Golden Glove Fight Contest

CONTESTANTS MEET AT BOYNE CITY JAN. 28 - FEB. 1 INCLUSIVE

Golden glove fighters have only a few weeks left to complete training for the Northern Michigan Golden Glove tournaments to be held at Boyne City, Jan. 28, 29, and Feb. 1.

Five northern Michigan communities have already entered teams in the event which is being resumed this year after a war time lay-off. Contestants who compete in the finals successfully will be sent to the state tournament at Grand Rapids, without the necessity of fighting through any sub-tournaments.

Entry blanks for the tournament may be secured at the Charlevoix County Herald office. Charles Denis, manager of the East Jordan American Legion Team announces that his squad is getting in good shape for the tournament and that he expects to have 10 men competing.

It is now Postmaster Thomas St. Charles. For some 2 1/2 years Tom has been acting postmaster, but the U. S. Senate confirmed his appointment first of the week, so it is now Postmaster St. Charles.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Through error, names of two of the bearers at the funeral of Mrs. Lovina Brintsall were left out. The names omitted were Albert Lenosky and Wm. Zoulek.

WITH THE ANTRIM COUNTY AGR'L AGENT

W. Kirkpatrick, Extension Agent

ANTRIM COUNTY ONE OF SEVERAL PICKED FOR SURVEY

Antrim county has been designated as one of twenty-two in Michigan to be included in the Nationwide Survey of Agriculture, being conducted the last half of January, states Walter Kirkpatrick, County Agricultural Agent.

This survey is being conducted by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics and sixteen thousand farmers in the United States are being interviewed. Only about twenty-five farms in the county will be contacted.

These reports will provide a basic agricultural estimates that will be useful to farmers, agricultural colleges and experiment stations as research material, and to others interested in production and distribution of agricultural products. Individual reports will be kept strictly confidential.

Fred Palling of Bellaire is assisting the Bureau of Economics in this survey. Farmers contacted are asked to cooperate with Mr. Palling in supplying needed information.

Disabled Veterans May Accept Any Job

Disabled veterans may accept any job or position and still receive full benefits for service-connected permanent disabilities, according to a statement by VA Administrator General Omar N. Bradley.

In an effort to combat misleading information, General Bradley said: "From time to time false information has been given to veterans with service-connected disabilities in our hospitals that the veterans is liable to suffer a reduction in his compensation if he takes a position and receives remuneration for it. This is untrue. Any handicapped veteran with a service-connected disability may take a position and receive pay for it and still receive full benefits for his permanent disability. The basic statutes and regulation specifically provide that there shall be no reduction in the rate of compensation for individual success in overcoming the handicap of an injury."

Many veterans are holding full-time jobs in factories or the professions and, at the same time, are receiving full benefits for their disabilities. General Bradley urged veterans now in hospitals to become job-holders when their condition permits.

Disabled veterans filing disability claims should be reminded that payment on a disability claim begins from the date of the veteran's separation from the armed forces provided a claim is filed within one year from that date. Payment on an award claim is filed after the one-year period starts from the date the claim originally is filed.

AN APPRECIATION

I wish to thank the voters of Jordan Township for their support they have given me for the past years in Township elections. But I am not a candidate for no office this year.

Geo. W. Stanek, Clerk of Jordan Twp.

Thrill To Milton Caniff's New Comic, In The Detroit Times

Excitement galore! Fun and plenty of it! You'll find it in "STEVE CANYON", Milton Caniff's new comic. Follow the weekday version in The Daily Detroit Times, and see "Steve Canyon", in Full Color, in "Puck", the Comic Weekly, which comes each week with the Detroit Sunday Times.

C. L. Brody Says Farmers Benefit By Organization

The Farm Bureau Roll Call campaign for membership planned by farmers of Antrim County which has just ended provided an opportunity for hundreds of additional farm families to enlist their interest and influence with nearly a million of the best farm people in all sections of the United States, including over 46,000 farm families in Michigan.

We are approaching a period of very unsettled postwar conditions. National and international developments concern the farmers as never before. There has never been a time when he has been confronted with more important state and local problems.

The interest of agriculture are involved with relationships with other powerfully organized groups extending from the community, through the county, state national and foreign spheres of influence. The time is long past when the welfare of the farm family could be adequately safeguarded through neighborhood and community co-operation alone.

The situation now requires the thousands of farm units in the state and nation to unite their influence and co-operation through their community and county Farm Bureau into state, national and international agencies. These must be continuously active in voicing and safeguarding the interests of agriculture and extending their co-operation with other groups in the interests of national and world welfare.

The very foundation for this great program and the source of all its power has its inception in the thousands of individual Farm Bureau membership over the entire nation.

Therefore, this roll-call afforded a greater opportunity and was faced by heavier responsibilities than ever before. Last year, due to unselfish efforts of 5,000 men and women from the farms of Michigan, almost 46,000 farm families were enrolled as Farm Bureau members. To achieve the larger program being demanded to meet the greater and more extensive problems and responsibilities confronting agriculture, we must reach our still higher goal this year which in Antrim County was 409 members and for the state is 51,500. Our contribution to this larger objective is of serious concern to citizens in all walks of life as well as to the farmer himself. It warrants the co-operation and aggressive efforts of all the farm people of Michigan. — C. L. Brody

YOU SHOULD KNOW YOUR RADIO!

by T. M. Luxford

For two weeks now our transmitter has been off the air. I thought it might be a good idea to give you a chance to tune in some outside stations. Wouldn't you have been surprised to have seen me over at the Chicago Tribune office writing a few articles? So would the Chicago Tribune. The truth of the matter is that, after a combined business and pleasure trip south, I didn't get my copy into Paul in time, and besides, I met an old friend: Mr. M. A. Germ. He's the type I wouldn't want to introduce to you. He's the pathogenic variety. A pathogenic germ is one that isn't interested in a 40 hour week. He'll work a 24 hour day and 7days a week without batting an eye. He had his pals along and they worked on me. I wished they had belonged to the UMW and I would have had John L. Lewis call a strike, but they are not unionized. Finally my attorney, a well-known Mr. Aspirin, talked into moving on to another job. I hope they didn't come your way.

It's been so quiet lying around in bed I'm ready for some noise, which reminds me that radio noise would be a good topic to discuss. This will be a long one and will be continued for several weeks. I am going to be very serious about it and if you follow this series carefully, I think we might end up by all of us doing himself and the other fellow a lot of good.

There is too much noise in this community, the larger percentage of which could be eliminated. Where electric power is available and large quantities of electrical equipment and appliances are used, radio noises are a natural result. Before we go into the discussion of what to do to correct it, you should be given a little education in these noises because you are going to help in getting rid of some of them.

Starting next week you and I will go into this noise proposition. It isn't from any attitude of egotism that I ask you to follow through this series with me. It is simply because I know that if we all pull together we can enjoy much better radio reception in this entire community. Remember, now, we start school next week. Will you have an apple for the teacher?

Car Owners Must Park off Highways

The County Road Commission issued a complaint this week and an order that car owners must park their cars off the highways when leaving them along roads.

Not only have the county trucks been hampered in their snow plowing operations by cars left along the roads, but in some cases where cars were parked on both sides of the highway, the big plows were not able to get through between them.

Before police action is taken to keep the roads open, drivers are being asked to cooperate with the County Road Commission by parking their cars as far off the highways as possible and in places where their presence will not interfere with passage of the plows.

Strout Agency Report On Recent Sales

Wm. Tindall local Strout Real estate Agent, reports the following sales recently completed, to finish out the 1946 season.

The Kurt Kobernich farm in Bay, to Mr. and Mrs. Erol W. Beck of Battle Creek, who have taken possession and are making extensive improvements.
The Gordon Lashbrook farm, also in Bay to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Drezwan of Roseville, Michigan, who have taken possession.

The James Anderson property in Boyne City, to Mr. and Mrs. D. Killaine of Pontiac, who own a summer home at Spring Water Beach.

The Thomas Beck cottage and grounds on Lake Shore Drive to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hoyt of Belleville, who expect to develop this property.
The Celina Wurn property, also on Lake Shore Drive, to Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Hillock of Flint.

The Harry McQuiston property at Far View Beach Resort to Mr. and Mrs. Ira A. Bailey, also of Flint.
The Old W. H. Dyre place in Evangeline, now owned by E. C. Lyon of Memphis, Tenn., to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd O. Griffin of Boyne City.

This has been by far our best season, in the ten years with this Company, the largest real estate selling organization in the United States, with over five hundred Agencies. Sales for the first eleven months of 1946 were nearly six thousand. Farm values are the highest since 1920, but at that time farm buying was largely speculative, many farms were sold on contract with down payments running as low as ten percent. Today is a healthier market, our buyers are people who want farms for their own use and are paying mostly from fifty percent down to all cash.

Of the many people who have purchased through our Agency nearly all are still satisfied residents here. This Agencies sales will compare favorably with any in the whole country. We have a large sales list can always use more, have a number of good prospects lined up for the coming season.

There is no territory in better favor, with such sections as Detroit and vicinity, southern Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

We appreciate the support given us by our local Banks and various business places. We always try to cater to the better class prospects. We wish to thank any and all who helped in any way to make it pleasant for our many new comers. We are always at the service of both buyer and seller. Best wishes for a Happy and prosperous 1947. Yours Very Respectfully, The E. A. STROUT REAL ESTATE AGENCY.
2-1 Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Tindall

Mexico — Campbell.
River Bok of Kashmir: Story of India.
Vagabonds all — Seth-Smith: Historical story of 1608 England.
Star, story of an Indian pony.
Mrs. Mallard's ducklings — Dala-field.

Opening Number January 22nd

INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL UNDERSTANDING, SPONSORED BY E. J. ROTARY CIUB

Plans for the Institute of International Understanding, sponsored by the Rotary Club of East Jordan, have been definitely completed, according to Robt. Campbell, Chairman of the Club's Institute committee. The first forum will be held in the High School on January 22. Opening the series of four weekly addresses will be Major Alpheus "Speed" the Chandler, whose discussion topic will be "Ten-Mile-a-Minute Travel."

In addition to his address at the public forum on Wednesday evening, "Speed" Chandler will talk to the students of the High School that afternoon.

During the past ten years, more than 2,000 Institutes of International Understanding have been sponsored by Rotary Clubs in the United States and Canada. Through these Institutes, an effort has been made to bring to individuals and to communities an appreciation of the problems rising because of the shrinking world and to give them factual background information on current world events.

Tickets at $2.00 for the four lectures may be obtained at the State Bank and the Recreation.

The other three programs are scheduled for January 29th, February 5th, and February 12th. "Is Cooperation Possible" will be the general theme of each of the four Institute discussions.

Wesley's Shop Changes To New Owners

Mrs. Naomi Wesley has sold her Dress and Gift Shop to Mr. and Mrs. Roland Desjardines of near East Jordan and the new owners are now in possession. Mrs. Wesley has figured for some time that it was too much for one person to handle alone.

The Herald regrets Mrs. Wesley's relinquishing the ownership and wish the new owners continued success in the business.

Lt. Cdr. Gilbert Joynt Receives Permanent Citation for Gold Star

Lieutenant Commander Gilbert Joynt has received his permanent citation for his Gold Star in lieu of the second Distinguished Flying Cross from the Secretary of Navy James Forrostral, for the President.

Lt. Cdr. Joynt, who has been released for inactive duty, earned his award as pilot of a fighter plane in Fighting Squadron 3, attached to the USS Yorktown, in action against enemy Japanese forces in the vicinity of French Indo China. Text of full citation is as follows:—

"For heroic and extraordinary achievement in aerial flight on pilot of a fighter plane in Fighting Squadron 2, attached to the USS Yorktown, in action against enemy Japanese forces in the vicinity of French Indo China, on Jan. 12, 1945. Participating in a strike against hostile shipping, Lt. Cdr. Joynt scored two direct rocket hits to explode and sink an enemy freighter transport, thereby contributing to the success of the mission. By his skill as an airman and devotion to duty, Lt. Cdr. Joynt upheld the highest tradition of the United States Naval Service."

Smith — Stone

Margaret Jane Smith chose a gown of white duchess satin for her marriage to James Healey Stone Saturday, Dec. 28, 1946. A small bonnet of lace and satin held her long veil in place. She carried a cascade arrangement of white spray orchids. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William H. Smith of Burlingame Ave, Detroit, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ferris D. Stone of Buckingham Road, Grosse Pointe.

Blessed Sacrament Cathedral, Detroit, was the scene of the morning rites. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Allen J. Babcock officiated.

The bride's sister, Mrs. George H. Donehue, of Boston, was matron of honor. Another sister, Mrs. Louis H. Lisdeman and Julia Stone, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. All were gowned alike in gold faille and wore matching crownless hats and carried bouquets of poinsettias and pine.

Fred Stone was his brother's best man.

Breakfast for the immediate families followed at the Detroit Golf Club. After a honeymoon in the east they will make their home on Etnore drive.

The groom is a brother of Mrs. Wm. E. Malpass III and has spent several summers here at the Ferris D. Stone home on Winter St.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

GOP Takes Over 80th Congress; President Cuts Wartime Powers; Industrial Pay Reaches Peak

Released by Western Newspaper Union

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Opening of 80th congress saw Republican majority in limelight. At top, Senators Vandenberg (Mich.), Wherry (Neb.) and White (Me.) In middle, Senators Robertson (Wyo.), Bricker (Ohio) and Taft (Ohio). Bottom, Senators Cain (Wash.), Thyne (Minn.) and McCarthy (Wis.).

CONGRESS: Ready to Go

Taxes and labor legislation were scheduled for early consideration as the 80th congress convened under Republican leadership.

Veteran GOP luminaries held the reins as the session got underway. While seniority was acknowledged in the naming of the party's congressional command, the men named have proven their mettle in legislative wars and qualify for the positions.

One of the outstanding figures in the bi-partisan foreign policy developed by Secretary of State Byrnes, Arthur Vandenberg (Mich.) was the choice for president pro tem of the senate. Quiet, able Wallace White (Me.) took over the majority leadership of the senate while aggressive, conservative Kenneth Wherry (Neb.) was in line as the party whip in the upper chamber.

Joe Martin (Mass.) was the unanimous choice for speaker of the house but a battle developed for the majority leadership between the Taft and Dewey forces. Although charged with being a Dewey man, Charles A. Halleck (Ind.) vowed impartiality and obtained the position after a brief struggle. It is within the power of a majority leader to advance or push certain legislation, hence the importance of the post to factions seeking to build up their prestige.

LIVESTOCK: Halt Mexican Imports

Veterinarians were scheduled to check every Mexican animal imported into the U. S. since reopening of the border October 17 for the dreaded hoof and mouth disease following reports that the malady had broken out in three Mexican states.

At the same time, Republican congressmen revealed their intention to probe President Truman's reopening of the border last fall in the effort to provide additional livestock to relieve the acute meat famine then prevailing. It was charged that Mexico never has eradicated the disease because of lax supervision of imports from other South American countries afflicted with the sickness.

Of seven outbreaks of the hoof and mouth disease in the U. S. since 1870, the last two occurred in 1924. Highly communicable, hoof and mouth disease blisters the feet and mouth of cattle, affecting their ability to move freely and eat normally.

WHITE HOUSE: Steals Thunder

Beating congress to the punch, President Truman officially proclaimed the end of hostilities to terminate government powers under 20 laws and mark 33 others for expiration within six months to five years. Loosely, the period of hostilities is supposed to cover actual fighting.

Mr. Truman did not call for an immediate cessation of the states of emergency proclaimed in 1939 and 1941 nor of the state of war, revealing that he would recommend action on these measures to congress.

POWER: Increase Service

The year 1946 was a period of phenomenal growth in the electric utility industry in the number of customers served, with nearly 2,000,000 new customers added.

Another high record established in 1946 was the increase of 100 kilowatt hours in average residential consumption of electricity to set an all time high average of 1,330 kilowatt hours used per customer.

POTATOES: Huge Loss

As much as 20 million bushels of government-owned potatoes may go to waste following U. S. support of the 1946 crop in the face of a sagging market.

Originally, the government held title to 100 million bushels as the result of a bumper harvest. Making good on its agreement to maintain prices at least 90 per cent of parity, the U. S. bought substantial stocks and covered other commitments with loans, redeemable if the market rose. The huge waste is expected to follow from rotting of the potatoes in inadequate storage on the farms.

To escape total loss, the government resold millions of bushels to distillers and livestock feeders at bargain prices. Distillers of beverage and industrial alcohol bought over 26 million bushels. About 525,000 bushels were resold for export to famine areas, with the amount held down by perishability and high transport costs.

Public institutions and school lunch programs received about one million bushels of the surplus potatoes free.

U. N.: Pursue Disarmament

The question of disarmament proceeded on its labyrinthine course in the United Nations.

As a struggle shaped over formulation of an atomic control measure, the Russians asked the 11-nation security council to proceed full steam ahead on disarmament without waiting for final action on nuclear energy. Declaring that disarmament is the most important factor for strengthening peace and security, the Reds called for an agreement within three months at the latest.

Meanwhile, the pesky question of the veto snagged deliberations on control of atomic energy. While the United Nations' atomic energy commission approved of the U. S. plan and sent it to the security council to be worked out, Russia expressed opposition to the provision that no Big Five power be permitted to apply the veto to escape punishment for violating regulations. Since the Reds can use the veto in shaping control in the council, however, prolonged discussions loomed.

HOUSE: Assail Reds

Noting a softening in the Russian attitude following U. S. implementation of a "get tough" policy with the Soviets, the special house committee on postwar economic planning headed by Representative Colmer (Dem., Miss.) and dominated by Democrats, urged a further tightening of relations with Moscow until it meets its international obligations and agrees to full control of atomic energy.

Drawn after a group of committee members had toured Europe, Russia and the Middle East, the report declared that an affirmation of reports that the Soviets were using German plants for rearming would justify a renunciation of the Potsdam agreement and a demand for the Communists to vacate the eastern occupation zone. Pointing up Russian rearmament policies, the report stated that the Soviets were concentrating on development of heavy industry convertible for war in their new five year plan.

Until the Russians agreed to play ball with the Allies, the committee recommended that the U. S. withhold appreciable financial assistance from the Soviets, curb the extension of technical assistance and industrial exports, and license the sales of American firms to the Reds.

COLLEGE: Peak Enrollment

Taking full advantage of the G. I. bill of rights, vets constitute a large percentage of undergraduates attending educational institutions, a survey of 688 universities and colleges disclosed.

Compiled by Dr. Raymond Walters, president of the University of Cincinnati, the study showed that of 1,718,862 students at the 688 schools, 714,477 were ex G. I.s. In addition, 150,000 vets were enrolled at 650 junior colleges and thousands more at several hundred other schools, bringing the grand total of G. I.s to slightly more than half of 2,000,000 students.

With ambitious vets availing themselves of generous educational opportunities, current full-time enrollments at the 688 top universities and colleges are at peak levels, the survey showed. Roughly, they are 57 per cent above the 1939 figure and twice that of 1945. Two men are enrolled to every woman whereas the wartime ratio was three women to two men.

DEBT: War Tells

Showing the effects of total war, the nation's indebtedness stood at 400.5 billion dollars at the end of 1945, according to a survey of the department of commerce.

While total debt doubled during the 1941-'45 period, federal debt jumped five times. In 1945 alone, federal debt rose 42 billion dollars while state, municipal and private obligations declined 7 billion.

Colorful Seminoles Cling To Ancient Tribal Customs

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

(This is the first of two articles on the effect of postwar conditions on the most misunderstood of American citizens—the Seminole Indians, with Mr. Baukhage reporting from first-hand observation.)

Somewhere North of the Everglades:—The sun is setting over flat stretches of saw-grass, making a feathered silhouette of cabbage palms on the far horizon, dropping a tint of lilac among the water hyacinth in the pond at my feet where lazy, hump shouldered Brahman cattle cool themselves. Rigid white cranes stand undisturbed by us. Above, great hawks wheel and, as we pass, a bevy of snipe rises like black and white confetti tossed in the air by a giant hand.

Back at the turn of the road that leads to the attractive headquarters building of the Brighton Seminole Indian reservation, smoke curls up from beneath a fire of logs in a palmetto thatched cooking "chikee" of one of the Seminole camps. Here live three generations of a single family group—yet a fairly large segment of the entire Seminole nation, for there are only 625 of them in all Florida.

Like most tourists when I first came to Florida, I was startled to meet face to face these women in their gayly colored skirts, their high bead collars, their astounding hair dress; the men, less gayly clad but still with their gay kerchiefs and cowboy hats; the solemn children, replicas of their mothers in their its and customs of the Seminole in this short span as have the weight of economic conditions—the depression followed by the high demand for labor during prewar and war periods.

For more than three quarters of a century no Seminole has owned land, his possessions were limited to a few cattle and hogs running wild in the swamps, and to what personal property he could store under the palmetto roof of his open-faced hut in the Everglades. Today there are three reservations. William Boehmer, Indian agent at Brighton, saw that venture rise from its inception. He tells me every family on that reservation owns a car and one family boasts five.

Radios are common as are electric flashlights and kerosene lanterns, some knives and forks and other practical gadgets and a lot of store food and canned goods. However, there has been no change in housing styles. Before the original deal was closed in 1938, one of the Seminole leaders first made sure that living habits should not be interfered with. He was quoted as saying:

"Indians must live in air and sunshine. Must dress as their fathers dress."

But additional opportunity for employment has brought about a desire for an education. As nearly as I could learn, education to the Seminole means learning to speak English and perhaps to read and write it. Because the Seminoles are naturally intelligent, it is no trick for them to learn if they want to. But the labor demand likewise has interfered with the process. When the family gets a special job picking tomatoes the children go along and pick, too. There are no penalties for being absent from school.

With the shortage of teachers of every kind it is unlikely that the

It is hard to believe that these gayly clad yet modest folk, so unwarlike that only three (so far as I know) enlisted in World War II and none were drafted, once defeated the United States forces in three wars stretching from the time of the Revolution until almost the end of the last century.

By then, with their Chief Osceola tricked into capture while at a peace parley, all but 150 of the Seminoles were dead or had yielded to mass deportation to the West. But the 150 never gave in. Because of that fact the tradition has grown that they are still at war with the United States.

It is true that no formal peace treaty ever was signed—they have had no chief since Osceola died in captivity—but the Seminoles have full citizenship. However, they made their first formal and voluntary move toward reconciliation and cooperation in 1938. A group of Seminole leaders, meeting with American officials in the Everglades, then asked the government for schools, hospitals and better horses and cattle.

A program immediately was drawn up and entered into with good will on both sides, but it is a question whether this step has had as much influence on the life and hab-

LARGE FIELD OF CANDIDATES LOOMS FOR GOP NOMINATION

WASHINGTON.—Tom Dewey has been running off with the publicity for the 1948 presidential nomination—while issuing denial of intent. His spectacular victory in the nation's strongest political state has brought him even into the feminine gossip columns, where it is being reported he is the best Republican vote getter. Higher up some of the leaders are saying his nomination and election are already a foregone conclusion.

But this does not happen to be the case. Dewey is not the best Republican vote getter. Those Republicans, who are finepointers, have figured that Bricker of Ohio received 59.91 per cent of the vote in his home state; Martin 59.81 per cent; while Dewey received 56.60 per cent. (But Warren of California got nearly all.)

Nor is Dewey's titular leadership actual. The working leaders of the party really are Vandenberg on foreign policy and Taft on domestic policy. This may or may not turn out to Dewey's advantage. While he sits in Albany taking a stand only necessarily on the issues of the state, Vandenberg will be mostly at the United Nations the next two years taking a stand on every international issue which comes along. Similarly, Taft, in the senate, will be required to act daily on economic issues of the day. In the past, the positions occupied by Vandenberg and Taft have been considered by politicians to be detrimental. Usually in such positions, men accumulate too much opposition in time, and the nomination goes to a governor (Landon and Dewey) or to an outsider (Willkie) against whom not much can be said.

But we are in an atomic era now. We are seeking progress toward peace and production. If the active Republican leadership should succeed in delivering one or both, the step from the senate to the White House might be shorter than that from Albany.

Vandenberg already has been announced as the next president by the governor-elect of Michigan—although he renounced intent also. Taft is in an excellent tactical position since he has retired from the last race in favor of Bricker (who now has similarly bowed in favor of Taft). And of course Warren of California, Martin of Pennsylvania, Stassen of Minnesota (an announced candidate) and Martin of Massachusetts, may be running along with some others who could make it a close fight. Thus my present conclusion is that the chances of Vandenberg and Taft, if added together, are certainly much better than Dewey's. Unless they kill each other off, or split, they could beat him today.

Biggest strictly political news of the elections was the breakdown of the Democratic city machines. Those machines, plus the South, were the Democratic party. But Kelley is clinging to Chicago (only by a clutch on his own hair (he lost half the most important Cook county offices), having delivered the next mayoralty race to an antagonistic Democratic leadership. Dewey did not similarly crack the Tammany machine in New York, but a Republican presidential candidate might. The Hague leadership went further toward inconsequence in New Jersey, and the Republicans carried Boston for the third time in history.

So the Republican race now is hearing the bugle, with the knowledge that its nominee likely will win the White House—and the race is wide open.

The various candidates today control so many divisions of the vote no one would have a nominating majority. Warren will have the Pacific coast and probably Rocky Mountain area, Vandenberg and Taft will divide the Midwest, and Dewey can get a substantial following in the East and South, although the big Pennsylvania delegation would be for Martin. If Taft and Vandenberg get together, one might win; if a deadlock ensues, the nomination would go to someone like the popular Warren of California or Martin of Pennsylvania, with Dewey theoretically looming large in the background, but perhaps not as large as the Ohio group which could nearly run the party if it works Washington things right.

Personally I am saving my money and marking all Republican presidential stories now down to publicity.

LABOR CURBS LIKELY

Numerous Republican comments have leaned lightly, or not at all, on the prospect of labor legislation growing out of the Republican majority in congress. While the avenues of public discussion in press and radio have concerned themselves particularly about legislation to curb unions, official Republican sources have been notably quiet. Programs of proposed action had been laid down by various groups, but the senators who will do the job have not been talking aloud.

INSTRUMENT OF MERCY . . . A hundred and fifty thousand dimes, contributed in the 1946 March of Dimes, paid for the fully equipped mobile emergency unit, three views of which are shown above. In addition to moving emergency patients, the unit serves as a training center and auxiliary hospital facility when needed. The unit proved its worth during the severe epidemic last summer.

CEASELESS WAR

High Polio Toll Gives Impetus To March of Dimes Campaign

WNU Features.

With latest reports compiled by National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis indicating that the year 1946 witnessed the most severe epidemic of polio in the history of the foundation, concerted effort is being centered on the 1947 March of Dimes which opened throughout the nation on January 15.

The national foundation, spearhead organization in the ceaseless war against the great crippler, is directing agency for the annual March of Dimes campaign. The drive will be concluded January 30.

Heavy expenditures resulting from the nationwide 1946 epidemic have dipped deeply into the foundation's funds, directors assert in urging generous support for the 1947 solicitation to provide means for coping with any emergency in the future. The March of Dimes, they add, is the only method employed by the foundation to raise money to finance its many activities.

Fatalities Decline.

Figures compiled by the foundation disclose that in 1946 there were more than 24,000 cases of infantile paralysis, with fatalities running between 5 and 10 per cent. In the year 1916, before the foundation was organized, the greatest polio epidemic in history was recorded. That year 27,363 cases were reported by 28 states, fatalities running as high as 25 per cent.

The sharp decrease in fatalities is attributed in part to the persistent educational program waged since the foundation was started in 1938, which brought about better diagnosis and early hospitalization. At the same time improved therapeutic methods were credited with prevention of many cases of permanent crippling.

Hardest hit during 1946, according to foundation figures, was the Mississippi valley region, where Minnesota headed the list of heavily hit states with a total of 2,813 cases. However, Florida on the east coast and California on the west coast, also were seriously affected, and other widely scattered regions were hard hit as well.

Adhering to its policy of leaving half of all funds collected during the March of Dimes with its local county chapters, the foundation left more than eight million dollars with these chapters during January, 1946. Up to November 1, more than 360 of these chapters had entirely depleted their shares of this fund and had to call upon the foundation for help. This help reached the sum of more than four million dollars.

Emphasize Research.

Besides supplying local chapters with emergency funds the foundation used its share of March of Dimes collections in furthering a concentrated and widespread program of research into causes and possible cures of the malady, and in training doctors, physical therapists, epidemiologists and other "front line" soldiers in the war against polio. A considerable amount also was spent on public education, and during 1946 more than six million pieces of literature on the disease were distributed free. During the last fiscal year nearly two million dollars was expended for research activities.

The foundation emphasizes that no victim of polio, regardless of age, race, creed or color, need go without the best available care through lack of funds.

Infantile paralysis, the statement points out, is among the most unpredictable of diseases. No one knows when or where it will strike—but until research finally finds the answers to many puzzling questions still obscured, there is one sure thing about polio—and that is that it will strike.

No Group Immune.

Despite its name, it can strike and has struck persons of all age groups, although the age group five to nine appears to be most susceptible. Boys seem to be slightly more susceptible than girls, and there is no evidence to show that any one race is more immune to its ravages than any other.

What is important at this stage, the report says, is that a doctor be consulted as soon as the disease is suspected—and sometimes the symptoms so closely resemble those of a common cold that no chances should be taken. Early diagnosis and hospitalization may prevent death or permanent crippling, the report stresses, and the early services of a competent medical man are absolutely essential.

In discussing the future, the report expresses confidence that the cause and a prevention of the dread crippler will be found. In the meantime, it is pointed out, the public has every assurance that March of Dimes funds, distributed by local chapters in their territories, have made possible the best available care and purchased the most up-to-date equipment regardless of cost, so that any foreseeable exigency can be met.

Aid is Assured.

Behind the local chapters stands the national foundation, carrying on its program of public education and research, and ready to send aid to any county which may deplete its funds through unusual epidemic conditions.

The work will go on, the foundation promises. Funds collected during the 1947 March of Dimes will replenish exhausted treasuries so that when the 1947 polio season rolls around—sometime in the late spring and through the summer—the nation will be ready.

RELIEF FROM CAMPUS GRIND

College Students Given 'Time To Think'

CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA.—Coe college students in the future will be given "time to think!"

A day off "now and then" will be granted so students can study, talk to their teachers or "just sit and think through" some of their academic and social problems, it was announced by Byron Hollingshead, young president of the local college.

Faculty members will stick around the campus for informal conferences, "preferably over a cup of coffee in the grill," Hollingshead said. Library and reference rooms will remain open. The day will be selected well in advance by the faculty executive committee and the student council.

Averting that "right now modern education defeats its own purpose," the young educator declared:

"It's impossible to get an education in the modern colleges because the colleges make it impossible by rushing the student through the curriculum."

The average college, he insisted, is cursed by "entirely too much teaching and too little learning."

"It's about time we gave our students a chance to sit back and think about what they're told," he added.

Further relief from the campus grind also is assured Coe students. Administrators hope eventually to give them a week's vacation from classes when it counts the most—right before final exams.

New Device Tests Drunk Drivers

EAST LANSING, MICH.—Latest device introduced by Michigan state police in an attempt to curb highway accidents is an "intoximeter," an on-the-spot, roadside chemical test for drunk drivers.

All patrol cars in the state will be equipped with the newly-developed device by mid-March, according to Capt. Caesar J. Scavadara, head of the state police traffic division.

The device has a two-fold purpose: To eliminate miscarriages of justice resulting when persons are charged with drunk driving because they are sick, injured or have taken drugs; and to provide police with a "foolproof" method of proving intoxication.

The intoximeter, enclosed in a small cardboard cylinder, permits a police officer to make an on-the-spot test for intoxication subject to later check by a technician.

The motorist or pedestrian involved in an accident or giving signs of intoxication blows up a small rubber balloon attached to the device, the officer clicking the time required for a red fluid in a glass tube to become colorless.

Longer Life Pays Cash Dividends

CHICAGO.—Man's never-ending quest for long life is paying dividends—in cash, according to Frank G. Dickinson, economist and statistician for American Medical Association.

In contrast to the heyday of the Roman Empire, when anyone 35 or 40 was considered "old," life expectancy in the United States has jumped from 49 in 1900 to 65 in 1946.

The advance is credited by Dickinson to modern medicine, better food and improved housing.

In 1900, Dickinson points out, the average man of 20, earning $1,250 annually, could have valued his lifetime earnings at $27,400. In 1940 he could place a value of $29,900 on his prospective earnings.

Prospective earnings for a man of 35 increased from $25,000 to $38,200 during the same period.

Huge Plastic Buffalo Planned as Memorial

CODY, WYO.—As a memorial to Buffalo Bill, a mammoth plastic buffalo one day may be erected atop Cedar mountain here. Sculptor Lawrence Tenny Stevens says he plans to build a buffalo standing 150 or 200 feet high on the mountain in memory of the famed scout. Inside the body will be an elevator, lunch room, curio shop and perhaps a cocktail lounge, the sculptor adds.

HOUSEHOLD TIPS

To cook macaroni or spaghetti without constant watching or stirring, place it in a colander and then lower the colander into a kettle of salted, boiling water.

Flavor for the soup. Put onion and spices into tea ball holder that may easily be lifted out when the broth is full-flavored.

When ironing clothes, place several drops of cologne on your ironing board cover. Then as you iron, the cologne aroma will be absorbed by hankies and blouses.

Oatmeal cooked with molasses in the water makes a tasty cereal rich in iron and saves sugar.

To perk up frayed blankets, why not rip off the old binding? Buy several yards of sprigged sateen ribbon that costs but a few cents at the dime store. Choose it in a contrasting color and stitch it on to give your blankets new life.

Spices lose strength rapidly in a paper container, so empty promptly into a small glass jar. Use a screw top jar.

PENINSULA...

(Edited by Mrs. E. Hayden)

The snowplow went through the Ridgeroad Wednesday and we got our mail the regular way Thursday, the first time last week, then the mail carrier, Walter Davis, had an awful time getting through.

When the school bus did not make the ridge as expected Thursday a. m. Orvel Bennett cranked up his car and took his young folks to school.

Miss Beverly Bennett who had been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orvel Bennett and family for a week, was snowed in Monday, but walked out to Kid Corners and took a car from there to Charlevoix to take the bus for Chicago, Tuesday. She is a teletypist.

The farmers are showing some gains. Orvel Bennett got his new International H Tractor, Friday, and F. K. Hayden of Pleasant View farm a new electric refrigerator Saturday. Adam Sinclair of East Jordan installed it Sunday, and had dinner with the Haydens at Pleasant View.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Arnott of near East Jordan called at Orchard Hill, also at Maple Row farm, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cowen and Mr. John Prine of Petoskey spent Sunday afternoon with the Clayton Healey family at Willow Brook farm.

Miss Arlene Hayden of Charlevoix spent Thursday night with her parents and family at Pleasant View farm making the trip around by East Jordan with Mrs. Virginia Rounds who is employed at the same place. They got stuck in the snow and run out of gas and had to be towed up Bunker Hill and had a trip to talk about. Mrs. Rounds took her back the same way Wednesday a. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Healey of Far View farm are planning to leave Thursday for Battle Creek where they plan to join Mrs. Healey's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ketchener, and go from there in a house trailer to Kissamee, Fla. They plan to stay until the middle of March.

Fitch Tooley of Lake Shore Dr. is improving the Far View farm residence by glassing in the east porch.

Mrs. Robert Myers and daughter Eleanor of Mountain Dist. called on the David and Will Gaunt families in Three Bells Dist., Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. David Johnston of Cadillac came Saturday a. m. and took his mother, Mrs. Anna Johnston, who has been stopping with the Gaunt families in Three Bells Dist. for several weeks, to Cadillac with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arnott and family of Maple Row farm were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Arnott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Loomis and son Clare at Gravel Hill, north side, observing Mrs. Arnott's birthday anniversary which was Saturday.

Eveline Twp. Treasurer Christina Loomis, was snowed in and had to get a car to take her from the Star Community Building to Ironton, Monday a. m. to collect taxes, and was unable to get to Gravel Hill, so went right on to Advance where she stayed Monday night with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Sweet and collected taxes in Advance, Tuesday. The snow plow opened the road so she got home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Hayden and family of Pleasant View farm spent Saturday evening with the Charles Arnott family at Maple Row farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewie Kitson and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Reich and son Donald of Advance visited the A. Reich family at Lone Ash farm, Sunday.

We had a little thaw Saturday, and the snow settled some, and a pleasant week end, the first for several weeks.

(Delayed from last week)
Because of the Saturday storm and no snow plow out, there was no session at the Star Sunday School, Jan. 5.

SOUTH ARM...

(Edited by Mrs. Arnold Smith)

Mr. and Mrs. Jim McClanathan and family were New Year's dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brock of Atwood.

Richard Russell a-s, stationed in Great Lakes, arrived home for the holidays. He returned to camp Sunday.

Miss Leona VanDerventer spent New Year's dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Danforth and family.

Johnny Vallance, Thelma Saunders, Sunny Williams, Jane Orvis, Ricky Russell a-s and Jeanne Russell attended a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Russell New Year's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brock and family called on Mr. and Mrs. Jake Brock and family Saturday evening.

Mary and Anna Brock returned home Sunday after spending a week in Detroit.

The Rock Elm Grange held their annual New Year's dinner, Wednesday. To start the New Year right, the men did the dishes. The usual Thursday evening meeting was held Wednesday afternoon while all were present.

Mr. and Mrs. John Knudsen and daughter Rena spent Christmas week in Detroit. Mrs. Lyle Walker accompanied them as far as Flint. They returned Monday.

A surprise house warming was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Nachazel Friday evening. ### Narrowly Escape Drowning In Lake Charlevoix

A "lucky" accident happened Wednesday afternoon which might have ended in a fatality. Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Brown—the ice man—were fishing in a shanty near the Bridge. Their daughter, Marlene, age 9 years started to go out to the shanty part way between the city dock and bridge and where the river's current made the ice thin. She fell in the icy water and yelled for help. Mr. and Mrs. Brown came to her assistance when they both fell in the water. Fortunately nearby fishermen saw the commotion, got a rope and pulled the badly wet and cold people to safety.

WILSON....

(Edited by Mrs. Selma Eggersdorf)

Services at Christ Lutheran Church were held again Sunday with a good attendance. Regular quarterly meeting was held. Henry Korhase was elected as our new Treasurer, to fill the vacancy left by Harry Behling.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dougherty spent Sunday with his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Behling.

Albert and Bob Behling took a truck load of potatoes to Grand Rapids Thursday visiting with their sister Louise and came home Friday.

Mr. Wm. Peterson has gone across the Straits to spend a few weeks with his brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Knop and son, Orville Nelson spent Sunday evening with his sister, Mrs. Charles Reidel and family.

The Aid society of our Lutheran church was held with Mrs. Arlene Machowski, but owing to bad roads and stormy weather only eight attended the meeting. Pot luck lunch was served and a nice time enjoyed by all present.

Miss Ardith Weldy entertained several of her girl friends at her home Saturday evening with a tobogganing party and refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Weldy spent Monday evening at the Eggersdorf farm. Due to the icy roads Tuesday Morning our school bus was an hour late, but the children didn't mind waiting as the warm weather and good sliding was to their advantage.

ECHO....

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bolser spent Friday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bennett had her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Boyer and family of Ironton for Sunday dinner guests.

Mr. and Mrs. John Umlor spent Sunday afternoon visiting friends and relatives at Bellaire.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bolser were: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sommerville and children Shirley and Virgil, Keith Atkinson. Mr. and Mrs. James Folsom were afternoon visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wilmarth of Central Lake called Saturday on Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bolser.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton Handy of Detroit are spending the week at her mother's, Mrs. Ben Bolser, and brother John Umlor, and her sister at Bellaire.

Holiday entertaining has very likely left you with cranberry, candlewax and other stains on your best linens. Michigan State college home economists advise that you remove them promptly before regular laundering. Heat and soap may set stains permanently. The first step in removing food stains is scraping off any food dried on the cloth. If you use water or a grease solvent, alternately rub and sponge the fabric. Rub gently so you won't roughen the spot.

Murder in Plain Sight

by GERALD BROWN
W.N.U. FEATURES

Duke McCale, private detective, is investigating the murder of Curt Vallaincourt, who was about to marry Veronica Bigelow, heiress to thirty million dollars. She is the principal suspect. McCale uncovers a deep plot to keep control of the great fortune in the family through a deal with Vallaincourt. Shari Lynn, Vallaincourt's former wife, is shot to death. McCale is shot in the shoulder. Sybil, Veronica's mother, is slugged. Suddenly, the truth strikes McCale. Rushing out of the mansion, he approaches a man in sailor's uniform. He is Stephen Bigelow, Veronica's brother. McCale and his aids overpower him before he can shoot. Just then Donlevy drives up, and brusquely takes over.

CHAPTER XVII

Donlevy took over with a brusqueness that was unfamiliar. He herded them all into the library, where an astonished and shaking butler was fussing around Miss Adelaide. She stood, a figure of stone, drained of all animation. Her face was gray against the mantel, anguished.

"Stephen," she said in a murmur that became a cry.

The young-old face of Stephen looked half ugly, half despairing in the dim light. There was a haunted look behind his eyes. He wet his lips with the tip of his tongue. Suddenly he slumped into a chair.

"Yes," McCale said. His sophisticated mouth curled in triumph and his tone was brittle. "It was Stephen Bigelow, dressed as a sailor, whom we saw loitering about the entrance to the Common just before the murder. He looked up at the house once, remember? He must have seen us at the bay window of the drawing room, for the next time I noticed him, he was reading a paper, probably to hide his face. When Vallaincourt approached the house, he must have come across the street into the shelter of the areaway that goes under the front steps—the service entrance. When Curt was passing, he simply stepped up to him and fired point-blank."

McCale looked at Donlevy and his men, who were grouped over the crestfallen culprit. Donlevy looked up at him. It was so simple, really, now that it was explained. He did say, the ghost of derision on his lips, "Peculiar no one mentioned a sailor hanging around."

"I know," McCale answered bitterly. "My fault entirely. I pride myself on having a photographic mind, and I missed that, too. Men in the service are so common about the streets these days that they go almost unnoticed anywhere. That is where he was so clever. Who would connect a sailor with the Bigelows? One thing I should have seen, though, most certainly. I'll never forgive myself for that."

"What's that?" asked Donlevy.

McCale reached out and took the hat Stephen Bigelow had in his hand. He cocked a finger and spun the thing around like a plate.

"Well, I'll be damned," Donlevy exploded.

"I don't blame you." There was chagrin in McCale's tone. "This hat is perfectly round, which identifies it as the type worn a number of years ago. The style was changed about five years ago. The newer ones tilt up in front like a regimental officer's cap without a visor. If I'd only noticed that one thing, I'd have realized the sailor we saw was a phoney." He sighed. "It might have saved a life." He thought of Shari Lynn.

Donlevy cleared his throat. Then there was a rustle of feathers and satin at the door and Victoria whirled in. Her eyes were bright and her make-up stood out in ghastly relief against the paleness of her face. Her fingers jerked to her hair and a shriek died on her lips. Two officers moved forward automatically. She blurted some wild gibberish that foretold rising hysteria; then suddenly was quiet.

"So you did it," she said slowly. "My God, I didn't think you had the guts. You fool, you utter fool. She isn't worth it, you know—not worth it."

Stephen Goes Quietly To Prison

By this time Donlevy was rattled. He moved in on Stephen with a circle of his men. He gave the charge so low it was hardly audible. His voice dropped for an interminable minute before he stepped back. As he did, McCale saw Bigelow's jaw move, his head came up slowly. Tired, furtive eyes lit up as he looked away from the group that surrounded him. A single tear ran out of the corner of an eye.

He got to his feet, lowering his head as he slowly turned to take them all in. No one moved toward him. He gave them a contemptuous glare. Finally he turned to Victoria and spoke his last words in their presence.

"You'll tell—Mother?" His voice broke.

She nodded.

"Let's go," said Donlevy. They took him away.

They had left the Bigelow house in a storm of questions from the first reporters on the scene, in the din of explosions from photographers' flash bulbs, in the confusion of the comings and goings of officials from police headquarters and the district attorney's office. McCale was looking forward to the peace and quiet of his own apartment.

When they reached it, they found Ann Marriot dozing by the dying fire. She jumped up, smoothing ruffled hair into place.

"Well," she said tartly, "are you all right? Running around like that in your dressing gown. My goodness. That's no way to call on the Beacon Street Bigelows. It's all over, isn't it? It came over the radio about an hour ago. You would have to wrestle with murderers, wouldn't you? You sure you feel all right?" She was trying hard to cover up her concern. She had been worrying about him all evening, afraid that he might seriously harm his injured shoulder.

"I'm all right," McCale said, "but I'm still wet and very, very tired."

"Then you get into dry clothes right away. Rocky, you mix him a highball while I make coffee. While you're getting the liquid inside of you, I want to hear about everything. If you think I'm going to tuck you in and go home before I get the whole story, you are sadly mistaken. If you will go out chasing a murderer all night with a hole in your side, you'll just have to take the consequences. I'm going to ask questions if I stay here the rest of the night."

"If you keep this up, spending your nights with me the way you have been doing, you'll have to marry me to save my good name."

"Your good name. Tsk, tsk." She laughed and flounced out the door.

The three of them sat a long time over brandy and hot coffee discussing the case. After a lengthy respite, they grew silent. McCale finally spoke.

Why Sybil's Life Was Spared

"The maddening thing about it all was the motive, you see. Everyone who came under suspicion after Veronica was more or less cleared had a motive. But not different motives—they all had the same one."

"What do you mean?" Ann asked.

"Well, they were all in the plot to get Curt married to Veronica and in charge of the Bigelow millions. Then when it was discovered that he didn't intend to give them a share after all, they all had the same incentive—to keep him from getting control of it. When it was clear that they all wanted him out of the way for the same reason, it became more a matter of seeking out the person with the characteristics most suitable to committing murder."

"Bright lad," Rocky grinned. "It's a wonder you fumbled as long as you did."

McCale scowled. "Oh, I know the old one about everyone being a potential murderer. I had to nose a little closer to the ground than just accusing one right after the other. Some of them had to have a stronger motive than just money."

Call it jealousy combined with passion. Karen was the 'femme fatale,' of course. I think she knew from the first that Stephen did it. She didn't give him away, though, not until tonight. She'd even thought of helping him to run away again. That's why she drew the $800. But tonight when I asked her if she knew why Sybil hadn't been killed instead of stunned, she didn't answer. However, as I went out the door, she began to play the Lullaby from Jocelyn. It was her way of telling me about the mother fixation Stephen had. He could not bring himself to kill her, even though he realized she had gone to the attic to see if his sailor suit was still there—and the gun."

"Oh, that's what she was looking for."

"Of course. Funny. All the way along the line, everything pointed to the sailor angle. It wasn't until I found the black silk square in the attic that I realized what I had missed. It was a kerchief, you know, the kind sailors wear knotted about their necks. When I realized what it was, the whole puzzle fell into focus. There was a sailor lounging near the gate across from the house on the afternoon of the murder. Then Miss Bigelow had told me that Stephen had once run away and joined the navy. He even mentioned the fact himself. Then there was the picture missing from Shari Lynn's wall. The only sailor in all those uniforms. Stephen's photograph, of course. The picture was taken years and years ago—not a very good one—but if I had given it more than a cursory glance the night I saw it at Shari Lynn's, I think I would have recognized him."

"Lord. The whole business was out in the open all the time." This from Rocky.

"Uh uh. That's where he was clever. It was almost too out in the open. Stephen told no lies. He admitted being jealous of Karen. Everything he did was logical, you know, except attacking his mother. He shouldn't have done that, because he couldn't follow through on it. He didn't have the heart to kill her. It showed that the killer had a fondness for Sybil that kept him from destroying her. That definitely put the finger on Stephen."

It All Ends With a Kiss

Rocky said, surprisingly, "He was lucky about the false clues, too, boss. He didn't try to leave any himself—false ones—to point another way, like most murderers do. There was the red wig and everybody being in the same locality at just the right time to come under suspicion. Those things just happened. All the confusion it caused was lucky for him—for a while, anyway."

"That's certainly right. He almost got away with bumping me off, too."

"He'd never been caught if he'd killed you," said Ann.

"Oh, I don't know. Donlevy's smart and he would have plugged away until he got the right line, no doubt."

"Maybe." She sounded skeptical. "Good heavens. It's five o'clock. What about you and your good name now?" She grinned at McCale.

Rocky tilted his bulk from his chair, saying, "I'll mosey along, too. Come on, Ann. I'll drop you."

"You get right to bed now, Duke," she ordered. "I hope you're going to be all right. You aren't running a fever are you?"

She put her hand on his forehead and, bending over suddenly, gave him a long kiss.

"I'm fine," answered McCale happily, "but if you want my temperature to go up, you're certainly doing the right thing."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for January 19

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

JESUS INTERVIEWED BY NICODEMUS

LESSON TEXT—John 3:1-11, 16, 17.
MEMORY SELECTION—Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.—John 3:3.

How does one become a Christian? This was the question of Nicodemus, and it is the question in the hearts and minds of thousands in every generation. The answer is clear and definite.

The only entrance into the Christian life is by the door of the new birth. Regeneration is the act of God whereby the divine nature is imparted to the believing sinner and he becomes the child of God. He who has not entered by this way has not entered at all. He is still dead in trespasses and sins, without God and without hope (Eph. 2:1, 12).

The Pharisees who looked for the coming of the Messiah as a secular conqueror wondered at this new spiritual leader. It was probably as much on their behalf as his own that Nicodemus came to inquire of Jesus. In answering his questions Jesus reveals the necessity, the nature, and the method of regeneration.

I. The New Birth—a Necessity (vv. 1-7).

Our Lord's visitor was a man of distinction and standing in the community, but Jesus was not unduly impressed by the dignity and high station of his visitor, nor by the visitor's courteous acknowledgment of his own position as a great teacher. With decisive boldness Jesus declares that this man, a cultured and distinguished ruler of the Jews, must be born again, if he is to see the kingdom of God.

God is no respecter of persons. The doctor of divinity must be born again just as much as the illiterate fisherman. D. L. Moody once said that he was thankful it was to such a man as Nicodemus that Jesus presented the necessity of the new birth, or men would have said that only the down-and-outer needed to be saved.

Two reasons are given by our Lord for the "must" of verse 7: (1) The Kingdom of God is a spiritual Kingdom and cannot be entered by way of our human nature; and (2) "that which is born of the flesh is flesh" and is radically and essentially bad. To learn why that is true read Jeremiah 13:23 and Galatians 5:19-21.

Scripture on this point is almost diametrically opposed to much of the teachings in our schools and colleges. But God's Word is right; let us follow it.

II. The New Birth—a Mystery (vv. 8-11).

God has graciously revealed to us "all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge" of Christ (II Pet. 1:3). But it is true—and we say quite appropriately true—that he has some things hidden in his own blessed counsels. We know the experience of the new birth. We see the blessed results of regeneration. But what actually takes place is a divine mystery, not fathomable by human reason. Those who insist that all spiritual truth be put through the little norm of their intelligence will never understand it or receive its blessing (I Cor. 2:14).

The striking illustration of the life-giving and energizing wind used by our Lord is most illuminating. Wind is unseen, but the results of its movement are evident. Even so the spiritual rebirth of men is an enigma to the worldly man, but even he can see its results in godly living.

We know that regeneration is not only a possibility, but an actuality, a fact; in truth, the greatest of all facts.

III. The New Birth—a Reality (vv. 16, 17).

Just as there was healing and life in a look at the uplifted serpent in the wilderness (Num. 21:8), so there is life for a look at the Crucified One. Faith receives God's perfect provision for sin.

Verse 16 may well be regarded as the greatest sentence in the greatest Book in the world. It presents the whole plan of salvation—its source, its ground, its recipients, its condition, and its result.

This glorious salvation is for all men—"whosoever"—but some reject it. Notice that God does not condemn them. Their own evil works and desires condemn them (vv. 17-20). God in his grace is ready and willing to save, but men love "darkness rather than light," for their works are evil.

Our tender, loving heavenly Father has no desire to condemn anyone. The man or woman who falls under his condemnation of sin does so by choice. God's desire is that all should be saved.

Will you, unbeliever who reads these lines, respond now to his gracious invitation?

Faithful Model of Sir Drake's Ship Inch Long

Among the outstanding exhibits of glass-case ship models is the Hampshire collection in the Institute of Marine Engineers in London, says Collier's. The life work of one man, it consists of 13 miniature reproductions of famous vessels built on a scale of 1 inch to 64 feet, or about one-eighth of the usual size of decorative ship models.

Most unusual of them all is a faithful reproduction of Sir Francis Drake's three-masted Golden Hind, which is one inch in overall length, or so small that it can be hidden behind a half dollar.

Chopsticks Sole Survivor Of One-Finger Piano Pieces

Of the thousands of one-finger piano pieces that served as parlor tricks during the 19th century, the sole survivor is Chopsticks, says Collier's. Since it was first published in Glasgow in 1877, this commonplace little tune has not only become popular throughout the world but its theme has been borrowed by such outstanding composers as Liszt and Rimski-Korsakov.

This Home-Mixed Syrup Relieves Coughs Quickly

Needs No Cooking. Saves Money.

The surprise of your life is waiting for you, in your own kitchen, when it comes to the relief of coughs due to colds. In just a moment, you can mix a cough syrup that gives you about 4 times as much for your money, and is surprising for quick results.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Fill up with your syrup, and you have a full pint of really wonderful cough medicine. It never spoils, lasts a long time, and children love it.

This home mixture takes right hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and quickly eases soreness and difficult breathing.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for quick action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Of the four crematories for pet animals in this country, the most modern is in New York City. Established in 1939, it cremates annually over 500 pets, such as dogs, cats, parrots and canaries, charging from $15 to $25 for the service, from $5 to $300 for the urn and from $25 to $100 for a niche and its perpetual care.

Matter Over Mind

Sir Mark Young, governor of Hong Kong when it was taken by the Japanese, and who was taken prisoner at that time and later released, is the hero of many stories illustrating a rapier-like wit. One of the best is of the lady, lunching at Government House, who was aggrieved to find herself on Sir Mark's left instead of his right.

She approached her grievance obliquely—but made it fairly obvious. Finally she remarked: "I suppose it is really very difficult for your A.D.C. always to put your guests in their right places?" "Not at all," said Sir Mark blandly, "for those who matter don't mind, and those who mind don't matter."

Serve Waffles for Any Occasion! (See recipes below)

Versatile Waffles

One of our simpler foods, the waffle, can be served in an amazing variety of ways. Add a few variations to the original waffle recipe and you have a wonderful new breakfast treat or Sunday night supper special. Instead of a sauce, serve it with fresh or stewed fruit or a fluffy whipped cream and you have an extra-delicious dessert. Or, if you prefer, top it with creamed chicken, ham a la king, and presto! There's your luncheon dish all ready.

Waffles are hearty fare, and that's pleasing to those of you homemakers who have trouble giving the family enough nourishment on nippy days. Let them fill up on waffles in all their variety, and the whole family will be pleased as punch.

You won't be able to run through all these different suggestions I'm giving for waffles immediately, so clip the ideas and save them. They're wonderful to have on hand for the different occasions I've just mentioned, and your menus—whether for snack or breakfast—will never fall into doldrums.

Peanut butter waffles are tasty and have a softer crust than the ordinary waffle. They're breakfast fare, but may be served for a light supper with soup 'n salad.

Peanut Butter Waffles. (Makes 7 waffles)

- 6 tablespoons peanut butter
- 6 tablespoons fat
- 2 eggs
- 1 1/4 cups bottled milk
- 1 1/4 cups flour
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

Cream peanut butter and fat together. Add beaten eggs and blend well. Add milk. Sift flour, measure and sift again with sugar, baking powder and salt. Add milk mixture to dry ingredients. Mix until smooth. Pour onto hot waffle iron and bake 3 to 5 minutes.

A good basic waffle recipe may be varied in countless ways. The mixing is easy and need take but a few minutes.

Plain Waffles. (Makes 6 waffles)

- 1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 1 1/4 cups milk
- 6 tablespoons melted butter or fat

Sift together dry ingredients. Beat eggs with an egg beater until light. Add milk and butter. Add this to sifted dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Bake on waffle iron according to manufacturer's directions.

Cheese Waffles: Add 1 cup grated cheddar cheese to above recipe with melted fat.

LYNN SAYS: Don't Forget Salads During Winter

Green vegetable salads gain distinction when you add a few savory herbs to them. Sprinkle such seasonings as chervil, thyme, basil, tarragon and dill on the salads before serving, and watch appetites perk up.

Salads should never be placed on the table until you are ready to eat them. They lose freshness and crispness rapidly in a warm room.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENUS

- Ham a la King on Waffles
- Green Peas with Mushrooms
- Molded Carrot Salad
- Beverage
- Baked Apples

Chocolate Waffles: Add 2 squares of chocolate, melted, add 1/2 cup of sugar and 1 teaspoon of vanilla to batter. Serve with whipped cream for dessert.

Rice Waffles: Reduce flour to 1 1/2 cups, and add 1 cup of cold cooked rice to batter with the melted butter.

If your family is fond of waffles, then they're bound to like raised waffles for a change:

Raised Waffles. (Makes 9 to 12)

- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 1/4 cups scalded milk
- 1/4 yeast cake dissolved in 1/4 cup lukewarm water
- 2 cups flour
- 2 egg yolks
- 2 egg whites

Add sugar, salt and butter to milk. When lukewarm, add dissolved yeast cake and flour. Beat well. Let rise overnight (make evening before if you want waffles for breakfast). Add well-beaten egg yolks, then stiffly beaten whites. Bake in waffle iron.

Now, here's a grand variety of sauces that may be used with waffles for different occasions. These, of course, may be made up ahead to save time before serving, and kept stored in jars under refrigeration.

Ice Cream Sauce. (Serves 10 to 12)

- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1/2 cup melted butter
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg until light, add to sugar and beat well. Fold in melted butter and mix well. Fold in whipped cream and vanilla, then place mixture in refrigerator tray to chill.

Hot Fudge Sauce. (Makes 1 1/2 cups)

- 2 squares unsweetened chocolate
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 1/2 cups corn syrup
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Cook chocolate and water over direct heat for 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, add corn syrup. Simmer for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add vanilla.

Butterscotch Sauce. (Makes 1 pint)

- 1 cup sugar
- 3/4 cup corn syrup
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1/2 pint thin cream

Cook until a soft ball forms when tested in cold water. Remove from fire and serve hot or cold. Thin with cream, if desired.

Fish, meats and vegetables will be more palatable if they are first marinated before being tossed with the other salad makings. Frequently two dressings may be combined to give extra sparkle to salads. Use french dressing mixed with mayonnaise or sour cream dressing, for example.

If you want to dress up vegetable and meat or fish salads, use carrot curls, black olives, green stuffed olives, Roquefort cheese, stuffed celery hearts, potato chips and pickle fans.

Use Custom Tailoring to Make Boys' Clothes Very Masculine

By Erta Haley

FOR THE mother who has a son and daughter both close in age, it's somehow a temptation to sew for the little girl and let the boy wear just whatever happens to fall his way. Mothers wait that little can be done to make a boy's clothing look attractive, but actually this isn't the case at all.

Naturally you avoid like the plague anything whimsical or "cute" in the small boy's clothing. If he's the little man his Dad thinks he is and should be, the boy won't like the clothing, and will prefer dragging out his denims and sweat shirt.

Fortunately for the busy mother, it's preferable to sew all boys' clothing on the machine, both for reasons of appearance and sturdiness.

Good quality material, smart and appropriate styling, and good workmanship are prime assets in boys' clothing. All three of these are found only in the more expensive clothes, so the home sewer has a distinct advantage when she makes the garments for nominal cost at home.

For a source of material, she can first look about the home. Some of Dad's things perhaps can be reconverted, but only those materials which look well on the boy should be used. Material may also be purchased outright, but it may be far more economical to look through remnants first to see if there is anything available, as there frequently is.

Select Styles That Boys Will Like

If your little boy's inspiration has been his big brother who more recently was perhaps a sailor, let that be your cue in selecting a style for the boy's play suit. This can be made in a denim which is so right for rough and tumble play, and the style of the regular sailor suit may be followed exactly.

Pants may be long or short depending upon the season for which you anticipate the most wear, but most boys four years old and over will probably insist on long pants. Make the trousers so they will lace in the back, "just like real sailor pants." Place stripes on the cuffs of the long-sleeved jacket, and if the boy desires, an insignia on the sleeve.

To simplify dressing in this type of suit, you might find it more practical to have buttons high on the shoulder.

This model also can be made with a striped top and solid color pants. Here again, select materials that will take the rough and tumble wear that little boys will give the suit.

Another adaptation of the suit above is to make pants with straps that fold over in the back so that the boy can button them himself.

Smart Boys' Clothing.

Use light or dark pants with a contrasting colored shirt in regulation style. Short pants will be more practical for warmer weather.

Corduroy is a good fabric in which to carry out the latter of the above ideas as it will wear well and launder easily. Boys find it very wearable.

If you thought that your son's snow suit would last the winter and now are finding that it just won't do, then hurry out to buy some water-repellent, windproof cloth, for snow suits are easily made at home.

You also will want to buy some warm wool flannel for lining in a dark solid color or a dark plaid and some elastic knit to use at the ankles and wrists. Any variations of color may be tried, but the dark colors relieved by touches of bright elastic knit will not show soil so easily.

Instructions Given

For Making Snow Suit

Snow suits should be made roomy enough for the active play in which children engage, but they should neither bag nor sag, as this makes the child uncomfortable. A draw string may be used at the waist, or, if you prefer, an elastic band that nips in the waist may be inserted.

Careful tailoring and fitting will produce an admirable little snow suit for the small fellow, and if you work well, the stitches and other details will well repay your effort in their smart appearance as well as durability.

If you buy some elastic knit for anklets and wrists, you might go a step further and construct a matching helmet which will keep the youngster's ears warm while he plays in the cold. Mittens of the same material are practical, too. Attach heavy cord connecting the mittens, and slip the cord into the sleeves and around the back so mittens won't get lost when he removes them.

For indoor play, work smocks serve the little lad nicely. These may be cut long and loose to allow for freedom of action, and they should be made to button simply a little to one side. If made long enough, they save paints, clay and crayons from soiling the trousers, and offer a fine solution to keeping the lad's clothing in a neat state while he plays indoors.

Thrifty Tips

No scrap of material in the home, however small, should ever be wasted. Use these ideas for quick reference on what to do with your old materials.

When sheets wear out, use the unworn parts for tea or dish towels. They work beautifully since they are soft and absorbent as well as lint-free. Other ideas for using sheets are diapers, baby bands, dustcloths, pillow cases and small luncheon cloths or doilies. Use attractive edging or stitch them decoratively if you want to get fancy.

Towels wear out in the middle, but the ends are usually perfectly good. Use these for washcloths and crochet decoratively around the edges, and you'll always have enough of this item which is hard to obtain right now. These good ends of heavy toweling may also be used for filler, for pot holders and covered with chintz or oilcloth.

If light summer frocks are no longer wearable, use them for little girl dresses, or make dainty hankies for them out of this soft, easy laundering material.

Fashion Flashes

A ski jacket that fits smoothly around the hip line has the usual drawstring type belt line, but goes dress parade with a vividly red, gold and black Scotch plaid dickey inserted in the jacket. The jacket itself is beige colored ski cloth material, featherweight but impervious to blasts of wind and weather.

Ski suits are lightweight and water-repellent. They are practical, too.

A navy blue ski jacket has a deep square outline yoke with a simulated diamond quilted effect, each diamond point flashing with a red stone. A fourth jacket of butter beige color has a shoulder strap of deep blue attached to a decorated pocket. The pocket is decorated with felt flowers.

Tuck-in jackets on ski and skating clothing will make them very comfortable.

Pillowcase Designs For Nimble Fingers

THESE exquisite butterfly and pansy pillowcases will make a gift to treasure. The five-inch butterflies are crocheted separately and sewn to the edge of the pillowcase. Then join the row of delicate lacy butterflies together. Embroider the pansy bouquets in soft blues, yellows and pale pinks—leaves are green. Use the same design on guest towels, too.
