Canners Continue Winning Streak

ELK RAPIDS AND GAYLORD ARE THE LATEST VICTIMS

The local Canners, improving each time out, continued their winning streak during the past week.

Last Friday evening, playing Elk Rapids, the Canners took an early lead and with their fast break working to perfection, ran up the amazing score of 94 to 35.

Chuck Saxton, stellar forward, hit the hoop for 31 points with his running mate "Monk" Cihak piling in 22. Ladd, with 11 points, and Zupen with 8, led the Elk Rapids scoring.

TOP GAYLORD 73 - 31

The Canners, letting up only in the third period when they scored but 7 points, showed no mercy, downing Gaylord here Monday evening.

"Skinny" Edson, lanky center, had a field day dropping in 11 field goals for 22 points. Howard Sommerville with 17 points was the other big gun in the fast breaking attack.

Jack Lovelace, Gaylord forward, led his team with 5 field goals. FG. FT. TP. East Jordan

THE SCHOOL BELL

After a brief vacation, the second semester began amid much confusion, with everyone wanting to change classes and trying to keep the schedule stright.

The Juniors have chosen their play "Just Ducky", which will be given in March. They also have chosen a committee to start working on the Junior — Senior Banquet and Prom. This will probably keep them busy untill May. The Seniors have started work on their Yearbook. This will be the first yearbook put out in quite a few years. It will contain pictures of all the classes, clubs, the band, basketball, football and baseball teams; also write-ups from all the classes and clubs. The Seniors will put a lot of time on this, but it should be well worth it.

There will be a program Wednesday, February the 19th. There will be varied interests and all are urged to attend. The purpose of it is to raise money for a voice recorder. Watch for more concerning it in this paper! The FHA will sponser a dance after the Pellston ball game Friday night in the East Jordan High School Gym, for the purpose of the March of mission 10 cents or more. All proceeds go to the March of Dimes.

A & P Expands 'Ad' List by 1,000 Newspapers

An experimental plan of placing company advertising in at least one newspaper in every city or town in which it has a store has been put into effect by A & P Food Stores, C. Wall, vice-president in charge of the company's Grand Rapids unit which serves this area, announced today.

The advertising, entitled "Marketing with Marjorie", is newsy and chatty in form and will appear every other week in more than 900 papers throughout the country to tell consumers about the famous quality brands to be found in A & P stores.

"A & P has always strongly believed in the selling power of newspaper advertising," Wall declared The best proof is that we have been using approximately 2,000 newspapers regularly to carry our message to the public and with the total of present additions the list has been increased to 3,000."

Some of the copy of this new type advertising will describe the quality of the products and other ads will regards labor, draft, rationing, and give hints on how to use these foods to make more tempting and tastier dishes. Ads are aimed at the houserepresentation in high places by great wife although the quality angle is exshoppers, whose number increased greatly during the war. Up to now, retail food advertising has been devoted, for the most part, o listing the prices of various foods. Thus this column, which makes no attempt to include prices, is a marked departure from the usual practice of most food companies.

"Since it is new and different, 'Marketing with Marjorie' is being tried on an experimental basis," Wall

ALLIANCE:

Britain-France

Traditional allies against Germany, Great Britain and France renewed their old bond in London by agreeing to a treaty of alliance to guard against a rebirth of an aggressive reich.

Though the alliance ostensibly was directed against Germany, observers saw in the pact a strengthening of the western European powers against the expanded influence of Russia on the continent. With Britain and France serving as a core, smaller nations like Holland and Belgium might adhere to the western bloc to check the threat of communism.

In concluding their alliance, Britain and France agreed to work for the orderly development of western European economy to promote mutual prosperity and at the same time prevent establishment of a strong industrial base for war in Germany. Emphasis was placed on harmonizing the British and French economies to remove trade conflicts and harnessing essential German industry, like coal, to the needs of neighboring countries.

FORD:

Production Lead

Declaring that the high standard of American living was based upon mass production, Ford Motor company slashed the price of nine models from $15 to $50 to stimulate a cautious buyers' market.

With prices away up and buyers hesitant to pay for inflated values, American industry stands at the crossroads, Ford said. Bring prices within reach of the average consumer through mass production and the U. S. may well avoid a business recession, he declared. With employee efficiency on the rise, Ford revealed that his company is turning out about 4,000 units a day, exclusive of buses and tractors.

FOOD:

Full Larder

Sugar, cooking and salad oils and many processed foods containing these ingredients may be in short supply in 1947 but otherwise Americans are assured of a full larder this year, the National Grocers Bulletin reported.

A roundup of the food industry resulted in these predictions:

MEAT: Per capita supplies should include 68½ pounds of pork, 68 pounds of beef, 9 pounds of veal and 5½ pounds of lamb and mutton.

POULTRY: The number of farmraised poultry promises to be up 5 to 7 per cent and commercial broiler production up 15 per cent. With exports lower, there should be sufficient eggs despite an 8 per cent drop in production.

DAIRY PRODUCTS: somewhat smaller milk output, supplies of dairy products should be adequate to meet demands. FRESH VEGETABLES: Plenty at lower prices.

FRUITS: Record volume.

GRAIN FOODS: Bumper grain crops assure ample stocks of flour, hot and cold cereals, spaghetti and CANNED FOODS: Production is expected to reach record figure of 600 million standard cases compared with 514 million in 1945.

Even the sugar situation will not be so bad, the Bulletin said. At 35 pounds the per capita supply of sugar will be at least 10 pounds more than in 1946, and use of substitute sweetening agents will help increase production of prepared desserts, cake mixes, chocolate and cocoa, condensed milk, jams and jellies.

GEORGIA:

Chip Off Old Block

With "Old Gene" gone, "Young Herman" kept alive the fiery Talmadge tradition in Georgia politics. When his father died before he could be inaugurated, young Talmadge mustered sufficient support in the legislature to have himself named governor; then, defying incumbent-Governor Arnall, who held his election illegal, he set up his own offices in the state capitol. Meeting young Talmadge's bold challenge, Arnall carried the issue to the state supreme court, dominated by his own appointees. But again Herman struck back by threatening to ignore an adverse court decision on the grounds that the constitution empowered the legislature to elect a governor and a denial of the right represented judicial encroachment upon the legislative branch of government. Amid the hub-bub, one sure fact

ITALY:

U. S. Helps

Anxious to bolster the democratic elements in Italy against unrest rising from economic chaos following the war, the U.S. granted Italy a 100 million dollar loan to rebuild key segments of industry and also took emergency action to route 50,-000 tons of wheat to the distressed country.

U. S. action climaxed Premier Alcide de Gasperi's whirlwind negotiations with Washington for speedy assistance. The lean, bespectacled Italian head of state flew to this country for help as his regime was shaken by continued unemployment and food riots.

The U.S. advanced 100 million from the Export-Import bank on the stipulation that the Italian government could maintain political stability and also provide for other imports needed to make the nation's economy work.

Heeding de Gasperi's plea that Italy was scratching the bottom of its larder and was in need of substantial help before the next harvest, the U.S. diverted to Italy six ships bearing grain destined for Germany.

CANOL:

End of a Project

In negotiating an agreement with the Canadian government for disposal of the Canol oil project in Yukon territory, the U.S. closed the book on one of the most controversial developments rising from the needs of World War II.

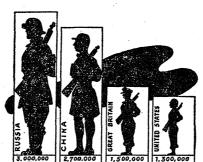

Condemned as a "costly blunder" by the senate war investigating committee last September 1, Canol was built by the army to furnish a convenient source of fuel for use in the Alaskan zone. Though petroleum experts reported that oil resources near Fort Norman were "very limited," the army drilled wells there and erected a 600-mile pipeline to a new refinery at Whitehorse.

By persisting in development of Canol in the face of stiff congressional opposition, the army brought the ensuing wrath upon its own head. Built at a cost of more than 55 million dollars, Canol failed as a big producer from the start, and private interests hesitated to risk its operation in peace. Hence the agreement to sell the facilities on the spot, dismantle them for piecemeal disposal, or abandon them.

World an Armed Camp

Russia has at least 3,000,000 troops nassed behind the iron curtain, according to an estimate by Maj. Hal D. Stewart writing in the semi-official Armored Cavalry Journal.

Major Stewart's estimate of Soviet military strength was made in an article on the size of postwar armies. Drawing his figures mainly from war department intelligence reports, be pointed out that his compilations may not be wholly accurate because of the secrecy employed by some countries in veiling the true strength of their armed forces.

In all, some 11,000,000 men and women are under arms, Major Stewart said. Next to Russia, the Chinese Nationalist government maintains the largest army with 2,700,000 regulars, while the Chinese Communists claim a force of 1,000,000.

Britain rates third with 1,500,000 troops and the United States follows with 1,300,000. Although a small nation, Yugoslavia has 800,000 in uniform, including 80,000 women.

Good Supply

Farmers can count on ample supplies of feed grains for livestock through the current feeding year, the Feed Industry council concluded after a comprehensive study.

Total requirements of 109,465,000 tons of grains and mill feeds should leave a carryover of 16,620,000 tons at the end of the crop year, the council said. A breakdown showed estimated needs of 53,280,000 tons for swine; 24,502,000 tons for poultry; 22,323,000 tons for dairy cat-tle; 14,833,000 for beef cattle; 967,-000 tons for sheep and lambs, and 5,250 tons for horses and mules.

In contrast to the adequate supplies of feed grains, the council estimated a deficit in stocks of high protein feeds. However, the experts averred that the price situation would tend to balance the supply and cause a more careful use of high quality protein by feeders.

WASHINGTON. - "Reveal the secret clauses in the Yalta agreement and the American people will demand a free and independent Korea." That is what you hear from the earnest group of Koreans and Americans who will be waving a tearful but hopeful farewell to their beloved leader and friend -the venerable

Dr. Syngman Rhee-as he departs for "the land of the morning calm" for the second time since his exile 40 years ago. Dr. Rhee's followers consider him the legitimate head of the provisional Korean government set up by those leaders fortunate enough to escape when Japan dealt Korea its final, crushing blow Presidents of the United States since Theodore Roosevelt's time, state department and other government officials have been consistently sympathetic and stubbornly uncooperative with the effort of this unflagging patriot to obtain recognition of his country. They did not frown on his return to Korea when it was "liberated" by the defeat of Japan. They put no obstacles in the way of his choice as head of the group which set up a provisional government of Korea. They permitted that group to send an observer to the U. N. but when Dr. Rhee returned from Korea in December of last year his efforts to make his voice heard before the international body were blocked by the state department ukase, "No official standstill administered by the U.S. military government. This is due, Dr. Rhee says, to the same lack of official sanction from the state department which the aging doctor has sought since Pearl Harbor.

"All we ask is that we be allowed to hold elections to set up in the American zone of Korea a national government just as the Russians have set up what they call a democratic government' in their zone. We only ask that the United States do for us what they have already done for Japan.

"The other liberated countries have been given this privilege. We never fought against the Allies. For more than 40 years we have carried underground work against our Japanese oppressors.

Natives Advanced in Democratic Processes

I asked if he thought the people were ready for a democratic government.

He paused a moment and said: 'You may be surprised, as I was, to learn how familiar the Koreans are with the democratic system." The Japanese, it seems, when they made their various levies upon the Koreans found they had to deal with a system that had already been set up, based on the democratic choice of a leader for a group of perhaps 20 homes which, in turn, chose their representatives for larger groups. Dr. Rhee said he found his people were much more familiar with these processes than he thought they could be even though he had through all these years. Then Dr. Rhee went on to explain that with cooperation of the military government, at least five attempts had been made to set up a national government; that each time the Communists had blocked it by refusing to join and because of the directives under which the military government was forced to operate—no government was permitted in which the Communists did not participate.

"They (the Communists) claim they have 20,000 members in the southern area-what right have 20,-000, if there are that many (which I doubt), to interfere with the rights of 18 million Koreans in the southern zone?" asks Dr. Rhee.

In the secret agreement at Yalta, Dr. Rhee asserts: "President Roosevelt agreed that Manchuria and Northern Korea be placed in the zone of the Soviets. This was contrary to the spirit of the Atlantic Charter and the other agreements up to that time. When the American people realize this, I am sure sentiment will develop that will make it possible for Korea to become a nation again. I am going back to Korea with that hope."

Senate Bathed in Mutual Admiration

There is a distinctive brand of political humor often buried in that remarkable and largely unread (and frequently turgid) document, the Congressional Record.

The Republican recommendation that senators meet in formal session only three times a week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, devoting the other two days to committee work recently touched off a typical exchange between Republicans and Democrats on the senate floor. Both parties conjured lightly with the names of founding fathers.

Majority Leader Wallace White of Maine began by opining that an exception to the Monday-Wednesday-Friday rule should perhaps be made for Lincoln's birthday (which falls on Wednesday this year) so that Republican senators could, as he put it, "have opportunity to go to their homes and elsewhere to make their customary, and I think, proper, speeches on Lincoln's birthday. He added that provision, too, might be made for Washington's birthday. Senator White then recalled that the Democrats usually have either a Jackson Day or Jefferson Day dinner, for which they might want to be excused from the senate.

Minority Leader Barkley was agreeable. Said he: "So far as Lincoln Day absenteeism is concerned, we have no objection to any deviation from this program (the MWF rule) that would permit our friends to get back to Lincoln."

The Record records as follows: Mr. Barkley: I think the closer the party gets back to Lincoln the nearer it will come to Jefferson. I think there will be no difficulty about arranging for Washington's birthday and for Lincoln's birthday. So far as Jackson is concerned. the Democrats have always celebrated Jackson Day on the 8th of January, today, which is the day of the Battle of New Orleans.

Mr. White: I think the senator from Kentucky is celebrating it now.

Mr. Barkley: But in April I think it is planned to have a number of Jefferson Day celebrations throughout the country and I am sure that Jefferson and Lincoln and Washington and Jackson will all be maintained upon an equal footing. Mr. Tobey: I'd like to say for the benefit of my friend the senator from Kentucky that I hope his statement which I shall designate as Exhibit A, is evidence that the great party to which he belongs, of which he has been majority leader in the senate for so many years, and so successfully will be bound to return to the principles and teachings and tenets of Thomas Jefferson.

Mr. Barkley: I will say to the senator that we have never departed from them, because Jefferson was the outstanding liberal of his day, and we have always adhered to the liberal policies which were advocated by the original liberal, Thomas Jefferson, which were not altogether dissimilar to the liberality of the founder of the Republican party, Abraham idea which led to the calamity strikes of whole industries on a national scale. He developed the portal-to-portal pay idea for his miners. He first acted out the public-bedamned policy of labor by calling

By PAUL MALLON GOVERNMENT MAY QUASH WASHINGTON .- A bright attorney (identity unadvertised) suddenly developed the idea a few weeks back that the seven-months-old pottery decision might be used as a basis for back pay suits against industry. The idea was not new. Congress had it in a corrective bill which passed one house last session. But thus originated the portal-to-portal suits which total more than two and a half billion dollars already and may reach five billions to eight billions-the last figure apparently being the total business liability.

MOST 'PORTAL PAY' SUITS

Business organizations like the National Association of Manufacturers and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce have been rather unexcited publicly about the matter, but their lawyers are fingering the wage-hour statutes, amazed and confused because no one knows how far it will go. All industry could be overthrown with this one legal strokefor these following unstressed rea-

Industry has no reserves to pay back pay plus damages, in amounts fixed by courts, for estimated nonworking time, including loafing on industrial property, for the past nine years. The five to eight billions must come from current earnings, which means the product price must be increased again to the public or profits must be cut that much in a single year. In actual fact, the claims would amount to the same as another 15 to 20 per cent wage bonus increase, for one year only.

PAY FOR 'GETTING READY'

The union suits, in which AFL has joined, do not seek portal-to-portal pay today and from now on. They merely seek to apply nationally a clumsy 6 to 2 Supreme court decision last June in the Mt. Clements pottery case ruling that pottery workers at that company are entitled to be paid for time spent on the employer's premises preparing for work-"walking to their places, putting on aprons and overalls, removing shirts, taping or greasing arms, putting on finger covers, preparing the equipment for productive work, turning on switches for lights and machinery, opening windows and assembling and sharpening

So thousands of suits have been instituted to collect back pay to 1938 under the wage-hour law for any kind of preparation for work (parking time?) in amounts which cannot be calculated precisely-although the companies will be liable for any amount the court decides to fix. (The 1938 law specifies this, allowing liberal attorney fees for starting suits.)

These are not publicity suits. Legally they are well grounded. Morally, you may think off-hand that a worker has a right to such portal-toportal pay. But that is not the finepointed question. The amount involved for such current pay would not be large enough to be economically important. The actual question is one of collecting back pay accumulated for nine years. If the unions have a moral right to do that, the stockholders certainly have a moral right to sue the unions for billions lost in their strikes during the past nine years-with resulting legal and financial chaos. Not only that, but the companies may morally and legally claim tax refunds up to the full 95 per cent excess profits tax levy for any back pay settlements now made-with similar chaotic overturn of the tax schedules involving the federal debt. budget and expenditures.

GOVERNMENT IS STEPPING IN

Consequently the government must stop or limit the retroactive nature of these suits. I suspect one reason why the industrial leaders have not been more excited in print is that there are so many things the government can and probably will do. Congress had pending last session the Gwynne bill to kill the retroactive back pay feature and restrict claims to bona fide cases. Furthermore, congress can amend the law in any particular, and is far less under union control now than for-

Also, the government has entered Detroit district court in the matter to seek a clarification of the law.

Thus the chances are the suits will be shorn of their nationally destructive force in one way or another. Nevertheless, some industries are compromising out of court with the Former Lieutenant Governor Vernon J. Brown, now enjoying retirement at a modest country home near Mason, advances a simple solution for for the state's staggering financial Two-wheel trailer, new rack, tires problem: "Put all educational eggs in one basket." Preempt three mills of the property tax to finance the vet-

> "Financial chaos and eventual bankruptcy" would be averted by state government.

"Adequate support for all proper functions of government, state and local" would be assured.

Furthermore, "no added tax or new taxes" would be required and "no necessity for again amending the state constitution."

In company with George A. Osborn, publisher of the Sault Ste. Marie Evening News, we visited Mr. Brown at his ancestral farm four miles east of Mason on Diamond road. The forinterested see McKinley Ostrander, mer state official appeared to be in excellent health and hearty spirits; he lit up a cigar with Relish and talked freely about state affairs. "I believe pairs for your Kalamazoo range, I have a simple solution for the state problem" he said.

"You'll have to hurry," he added, "if you want to get this interview in-CES, 211 S. Lake St., phone 456, to your colum. It's going to appear Boyne City. Gilford L. Coon, deal- Thursday (Jan. 23) in the Ingham County News."

And so we quote from Mr. Brown's wn signed article:

"I propose that the legislature by statute adopt a plan similar to that in vogue in the state of New York, specifically putting all our educational eggs in one basket by placing all education under one general administrative control - all the way from kindergarten to post-graduate courses in the university. This would be accomplished by the mere process of declaring all a part of the public schools system and by enumerating each and all as a part thereof."

During the past fiscal year, Mr. Brown points out, that the state par out more than $30,000,000 for educational needs in addition to the actual amount of state aid to the schools direct. These needs included day schools for the deaf, blind, epileptic crippled; state schools for the blind and deaf: behavior clinics for delin-

January 5, 1907

"J. B. Eddy, Charles B. Chapman, Judge Joseph H. Steer and Chase S. Osborn of Sault Ste. Marie have secured portions of the hull of the boat, "Eclipse", which was captained by "Pirate King" Strang of Beaver Island and captured by officers and burned after the bloody fight in 1855, when the Mormon reign on the Island came to an end. The pieces have been made into canes which the gentlemen will keep as souvenirs.

The discovery of the partly burned hull, buried in the sands of the Beaver Island shore, recalls a chapter in the history of Lake Michigan which reads like an ancient romance. Captain Strang ruled over the island with an iron hand and headed one of the most

It was their custom to sail forth upon the great lake and lie in wait for unlucky vessels that passed that way, capture the craft and crew and either murder the sailors or make them caught cold and we had the worst come to the island and conform to the Mormon faith. The true story of the noon and raged through Tuesday and horrors of Beaver Island in its Mormon days will probably never be written. But enough has been learned to show that the reign of Strang was of mail Wednesday and the storm let a most heartless and treacherous lion dollars. "As conditions now stand, the 12 grades of the public schools are in the clover and all institutions of higher learing including the very colleges supported by the taxpayers to train teachers for the next generation are on short pasture; in fact almost turned out to browse the desert.

"It would not be necessary to disturb either the Board of Regents or the State Board of Agriculture now by constitutional mandate in control of the University and Michigan State College. Neither would I disturb the present state board of education in control of the four state teachers Colleges nor the board in control of the College of Mining and Technology. I would, however, strengthen the state board of education and provide for the appointment of the superintendent of public instruction by that oody rather than electing him by popular state-wide vote as at present.

"I would then proceed under the exact terms of the sales tax diversion amendment adopted last fall to divide the revenues. First I would provide for all the colleges and the universities - adequately but with consideration for actual, not fancied, needs. I would also take in Wayne university and I would provide for junior colleges in the more populous centers. It is cheaper for the state and cheaper for the parents to educate these young folks close at home than to send them away in droves to clutter up campus and class room facilities at our colleges and the university. Inasmuch as all school districts are to share in this new money, I would shift the cost of high school tuition from the state to the local school districts but make it mandatory that it be paid for every boy or girl from the rural schools who could qualify for high school education.

"It is my considered opinion that all this can be done well within the limits of current revenues plus the primary school interest money and such federal aid as in now available and is now being received.

"As for the soldiers bonus I would preempt three mills of the property tax to provide for the payment of interest and the liquidation of the debt. Not many veterans have large real estate holdings but all would share. directly or indirectly, in the taxes required to pay them. Bonds resting on real estate taxes are most desirable from the investor angle and can be sold at the lowest interest rate, much lower than when supported by socalled nuisance taxes of doubtful stability. This would permit retirement of the debt within a 15-year

"The state should then recover for itself some or all of the intagible tax and the liquor revenues presently being collected and presently being handed over to municipalities. Retail

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Sam Hackney Reports on the U.S.A.

Sam Hackney and the missus just returned from a trailer trip around the country. They're tired, and glad to be home, but mighty impressed with what they saw.

As Sam reports—every section has something different; a different way of talking; different tastes in food and drink; different laws and customs. But bigger than all these differences is the American spirit of tolerance that lets us live together in united peace.

"Of course," says Sam, "you run into intolerance from time to time. Individuals who criticize another's right to speak his mind; enjoy a glass of beer; or work at any trade he chooses. But those are the exceptions-and we're even tolerant of them!'

From where I sit, more of us ought to make a trip like the Hackneys - to realize firsthand how America is bigger than its many differences ... how tolerance of those differences is the very thing that makes us strong.

IN MEMORIAM

Long years have passed since mother died, scarce can think so many springs have passed Down times dusty corridor,

Since last I heard her voice and felt her gentle touch.

But passing time and changing scenes have not sufficed To dim those tender memories. She loved us much! And now the children's children crowd around my knee,

And passing years have brought to me full measure of life's better things, The cherished thoughts of mother still to me,

Are like Springs blossoms, Fresh, and sweet, and new! HARRY BATTERBEE

Johnny Davis returns to the Daily Clarion, newspaper owned by his fa-ther, J. D. Davis, after three years in service. He gets acquainted with the new office staff, including Kit Willett, a lovely young reporter. He learns from her that his grandmother, Jennifer Martin, has not relented in her refusal to grant some of her land for the building of a park and swimming pool for the town's children. She had promised the land through her daughter's persuasion, although she had always refused to meet J. D., who she had not considered her social equal. When her daughter died, however, at Johnny's birth, she reneged on her promise and clung to her bitter memories.

CHAPTER II

"Kit? Say, there's a real girl, now. Don't know what I'd have done without her this spring when three of us had the flu. She just about ran the place singlehanded. Great kid!"

'She seemed to know all about the 'Park,' too."

"Almost everyone does, son." His lips took on a tight, hard line. "I mean how we tried to get it finished. You tell her, Dad?" It was a ticklish subject with them both. They had never discussed their attempts with outsiders before. "I may have told her some things -and then, of course, she may have heard it from Henry or that excuse he calls a son." The last was with

"Why should they tell her?" Johnny asked-more than just cordially interested.

"Why? She's engaged to the goodfor-nothing, that's why!"
"You mean Basil?" Johnny asked unbelievingly.

"The same!" was his curt reply. The subject of his cousin, Basil Martin, incited in Johnny the bittercst of thoughts. He remembered the only time Basil had spoken directly to him was the night at the station on his last furlough before going to France. He had just said goodbye to J. D. when Basil came by in his new convertible. He stopped at the curb and rolled down his window. Johnny turned and smiled-after all might be his last chance and time to forget past hurts. Basil's thin lips curled around the words he flung at John-

"So long, sucker! Bring back a couple of medals. I'll buy one from But his car was halfway down the block before Johnny reached the curb. And now Basil was engaged to the only girl he had ever seen that he wanted.

Johnny rubbed his chin with the back of his hand, and in the case of Sergeant Davis, anyone of his buddies could have vouched that this meant business. It was a simple idiocyncrasy, but big things had come of it.

When he walked out of the office, Kit was typing and did not look up until he stopped before her desk, although he sensed she was aware you had something there—about not giving up too soon." He smiled down at her.

She said nothing-only answered his smile.

He might have added there were several things he wanted and did not intend giving up until he had both of them.

When Johnny came out of the drug store late that afternoon, he saw the familiar convertible swing around the corner up Third Street. He had only caught a fleeting glimpse of Basil, his cousin, which worried him not in the least. What did worry him proved itself when he turned the corner and came in sight of the Clarion office.

Basil's car was parked at the curb and Kit Willett was hurrying down the steps toward it. Johnny was still a few hundred feet from them when Kit reached the car. She paused, looking directly at Johnny and waved her hand, then climbed in beside the dark young man sitting behind the wheel.

Johnny's Cousin Shows Resentment

Johnny returned the greeting without over-enthusiasm and hurried on tow rd the office. The car drove away quickly and was out of sight before he came to the steps. He stood looking in the direction they had gone for a few minutes as if by so doing he might decide what to do next.

The thing was pretty much onesided, he thought. Basil was already engaged to Kit Willett. He had money-plenty of it-a nice car. and from what he'd heard Basil threw a mean line. Well, stacked up against no money, Moses, the old jalopy that belonged to the Clarion, and not much time during the past three years to practice a line, the score was already added up. He shrugged his shoulders and walked on into the office. Oh, he wasn't giving up yet, but things weren't quite as rosy as they looked this morning.

Inside the speeding car racing down Third Street, Kit knew immediately there was something on Basil's mind. His greeting cordial enough, nevertheless announced one of his moods.

"Well, how's our 'Tillie-the-toiler' this evening?" he asked sarcas-such, answered good-humoredly, "Couldn't be better. I had the most exciting assignment today I think I've ever had. Willie Garbrant is home after five years overseas you know, and J. D.—"

"Couldn't we skip it, Kit? I get a little tired hearing you rave on about Davis, knowing what he is and all!" He looked ahead at the road determinedly.

Kit, feeling she had offended him on the score of talking about a returned soldier when Basil had been rejected on a heart ailment. which strangely enough had never bothered him until time for his induction, regretted bringing up the subject.

'Sorry, Baz. I wasn't raving on about J. D., though." She hesitated and then summoning up enough courage she continued, "You aren't fair, though, about the whole thing, you know. All you know about J. D. is what your grandmother has told you, and even you'll have to admit she's prejudiced. Why-your father doesn't even really know him, Baz. It's all that old lady—"

"No, I'm afraid I can't understand anyone liking work!" He looked at her seriously.

"Kathryn!" It was a command. "I forbid you to speak that way of my grandmother!'

"Well! We learn something every day, don't we?" She turned to face him squarely, her eyes darkened with anger. "I believe it was you who first told me what a devil your dear grandmother was-or am wrong?

Basil's face was a mask of anger and determination. Then quite suddenly he shrugged his shoulders and his attitude changed to one of indifference. They were outside town through the counriving tryside. He slowed the car as if on sudden impulse and brought it to a complete stop. Turning to Kit he put his arm about her and pulled her closer to him. "Look, Beautiful-when are we going to stop this bickering and get married so we can fight legally only then we won't have anything to fight about." His slow smile caught at the corner of his mouth. Basil was only twenty-one but he had the mature handsomeness of a man in his thirties.

"And you mean by that . . . ?" Kit started to ask.

"That you won't be working for Davis or anybody. That's the reason for everything that goes wrong between us. Admit it?" He tilted her chin up for his kiss but Kit pulled away.

"And if I do admit it? After all, Basil, I like the work. Do you understand that?"

"No-I'm afraid I can't understand anyone liking work!" looked at her seriously. "How much longer is it going to be, Kit?"

Kit Sets Her Wedding Date

She knew the time had come. Basil wasn't asking her to name the date now as he had done so many times before. This time he was demanding it. Of course, she could refuse or even break her engagement entirely but-for what? She tried to estimate quickly just what she really felt for this man who was to be her husband. He did not compare favorably with the childhood illusion she had held for her lover. He was certainly not brave. He was even boastful about not being inducted into the service during the war. But she defended him to herself; this was merely a front to hide his legitimate reason of a heart condition from the public. Perhaps he was braver than people gave him credit for.

When she had met him shortly after coming to Lexington, she had enjoyed his company and the many places he invited her. There were few young men in the community. stripped by the needs of war, and she considered herself lucky to have such a handsome companion. Basil meant security, something she had never known in her life, since her parents had been separated when she was a child. Life with Basil Kit, refusing to recognize it as meant money. Not that Kit was mercenary, but she and her mother had lived in poverty as well as insecurity and she had long since decided that while money does not make happiness, happiness needs money.

"Well . . . I guess the end of November-Thanksgiving would be all right." Unconsciously she counted in her mind. Today was September 4th. September, October and . . November. Three months. Strange that the time counted for only one thing. Three months in which to know J. D.'s son. As if the thought provoked her conscience she reached over for Basil's hand. "Let's make it Thanksgiving, shall we, darling?"

It had taken Johnny some time to erase from his mind the actual reality of seeing Kit Willett with his cousin Basil. But once inside the Clarion office he managed to keep busy rewriting copy for the next day's edition. It was as if he could not give himself completely to his old work until he had settled his mind about the Park affair. Finally he pushed away the notes on which he had been working and with his head resting between his hands he planned what he should do next.

At exactly five twenty-three, he pushed back his chair, shoved his hands into his pockets and walked out of the office of the Clarion. letting the door slam behind him.

For the past two hours, sitting at his old desk on the second floor of the building, he had at last thoroughly thought things out, reaching the conclusion that there was only one way to cope with Jennifer Martin. If that failed he would have to think of another way-he and J. D. together. But he had a feeling that if he could stand face to face with his grandmother and reason with her—it would not fail! He had been taken to Martindale over twenty years ago and his grandmother had refused to see him. But things were different now. Perhaps she had even changed her own mind by this time, or at least would give him a chance to show her his side of it.

As he walked along Third Street, hurrying toward Martindale, he decided it would not take long to find out. In twenty minutes he would be there!

The road to Martindale was unusually short to Johnny, who with each step decided upon a different approach to his grandmother, Jennifer Martin. A grandmother he had never seen.

Was she really as heartless as everyone said, or was she merely an old lady who thought that money could buy anything and also take anything away from those she wanted to avenge?

Walking up the flagstone drive, he noticed the low-slung imported car starting away from the house, but did not recognize who was in it until it reached him.

As Henry Martin leaned forward in the car that stopped beside him, Johnny was instantly reminded of the still vivid picture in his mind of

"You are quite aware that this is a private drive, are you not?" His small beady eyes were on Johnny with target-like directness.

"Yes, sir, I am." He hesitated only long enough for his quick reply and walked on up the drive, leaving Henry and his chauffeur staring after him. Not looking back, Johnny finally heard the motor start and the car continue down the drive.

When he reached the massive doorway, he had a mad desire to turn and leave before he had been refused entrance. The plan that he had mapped out so carefully down in the office of the Clarion seemed foolish and much too simple for such a difficult problem.

A Call on Jennifer Martin

When his hand reached for the iron knocker, he saw that it was trembling. Was this Sgt. John Davis that had been called a fool for danger? Johnny managed a little smile as he wondered what his lieutenant would think of him now.

A tall, impressive English manservant answered his knock. The words, reluctant at first, finally managed to be heard. "I'd like to see Mrs. Jennifer Martin."

"I'm sorry, sir. Mrs. Martin does not see strangers." He stepped back.
"Just a minute, there. This is important, and I intend to see her. After all, I may be a stranger, but I am her grandson." This was Sgt. Davis again. There was no longer any doubt in his mind. This was important, not only to him, but to hundreds of kids-kids that he had fought for, and he didn't intend to lose the fight now.

Evidently surprised at the character confronting him, he nodded his head. "Would you care to wait in the hall for the reply?' Johnny stepped into the long hallway and watched the butler disappear into a room at the right. He watched him until he had closed a door between them. Finally he heard voices, and knowing almost instantly just what reply he would get, he decided boldly to follow the servant's route and at least receive the reply in person from his grandmother.

IMPROVED' UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL CUNDAY JCHOOL LESSON

JESUS THE GIVER OF LIFE

LESSON TEXT-John 4:46-51; 5:2-9; 11:

MEMORY SELECTION—I am the resur-rection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live. —John 11:25.

The miracles of God, through his servants and the Lord Jesus Christ, are not mere marvels or wonders. They are not for the advancement of the cause of any man or for personal glory. They are the mighty signs of an omnipotent God wrought for the good of men, for their spiritual enlightenment and as a testimony to the one true God. Jesus is the giver of life; first and most important, of spiritual life, but also of physical life and health.

Leaving Samaria after his blessed work there, our Lord went up into Galilee, where he met many simplehearted folk who were ready to believe. Here he was able to work miracles of healing and of grace.

I. A Sick Boy Made Well (John 4:46-51).

A nobleman's son was sick. Ah, yes, affliction and sorrow come to the home of the rich as well as the poor. Death comes to the young as well as the old. In fact, the first grave dug in this world was for a young man.

But it is also true that affliction may be, in God's hand, a means of blessing. This son's sickness sent his father to Jesus, and resulted ultimately in the salvation of the entire household (v. 53).

There is another helpful lesson here-our Lord's Word is as good as his presence. The man asked Jesus to come, but he sent his word instead. It was accepted, believed, and completely effective.

How blessed for us who may not have the physical presence of the Lord to recall the potency of his Word. When he says it, believe it! II. A Lame Man Made Whole (John 5:2-9).

Back in Jerusalem at the Feast of Purim, a time of joy and gift giving, our Lord found his way to the pool of Bethesda where there were misery and disease. His compassionate heart sent him there to help and to bless.

'Impotent folk''-the words well describe not only those who lay helpless about the pool of Bethesda, but they fit us as well. Oh, yes, we are strong, capable, fearless, but only until we meet some great elemental problem. Then we see that we are inded "a great multi-tude of impotent folk." The silent fog can paralyze a nation. Death, sickness-who can stay their hand?

Long familiarity with his weakness had bred in the man with the infirmity a sense of despair. Such an attitude invites defeat. It is unbecoming to a Christian. Let us not forget in the darkest hour to "keep looking up."

Jesus told the man to "rise and walk" - the very thing he could not do for his 38 years of life. But when the Son of God speaks to us he gives the power to respond to his command.

III. A Dead Friend Made Alive (John 11:11-13).

The fact that Jesus is our Friend and our Saviour does not exempt us from human sorrow, but it does assure us of the needed grace to bear the trial and to trust him even in life's darkest hour.

Lazarus, the friend of Jesus, was sick. The home in which Jesus had found rest and fellowship was in deep trouble. Jesus was no longer in Judea. In haste, word is sent to him of his friend's illness. But he did not come.

Why does he delay? Such is the heart cry of thousands today who call on him in their hour of trouble. The purposes of God are beyond our ability fully to understand. We need only to trust him and abide

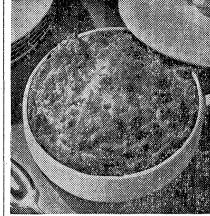

Notice that his failure to respond at once to the message of Lazarus' sisters did not mean that he had deserted them (11:4-6). Nor did it mean that he had denied them his help (v. 7). Lazarus may have been dead before the word reached him. He may also have delayed in order that there might be no question about the resurrection miracle. And he may have tarried in order that their faith might be strength-

Above all, do not fail to notice that he came. He always does. Jesus has never failed any child of his. The time and the manner of his answer to our prayers may not conform to our opinion of what should have been done, but let us remember that we know only in part. He knows all. Let us trust him. In his darkest hour Job said: "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him" (Job 13:15).

He called Lazarus forth from the sleep of death. Even so he calls sinners forth from their spiritual death into glorious eternal life! The lifegiver, our Lord and Saviour, is here now ready to give life to everyone who will call on his name. Will you?

Brisk Winter Days Stimulate Appetite For Substantial Food

A fluffy, golden browned casserole is ideal supper fare for cold nights. This one combines protein foods such as dried beef and eggs with the vegetable, which is whole kernel

Make Hearty Meals

When the family comes tramping home on cold nights with the appetites of woodsmen, many a homemaker is put to the acid test of really filling them up with plenty of hearty. nourishing food.

Sometimes appetites seem endless especially when the food is not suited to weather or to work and play but there's an answer to all this. Hearty foods solve the puzzle best so bring out the stews so rich in vegetables and inexpensive cuts of meat, casseroles with sauces and gravy and top them off with hungersatisfying desserts. Don't forget the vegetables and fruits as these are an important cog in balancing the meal and rounding it out.

Another easy trick to take the edge off sharp appetites is to serve a piping hot soup of some kind just efore dinner. This may be light or hearty depending upon the type of family you have. This, too, is economical because you can use bones from roasts or the carcass of a fowl from dinner and toss in some vegetables, and have enough soup for several days.

A soup is nice to serve before the following casserole. Top it off with a fruit salad and an easy-to-make pudding dessert, and you have the meal complete.

Corn-Chipped Beef Souffle. (Serves 6)

4 tablespoons butter

1/4 cup flour

1 cup milk 4 eggs, separated

1 cup whole kernel corn 1 cup shredded chipped beef (about 3 ounces)

Melt butter, blend in flour and add milk. Cook over direct heat, stirring constantly until sauce thickens and boils. Stir hot sauce into wellbeaten egg yolks, add corn and shredded beef. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, lightly but thoroughly. Turn into a six-cup casserole and bake in a moderate (325-350-degree) oven for one hour until a knife inserted comes out clean.

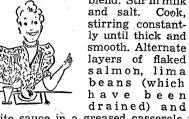

Salmon-Lima Bean Casserole. (Serves 6)

2 tablespoons diced onion 2 tablespoons fat

4 tablespoons flour 2 cups milk

1 teaspoon salt I tall can salmon 2 cups green lima beans, cooked 2 slices bread 2 teaspoons butter

Cook onion in fat until golden brown and tender. Add flour and blend. Stir in milk and salt. Cook. stirring constantly until thick and white sauce in a greased casserole, ending with white sauce. Butter bread and cut in cubes. Sprinkle over top of casserole and bake in a moderate oven for 35 minutes or until golden brown.

LYNN SAYS: Tricks for Homemakers Save Time, Energy

To prevent lumping, store brown sugar in a moist place, such as a breadbox. Confectioners' and powdered sugar may be stored in tightly covered containers. The brownish color on the surface of used tin pans is tin oxide. This is a better conductor of heat than the tin, thus explaining why cakes brown so much more easily in used tins than new ones

*Lamb Stew, Parsley Dumplings. (Serves 6)

Buy 21/2 pounds lamb shoulder, chuck or shank. Cut the meat in one-inch cubes, dredge with flour and brown in hot fat. Season with salt and pepper and cover tightly after adding two cups of broth or water. Simmer slowly for 30 minutes and then add whole small sliced onions or sliced onion rings, sliced carrots, diced potatoes and 11/2 cups drained peas. Cover tightly and cook until vegetables are tender, about 45 minutes, adding more water or stock if necessary. To make parsley dumplings, sift 2 cups of flour with 1 teaspoon salt, 4 teaspoons baking powder and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Add I well beaten egg, 3 tablespoons melted butter and % cup milk. Mix to a moist stiff batter and add 3 tablespoons minced parsley. Drop by spoonfuls onto stew, cover closely and cook without lifting cover for 18 minutes. Remove dumplings to platter and arrange with meat and vegetables. Thicken gravy in pan with flour-water paste. Add a dash of Worcestershire sauce and pour over stew. Serve at once.

How do you plan your desserts? Well, naturally you want them to go with your main dish, but consider their planning from another point of view also. If you're using the oven, have a baked dessert to utilize heat to the fullest. If you're cooking a top-of-the-stove meal, make a refrigerator dessert so as not to use the oven for just one thing.

American Pudding.

(Serves 6) 34 cup flour 1 teaspoon baking powder

4 tablespoons shortening 1/3 cup sugar

½ cup milk 4 tablespoons currants 1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind 1¾ cup boiling water

½ cup honey

½ teaspoon salt Sift flour, measure, then sift with paking powder. Cream one half of shortening, add sugar. Add milk and flour, alternately beating until smooth after each addition. Add currants and lemon rind. Turn into greased baking dish. Combine remaining shortening, honey, water and salt and pour over batter. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 40 to 45 minutes. This next recipe is truly a hasty oudding. It's quickly made and delicious, too, now that whipped cream and marshmallows, absent so long from our grocery shelves, are back with us again.

Make the most of your lamb stew by serving it in your prettiest deep platter with vegetables, parsleyflecked dumplings and tender morsels of lamb riding on top of the savory gravy.

*Hasty Pudding. (Serves 6)

To one cup of whipped cream, add cup brown sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla extract. Blend thoroughly. Add 15 graham crackers which have been broken into small pieces: 4 bananas, quartered and sliced, and 16 marshmallows which have been snipped with scissors into small pieces. Mix lightly and chill well before serving.

This hasty pudding can be dressed up beautifully for a company dinner in tall glasses and topped with a garnish of whipped cream and a dab of red jelly or jam or a cherry.

To prevent cake icing from sticking to the knife, dip the knife in hot water before slicing.

Lettuce, string beans and other vegetables often are more easily cut with scissors than with a knife. A good way to use old soap is to grate the scraps on a household grater or put them through a food chopper and use them for laundry. Thickening for soups and gravies may be made quickly by beating equal amounts of flour and water to a smooth paste in a shallow bowl with an egg beater.
