Cub Scout Meeting Friday

TO ORGANIZE AT EAST JORDAN HIGH SCHOOL BAND ROOM, FRIDAY, APR. 11, 7:15 p. m.

The East Jordan Parent-Teachers Association at their last meeting, voted to sponsor a Cub Scout program in East Jordan. An organization meeting is planned for next Friday, April 11, at 7:15 p. m. in the band room at the East Jordan High School.

Inasmuch as Cub Scouting is for boys in the 9-10-11 year age group, and parents are so closely connected with the program, it was felt that the P. T. A. was the proper organization to sponsor this program.

Roy Willard, Boy Scout Field Director of this district, will be present and will show motion pictures on Cubbing. He will then discuss this project with those present.

A list of names of the boys in the 9-10-11 year age group has been prepared, and their parents will be contacted in an effort to make this meeting a success. All boys of this age, together with their parents, are urgently requested to be present at this meeting, which was called at this early to enable the boys to be home at a reasonable hour.

Cubbing, in brief, is set up as follows: A den is composed of five boys, who, with their parents, hold weekly meetings at one of their homes. Several dens compose a pack which meets monthly. Boys of this age, being closely tied to their mother's apron strings, it is evident that the parents must be very closely connected with the activities of Cubbing.

Don't forget parents, it's your duty — not anyone else — to prepare your boy for Boy Scouting when he reaches the age of 12 years. Cubbing with your help, will do just this, so be sure and be present next Friday, April 11th.

Easter Service Methodist Church at 10:00 o'clock

You are invited to attend service on this Easter Sunday Morning. Opportunity will be given for Baptism of Infants, children, and others. Also, reception of new members, either on confession of Faith or by Letter of Transfer. There will be special music. Sermon topic: "The Conqueror from Calvary."

This Service will start sharply at 10:00 and will be followed by the Church School hour.

AN APPRECIATION

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to all for the nice cards, letters and flowers, and all the kindnesses extended to me while in the hospital.

WM. DRENTH.

ASPARAGUS GROWERS TO MEET

Farmers raising asparagus and others who are interested in growing this crop will meet at the Odd Fellows Hall at East Jordan on Tuesday evening, April 8th at 8:00 p. m. A very fine program has been planned and any and all questions on asparagus will be answered.

There will be three specialists from Michigan State College who will be in charge of the program. They are Jack Rose, R. L. Carolus, and Ray Janes of the Horticulture Department.

Farmers interested should plan on attending this meeting. A light lunch will be served at the close of the program.

Geo. Secord Elected President of E. J. Chamber of Commerce

Board of Directors elect Chamber of Commerce officers for 1947.

George Secord is to lead the Chamber of Commerce for 1947. George has been a booster for East Jordan ever since he was able to walk, and will make a good president. Leo Somerville one of our new business men was elected vice-president. Barney Milstein who has acted as secretary the last three years refused to have the office this year. Earl Clark who has been a very active member and a good man in the Chamber was elected secretary for this year.

The Chamber of Commerce is a must in our community so all get behind it and do all you can to help the new officers in their work to make this a successful year.

Sportsmen's Club Met Thursday

FRANK STUCKER ELECTED AS PRESIDENT. BUSY YEAR IS PLANNED

The East Jordan Sportsmen's Club, whose activities have been somewhat curtailed during the war, was put back on the active list last Thursday, Mar. 27, at a meeting at the E. J. H. S. bandroom.

Conservation Officer Jack Bowman was present and showed two colored motion pictures by the Michigan Department of Conservation, one on the Porcupine Mountains and the other on Michigan birds. It is hoped Jack will be present at some later meetings with other pictures, as these were certainly much enjoyed.

The Treasurer reported a balance on hand of $50 plus, with an additional amount of about $100 receivable from the Conservation Fund of the County.

The cost of feed and labor to care for the wild life in the Park amounts to about $125 per year, and the Club is re-imburshed for actual monies spent for Conservation purposes by the County.

Two years ago the Club purchased from the War Dept. for $100 the Rifle Range on the Boyne City road, consisting of four acres plus, at the north line of the Jacob Chew farm. The Club proposes to increase the use of this Range by forming a National Rifle Ass'n Rifle Club, and to resume the annual fall turkey shoots.

Ted Malpass, retiring president, declared nominations open for officers, which resulted in the following:

President — Frank Stucker.
Vice President — G. R. DeForest.
Secretary — Albert Sinclair.
Treasurer — Orville Anderson.

Board of Directors — David Pray, Clarence Bowman Sr., Ted Malpass, Ernest Evans, Cyril Dolezel.
Frank Stucker, the new President, was introduced by retiring President Ted Malpass, who pledged his support. Mr. Stucker, an ardent sportsman, spoke a few words on the duties of the Club to the boys, and how, by

A Tea, sponsored by the afternoon Circle of the Ladies Aid and celebrating the end of the talent contest will be given Wednesday afternoon April 9th at the Howard Porter home.

There will be a musical program and Miss Agnes Porter will give a history of the Presbyterian church in East Jordan. An offering will be taken. Everyone welcome.

Good Friday

A PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR

The City of East Jordan is participating in the observance of Good Friday, along with the other cities of the State and Nation. The past few years the business places of East Jordan have closed during the time of the Union Services. This year I am requesting that, except in cases of emergency, all business places be closed, and that all activity under the direction of the City be suspended from 1:30 to 4:00 p. m., so that all may attend the Union Good Friday Service, Friday, April 4, 1947.

VERN J. WHITEFORD,
Mayor of the City of East Jordan.

Study Club Activities

The East Jordan Study Club met at the home of Mrs. John Porter Tuesday evening Mar. 25. There was no regular program, owing to the illness of Gladys Bechtold.

However those present spent a very enjoyable evening listening to selection from "The Messiah", as recorded by the London Philharmonic Orchestra.

The Club meets next Thursday, April 8th, at the home of Phyllis Malpass, with Esther Porter and Helen Watson as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Henry Kamradt Dies in Grand Rapids, Burial at East Jordan

Lena Martin, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bert Martin, was born in Ellsworth, Feb. 14, 1904, and passed away at Michigan Veterans Facility hospital in Grand Rapids, March 27, 1947. The cause of her death being cerebral hemorrhage of which she has been a sufferer and bedridden since Jan. 15, 1943.

She spent her childhood years in Ellsworth and came to East Jordan with her parents where she grew to womanhood and attended the East Jordan schools.

She was married to Henry Kamradt in East Jordan October 30, 1924. A few years later they went to Grand Rapids where they have since made their home.

Besides the husband she is survived by a daughter, Helen Gort, and a son Henry Jr., both of Grand Rapids; two grand children; and two brothers—Oris Martin of Alma and George Martin of Ann Arbor. The body was brought to East Jordan Saturday (continued on last page)

Handicapped To Receive Aid

FIELD AGENT TO CONDUCT INTERVIEW IN EAST JORDAN, TUESDAY, APRIL 8.

Are you physically handicapped? Roger B. Moon, field agent for the state Vocational Rehabilitation office will be at the city hall in Boyne City on Monday, April 7, at 1:00 p. m. to talk over problems with anyone who is physically handicapped. Those living in East Jordan can make appointments to meet Moon at the City Bldg in East Jordan, Tuesday, April 8.

Moon today outlined the benefits that may be received from the vocational rehabilitation program. They are: Free physical examination to determine nature and extent of disability and whether medical or other therapy will remove or lessen the condition. (Housewives whose efficiency is reduced due to a physical disability may benefit from this program also.) Treatment, surgery, medication and hospitalization if it will help and is not available otherwise will be provided, and appliances such as artificial limbs, hearing aids, braces, dentures and glasses may be provided if required.

"The object of vocational rehabilitation is to help employable men and women to return to, hold, or get better jobs if their work ability is held back because of a physical handicap," Moon said today.

Those unable to be present for an interview are advised that they may contact the Vocational Rehabilitation office, 130 Front street, Traverse City, giving name, address, city, county, age, sex, marital status and a description of the disability; give directions to reach your home if at a rural residence.

Infant Son Dies

The infant son, born January 17, of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Mayhew of Charlevoix, passed away Sunday March 30. Funeral services were Tuesday, April 1, at 2:00 o'clock at the See Funeral Home. Burial at Charlevoix. The mother, before her marriage, was Dorothy Kamradt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lew Kamradt.

Lutheran Services at Wilson Township

The service at 2:30 P. M. on Easter Sunday will include a celebration of the Holy Communion.

Following the afternoon service on the Sunday after Easter, the voting members of the church will hold their second quarterly meeting of the year. The Aid Society of Chrt Lutheran Church, Wilson Township will meet on Thursday afternoon of next week with Mrs. Martin Decker as hostess.

No Sunday School April 6

There will be no Sunday School at the Bennett school house till the 2nd Sunday in April. This will give every one a chance to attend Easter Services wherever they may care to attend.

TO THE VOTERS OF JORDAN TOWNSHIP ANTRIM CO.

I will be a candidate for the office of Justice of the Peace of said township at the regular spring election April 7th 1947 and will appreciate your support.

To Investigate Melrose School

CARL L. GOODWIN, 68, ARRESTED ON FORGERY CHARGE. PROBE STARTS MONDAY.

Harry W. Jackson, head of the criminal investigation department of the attorney general's office, said Wednesday that state auditors would begin a probe of Melrose township school records next Monday as the state takes a hand in the alleged mis-appropriation of school funds which was revealed when Carl L. Goodwin, 68, was arrested on a charge of forgery.

Goodwin who was arrested last Thursday was held under $3000 bond at the county jail until Monday when he was released on bail provided by John and Harry Parker.

The case was presented before the attorney general's office and the department of public instruction Tuesday, when county school commissioner, Leo L. Close accompanied A. C. Fineout, Gerald Fineout, and Walter Masters to Lansing to present evidence they had rounded up in their preliminary investigation.

Jackson who went over the collection of checks which Goodwin is alleged to have cashed over a period of years described the evidence Wednesday as "conclusive." Among the items which state auditors will scrutinize will be an invoice for several hundred pounds of scratch feed and a woman's girdle purchased at a Petoskey store.

At an open meeting of the township schoolboard held at Clarion Monday, various people connected with the case explained that Goodwin was able to cash forged checks by means of a voucher system in

Boy Scouts Meet Next Wednesday

FIRST AID TOURNAMENT TO MEET AT H. S. GYM

Ten crack Boy Scout first aid team will meet Wednesday night, April 9th, in the High School gym at East Jordan in the biggest first aid tournament ever held in this north county. Competing under the rules of the Midwest First Aid Association, an organization whose purpose it is to further the interest in first aid by the Scouts of Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin, the Scouts work out a series of problems which have been based on actual first aid cases of the American Red Cross.

The first aid tournament started several weeks ago in the scout troops of the scenic trails council. The patrols which excelled with 90 per cent efficiency or better were qualified to enter the first aid-ree at East Jordan, April 9th. To date, ten patrol teams have qualified and it is expected that several other from whom reports have not as yet been received, may also qualify.

The scouts of all troops and senior units and especially the parents and friends of the scouts are invited to attend the meet.

Judges and referees will be trained first aiders supplied by the American Red Cross. They are to meet at the gym at 7:00 P.M. An hour before the meet is to start for instructions and to secure equipment. Teams which receive 90 per cent or better on their work in this meet will go to the scenic trails council first aid-ree, which will be held somewhere within the twelve counties of the council the latter part of April. The following patrol team will compete in East Jordan:

The wolf and panther patrols of troop 10, East Jordan; the tomcat patrol of troop 49, Boyne City; the tiger patrol of troop 7, Petoskey; the fox and owl patrols of troop 5, Petoskey; the eagle patrol of troop 59, Walloon Lake; the wolf, tiger and flaming arrow patrols of troop 50, Alba.

TO THE VOTRS OF JORDAN TWP., ANTRIM COUNTY

I will be a candidate (on slips) for office of clerk of said township at the regular spring election April 7th, 1947, and will appreciate your support.

Edward A. Nemeck, Jr.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE TOWNSHIP OF JORDAN

Inasmuch as I had anticipated being a candidate for the office of supervisor at the next coming Spring Election, I wish to announce that due to circumstances beyond my control, I wish to withdraw as candidate for office at above named Election.

Applicants For Veteran's Bonus

PREPARATION OF APPLICATIONS FOR VETERANS' BONUS

The following instructions, prepared by The Adjutant General of Michigan, are reproduced for the information and guidance of veterans. Application blanks are available at all community Veterans' Counseling Centers.

Application are provided for veterans as follows: Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guards. The one application for each branch of service is to be used by both male and female applicants.

Information from the applicant's Discharge Certificate and Report of Separation must be transcribed on the official application form. Do not forward original Discharge Certificate by the Adjutant General.

If the application served in more than one branch of service or more than once in the same branch of service between September 16, 1940 and June 30, 1946, applications should be forwarded covering each such branch and period of service. Thus, one who served in both the Army and Navy should make two applications; one who served two or more periods of service in the same branch of service should make an application for each period of service; and women who served in both the WAACS and the WACS should also make two applications.

Four applications are provided for surviving beneficiaries as follows:

E-4. Husband and wife
E-1. Child over 21 years of age
E-3. Guardian of an incompetent veteran; guardian of an incompetent beneficiary of a deceased veteran; and guardian of a minor child or children of a deceased veteran.

E-2. The dependent mother, dependent father, dependent person standing in place of parents, dependent brother, dependent sister.

Payments to the beneficiaries of deceased veterans will make first, to the surviving husband or wife, second, if neither husband nor wife survived the veteran, to the child or children of the deceased veteran, and third, if no husband or wife, child or children survived the veteran, then to the surviving dependent mother, dependent father, dependent person standing in place of parents, dependent brothers and sisters, in the order named.

The date of death of the veteran is the date of the determination of the beneficiary or beneficiaries. It follows that if a deceased veteran's husband or wife survived the veteran, he or she is entitled to payment; if there is no surviving spouse on the date of the death of the veteran, the child or children surviving on that date are entitled to payment.

If the veteran died leaving neither spouse nor children, the remaining beneficiaries, mother, father, person standing in place of parents, brother and sisters, in order to be eligible for payment must have been dependent on the deceased veteran for support and maintenance prior to and on the date of the veteran's death. Dependency is a question of fact to be proved by the applicant who, also, must furnish proof that all potential beneficiaries in the order named preceding the applicant were (1) deceased, or (2) not dependent upon the veteran on the date of death.

Each beneficiary applicant must file a separate application except for applications made by guardians of minor children.

If beneficiary application forms are not available in your locality, write to the Adjutant General, Lansing 1, Michigan. State relationship to deceased veteran, and proper form will be mailed.

Do not bring your application to the Adjutant General in person. USE THE MAIL.

Do not write letters in an attempt to speed up payment of your claim. Answering such letters only delays the payment.

Army Week - April 6-12

The week of April 6 - 12 has been proclaimed nationally as Army Week. This year, as perhaps never before, should the people of this Nation be conscious of the part played by the Regular Army in safeguarding America's interests throughout the world.

Therefore, I ask all business places to display their flag during this week.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Georgia Gets New Governor; Swollen British Rivers Bring Misery, Destruction

Released by Western Newspaper Union.
 EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Political satire turned up unexpectedly in a Swiss Lenten parade. The drum major, called "the big guy from the East," bears an unmistakable resemblance to Stalin. The drummers are supposed to depict the Soviet commissars and generals marching roughshod over small states. Switzerland is probably the only southern European country free enough for a public lampooning of Russian leaders. The parade attracted much attention as it wound through the ancient streets of Basle.

GEORGIA:

Talmadge Ousted

Melvin E. Thompson, elected lieutenant governor, is rightful governor of Georgia, the state supreme court has ruled, 5 to 2. Herman Talmadge, son of Gene, who has been acting as governor since his appointment by the legislature, was declared a usurper. Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook has invalidated all bills signed by Talmadge during his brief and troubled term. The most important of this legislation is the white primary bill, but 150 other measures also were declared void by Cook.

M. E. Thompson

The 33-year-old son of the famous "Old Gene" accepted the verdict of the state's highest tribunal and immediately made preparations to leave the executive mansion.

"We'll be back," he told well wishers. "The court of last resort is the people of Georgia. This case will be taken to the court of last resort."

This was interpreted as indicating that Talmadge intends to run again in 1948, when a special election will be held. Under the law a lieutenant governor can serve only two years as governor.

The supreme court's majority decision took the view that the legislature erred when it appointed Herman Talmadge governor on January 14. The legislature, after a canvass of votes cast, acted on the theory that since Eugene Talmadge had died before inauguration, that there was no one elected to the office. Herman Talmadge was chosen on the basis of a few write-in votes. Thompson, duly elected lieutenant governor, was ignored.

FARM MACHINERY:

Prices Trimmed

Although demand is expected to exceed supply "for months to come," International Harvester company has reduced prices on 163 items of farm equipment. More than half the company's customers will benefit, a spokesman said. Reductions range from 1 to 23.8 per cent, or in dollars from $2.50 to $300. Lower prices have been announced for 123 farm machines, 16 models of industrial tractors, 12 models of motor trucks and 12 other miscellaneous articles. The program will cost the company about 20 million dollars this year, it was stated. New prices became effective March 10.

Typical of reductions are new prices of the Farmall-H tractor, down $125, or 10.6 per cent; the automatic pickup hay baler, down $75, or 4.1 per cent, and the self-propelled combine, now $122.50, or 3.4 per cent lower.

Trucks were trimmed $50 to $300 in price, depending on size. Estimated overall reduction on industrial products amounted to about 3.5 per cent, officials stated.

"Miss Paris of 1947" is Mlle. Francoise Foucault, 19.

BRITAIN:

Floods New Peril

Melting of the thick blanket of snow that brought great hardship to Britain has swollen streams to flood stage. Many thousands of people in southern England are being forced out of their homes by rising waters. Some rivers already have passed the record high marks of 1894. Community kitchens are being set up to feed refugees. Troops, German war prisoners and volunteers are struggling to save water purifying stations, gas and electric plants, and other essential services. Others are sandbagging dikes and river walls.

"It is our worst disaster in 300 years," declares Miss Phoebe Cusden, mayor of the Thames river town of Caversham.

Snow still is hampering transportation in five counties of northern England. These regions will have to cope with floods later.

Agricultural losses are already immense, and prospects are for even more staggering damage. Tens of thousands of sheep and cattle are drowning in the Midlands regions. It is estimated that three million farm animals died over the winter, killed by snow and cold. Most of the spring wheat crop is ruined. The potato crop in the fenlands is considered destroyed. Planting of early crops is far behind schedule. In a country that has been on short rations for seven years, this further blow is extremely serious.

Well, $25,000 Ain't Hay

For many years Miss Mary B. Powers of New York City has been refusing dividends earned by her stock in the Glen Alden Coal Co. She has been living in a New York hotel as a recluse for the last 15 years. Something has changed her mind recently, however, and she has decided to accept her dividends after all. She has $25,000 coming.

DRAFT EVADERS:

FBI Hunts 9,178

Ending of selective service has forced a change in the department of justice's handling of draft evaders. Heretofore the department's policy was to turn such men over to the army for induction. Since the armed forces no longer want them, they will have to face conviction and sentence in federal courts, says J. Edgar Hoover, director of the department's Federal Bureau of Investigation.

FBI agents everywhere have been furnished with descriptions of 9,178 men who are wanted for draft evasion. Many of these failed to register, or employed one of the many dodges with which the FBI is familiar.

ELECTRIFICATION:

Loans Reach Billion

With the granting of $145,000 to Illinois, Rural Electrification administration loans have reached the billion dollar mark. Every state excepting Connecticut and Massachusetts now have cooperatives financed by REA funds. On January 1, REA loans totaled $958,009,090. More than 1,000 borrowers have repaid $126,098,000 in principal and interest.

Railroads Rent Autos

Railroads will resume their auto-renting service by June 1 in 300 cities, announces H. W. Siddall, chairman of the Railroad Passenger Interterritorial committee. In this arrangement a railroad passenger can obtain the use of a car through the railroad's agents. The acute shortage of new cars has delayed resumption of this service, Siddall said. Autos can be obtained in 1,000 cities by the end of next year.

PARAGUAY:

Civil War

So serious is the rebellion in Paraguay that President Morinigo has issued a war decree to mobilize the full powers of the government. Rebels now are holding large sections of the little South American country. Government officials state that the revolt is Communist-inspired. They further charge that Communists in neighboring Uruguay and Bolivia are giving every assistance to the rebels.

The war act gives the government power to draft men, property and money, and to suspend any laws. The preamble declares that it was issued in accordance with "international agreement signed by this country for defense of the continent against subversive movements of a totalitarian character."

According to news from Brazil, the insurgents have won control of all the Paraguayan side of the Paraguayan-Brazil border by capturing the towns of Bela Vista, Pedro Juan Caballero and Capitan Bado.

Paraguayan government reports say that some of the rebel forces have deserted and surrendered to government troops. There were other stories, denied by the government, that some infantry, artillery and naval units had refused orders to fight the rebels.

ATOMIC ORE:

Rigid Regulations

In a move to safeguard the nation's supply of uranium and thorium ores, the raw materials for atom bombs, the Atomic Energy commission has issued a new and very strict code. Death is the penalty for major violations of the rigid regulations, which affect everyone handling the radio-active ores.

The code sets up a licensing system specifying that no one, unless licensed by the commission, can "transfer or export from the United States" any material that contains as much as 1-20th of one per cent of uranium or thorium.

After April 1, anyone not licensed who obtains 10 pounds or more of raw uranium or thorium must report it to the commission within 30 days. Use of uranium in ceramics, photographic supplies and other industrial products is practically forbidden, since no further supply of the metal will be allowed after April 1.

Overcomes Handicap

Sgt. Harold Russell, who lost both hands in service, is on tour in connection with his first movie venture, "The Best Years of Our Lives." He received an Academy award for his part in the picture, in which he played a disabled veteran. The film is being shown at army hospitals as part of the rehabilitation program for handicapped men. Russell does not intend to act again; his ambition is to be a specialist in movie advertising. He is shown here demonstrating how well he can perform such delicate tasks as operating a camera with his hooks.

U. S. FARM REPORT:

Five-Year Rise

Value of farms in the United States increased by one-third, on the average, and value of produce doubled between 1940 and 1945, the census bureau reports. Number of farms declined, and size of farms increased during the five-year period, as was generally known.

Total worth of the nation's farms rose steadily to $46,388,925,560 in the five years covered. Present values are considerably higher. The average farm in 1945 was 194.8 acres, compared with 174 acres five years earlier.

Market value of produce increased from $7,813,644,000 to $18,108,132,000. Number of people on farms decreased sharply but the bureau says it has no figure for 1940 exactly comparable to the 1945 total, when there were 23,588,488 listed as farm dwellers. Tenant farmers dropped from 2,361,271 to 1,858,421 in the five year term.

Other changes, as summarized in the report, were these: "Farmers are using more machinery. More farms are operated by farmers and fewer by tenants. Fewer farmers engage in off-farm work."

CANCER:

Italian Treatment

A new drug that is effective in the treatment of cancer has been reported by an Italian researcher. The chemical has been named FA2 by its discoverer, Dr. Francisco Guarnieri of Rome. He is cautious about claiming that he has found a true cure for the dread malady but stated that "only patient and arduous experiments in the coming months will be able to prove its value."

Washington Digest

Truman Draws Battle-Lines Against Red Expansionism

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON. — When Harry Truman enunciated what the Wall Street Journal, a periodical not given to poetic licentiousness, called "Democracy's Monroe Doctrine," he probably didn't realize the multi-farious effects thereof.

Baukhage

At this writing neither congress nor the country has quite recovered from the impact of those words read with the matter-of-fact, undramatic, un-oratorical, cracker-barrel diction of a matter-of-fact, undramatic, un-oratorical, cracker-barrel man. When I heard the President read them, standing there, calm and confident, at the lectern of the reading clerk on the house rostrum, looking up from the text only occasionally with that bird-like tilt of his head, as the television cameras purred gently from the opposite gallery, I felt a little worried. The cabinet members seated in the well, the senators in the first rows of seats, the house members crowded into rows behind them—all seemed almost glum. I didn't realize the solemnity of the message which held them in a restrained silence. Only thrice was there applause after he began to speak. Before and after there was plenty and it was evenly balanced, it was bi-partisan, not weighted heavily on the side of the administration party as it usually is when a President speaks.

When the speech was over it was the same. The senators left in silence; there was little or no comment. As Senator Lodge said when a radio man plucked at his sleeve and asked if he would submit to an interview: "I can't think THAT fast." Even the fast and sound thinkers wanted time to think leisurely and deeply.

Since that day thousands of words have been spoken and printed in thousands of cities all over the world, about that message which covers a little more than four and a half pages, typewritten (on both sides of the sheet since wartime economy still is practiced at the White House). In many odd corners of the bazaars and market places those words crackled like tiny electric sparks.

And everywhere thoughtful, intelligent people in foreign countries—those who had always looked upon America as a nation whose political and cultural outlook was most sympathetic to their political and cultural outlook, but whose economic theories pointed further to the right than their own socialistic leanings—pondered. These were people to whom Soviet Russia was primitive, harsh, cruel in its methods. Nevertheless Russia's economic theories differed less from their own than did the economic theories of the United States, whose civilized, friendly and humane characteristics attracted them. They found that they must choose. They must say to Russia or America: "Whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people; and thy ways shall be mine."

Perhaps never before in history had a great nation so certainly divided the sheep from the goats, the friends from the enemies. The President's plan is more than a moral question. It involves more than abstract principles of political economy or social philosophy. It sets forth with shuddering simplicity to the wavering nations of the world the warning that they must run with the hare or ride with the hounds; they must have no other political god before Demos—the spirit of the people. Either majority rules in your house or your house is ruled out of bounds.

In other words, cabinets and cabinet makers, premiers and pro-consuls will no longer dance to the Kremlin's tune if they expect Uncle Sam to pay the piper—or the butcher or the baker.

Commies Aim At Revolution

Recently when Secretary of Labor Schwollenbach urged that the Communist party in America be banned by law it brought forth an emphatic protest from the secretary-general of the party, Eugene Dennis. What are the Communists after? The new Kiplinger magazine, published in Washington, says in its March issue:

"As spelled out in their own words, American Communists have three major aims in the United States: The revolutionary overthrow of capitalism and the capitalist state, a Soviet form of government under a dictatorship of the proletariat, and finally, the Communist heaven-on-earth, a collectivist economy leading to a classless society."

"Of the three aims, their first is revolution. Not merely change, but full-fledged revolution, planned, led and controlled by the disciplined Communist minority. The liberation of the working class from the yoke of capitalism cannot be effected by slow changes, by reforms, but only by revolution."

(Editor Kiplinger says if you want chapter and verse for his authority for the above statement, write to him at 1729 G Street, N. W., Washington 6, D. C., and he will send them to you.)

It is not likely, however, that the party will be banned by law. Not because congress loves the Communists. But even that ardently anti-red group, the committee on Un-American activities, doesn't approve of wiping out the party. An anonymous member of the committee recently pointed out that if the party was broken up, it would simply go underground, where its devious ways would be harder to follow.

A worm on the surface is worth two dozen underneath the soil, as any early FBI bird will testify.

Life Insurance Increases in U. S.

On the average, there were over 4 life insurance policies per family in the United States at the end of 1945, it is revealed in a survey by life insurance companies. In amount of life insurance owned, the average per family was $4,000 at mid-year 1945. The average 1945 protection per family was more than 20 per cent larger than that of 1940 and was 2½ times the 1920 protection average. The 1945 average per family of life insurance owned was nearly equal to the 1945 average income per family, the average per family of national income in 1945 being $4,300. In 1920, the average protection per family was nearly 50 per cent below the average of national income per family. This gap was narrowed in the ensuing years, until in 1927 the protection average exceeded the income average. In the years of depression that followed, the protection average went as high as 2½ times the income average. In 1943, as wartime incomes expanded, the income average again topped the protection average.

Vanishing Crane

WHOOPING CRANE

This illustration of a Whooping Crane was supposed to accompany some remarks on that fast-disappearing species of American bird life that appeared in this column recently. Unfortunately the picture, like most of the originals, went astray. Since that article appeared, two national magazines published stories about this magnificent bird, whose whoop is becoming fainter and fainter every day. One article estimated that only a hundred specimens were still alive and whooping. The other article placed the number at 29. Says the Fish and Wildlife service of the department of the interior, which is conducting a survey of these, the tallest (man-size) and most beautiful of American birds; "fewer than 40" have been counted. They are in the coast region of southern Louisiana and Texas.

BARBS . . . by Baukhage

An automobile is being built in Los Angeles whose aluminum body is as smooth as an egg and almost the same shape. How will it look scrambled?

Oregonians, according to Business Week, are going to school to learn how to make tourists happy. More smiles per gallon?

Rats in Los Angeles won't take cheese bait but they fall for flowers, the Hollywood rodents probably insisting on orchids.

A chimpanzee in the Pittsburgh zoo takes a six-ounce shot of sherry every other day. Alcohol can make a monkey of many a man—what will it make a monkey?

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

SMALL ACCOMPLISHMENTS WORRY GOP LEADERS

WASHINGTON. — Why some Republican leaders are reaching for the whip is not difficult to ascertain. You can guess this one accurately from the scoreboard, which to date shows no runs, no hits and innumerable errors.

Their congressional leadership is in danger of nullification, and this of course means nullification of democracy. The matter is no less important than that. The Trumanites (unions?) who look at the situation gleefully as a chance to ruin the election prestige of their adversaries need new glasses. The Republicans who think they can gain political prestige by appealing to class groups are no less blind.

The only development which could save this democracy is for the Republicans to get the chance for leadership which the people gave them in the last election. Otherwise there will be no leadership, only nullifying conflict at the helm.

Mr. Truman did not have to call off his vacation for a crisis in Greece. He has one here at home which would warrant attention.

If you do not believe me, look at the scoreboard on the gross Washington leadership to date:

The closing of the senate hearings normally would bring a report and bill on union reform within a week or 10 days. Then will come long senate debate, which reporters suspect cannot be concluded for three or more weeks. The house committee was late getting started for some reason, but has a plan to get its bill out there ahead of the senate. Also the debate there will be shorter. But after action is taken by the house, the two bills will go to conference (because both bills will not be exactly alike) and the final form will be wrangled out. Ultimately dispatched to the White House thereafter, the legislation faces prospect of veto and it then may return to both houses to pass over a veto.

Will Resemble Case Bill. Anyone who figures all this can be done within two months is taking liberty with reasonableness. It is more likely to require three or more.

The final form, as nearly everyone has guessed by now is likely to follow the Case bill with some modifications, or what will be called the Ball-Taft-Smith bill this time. It will be practically the same as Mr. Truman vetoed last year before election.

Those in charge of congressional affairs judge much of the debate will center around the proposals to abolish the closed shop and the restrictions upon industry-wide bargaining—both amendments of Minnesota's Senator Ball. One or both might be passed by one house, but the chances of either passing both houses is slim.

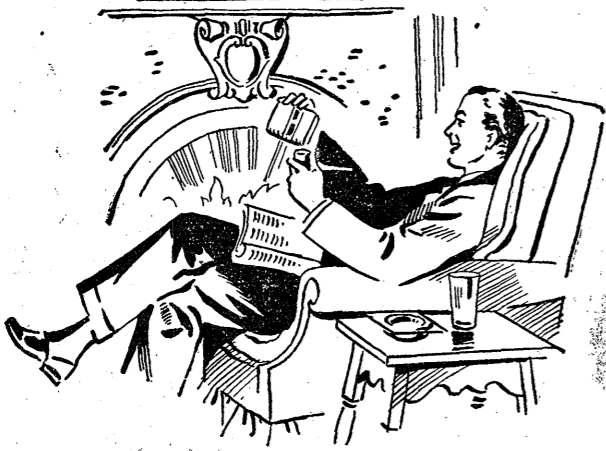

So while some Republican leaders are claiming the job they are doing in congress is unprecedentedly tremendous, they can hardly escape the conclusion that:

After all the current trouble and more coming, the result is apt to be just what was passed last session in a Democratic congress and failed then by veto.

Look at the scoreboard again. They have pushed up near to final enactment and then stopped the bill limiting the presidency to two terms (a matter which could wait until 1950 at least before it could have any practical effect); also they have pushed abolition of the portal-to-portal backpay increases (incidentally labor did not object strenuously) and the proposed cuts in the budget. On the budget they have spent considerable time and patience on the theory that they should pare expenses before adopting a tax reduction.

Less Tax Reduction. This latter step naturally has had the effect of postponing tax reduction, which many Republicans consider to be the swiftly needed key to economic advancement of the country, equal in importance almost to labor legislation. This proposed tax stimulation to economic activity has run into the Truman promotion of more loans and relief to Europe. The question of loans has weakened some Republican backing for a 20 per cent cut and caused some congressmen privately to talk about 15 or 10 per cent or maybe even less.

Now I am informed with the utmost reliability, the Truman administration has not contemplated getting anything from abroad in return for the loans. Indeed, high Democrats tell me they cannot get anything in return for the money—for instance any guarantees from Greece or Italy or the other nations, which would promote our struggle to maintain our ideals in those nations against the growth of Communist and Russian interests, or any commitments.

The 40-Hour Week is Swell
— for everyone except your doctor

Your doctor is heartily in favor of the 40-hour week, and he would very much like to share it with you. He could, too, if the Government ever took over medicine and put your doctor on the payroll. But as long as Americans prefer the freedoms they enjoy under America's private enterprise system, your doctor can't place his personal wishes above his social responsibility. As a private physician, your doctor has a professional code that makes his time yours to command. He believes that this is the way you prefer it, which is why your doctor looks with disfavor upon any movement that tends to destroy private enterprise.

YOU SHOULD KNOW YOUR RADIO!

by T. M. Luxford

With reference to last week's illustration of the misunderstanding between the customer, Mr. C and the radio repairman, Mr. R, I hope you haven't misconstrued the intent. It is my sole intent and purpose to show you, the customer, how to approach any repairman and clear up some of these things which have caused misunderstanding, and the articles will be continued to that end — I hope.

This week C has a radio repaired by R and is quite disappointed to that it worked fine about a month and then gave trouble again. C not only is disappointed but is quite perturbed. Several thoughts come to him and the most important one is R didn't do a good job. He may take the radio back to R and complain about it or he may be so disgusted with R that he will take it to another repairman. If he does the latter, he will probably tell that repairman that R did a poor job in his estimation and he is all through taking his radio to R for repair. This is one of the too common occurrences in radio repair. Regardless of how capable and careful a repairman R may be, this will occasionally occur. The radio may not give trouble in one month but may go bad almost immediately or wait for two or three months. The fact remains that it is too soon and C is dissatisfied. While it is doubtful that any repairman has kept a record of how often this occurs, he does know that it happens too often and presents a serious problem between him and the customer. Quite often a reliable repairman is condemned because of such an occurrence, yet the customer can hardly be blamed for his attitude, because he doesn't understand. The reason that this can happen to a reliable repairman is simple to the repairman — not so simple to Mr. C. I hope I can make it clear in the following explanation:

C instructs R to make a complete repair on his set. R who has complete testing equipment and knowledge to do so locates the defective tubes and parts and effects the repair. The nature of electricity and the type of construction that is necessary in the various parts in a radio set is such that one or more of these parts may be just about ready to give trouble but R has no way to find it out. Neither does any radio repairman. A condenser may be about ready to go bad but the only test R can apply with any instrument available to him will tell him only that the condenser is o.k. now. This is true of dozens of other parts in a radio. R can tell you only with respect to a few parts whether or not they are going to give trouble soon and recommend that they be replaced.

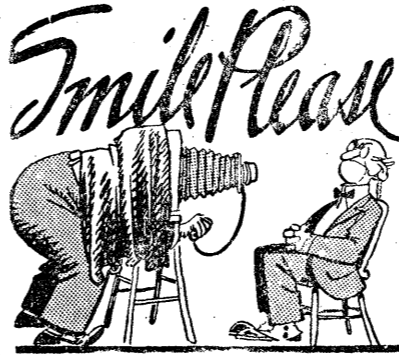

R may replace some parts which are old, are not troubling now but which he knows are under terrific strain and probably won't last much longer. BUT, no test will prove it to him. He can only suggest that it might be wise to replace such parts. If you should ask the smartest electrician available how much longer a light bulb was going to last before it burned out, he couldn't tell you. The reason to you is quite obvious. It works for you 100 per cent until the day it suddenly pops. It is essentially the same thing with dozens of radio parts.

Getting back to Mr. C, whose radio repair lasted only one month, suppose he brings it back to R, and R finds something like this has occurred. Some part which was working o.k. when he repaired the set has suddenly gone wrong. How is he going to explain this to C so C will feel alright about the whole thing and not blame R? C does not understand radio repairs and is privileged to be skeptical because he is in no position to know whether or not it was carelessness on R's part, inability, or what have you?

Will R satisfy C? Will C murder R in cold blood? Who is the villain and who is the hero, anyway? Does the author know? Tune in again next Friday, same time, same station, to this thrilling mystery and find out. In the meantime, dear listener, don't forget to use soap flakes, so easy on your hands. You may find it a little difficult to get along without nails on your fingers but you'll get used to it in time, and remember what we save you in nail polish. If you can't get soap flakes from your grocer, use anything you are lucky enough to find. What's the difference, as long as we keep this clean?

A man with too many irons in the fire will probably let the fire go out.

We've heard to get the best of an argument is to stay out of it.

The Morning After

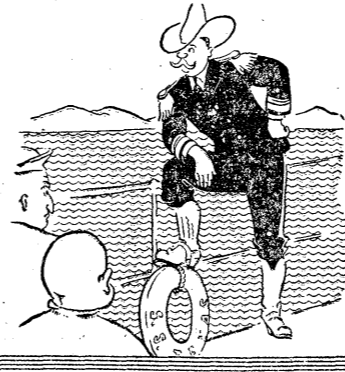

George, the Negro janitor at the college, listening to the learned discussions of the professors, developed a great liking for big words and, as a prominent member of his local lodge, he began to make use of them in his remarks to his fellow-members.

One morning, after delivering an important address at his lodge, George was discovered by one of the professors diligently searching through one of the college's large unabridged dictionaries.

"Picking up some words for your next speech, George?" the professor laughingly inquired.

"No, sah, no, sah," replied George, "I'se jus' translatin' t' mahself de speech I done made las' night."

EXTREME POLITENESS

The captain of an American tanker from Texas, which was about to make port on the coast of North Africa, decided that it was just as well to adopt a good-neighbor policy toward the inhabitants. He addressed his crew: "If they tell you that Africa is bigger than Texas, don't contradict—tell 'em it's true."

How to Make Money

A Meriden, Conn., manufacturer of printing presses, who advertises "Print—Make Money," recently received the following frank communication:

"Gentlemen: Upon receipt of your catalog I failed to find just the press I desired. I am taking you in confidence and asking you a frank question. Do you have a press that will make or stamp imitation paper money; if so, does the counterfeit look real? That is the kind of press I must possess, therefore, reply promptly."

Useless Gadget

"All very interesting," said Miss Gregory to the motor car salesman, "and now show me the depreciation, will you? I hear it is heavy on these cars."

"To tell the truth, lady," replied the super salesman, "we found it a constant source of worry, and had it removed altogether."

The Ones Who Matter

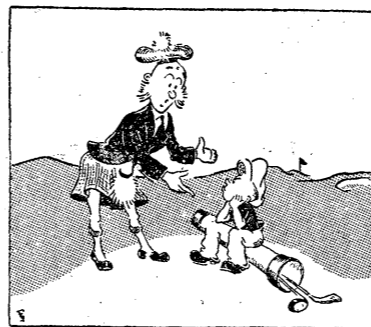

The drug store clerk was trying to sell a new type lipstick. . . . "You'll find, miss, that most girls like this lipstick."

"Well . . . er . . . ah . . ." stammered his hard-to-sell customer, "I'm really interested . . . er, I mean . . . could you tell me the kind the men like?"

Step on It!

A candidate for the police was being given an oral examination. "If you were by yourself in a police car, and were being pursued by a gang of desperate criminals in another car doing 40 miles an hour on a lonely road, what would you do?" The candidate replied promptly, "50."

AND FIND A GOOD ONE

Sandy McPherson—And you are to be caddie, lad?
Caddie—Yes, sir.
Sandy—Tell me, are you good at finding balls?
Caddie—Yes, I am.
Sandy—Then look around a bit and find one so we can start the game.

Male Help Wanted

Two spinsters were discussing men—
"Which would you desire most in your husband—brains, wealth or appearance?" asked one.
"Appearance," snapped the other, "and the sooner the better."

A Long Try

Husband—Well, dear, 50 years have flitted by and I haven't deceived you yet.
Wife—No, John, but goodness knows you've tried hard enough.

Illegal Firearms

The country is flooded with hand guns, including pistols and revolvers, both American and foreign make. These guns are being sold and exchanged in violation of the Michigan State law.

The state law forbids the sale of any hand gun, without a license to purchase. All hand guns must be registered. Failure to conform with the laws regulating the registration of the sale of hand guns will be met with prosecution, and the guns themselves are liable to confiscation.

Army Week — Apr. 6-12

April 6-12 has been proclaimed by the President of the United States and the Governor of Michigan to be Army Week.

Traditionally Army Day falls annually on April 6, the anniversary of this country's entry into World War I. Since Easter falls on that date, this year Army Day will be observed on Monday, April 7.

The purpose of setting aside a week to honor our Army is obvious. By displaying the National Colors and attending special functions during this week we are paying tribute to those soldiers, living and dead, who did so much to make peace possible and to preserve our American way of life. Then, too, by publicizing the various components of the Army of the United States, we are bringing to the public an awareness that only by virtue of the services of those men who are now wearing the Army's uniform, is this nation able to maintain its right full place as leader of the nations of the world.

The theme of Army Week must be presented to every citizen of this nation for their consideration. That theme is: "A strong America is a Peaceful America".

The guy that locked his wife in the coal bin was just fueling. You can't get by merely getting by.

South Arm and North-South Arm Farm Bureau

The South Arm and North-South Arm Farm Bureau held their regular meeting on March 18, at the Masonic Hall, with an attendance of 30.

The first part of the evening was spent in group singing and playing games.

The meeting was called to order by the Chairman, Harold Gobel. Those who attended the officers meeting at Charlevoix were asked to say a few words on what they learned from the meeting.

Clare McGhan gave a talk on what was discussed at the counties meeting and urged the groups to work on a project.

A collection of three dollars and sixtyfive cents was taken up for the Red Cross.

A motion picture on Cooperatives was shown, by the County Agent, Mr. Rebmam, which we all enjoyed.

Pot luck lunch was served.

WILSON

(Edited by Mrs. Selma Eggersdorf)

Our April first looks more like March first with snow drifts in the yards four or five ft. deep and roads almost impassable in places. We are hoping for nicer weather soon.

The Wilson Board met with Aug. Knop Friday but due to bad weather an roads they were not able to meet Tuesday.

Mr. Bob Ecker is employed at the East Jordan Creamery.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kirshner of Petoskey spent Saturday with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kirshner.

at the Martin Decker home, while Mr. and Mrs. Behling and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schroeder spent Sunday evening there.

Henry M ayrand of Midland is spending a few days with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Armond Mayrand.

Services will be held at our church here on Good Friday at 10:30 A.M. and on Easter Sunday at 2:30 in the afternoon. About half of our members have attended the Lenten Services at the Boyne City church which ended Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Weldy have sold their farm and have begun building their new home in East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Reidel, Mrs. Henry Knop and Mr. and Mrs. A. Knop and son spent Sunday at the H. Eggersdorf farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Aug Knop have their house and barn wired and the R.E.A. men were there and conected them soon as the wiring was completed. The following have also wired their homes. Aug and Herbert Behling, Shirley Behling and Mr. Peter Boyer.

South Arm Local FARMERS EDUCATIONAL AND CO-OPERATIVE UNION OF AMERICA

The South Arm Local was formed in the month of February, 1947, at South Arm Grange Hall. There were a nice number of farmers present under the condition of the roads.

The speakers for the evening were our county president Mr. Elmer Lyon of Charlevoix and Carl Whitley, state organizer. These men explained the purpose of Farmers Educational Co-operative Unions and the things that the Union does for the average farmer.

The local units, county and State setups were explained in full as to membership dues and any other business affairs.

Our local was formed with the following men elected officers:— Archie Murphy, president; Clarence Lord, vice president; James Addis, sec'y, treas.; Mrs. Kenneth Isaman, program director; Raymond Fisher, organizer.

The next meeting of our local was held the 18th of March at South Arm Grange Hall. There were 39 present this time, but again the roads were not too good.

The local president and secretary read some of the things that us farmers have to concern ourselves with at the present and in the near future. The subject of potato inspecting policy was very well discussed and also our local cooperatives. The meeting was a very successful one for all who were present.

We will have our next meeting on the third Monday in April at the South Arm Grange Hall and any farmers interested in family type farming come out as our meetings are always open meetings.

All Given Away
The old man sent for the doctor to have a look at his wife, who had taken to her bed and didn't seem to recognize him.
"How is she, doctor?" he asked anxiously.
"She's all right, physically," was the reply. "But her mind seems completely gone."
"Oh, is that all?" The old man heaved a deep sigh, then added: "It's no surprise to me, doctor. She's been giving me a piece of it every day for over 50 years."

Pays to Advertise
Clancy was out working in the garden, and as he labored he groaned and grumbled. He was starving for meat and for something sweet, but there was nothing in sight.
Suddenly from the kitchen came the voice of his good wife shouting: "Clancy, come in and get your steak and your country butter and your strawberry preserves!"
Clancy dropped his spade in amazement, and hot-footed it into the kitchen.

"Maggie, oh, Maggie!" he cried, "ye're only kiddin' me!"
"No, Clancy, it's not you I'm kiddin'," laughed Maggie. "It's the neighbors!"

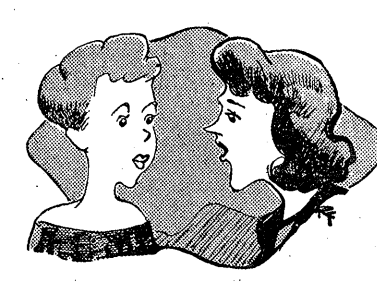

Getting Off Easy
A policeman caught a motorist exceeding the speed limit.
"Your name, please," he demanded.
"Aubrey Llewellyn Brynmot Llewellyn," came the reply.
The policeman put his notebook away and looked sternly at the offender.

"Well, don't let me catch you again," he said severely.

Holding Their Gains
Two men pedaled their tandem bicycle up a very steep hill and stopped to rest at the top.
"Sure," said one, "that was real hard work. I didn't think we'd get here."
"Nor did I," said the other. "I was afraid we'd run backwards—that's why I kept on the brake."

A Great Pity
Rain poured down. Rivers flooded. Houses, animals, even people were being carried away. Caught in the deluge were the Krantzies.
"Help me!" wailed Mrs. Krantz.
"I'm being washed downstream!"
"What a pity!" replied Krantz.
"And to think you just took a bath this morning!"

Making It Last
John—That's a good looking hat you're wearing, Fred.
Fred—Yes, I bought it six years ago, had it cleaned four times, changed it twice in restaurants and it still looks like new.

WEATHER CONTROL

Madam—Have you been touching the barometer, Mary?
Maid—Yes'm. It's my night out, so I set it for "fine."

Can't Express Himself
William—What is that deaf and dumb carpenter so frantic about?
Charles—He just hit his thumb with a hammer and he can't find his pad and pencil.

'Knew' Spelling
Joe—There's one trouble I always have with spelling "neuralgia."
Bill—What's the trouble?
Joe—I always forget the "k" in the "knew" part.

Breaking It Gently
Boss (to new secretary)—Take a letter to Smith and Company, asking them to reconsider the offer I made them yesterday . . . and . . . you do the same."

Fast Little Rascal
An old Dutch farmer, seeing an electric fan for the first time, exclaimed, "Py golly dot's a lively squirrel you got in dar, ain't it?"

Out of Reach
"Ouch! I've been stung by a wasp."
"Here, put some ammonia on it."
"I can't—it flew away."

Better Company
She—Men are contemptible creatures.
He—Yeah, I know, that's why I run around with women.

DRIVE SLOW WHEN STREETS ARE WET
I have observed lately that we have quite a few discourteous drivers who seem to delight in driving down our streets when they are full of soft snow or slush and spattering all pedestrians within range. Such acts not only constitute reckless driving — but — can be prosecuted as such. A little more consideration for the fellow on foot is needed. If such carelessness continue my only alternative will be to file a proper complaint and let the violator take the consequences.

Soldier Come Home

BY BETTY ZANE WATSON

Johnny Davis saves his grandmother, Jennifer Martin, from her burning home, but she does not know he performed the rescue as she was unconscious. His cousin, Basil Martin, who is engaged to Kit Willett, whom Johnny loves, assumes credit for saving his grandmother, believing no one saw Johnny at the scene of the fire. However, Thomas, the butler, knew it was Johnny but is afraid to speak. Basil has run over Jackie, son of Jerry Murphy, who Johnny suspects of having started the fire at Martindale. Jerry pays the Davises a visit and tells them he did not set the fire. Kit tenders her resignation and tells Johnny and J. D. that she and Basil plan to be married shortly.

CHAPTER XI

"I cannot condemn you for working for that person, Kathryn, although I must confess I wish you hadn't told me. I cannot control your life, but never mention him in this house again, please. He took the most precious possession I ever owned and I have never quite forgotten that he killed her." She stood with much effort and reached for the bell pull. Thomas appeared almost instantly and helped her from the room. She turned as she reached the door. "I shall expect you for tea in my room, Kathryn, then?" And when Kit nodded she smiled as pleased as a child that has been forgiven its cutting words.

Martindale was undergoing great changes for the announcement party. Jennifer Martin had made her wishes clearly understood that this should be an event in the old house.

Both Basil's parents knew of her affection for Kit and hastened to do her bidding. The living room was to be lavishly decorated with huge bouquets of chrysanthemums. The dining room was rapidly being turned into a banquet hall, and its length justified the decorations. The usual cold atmosphere of the house disappeared and even the servants went about their work with unusual happiness. They were quite fond of Kit and looked forward to having her in the house. Thomas particularly admired her. At times, though, Kit thought his actions strange. Several times he had been on the verge of saying something while in her presence and Kit had the feeling that it might be important. Then he would hesitate and finish with some commonplace statement.

Kit's mother had been invited to come down to Lexington for the party but declined the invitation. Kit knew that she would be happier staying with her new husband than coming to Martindale where she would probably feel strange and out of place. However, Kit had made her uncle and aunt promise they would attend the party, pointing out that none of her friends or family would be present if they stayed away. Her uncle was now working in the superintendent's office with a more than adequate raise in salary and he felt they should go out of courtesy to Mr. Martin who had been responsible for his new position.

The debris of the east wing had been cleared and a new, more modern addition to the house was already being planned. It was to be solely for Basil and Kit, Jennifer Martin suggesting herself that she could have her room moved to the main part of the house. Kit found herself enthusiastic over the plans for this portion of Martindale that was to belong to her and Basil alone.

Basil Presents A Proposition

Kit dressed at her aunt's and could not suppress her excitement when Basil came for her. Her dress was black net and sprinkled with sequins over the full skirt. On her head she wore a thin tiara of rhinestones, a gift from Basil. At her wrist a matching bracelet accentuated the slim molding of her arms. To say she was beautiful would be a gross understatement. She was more than beautiful, more than lovely as she stepped into the car beside Basil.

"Kit, I've hardly seen you a minute alone since the old lady got ahead of you. I miss you, baby."

"I'm glad. That's as it should be, isn't it?" she asked shyly, teasing him.

"Seriously, though, I do like you to myself, once in a while. And that reminds me there's something I want to ask you tonight after this is all over." He got up and lighted a cigarette.

"You sound serious, Baz. What is it—can't you ask me now?"

He glanced at his watch, and then looked at her. "No, there isn't time. They'll be here any minute now."

ing at Henry and his wife with defiance in her eyes.

After the last guest had left and the immediate family had retired, Basil and Kit stayed on in the deserted living room. Kit was tired with the evening's many responsibilities and she wished that Basil would take her home.

Jennifer Martin had retired after kissing Kit affectionately on the forehead. Basil watched the old lady with a satisfied smile on his smug face.

"The old girl's sure got a case on you, Kit," he said, sitting down on the sofa and pulling her down beside him.

"I'm so glad, Baz. She seems so lonely." She was still wondering what Basil had to tell her that was so important.

"I'm glad too. It makes things a lot easier. Oh, but definitely!" He laughed.

Kit was disgusted with his beating around the bush.

"What are you trying to say, Baz? Get it over with, for heavens sake!"

"O. K.—it's this. We want you to talk the old lady out of the part of the will that goes to Davis." He looked at her, his face a hard mask. "There, it's just as simple as that, my dear."

Kit reached up and touched his cheek with her hand.

Kit's face grew white. She looked directly at Basil and took a deep breath. She said finally, "And you thought that I would stoop that low?"

"Wait a minute." He grabbed her wrist. "There's nothing wrong with that—nothing that should mar your pure consciousness. The old lady made a promise a long time ago and if you asked her we all know that she'd change it."

"Basil, I'll never ask her to do such a thing. Never!" Her voice was both emphatic and angry.

Basil studied her for a few minutes. "Kit, do you remember what I did for your uncle—the job he has now he owes to me. Now, I'm asking you to do something for me . . . and I intend to see that you do it," he explained bluntly.

Kit stepped back as though he had slapped her. "You mean that if I don't do what you want, my uncle—" Her eyes widened.

"You're a smart girl, Kit." He stood. "Think it over. I'll be back with your coat, my dear." And he left the room.

Kit suddenly felt cold as though someone had opened a door and she stood in a bitter wind.

It was Kit's last week at the office and Johnny felt a loneliness each time he passed her desk, as if she had already gone. J. D. had hired a bespectacled individual in her place who had majored in journalism at State and who should prove out very satisfactory—that is, if they had not remembered it always as Kit's job.

A Visit to Jackie Murphy

On Thursday night J. D. asked Kit and Johnny if they would cover a story over in Jenkinstown. A man had murdered his wife and it gave reason to be hot copy. Johnny had no idea that Kit could accompany him and was surprised when she grabbed her hat and coat and hurried with him out to the faithful old Moses. She seemed more like her usual self, Johnny decided, as they rode along between the two towns. Lately she had acted depressed and worried in the office—ever since the morning after her announcement party, he remembered.

Once in Jenkinstown, they had no trouble getting in the jail to view the murderer, J. D. being an old friend of the Chief of Police. They later drove out to the scene of the crime, a cheap rooming house. Kit persuaded the landlady's son to let them see the room on the third floor where the man had lived with the woman he had loved and murdered.

There was nothing of interest, however. A few snapshots stuck in the border of the mirror, which they quickly took. A battered suitcase, half packed, in the closet. The bed unmade, still showing the imprint of a body.

"Johnny—" Kit turned to him. "How do you suppose he felt after—"

"People like that don't feel. How could he murder the woman he loved?" he asked bitterly.

"Perhaps he didn't love her any longer," she explained.

"That can't be. If you love someone once—it's for keeps. Love isn't something you can put on and off like an old coat. It's always there—inside you." He stopped, embarrassed that he had gone so far with his subject.

"You really believe that, don't you, Johnny?" She walked over to him.

"Yes, Kit, I do." He looked deep into her eyes. She was standing very near him, the shadows of the room about them.

Kit reached up and touched his cheek with her hand.

"Johnny," she whispered, "the girl that marries you will be the luckiest girl in the world." She kept looking at him, and then turned and left the room. Johnny stood staring after her for a moment and then followed her down the stairs.

But when they reached the car she seemed in a light and gay mood, and Johnny knew she was shielding herself from her last remark. She suggested as they neared Lexington that they stop at the hospital and see little Jackie Murphy. Johnny told her that the child had been moved home a few days before. He hesitated to suggest they stop at the boy's home, not knowing whether she would want to face their poverty so closely. It was Kit that asked quickly why they couldn't go to his home. Johnny smiled to himself, feeling he should have known better than to doubt Kit.

They found Jackie sitting up in bed in a dimly lit bedroom, almost as dark as the one they had just left. His happy smile as he saw them, though, brightened the entire room.

"Hello, Kit," he called when he saw her.

Kit looked surprised when he called her by name. Johnny, following her into the room, looked embarrassed and she knew immediately the child's source of information.

"I wondered if you would come to see me." His eyes were wide with happiness. "Johnny, I got the bomb-er almost done. All but the wings you said you'd help me with."

Mrs. Murphy stood near by and was beaming almost as much as Jackie. She looked happier than Johnny had ever seen her look, and the thought of Jerry coming to their room that night to warn them not to turn him in, came to him. It was just as well they had not, Johnny decided now, looking at the child and Mrs. Murphy.

"What's this, you're holding out on me, you two?" Kit asked. "I didn't know you could build planes!"

Johnny's Girl For a Day

They stayed with the child for almost an hour and Kit began to see signs of his tiring and motioned to Johnny that they had better be going.

"You'll come back, Kit, won't you? Real soon?" Jackie pleaded, catching hold of her hand.

"Of course we will, honey. You just hurry and get strong and we'll have a good time, we will," she promised.

"You'll be my girl, too, won't you, Kit? Just like you're Johnny's girl?" he asked as they went out the door.

Kit looked at Johnny, her tongue in her cheek. She smiled and answered, "You bet I will, Jackie." She walked ahead of Johnny down the stairs.

They heard the footsteps on the porch before Mrs. Murphy let them out. It was Jerry.

Johnny wondered quickly if Jerry knew Kit and if he knew that she was to be married to Basil. He saw the blank expression on Kit's face and knew she was wondering the same thing.

Jerry leaned closer to her as he came face to face with them, narrowing his beady eyes and studying her features. Finally he straightened and muttered something half to himself.

"Thought for a minute I knew you. What's your name?" He spoke directly to Kit, ignoring Johnny, except for a nod which he gave him as he came in the house.

Johnny interrupted quickly. "Why this is my girl, Jerry. We were just leaving." And he hurried Kit out the door and to the waiting car.

Kit said nothing while he started the car and drove them down the street. After they had gone a few blocks, she looked at him and laughed.

"That makes two of the Murphy family who think I'm your girl, doesn't it?" She laughed as though the situation really amused her.

"Well—worse things could happen!" he said angrily.

She looked at him, surprised that he had said what he did. "Oh, Johnny, darling, of course worse things could happen. In fact—that would be the nicest thing that—" She stopped, and Johnny, looking at her, knew she had no intention of continuing.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

THE RISEN LORD AND HIS DISCIPLES

LESSON TEXT—John 20:19-23, 26-29; 21:15-17.
MEMORY SELECTION—But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept.—I Corinthians 15:20.

Ever new and blessed in its touch upon our souls is the message of Easter. To be assured once more that the grave could not hold our blessed Lord and Saviour, and that he arose in victory over sin and death, is our delightful portion in today's lesson.

It is a very appropriate conclusion to our three month study of the Gospel of John and comes in the new quarter because of Easter Sunday. Three helpful incidents make up our lesson.

I. A Risen Lord and Glad Disciples (20:19-23).

The appearance of our Lord to his disciples after he arose from the grave emphasizes the close relationship between the resurrection and the life and ministry of his followers.

Those who live for and serve the risen Christ have a triumphant faith, an inward peace, and an outward authority and power. Their convictions are based on the Lord's own words which came to assure the disciples as they secretly assembled for fear of the Jews.

He stood in their midst and spoke the words of peace (vv. 19-21) and authority (vv. 22, 23).

Peace of soul is absolutely essential to useful and satisfied living. Only as we are "steadfast, immovable," can we be "abounding in the work of the Lord" (I Cor. 15:58). Steady at the center, active at the circumference.

Commissioned and sent by the Son of God, clothed with Holy Spirit power, the Church of God has his authority. While some have read too much into verse 23, others have read out of it the real authority that God has given.

Little wonder that we read (v. 20), "Then were the disciples glad when they saw the Lord." They had reason for real joy!

II. A Convinced Doubter and Glad Testimony (20:26-29).

Thomas made the serious error of being absent from the gathering of the disciples when the Lord Jesus stood in their midst. Let those who commonly absent themselves from the place and hour of worship take heed lest they miss a blessing, and coming later add nothing to the spiritual life of the church, but rather become troublers and doubters.

But God graciously turns the doubt of Thomas into a means of blessing to all of us who since then have read of his experience. Thomas was an honest doubter. God is always ready to meet such with satisfactory proof. The trouble is that there are so many in the world who use professed doubts to cover a life of sin.

Doubt may come to any man. In itself it is no sin. But to cherish it and hold to it in unbelief—that is a different matter. One wise spiritual leader rightly counseled his people, "Believe your beliefs and doubt your doubts. Never make the mistake of doubting your beliefs or believing your doubts."

When doubting Thomas saw the Lord, his questions changed at once to strong convictions and assured personal testimony to his blessed Lord.

III. A Restored Disciple and Glad Service (21:15-17).

After meeting Jesus on the first Easter morning, Peter had been assured of forgiveness for his denial of the Lord and had been taken back into fellowship and service with him.

But then something seemed to have gone astray, for we find that Peter and the others had returned to their old life as fishermen. They seem to have lost their vision, or had become discouraged.

But the Lord had not forgotten them. He appeared and told them where to catch fish, and then we have the lovely scene around the fire as they breakfasted together.

There it was that the Lord met Peter, and as he had denied Christ thrice he is asked to thrice declare his devotion to him.

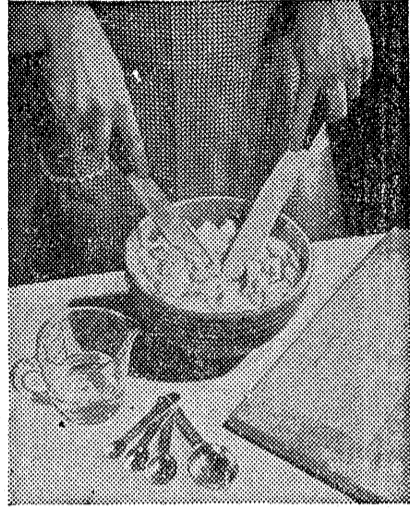

The man who thus declared his readiness to serve Christ to the end had many an opportunity to prove the sincerity of that profession. He met persecution and imprisonment but to every effort of man to close his mouth or to change his witness he had the simple reply of absolute obedience to the Lord.

Tradition tells us that this faithful-ness finally led Peter to a martyr's death. So we see a life made over, made powerful, made glorious for God through the matchless grace of our Lord Jesus Christ. He can do it for you, too. Will you let him?

There could be no better time to meet the risen Lord face to face than on this day when we remember his resurrection. Let him come into your heart, dissolve your doubts, forgive your sins—and make you glad!

Have Crusts Flaky, Fillings Delicious For Good Pie

Two small spatulas or pastry blenders are excellent for cutting fat into flour when making pastry. Never use the fingers, as this warms the ingredients, which ought to be kept well chilled if flaky pastry is to be achieved.

"Yes, it's easy to make a good piecrust, if you're not too ambitious," said a good cook to me once. "That may sound like a strange bit of advice, but it's true. The more you work with the crust the tougher it gets."

There's another tip you should follow too, if you want to make a good pie, and that is in regard to the filling. Make it just as juicy and delicious as you possibly can. A good crust helps, but the filling has to be good, too!

Chiffon pies should be light and downy, never tough. Never use too much of a thickening agent in fruit, berry or cream pies. These should be firm enough to stand up easily when sliced, but they should never be pasty.

If you make pies often, have on hand a jar of homemade pastry mix such as this:

Pastry Mix.

- 7 cups sifted flour
- 4 teaspoons salt
- 1 1/2 to 2 cups lard

Combine flour and salt. Cut lard into flour mixture until crumbs are about the size of peas. Store in covered container in refrigerator and use as desired. (Do not add water until ready to use, and then add just enough to hold together.)

Fresh Strawberry Pie.

- 1 baked 9-inch pie shell
- 1 quart strawberries
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- Dash of salt
- Sweetened Whipped Cream

Crush half the berries and bring to boiling point. Stir in sugar combined with cornstarch and salt. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Spread other half of berries into baked pie shell and pour hot, cooked berries over them. Cool, then top with cream and serve.

Pecan Pie.

- 3 eggs, beaten
- 1 cup light brown sugar
- 1 cup dark corn syrup
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 tablespoon melted butter
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup pecans

Place all ingredients except pecans into a bowl and mix thoroughly.

Pour into an unbaked pie shell and place pecans carefully over the top. Bake in a hot (450-degree) oven for 10 minutes, then continue baking in a slow (325-degree) oven for 30 minutes or longer, until filling shakes like gelatin.

Here's a heavenly pie that deserves its name. Its crust is not the regulation type made of flour and shortening, but rather a meringue. The filling is a delightful combination of lemon and eggs made light and fluffy with whipped cream and chilled thoroughly before serving. Use it for your next party.

Lemon Angel Pie.

- 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
- 3/4 teaspoon cream of tartar

LYNN SAYS: There's a Trick in Doing Even Simple Tasks

When cleaning green vegetables, always add a handful of salt to the second water in which they are washed. This will cause the sand in the leaves to sink to the bottom of the pan and really help make vegetables clean.

Use old soap scraps by grating them or putting through a food chopper. Then add water and make a soap jelly to use for laundry.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

- Cheese Fondue
- Baked Tomatoes
- Slivered Green Beans
- Molded Pear in Lime Gelatin
- Melba Toast
- Honey
- *Lemon Chiffon Pie Beverage

*Recipe given.

- 4 eggs, separated
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon lemon rind, finely grated
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 pint cream for whipping

Sift together 1 cup of sugar and the cream of tartar. Beat the egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually add the sugar mixture, continuing to beat until thoroughly blended. Use the meringue to line the bottom and sides of a 9 or 10-inch well-greased pie plate, hollowing out the center and being careful not to spread the meringue too close to the sides. Bake in a slow (275-degree) oven for one hour. Cool. Beat egg yolks slightly, then stir in remaining 1/2 cup of sugar and lemon juice, rind and salt. Cook over boiling water until very thick, 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from fire and cool. Whip cream and combine half of it with lemon-egg mixture. Fill meringue shell and cover with remaining whipped cream. Chill in refrigerator for 24 hours before serving.

*Lemon Chiffon Pie.

- 1 baked 8-inch shell
- 1 tablespoon gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold water
- 4 egg yolks
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 4 egg whites

Add gelatin to cold water and let stand 5 minutes. Separate eggs and beat yolks in top part of double boiler. Add sugar, lemon juice, salt and grated rind. Mix well. Cook over hot water until mixture coats the spoon. Add gelatin and stir in well. Cool.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, and add 1/2 cup more of sugar. Fold mixture into beaten egg whites and turn into a baked pie shell. Chill thoroughly. Coat with meringue or whipped cream.

It's not always necessary to bake a pie in order to serve pastry. There's a banana puff dessert that can be very popular if you enjoy this fruit, and it's topped off with a meltingly delicious sauce.

Mix sparingly when making pastry and don't get too ambitious. This applies also to rolling dough, which should be done in outward directions with very little pressure on the rolling pin.

Banana Puff.

Allow one banana for each serving. Roll peeled banana in sugar and cinnamon and roll in rich pie crust. Bake in a very hot (450-degree) oven for 15 minutes. Serve with the following sauce:

Lemon Sauce.

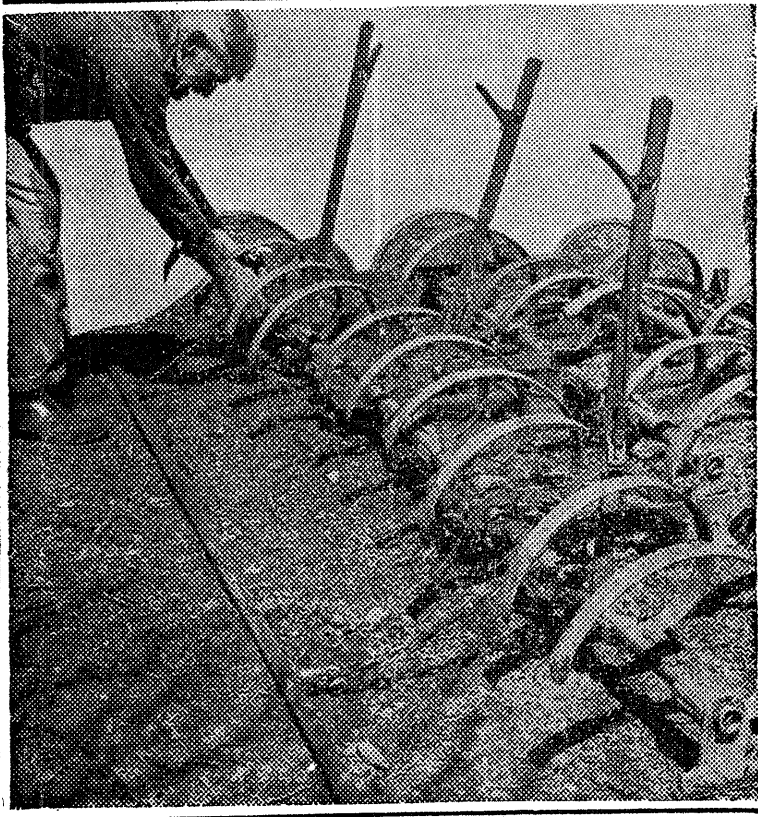

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup boiling water or pineapple juice
- Juice and grated rind of 1/2 lemon
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 2 tablespoons raisins, if desired

Cook sugar, flour, salt and liquid over hot water for 10 minutes. Add lemon, butter and raisins. Serve hot.

This sauce is also delicious served over baked and steamed puddings.

Soil-Leveling Rod On Drag

Clyde Downs, Ithaca, Mich., is backed by farm labor specialists of the Michigan State college extension service when he says it's easy to level a field and break the lumps by attaching a solid one-inch rod behind a spring-tooth drag.

A corrugated roller is not always available or may pack the soil too much. A rod a little longer than the width of the drag, attached two feet behind by two lengths of chain, will leave the seeded almost as smooth as a garden. If the operator attaches the chains high on the drag and drives at fairly high speed, the rod tends to cuff along the surface with little extra power required. The two chains can be attached to the rod by bolts through drilled holes or by welded clips.

When the soil is rather wet, a 3/4-inch ordinary water pipe may be sufficient.

Sportmen's Club

Met Thursday

taking them hunting and fishing now, and instilling a true sportsmanlike code in them, they will have something to follow throughout their life.

The subject of a Trout Festival was brought up and discussed. Barney Milstein, Orville Anderson and Joe Bugai then showed how it would be impossible to put on such a festival in the short time allotted. George Secord then moved, seconded by Dick Malpass, that the plans be tabled, after which Jos. Bugai, supported by Barney Milstein, proposed a Trout Festival for 1948, which was carried.

Moved by Earl Clark, supported by Dick Malpass that the Club meet once a month, the date to be set by the board of directors. Carried.

Moved by Allen Walton, supported by Peggy Bowman, that the dues fee be decided now. Carried.

Moved by Paul Lisk, supported by Roy Jenkins, that the dues fee be $2.00 per year. Carried.

Frank Nachazel, who is building several cabins on the dam pond, proposed that the Club take steps to remove the pike from the pond and plant German brown trout. Conservation Officer Ed. Starback then reported that several years ago the pond had been drained after which the Dept. of Fisheries planted bluegills, sunfish and bass. He told how the Dept. was not planting any more warm water fish, pointing out that Deer Creek, above the dam, receives a yearly planting of German browns but because of the warmth of the water in the dam pond these trout will not enter it.

It was then moved by Nachazel, supported by Allen Walton, that the Club contact the Dept. of Fisheries to attempt to get the proper type of fish planted at the dam pond. Carried.

The Board of Directors plan to hold a meeting on Tuesday, April 8, at 8 p. m. at the City Building. This meeting is open to all who wish to attend.

The Club is making plans to renovate Sportsmen's Park, now that the water has receded, and a day will be selected soon on which all sportsmen will be asked to come out and help get the park back in presentable shape before trout season opens.

LENTEN MESSAGES

"By this shall all men know that ye are Mine, that ye love one another." St. John 13:35.

This is Passion Week. It came into being nearly two thousand years ago. It marks the events which down through the centuries have been vital to the teachings of the Church of Christ. It was the Son of God who in the short space of one week entered triumphant into Jerusalem acclaimed a king amid hosannas loud, instituted the Lord's Supper, gave the new commandment of love, was betrayed, arrested, tried, condemned and crucified upon a tree. We are told that "it was for us He hung and suffered there." Do you believe that? If you do you can glory in the Cross of Christ and be proud to be a Christian. If you do not you may blush at the mention of His name.

Love and vicarious sacrifice are inseparably linked together. "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." St. John 3:16. The world today is desperately in need of this very type of love which Jesus is telling his disciples in the true mark of a Christian. Can we in our wildest imagination ever think that hate, fear, or distrust will ever solve the race problem, the problems of the so called United Nations, or our economic mess? Has anyone ever really won a war? The answer is no, and yet it can be done. This conflict will not be fought with battleships, guns, planes, or atom bombs. We must fight the battle with our individual selves, and with Christ's help love will rise triumphant over hate.

Love literally restores health to the sick, hope to the helpless, peace of mind to the troubled soul, and, best of all, tears aside the sombre curtains and reveals to us the empty tomb. It is our passport from life terrestrial to life Celestial — a pass from life temporal to life eternal.

"By this shall all men know that ye are Mine, that ye love one another even as I have loved you."

To Investigate Melrose School

which he presented vouchers to Mrs. John Matthew, treasurer, signed by the school board president, Mrs. Jean Moreau, Clarion, and himself. It was the treasurer's duty to make out the checks when the claims were presented in this manner.

According to the testimony offered at the meeting, Goodwin would then offer to deliver certain of the checks himself which were supposedly for school supplies and would put on a false endorsement and cash them. These checks were cashed princ-pally at one Petoskey store and one in Boyne City.

Township residents decried the lack of interest which they had taken in school affairs and which they believed was responsible for permitting the condition to arise which had resulted in a loss of money believed to exceed $20,000.

When the board was questioned closely as to why they hadn't seen the publication of school reports, it was disclosed that many of the reports were published in the Charlevoix Courier, rather than in papers which had a greater coverage in their own township. The secretary was entrusted with the publication of the reports, and the fact that they had been published in the county covered the state school laws.

The meeting extended a vote of thanks to the Fineouts and Masters, and Sergt. Tanner of the state police who aided the investigation. Elver I. Carrol, Dean Scroggie Post, A. L., Americanism committee head, said that there were charges that the Legion was behind the investigation. He denied this and praised the efforts of the boys who had done their duty as good citizens.
