County Fair At East Jordan

MANY IMPROVEMENTS BEING MADE. FRIDAY IS EAST JORDAN DAY

East Jordan will be honored this year by the Charlevoix County Fair by having Friday, Sept. 5, officially designated as East Jordan Day.

The Fair this year, according to Calvin J. Bennett, secretary, will be larger and better than ever before. Improvements have been made in the grounds and buildings. More prizes and more exhibits and more Midway are lined up already.

Tuesday, Sept. 2, is entry day. Wednesday will be Boyne City Day when the judging starts. Thursday is dedicated to Charlevoix and Friday, the last day is East Jordan's.

Prizes will be larger in many classes this year.

A total of $1500 has been added to the award money. In addition many classes have been eliminated from the premium list, thus making that money available for distribution among the remaining classes.

Ed Rebnan and Karl C. Pesterling are in charge of the livestock exhibits and are lining up a larger and better group of entries than were exhibited last year.

More space than was rented in 1946 already has been engaged for the Midway. Included here will be rides, shows and games.

Every afternoon and evening acts will be presented in front of the grand stand. If the booking agency can arrange the schedule, it is hoped that a partial or complete change of talent will be made for the last day.

Horse racing will be a big feature every afternoon, starting at 2 p. m. Each race will consist of three heats. On Wednesday there will be the 2:28 and 2:20 trot and pace; on Thursday the 2:24 trot and pace and the free-for-all; on Friday the running and pony races.

Also on Friday will be light and heavy horse pulling contest, each with a $210 purse.

Be sure and vote Tuesday, Aug. 26.

Services are to be continued until 11 o'clock Sunday night and then begin at five o'clock the next morning and loud enough to be heard blocks away. Shiveree Is The Winner

BOB BRIDGE AND RAY HAMILTON STAGE RACE FOR THIRD PLACE

Leaving Charlevoix at 10:00 a. m. and facing head winds the entire distance, Shiveree, owned by David Silbrman of Chicago, and piloted by Bob Hamilton, crossed the finish line at the East Jordan pier Sunday afternoon at 1:15 1/2 p. m. to win the first annual Charlevoix - East Jordan sailboat race, with a time of 3 hours 15 and one-half minutes. Eighteen minutes later, Panchura III, owned by Judge Robert Marx of Cincinnati, and piloted by Allie Moore, crossed the line to win second money. The much larger Panchura, after leading in the main body of the lake, found difficulty in the narrower Arm, in which all of the boats had to tack continuously from one shore to the other, due to a direct head wind. The Panchura crossed the line at 1:33.30 p. m.

The Rogue, owned and piloted by Job Bridge of Charlevoix, and the Aloha, owned by Fred Schaub of Big Rapids, and piloted by Ray Hamilton, out on a race of their own for third money. These two boats were continually criss-crossing each other and, until Bob suddenly cut back short and crossed the line while angling for the pier, the winner was a toss-up. Bob crossed the line at 2:27 p. m., the larger Aloha following at 2:28 p. m.

Thusly, into the records went the first annual Charlevoix - East Jordan sailboat race.

The race created a great deal of interest, and quit a number of cars followed along M-66, watching it the entire distance. This course is a natural for boat racing, the larger boats having the advantage in the main body, while the narrower South Arm favors the smaller craft.

Next year the boats will probably race according to their classifications, and many more will be entered.

You'll thrill to "Rescue of Evangelina," a dramatic true story about a rescue that led to the liberation of a nation. Read it in The American Weekly, the great magazine distributed with Sunday's Herald-American.

Announcement

There will be a W.C.T.U. District Co-operative picnic to be held at East Jordan, tourist park Tuesday, Aug. 26, at 12:00 o'clock, with district meeting and program following. Please bring table service.

Farm Topics

With the new and better facilities for housings exhibits, the annual State 4-H show and Farmer's Day program are expected to draw many interested spectators to Michigan State College.

The 4-H show is August 26 to 29 and the Farmer's day program is August 28. This year's program will be one of the biggest ever. Twelve hundred boys and girls will be housed on the MSC campus and will bring more than 4000 exhibits with them. There will be 1200 head of livestock alone, with approximately 500 in the dairy division.

Beef cattle and sheep entries will be housed in the nw agricultural engineering building. Dairy exhibits will be shown under the football stadium and swine will be housed in the judging pavilion and beef experimental barn. Horses will be shown in the riding horse barn. Exhibits such as gardening, home economics, crops, and handicraft will be shown in the college auditorium.

The Farmer's Day program is being held in conjunction with the State 4-H Club Show because many farm families come to the MSC campus for the big farm youth contest of the year. Families are invited to hold picnic lunches noon or evening.

The college farms and barns will be open during the day so that farmers may inspect the livestock and experimental work. Direction signs will be placed and visitors can drive their own car or take a bus. Busses will tour during the day and spectators can stop at any point of interest and continue on the next bus. Evening programs will be held Wednesday and Thursday nights at 8:00 in the college auditorium.

Replant Iris For Vigor Next Year
If you'll divide and replant your iris plants sometime in August you'll find that next year's display of blooms is improved because the plants have more room and the number of perennial weeds in th beds is reduced. Irises should be dug and divided every four or five years.

Irises grow from a large fleshy root that lies in a horizontal position with small roots growing down and from the sides. These roots should be replanted at or near the surface of th soil in the same position that they originally grown in. In heavy soils, root rot is possible if the roots are planted too deeply.

Sandy loams are best for irises but they will grow in almost any kind of soil. For an extra "boost" for the new plants, apply some bonemeal or superphosphate around the mat the rate of three pounds per 100 square feet.

The bolt of lightning tore her clothing from her body and shocked three persons working nearby.

1940 Class Reunion

The graduating class of EJHS, 1940, will have a reunion on Labor Day at the East Jordan Tourist Park at 1:00 p. m. Please bring sandwiches for yourselves, a dish to pass, and your own table service.

Four Stop Signs Installed At Intersection of Main and Division Sts.

"Lets Go" has been the sparkplug for many types of drivers and campaigns.

There is a State and Nation wide campaign on to cut down on the number of traffic accidents.

There was a lot of "Hurry Up and Wait" in the Army. Lets put some "Lets Go and Stop" in East Jordan's campaign for more safty on our streets, before we have some serious accidents.

Not only are we paying double for our auto insurance, we killed 35,000 people and injured more than a million in this country last year. East Jordan hasn't had a fatal car accident in a couple of years. School and City officials have made some new regulations, and erected some new signs. The public is expected to cooperate in this program.

There are three of four intersections that are especially dangerous, partly because motorists have refused to observe the rules of safty. Traffic engineers have determined that at some intersections, where the traffic isn't too heavy that Stop signs on all four corners cuts the hazards; and handles traffic faster than a Stop and Go light.

This method is being tried out at the intersection of Main Street and Division, And The Public Is Expected to Observe These Stop Signs!

Not all accidents are the fault of the driver. The Detroit Kiwanas Clubs and Police are co-operating on a program where of the name of a child who runs in front of a car, is obtained, and a letter is sent to the child's parents by the Kiwanas Club informing them what happened, urging them to impress safty on the youngster.

"Lets Go — and Stop"

Veterans are Warned Against Transferring Bonds

Veterans are warned that they should not sell their terminal leave bonds or turn them over to someone as collateral and then apply to the Treasury Department at Washington for a duplicate bond. Such an action would be considered as perjury and would render them liable for legal action as such.

The law just passed by the 80th Congress, authorizing the cashing of terminal leave bonds after September 1, 1947, stipulates that the veteran in whose name the bond is issued must present the bond in person to secure payment and thus any bond given to a third party as security or for any other reason will be valueless unless the veteran presents it himself for cash.

The Treasury Department has no jurisdiction over recovery of bonds held by other than veterans, so it will be necessary to contact local law enforcement authorities if it is desired to recover bonds committed to another person. All veterans are accordingly urged to keep their bonds in their own possession and not let them get into the hands of "loan sharks" or other parties who will attempt to profit off them at the the veterans expense.

Two-Fisted Killer!

A bedraggled looking man entered a fly-infested bar room and spoke quietly to the bartender. "Give me a drink," he said, "and I'll kill every fly in the place!" The bartender agreed that he thought it reasonable and set a drink before him. Making short work of it, the hobo started to edge toward the door. "Hey, you, come back here," shouted the bartender. "You said you'd kill every fly in the place." "And so I will," said the hobo, rolling up his sleeves and stepping outside. "Send them out one at a time."

STRANGE FOOD

It was the old man's first time in the hospital. The nurse took his temperature. After a while the doctor made his rounds. "Well, old fellow," he said, "have you had any nourishment?" "A lady gave me a piece of glass to suck on," said the old man, "but I'm still powerful hungry."

A man brought a cocker spaniel to a veterinarian and ordered him to cut off the dog's tail. "I want it all off," he said, "So that not even a hair of the tail remains."

"Sorry, the vet replied, "I couldn't do that to a dog. Why should you want to cut the tail from an innocent little dog?"

"My mother-in-law is visiting us next month," the man replied, "and I want to eliminate any possible sign or indication of welcome."

Colleges Expect High Enrollment

Three Million Students by 1960 Will Result in Huge Outlay.

CHICAGO. — To provide educational facilities for three million U. S. college students by 1960 three billion dollars of the national income will be needed. This estimate was made by Lloyd Morey, comptroller of University of Illinois, in addressing the national conference on higher education here.

At present, colleges are operating at a total annual cost of 870 million dollars and serving two million students, he reported.

"The bill for higher education looks rather small as compared with 10 billion dollars a year spent for alcohol and tobacco alone and five billion dollars on other amusements and luxuries," Morey commented.

New Facilities Needed. One third of the yearly three billion dollars would be spent for building new facilities, he explained.

Colleges should have $3,300,000,000 immediately for physical expansion, he went on.

Student fees should not be allowed to rise significantly, Morey said. Each increase in tuition "tends to shut the door of opportunity which the state should keep open," he added.

Kenneth Little, University of Wisconsin registrar, told the conference that veterans desiring to enroll have been accommodated by colleges so far—but not just as the veterans have desired.

"Many students have had to shift from courses which they wanted to courses which could be obtained at the schools which they could attend," he said.

Veterans Do Well. "The intent that veterans could choose their schools and courses has not been fulfilled, and most courses in most schools are being carried on with inadequate facilities and inexperienced teaching personnel."

The registrar reported superior scholastic work by veterans, accomplished to the accompaniment of dwindling "nest eggs" as subsistence allowances have proved inadequate.

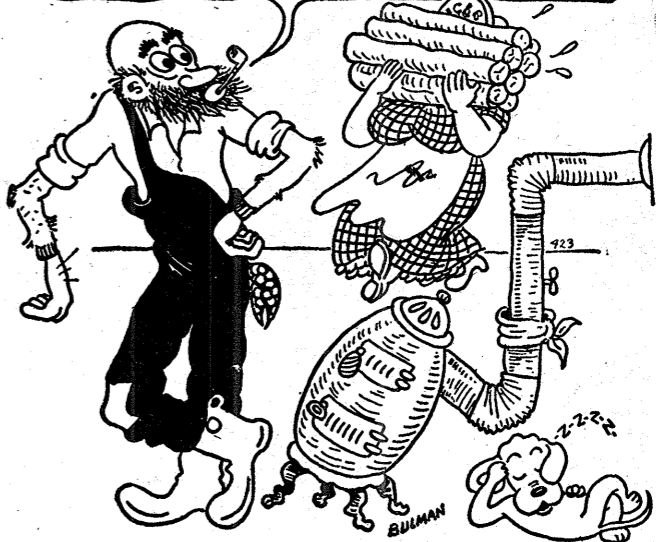

This year's high school graduating classes will prove America's "forgotten children," he predicted, and their problems will require special consideration.

"These youngsters will bump into the veteran's preferences and priorities for admission to college, for chances of self-support if admitted, and for employment when they are graduated."

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Solo Global Flight Sets Record;
Reduced '47 Corn Crop Forecast;
Hughes Probe Stopped Abruptly

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

73 HOURS:
Fast Circle

Lanky, 27-year-old Bill Odom, flying a converted army A-26 attack bomber, didn't achieve quite the fantastic speed of Shakespeare's Puck who "put a girdle round about the earth in 40 minutes," but he did manage to get around the globe in exactly 73 hours, 5 minutes and 11 seconds.

In so doing, he lopped more than 113 hours from the earth-circling record for solo flying set by the late Wiley Post in 1933. He also worked up some priceless publicity for Milton Reynolds, wealthy pen manufacturer, who sponsored the flight.

Odom, who started and finished his jaunt at Chicago, covered 19,645 miles and touched at Gander, Newfoundland; Paris; Cairo; Karachi, India; Calcutta; Tokyo; Anchorage, Alaska, and Fargo, N. D. It was a rough trip all the way, in weather that was "A-1 lousy."

His record-breaking flight came only after one false start a week earlier when he had started out from Chicago's Orchard airport and then turned back in a 3,000-mile nonstop round trip after electrical and mechanical difficulties developed.

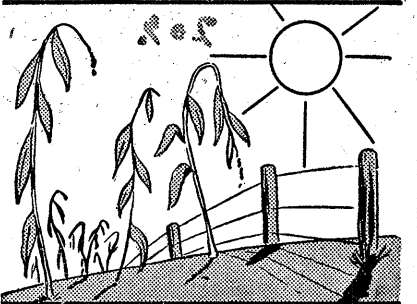

Next on Pilot Odom's aerial agenda are the Bendix air races at Cleveland and then another global hop, this time via both poles, with 10 scientists and newspapermen for company.

CORN OUTLOOK: Too Much Heat

As September corn soared momentarily to a new top of $2.42 3/4, highest at which any corn future has ever sold, the outlook for this year's crop, threatened by recurring onslaughts of heat, continued gloomy.

Crop reporting board of the department of agriculture, in an official forecast based on conditions as of August 1, predicted a national crop of 2,659,949,000 bushels—more than 110 million bushels below the July 15 indication.

While the report's figures did not take into consideration the impact of abnormal heat waves subsequent to August 1, the crop reporting board footnoted its forecast with the statement that since August 1, "continued hot dry weather has become a serious threat to corn and other crops in the corn belt."

Excessive heat is said to be dissipating rapidly the moisture stored in the soil since the rains of spring and early summer.

The latest forecast placed the corn crop 10 per cent below the 1946 record production of 3.2 billion bushels and tagged it as the smallest since 1941, although still slightly above average.

Principal reflection of the reduced corn crop, experts say, probably will be in shorter supplies and increased prices of meat next year.

THAT'S ALL:
Probe Halted

"Let me be as a tune-swept fiddle string
That feels the master melody—and snaps."

So it was with the Hughes aircraft contract investigation which, after producing not a master melody but a violent series of raucous noises, snapped off short in the middle of a phrase.

During the course of Howard Hughes' testimony, the investigation was mysteriously, suddenly and with no prior notice called off. It was scheduled to be resumed November 17, but there was little doubt that the show was over and that the public would never see the second act.

There was no satisfactory official explanation for the abrupt cessa-

Shoppers Soon to See 'Made in Japan' Again

Shopping Americans soon will be seeing the familiar "Made in Japan" legend again on some of the goods they buy.

Japan's reentry into world trade following a wartime and postwar period of stagnation has been marked by a commerce department announcement of 205 Japanese products now available for export in quantity.

tion of proceedings, but the principals in the case had their own ideas:

1. Hughes said the hearings were stopped because Senator Brewster (Rep., Me.) "was too cowardly to stay here and face the music."
2. Brewster said it was Hughes who "cried enough and threw in the sponge."
3. Sen. Homer Ferguson (Rep., Mich.), chairman of the sub-committee doing the investigating, explained away the adjournment by admitting that the committee was unable to locate John W. Meyer, Hughes' publicity man.

Other theories abounded, prominent among them being the belief that top GOP policy makers were instrumental in calling the whole thing off because the affair was backing on the party.

The play, it seemed, had run its erratic course, fantastic and elusive as a midsummer night's dream.

OLD STORY: World War III

Gen. Ira C. Eaker, who will retire soon after 30 years in the service, climbed dramatically on the bandwagon of pessimism before taking leave of his military career.

His gloomy prediction was that the U. S., if it holds to the course indicated by its present policies, is plunging directly toward a third world war. "And," he footnoted, "we won't be on the winning side."

It was a story that U. S. citizens had heard over and over from military men in the past two years. General Eaker, deputy commander of the AAF, was just a little more blunt.

Lashing out at "those same old men . . . in congress . . . with their appallingly bad judgment," the general stumped for strong, well prepared armed forces. Within 90 days after the start of World War III, he said, the regular first line defenders will have been eliminated and the burden of defense will fall to the reserves.

"World War III will consist of a short, sharp, paralyzing bombardment followed by an immediate airborne invasion," Eaker concluded. "Fewer than 300,000 men could descend under silk and take this country."

BENEFICIAL: Atom Research

Construction of the first peacetime atomic pile, to be devoted solely to beneficial uses of atomic energy in industry, medicine and agriculture, has been begun at Camp Upton, N. Y.

Slated for completion within a year, the pile has been designed by Dr. Lyle B. Borst for research on problems involving atomic energy and for the production of radioactive "tracer" substances, valuable in determining the course and causes of diseases and other human ills.

The project, when finished, will become one of the greatest atomic research centers in the country, where between 200 and 500 scientists are expected to carry out great numbers of experiments.

DEMILITARIZED:

Germany

Dismantling of the German military machine and destruction of the nation's war potential are progressing actively, at least in the U. S. zone, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor, has reported.

In a review of demilitarization work, General Clay revealed that the United States has released all German prisoners of war—a total of more than eight million men—and is the first of the four occupying powers to do so.

Russians claim that they still hold 900,000 PWs; the British have 267,000 in the United Kingdom and another 77,000 in the Middle East.

General Clay's review specified that disposal of German war material is 43 per cent complete for chemical warfare ammunition and 100 per cent complete for naval armaments and armored equipment. Minefields, defensive constructions and U-boat pens are totally destroyed, and V-weapon sites, radar installations, airfields, coastal defenses and underground factories are 60 per cent destroyed.

Not all of the war materials are slated for destruction, however. Some are being converted for use in Germany's peacetime economy. The transformation of explosives into fertilizers is one example.

THE TICKET: Which Party?

Democratic and Republican factions in Washington are reputedly engaged in a fierce but secret duel for the political favors of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Both parties are said to be whispering sweet nothings to the general with regard to his running for major office in the 1948 election. Only concrete knowledge about Ike's civilian future, however, is his own statement that he will resign as chief of staff to become president of Columbia university next year.

Nevertheless, Democrats are seeking to high-pressure him into teaming up as running mate with President Truman, and one report claims that Secretary of State Marshall has been asked to urge General Eisenhower to accept the vice-presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket.

Previous repeated but short-lived Republican booms to establish the chief of staff as that party's presidential candidate have resulted only in Eisenhower's disclaimer of any White House aspirations.

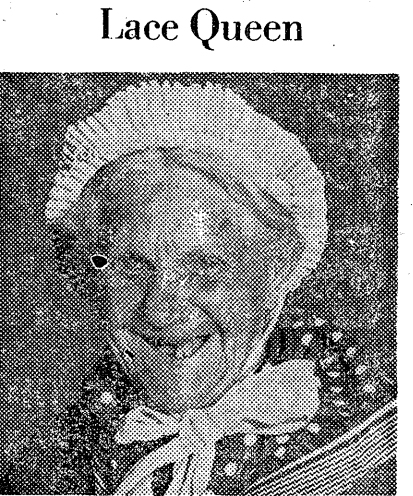

Stiff Upper Lip
Dr. James F. Bender, an inquisitive psychologist, has probed into the suppressed desires which lead men to grow mustaches. Motive behind the ordinary, garden variety mustaches are three, he said, coinciding with three age periods:
At 18 the male animal wants to prove himself a man.
At 40 he wants to appear more mature, capable, successful.
At 60 he desires to work up a patriarchal resemblance to the head of the tribe.
Dr. Bender scorned any simple motive like hatred for shaving.

POLIO DECLINE:
Five-Year Low

While urging the people to observe the usual precautions during the rest of the infantile paralysis season, the U. S. public health service, nevertheless, had good news to report: After four bad polio years, a break is in sight for 1947.

"It is not really too late for a sharp rise—that is, a fairly limited, explosive outbreak—in a particular locality of the country. But, from the figures to date this year, the indication is that the high incidence of the last four years for the country as a whole will be broken."

In 1946, 25,247 cases were reported, making the second worst epidemic year on record.

Banking Boom Ahead

Federal reserve system experts have gone on record with the prediction that business loans—mainstay of banking—will probably reach an all-time high this fall, thereby producing banking's biggest boom in the history of the country.

During the week ended April 9, loans reached a record high of 12.2 billion dollars.

Plain Facts About Honesty

LESSON TEXT FOR AUGUST 23 — Proverbs 3:3; 11:1, 3; 12:17-22; 14:5; 23:10, 11.

MEMORY SELECTION—Prove all things; hold fast that which is good. Abstain from all appearance of evil.—1 Thessalonians 5:21, 22.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

By WILLIAM CULBERTSON, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

THE Bible's presentation of the subject of uprightness of living, or plain, downright honesty in everyday contacts, is recognized by all who have given any attention to what it has to say.

The high ethical standard demanded by the Word of God is another evidence of its divine origin. Were men to evolve a moral standard of their own, it is quite evident that that standard would not be very much higher than their own attainments; in fact, the probability is that the standard would be lower than the attainment of some. However, the Bible allows for no deviation from the standard.

We who by nature are the children of wrath have undoubtedly failed when we measure our lives against God's pattern. How needful is God's work of providing and effecting salvation! Those who have been born of God are then confronted with living a life that meets the divine standard.

I. A Plea for Honesty (Prov. 3:3).

HOW good it is when the Christian has a reputation for integrity in all his dealings. However, that outward manifestation is possible only if there is inward reality. Therefore, we move in order of emphasis to the greater truth at the conclusion of the verse. Truth is to be written upon the tablet of the heart. Here is the plea for heart honesty. It is not enough by plausible argument or by feigned conduct to appear honest before men. It is necessary rather to have motives so sincere, to have a heart so honest, that all we do and say will reflect a character that is honorable.

It is out of the fullness of the heart that man speaketh. As the heart is, so is the man. Let us give attention therefore to this word from God.

II. A Factual Presentation of Honesty (Prov. 11:1, 3; 12:17-22; 14:5).

THESE passages of Scripture bring to our attention the consequences of dishonesty as well as the rewards of honesty.

For example, we know that dishonesty is an abomination to God (Prov. 11:1; 12:22); that perversity of heart has its own reward, in that the perpetrator of evil is sooner or later ensnared in his own sin (Prov. 11:3); that a lying tongue may be victorious, but that victory is short lived (Prov. 12:19).

On the other hand, the rewards of honesty are also made apparent, for we are told that probity of character is God's delight (Prov. 11:1; 12:22); that the very integrity of the upright shall be a guide to them (Prov. 11:3); that blessings to others flow from the tongue of the wise (Prov. 12:18); and that the lip of truth shall be established forever (Prov. 12:19).

III. God and the Life of Honesty (Prov. 23:10, 11).

THE reference here to the ancient landmark has to do with the removal of such evidences as would prove the claim of individuals to certain property.

We are to respect the rights of others. Honesty involves more than correctness of speech; it implies rightness of life. No subtlety of reasoning can lead us to the conclusion that we may have God's approval if by unfair means we take that which belongs to another.

Particular attention is given to the fact that we are to have regard for the fatherless. The Word of God constantly gives special attention to the fatherless and the widows. It would seem that God will particularly mark as amiss any unfair advantage taken over these individuals. In fact, this text stresses that God as their Redeemer will plead their cause against anyone taking advantage of them. Of course, there can be only one result when God opposes, and that is disaster to the individual who occasions his wrath.

Perhaps it is that very sense of helplessness that makes the fatherless depend upon him. It is certain that until we feel our need of God, we shall go on in our self-sufficiency without him. When our own lack of strength becomes apparent, then it is we turn to him, and then it is that he is willing to be our Redeemer.

Let us dare to face the implication of these texts. Unless we commend our God to men by our upright lives, we shall have to suffer the consequences of our dishonesty in divine displeasure.

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

St. Ignace — This Michigan Marco Polo, after rambling about the Upper Peninsula for two weeks in a new cabin-on-wheels, has just about come to an unhappy conclusion.

It hasn't a thing to do with the climate which has been delightful. The nights have been cool, and we have slept under one and two wool blankets every evening. It hasn't a thing to do with the pros and cons of life in a 19-foot trailer. The missus and I haven't had a fight yet.

But after ruining a six-month-old tire on the U.S.45 highway between Watersmeet and Ontonagon and after visiting four state parks, we have reluctantly arrived at a hunch that has been growing steadily into a firm conviction. The Upper Peninsula, blessed with a delightful summer climate and rich in tourist potentials, is getting the run-around with respect to state roads and state parks.

The U.S.45 highway, north of Watersmeet to Ontonagon, is a direct route to the new Porcupine Mountain State Park. It is also perhaps the worst neglected federal-state highway in the state, at least to our knowledge. Ontonagon merchants told me that efforts to get this road fixed up have been in vain. The tire replacement rate is about double what it is in the average county south of the Straits.

George A. Osborn, editor of the Sault Ste. Marie Evening News, recently charged editorially that "Northern Michigan has been the victim of discrimination." "The condition of our secondary roads, torn to their raw corduroy bottoms by billions of revolutions of visitors' automobile tires, is certainly a challenge to every Upper Peninsula county," writes Mr. Osborn. "We have waited through a generation of road builders for good roads. We have waited in vain."

If you stick to concrete highways, you'll never experience the rocky, rough corduroy roads, some of which pose as state and federal highways.

The four state parks which we visited were the Porcupine Mountain State Park near Ontonagon, the Gogebic lake state park, the Indian lake state park, and the Straits state park at St. Ignace.

Although the tourist potentials of the Porcupine park are great, and we have conscientiously publicized them, this park is sadly lacking in accommodations for travelers, and Knox Jamison, superintendent, is the first one to admit it. The map shows a camp ground along Lake Superior with electricity; actually the land is under private ownership; there is no drinking water or electricity.

The Gogebic lake state park is about everything you would want to have, and we visited it at Mr. Jamison's recommendation. But we frankly can't say the same for the next two placed visited — Indian Lake and St. Ignace. Indian lake near Manistique is 25 years behind the times; it is wholly inadequate for postwar needs. The St. Ignace park is next to a disgrace, and it could well be turned over to the Mackinac Island Park Commission which has made such a success (and with fees, too) of the Mackinaw City state park. A good fire would threaten a disaster at the St. Ignace park. We were badly disappointed, as this place is far below the quality.

We do want to compliment the counties of the Upper Peninsula for sponsoring recreational parks of their own, most of which are open to traveling visitors. The local people are friendly. Joe Davis, a Soo railroad employee near Gulliver lake, cam over to a township park on Gulliver lake where we were parked for the night, just to say that we were welcome to camp on his land nearby "as long as you wish and it won't cost a cent, either!" When we expressed complete surprise, he said,

"My wife and I enjoy company." You can't beat that for hospitality.

MICHIGAN Motoring

If previous Labor Day week-ends set a precedent, the "old man with the sickle" will sweep across the nation the first week-end in September, taking a grim toll of lives and saddening hundreds of families.

He will strike the homebound vacationist and Labor Day traveler on trunkline highways and country roads. The accident investigation report may read: "Driving too fast for conditions"; "driving on the wrong side of the road"; "disregard of stop sign"; "warning sign or signal"; "Perhaps it will state: 'Failure to grant right-of-way to vehicle or pedestrian'; 'improper passing'; 'improper turning'; or 'attempting to drive while under the influence of alcohol.'"

Over Labor Day week-end, 1946, ten lost their lives in Michigan traffic mishaps, 225 in the country and hundreds of others were injured. You can help change this trend. Whenever possible, avoid driving during the holiday week-end. If you do plan to drive, follow the rules of safe driving at all times. They will pay off in a happy holiday.

Persuasive Measures

"Doc," said the old mountaineer, leading a gangling youth into the presence of the village medico, "I want you should fix up my son-in-law. I shot him in the leg yesterday and lamed him up a mite."

"Tut, tut," clucked the doctor disapprovingly. "Shame on you for shooting your own son-in-law."

"Wal, doc," replied the mountaineer, "he warn't my son-in-law when I shot him!"

USELESS GAME

The manager of a movie theater was standing in the lobby. He noticed a patron, obviously from out of town, buy a ticket, then a few minutes later go back and buy another one. This happened several times, until the manager finally went over to the man. "My dear sir," he said, "why do you waste your money like that? All you need is one ticket."

"I know," the man wailed, "but that doorman keeps tearing them up!"

So Helpful!

She came into the railway express office with a very heavy parcel and said to the manager:

"They tell me you wrap packages for shipment here."

All the employees were busy. It was the rush hour. So the manager graciously wrapped the package himself and tied it carefully. As he finished, he asked:

"Do you want it sent prepaid or collect?"

"Oh, I'm not sending it express," she exclaimed. "I'm going to mail it!"

Just A Mascot

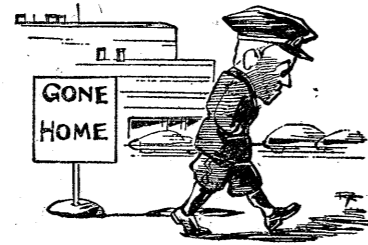

A little runt of a man, with a height scarcely exceeding five feet, recently married a widow, over six feet tall and of extremely generous girth.

"How do you like married life?" a friend asked the diminutive groom, shortly after he returned from the honeymoon.

The little man sadly shook his head.

"It wouldn't be so bad," he replied, "if people wouldn't persist in calling me 'the widow's mite.'"

MODERN FABLE

Officer—Didn't you hear me yell for you to stop?

Motorist—No, sir.

Officer—Didn't you hear me whistle?

Motorist—No, sir.

Officer—Didn't you see me signal?

Motorist—No, sir.

Officer—Well, I guess I better go home. I don't seem to be doing much good around here.

The Wrong Book

"Tell me, Jones," asked a sympathetic friend, "how is it that your wife dresses so magnificently and you always appear out at the elbows?"

"Well, I'll tell you," was the patient, long-suffering reply; "Molly dresses according to latest showings in the Ladies Home Journal while I dress according to the figures in the Jones Manufacturing company ledgers."

High Stakes

A hillbilly G.I. got into a poker game with some British soldiers. "I'll bet one pound," said one of the Tommies.

The American studied his four aces.

"I don't know how yuh count yer money over here," he declared, "but I'll jest raise yuh to one ton."

Fresh Fish

Diner—I wish I had come to this restaurant last year when I was in town.

Proprietor—It's very kind of you to say that, sir.

Diner—Yes, this fish would have been about right then.

Total Flop

A very small boy came home dejectedly from his first day at school. "Ain't goin' tomorra," he muttered. "And why not?" his mother asked. "Well, I can't read and I can't write and they won't let me talk, so what's the use."

He's the Man

Employer—For this job we want a responsible man.

Applicant—I'm the guy you're looking for. Everywhere I've worked, when something went wrong they told me I was responsible.
