All food items offered for sale must have been produced by the vendor and must conform to state food laws. All other vending, peddling, or advertising is prohibited.
- Persons or groups desiring to camp must first obtain a permit from an authorized representative of the Department of Conservation. Permit may be refused to persons under seventeen years of age unless accompanied by an adult. Camping is permitted only in those areas specifically designated for that purpose. # Sing A Song

Sing a song of service,
Of cheap electric power—
Ready at your finger-tip
To lighten every hour!

MOTHER'S in the kitchen, dreaming up a meal. Grandma's in the laundry, busy washing clothes. Dad plugs in his razor, and whisks off his whiskers. Lights shine, the radio plays merrily, and Sister skims the cleaner across the bedroom rug.

This is a house with dozens of servants — dependable, willing electric servants — ready day and night to make work easier and life more comfortable. This is living the modern way — the electric way!

Yet how little it costs! Grandma can do a week's wash — for only a penny! A few more pennies get Mother through her meal and Father through his beard, too. Sister can clean six rugs with a cent's worth of electricity.

Dollar values for penny prices — that's the story behind every electric switch in your home. That's our song of service!

Cheese Ages Faster

Methods discovered by research workers in the bureau of dairy industry of the department of agriculture cut the time of producing "aged cheese" of excellent flavor and quality to about three or four months, instead of the six to eight months previously needed. In the new process, cheese is held at a higher temperature, and made from excellent quality, pasteurized milk.

Palladium Jewelry

With platinum mesh, as fine as that used by chemists, French artisans achieved a high fashion note this season with delicate gossamer-like diamond jewelry. In this country where jewelry no longer belongs exclusively to the "carriage trade" and more inexpensive items can be found in jewelry stores, the same Paris fashion effect has now been obtained by curving fine wire strands of palladium-filled into large floral patterns with the petals rhinestone-tipped. As in gold-filled, the rare brilliant white precious metal palladium, which stays white, is welded on a base metal for palladium-filled. Non-tarnishing qualities and brightness of color are thus retained in costume jewelry of modest cost.

Latin and Greek Origin

Various estimates of the sources of English words have been made. One computation credits us with using in every 100 words of ordinary speech, 60 from Saxon sources, 30 from the Latin (including those through the French), 5 from Greek and 5 from other sources. Others claim that the vocabulary of every day life is up to 75 per cent Anglo-Saxon in origin but that a great part of the vocabulary of literature and commerce contains a majority of words of Latin and Greek origin. Some sources lower the estimate to about 50 per cent of Anglo-Saxon origin, the other half being predominantly of Latin and Greek derivation.

Versatile Oils

During the war, military equipment had to be operated in all kinds of climatic conditions from the heat of the Sahara to the cold temperatures of Alaska and the low temperatures of airplanes at high altitudes. It was necessary that hydraulic oils used in various parts of airplanes and gun mounts in connection with shock absorption and various other mechanical devices should flow reasonably well at very low temperatures and also should have a sufficiently high viscosity at the higher temperatures. Oils of this type can be prepared by blending certain types of long chain molecules with petroleum lubricant fractions.

DDT Victims

DDT is recommended for flies, mosquitoes, lice, cockroaches, spiders, bedbugs, fleas and some kinds of ants. Livestock and poultry insects killed by DDT include flies (house flies, horn flies and stable flies), fleas, brown dog ticks, chicken mites and lice. Plant pests which may be controlled include bean leaf roller, cabbage worms, leafhoppers, some grasshoppers, European corn borer, codling moth larvae, Oriental fruit moth, Japanese beetle, Colorado potato beetle and others.

Ancient Egyptian Game Precursor of Backgammon

Senet, great-grandfather of backgammon, was the pastime of ancient Egypt over 5,000 years ago. In the days of Cheops, 2700 B. C., knucklebones served as dice, and were later replaced by carved wands. When famous King Tutankhamen relaxed over his Senet board, two of which were found in his tomb, his playing pieces were conical and spool shaped. His board used 30 squares in three rows of ten.

The modern version of Senet has been developed by George S. Parker, famous game inventor and Roy Howard, his associate, in collaboration with Ambrose Lansing, Curator of the Metropolitan's Department of Egyptology. Senet board 1946 uses ten safety squares on each side and in between a Senet row consisting of ten double squares marked with directional arrows. Each player has a Pharaoh and four Egyptian pegs. The Pharaoh playing pieces have special privilege to pass all pegs and to move in and out of the Senet row.

Success depends on the player's skill in maneuvering numbers obtained from die throws—to provide maximum protection for his own Pharaoh and pegs and maximum peril for his opponent's. Captured Pharaohs count 25 points, captured pegs 10. If all opponent's pegs are captured without loss of any winner's pegs, the score is doubled.

List Precautions for Conserving Values in Food

Losses in food value may be kept at a minimum by observing the following rules:

Foods high in protein, such as meats, eggs and cheese, should be cooked at a low temperature, while foods high in fat should never be cooked at temperatures high enough to cause the fat to smoke.

Loss in vitamins is very rapid after the fruits or vegetables have been peeled, so these foods should be peeled just before eating or cooking. Both vitamins and minerals are lost if fruits and vegetables are allowed to stand in water after peeling.

It is wise to cook vegetables or fruit in the skins often.

Minerals and vitamins are conserved by cooking quickly in just as small an amount of water as possible. Water in which meat or vegetables are cooked should be saved and used in soups or sauces.

Mark Twain

The pen name of "Mark Twain" came from the leadman's call as he counted the knots on the sounding line heaved from the deck of a Mississippi river steamboat. It meant that the second mark was out—that two fathoms of water lay beneath the keel. It was one of the best-known calls on the river, and it was used as a pen name by Capt. Isaiah Sellers on the articles he contributed to New Orleans newspapers. Samuel Clemens knew the call well during his years as a Mississippi pilot, a job that was the acme of glamour and brought a salary greater than paid the vice president of the United States. He knew Sellers, too, and as a joke one day wrote a piece satirizing the captain's literary style. So embarrassed was the captain that he never again wrote for publication. Years later Clemens was a reporter covering the Nevada legislature. Following the fashion of the times, he decided to use a pen name, something crisp, picturesque and unforgettable. He remembered Sellers—and "Mark Twain!"

Protecting Ships' Bottoms

According to the Bureau of Ships of the navy department it takes a minimum thickness of four coats to prevent salt water from penetrating and corroding ships' bottoms. Fewer coats result in a paint job with weak spots, something like a raincoat full of holes. Tests conducted by navy chemists have shown conclusively that two coats fail to meet the navy's requirements. Ships have been painted with all types of paint including zinc chromate, red lead, blue lead, and every other kind of pigment in linseed oil, alkyl resins, phenolic varnishes and vinylite plastics. When subjected to normal wearing conditions, in no instance did two coats of paint stop rust satisfactorily. Two coats of primer and four coats of exterior paint are recommended or, if there is a shortage of primer, four coats of exterior paint can be used.

New Sheep Feed

Studies are being made on the feeding of dehydrated potatoes to sheep, as a means of helping the potato industry dispose of low grade potatoes. In a test comparing yellow corn and dehydrated potatoes, the results indicated the potato ration was 73 per cent as effective as the corn ration in promoting gains. Results in this trial indicate dehydrated potatoes as produced by present processes are a palatable feed for sheep, experts said. The sheep did well throughout the feeding period and gained at the rate of 0.225 pound per day on the potato ration as compared with 0.307 on the corn ration. This would indicate that dehydrated potatoes may be used as a substitute for grain in sheep rations if care is taken to provide additional protein and minerals.

I have observed lately that we have quite a few discourteous drivers who seem to delight in driving down our streets when they are full of soft snow or slush and spattering all pedestrians within range. Such acts not only constitute reckless driving — but — can be prosecuted as such. A little more consideration for the fellow on foot is needed. If such carelessness continue my only alternative will be to file a proper complaint and let the violator take the consequences.

(Delayed)
 When the boys came marching home, 620,000 strong, they returned to a Michigan beset by sore problems plagued by a babel of confusion.

The "new world" that was to be has finally dawned. Clouds are many; silver linings are few. As we look at the soiled and frayed edges of our new world, the anticipation of glamour is suddenly replaced by disillusionment. We sigh; we experience an emotional letdown. It is the usual hangover from war.

The post-war wonder automobile is just about the same kind of machine it was back in 1941, only it costs about twice as much. True, we do have some brand new gadgets to look at and tinker with — jimdandies that are being heralded as make-scene in a better light. The United States is the last stronghold of free enterprise in the world today. Western civilization is groggy from the affects of war. The convulsions of Europe are titanic in scope. The poison of fascism and virus of communism exist in every bomb-wrecked country.

Winston Churchill said he was not chosen to preside at the liquidation of the British Empire, but the world's "Pax Britannica" is fast disappearing. Bankrupt Britain looks to the United States to maintain the status quo. The trend of nationalization is strong throughout Europe; state socialism has supplanted old-style capitalism as a historical outcome of the most devastating human conflict the world has yet experienced. The new atomic age brings the shadow of catastrophic doom.

The dollar goes twice as fast. Taxes eat up some of our savings. That increase in wage for which Michigan automobile workers sought in an expensive, lengthy strike has long since vanished into thin air by new increases in the cost of living. And the days of lost wages aren't numerous.

The A-1 war hangover in Michigan, as elsewhere, is inflation.

Remember how worried we were about the post-war adjustment period when thousands of Michigan workers were expected to be without jobs? Labor leaders predicted hard times; they insisted upon federal unemployment compensation of increased sums for war workers. Veterans were provided with $20 jobless benefit for 52 months. We all shuddered at the prospect of great economic stress until factories had re-converted back to peace-time production.

While Henry Wallace proclaimed the doctrine of government-supported full employment as an immediate need, private industry went to work. Machines were soon humming. The post-war slump never materialized.

The spiral of new wage increases to make possible new purchasing power was pushed higher by a tremendous backlog of dollars and war bonds in the bank.

Famished for goods during a long war, the American consumer was anxious to buy a new automobile, a new radio, a new shirt, and everything else that goes to constitute modern living. The net result: soaring prices.

Inflation in prices led to an illusion of vast surplus of public revenue at Lansing. Taxpayers arrived at the suspicion that the State of Michigan had more money on its hands than it actually needed. While Governor Harry F. Kelly and other conservatively-minded public officials envisioned the time when public funds would be hard to get and when unemployment might be eased by public works financed by war-time savings, the Michigan taxpayer became restless at the prospect of idle money in the treasury at Lansing.

In November, 1946, he went on a spending spree. He authorized a whopping big bonus for the 620,000 Michigan men and women who served during World War II. The amount was $270,000,000 — close to a third of a billion dollars. The same sentimental urge prevailed in other states, and already the veteran bonus flood is approaching the three billion dollar mark.

Whereas the public schools had previously received $60,000,000 in state aid, the voters' approved sales tax amendment gave them more than $110,000,000 in state-collected revenue — a bonanza of dollars undreamed of.

Shool teachers, like the veterans who go to make up our Michigan of 1947, face the same inflation as their neighbors. It is understandable that they feel frustrated and downright angry at their postwar earnings which are much less than that received by factory workers.

The diversion of sales tax revenue prompted Michigan's budget director, John Perkins, to forecast a $83,000,000 deficit at the end of the second biennial year. This prospect of red ink by the tub-full prompted chairmen of legislative finance committees to examine the possibility of new taxes by the dozen. Among the levies proposed at Lansing are the following:

1% income tax	$28,000,000
2 mills cigarette tax	$7,000,000
2 mill property tax	$17,000,000
Better collection of sales tax	1,500,000
Lifting $50,000 corporation privileged tax limit	$4,500,000
Recapturing racing money	$900,000
Recapturing alcoholic spirits and intangible tax	$18,000,000
Increased beer tax	$3,000,000
1% wholesale transactions tax	$18,000,000

Now all of this is disturbing to the nth degree. We, on the home front, are inclined to be pessimistic. This thing called democracy is creaking at the joints, we say.
 And yet a casual at the world elsewhere provides a much needed perspective which puts the Michigan

In contrast to the inflationary troubles of Michigan and other states, the world picture seems dark, indeed. Little wonder that our industrialists are apprehensive over the future of American free enterprise when England has already nationalized the Bank of England, all coal mines, all aviation, and is now moving to nationalize inland transport, gas and electricity, telecommunications and possibly petroleum. Private industry — cotton textile, ceramics, hosiery, boots and shoes and others — will be under strict government control and regulation if not outright ownership.

A hungry world depends upon American grain for much of its hope of survival. American responsibility as a world power has never been greater.

As Secretary of State Marshall recently declared, we face many and grave problems — the greatest of which probably is the role of American democracy in the survival of western civilization and the possible showdown, should we undertake the staggering task, between democracy and communism.

This is the world struggle of the post-war world, that "new world" which we have awaited so eagerly.

In contrast to this, the problems of the Michigan home front seem puny and small. We have our homes and our families, and our pantry shelves are not bare. Our worry of a $83,000,000 deficit and the prospect of new taxes seems to fade away to the vanishing point when we look over the horizon and see what confronts the rest of a weary world.

Do Men Like Women?
 Maybe you read that recent article in a national magazine, claiming that American men don't really like the company of women. They just put them up on a pedestal and leave them there.
 But I wouldn't say that that was so in our town. Look at any married couple—like the Cuppers. Jane wouldn't nag if Dee spent his evenings "with the boys"—but actually Dee likes nothing better than to stay home by the fire, sharing a glass of beer with Jane, playing cribbage, or just talking.
 And when he does go out, for an afternoon of fishing down at Seward's Creek, or for an evening glass of beer at Andy Botkin's Garden Tavern, Jane is almost always with him (except when she's got a spot of baking in the oven).
 From where I sit, respect doesn't rule out everyday companionship... and never should. They go together—essential parts of a successful marriage.
 Joe Marsh

THE LOVE THAT LED TO MURDER

Neither the dying victim nor the killer would implicate the sprightly socialite who was the cause of the crime. Read "Chivalry in Denver", Peter Levin's behind-the-scenes story of murder for romance in The American Weekly with this Sunday's (March 23) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.

Michigan Bell Reports on 1946

During 1946, Michigan Bell installed more telephones, served more telephones and handled more calls per telephone than ever before. Total revenue was larger, too. But so were expenses. Earnings on investment were more than in 1945. But in the second six months, due to rising costs, earnings were on a downward trend.

ABOUT CALLS — On the average business day there were 7,304,000 local calls, and 197,000 long distance calls . . . increases of 22% and 23% respectively over 1945. Although at times some calls were delayed by insufficient facilities, telephone people gave more good service than ever before in history.

ABOUT TELEPHONES — Michigan Bell installed 34,000 telephones a month, double 1945. A net gain of 204,000 telephones brought the total in service to a record high of 1,378,000. However, it was necessary to give party-line service to many thousands who would have preferred individual lines. And 65,000 others were waiting for telephones at year's end.

ABOUT CONSTRUCTION — $36,000,000 worth of buildings and equipment were added. This investment, all-time high for one year, would have been much greater but for continuing shortages of materials. Increasing demands for service and higher labor and material costs have raised the estimate for our 5-year post-war construction program to $220,000,000.

ABOUT JOBS — Michigan Bell's force rose 6,000 to more than 22,000 people, about one-third of whom had less than a year's experience. Nearly half of all Michigan Bell men were returned veterans of World War II. Wage adjustments, made early in 1946, amount to $8,461,000 a year. Payrolls totaled $54,445,000, up 50% over 1945.

ABOUT REVENUE AND EXPENSES — We took in more money than ever before — $91,000,000, or 13% more than 1945. But expenses also increased. Operating payrolls were up 39% for the year. Total expenses, excluding taxes, were 25% over 1945. Total cost of giving service, including taxes, was $79,000,000 — an increase of 11% over 1945. Revenues in 1946 include $3,500,000 subject to refund to customers if the pending rate reduction order of the Michigan Public Service Commission is upheld by the court.

ABOUT EARNINGS — Earnings for the year were $12,000,000, or 7.2 cents on each dollar invested in the business. If the Public Service Commission's rate reduction order is upheld, 1946 earnings will drop to 5.9 cents, insufficient, we believe, to attract the new capital needed for expansion and improvement. As it was, during the last half of the year, rising costs sent the earnings rate on a downward trend, which pointed to the possibility that higher rates might become necessary to assure financial stability of the business.

THE PROSPECTS — Our objectives in 1947 are to provide as quickly as possible: 1. Enough telephone plant to take care of all unfilled orders for service and to care for future demands; 2. Facilities to furnish promptly the type of service the customer desires; 3. Improvements in local and long distance service; and 4. Extension and improvement of rural service.

Present indications are that shortages of needed materials will continue to handicap us in 1947. But, we expect by year's end to have filled most requests for service and to have made progress in further improving the quality of service.

Telephone men and women turned in a record breaking performance in 1946, and we have confidence that in 1947 they again will surpass all previous accomplishments and give to Michigan continuing telephone service of the very highest order.
