Bound Over To Circuit Court

WM. TRYON, WHO ALLEGEDLY KILLED WIFE, BEING HELD FOR TRIAL

Wm. Tryon, 35, was bound over to the March term of circuit court without bond following his examination in the justice court of Horace R. Fowler Monday for the alleged slaying of his wife Opal, 29, at their Cedar street residence during the early morning hours of Dec. 2.

Wm. Tryon, Jr. 12 year old son of the accused was the key witness at the examinations. Called to the stand by prosecutor, C. M. Bice, "Billy" related the events he had witnessed the morning of the staying in a low, calm, tone of voice as curious spectators who jammed the justice court strained to hear his remarks.

Asked by Bice to tell what he had seen in the upstairs bedroom, Billy said "He was hitting her. I tried to break them up." With further questioning Billy said that he was going to run for help but his father shoved him to one side and said "Stay here."

The accused sat between his attorneys Roman Glocheski and Guy C. Conkle Jr. He appeared to be calm and collected except when police photos of the victim were passed to the defense table for verification. Tryon held his hands to his eyes.

"She hugged me," Billy said brokenly, and then made a visible effort to recover his composure as he told the court how his father attempted to pull him away. According to Billy's testimony Tryon then went to the front room and returned with a 12 gauge automatic shotgun.

"What did he say Billy?" Bice asked.

"He said something about 'I've been wanting to do this for a long time.'" Billy replied, and then related that he was standing beside his terrified mother when his father fired three shots, two of which struck Mrs. Tryon in the heart.

First witness to be called was Dr. Guy C. Conkle who offered evidence with regard to the appearance of the room and the location of the bodies as he found them the morning he was called to the scene. Tryon was found lying over the body of his wife in an unconscious condition from a wound believed to have been self-inflicted.

Under cross examination by defense attorney, Roman Glocheski, Grand Rapids, Billy became confused when questioned as to length as to what his mother was saying as she screamed. He broke into tears as Glocheski asked, "Didn't your mother say, 'Billy take the gun and shoot your father?'"

"I don't remember," Billy said after many moments of silence. He then broke into tears and the defense rested until he had recovered. "She said something about the gun and said don't let him shoot me." His testimony at this point became incoherent again under emotional stress. He stated that he wouldn't take the gun which his father had offered saying "Then you shoot me."

He then repeated the statements he made when questioned by the prosecution saying that his father "had wanted to do this for a long time" and that he had said "Good bye" as Billy fled from the room to seek help.

Police Chief Kenneth Lane, Robert Harbaugh, and night patrolman Chas. A. Ploughman appeared on the witness stand and related their observations when they were called to the scene. Harbaugh, husband of Genevieve, a sister of the victim, was with the Tryons at a tavern before the shooting occurred. He testified

Celebrate Their 50th Milestone Together

Adouble surprise party feature was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Tobey, Finkton Friday evening Feb. 14, in honor of the 50th Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor Feb. 9th. And the 29th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard E. Hite Feb. 10th. Both receiving lovely gifts. About 32 was present. An enjoyable time was had by all.

Layman's Sunday

Laymans Sunday was observed in the Methodist church Sunday Feb. 23rd. The program was planned by Rev Howard Moore and Vernon Vance with Geo. Klooster taking charge and reading the scripture and lead in prayer. The topic was Our Accountability to God and was ably handled by Carlton Bowen, A. L. Darbee, Bryce Vance, Vernon Vance and Scott Bartholomew. The Male Quartet was composed of Fred Hall, Albert Omland, George Klooster and Adolph Drapeau. Young boys took up the offering.

SO SWEET OF YOU TO REMEMBER

To Sup, and Mrs. Wade who brought us the beautiful plant on our wedding anniversary, also the many persons who have sent me nice things during my illness (Mrs. Ashby) our sincere thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Ashby

War Relief Campaign

Pupils in Catholic schools in this area are participating in the national Bishops' War Relief Campaign by contributing their pennies and nickels saved through giving up candy and entertainment during Lent, to the fund for food for children in war-affected areas.

The children's drive is part of a national campaign by Catholics to raise $5,000,000 for war sufferers.

The quota in the Grand Rapids diocese is $35,000.

that no action of the Tryons would indicate that there was any ill feeling between the two, and that he and Genevieve had parted company with the Tryons shortly after 3:00 a. m. the morning of the alleged murder.

Glocheski moved that the examination be adjourned until March 5th, in order that the defense be given sufficient time to draw up complete brief; but Justice Fowler denied the motion when prosecutor Bice explained that the adjournment would possibly delay Tryon's appearance for trial until sometime after May session of court.

By scheduling the case for the March session, the defense could ask for a delay until the May session and thus still assure themselves of sufficient time to prepare their case, Bice pointed out.

World Day of Prayer

Worlds day of Prayer was observed Friday Feb. 21 at 2 o'clock in the Methodist church with all of the Protestant churches taking part. The Ministerial Association attending in a body. Mrs. Ruth Vance was the leader of the service. The young people taking part. The choir consisted of young folks. Mrs. M. F. Lewis at the piano and solo parts sung by Mrs. Ruth Moore and Donna Holland. A beautiful candle lighting was presented by High School girls. Each color of candles representing a different country. An interesting program and well attended.

Mrs. John J. Sarmouski of Dearborn was a recent guest of her mother, Mrs. Peder Hegerberg.

The Wednesday Evening Circle of the Presbyterian Ladies Aid Society will meet March 5 at the home of Mrs. John Smith. Mrs. Marion Jackson and Mrs. Harry Jankoviak co-hostesses.

LENTEN MESSAGES

"Jesus began to preach and say Repent; for the kingdom of Heaven is at hand." — Mat. 4:17. "Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." He also said, "Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God." — John 3:3,5.

Lenten time is a call to prayer, fasting and sacrifice by examining our heart with a purpose of letting Christ make a new creation in us. Let us let Christ fulfill his purpose in us, by taking out hate, strife, envy, greed, evil thinking, yes, the very nature to do wrong; leaving only love for one another and God, and a supreme desire to do right. This is what Christ meant in the texts of scripture used.

It is the remedy for the ills of the human family today. That which we call the Lord's prayer: "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done in earth," (our hearts first) then it will be on earth. There is a general cry for a world christian brotherhood.

It can be done.

Church of God.

WITH THE ANTRIM COUNTY AGR'L AGENT

RURAL PROGRESS CARAVAN TO VISIT ANTRIM COUNTY

The Rural Progress Caravan will visit Antrim County on Friday, March 21. The County Highway Garage at Central Lake will again be used to house this one day event through the courtesy of the Antrim County Road Commission.

Homemaking will be featured at this years Caravan Show although other College Departments will come in for their share of displays.

Homemaking displays will include exhibits on Household Management, Home Furnishings, Clothing, Child Care and Nutrition.

In addition to demonstration of house and room remodeling will be given in collaboration with the Department of Agricultural Engineerings

Carrying the keynote of the Caravan will be a life size kitchen, showing the proper arrangement of equipment and utensils for easier and more efficient work. Other exhibits will show ways to achieve good lighting in all kinds of work, a practical arrangement for clothes closets, a childrens corner in the home, and the proper method and material for wrapping fruits and vegetables for freezing.

WATCH FOR MAPLE SAP RUNS

Warm weather in January caused sap runs in some parts of Michigan. Farmers often lose 10 to 25 gallons of sprup in February by not tapping early, says Walter G. Kirkpatrick, County Agricultural Agent.

Michigan farmers will find it profitable to tap early and produce as much syrup as they can. Demand will be strong and prices favorable. Producers are now regulating their sell-prices by the market demand since there is no ceiling price on pure maple syrup and sugar.

Early tapping every year at the Michigan State college sugar bush has shown that a freeze after early tapping does not dry the tap holes. Frequent freezes are necessary during the syrup season to produce a good run of sap. The past several years have been poor sap years for Antrim County Syrup workers. Both years the sap run started early and quit in just a few days. Watch for the Michigan State college weather forecast for syrupmaking.

Are You Building A Bird House

CONTEST OPEN TO ALL YOUTHS. CLOSES MARCH 12th.

How is the new colony of homes for Mr. and Mrs. Wren and Mr. and Mrs. Martin progressing? Are the roofs on yet? Spring will soon be here and the new neighbors will be looking for a new attractive home to rent for the summer. Will you have one ready for occupancy in your yard?

Bring your bird houses to Mrs. Basil Holland, 104 E. Williams Street, before March 12th. They will be displayed at the city building and the three most attractive and well made ones will be awarded prizes.

To enable the younger children to compete fairly with the older children the contest will be divided into three classes with a first prize of $2.00 for each class.

Classes are divided as follows:
First through Third Grade.
Fourth through Sixth grade.
Seventh through Ninth Grade.
Bird Houses will be judged on originality, workmanship and accuracy.

There will also be a grand prize awarded in addition to the above prizes.

Judging for the awards will take place March 15th.

This effort on the part of the East Jordan Extension Group is to interest young boys and girls in craftsmanship where they can use their imagination and creative ability on something worth while in the protection and encouragement of one of our most valuable wild life resources.

YOU SHOULD KNOW YOUR RADIO!

by T. M. Luxford

Fibber McGee is going to strighten up his closet one of these days. At last report he hasn't started it yet. At one time I was exposed to a little education but I seemed to be immune. Possibly it was because of a sign which my room-mate and I had posted in our room. It read: We will start tomorrow. We gazed at it reverently every day. "There goes a promising young man," you have heard someone say. Sure, promising every thing but doing nothing.

You and I have a closet to straighten out. On the door in big letters it says: Radio Interference. Last week we opened the door. We can't just promise to do it tomorrow, we must do it today. This week we started in on the mess. We have had many offers of help from the citizenry of East Jordan. Many have come in to get filters or to seek advice so they won't make noise in their neighbor's radios. One man donated a portable radio and offered transportation. That's real public spirit. I have heard some say that it can't be done — it has been tried before — other cities have tried and failed. If you meet a guy like that, squirt him with DDT. We wouldn't have started this project if we couldn't finish it.

I have to have this article ready for the press not later than Tuesday each week, so there has been little time for written reports from you to reach me. Let me emphasize again that they are very important. A survey of the business district has already been started because it is a concentrated noise area. I can only know where residential noise exists by your written reports. Your only cost is a post-card or letter. Inspection is free. Your report will be confidential. One person hesitated to report this week. He was afraid that the noise might be located in some neighbor's home and the neighbor wouldn't like it. This is a community project. No one should be offended. It's all for one and one for all. When I answer a report and art survey in your neighborhood of I will not mention who reported the noise.

In a survey of ten business places, three were found to have an ungrounded electric service. Not only is such a condition potentially if not actually a noisemaker, it is very dangerous. I offer this information in order that you may have your place checked, if you wish, by some competent electrician. All these business firms operating devices causing interference were glad to cooperate and filters will be installed immediately.

Two electric razors were brought in by owners who didn't want to interfere with their neighbors radio reception. Neither did the owner want to become Monte Wooleys. Special filters have been ordered.

By the time you read this, much more of the business section will have been covered. I would like to mention that a survey of the local telephone office gives them a clean record. None of their office equipment radiates noise. Occasional trouble will occur, as it does with the power company, but is immediately taken care of.

A kindled fire will continue to burn only if you keep adding fuel. A stick of punk just glows. Who wants to be

South Arm Farm Bureau

The Southarm Farm Bureau group held their regular meeting, on Tuesday, February 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Ingalls, with an attendance of 29 members.

Mrs. Nina L. Zimmerman was elected recreation leader and Mrs. Joyce Petras, Vice-chairman.

Literature was passed out on Blue Cross Insurance. Anyone interested in this insurance should see Mrs. George Klooster before the first of March.

We had a very interesting discussion on "The Future of Farm co-operatives" led by our discussion leader, Bill Boss. Pot luck lunch was served by our hostess.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, March 18, with the Southarm and the North-Southarm groups meeting together in the City Hall. Mrs. Marjorie Karker from the State Office will be with us. Mrs. Karker is an interesting speaker so lets all get out to the next meeting.

THE SCHOOL BELL

JUNIORS

The Juniors have started work on their class play, "Just Ducky", which will be given some time in March. It is a three act comedy with lots of laughs and suspense. The characters are:

Mr. Maxwell (The head of the house-he thinks) — Chuck Kolien
Mrs. Maxwell (The head of the house-she thinks) — Jennie Chanda
Connie Maxwell (There seventeen-year old daughter) Betty Severance
Betty Lou Maxwell (Their fourteen-year old daughter) Sally Campbell

Wilbur Maxwell (Their thirteen-year old son) Jim Brennan.
Bernadine Smith (Betty Lou's best friend) Alice Walden

Hercules Nelson (Wilbur's bosom buddy) Dick Misner
Graig Moor (Connis's boy friend) Dick Malpass

Mr. Moor (Graig's father) Bob Benson
Mr. Marshall (A newspaper reporter) Alan Robinson

Aunt Mary (Mrs. Maxwell's aunt) Carol Adair
Miss Blane (The editor of the local love-lorn column) Phyllis McKinnon

F. H. A.
The F.H.A. club had a tobogganing party Monday night on Winter's Hill. After the party, they returned to the Home Ec. room for chili. The girls will meet next Wednesday to pick three delegates to send to the State meeting of the F.H.A. clubs of Michigan, at East Lansing, March 25 and 26. Miss Johnston will drive the girls down. The singing at the meeting will be led by Sally Campbell who is State song leader for the clubs of Michigan.

SOPHOMORES
The Sophomores had their play try-outs Monday night and will soon begin work on their play, "Great Aunt Jinnie". Some of the sophomores have been writing the history of East Jordan for English and some of these are very interesting.

BAND
We are glad to see the Band can run in such a Democratic manner. When one boy skipped band one night, the next day they had a trial, complete with jury to determine what his punishment should be. After it was all settled, the band settled back to its old way of life.

Gospel Singers Here Next Wednesday

On Wednesday night, March 5, the Gospel Singers — Miss Norene Holloman and Evelyn Devine of Battle Creek will be at the Gospel Light-house Mission, the basement church on the corner of 4th and Division street. These girls are very talented singers and musicians, also preach the gospel especially to the young people.

They have recently returned from a trip thro California and are now visiting missions thro northern Michigan.

You are cordially invited to come and hear them March 5th one night only.

SUGAR

This is what has become of the most of our sugar:—

Puerto Rico is a great sugar producing island and with the approval and co-operation of our Government, puts most of its sugar into the marketing of rum. The U. S. is in the rum business. Strange work for a country which calls itself a Christian nation. adv9x1 Selected from News.

Farm Bureau Holds Training School

Leaders from nine community groups met at the Bellaire community Hall, Monday Feb. 24 for an all day meeting. Mr. Clare McGan, assistant District Representative, had charge of the meeting. Resource people present were Claude Nash of Michigan State College, J. D. Marcus of Central State College at Mt. Pleasant and Norman Wagoner, Director of Research and Education for Michigan Farm Bureau.

The meeting was very informal. Everyone made themselves acquainted and were made to feel welcome. A very nice pot luck dinner was served at noon which everyone enjoyed.

Immediately following dinner the various officers gathered in groups and discussed problems of community groups and possible solutions. Some of the main factors in making a community group click seemed to be a time schedule, start on time, stop on time, have a planned program and have a lively discussion. Another factor is publicity. Inform the membership what the meeting is to be and keep them informed of the results.

Much good will came of these resource meeting and it is hoped more people will take the opportunity to attend future meeting.

Robert Hubbell, Secretary.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

STATE DEPARTMENT BEING CLEARED OF COMMUNISTS

WASHINGTON.—Not much attention has been paid the invisible honeycombing of the state department by some mysterious force which writers seem to find it difficult to describe.

The figures have been published, but not widely. I am an intense reader, yet I failed to see them. Maybe you missed them. At least you missed the only important part about them in the restricted way in which writers had to touch them. They wrote the story leaning backward as if the heat from the figures was too hot for them. At any rate, here are the figures—see if they are hot:

The state department, our official diplomatic headquarters of policy, the citadel of the world movement to establish freedom of the individual from dictatorships; especially freedom to express himself—this state department has cleaned out 202 employees from its midst in connection with its investigation of Communist tactics within. You cannot call the 202 Communists, sympathizers, or even describe them. Oh no! Some resigned at the mere threat of investigation. Sensitive souls, no doubt! Some quit when asked by investigators about themselves. They were insulted, unquestionably! Others just ran at that particular time. A desire to be free no doubt seized them like a spasm. Well, anyhow, 202 seem to have had a spasm to be free of government probers and left.

Of the 3,000 suspects to spasm sensitivity originally coming into the department from the Office of War Information and two other bureaus, the investigators went after 314. Only 59 were given a clean bill of spasm resistance and 53 cases still are being investigated—mind you, these 53 are still in the department.

BYRNES KEPT IT QUIET

Now, the Byrnes regime clearly did not consider it advisable for anyone to talk about this fault any more than necessary or to consider there might be spasm addicts in other state bureaus. In fact, Byrnes denied frequently there were any Communists in his department when congress pressed him. Actually he started weeding them out while denying they were there. Repeatedly in this column he was told they were there long before congress pressed him, and repeatedly he denied it, finally chasing them privately. That seems to be the truth of the matter.

In any event, the important thing now is that only one of these chased 202 can be called a Communist by a legal and respectable writer who desires to avoid the trouble of proving it. That single one was indicted. Of course he denied ardently he was a Communist, as they all do. However, the government investigators found he had been an organizer for the Communist party prior to his employment by our government, and so they decided to prove he was what they knew him to be. Certainly the other 201 must be called "spasmists," no, not even that, but "some possibly sensitive to a certain type of spasm investigation."

That is what must be done under the sound rules of newspaper and radio libel and related established practice by a reasonably cautious person. Personally I think this kind of foolishness has gone about far enough. It represents really only our own sensitivity to accusations of unfairness—and on a proposition which involves actually spies and foreign sympathizers in our own official departments.

THEY WOULDN'T TOLERATE US

The Communist government would have no hesitancy similar to ours. They must consider us rather stupid. If Stalin found any of our Democrats or Republicans in his foreign office, they would be shot.

The very existence of such a condition is unequivocally ridiculous and embarrassing to our diplomatic negotiations. While the Russians would not tolerate an outsider for a second, we welcomed them in during the Roosevelt administration and we now cover up, deny and avoid calling a Communist what he is after finding him in our own government—and labor organizations like CIO cannot get rid of them.

Communists should be granted no more equal rights. An act of congress should be passed, as I have advocated before. Whatever rights are granted to our political parties in Moscow should be granted to Muscovites here—and not a single right more. The negotiation of rights should be aimed toward reciprocity. Then with dictatorships we will have the right of negotiating on an equal plane. The Communist party would be put on the same plane as Democrat enjoys in Moscow. And above all there is no need to call a spasm a "spasm."

U.S., Canada Cooperate Against Arctic War Threat; Labor Reform Balked by Industry Disagreement

Released by Western Newspaper Union.
(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Wintry blasts in the Windy City of Chicago converted this fire engine fighting fire into a pillar of ice as sub-zero temperature froze spray from hoses. After a week of shivering, Chicagoans welcomed break in weather, thermometer hitting the 30s.

CANADA: Defense Agreement

Partners in war, U. S. and Canada will remain partners in peace to strengthen the defense of the northern portion of the western hemisphere.

Agreement to extend wartime military cooperation into the postwar world was announced simultaneously by Washington and Ottawa. Because the agreement was of a friendly, informal character and involved no treaty or obligations, congressional approval will not be necessary, the state department said.

With development of high-speed bombers, supersonic rockets, guided missiles and radio-controlled pilotless aircraft, Canada's arctic circle comprising the shortest distance between Asia and Europe and the western hemisphere is considered as this country's chief natural defense frontier. Cooperation with Canada thus would afford the U. S. a strategic advantage in coping with an arctic aerial attack.

The new agreement calls for familiarization of U. S. and Canadian officers with one another's military establishment; gradual standardization of weapons, and mutual and reciprocal use of military and naval facilities.

Divorce Rate Climbs

The number of divorces in the U. S. nearly doubled during war years and, if the current rate of increase continues, annual divorce totals will match marriage totals within the next decade, statistics from the bureau of the census and the public health service indicate. There were 502,000 divorces in the country in 1945, while during the same period there were 1,618,331 marriages. In 1940, before the war put unprecedented stress on the bonds of matrimony, there were an estimated 264,000 divorces and 1,595,879 marriages. Thus while divorces during the final year of World War II were more than 90 per cent higher than in 1940, the nationwide marriage rate was up less than a net 1.4 per cent.

GERMANY: Allies Conflict

Implementation of differing Allied economic policies in Germany promises to produce a conflicting hodge-podge that will complicate any future unification of the reich as an independent state or ward of U. S., Britain and Russia.

The confused situation was pointed up by the U. S. promulgation of anti-trust law in the American occupation zone. Designed to promote independent enterprise, the law will require reorganization of some 30 large German corporations with assets of 300 million dollars. Firms employing over 10,000 people will be the first targets.

While the British issued a similar law in their occupation zone, they provided safeguards for socialization of certain industries.

Over in their eastern occupation zone, the Russians already have incorporated more than 200 concerns into state monopolies along communist lines.

BRITAIN: Fuel Crisis

Britain returned to an emergency footing in the Labor government's desperate efforts to resolve the serious coal shortage.

In striving to move precious fuel from snow-bound regions and at the same time conserve dwindling

FIRE:

During 1946 national fire waste totaled $501,487,000, the highest losses in 20 years, and the second highest ever recorded. This destruction came within half a million dollars of exceeding the record year of 1926.

Last year, the waste by fire was greater than in any of the years of vast citywide conflagrations, such as 1871, when Chicago burned, or 1906, when fire destroyed virtually all of San Francisco.

stocks, the government acted under military defense regulations, decreeing:

Railroad passenger service would be curtailed to clear rights of way for coal trains and divert locomotives to such haulage; servicemen would be employed at digging surface coal; additional trucks would be provided to transport fuel from docks and railroad depots; all but essential street lighting would be banned, and violators of electricity conservation orders would be punished.

Airplanes were used to drop food and other essentials to snow-bound villages cut off from railroad and highway communication by the heavy drifts.

Sick Industry

Behind Britain's acute coal crisis which left millions jobless and shivering as industrial and domestic power services were sharply curtailed lay the story of an antiquated coal mining industry enfeebled by low wages, undesirable working conditions and outmoded machinery.

Nationalization of the mines by the Labor government, with the promise of an improvement in the industry, has been too recent to afford substantial relief from the aggravated conditions of two and a half decades.

In 1913, Britain produced 287,000,000 tons of coal with 1,107,000 miners, but by 1920 output dropped to 230,000,000 tons. Despite a larger working force, the decline was attributed to the advancing age of the miners and lack of adequate equipment.

Year by year production continued to slip until it sagged to an all-time low of 182,000,000 tons in 1945. But whereas U. S. output continued to climb to over 600,000,000 tons and wages advanced to high levels, both British industry and mine help resisted introduction of new machinery which would have increased volume and allowed more pay.

Because of the unattractive prospects in the mines, the industry has had difficulty recruiting younger men. As a result, it has been forced to stumble along in the face of rising demands, with production just about meeting immediate needs and allowing no stockpiling.

CONGRESS: Slow on Labor

With industrial spokesmen divided among themselves upon corrective labor legislation, house and senate labor committees found their tasks complicated with little chance for early action.

With action already delayed by Republican reorganization of the new congress and streamlining of procedure provided for in the La Follette bill last year, it appears that the lawmakers will not be able to agree upon any substantial corrective legislation before expiration of John L. Lewis' truce with the government March 31.

Indicative of the differences between industrial interests, Forney Johnston, special counsel for National Coal association, blasted industry-wide bargaining with unions, while Almon E. Roth, president of National Federation of American Shipping, approved of it. While industry-wide bargaining, which covers many plants, is considered less troublesome and costly, individual employers sacrifice some of their independence in consummating such agreements.

Profits Near Normal

Profits in 1946 were normal in relation to the national income and in line with long-term ratios for active years, say Jules Backman and Martin R. Gainsburgh in a survey of profits released by National Industrial Conference board.

During previous years of high level employment and production, the two economists declare, profits have averaged between 7½ per cent and 8½ per cent of the national income.

PALESTINE: Problem for U.N.

Strong Arab and Jewish opposition to the British plan for dividing Palestine to provide a homeland for Jewish refugees promised to result in submission of the problem to the United Nations to check the outbreak of a bloody civil war in the Holy Land.

Britain had appeared too near the end of her rope in trying to work out agreement between the Arabs and Jews. While Jewish terrorists had goaded the British into developing a compromise plan, they were reluctant to enforce it against the unwilling Arabs, the mightiest force in the strategic and oil-rich Near East.

Not only could the Arabs create trouble in Palestine itself but they also could kick up in oil-rich Saudi Arabia and Iraq and exert pressure in Egypt along the vital imperial lifeline from the Far East.

Submission of the case to the U.N. would relieve Britain of the onus of imposing peace on a hostile country.

POLAND: Offer Amnesty

Desirous of repatriating thousands of Polish exiles spread throughout Europe, the Mediterranean region and Canada, the Russian sponsored Polish government offered political amnesty to refugees who have opposed the present regime or committed crimes against it.

Equally desirous of uniting Poland itself and checking continuing bloody civil warfare, the government announced the application of the amnesty order to 100,000 political prisoners within the country and members of the rightist underground hiding out in forest lands.

On the very day that the Warsaw regime appealed to exiled Poles to return to their homeland, the British parliament approved a resettlement bill for 127,000 Polish troops in Britain.

Inflation Hits China

Many a Chinese wondered if it was the beginning of the end.

Chinese dollars were as plentiful as goods were scarce and from Canton in the south to Peiping in the north the price of the national staple rice soared. In Shanghai where workers are guaranteed pay increases commensurate to the rise in living costs, many business men considered closing shop since mounting costs threatened to ruin them.

Indicative of the inflationary spiral, one American dollar bought 19,000 Chinese dollars.

With the creeping paralysis in the Chinese economy intensified by the civil strife raging between the Nationalists and Communists, the U. S. decision to abandon its peace-making and pull out of the country was said to have contributed to the financial breakdown.

UAW: Empty Purse

In battling for maintenance of high take-home pay during the re-conversion period, strikes cost the powerful CIO - United Automobile Workers more than $2,000,000, George F. Addes, secretary treasurer of the union, disclosed.

As of last November, Addes revealed, the UAW net worth stood at $134,869 compared with $2,639,000 at the time of V-J Day. Toward the close of 1946, he said, the union had cashed in all of its government bonds save for $10,000, and was compelled to borrow $250,000 from other CIO unions.

From December, 1945, to November, 1946, the UAW had expended $1,826,186 on strikes, Addes said. Because the walkouts at Allis-Chalmers in West Allis, Wis., and the J. I. Case company in Racine, Wis., have been costing $150,000 monthly for the last few months, the UAW strike fund now is in the red.

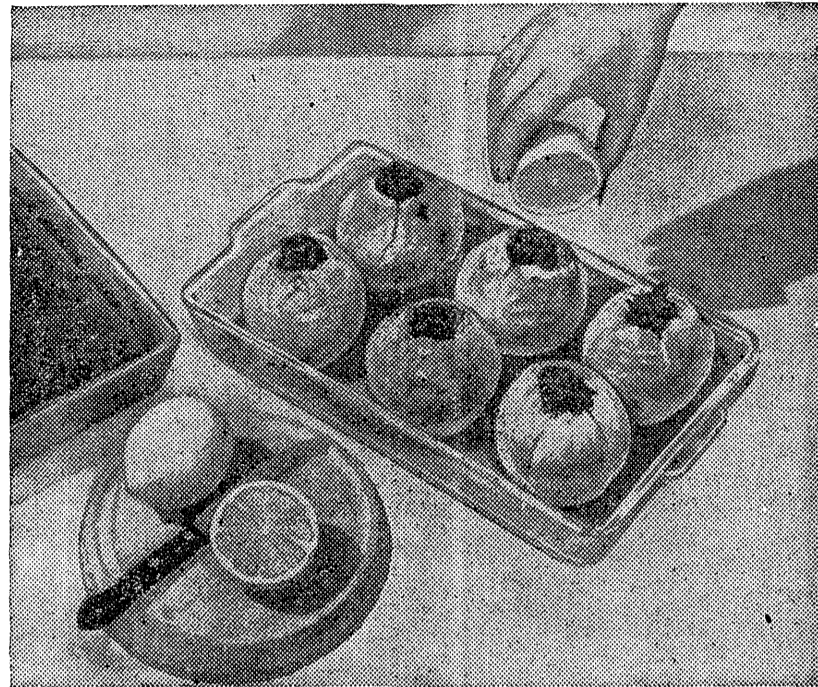

To build up UAW finances, the union top command has slapped a special $1 per month capita assessment on the 800,000 members. Dues were increased from $1 to $1.50 monthly last April.

SLUMS:

Substantial financial aid from the federal government will be necessary if there is to be any considerable amount of slum clearance and sound urban redevelopment in this country, Louis Justement of the urban planning committee of American Institute of Architects, asserted.

This conclusion is shared by the recently formed interprofessional urban planning committee which agreed that it is desirable that urban communities should be self-reliant."

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Serve Fruit-in-Season for Health! (See recipes below)

Fruit in the Diet

Perhaps yours is one of those families which don't seem to require much in the way of dessert. This does appear to solve your menu planning, but it really doesn't solve a dietary problem.

One of the rules set down by nutrition authorities is that two fruits must be included in the daily dietary. One of these fruits, preferably the citrus variety, may be worked in at breakfast, but that leaves one other fruit for one of the other meals.

If your family tends to gain weight easily, serve this fruit in its natural state—as a fresh apple, pear, cluster of grapes, etc. In this way you will not be adding any additional calories by serving the fruit with sugar, cream, syrup, or any other highly caloric foods.

Should the family readily reach and attain its normal weight, you can easily serve fruit baked with sweetening, in puddings or in cakes. Or, if you have members in your family who must have richer, satisfying foods because they work hard, serve desserts like this frequently because they will not only gain starches and sugars from it, but also take in their fruit requirement.

Baked apples are a simple dessert to serve at this time of year, especially when they're pepped up with lemon. If you want to add something more substantial to the dessert of this lovely fruit, use gingerbread which has been flavored with 2 teaspoons of grated orange rind added to the batter just after mixing.

*Lemon Baked Apples. (Serves 6).

6 medium sized apples
½ cup granulated, brown or maple sugar or honey
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter or substitute

Nuts and raisins (optional)

Wash and core apples. Place in a baking dish. Fill each cavity with a portion of the sugar or honey, grated lemon peel and butter. Add the nuts or raisins or a mixture of the two, if desired. Pour some of the lemon juice over each apple. Cover the bottom of the pan with boiling water. Cover dish and bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven 30 to 40 minutes or until apples are tender. If baked uncovered, baste frequently with syrup.

Apple Crunch. (Serves 4 to 6)

6 cups cored, pared, sliced apples
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ cup orange juice
½ cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons butter or substitute

½ cup corn or wheat flakes

½ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon orange rind, grated

Arrange apples in a greased baking dish. Sprinkle sugar over the top and pour orange juice over them. Work together brown sugar (½ cup) and butter until creamy, add remaining ingredients and mix until crumbly. Spread on top of apple mixture. Pour an additional ½ cup orange juice over top and bake in a moderately hot (375 degree) oven for 45 minutes. Serve warm or cold with cream, vanilla or custard sauce.

Peach Cake.

½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups canned, drained peaches
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon chopped walnut meats

Cream together shortening and ½ cup sugar until light. Add eggs, one at a time, beating each thoroughly.

Sift together, flour, baking powder and salt. Add to batter slowly, beating well after each addition. Pour ½ of batter into a greased baking pan, oblong, and lay sliced peaches on batter. Cover with remaining batter, then top with sugar, cinnamon and nuts which have been mixed together. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 50 minutes. Serve warm or cold with cream.

Peach Souffle. (Serves 6)

Soak for several hours or overnight ½ pound of dried peaches. Cook in same water in which they were soaked until all the moisture is absorbed. Rub cooked peaches through a colander. Beat the whites of 5 eggs stiff, then fold in ¾ cup sugar, peach pulp and ½ teaspoon salt. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla and ½ cup chopped nuts, if desired. Pour into a buttered baking dish and place this in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 50 minutes. Turn out on platter and serve with sweetened, whipped cream.

Pear Fritters. (Serves 6 to 8)

½ cup flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
Pinch of salt
1 beaten egg
2 tablespoons milk
2 tablespoons melted butter
8 pear halves

Sift dry ingredients. Add beaten egg which has been mixed with milk. Stir until smooth and add melted butter. Dip drained pears (fresh or canned) into batter long enough to coat. Drop into deep hot fat and brown on all sides. Drain on absorbent paper and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

LYNN SAYS: Put Your Vegetables Into Salads

Canned mixed vegetables, or cooked leftover vegetables look pretty spread on salad greens. Serve with a thousand island dressing.

Bits of cooked, leftover vegetables should never be tossed into the garbage. Combining several of these vegetables wisely and adding other ingredients to stretch them will often solve your luncheon or dinner salad problem.

Large spinach leaves may be combined with chunks of crisp greens and sliced tomatoes.

Diced cooked beets are delicious with minced onion, green pepper rings and chopped hard-cooked eggs.

Make beet salad by using leftover sliced beets with overlapping slices of raw cucumber and raw onion slices.

A conglomeration of leftover vegetables may be brought together if molded in tomato-cottage cheese aspic for a pretty luncheon salad.

Bert Solves the Labor Problem

You hear a lot about capital and labor nowadays, as if the two could never get together. But look at Bert Childers—who has 320 acres of producing land, a fair-sized herd of cattle, and two farm hands working for him.

If anybody has a beef—whether it's about wages or hours or equipment—they talk it over at those friendly evening sessions.

I don't say all labor problems are as simple as Bert's. But from where I sit, the basic principle applies to any farm or factory or business: A principle of confidence and mutual respect, of daily talks together in a friendly and congenial atmosphere.

If you called Bert a "capitalist" he wouldn't know what you meant, and neither would Spike and Sandy, the hired men. Bert works side by side with both of them; and in the evenings they sit around the fire together—sharing a friendly glass of beer or two.

Again it's possible for us to say—

WE SERVICE YOUR CAR AS YOU WANT IT SERVICED

... to merit your friendship and goodwill!

Hindered in the past by the shortage of many vital parts and materials, we found it increasingly difficult to accommodate our customers in the manner which had made our car and truck service famous for years.

Today, however, with service parts and materials becoming more readily available . . . and with more experienced mechanics to serve you . . . we are prepared to offer you not only the full benefit of our facilities but an even greater service precision and efficiency.

We of the Chevrolet service organization want you to know that we value your service business to the fullest degree and that we are determined to give you such sound and satisfying service that you will want to be our customer for a long time to come!

Come in today and at regular intervals. . . . Skilled mechanics—modern tools and equipment —quality parts and materials . . . all adding up to service that you'll call superior in all ways!

To merit your lasting friendship—to merit your lasting goodwill—we operate our service business in accordance with the following principles:

OUR SERVICE PLEDGE

- We will accurately diagnose—to the best of our ability—the repairs needed on your car. If you request it, we will give you in advance our analysis of the work to be done.
- We will write up your order clearly, completely and legibly, and secure your authorization to do the work before starting.
- We will notify you in advance of any additional work we think should be done, and secure your approval before proceeding.
- We will perform all the work on your car as efficiently and as economically as possible. We will replace only those parts which in our judgment need replacing.
- We will road-test your car after the work is done and before we return the car to you, if the nature of the work requires it.
- We will endeavor to have your car ready on time. If the work takes longer than we estimate, we will advise you as far in advance as possible.
- We will provide you with an itemized bill showing exactly what work was done and exactly what it cost. We will gladly explain any item or items that are not clear to you.

Soldier Come Home

BY BETTY ZANE WATSON

Johnny Davis, home from service, resumes his place at the Daily Clarion with his father. He falls in love with Kit Willett, reporter, but finds she is engaged to his cousin, Basil Martin. He and his father continue their efforts to build a park for the town children, but land must be granted by his grandmother, Jennifer Martin, who has refused it to them because she holds them responsible for the death of her daughter at Johnny's birth. Johnny boldly hires men to start digging for the park anyway, but they are ordered away by a policeman. Jerry Murphy, whose father died in an accident on the Martin grounds, tells Johnny he'll get revenge, but Johnny believes him drunk.

CHAPTER VI

The annual football game of Lexington and Martinsburg was scheduled for October 15th. It was the most bitterly contested game of the season. J. D. and Johnny were counting on going and it was a pleasant surprise to Johnny when Kit accepted J. D.'s invitation to go with them and sit on the players' bench, where press men were privileged to sit.

She mentioned quite casually to Johnny that Basil was out-of-town that week-end. This erased some of the pride of her acceptance for Johnny, but he was not to be subdued and planned to make the best of the evening in Basil's absence.

As they were waiting in front of her aunt's house for the evening of the game, J. D., sitting behind the wheel of the Clarion's old jalopy, turned to Johnny.

"You know, son—I could manage to get a splitting headache right about now."

Johnny looked out and laughed a little.

"No, J. D. Don't think it would do any good. Seems as though the lady's sold on Basil."

"Well, son, when I was your age seems to me that women were noted for changing their minds."

"Ah, but not this one." He might have continued had not Kit walked down the steps at that moment.

"Hello, Johnny—J. D. It's been a long time since I've been out with two such handsome men." She climbed in the car and sat between them.

"Pretty exciting, isn't it? I don't think your boy friend would quite approve, Kit." J. D. threw her a sly smile.

"I don't think so, either, J. D.—and that's what makes it so exciting."

"That should put us in our place, Johnny. Bait boys!" J. D. and Johnny laughed.

It was an exciting game and the three of them enjoyed it immensely. To Johnny it was like being on the team again and having his girl sitting beside him on the bench. He caught himself believing this once or twice and then admitted that he could at least dream. When a triumphant Lexington chalked up a thirteen to twelve score for final victory it was with high spirits that Lexington started home.

The three of them stopped at a small roadhouse on their way back to the office. The juke box, nickel god of every dance floor, was playing the tunes that were popular that fall.

The piece they first danced to was "A Door Will Open"—slow and smooth. And he thought how right she was in his arms. Her hair brushed his cheek softly, and once he almost kissed her head, so near she was.

With Johnny's arms around her she felt that no longer was she Kit Willett, Basil's fiancée. She was a high school girl again, she was having a date with the football captain. Oh, it was good to be happy, to dance with the hero's arms about her and not to make words.

until he was closer to him, so he could not elude him this time.

As he was almost halfway up the drive, he left the cover of the trees and ran boldly towards the shadowy figure crouching near the north side of the house.

He did not know the figure had seen him until he felt the sharp impact of the rock hit his forehead. He quickly felt the blood shutting off his vision, but ran on almost blindly in the direction he had last seen the prowler.

As he came closer to the house, the grounds were lighted from the inside rooms and he managed to see the man ahead of him. He gave a final leap and caught him, pinning him down to the ground beneath him.

He knew who it would be before he even looked at the man's face. The strong body of Jerry Murphy was helpless under the hold of Johnny Davis. At first he tried to free himself, but seeing it was useless, he squinted his narrow eyes and looked accusingly at Johnny.

"What are you doin' here, Davis? Lookin' for trouble, maybe?" His red face grimaced with the pain of being held so rigidly.

"You tell me first, Murphy?" Johnny asked him firmly.

"None of your damn business!" "Maybe you'll give them a different answer down at the City Hall." He made a move to show him that he intended carrying out his threat.

"I suppose you don't have any idea, do you, J. D.?"

Johnny held his father back with one arm. He was not sure that J. D. could see Henry's gun.

This is one for the papers, Dad. They think I'm their prowler!"

"Why, you idiots! We were riding along—minding our own business—when Johnny jumped out of the car and ran up here like mad after the man."

Henry, who had not spoken since J. D. had come upon the scene, moved closer to Johnny and took him gingerly by the arm.

"A likely story, Davis. But it won't do. I've got you covered—both of you—and I'll shoot straight—in this case, especially—if you know what I mean!"

But none of them moved very far because Kit came running up the drive at that moment.

She was almost out of breath as she reached them.

"Johnny, J. D.—whatever is the matter?" Then noticing Henry and Basil, she looked from one to the other in question.

"Kit, you stay out of this!" It was Basil commanding.

"Stay out of what? Say, what is all this? First Johnny jumps out of the car and runs up here, and then J. D. comes up to see where Johnny is—and they both stay! Did you catch him, Johnny?" She turned to Johnny.

Basil and Henry looked at each other and Henry reluctantly lowered his gun. They knew that their circumstantial evidence had just been removed.

cause she thought Basil was out of town. He was in a spot, and he knew it. He unconsciously rubbed his hand over his chin.

"If you'll open your rotten minds long enough to hear the truth, I'll try explaining things. I was driving by when I saw a man looking in that window there. I tried to get to him before he saw me, but I didn't make it. But I had him when you came out—then he got away. That's the story—and it's the truth!"

"That's the best I've heard, eh, Dad? Why anyone could see you two were together. He was just lucky enough to get away and you got caught!" Basil stepped out from the shadows behind his father; however, he did not venture too close to Johnny.

"It was probably your good-for-nothing father," Basil guessed.

"Yes, that's it. He threw the rock at me, too. See the cut? We have more fun that way—throwing rocks at each other." Johnny was exasperated at the idiocy of the argument.

The pair were too eager for accusation and ignored his mention of his cut forehead.

"Well," Johnny asked sarcastically, "which tree are you planning to hang me from?"

At that moment J. D. appeared.

"What's up, Johnny?"

But before he had a chance to explain, Basil answered curtly:

"I suppose you don't have any idea, do you, J. D.?"

Johnny held his father back with one arm. He was not sure that J. D. could see Henry's gun.

This is one for the papers, Dad. They think I'm their prowler!"

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

JESUS SUMS UP HIS CLAIMS

LESSON TEXT—John 12:12-16, 20-22. MEMORY SELECTION—And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me.—John 12:32.

The last week of our Lord's ministry on earth comes before us today as we consider two events—one of which occurred on Sunday and the other on Tuesday. One sees here the attitude of men toward Christ, of God toward men, of the Father toward the Son, and the majestic drawing power of the Saviour.

I. Believing Men Honor Christ (vv. 12-16). God says, "Him that offereth praise glorifieth me" (Ps. 50:23), and the believer recognizes that "praise is comely for the upright" (Ps. 33:1). Jesus is entirely worthy of the praise of every heart and voice.

Presenting himself as their Messiah, Jesus received the enthusiastic acclaim of his disciples and friends, who were probably joined by others drawn by the excitement.

The Pharisees did not join in (see Luke 19:39, 40), nor did the city, not even knowing who he was (Matt. 21:10, 11). So it is today; some love and praise him, some hate him, others just ignore him. Of which class are you?

He gave Jerusalem and the nation a final opportunity to receive him. It was not yet too late, but it was their last chance. Such a time comes in the life of every one of us. They rejected him. So did we?

But even though some did reject, we are not to forget that there were those who shouted, "Hosanna"; who cast their garments down before him and waved palms of victory and joy. Thank God for their holy enthusiasm. Pray God that we may have a little more of it.

II. God Honors Men Who Serve Christ (vv. 20-26). It is good to note that whatever prompted the coming of the Greeks, they wanted to see Jesus.

A man has progressed far on the road to blessing when he makes known his desire to see Jesus. Coming to him means coming to the One who has the words of eternal life.

Note that the disciples were wise enough to bring the men to Jesus. The true function of every Christian worker is to bring men to him.

The reply of our Lord to the Greeks, and to the disciples who brought them to him, seems a bit singular at first glance. Did he not wish to receive them? They had probably come to see the great religious leader, the King of the Jews—why did he talk about death?

The words of our Lord are clear. Men do not need an example, a leader, a teacher; they need a Saviour. It is as a sacrifice for sin that Christ will draw all men unto himself.

III. The Father Glorifies the Son (vv. 27-30). The awful blackness of the burden of the world's sins which he was to bear pressed down upon our Lord in an agony of soul beyond our ability to understand. But even his troubled soul did not turn from the hour of death for us.

The question of verse 27 is essentially this: "Should I ask the Father to deliver me from this hour? No, I came to be man's Saviour." He did not look away, nor wish to turn back. He knew why he had come, and he was faithful even to death (Phil. 2:8; Heb. 2:9).

He had only one desire—that the name of God the Father should be glorified (v. 28). Do we who bear his holy name follow in his footsteps? Do we have an eye single to his glory—or do we seek our own? Then came the voice from heaven; the Father had glorified his own name in the Son, and would do it again—yes, again and again.

Jesus knew the Father would do it, he did not need any assurance (v. 30), but for the sake of the people the witness was given. Notice the reaction of the listeners—some recognized that a heavenly message had been given; others had only heard some thunder.

May God give us grace to hear his voice when he speaks, and not consider it merely the rolling of some deep voice of thunder!

IV. The Son Draws All Men to Himself (vv. 31, 32). Because Christ was lifted up on the cross and died, there is victory over sin and death, declared by his resurrection and ascension to the Father.

Serve Fruit-in-Season for Health!

(See recipes below)

Fruit in the Diet

Perhaps yours is one of those families which don't seem to require much in the way of dessert. This does appear to solve your menu planning, but it really doesn't solve a dietary problem.

One of the rules set down by nutrition authorities is that two fruits must be included in the daily dietary. One of these fruits, preferably the citrus variety, may be worked in at breakfast, but that leaves one other fruit for one of the other meals.

If your family tends to gain weight easily, serve this fruit in its natural state — as a fresh apple, pear, cluster of grapes, etc. In this way you will not be adding any additional calories by serving the fruit with sugar, cream, syrup, or any other highly caloric foods.

Should the family readily reach and attain its normal weight, you can easily serve fruit baked with sweetening, in puddings or in cakes. Or, if you have members in your family who must have richer, satisfying foods because they work hard, serve desserts like this frequently because they will not only gain starches and sugars from it, but also take in their fruit requirement.

Baked apples are a simple dessert to serve at this time of year, especially when they're pepped up with lemon. If you want to add something more substantial to the dessert of this lovely fruit, use gingerbread which has been flavored with 2 teaspoons of grated orange rind added to the batter just after mixing.

Lemon Baked Apples. (Serves 6). 6 medium sized apples ½ cup granulated, brown or maple sugar or honey 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel 3 tablespoons lemon juice 2 tablespoons butter or substitute

Nuts and raisins (optional) Wash and core apples. Place in a baking dish. Fill each cavity with a portion of the sugar or honey, grated lemon peel and butter. Add the nuts or raisins or a mixture of the two, if desired. Pour some of the lemon juice over each apple. Cover the bottom of the pan with boiling water. Cover dish and bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven 30 to 40 minutes or until apples are tender. If baked uncovered, baste frequently with syrup.

Apple Crunch. (Serves 4 to 6) 6 cups cored, pared, sliced apples 2 tablespoons brown sugar ¼ cup orange juice ¼ cup brown sugar 3 tablespoons butter or substitute ½ cup corn or wheat flakes ½ cup sifted flour ½ teaspoon nutmeg ½ teaspoon cinnamon 1 tablespoon orange rind, grated top and pour orange juice over them. Work together brown sugar (½ cup) and butter until creamy, add remaining ingredients and mix until crumbly. Spread on top of apple mixture. Pour an additional ½ cup orange juice over top and bake in a moderately hot (375 degree) oven for 45 minutes. Serve warm or cold with cream, vanilla or custard sauce.

Peach Cake. ½ cup shortening ½ cup sugar 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind 2 eggs, unbeaten 1 cup sifted cake flour 1 teaspoon baking powder ¼ teaspoon salt 2 cups canned, drained peaches ½ cup sugar ½ teaspoon cinnamon ½ teaspoon chopped walnut meats

Cream together shortening and ½ cup sugar until light. Add eggs, one at a time, beating each thoroughly. Sift together, flour, baking powder and salt. Add to batter slowly, beating well after each addition. Pour ½ of batter into a greased baking pan, oblong, and lay sliced peaches on batter. Cover with remaining batter, then top with sugar, cinnamon and nuts which have been mixed together. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 50 minutes. Serve warm or cold with cream.

Peach Souffle. (Serves 6) Soak for several hours or overnight ½ pound of dried peaches. Cook in same water in which they were soaked until all the moisture is absorbed. Rub cooked peaches through a colander. Beat the whites of 5 eggs stiff, then fold in ¾ cup sugar, peach pulp and ½ teaspoon salt. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla and ½ cup chopped nuts, if desired. Pour into a buttered baking dish and place this in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 50 minutes. Turn out on platter and serve with sweetened, whipped cream.

Pear Fritters. (Serves 6 to 8) ¼ cup flour ¼ teaspoon baking powder Pinch of salt 1 beaten egg 2 tablespoons milk 2 tablespoons melted butter 8 pear halves

Sift dry ingredients. Add beaten egg which has been mixed with milk. Stir until smooth and add melted butter. Dip drained pears (fresh or canned) into batter long enough to coat. Drop into deep hot fat and brown on all sides. Drain on absorbent paper and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

They danced well together.

The Martin-Davis Feud Flares Anew

Johnny thought quickly. It would be useless, he knew, to take him down to the jail; there was nothing they could do with him but give him a few days behind bars and this would do no one any good. After all, he had a wife and children at home, and maybe he would think twice now about coming back here.

Jerry Murphy was a sneak, a bully, but he was also a coward, and Johnny did not think he would do anything except talk about what he would do to Jennifer Martin. However, Johnny was to regret his decision greatly very soon.

He released Murphy and stood beside him.

"Look, Murphy—I'll let you go this time, but if I ever catch you—" But his warning was interrupted by a voice behind them.

They turned quickly and faced the light that was pointing at them. It shone directly on Johnny's face. He was so stunned with the new turn of events and the blood from his cut still half blinding him, that he scarcely felt Murphy wrench free of his hold and run away from him.

He was so taken back at the sound of Henry's voice that he was speechless.

"Just who I thought it would be. I've got you covered, Davis, don't move!" It was Henry's voice, but Johnny had recognized Basil standing behind his father.

"You've come a little late, Uncle Henry." His contempt showed plainly in his address. "Your man's gone. Probably half way across town by this time."

"And just what were you doing on the grounds? Playing protector to our little family I suppose?" Henry asked sarcastically.

A Scheme Is Born In Basil's Mind

"Don't worry. She'll come crawling back tomorrow!" He shrugged his thin shoulders. The two of them started back toward the house.

"Doesn't her uncle work in the office in number three plant?" At his father's affirmative answer, he continued: "He's pretty old, isn't he? And I think Kit said in poor health. Well, tomorrow he loses his office job for one in the yard—a nice easy job either with the loading crew or the setting crew under Henderson. I think he ought to have an easy job at his age, don't you, Dad?"

The two of them entered the house laughing.

When Frank Deesser went to the plant the next morning he found he had been mysteriously transferred from the bookkeeping department, where he had worked for forty-three years, to the loading crew.

"But Snyder," he argued, "there must be some mistake. I'm sixty-seven! Why, I couldn't do a young man's work at my age. Kline wouldn't do that to me." Kline was the superintendent and had been with the plant as long as Deesser had been.

He left the room and walked straight to Kline's office in the same building. His hand was shaking uncontrollably when he reached for the knob of the door. He told himself the whole thing had been a mistake and Kline would rectify it. (TO BE CONTINUED)

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, James Davis, who passed away three years ago February 25, 1944.

Three years have passed

Since that sad day.

The one we loved

Was called away.

God took him home,

It was his will.

But in our hearts

He liveth always.

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kotalik.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cripe.

9x1 The only difference between good and bad people is that good people have a conscience that yells louder.

100th Anniversary of the Birth of Alexander Graham Bell

MARCH 3, 1947

The telephone was born and raised in a laboratory

Alexander Graham Bell's invention of the telephone was the achievement of a trained scientific mind.

Continuous scientific progress to improve telephone communication began with him and has continued ever since. It is carried on today by the six thousand men and women of the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

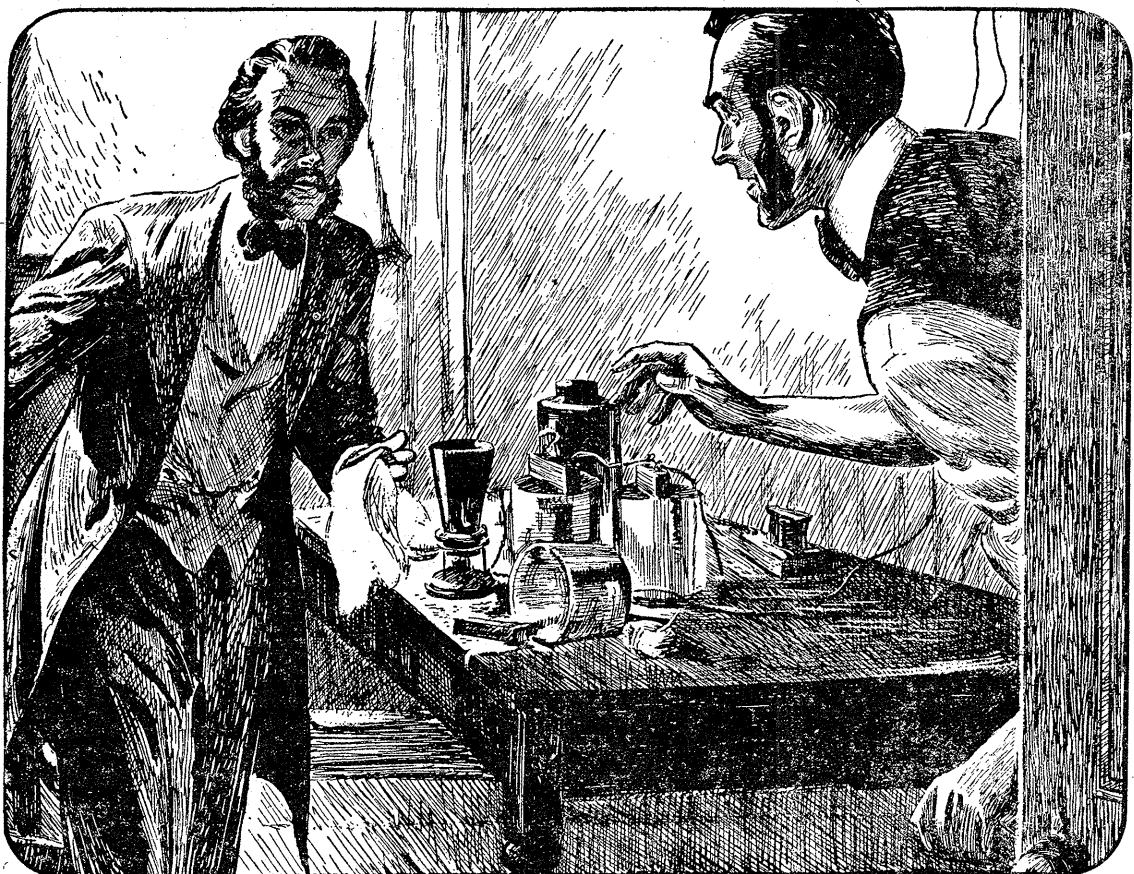

Dr. Bell's thoughts on work and research were given to a number of young people in a graduation address.

"Don't keep going only where others have gone. Leave the beaten track occasionally and dive into the woods. You will be certain to find something that you have never seen before.

"Follow it up, explore all around it; one discovery will lead to another and before you know it you will have something worth thinking about."

That has been the policy of the telephone business from the beginning. It underlies the progress that has been made and the progress that is to come.

FIRST SENTENCE EVER SPOKEN OVER THE TELEPHONE (on March 10, 1876) was, "Mr. Watson, come here. I want you." It happened when Alexander Graham Bell spilled some battery solution on his clothes and called out for assistance. Thomas A. Watson, his assistant, came rushing in from another room and exclaimed—"Mr. Bell, I heard every word you said—distinctly."
