuum cleaners and other things the American worker enjoys daily are nothing but dreams."

PRIMARY 'VICTORIES'

Results in the primaries were not so startling as many commentators tried to indicate. Take Missouri, for instance. This is a state with an historically inquisitive nature. Mr. Truman won there, defeating an opponent in a district adjoining his own. The defeated opponent, Rep. Roger Slaughter, signaled the tragedy by a sharp denunciation of what he called "an alliance" between the CIO political action group and the Democratic national committee.

Vital waterway connecting Mediterranean and Black seas, Dardanelles loom as new trouble spot. (See: Foreign Affairs.)

FOREIGN AFFAIRS:

U. S. Stays Tough

If the Russians sought to test American temper on their aggressive postwar diplomacy, they received ample indication that this country would stand fast on a stiffening of its principles. Even as the state department peppered Russia and its satellites with strong notes, four U. S. cruisers, six destroyers and the giant aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt hovered in the Mediterranean, joining the British fleet in an impressive show of strength.

Yugoslavia—Strongest U. S. action was taken against Tito's Communist-dominated Yugoslav government for shooting down two unopposed American transport planes which strayed off their course while en route from Austria to Italy.

Lashing Belgrade for shooting at the defenseless planes of a friendly nation, the U. S. demanded release of fliers of the stricken craft within 48 hours or threatened referral of the case to the United Nations with Yugoslavia charged with aggressive acts. Ridiculing Belgrade's reference to the incidents as "unhappy accidents," the U. S. stated the attacks were deliberate.

Convinced that the U. S. wasn't fooling, Tito ordered release of the fliers and hastened to tell American newsmen that he had commanded his armed forces to desist from further attacks on planes.

Dardanelles—With the Russians backing up their demand on Turkey for joint control of the Dardanelles straits connecting the Black sea with the Mediterranean with a show of military strength in the surrounding territory, the U. S. warned Moscow that an assault upon Turkish soil would be considered a threat to world peace.

While rejecting Russia's proposal for joint control of the vital waterway with Turkey, the U. S. indicated its willingness to participate in a conference to revise existing regulations and expressed agreement with the Soviet on these points:

1. Merchant ships of all countries should be allowed to use the straits.
2. Warships of the Black sea powers should always be allowed passage through the straits.
3. Special permission should be needed for passage of the warships of other powers through the straits.

Poland—Charging irregularities in counting ballots, censorship restrictions and persecution of non-Communists, the U. S. note to Warsaw accused the Russian-dominated government of violation of its commitments to hold free and unfettered elections.

To achieve such elections, the U. S. said, fullest freedom must be given to such parties as the Polish Workers, Peasants, Labor and Socialists. Further, representatives of those parties must be granted positions on electoral commissions; local results must be announced and adequate appeal provided for election disputes.

The latest U. S. protest followed earlier assurances of Polish Ambassador Oscar Lange that Warsaw would conduct free elections while he was negotiating a $90,000,000 loan from this country.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY: Collects Old Check

It took him 28 years to get around to collecting it but T. N. Myers of Alliance, Neb., is $4,800 richer today because of the Chicago and North Western railway's record system.

It was April of 1920 and Myers was racing the stork from Interior, S. D., to his home in Alliance when the train was stopped at Chadron, Neb., by huge snowdrifts. Overhearing a section foreman offer 80 cents an hour to anyone who

MEAT:

Booster Enforcement

Reimposition of OPA controls on meat led the big packers to predict a revival of the black market, but agency officials replied that a strengthening of its enforcement powers would enable it to cope better with illegal operations.

With meat ceilings scheduled for September 9, OPA Administrator Paul Porter reported that the agency would employ 2,500 investigators to check against black marketeers. Although doubling the number of agents, Porter stated that it would be impossible for OPA to curb illegal operations entirely.

Prices of choice cattle soared with announcement of re-establishment of meat ceilings, one load bringing the unheard of top of $28.40 per hundredweight in the Chicago yards. Big packers complained that high bidding of smaller operators would compel them to remain out of the market rather than violate price ceilings, reducing the flow of meat to normal retail channels. Some relief was expected during the heavy fall runs, however.

MOBILIZATION:

Plan Ahead

Warning that the U. S. will have little time for preparation before the next war, army and navy members of the services' industrial college issued a 37-page report outlining tentative plans for economic mobilization in event of hostilities.

Elaborate groundwork for M-Day would be laid during peacetime under the plan. Headed by the President, a national security council would formulate diplomatic and military policy; a resources board would develop policies for controlling wartime economy; a central research agency would co-ordinate scientific work, and a civilian plans board would fit together the activities of the various groups.

In addition, a national intelligence authority would furnish planners with necessary information; a foreign resources board would evaluate the requirements of countries aiding our economy, and a public relations agency would keep the public informed on mobilization plans.

Complementing the services' work, Donald M. Nelson, former war production chief, will undertake a civilian study of economic mobilization at the request of President Truman.

HOUSING:

Materials Problem

Pressed by the American Veterans' committee's advisory council, Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt declared that more materials would be diverted from commercial construction for private dwellings to meet the huge demand for living quarters.

At the same time, Wyatt revealed that the government has been forced to slash its provision of temporary dwelling units in some localities because of increased costs.

As head of the AVC delegation which met with Wyatt, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. asserted that during the first seven months of this year, commercial construction totaled over 3 billion dollars in comparison with only 1 1/2 billion dollars for private residences. He called for channeling of 80 per cent of materials to dwellings.

FARM REALTY:

Still Rising

The upward movement in farm real estate values continued during the four months ended July 1, with an increase for the country as a whole of about 4 per cent, the department of agriculture reported. This brought the U. S. index (1912-14=100) to 147, a rise of 13 per cent since July, 1945.

Seventy-seven per cent above the 1935-39 average, this level is only 4 per cent below the 1920 peak.

PARIS: Present Claims

New claims were advanced against the vanquished at the Paris peace conference by smaller nations seeking geographical security against potential aggressors and compensation for war damages.

Hitting against award of the South Tyrol to Italy after World War I Austria asked the conference to settle the territorial status of the region in a manner satisfactory to the predominantly Austrian populace.

Basing its claim on maps dating back to 1327 A. D., Egypt demanded the return of the oasis of Giarrub, ceded to Italy in 1925, and also asked for the plateau of Sollum, invasion pathway from Libya. In addition, the Egyptians requested reparations from Italy for the bombardment of cities and ports.

Albania demanded Italian reparations totaling over 800 million dollars and called for stringent reduction of the Italian army, navy and air force to guarantee against future aggression. At the same time, Albania flatly rejected Greece's claims for a rectification of their southern border.

REFUGEES: Come Long Way

Immigration authorities agreed to consider the admission of 18 Estonian refugees to the U. S. after first turning down their plea to enter this country following their arrival in Miami, Fla., on a 38-foot sloop from European waters.

Comprising 11 men, six wives and a flaxen-haired five-year-old girl, the Estonians first fled their native country when the Germans took it over. Declaring that the Russians were equally repressive, the refugees refused to return to their Communist-dominated homeland and left Sweden for the New world May 30. They were at sea almost continuously for 2 1/2 months.

Upon first being denied admittance to the U. S. by Immigration Director Francis J. H. Dever, Skipper Felix Tandere heroically announced: "If we must go on, we will, even if we must travel all the way to Australia. Our ship is small, but it has taken us this far. They can't take the sea away from us."

Reject Baseball Guild

Big bow-legged Honus ("Hans") Wagner, once the greatest shortstop in the business and now a coach with the Pittsburgh Pirates, pointed up to the clubhouse blackboard. It announced that the team had rejected the American Baseball guild by a 15 to 3 vote.

The disclosure that the Pirates had voted against unionization in an election conducted by the Pennsylvania labor relations board did not deter stubborn, soft-spoken Robert Murphy, guild chief. Though the national labor relations board had thrown out his earlier complaint against the Pittsburgh management of unfair practices, he filed similar charges before the PLRB.

The Pirates' action constituted their second rejection of guild leadership. On June 7, they had refused to strike before a game with the New York Giants. If nothing else, Murphy's organization threat did spur the big league magnates to meet with player representatives for discussion of improved terms.

BRITAIN: Control Steel

Pending formulation of plans for nationalization of British iron and steel operations, the labor government announced the formation of a special board to control production, distribution and prices of the industry.

While Supply Minister John Wilmot revealed that the industry's leaders had agreed to accept positions on the new board in order to familiarize themselves with nationalization proceedings, he said that they would not advise the government on plans for public ownership. Pending nationalization, the industry agreed to push modernization of facilities to step up output.

Announcement of continued government regulation of Britain's iron and steel operations came even as London revealed that the British had taken over the entire German iron and steel industry in their occupation zone.

Courteous Japs Kow-Tow To Victorious Americans

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

Recently, I had two experiences which melded.

I ran into my colleague, Kenneth Romney Jr., son of Kenneth Romney Sr., sergeant at-arms of the house of representatives. Young Romney recently has taken up his duties in radio again after a belated discharge from the military service, the latter part of which was spent with the "cloak and dagger" boys, the Office of Strategic Services.

Baukhage

Casually, he told me how he landed in Shanghai. He had been serving in China. Shortly after V-J Day he was ordered, along with some hundred other American officers and soldiers, to Shanghai. It was known there were no Chinese troops in the city. Shanghai had been in Japanese hands since the beginning of the war. The civilian population had become none too co-operative.

Hence, the Americans (even the "cloak and dagger" boys) arrived in full battle dress.

Their plane landed, and little brown men came forward toward them. The Americans had their rifles at "ready." Some fired. But the Japs, undeterred, came forward, bowing deeply, smiling. It was a Japanese ground force, ready and anxious to service the American planes.

Later came Jap officers with a whole fleet of limousines. The Americans were guests, not conquerors. The conquered enemy were hosts—not just the conquered. They offered to find accommodations and the trimmings. A little confusing, the Americans thought, but that was, after all, the Orient—China, another world.

Now the scene shifts to Washington again. I witness the meeting of a husband and wife. Plenty of such meetings these days, still. It was touching. The man had dropped out of the Far Eastern skies. It seemed only yesterday that I had heard he was in a city in the Netherlands Indies where the American corporation he represented had one of its great plants. He was the first American to visit it since the territory had been won back from the enemy.

But had it been won back?

When I heard his story, I wondered. It seems that when he reached the gates of the American-owned plant, he found a Japanese on guard. He identified himself. In a few moments, a smiling and bowing Japanese officer, still wearing most of his uniform and speaking understandable English, appeared.

They began a tour of the property, the Jap most deferential but offering no word of explanation or apology for the fact that he, a late enemy, was in charge and not in jail. In fact, the Jap was very loquacious on the subject of the excellent work that he and his helpers had done to put the plant back into repair and operation.

He showed my friend the various places where the buildings and machinery had been damaged—evidence, he pointed out, smiling, of the excellent marksmanship of the American air force. He demonstrated with particular pride how excellently the repair work had been done, obviously expecting (and receiving) well-deserved praise for the technical skill the Japanese repairmen had shown.

Very nice, of course.

But American industry still reaps no benefit from that plant, and although the Japanese gain no profit therefrom, this American property is still, literally, in the hands of the enemy.

Commentator's Lot

For one whole week, I saved all the things that came to me by mail which I hadn't asked for—except personal letters, I have just counted them, and there are 233 separate pieces in all. The total number of pages I am expected to read adds up to nearly a thousand.

The one on top is "the back of the book" from Omnibook. A collection of amusing stories. But Omnibook itself is better still and I believe I have every issue, beginning with Vol. 1, No. 1.

Three financial proposals, each having far-reaching consequences are to be voted upon by Michigan citizens on November 5.

Two of them would amend the state constitution, while the third would authorize the spending of $270,000,000 in bonus payments to Michigan war veterans.

All three ballots moreover, would affect the Michigan taxpayers — perhaps more than he anticipates. As we see it, a strong likelihood exists that the state legislature will be forced in 1947 to levy additional taxes, if the bonus proposal and the sales tax amendment are both approved at the November election.

One amendment to the state constitution would earmark one cent of the sales tax for school and local governments.

One-half of this earmarked revenue would be divided among cities, townships and villages according to their population. The other one-half would be turned over to public schools which now received $60,000,000 in state aid and would be divided according to the school's annual census of children 5 to 19.

This constitutional diversion of

Longhorn Stopped When He Met Up With Barbed Wire

HOUSTON, TEX. — A coffee mill and a grindstone helped corral the longhorn, beginning what today is a 15 million dollar annual business.

During the Civil war, a rangy Texan tried to keep wild herds of cattle from trampling his orchard. He wound up binding nails to galvanized wire. And barbed wire, which in 1945 consumed 234,000 tons of steel, was born.

First manufacture of barbed wire began in 1874 when an old coffee mill was used to fashion the bars, and an ancient grindstone crank furnished power to twist the wire.

Concerned cowmen worried about tearing the hides of their precious steers, reports Steelways magazine. Then, too, it was difficult to see how three thin strands of wire could stop a half-ton steer.

But even the most skeptical were convinced by demonstration. Last year enough barbed wire was produced to encircle the world 60 times.

Widow Gives Vet Party Promised by Husband

ST. LOUIS.—Mrs. Mary Podajeski gave a "welcome home" party for more than 200 returned veterans. It was a party promised and planned by her husband, Joseph, before he was drowned on a fishing trip in southern Missouri in 1944.

"As the boys went off to war," Mrs. Podajeski said, "Joe would promise, 'I'm going to give you a big party when you get back.' So now that my son, Joseph Jr., has returned from the navy, I decided it was time to carry out the promise."

Something Special In Parachute Package

BALDWIN, N. Y. — Barney Brown, former paratrooper with the 82nd airborne division, got more than he expected in the way of a souvenir when he picked up a nylon parachute from a grounded Nazi plane in Europe.

Opening it months later at home, he found an ermine wrap worth $2,000 tucked inside.

sales tax revenue, according to present conditions, would approximate from $37,000,000 to $43,000,000 a year. The figure used most often is $40,000,000.

State tax officials are said to be of the opinion that loss of $40,000,000 in state revenue would be disastrous and that additional taxes would be forced. They talk of an additional cent to the three-cent tax; revival of the state realty tax, such as the four mill property levy which prevailed prior to 1933; or a new form of taxation. It is a cinch that none of the three proposals will be popular with taxpayers who are too often inclined to demand more and more state services but balk like a Missouri mule at any suggestion that extra taxes are needed to pay for them.

Here's a "catch" in the sales tax amendment. It is little understood.

Public schools would get 16 1/2 percent of the tax revenue IN ADDITION to their 43 1/2 percent share, as received during the 1945-46 fiscal year. Or in other words, public schools would get nearly 60 percent of the sales tax dollar. This right would be frozen into the state constitution. The state legislature wouldn't have a thing to say about it!

What about the state's obligations for welfare, highways, colleges, prisons and other public service needs?

That's where the new tax enters the picture. State experts insist there is no choice.

The Michigan Real Estate association, which serves 1,600 affiliated brokers, is hostile to the idea of a revival of the state property tax, but is favoring the sales tax diversion for local governments. The latter would take some of the pressure off the local taxpayer, official feel. A number of towns have held special elections to remove the 15-mill tax limitation or to impose extra taxes on property owners for purpose of schools. For example, Monroe will vote September 23 on whether to increase its 15-mill limitation by five mills for five years. Fremont, chairman of the senate finance committee, believes that the public will be misled into the belief that a bonus of this size can be financed out of a "vast surplus" existing from sales tax receipts. Here is how VanderWerp explains it:

"As a matter of fact there is no sales tax surplus and we do not anticipate that there will be one. While the sales tax receipts have reached an all-time high, so have the state's expenses. As is true with individuals, the state is paying more for everything it buys. The cost of personnel service (wages) has also soared to new highs and with between 16,000 and 17,000 people on the state payroll this is no small element in the increased expenses.

"Another important element to be considered is the fact that all the state institutions have a backlog of equipment replacements and unfilled personnel posts that will total approximately $50,000,000. Because of the Michigan Education association recently withdrew, temporarily at least, its opposition to the sales tax amendment. Opposing the amendment are the Michigan State Farm Bureau and the Michigan State Grange, representing rural interests.

Another amendment, Number One on the November ballot, would permit public expenditures on public airports. The attorney general's office has held that the constitution does not permit public disbursement for an internal improvement of this type.

The amendment would remove this barrier. It would open the way to matching of local funds by the federal government.

We haven't heard of any organized opposition to the proposal. In fact, there is strong sentiment in favor of it.

The other financial proposal is the veterans' bonus of $270,000,000, as submitted by the state legislature.

In putting this proposal before the voters on November 5, the legislature sidestepped the question entirely of how the bonus is to be financed.

State Senator Don VanderWerp of war conditions the state was unable to meet the demands for replacements and personnel were available. This backlog of needs must be met as soon as possible and the requests will be laid before the budget department and the finance committee of the next legislature. They must be granted if the state institutions are to function properly."

It is VanderWerp's conclusion that Michigan voters, in casting a vote for the bonus proposal, may be voting a tax on themselves — "a tax on yourself you did not expect."

The same conclusion might be made, as we see it, for the freezing of 60 percent of the sales tax for the public schools, plus 16 1/2 percent for local governments.

Yes! It's Coming! Starts MONDAY Sept. 9th Only Mat. & Eve.

Meet our Boss:

MRS. ROE

Who's the Big Boss of any business? That's easy—the person or persons who own the business!

In the case of Michigan Bell, our Big Boss is "Mrs. Richard Roe" and thousands of other thrifty folks who have invested in Bell System securities and provided the money for enlarging the system and improving the service.

Now let's see what Mrs. Roe's investment helped make possible. Here are just a few examples:

- From 1920 through 1945, it has permitted the Bell System to increase the number of telephones in service from 8 million to 22 million — almost 16 telephones for every hundred people in the United States.
- It has provided the facilities for handling a record-breaking billion and a half toll calls in 1945, compared to 360 million in 1920.
- It has financed the development and installation of dial telephone equipment so that now 4 out of 5 telephones in Michigan, for example, are dial operated.
- It has paid for the construction of 75 million miles of wire and cable throughout the nation, and accomplished many other improvements too numerous to mention.

If this progress is to continue—more money will have to be obtained from more investors through the sale of additional Bell System securities. And, since investors naturally want a fair return on their savings, telephone rates should be sufficient to permit paying a reasonable rate of return.

Michigan Bell's "cost of living", like yours, has been rising rapidly. If it continues to go up, rate increases may become necessary to insure adequate earnings. In any event, Michigan Bell wants telephone rates no higher—and no lower—than necessary to operate the business efficiently... pay good wages... give a fair return to investors and, thereby, protect the future quality of the service we give you.

BOWLING

The East Jordan bowling season for 1946-47 gets under way in earnest Monday evening when the Merchants League, consisting of 12 teams, tees off for another season. On Tuesday evening the Ladies league will get under way.

An outstanding bowling attraction has been lined up by Barney for this Friday and Saturday evenings, when the Detroit R. G. Dun Ladies team puts in an appearance at the local alleys. Led by Lucille Quamby, they are probably the outstanding women's team in Detroit today. They bowl in two of the fastest women's leagues in Detroit and are always among the leaders. At 9:30 Friday evening they will meet an East Jordan Ladies Team, and, on Saturday evening, Cal's men's team will bowl against them. It should be a show worth watching. The girls are flying to Traverse City and will motor on to East Jordan.

Thursday evening, Sept. 12th the Doghouse league will have a meeting to organize for this season. All couples interested should plan now to attend this session.

Monday's League Schedule
7:00 p. m.: Auto Owners vs. Sinclair's Chevrolet, Post Office vs. St. Joseph No. 1, Cal's Tavern vs. State Bank.

9:15: Bader's Standard vs. Clark's, E. J. Canning Co. vs. E. J. Recreation; Ellsworth Electric Sales vs. St. Joseph No. 2.

ANTRIM 4-H BOYS AND GIRLS PLACE WELL AT TRAVERSE CITY FAIR

Antrim County 4-H boys and girls again repeated past years achievements by placing exceedingly well at Northwest Michigan Fair held at Traverse City last week, Aug. 26 - 30.

Marion Kratachvil of Bellaire repeated the showmanship prowess she first exhibited at the Antrim County 4-H Livestock Show, August 14, by winning the event at the Fair in competition with boys and girls from Antrim, Benzie, Grand Traverse, and Leelanau counties. Her Ayrshire cow was superbly fitted and shown to win the contest easily.

In addition to their honors in 4-H events a number of the boys and girls entered open competition with their purebred cattle and walked off with a number of grand championships.

Richard Wieland of Ellsworth was awarded grand champion female of the Holstein breed with his R. Holstein calf, as was Robert Best, also of Ellsworth, awarded grand champion male with his purebred Holstein bull.

Joe Buhland of Central Lake likewise won grand champion female awards with his purebred Brown Swiss cow.

Rev. and Mrs. H. G. Moore visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Barber in Muskegon last week. Their son, David, who had spent three weeks there, returned home with them.

Finds New Way of Producing Oxygen
Another of the Undisclosed Wartime Achievements.

LOS ANGELES. — A new and greatly simplified method of obtaining oxygen from the air for industrial use, one of the hitherto undisclosed wartime achievements of American scientists, was reported by Dr. Melvin Calvin, University of California chemist.
The process works on the same principle as that by which the human body takes oxygen from the air and into the blood.
Air is blown through a tube which is lined with a specially compounded red colored chemical. This chemical absorbs oxygen. When the absorption reaches its maximum, the air flow is stopped and the chemical gives off its oxygen when the tube is heated. The oxygen is pumped into storage tanks and the process is repeated again and again.
Dr. Calvin, who explained the method at a meeting of the California section of the American Chemical Society, said it was used to supply oxygen for welding and other operations in the South Pacific where regular base supplies were not available.
The red chemical belongs to a group of compounds called chelates (pronounced kee'-lates). They are organic substances having atoms of metal attached to them. The metal in this case is cobalt. In human blood the corresponding metal is iron. The addition of the metals greatly enhances the oxygen-attracting power of both the blood and the other organic compounds.
Dr. Calvin said the method was conceived while researchers were looking for something to indicate oxygen changes in submarines. The chelates were observed to have great capacity for absorbing and giving off oxygen, changing color as they did so. Realizing the significance of this, Dr. Calvin thought it might be put to additional use. He submitted the idea to the national defense research committee which financed further studies. Additional work was done at the University of California at Los Angeles, the California Institute of Technology, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Iowa State college.

Takes Wedding Vows 50th
Time in Proxy Ceremony
KANSAS CITY, KANS. — America's most married man has taken wedding vows for the 50th time, in a double ceremony which also featured his wife.
He is Thomas H. Finigan, Kansas City attorney and a frequent proxy groom for men in service overseas who wish to marry the girls they left behind them.
His 50th ceremony was done for the benefit of Samuel R. Boston, 26, an army chaplain, now stationed in Hawaii.
Finigan exchanged vows with Grace Allen, 22, of Chattanooga. And at the same time his wife stood with Sylvan D. Gilmore of Kansas City as proxy for Audrey Ley, a British girl whom Gilmore met while stationed in Bristol, England. It was Mrs. Finigan's third proxy wedding.
The lovely bride elicited admiring remarks from Finigan, who said: "Boy, she's the best one yet!"

'Dog Sitters' Scarce So
Took Her Pooch Along
KANSAS CITY, MO. — Mrs. Lora Bybee, 47, trudged up 28 floors of the city hall with her little dog, Betty Lou, because pooches are not permitted to ride the elevators.
She went up to swear out a warrant charging her husband of 24 years with disturbing the peace.
After she had descended the 28 flights, she discovered she had lost the complaint. So she and the dog started back upstairs. On the third floor she grew faint. A janitor offered to watch the dog so she could ride the elevator.
She thanked him and explained: "I had to bring Betty Lou because there was no one to leave her at home with—I don't know any dog sitters."

Rubber Exploration
Rubber trees of apparently much greater productivity and disease resistance have been found by jungle explorers of the department of agriculture and the ministries of agriculture and Peru in the upper regions of the Amazon valley. Some of these outstanding trees promise to prove better than the best of the plantation trees now providing most of the world's rubber. Two plant specialists of the department have been ransacking the wild region of the upper Amazon in Colombia and Peru. Altogether they have located a hundred or more trees that apparently combine the characters of high yield and resistance to leaf blight, and the best of these are expected to provide propagation material for highly productive plantations.

Water Heater
To secure the best results from an electric water heater, see that it is properly insulated and installed in the right place. The main thing to remember when installing a heater is not to pipe water any further than necessary. In most homes the best place is in the kitchen even if the laundry house is outside. Clothes are washed only once a week while hot water is used in the kitchen almost constantly. Have your heater adjusted to provide hot water from 130 to 150 degrees Fahrenheit. This range not only is sufficient and safe, but is good from the standpoint of mechanical operation, economy and convenience.

Convicted of One Murder, Convict Admits Second
SANTA CRUZ, CALIF. — Thomas Henry McMonigle, 21-year-old convict, confessed he strangled to death a San Francisco Negro woman and dumped her body over sea-side cliffs into the Pacific ocean.
McMonigle's confession was made to Santa Cruz County Sheriff J. R. Davitt two days after a jury convicted him of the kidnap murder of 14-year-old bobby boxer Thora Chamberlain.

World War II Takes Toll of 10 Million
Approximately 10,000,000 men were killed in action during World War II, according to the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. Estimated Axis losses exceeded 5,200,000; those of the United Nations were about 4,500,000. The United States and the British Empire are the only major powers for which official and fairly complete statements of battle losses are available.
Germany tops the list, with 3,250,000 battle deaths. Japan lost about 1,500,000 men, and Italy probably 1,500,000 to 2,000,000. Germany's other satellites together lost 225,000. Of this total, Romania's losses account for about 100,000; Hungary's for about 75,000, and Finland's for about 50,000. Bulgaria's were small.
Russia's deaths in combat are estimated at approximately 3,000,000, or about two-thirds of the entire combat losses suffered by the Allies. The second highest toll among the Allies was borne by the British Empire, whose battle deaths are estimated at 375,000 to 400,000. Next in rank is the United States, with about 325,000 battle deaths, including an allowance for deaths among those wounded in action, and among those still carried as missing on the casualty lists.

Planes May Speed Fresh Produce to Market
Growers and marketing specialists are studying plans to transport products by air. For example, they have in mind tender sweet corn that must be eaten soon after it is picked if the full flavor is enjoyed—spinach and cauliflower that can be shipped cleaned and washed and ready to cook—lima beans and English peas picked at just the right stages of ripeness and shelled and ready to cook.
In Texas, growers are talking about shipping fresh citrus fruit juice by air. There's not much point in moving the citrus fruit itself by air. Oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and lemons all move well by less expensive means of transportation, by boat or rail or truck. But the fresh juice is another matter.
A plan the growers have in mind is to extract the juice from the freshly picked oranges in a plant near the airport. Then they will chill and pack the juice in containers for shipment by plane. The marketing specialists say that one of these days you may have a container of fresh orange juice delivered at your door right along with the morning milk.

Powerful Rodenticide
A new and powerful rodent poison, sodium fluoroacetate, now designated simply as 1080, has been found effective against rats, mice, ground squirrels, prairie dogs and other rodents. 1080 is so potent that one part in 5,000 parts of water is fatal to rats. The very dilute solutions reduce to a minimum any objectionable tastes that might lessen acceptance by rodents. It is odorless. The new compound is extremely toxic also to other mammals, and must be used with extreme caution. It is still in the experimental stage, and is not being manufactured in sufficient quantities for general use. Wildlife specialists who have worked with it express the belief that it may not be released for sale generally, but it can and will be used extensively by specialists who know how to handle it. Tested by the navy in Miami, Green Cove Springs, St. Petersburg and Tampa, the new compound has given amazing results. In a small building where other poisons had killed only one rat per month, 1080 accounted for more than 200 in one night. A poultry house baited with the new substance was strewn with dead rodents the next morning.

WNU RELEASE

THE STORY THUS FAR: Reynolds questions Meg at her home. There is a knock at the door, and Martha Evans, Tom Fallon's sister-in-law, enters. She wanted to tell them about the knife. Martha's story is that Alicia was not murdered with the knife that was found. That knife, she declared, was one she and Tom had taken away from Tom's wife, Letty, the invalid and mental patient. Martha declared that Tom did not know his wife's true condition, believing her to be getting better. "But she is violent at times," Martha insisted, as she told how Letty had attacked her with the knife one night. "That night you said you fell and hurt your ankle?" Meg asked. Martha denied it.

CHAPTER XV

Miss Martha said huskily, "Only I didn't fall—she pushed me down the steps."

Bob waited, and after a little, she went on huskily, "Tom and I saw to it that there was never any instrument around that she could use to hurt herself—or anybody else. Tom thought she was bedridden; I hadn't told him that she was growing stronger, that she could walk—not very far, but at least she was no longer helpless. I knew, of course, the danger that was growing around her—danger that she might slip away from me and—do some horrible thing—"

Bob said swiftly, "Then you mean that she managed to get away and kill Mrs. Stevenson?"

Miss Martha flung up her head. Her eyes blazed.

"She did nothing of the sort! Use your head, young man. It's a mile from our house to Mrs. Stevenson's place—she couldn't travel that far. And she hasn't been out of my sight one single minute since the night she attacked me," she blazed at him hotly.

Bob said gently, "We have only your word for that, Miss Evans."

Miss Martha's stocky body slumped a little and she said wearily, "Yes, of course—you have only my word for it—"

"And the knife, Miss Evans?" asked Bob very quietly.

She seemed to wince as though he had struck her. She drew a deep breath and lifted her head a little, though her shoulders sagged.

"Yes, the knife," she repeated. "That was—night before last. As I said, Tom didn't know that Letty could get out of bed, or walk; he thought it was a little foolish of me to keep every sharp-pointed instrument in the house under lock and key. He thought as long as we kept them out of her room, out of her reach—"

She shrugged tiredly and then she went on in that heavy, exhausted voice, "so he left a knife out on the kitchen sink night before last. I'd—had a good deal of trouble with Letty and I was very tired. I slept in her room and I thought that she was sleeping soundly, and so I let myself go to sleep. When I woke up—I don't know what woke me, but—suddenly I was wide-awake, and—there was Letty standing beside my bed, bending over me, the moonlight on—that knife in her hand—"

She set her teeth hard in her lower lip, and her hands crushed each other, and in spite of her efforts at self-control, two swollen tears slipped from her eyes and down her white cheeks, leaving little marks in the thick powder spread so inexpertly there.

Megan went to her and put an arm about her, and for a moment, Miss Martha resisted; then she turned and hid her face against Megan, while the two men waited.

"Whom did you see then?" demanded Bob.

"No one," answered Miss Martha firmly. Too emphatically. "I saw no one at all—no one."

Bob said sternly, "You're not telling me the truth, Miss Evans. Up to now, I believe you. But if you start telling me lies now, don't you see you're likely to make me believe that all you've told me is a lie!"

Miss Martha said grimly, "You can believe anything you want to, young man. I've told you all I'm going to tell you. And I'd never have told you what I did if I had not felt so sure that you'd jump to the conclusion that the knife Amos helped you find was the one that killed Mrs. Stevenson—and once you were convinced of that, you'd not stop until you'd hauled in some poor devil that was as innocent of that crime as—my poor Letty."

She got up and Bob said sternly, "I've not finished yet—"

Miss Martha eyed him as though he had been an importunate beggar, and said coolly, "Haven't you? Well, I have. Good day to you all."

She looked at Megan and said tonelessly, "Tom and I are—taking Letty home. We're leaving today, so this will be good-by—and—thanks for all you've done."

"Miss Martha, whom did you see that night?" Bob demanded sharply. "I can forbid you to leave, you know—I can hold you as a material witness—"

"A witness to what? I wasn't within a mile of the Stevenson place," Miss Martha pointed out. "Amos is my alibi, just as I am his. I'd say that he and I are the two people knew I had to come and tell you about it, since telling you couldn't cause my poor Letty any trouble—now."

Bob nodded, sitting on the edge of the desk, his eyes fastened on Miss Martha's face.

"Amos, who saw the knife being hidden, spoke of a 'thing in white, about eight feet tall—' he mentioned."

There was the faintest possible trace of a smile in Miss Martha's tired eyes.

"I know," she told him quietly. "It was a bright moonlight night and you never know who may be roaming around late at night in these parts, and for just the barest instant her glance flickered towards Megan and away. 'I didn't want anyone to see me—you can understand that, of course. And it occurred to me that that old place would be an ideal place to hide something you didn't ever want found. But if somebody saw me—and recognized me—you see?'"

Bob nodded. "Of course," he answered quickly.

"Well, Tom was with Letty," Miss Martha went on. "I slipped out into who couldn't possibly have had anything to do with the murder."

"But you did see someone that night—"

She met his eyes straightly and said coolly, "Did I?"

Megan drew a deep breath and said levelly, "You saw me, didn't you, Miss Martha?"

Bob flung her a startled glance, but Laurence's mouth only tightened a little.

Miss Martha looked straight at Megan and then she sighed and nodded. "Yes, I saw you," she admitted.

Bob said quickly, "Look here, Miss MacTavish, you haven't told me anything about being up there that night—"

"You didn't ask me!" Megan reminded him.

"I said that if you were in bed and asleep, you couldn't have heard a scream—"

Megan nodded. "And I said, no, I couldn't—but you didn't ask me if I had been in my bed asleep," she reminded him again.

"Who was with you?" he asked sternly. "Don't tell me you went out alone at that time of night."

Megan said quietly, "No, I wasn't alone. I was when I left the house. But when I reached the Ridge—Mr. Fallon was there and we talked a little while."

Bob asked abruptly, "Your father was involved with Mrs. Stevenson, wasn't he?"

Megan gasped as though he had struck her, and Laurence said sharply, "Hi, lay off, Bob. You have no right to ask her such a question."

Bob met his eyes squarely and said coolly, "Haven't I?"

"As her counsel—"

Laurence heatedly, but Bob's grin was cool, amused, and it silenced him.

Bob lit a cigarette, first securing permission from Megan.

And then he looked at Miss Martha and said very gently, "Miss Evans, just why did you kill Mrs. Stevenson?"

It was so unexpected, and the tone of his quiet, even voice was in such contrast to the thing he said that for a moment everybody in the room went rigid; and outside the door, in the shadowy hall, there was a smothered gasp from the unseen, but listening, Annie.

Miss Martha sat very quiet for a moment, her body held upright by her grip on the arms of her chair. Without raising her face she lifted her eyes and looked straight at Bob.

He was watching her quietly, steadily, and in complete silence.

After a moment, Miss Martha sagged back in her chair, limp and beaten, all her defenses down.

"All right," she said, her voice a mere thread of sound. "I—did it."

Megan caught her breath on a strangled sob and swayed a little.

And Laurence, without taking his eyes off Miss Martha's white, ravaged face, put his arm about Megan and drew her close.

"Why, Miss Martha?" asked Bob, very gently, with pity in his voice.

Miss Martha drew a hard breath and lifted her hands in a little gesture of helplessness before she gripped them once more about the arms of her chair. "I—hated her. She was a wicked woman. She made so much trouble for everybody. She had started spreading lies and slander about Tom. I was afraid that Letty might hear—in one of her periods of lucidity. Tom told me about the things she was saying. He had been foolish enough to go to her house one evening and face her with a story she was spreading about him and—Miss MacTavish—"

The tired voice died and she opened her eyes and looked at Megan and said faintly, "I'm—sorry, but I might as well tell you the whole story."

"So Mrs. Stevenson was broadcasting the fact that Miss MacTavish and Mr. Fallon were friends, and hinting that there was more to it than that, and you decided to have a talk with her—was that it?" Bob's gentle voice asked Miss Martha.

She rubbed her hands together as though the palms were damp and her voice steadied a little. "Yes, that was it," she said evenly. "And Mrs. Stevenson was curious about Letty's illness, and she came prying and snooping. Tom and I knew that if the people here in Pleasant Grove knew that Letty was—of unsound mind, they might be afraid of her, for all that she was completely helpless, and that Tom might lose his job, or worse still, that he might be forced to—put Letty away in an institution. We couldn't bear the thought of that." Once more the voice died away, and without a sound Annie materialized beside Miss Martha's chair, offering her a glass in which there was some pungent-smelling, milky colored fluid.

Bob waited patiently until Annie had performed her act of kindness and had once more vanished, as silently as she had come.

"So you went to have a talk with Mrs. Stevenson," Bob prompted Miss Martha, his tone gentle and friendly.

"Yes," said Miss Martha, and now she was pleading the crisp percale of her housedress over her knees with twitching fingers, her eyes on the task.

knew I had to come and tell you about it, since telling you couldn't cause my poor Letty any trouble—now."

Bob nodded, sitting on the edge of the desk, his eyes fastened on Miss Martha's face.

"Amos, who saw the knife being hidden, spoke of a 'thing in white, about eight feet tall—' he mentioned."

There was the faintest possible trace of a smile in Miss Martha's tired eyes.

"I know," she told him quietly. "It was a bright moonlight night and you never know who may be roaming around late at night in these parts, and for just the barest instant her glance flickered towards Megan and away. 'I didn't want anyone to see me—you can understand that, of course. And it occurred to me that that old place would be an ideal place to hide something you didn't ever want found. But if somebody saw me—and recognized me—you see?'"

Bob nodded. "Of course," he answered quickly.

"Well, Tom was with Letty," Miss Martha went on. "I slipped out into who couldn't possibly have had anything to do with the murder."

"But you did see someone that night—"

She met his eyes straightly and said coolly, "Did I?"

Megan drew a deep breath and said levelly, "You saw me, didn't you, Miss Martha?"

Bob flung her a startled glance, but Laurence's mouth only tightened a little.

Miss Martha looked straight at Megan and then she sighed and nodded. "Yes, I saw you," she admitted.

Bob said quickly, "Look here, Miss MacTavish, you haven't told me anything about being up there that night—"

"You didn't ask me!" Megan reminded him.

"I said that if you were in bed and asleep, you couldn't have heard a scream—"

Megan nodded. "And I said, no, I couldn't—but you didn't ask me if I had been in my bed asleep," she reminded him again.

"Who was with you?" he asked sternly. "Don't tell me you went out alone at that time of night."

Megan said quietly, "No, I wasn't alone. I was when I left the house. But when I reached the Ridge—Mr. Fallon was there and we talked a little while."

Bob asked abruptly, "Your father was involved with Mrs. Stevenson, wasn't he?"

Megan gasped as though he had struck her, and Laurence said sharply, "Hi, lay off, Bob. You have no right to ask her such a question."

Bob met his eyes squarely and said coolly, "Haven't I?"

"As her counsel—"

Laurence heatedly, but Bob's grin was cool, amused, and it silenced him.

Bob lit a cigarette, first securing permission from Megan.

And then he looked at Miss Martha and said very gently, "Miss Evans, just why did you kill Mrs. Stevenson?"

Hottest issue in the forthcoming election campaign is proposal No. 2, the sales tax diversion amendment to the state constitution.

If this amendment is adopted by voters on Nov. 5, Michigan public schools will receive approximately $100,000,000 a year in state money. They now get $60,000,000.

The Michigan Education Association has done a neat flipflop on the question. Originally officials condemned roundly the tax diversion amendment; last week the association's governing board went on record as favoring it. A vigorous campaign will be waged to woo the voters.

This proposal is the outcome of legislative demands made by mayors of Michigan's leading cities for a split of the Michigan sales tax.

When upstate legislators united in resisting the big city municipalities, strategists decided that other interests must be incorporated into the plan. A coalition would break the upstate ranks.

Hence initiatory petitions were circulated in leading cities, calling for the submission to the voters on November 5 of the following amendment to article ten of the Constitution:

"Shall one cent of a levy on each dollar of sales under a state sales tax on the present base be returned to cities, villages, townships and school districts; half apportioned per capita among cities, villages and townships according to county populations, & half apportioned to school districts on basis of the primary school census; and in addition annual grants be made school districts from general funds in ratio to sales tax revenue of preceding fiscal years but not less than that borne between such grants in fiscal year ending 1946 and the preceding year's revenues?"

The amendment would divert one-third of the present tax, or one cent, to the following local governments: One-half of one cent, or 16 2/3 per cent of the present 3-cent tax, would be returned to cities, villages and townships on a per capita basis according to county populations.

The remaining one-half of 1 percent, or 16 2/3 per cent of the tax, would be distributed to public school districts on basis of the primary school census whereby every child, 5 to 19 years old, is counted.

As added inducement for educators to join hands with city municipalities in new tax diversion, amendment was worded to insure that public schools would continue to receive their regular annual grants "in ratio to sales tax returns of preceding fiscal years but not less than that borne between such grants in fiscal year ending 1946 and the preceding year's such revenue."

This phraseology would do justice to a Philadelphia lawyer, so we made an inquiry at the state department of public instruction as to what it actually meant.

We were informed that continuance of state aid to public schools, as computed for the years 1945 and 1946, would be equivalent to 43 1/2 per cent of the sales tax revenue. The new tax diversion, 16 2/3 percent, plus the qualifying clause, would freeze into the state constitution for use of the schools a total amount equal to approximately 60 per cent of sales tax revenue.

For years the Michigan Education Association has conducted biennial campaigns among legislators for more state aid.

Pleadings have been effective, for schools are close to the hearts of the American people and the need for more funds has not been hard to prove.

If proposal No. 2 is carried on Nov. 5, the MEA lobbying will be over. The state constitution will guarantee for years to come, a substantially higher proportion of state aid than the schools have ever received.

Between now and November 5 the voters will have to make up their minds about several things.

One is whether the schools should have more money. Here we believe the MEA will be on firm ground. Allen Shoenfeld, one of the best writers of the Detroit News, recently made a detailed study of the Michigan school problem. The MEA liked it so well that they obtained permission to reproduce the series of ten articles in a booklet which has been given wide circulation.

After interviewing scores of Michigan educators, Shoenfeld came to the conclusion that public education was facing "complete collapse". Teachers are under-paid; quality of teaching staff has been deteriorating. The 15-mill tax limitation amendment, added to the constitution in 1932, has become a strait-jacket. Modern school buildings are imperatively needed.

The other topic for consideration is whether state services — such as welfare, colleges, prisons and hospitals — must be curtailed if one-third of the 3 cent sales tax is to be diverted, and also whether new and added tax levies must be imposed in 1947 if state services are continued.

The $270,000,000 veterans' bonus — proposal No. 3 on the ballot — would be paid off in taxes, too.

If this question of new and added taxes cannot be satisfactorily answered, then the veterans' bonus and the school aid issue are due for a head-on collision in the minds of Michigan voters before Nov. 5. Voters are apt to be wary about authorizing both — the veterans' bonus and more school aid — if they are convinced that increased taxes are inevitable.

WEED 'EM AND WEEP

Dr. B. H. Grigsby, of the botany department at Michigan State college, says the experience of some gardeners and home owners who were not careful with 2,4-D has been "weed 'em and weep." For along with killing the dandelions and other unwanted plants in the lawn, they have destroyed some flowering plants and shrubs in beds bordering lawns sprayed with 2,4-D.

Spraying of the lawn should be accomplished only on a still day. When spraying near a flower bed or shrub, spray away from the flowers or shrubs—not toward them. Even the fine mist that is invisible to the eye is enough to kill some plants or shrubs.

Dr. Grigsby explains that some trees and shrubs growing near the spot where he parks his spray truck show the effects of the weed killer. None of the 2, 4-D was sprayed on the vegetation, but the effect is caused merely by evaporation from the tank.

Another source of occasional trouble has been the use of the same spray equipment for 2,4-D and for a pest-control spray. While some believe four or five thorough washings with hot soapy water and repeated rinsings will remove any trace of 2,4-D from a sprayer, Dr. Grigsby recommends using the sprayer for that solution only. He points out the residue which remains in the sprayer or the hose may be insoluble in one solution, but may become soluble in a different spray solution at a later date and cause damage to a highly valuable plant.

TWIST CABBAGE TO STOP SPLITTING

Good growing weather may cause cabbage heads to continue to grow and burst. If you will twist the heads a quarter to a half turn, you will break loose part of the roots. That will partially check the growth. Then the cabbage can be held in the garden until weather is suitable for storage of the crop.

PLANTING WINTER WHEAT

The fly-free days for planting winter wheat in Charlevoix County is after September 3rd. Wheat planted before this date is subject to Hessian Fly Damage.

Farmers who are interested in securing Registered Yorkwin Wheat may obtain the seed from the following growers: Arthur Loesel, R. 2, Reese; Jesse E. Treiber Unionville; or George & Robert Moore, Elsie. The retail price for this certified seed is $3.00 a bushel.

PROTECT YOUR ALFALFA

Don't cut or pasture your alfalfa during September if you want to prevent winter killing and have a good stand of legume next spring.

Alfalfa plants need five to six weeks time to store plant food into the roots before frost. If the hay is cut or pastured in September, there's not enough time for this food storage process. Then your alfalfa plants go into the winter with insufficient food. As a result, hard winter may cause much winter killing.

After September, if the plants have had adequate time to store food pasturing of the alfalfa is not particularly harmful. But once you have a frost the plants can no longer manufacture food for the roots. So if you want a good stand legume next spring, give your alfalfa five or six weeks to get ready for winter. Ed. Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent

Ziegler States Road Plans

"As you know, this year every preference has been given to G. I. housing construction. In all widening of right-of-way or securing of new right-of-way, we have buildings to move. It was not until the latter part of June that we received permission from the Federal Civilian Production Administration and from the National Housing Administration for the moving and re-conditioning of these buildings. Even now, all cases are special and must receive special approval. Generally we are only permitted to spend $400 on residence property and a maximum of $1,000 on business property, which amount in most cases, is entirely inadequate, and therefore have to be handled as special cases.

"The contract for the first section of grading to close the gap from Boyne Falls north to the concrete pavement was awarded early in June and is progressing nicely and will be ready for paving next year. If we are not held back by additional Federal restrictions we probably will advertise this paving job yet this fall.

The next section to be put under contract will be immediately south of Boyne Falls. Handicapped by a general shortage of engineers, we have not yet determined the final location of US 131 over the Elmira Hill. This is a very difficult problem to solve and attain a reasonable and economical grade over this hill. You are familiar with the difficulties encountered, especially in the winter, from the present grade, which is too steep. This location is proceeding nicely and, unless unforeseen difficulties are encountered, should be ready for grading next year. The location will be off the present road so that this road can be used during the period of construction of the new one.

Money available for highway construction in Michigan must be spread, by law, over various sections of the State. The state law reads that one-quarter must be spent in the Upper Peninsula one-quarter in approximately forty counties in the upper part of the Lower Peninsula and one-half in the lower section of the State. Federal restrictions are also encountered, as almost one-half of the Federal fund must be spent in cities of 5,000 population and over. About $1,000,000 must be spent on Federal Aid Secondary Routes (US 131 is a Federal Aid Primary Route.) This leaves about one-half of the Federal money available throughout the entire State on Federal Aid Primary Routes.

"I note that you state that $16,000,000 of Federal funds per year are available. I wish to correct this and would advise that to the Department only a little over $13,000,000 is available. The balance goes to the County Road Commissions for local County roads.

You also mention US 31. There are two very strategic sections of this route in the vicinity of Petoskey: one is the old bridge at Charlevoix, the condition of which is demanding reconstruction, and the closing of the gap which has been partially graded between Bay Shore and Charlevoix. Before the grading can be completed and pavement could be laid on this gap, a grade separation must be built near Bay Shore.

"Cement and steel have been almost impossible to secure. Cement has gotten a little easier within the last month, but steel is more difficult. We have just received instructions from the Public Roads Administration restricting projects in using structural steel and this would be necessary in this grade separation. The Department has ordered way ahead and has received some of the foundation steel for the bridge at Charlevoix.

Our construction program this year has not been anywhere near normal, as materials and contractors' equipment necessary for construction have been just as difficult to secure and have naturally affected this year's program, as white shirts, meat, new electric toasters, new automobiles and practically all other items desired by the average citizen.

"I do appreciate the importance of the above work on US 131 as well as that on US 31, in relation to the entire Petoskey and Charlevoix area. I assure you that the Department has this work listed with the projects of maximum importance in the State and that they will be pushed as rapidly as conditions will permit the construction of any work in the State. Our ability, however, to push these projects depends entirely on the limit of our finances and also on the availability of necessary materials and equipment. The year 1946 has not been satisfactory to me from the construction standpoint; we hope that 1947 will be an improvement."

"With regard to needs throughout the State a survey by me shows that there is about $250,000,000 worth of work on our trunk lines, every bit of which can be justified as necessary at this time in the carrying of State have, during this three year postwar program, under traffic and every bit of which is important, and we will Federal appropriations a total of about $80,000,000 or only three-tenths of the amount required."

Local Man Purchases

Store at Clarksville

Mr. and Mrs. George Green and family left last Thursday for Clarksville, Mich., where they have purchased a grocery store and gas station which they will operate. Mr. Green has been affiliated with the local schools as janitor for the last seventeen years and will be greatly missed by the young people.

"MIRACLES OF THE MIND MENDERS"

Of all the great works of healing, the most exciting, touching and dramatic is that of the Mind Menders who operate in a government hospital at Staten Island, New York. Paul Gallico traces some of the most remarkable cases of rehabilitation by them, in The American Weekly, with this Sunday's (September 8) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.
