PRESERVE FRESH PEACH FLAVOR BY FREEZING

To preserve that fresh peach flavor for next winter, freeze some of the plentiful crop now. Several Michigan varieties are recommended or freezing.

J. H. Hale, Halehaven, Fertile Hale, and Elberta varieties are suggested for freezing by Pauline Paul, Michigan State College frozen foods specialist. Select fruit at the firm ripe stage, but before it reaches the soft ripe stage.

Choose perfect fruit and prepare rapidly to prevent browning. Peel the peaches by putting them in boiling water. Plunge them in cold water and rub off peelings. Remove the pits and cut each half in 4 or 6 pieces. Pack quickly in containers, leaving as little head space as possible.

Cover the fruit in the containers with a 50 percent sirup using equal amounts of sugar and water. Chill sirup before using if you make it with hot water. A crumpled wad of waxed paper placed under the lid of the container just before closing will help to hold the fruit under the sirup. This will prevent browning of the peaches on top.

Another way to help prevent browning is to add ascorbic acid in crystal form to the sirup. Use 1/4 teaspoon of ascorbic acid to each quart of sirup. If you buy ascorbic acid in tablet form, use 1,000 milligrams to each quart of sirup.

If you prefer the flavor, use corn sirup, honey or other sweetening. Some people prefer a combination of sweetening agents.

APPRECIATION

Mrs. Wirth Tennant, wearing a gown of dusty rose jersey and marquisette, attended her sister as matron of honor. She carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations.

Rev. Stanley Moore of Shelburne, Vermont, a former classmate of the groom, was groomsmen and Barton L. and Bryce C. Vance, brothers of the bride, and Robert Carpenter a cousin of the bride were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Vance chose a black dress with matching accessories and corsage of white gladioli. Miss Louise Schloop, sister of the groom, chose a pink dress with white accessories and a corsage of white gladioli. To the strains of the traditional wedding march, the bridal party took their places before the altar, decorated with baskets of white gladioli and candelabra with lighted tapers.

After taking their vows, repeating the service from memory, the couple knelt while Mrs. Moore sang as a prayer "O Perfect Love." ## Galoshes Gang Are Sentenced

EAST JORDAN "JOB" SPELLS THEIR UNDOING

Alex Jeronis, 32 of Grand Rapids, confessed leader of a safe-cracking gang alleged to have entered 200 places in Michigan and Indiana, was sentenced last week Wednesday afternoon in Circuit Court at Charlevoix to serve 13 to 15 years in Southern Michigan prison at Jackson.

Leo Stankus, 24 of Grand Rapids, was sentenced to serve 4 to 15 years and Albert Mulvey, 22, of Warwick, R. 1., was given a sentence of 10 to 15 years.

Sentence was pronounced by Circuit Judge Ward I. Waller of Cheboygan who came Wednesday to conduct a special session of court to pass sentence.

Jeronis remained silent, making no comment at or after the proceedings.

All Pleased Guilty.

The three had pleaded guilty of breaking and entering the Drenth Lumber Co. office at East Jordan when arraigned before Judge Waller on July 22. They were summoned into chambers Wednesday morning and Judge Waller emphasized to each respondent that he faced a stiff penalty and reminded each he still had the legal right to withdraw his guilty plea and demand trial. Each waived this right.

More than $1,000 in cash and a wrist watch were taken in the East Jordan burglary, authorities reported.

Although charged specifically with the East Jordan "job", Jeronis was named in warrants in numerous other wester Michigan Counties charging burglaries that purportedly netted him and his gang an estimated $100,000 in the last two years.

Because the burglars wore galoshes to muffle their footsteps during their sorties they were unofficially dubbed the "galoshes gang".

Others Already Sentenced

Four other members of the gang were sentenced last month at Stanton to serve prison terms for burglaries and safe-crackings in Montcalm county. Their sentences were:

George Hamilton, 21 Grand Rapids 5 to 15 years; Carl Hermann, Ionia reformatory inmate, 10 to 15 years, and George Nabkey, 25, of Grand Rapids, 3 to 15 years all at Southern Michigan prison, and Mrs. Lillian Baker Ackerman, 17, of Marne, 1 to 15 years in the Detroit house of correction.

LESSON TEXT FOR SEPTEMBER 7—
 Proverbs 11:24-27; 16:8; Ecclesiastes 5:4, 11; James 5:1-6.

MEMORY SELECTION—Better is a little with righteousness than great revenues without right.—Proverbs 16:8.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

By WILLIAM CULBERTSON, D. D.
 Of The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

AS BELIEVERS in Christ we are responsible not only for the way we earn our living, but for the way we spend what we earn.

Of course we must earn our living honestly, but if we spend foolishly that which we have earned, we shall have dissipated much of the effect of our example in earning.

Possessions are a trust from God, and we shall have to render an account of our stewardship.

Just because we have given a certain percentage of our income to Christian causes is no reason to think we shall meet with divine approbation with regard to our stewardship. If we give a tithe, well and good, but what about the other nine-tenths? Is God pleased with our stewardship there?

I. The Vanity of Wealth (Eccles. 5:10, 11).

IN ANY study of wealth, it seems necessary to begin with an understanding of its limitations. We live in a world in which men frequently lay great importance on possessions, and indeed, there are many things which wealth can purchase. On the other hand, there are some things that money cannot buy. And further, we should recognize that our possessions are not eternal, that they may suddenly fade away.

The passage here reminds us of the fact that wealth for wealth's sake is bound to be a disappointment. The man who loves silver shall not be satisfied with silver, any more than the man who loves pleasure shall be satisfied with pleasure. Augustine was right when he said that man could be satisfied with no less than God himself.

Notice how accurately the picture is drawn. If we have increased wealth, we have increased responsibility (v. 11). That fact is as unalterable as the most rigid law we know. The only advantage is, as the Preacher expresses it, the beholding of goods with the eye—not a very great advantage after all.

II. The Proper Accumulation of Wealth (Prov. 16:8).

IT IS just as true as when Solomon wrote it, that "Better is a little, with righteousness, than great revenues with injustice."

This statement needs no argument, needs no proof. If we would have the honor of men, self-respect, and the blessing of God, there is no alternative.

III. The Improper Accumulation of Wealth (James 5:1-6).

THE apostle James speaks of a condition that will obtain in the last days (v. 3). There are many evidences that the condition he describes has had altogether too many fulfillments in recent history.

James excoriates the rich who have defrauded their employees in order that they might fare sumptuously and live riotously. These unscrupulous rich have taken advantage because they were not resisted (v. 6). Such wealth is corrupted.

Notice once again that the result of their sin will rise to break them. It is a serious thing to trifle with sin, to eat the bread of iniquity. God has no patience with injustice in social relationships. Sooner or later judgment will come.

IV. The Proper Use of Wealth (Prov. 11:24-27).

LIBERALITY should characterize the child of God. It is true that the Bible condemns the attitude of imprudence, yet it also condemns the attitude of the miser. To withhold more than is meet, also tends to want.

How blessedly true it is that there is a recompense to giving. Here we read that the one who waters shall himself be watered. Our Lord affirmed the same truth in Luke 6:38.

To have it within our power to help, and fail to do so, is to bring upon ourselves censure and condemnation. Therefore, we should seek to perform the good (v. 27).

This passage concludes with the statement that one who searches after evil shall find that evil will come to him. The man who sets his heart to do wrong will not have to wait long to find the occasion to do that which is in his heart.

Many are the injunctions in the New Testament regarding the proper use of wealth. For example, the Christian has a duty toward his own family (I Tim. 5:8). He is enjoined to be sympathetic and generous in his giving to help others (II Cor. 8:15). Certainly he is to dispense his goods with the glory of God in view (cf. Col. 3:17).

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

See Aid to American Nations;
Huge Budget Surplus Predicted;
Terms of British Loan Relaxed

Released by Western Newspaper Union
(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

John Snyder, secretary of the treasury (left), explains statistics to President Truman as James Webb, director of the budget bureau, looks on at the yearly budget seminar. Mr. Truman predicted record government surplus of 4.7 billion dollars for current fiscal year.

THE AMERICAS: Aid Promised

"We must reject an encroachment upon the fundamental rights of the state. I am confident that we all agree that the state exists for man, not man for the state—and that we abhor any limitation upon the freedom of expression of men throughout the world."

Thus, in his first address before the inter-American conference at Petropolis, Brazil, U. S. Secretary of State George Marshall issued a reaffirmation of democratic principles in the western hemisphere and then bulwarked his expression of idealism with specific assurances of U. S. economic aid to Latin America.

He told the delegates that the U. S. government "will continue to take up economic questions with its sister republics and seek a sound basis for practical cooperation."

Marshall at Rio
"... the state exists for man ..."

That was interpreted as meaning that the U. S. is willing to help solve Latin America's economic problems through a series of bi-lateral pacts. There was also a hint that the big northern neighbor is counting on sending down its capital.

Although the ostensible purpose of the conference was to arrange a joint hemispheric defense treaty, little was said about that at the outset. Also somewhere in the background was the U. S. plan for standardization of arms in the Americas. Many of the smaller and poorer nations are in opposition to the arms standardization proposal, however, because they feel that there is a greater need for economic rehabilitation than for armaments.

SURPLUS:

Budget Review

President Truman's budget business made big news again when the chief executive (1) forecast a record treasury surplus next June of nearly five billion dollars, and (2) hurt Republican feelings by telling the nation that congress trimmed the 1947 budget estimates by only 1.5 billion dollars.

His mid-year budget review estimated tax receipts this year at $41,667,000,000, which is 2.1 billion dollars more than any previous forecast.

Mr. Truman made his announcement coincidentally with a bureau of labor report which indicated that the U. S., far from being in for a business depression, can look forward to a period of prosperity continuing "indefinitely."

The present jolly outlook for the state of the budget is based upon an expectation of continued high prices, taxes, incomes and employment, all of which precludes a depression.

From the Republican point of view, however, the President's budget review was a snide attempt to play politics. Sen. Styles Bridges (Rep., N. H.), chairman of the senate appropriations committee, said the new estimate of greater tax receipts proves that the nation was "robbed of a tax reduction by purely political vetoes."

It was a sure sign that the Republicans would renew their tax reduction fight when congress reconvened in January. Equally certain appeared to be the probability that the President would meet such a measure with another veto.

Fuel Shortage Seen World Wide This Winter

It looks like this will be a long, cold winter.

An unprecedented demand has been tagged by the Anthracite institute as the chief cause for what will probably develop into a world-wide shortage of all types of fuel this year.

The institute pointed out that no reclaimed coke will be available as during the war years, domestic coke will be in short supply, less wood

RELAXED: Loan Terms

Groggy and hanging on the ropes, dollar-starved Great Britain was given a reprieve from economic doom when the U. S. agreed to suspend the controversial "free convertibility" clause of its 3.75 billion dollar loan to England.

That particular clause, a major drain on the English dollar supply, required that Britain surrender dollars on demand to any country which held English pounds. In other words, foreign countries having a supply of pounds could turn them in to Great Britain and get dollars in exchange.

As the action was taken, Britain announced that it would withdraw between 150 and 200 million dollars more of the 850 million dollars remaining of the original loan. Cancellation of the "free convertibility" clause, British leaders hope, will enable them to stretch their swiftly dwindling credit.

Actually, few persons outside of the monetary technicians handling the matter, understood the details of the transaction. It was, in the words of Robert A. Lovett, acting secretary of state, "a terribly complicated matter."

CRYSTAL BALL:
Next President

General Douglas MacArthur will be the next president of the United States.

That, at least, is the occult prediction of a 75-year-old Japanese fortune teller, Kakudo Tomioka, who eulogized: "MacArthur has a glorious future in store for him."

Tomioka, who is said to have a record of several accurate predictions, placed the general on a plane with Mohandas Ghandi in the field of social welfare.

"There presently are two living men who have succeeded in realizing a peaceful revolution," he said. "They are MacArthur and Ghandi. But, then, Ghandi's mission is over. And MacArthur has his most glorious task to accomplish for the world in the future."

It was not immediately known whether MacArthur would use Tomioka's recommendation as a plank in his platform if he runs in 1948.

IN DALLAS . . . Mrs. Warren J. Woodard, 24, housewife, got up in arms about legs. She organized the "Little Below the Knee club" for women who oppose the long skirt now in style. The girls organized a parade and anked through Dallas streets to give emphasis to their protest.

IN LAS VEGAS . . . Senator McCarthy (Rep., Wis.) put the bite on congress for its "do nothing" attitude toward veterans. Congress, said he, "did foully by our disabled veterans, their widows and dependents."

IN BALMORAL SCOTLAND . . . Princess Margaret Rose of England, just turned 17, received as a birthday present her first military title—colonel-in-chief of the Highland light infantry.

IN SEATTLE, Secretary of Commerce Averill Harriman, former ambassador to Russia, had a harsh word for his former stamping grounds. Soviet leaders, he said, are counting on a U. S. depression to give them "an opportunity to push forward and expand the areas of their domination."

DP SHUFFLE:

Truman Acts

President Harry Truman, in a renewed effort to alleviate the "tragic plight" of Europe's displaced persons, ordered a three-way shift in the top command of the U. S. immigration and naturalization service.

In addition, it was disclosed that administration officials in Washington have resumed their review of the problem of displaced persons.

Most important personnel shift involved the transfer of Ugo Carusi from his post as commissioner of immigration to a position in the state department where he will survey all "critical" problems relating to displaced persons, particularly their resettlement.

This is expected to result in added stress being placed on a directive Mr. Truman issued in December, 1945, calling for coordinated action by federal officials to admit as many displaced persons as possible within quota limitations.

Watson B. Miller, federal security administrator, succeeds Carusi as commissioner of immigration, and Oscar Ross Ewing, New York lawyer, replaces Miller.

President Truman's action was taken in the face of congress' refusal to act on his proposal to relax immigration quotas.

DEFINITION: Long Felt Want

Rep. Forest A. Harness (Rep., Ind.) suddenly became aware of a long felt want for an accurate and distinctive definition of a couple of much-used words — "propaganda" and "information."

His concern stemmed from the fact that he is chairman of a house expenditures subcommittee currently investigating government publicity and propaganda; hence, he felt impelled to explain to Secretary of State Marshall that he has no intention of interfering with spreading proper information, only with "unlawful and improper" influencing of legislation for propaganda.

Thus, the need for definitions, which Harness phrased this way:

"INFORMATION: The act or process of communicating knowledge; to enlighten.

"PROPAGANDA: A plan for the propagation of a doctrine or a system of principles."

Just how, if at all, the subtler types of propaganda can be sharply and immediately distinguished from information, and vice versa, Harness did not say. The definitions were his brainchildren, and the accurate application of them appeared likely to become his headache.

DANGER:

Report on Russia

Flatly rejecting any theory that the U. S. should touch off a preventive war with Russia before that nation has full knowledge of atomic bomb secrets, a special survey by library of congress experts nevertheless warned that relations between America and the USSR have "deteriorated dangerously" since the end of World War II.

The report described Soviet foreign policy as intolerant, suspicious, distrustful and keyed to a program of world revolution, even at the risk of a third world war.

Communist leaders, it was charged, are ready "to play any card available" in their campaign to bring about a complete change in the world's political, social and economic structure.

This is how the report summed up Soviet foreign policy: "The summit of Communist hopes and aspirations is, in the latest analysis, today as in Lenin's time, a complete change of the world's political, economic, social and cultural setup, and at the base of Soviet foreign policy lies the desire to make the world safe for Communism or Sovietism."

THIRD DIMENSION

Three-dimensional photographs — giving the illusion of depth — have been developed by a New York engineer who claims they are practicable for commercial display and advertising purposes. Harold A. Backus, the inventor, used two transparent screens, one in the camera and the other placed over the developed negative, to produce the three-dimensional effect. Standard camera and lens were used.
