Marriages Sievers — Ulvand

Miss Donna Mae Sievers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Sievers, Holton Road, Muskegon, and James Orlando Ulvand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ulvand, 389 Yuba St., Muskegon, were united in marriage December 13, at 8:30 o'clock, at the home of the bridegroom's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Smith Martin, 1324 Park Ave., Muskegon Heights. Rev. Gerald Hedlund read the double ring ceremony.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sievers, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. The bride's parents were host and hostess at a reception for fifty guests honoring the young couple who are making their home at 389 Yuba Street.

TerAvest — Sink

Kluse Memorial Chapel, Grand Rapids, was the scene of the marriage, December 20, of Miss Eva Marie TerAvest, daughter of John TerAvest, Boyne City, and Ernest Sink, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Sink of Koonoke, Va. Dr. Charles Houser read the double ring ceremony, against a background of candelabra and bouquets of pink and white gladioli.

Donald F. Nixdorf, organist, accompanied the soloist, Roger Gosling, who sang "Always", "Because", and the "Lords Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white slipper satin gown, styled with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves tapering to points at the waist and a full skirt ending in a train. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a Spanish head piece. She carried a bouquet of white roses and baby chrysanthemums. Miss Grace Goebel attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a turquoise taffeta gown styled with a fitted bodice, a full skirt with a bustle, cap sleeves and matching mitts. A turquoise feathered hat and a bouquet of fuchsia roses.

John TerAvest, Jr., assisted as best man. The ushers were Archibald Bremer and Robert Boersma. Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor.

For traveling the bride wore a rust crepe dress and brown accessories. Her corsage was of pale green orchids. After a southern trip the couple will reside on Jefferson Ave., S. E. in Grand Rapids.

Annetts — Hott

The Latter Day Saints Church, Fourth and Holden, in Detroit, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on December 13, 1947 at 7:30 P. M. when Doris Elaine Annetts daughter of Mrs. Frances Annetts became the bride of Richard R. Hott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Hott, former residents of East Jordan. Dick, as he is familiarly known, is well acquainted in East Jordan as well as in Central Lake, where his parents have a cottage north of town on Benway Lake.

The pastor of the church, Rev. Blair McLean performed the double ring ceremony before an altar of beautiful baskets of flowers and white tapers in tall candelabras, by candlelight.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Luke Jennings, of Parkside Avenue. She wore a white satin gown which ended in a long train with lace inserts, and carried a bouquet of roses and orchids. Her sister, Mrs. Irene Reynolds, was matron of honor, while Miss Reta Martin was bridesmaid. Mrs. Reynolds was gowned in gold taffeta and carried a bouquet of yellow mums and talisman roses, while Miss Martin wore a dress of deep blue aqua and also carried yellow chrysanthemums. The little flower girl was Nancy Mateskon of Oak Park, niece of the groom. She wore a long dress of light aqua and carried a nosegay of pink carnations. Mrs. Annetts wore a blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations for her daughters wedding. Mrs. Hott, the groom's mother, wore a grey dress and also a corsage of carnations.

The groom was attended by Thomas Pasuzzo, as best man and Robert Reynolds. The ushers were Edward Bredo of Wayne, and Don Shields of Plainwell, Michigan, both friends of the groom. The groom and his attendants wore business suits.

Miss Ester Salonimir sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer". The organist was Mrs. Vena Gustavis. A reception followed the ceremony in the church basement. The wedding cake was unusual being in the form of a Grecian cross. Ice cream, punch, tea and coffee were served. Pictures were taken. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bird of Charlevoix, Michigan. The bride and groom later left for an extended honeymoon trip through Canada.

Ray Hott is Dons brother and Mrs. Ray Hott is a sister of Orvie Gunsojas.

ARTIFICIAL BREEDERS

START SERVICES: The Boyne City Artificial Breeders Association completed their first months business December 31, 1947. There are fifty-three members in the association at the present time and these men have subscribed a total of 406 cows to be breded artificially. There is still room for additional members and anyone interested is asked to either get in touch with Curtis Nicloy of Boyne City, who is the Inseminator Manager or call at the County Extension Office.

A total of thirty-three services was made by the Inseminator during December. Twenty-eight of these services were first services, and five were second services. This time of the year is more or less the slack season as far as the breeding of cows is concerned and June is usually the month in which heavy breeding season falls. The Board of Directors have ordered a microscope, which will help the quality of services.

FEATHERS FLOAT IN GRADES:

The fluffier a feather, the higher it will rise in a current of air. Most anybody might notice that. But specialist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture did more than merely observe the fact. They used it to devise a new way to sort chopped chicken feathers for new and different commercial purposes.

Now-a-days chicken feathers are not only in demand for stuffing pillows and the like, but for spinning fibers. And the specialists have used these fibers in experiments in spinning material of various kinds.

By blowing chopped feathers up a vertical tower and collecting them at different heights, they can readily separate the feathers into different grades according to the weight of quills and amount of fluff. By controlling the moisture and upward speed of the blast of air, a mixed lot of feathers is separated into six grades ranging from full fluff to no fluff.

The graded feathers can then be blended in any desired proportion of the different grades to meet the exact needs of each commercial user. Making chicken feathers more useful may mean more of a market for another former waste product.

County Agricultural Agent.

H. Brock Farm Home Damaged by Fire

A fire at the Hiram Brock farm residence at Flagg Corners on M-66, Tuesday afternoon, badly scorched the kitchen and damaged the entire house with water and smoke.

Mr. and Mrs. Brock were away on an errand and had just got home to find the kitchen ablaze. At about 2:30 p. m. our firemen responded to the call and made a quick run. Fortunately doors were left closed and heaters in the attic prevented its spread.

Annual Meeting Antrim County Farm Bureau

The annual meeting of the Antrim County Farm Bureau was held in the Bellaire Community Hall on January 6th. Movies by Walter Kirkpatrick and a talk on cancer by the County Nurse, Mrs. Gervers opened the meeting. The roll call chairman reported that there were 190 members to date.

A committee was appointed by Chairman Vernon Vance to meet with Mr. Kirkpatrick and the County Nurse to investigate the possibility of building a hospital in Antrim County. A county-wide meeting is to be held in the fall to talk over the resolutions to be sent in to the annual convention.

A delicious pot luck dinner was eaten at noon. The Bellaire High School girls' glee club opened the afternoon session with some very enjoyable numbers. Mr. Walker, the 4-H leader spoke on the need for developing farm leadership. The meeting then broke up into different questions pertaining to agriculture.

After the gathering had resumed their original seats, the leaders of the discussion groups summarized the ideas which the members had set forth. Mr. Warren Dobson, of the Farm Bureau services gave a very interesting talk on the value of cops and the dangers that threaten them. An award was made to the group having the highest attendance at the meeting by percentage. Burton Richards, of Berrien County, spoke on trips he had made to Farm Bureau conventions and gave as his opinion the thought that strong Farm Bureau organization would help in obtaining fair prices, and government regulations. There will be a county 4-H camp this year. The new directors for the county were unanimously elected, the County board being empowered to fill any vacancy.

Barn Door Injuries Can Cause Mastitis

Here's a point that dairymen will find it profitable to give attention to these stormy days.

Dairy specialists at Michigan State college say that a great many cases of mastitis can be traced to a barn door-step. A cow slips on mud or ice at the door or stumbles over a high door sill. This results in an injury to her udder and the way is open to mastitis germs.

A careful check-up on barn door approaches is recommended as an aid in cutting the heavy losses in milk production that mastitis causes each year.

Sunshine Extension Club Have a Christmas Party

The project of the Sunshine Extension Club for 1947 was a Christmas party, given Dec. 17, for forty-two children through the age of 12 years at the IOOF hall.

A galley decorated Christmas tree was the first object spied by one and all. For entertainment games were played and Cora Lou Clark furnished music with her electric phonograph. While Mrs. Lulu Clark played the grand march old Santa appeared with his pack and gave each child their box of candy, nuts and gum. Then a lunch of apples, doughnuts and pop was served. After wishing one and all a Merry Christmas, the party broke up and all were on their way home.

Transportation to and from the party was furnished by the Club members; Joe Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Zoulek.

We wish to thank the Oddfellows for the use of their hall; the South Arm Extension Club for their part in making the party possible; Will Montroy for setting up our Christmas tree, and others. We hope to have this party another year.

Salmon Tests Prove Success

Runs on Columbia River Use Man-Made Spawning Area, Experts Gloat.

WASHINGTON. — The government's gigantic fish experiment on the Columbia river is proving a major success, all because a salmon's habits are dependable.

In seven years, the bureau of fish and wildlife believes, it has accomplished "the biggest thing ever done with fish," as one expert expresses it.

It appears to have substituted man-made ponds and streams below Grand Coulee dam for historic spawning sites on Columbia river tributaries above the dam.

Despite the mighty barrier of Grand Coulee dam, which blocks access to thousands of miles of their age-old spawning grounds, chinook and blueback salmon are swarming up the river in record numbers, the bureau reports.

Their presence, the fish and wildlife experts hope, definitely ends a threat to the Columbia river canning industry which arose when development of the river began in the 1880s.

Habits Changed. To achieve this, the experts had to bend the habits and instincts of the salmon to their own ends.

It was these instincts which threatened a good part of the salmon run with extinction when the reclamation bureau threw its concrete dams across the river. Salmon are born from eggs laid in fresh water tributaries of the Columbia. Later, they descend to the ocean.

but on reaching maturity they return up the river to spawn and die in the very streams where their life began.

Bonneville dam was built so the upward-bound salmon could cross it by means of "ladders," but Grand Coulee dam in Washington proved an effective barricade to 1,140 miles of spawning grounds.

The fish and wildlife men began their experiment in 1939.

They caught fish by the hundreds at the foot of Grand Coulee dam and held them in ponds until they had spawned. The eggs were taken to hatcheries, where the fingerling salmon developed.

The experts gambled that if the young salmon were artificially planted in streams below Grand Coulee, instinct would lead the fish when mature back to the same streams, and there would be no more beating of heads against Grand Coulee's concrete.

Credit Hatcheries. Their guess was right. Salmon, banded and marked when released, were found four years later, at the end of their life cycle, in the same streams where they were first placed by man. They had returned from the ocean.

In 1943 more than five million salmon were released in Columbia tributaries below Grand Coulee. These same fish are swelling the numbers fighting up the Columbia this year.

"I am convinced that success should be attributed primarily to the Grand Coulee hatcheries," Dr. Frederick F. Fish, one of the bureau's technicians on the Columbia river program, said in a report.

Dr. Fish gave out some encouraging figures: The spring count of chinook or king salmon at Rock Island dam, above Bonneville, was 8,193, exceeding by more than 1,000 the highest count since 1933.

At Bonneville the blueback run in June alone was 59,738. Since only about 40 per cent of the salmon run ordinarily passes the dam by July 1, Dr. Fish said the total this year would exceed the record count of 148,800 in 1940.

The 1947 commercial catch of salmon on the Columbia has exceeded any catch in the past five years, he stated.

In normal years the fishing pack in the Columbia river is about ten million dollars.

Dragon Boat Races Banned

By Shanghai Police Bureau

SHANGHAI.—The Shanghai police bureau prohibited traditional "dragon boat" racing during the dragon boat festival, one of China's most popular ancient celebrations, because "such Chinese tradition is a sheer waste of money and energy."

The festival is an outgrowth of the legend of the poet Chuan Yuan, who drowned himself before the Christian era in despair over China's condition. On the fifth day of the fifth moon of China's lunar calendar Chinese drop rice into the rivers and lakes to feed Chuan's spirit.

Belfast Launches Largest Whaling Vessel in World

BELFAST, IRELAND. — The world's largest whaling factory vessel, the Thorshavet, was launched here, vacating a slip which may be used to build another still larger one for Argentina.

Officials of Harland and Wolff, Lt., builders of the Thorshavet, indicated that Argentina was making inquiries about construction of a battleship-size 32,000-ton whaler.

The Diesel-driven Thorshavet—most whaling factory vessels use steam—is the first foreign flag whaler built here since 1931. It is doubtful whether it would be ready for the 1947-48 antarctic season.

Golden Silence

SANDY MAC TAVISH was celebrating his golden wedding anniversary. To the gala party came old Angus, bringing a dilapidated alarm clock that no longer alarmed. It didn't even tick.

Sandy held the ancient timepiece to his ear, and angrily exclaimed, "Why, Angus, mon, what have ye brocht me? A clock that no rings, no strikes and no ticks. Do ye call that appropriate for a golden-wedding anniversary?"

Old Angus cackled with glee. "Sandy," he rejoined, "hae ye no heard the sayin': 'Silence is golden?'"

PATIENCE WORN THIN

A stranger arriving at a town hall of a certain small town found the townspeople participating in a gala celebration.

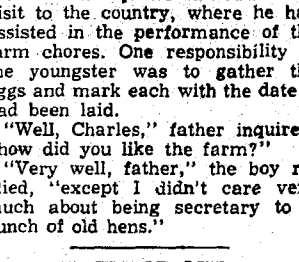

"What, may I ask, is the cause of all this excitement?" he inquired of one of the celebrants.

"We're celebrating the birthday of the oldest inhabitant," was the reply. "She's a hundred and one today."

"Oh, yes," said the visitor; "I see her. May I ask who is that little man, with the dreadfully sad countenance, who is walking at her side?"

The other laughed. "Oh," he replied, "that's the old lady's son-in-law. He's been keeping up the payments on her life insurance policy for the past 40 years!"

FACTS OF LIFE

Charles had just returned from a visit to the country, where he had assisted in the performance of the farm chores. One responsibility of the youngster was to gather the eggs and mark each with the date it had been laid.

"Well, Charles," father inquired, "how did you like the farm?"

"Very well, father," the boy replied, "except I didn't care very much about being secretary to a bunch of old hens."

All in the Viewpoint At Liverpool an American visitor stood near the gangplank of a lately arrived arroy transport. Down the way came two British Tommies laden with their duffel bags.

In an instant came the supreme moment—the stood again upon the soil of jolly old England.

Dropping his bag upon the ground and flinging his arms toward the sky, one of the soldiers peered happily into the impenetrable fog which blanketed the great port.

"Ah, me matey!" he cried, "This is the weather as is weather; none o' those bloomin' blue skies for me!"

Day-dreaming

"I sure like to lie in bed in the morning and ring the bell for my valet."

"Great Scott — you have a valet?"

"No—but I've got a bell."

Time to Investigate

Two small boys had taken the clock apart to see "what made it tick." After examining each part very carefully, they put the clock back together again.

During the night their father was awakened from his sleep when the clock began striking. It struck 117 times without stopping.

"Cindy," he said to his wife, excitedly, "you'd better get up. It's later than I ever knowed it to be."

Historical Interest

"I wish I knew where George was," remarked the young wife.

"I presume, my dear," said her mother-in-law, "that you mean you wish you knew where he is?"

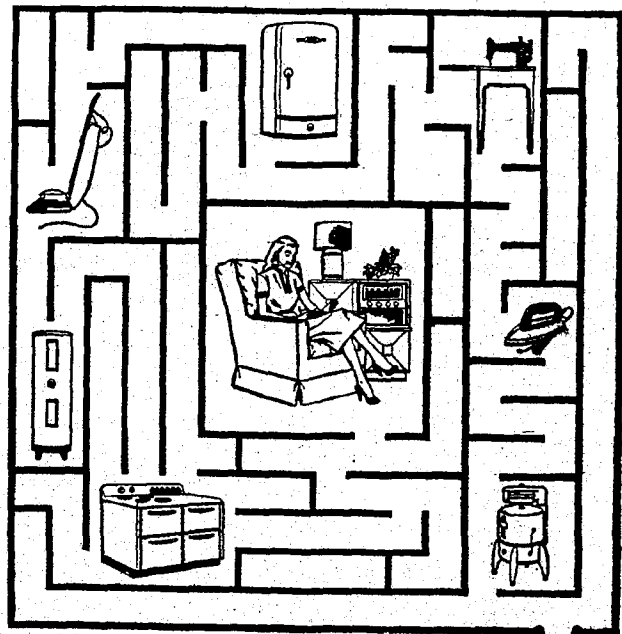

"Oh, no, I don't," was the firm retort. "I know where he is. He's in bed with a black eye and a head ache. I want to know where he was!"

Husbands, please note! The average housewife performs 70 different tasks in her normal day's work! (Frankly, women will think this figure far too low, but it comes from the U. S. Government's Office of Education!)

Yes, home-making is a big job—but dependable, time-and-labor-saving electricity helps a housewife skip through her maze of tasks. Electric service saves her steps, lightens her work, gives her more leisure, makes life healthier and happier for her and all her family!

And it costs so little! In an era of sky-high prices, that same average housewife is still getting twice as much electricity for her budget dollar as she got 20 years ago!

Yes, it is a-maze-ing!

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS
Truman Alters Europe Aid Tactics;
Congress Ready for Political Fight;
Fuel Oil Shortage Serious in U. S.

Released by WNU Features
(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

PLANS:
Cold War
President Truman ironed out a couple of details of his administration's foreign policy for the guidance and edification of congress as it reconvened for the 1948 session.

1. He removed the 17-billion-dollar price label from the four-year Marshall plan to aid Europe, and
2. He authorized the British to Greece to lend lease materials which Great Britain originally had received from the U. S.
Elimination of the descriptive 17-billion-dollar total aspect of the Marshall plan was made by Mr. Truman largely upon the advice of Sen. Arthur Vandenberg (Rep., Mich.) who had insisted that it was neither fair nor wise to have the present congress commit itself on the complete amount of the European recovery program for four years with the future as uncertain as it is.

Described by some as simply a parliamentary maneuver, the action does not modify the administration's original request to spend up to 17 billion over the four-year period. It merely leaves open and unspecified the total amount of funds for which expenditures would be authorized by congress.

A figure which does continue to stand, however, is the request for 6.8 billion dollars to be earmarked for European needs during the next 15 months.

Net effect of the maneuver for the immediate present appeared to be simply to eliminate the 17 billion dollars as a target for congressional criticism.

Looking toward Greece, where Communists have established their own government in the northern part of that torn nation, Mr. Truman authorized the British to transfer to the Greek army lend-lease equipment once held by the now virtually defunct British army in that area.

THE BREACH:
Wider
All indications as the 80th congress sat down for this election year session were that the political differences between President Truman and the ruling Republican legislators would widen into a great breach before November rolled around.

The rift is a result of the basic, deep-seated variations of opinion held by the executive and legislative branches on issues of fundamental importance to the national economy.

Congress—that is to say the Republican majority—is expected to bend every effort toward effecting a broad reduction in taxes and large cuts in government spending. Rep. Harold Knutson's new tax reduction bill, scheduled for debate in the house, will provide a pivotal point for discussion of those issues.

Knutson's bill, in general, would reduce the treasury income by 5.6 billion dollars and remove seven million persons from income tax rolls.

Mr. Truman remains opposed to any general tax cuts, but it was thought he might propose higher taxes on corporation profits in order to leave a margin for low-bracket personal income tax reductions without having to slash total government revenues.

The Marshall plan for European recovery, of course, will open a fresh battleground on which the GOP is expected to carry the banner of economy while the administration will seek more generous appropriations on the premise that the U. S. must contribute its wealth and resources to Europe in order to preserve its national security against the inroads of communism.

LUCIUS CLOBB
On Political Parties

Lucius Clobb, elder statesman of Paw-blooly county, rustled softly in his cane-bottomed chair with the depressed seat and clicked his spectacles expectantly at his wife Pharonie.

"You were about to say, Mister Clobb," said she in the confident tone of one who knows she is a woman of long standing. "See where Henry Wallace has come up with a new hybrid, Pharonie?"

"Mister Clobb, I see you got that political glint in your eye agin. Now I know why you have been thinking so hard today that your eye-glasses have slipped down almost to the end of your nose. Third party—hybrid—Third you consider that right smart."

"Well, it just ain't exactly wrong, Pharonie. From what I hear this new party o' his is crossed as a mule. He's got a few o' the F.D.R. liberals, part of the American Labor party in New York, some Progressive Citizens of America and quite a few Communists, of which I ain't never seen one."

"Mr. Wallace is a man to grab hold of an idea and ride it to death, and I never saw a man who could ride an idea to death better'n he can. Now, he's got some mighty powerful issues—Russia and peace and foreign policy and military trainin'—and he's tryin' to build a political party on 'em and call it a liberal party. But he won't be able to do it, or I'm a ring-tailed dunc."

"See, Pharonie, you can't get up a party on a few issues, and as far as being 'liberal' is concerned, that's an over-used word that nobody knows what it means. We got liberal farmers, too, and liberal Republicans and liberal Democrats. What Wallace needs is a set o' political principles, and he can't get any without robbin' either the Republicans or Democrats because they got all there are divided up betwixt 'em."

"Very nice, Mister Clobb," sniffed Pharonie. "I presume you'll be telling this to all the boys down to Jupiter Hammersloog's store?"

"Danged if I won't, Pharonie," said Mister Clobb slyly, rustling comfortably in his cane-bottomed chair, "danged if I won't."

FUEL OIL:
Conserve

Few American citizens who heated their homes with oil burners harbored any doubts about it. The petroleum industry and the U. S. government nodded their heads in somber agreement:

There was a severe, almost nationwide shortage of fuel oil. Only the deep South, the Far West and the producing state of Oklahoma remained relatively unaffected.

Why the shortage? More fuel oil and gasoline had been produced in 1947 than ever before in the nation's history, the output exceeding even the biggest war year—1945. But great though the supply was, the demand had increased even more in homes, in industry and on farms.

Only solution, responsible officials decided, would be an effective system of voluntary conservation to supplement expanded efforts on the part of the industry and government to overcome the difficulty. In the emergency householders were asked to take four precautions to save oil and also to save 10 per cent on their fuel bills:

1. Keep room temperature at 68 1/2 degrees during the day, turn the thermostat down to 60 at night.
2. Keep doors and windows closed; close off rooms not in use; draw shades at night.
3. Install storm windows and inner-sulation to keep heat in, cold out.
4. Have heating system checked for maximum efficiency.

LONG RIGHT:
From Tokyo

From the remote fastness of his headquarters in Tokyo, Gen. Douglas MacArthur has thrown a long, looping right into the Republican presidential candidate melee.

That, at least, is the interpretation which one of his strongest supporters, Fred R. Zimmerman, Wisconsin secretary of state, put upon the latest utterance by the general.

In a message to Zimmerman congratulating Wisconsin on its centennial celebration the general, in typically sonorous, MacArthurian prose, said, "For in the labyrinth of destiny's pattern there can be no greater satisfaction than such as comes from the confidences reflected in the selection by one's neighbors for public service — no more challenging responsibility than lies in the fulfillment of their trust."

TRANSPLANTED:
Hardy Corn

Six test plots of Guatemalan corn have been harvested at Iowa State college with results indicating that certain desirable characters of Central American corn can be bred into Iowa corns, according to Dr. I. E. Melhus, project leader of the Guatemalan outpost of the college's tropical research center.

Drought and heat resistance were qualities achieved by the cross-breeding experiments.

EGGLESS:
No Longer

Eggless Thursday, one of the principal bases upon which the administration originally built its food conservation program, has been abandoned in view of the seasonal increase in egg production.

The continuing request for meatless Tuesdays, however, remains strongly in effect as the main program for the voluntary conservation program to save food for hungry human beings abroad.

Dropping of eggless Thursday by President Truman's cabinet food committee was announced following the action of restaurant and hotel groups in large metropolitan centers advising their members to forego the meatless and eggless days if competition demanded such a step.

Deploping that attitude, James A. Stillwell, executive director of the food committee, said that it was "imperative" to continue the meatless days because of the diminishing supply of livestock for food.

"It is clear," Stillwell observed, "that meat is leading the inflationary spiral in food prices. All reports agree that there will not be enough meat for unrestrained eating this spring."

Thus, the nation's food conservation leader provided a faint but authentic echo to Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson's statement earlier that some kind of meat rationing appeared likely in the U. S. this spring.

The bright spot was eggs, said Stillwell. As they become seasonally more abundant they should become cheaper and provide an excellent protein substitute for meat.

SMALL FRY:
Little Assembly

The U. N. "little assembly," America's tentative answer to the power-packed but impotent security council, met for the first time at Lake Success, but without representatives from any nation in the Soviet bloc which had opposed its formation.

Featured at the first session was a plea by the U. S. for conciliation with Russia. American Delegate Warren Austin asked the Soviets to end their boycott of the new group, assuring them that they have "nothing to fear" from the agency.

Main explosive problem to be discussed this year by the "little assembly"—the veto problem in the U. N.—would not be debated until after March 15, it was decided.

U. N. members will have until then to submit proposals on whether to curtail the Big Five veto power. Under the present set-up, Russia, the U. S., Great Britain, France and China may veto important decisions in the security council.

Although no one even dared mention it, prevailing fear among U. N. delegates was the possibility that Russia would withdraw from the United Nations if her veto power were taken away.

Bottleneck

B. E. Eford of Landis, N. C., feeds his eight-week-old New Hampshire Red chicken which grew up in this five-gallon bottle where it has lived ever since the tender age of one week. Air vents in side of bottle enable the chicken to put her head through to eat.

DRAFTED:
Labor

Peacetime industrial conscription—the labor draft—became a reality in Great Britain as thousands of street peddlers, bootblacks and others engaged in "non-essential" work lined up to register at government labor exchanges.

During the first six days of the new order about 20,000 signed up for job placement, spurred by penalties of fines ranging up to $2,000 and two years imprisonment for those who failed to register.

The drastic measure was put into effect to help find recruits for 500,000 vacant essential jobs, mostly on farms, in coal mines and in textile factories. Hamstrung by the desperate need for greater production, Britain's Labor government thus carried its nationalization program a long step farther.

Auto Deaths Drop

Every 16 minutes, on the average, during 1947 some person died as a result of a traffic accident, but the 32,500 death toll for the year was still 1,200 below the 1946 total, National Safety council has estimated.

Actually, the nation's streets and highways in 1947 had the lowest mileage death rate in history, despite an increase of about 10 per cent in miles traveled.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Who Are We, Anyway?
Subject came up at Bill Webster's, the other day, as we were chatting over beer and pretzels. Just who are the folks who make up our town? Where'd they come from?
Well, Doc Hollister's Scotch-English ancestry; Will Dudley's folks were mining stock from Pennsylvania; Skip Powell's family were brewers back in Holland.
Guess our bloodstream's got a bit of every country of the globe—and every section of America. We've still got differences in taste and background—whether they apply to music, history, or beer. Only those differences don't matter—because we're self-respecting people, in a free, united land.
And from where I sit, that's what makes our towns and cities—our America—so strong, progressive, tolerant. Our championship of individual liberties has brought us people from all faiths, all lands—to prove that respect for one another's rights is the greatest bond humanity can know!

SCRIPTURE: John 4:5-26; Romans 8:12-17, 31-39.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 103.

Our Relationship to God

Lesson for January 18, 1948

Dr. Newton
The Scripture lesson for Sunday is John 4:5-26 and Romans 8:12-17 and 31-39, with the 103rd Psalm as the devotional reading. The passage in John presents the dramatic story of Jesus meeting with the woman from Sychar at Jacob's well, and of her discovery of the Water of Life. There is no more convincing evidence anywhere in the Bible of Jesus as the one and only approach to God. He is the Door through which one must pass into the Kingdom, whether bond or free, rich or poor, ignorant or learned, high or low. "I am the truth and the life and the way."

Jesus Teaches About God

IN THIS great story we see Jesus, wearied from the day's arduous tasks, sitting on the curb of Jacob's well, resting. The disciples had gone across the valley to the village to buy food. The woman comes to draw water from the historic well. She did not notice Jesus until he spoke to her. He is never too busy, never too weary, to seek to bring all men to a knowledge of God's love. He asked for a drink of water. That was his way of making contact with her. She drew back, wondering why a Jew would speak to a woman in public. But Jesus got past the immediate wall which she threw up between herself and him, and soon was teaching her the way of everlasting life, to which she responded with gratitude.

He asked for a drink of water. That was his way of making contact with her. She drew back, wondering why a Jew would speak to a woman in public. But Jesus got past the immediate wall which she threw up between herself and him, and soon was teaching her the way of everlasting life, to which she responded with gratitude.

How We Worship God

READ John 4:5-26 and see how Jesus led the woman of Sychar to understand true worship. Strangely enough, she knew a good deal about Jewish rites and ceremonies, but she had never known the basic truth that "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

Included in the record of how Jesus taught the woman to worship was the necessity of confessing her sin, having five husbands, and living at the moment with still another man. We cannot worship God if there is unconfessed sin in our hearts.

We often miss the joy of true worship because we fail to confess our sins. God looketh upon the heart. If there is sin in our hearts, it must be forgiven.

Our Need of God

"IF YE live after the flesh, ye shall die," Romans 8:13. Here is a solemn truth that many seem to forget — apart from God we are dead. The young person who undertakes to live with eating food will soon discover that his body is wasting away and his mind is broken and dissipated. Just so with the spirit of man. We are spiritual creatures, made in the image of God. If we live by the flesh, we die spiritually.

In the preceding chapters in Romans, Paul has shown how sin worketh death. He sets forth the penalties that result from carnal thinking and behavior. But in the 18th verse he comes on to say:

"It is the Spirit himself bearing witness with our spirit that we are the sons of God, or children of God," Romans 8:16.

Strong in the Lord

OUR age has made much of might — might that expresses itself in speed. We think in terms of atomic power. This lesson would help us to understand that we may be strong in the Lord. All power is with him. "All power hath been given me in heaven and on earth," said Jesus.

And this leads us to the climax of Sunday's lesson, when Paul declares:

"For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord," Romans 8:38, 39.

Satan had the woman of Sychar completely in his power until the grace of God lifted her feet upon the Rock of Ages. She could then stand in the midst of the people of Sychar and declare that she had met One who had released her from the bondage of sin. That is what will happen in every heart that comes to God through Jesus Christ

RUST PREVENTIVES SAVES MACHINERY:

The old saying, "more farm machinery rusts out than wears out", is a good one to heed these days. E. C. Sauve, Agricultural Engineer at Michigan State College, says that rust can be easily licked by use of rust preventives.

There are two types of rust preventives, liquid and grease. The location of storage and length of time you wish to store the unit will determine which is best to use. The grease type can be used in bearings and has lubricating properties.

Rural Tele-news

QUICK QUIZ: Do you know how much telephone wire Michigan Bell put up in rural areas last year? Nearly nine thousand miles! It meant new service for thousands and fewer parties on many rural lines. Michigan Bell now serves 122,000 rural area subscribers — more than double the number in 1941.

STOP THEM WITH THIS ONE: Ask your friends how many telephone companies there are in Michigan in addition to Michigan Bell. It's a treat on you if they guess the right number — one hundred and sixty. All connect with Michigan Bell and Bell System telephones.

USEFUL . . . AND FUN: A survey shows that more than half the farm families served by Michigan Bell use their telephones for reaching the doctor, dentist and veterinarian, and for ordering parts, repairs, feed and supplies. "Visiting" with friends and arranging church and social activities are high up on the list too.

Our $13,500,000 postwar rural construction program means more and better rural telephone service.

Dreaded Stomach Cancer
Cancer of the stomach, which strikes fear into the hearts of patients, is the most frequent of all malignant growths. Dr. Owen H. Wagensteen, University of Minnesota, reported recently to American Medical association. He reports that in the light of present-day knowledge surgery is the only worthwhile treatment for patients with gastric cancer, adding that the most radical surgery with the lowest mortality is the best surgery. Dr. Wagensteen reports that only 6 per cent of the patients whose disease is diagnosed as gastric cancer are alive five years later and that cancer ranks next to cardiac disease as the most frequent cause of death. Of the 150,000 annual deaths from cancer in the United States, approximately 40,000 persons die of gastric cancer. New Hampshire, with an annual cancer mortality rate of 155.4 per 100,000, leads the nation.

Bomb Forest Fires
Most recent field tests in attacking Australian forest fires with chemically treated water bombs have yielded encouraging success. Fires lit in high scrub country were bombed from 50 to 100 feet by Mustangs. They dropped 65-gallon converted wing tanks containing a 20 per cent solution of ammonium sulphate. Fires were extinguished and examination showed that each bomb had thoroughly saturated everything within its zone of dispersal and had stopped combustion in a swathe 40 yards by 10 yards through the blazing area. Although tests are being repeated in heavy forest country and other chemicals will be tried out, experiments so far indicate that aerial bombing will be effective, at least in holding outbreaks in check until they can be attacked by mobile units on the ground.

How Rayon is Woven
Rayon fabrics, like other fabrics, are woven, knit, or made into lace, but the majority are woven. In all kinds of weaving one set of yarns passes over and under another set of yarns at right angles. The yarns which run the length of the fabric parallel to the selvage are the warp yarns or ends; those which run across the fabric from selvage to selvage are filling or weft yarns. There are only three basic weaves. All other weaves are variations of these three weaves or various combinations of them. The three basic weaves are plain, twill, satin, to which may be added novelty, which may be a variation or combination of any of the basic weaves.

Infant Cries Before Birth; Twin Sister Doing Well
CINCINNATI.—A day-old girl whom physicians said they heard crying a full hour before birth was "doing nicely" in Good Samaritan hospital here.
So was a twin sister, born a short time later, and their mother, the hospital reported.
Dr. Joseph Crotty, Cincinnati obstetrician, said it was the first time he had heard an infant crying before birth "in more than 10 years in specializing in this field."
He recalled that "two or three cases of this kind" were reported some years ago at Lying-In hospital, New York.

Wins $200,000; Treasury Sues for $160,000 Income

WASHINGTON.—Treasury agents driving against tax evaders have slapped a $160,000 income tax claim on a war construction worker whose $200,000 winnings while gambling made somebody angry enough to "turn him in."

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder disclosed this and cited eight other cases in which would-be evaders have been assessed more than eight million dollars in extra taxes and penalties.

Snyder reported the treasury has just received its biggest single cash payment of taxes in a fraud case in history—$2,500,000—from a man convicted at Cincinnati of liquor blackmarkting.

He identified the payer as Robert Gould, and said Gould drew a six-year sentence in federal court.

The construction worker was not identified by Snyder, who said the man also faces criminal prosecution as well as the $160,000 assessment for extra taxes, interest and penalties.

'Sandwich War' Stirs Up

Lisbon; Consumer Loses
LISBON, PORTUGAL.—The "battle of the sandwiches" has been engaged with vigor in Lisbon both by consumer and supplier, and at the moment the consumer has lost the first engagement.

After several years during which all snacks and sandwiches were prohibited because of the scarcity of bread, the government passed a decree permitting their sale.

The first day of sale cafes and bars, restaurants and stalls were besieged. But consumers accused sellers of overcharging.

So vigorous were protests that cafes have gone on strike and refuse to sell sandwiches. Their proprietors state that they will not do so until the government has fixed a just price to which all cafes must keep.

Cost of Atom Mobiles Termed Too Prohibitive

Atomic-powered automobiles are not within the foreseeable according to a report made to Illinois Public Health association by Dr. Raymond E. Zirkle who worked with a University of Chicago group in development of the atomic bomb during the war years.

Among the hazards are death occurring a few days or weeks after exposure, burns, tumors, shortening of the life span and abnormalities in offsprings, depending on the amount of radiation absorbed by the body and other factors.

Protection against these hazards involves considerable expense and inconvenience. A shielding of concrete several feet thick would be necessary on any vehicle powered by atomic energy. The vehicle would have to be large enough to carry not only the chain reactor, but also the very heavy shielding necessary for protection. Only vehicles as large as battleships or mammoth airplanes could carry such equipment.

Among the benefits of atomic energy, Dr. Zirkle pointed to the fact that the cost per gamma ray from atomic energy may become substantially lower than the cost from radium. Better results, especially in deep radiotherapy, may be expected from atomic energy and an increase in the percentage of successful treatments for such diseases as cancer may be expected.

Hippocrates to Medical Leaders Listed

Dr. Morris Fishbein of American Medical association has listed what he considers to be the 10 greatest names in the field of medicine. Dr. Fishbein's list, which he admitted contained some "notable omissions" included the following names: Hippocrates (460-377 B. C.) Established the scientific method for diagnosing and treating diseases.

Andreas Vesalius (1514-1564) Father of anatomy, dissected human bodies.

William Harvey (1578-1657) Discovered how blood circulates.

Edward Jenner (1815-1898). Discovered vaccination against smallpox.

William T. G. Morton (1819-1868). Discovered ether anesthesia.

Louis Pasteur (1822-1895). Founder of bacteriology, greatest "microbe hunter."

Joseph Lister (1827-1912). Discovered antiseptic in surgery.

Wilhelm Conrad Roentgen (1845-1923). Discovered X-rays.

Paul Ehrlich (1854-1915). Discovered first blood antiseptic—Salvarsan.

Sigmund Freud (1856-1939). Studied relation of human mind to organic disease, theory of psychoanalysis.

"boards, bureaus, agencies and commissions" -- all of them beyond the control of the governor.

What would he do about it? Ask "Hang your clothes on a hickory limb," said an indulgent mama to her daughter who sought permission to go in swimming. "But don't go near the water!"

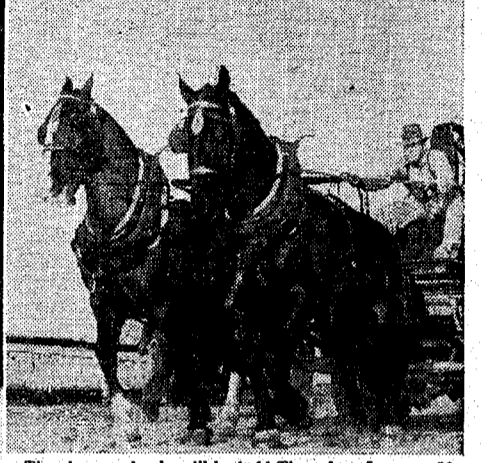

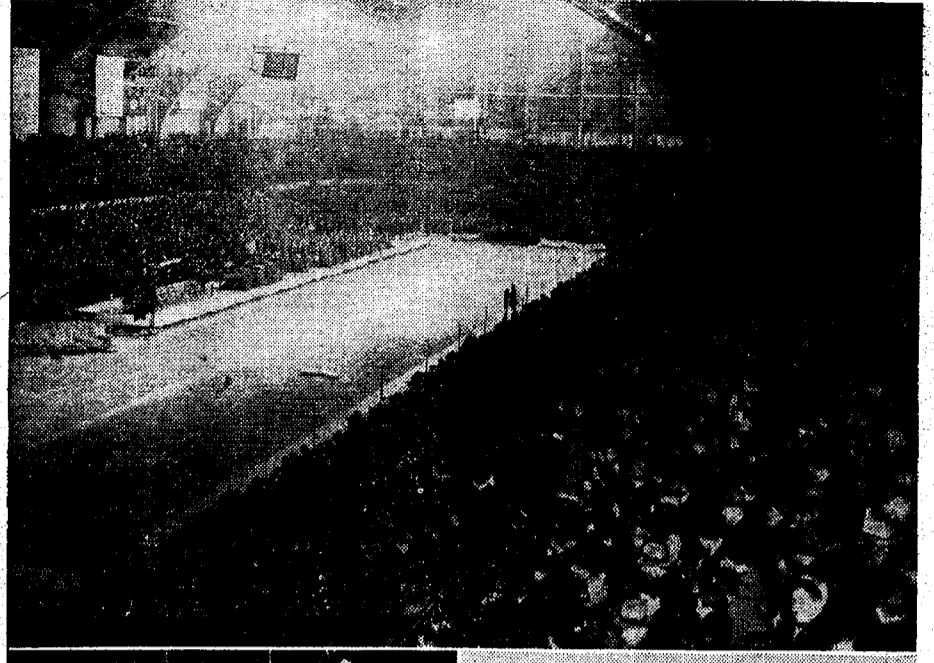

This paradoxical reply, both agreement and disagreement, saying yes and still saying no, reminds us of an interesting situation today at the state capital.

One year ago Kim Sigler, Michigan's fighting, crusading reform governor, took office. He had inherited a financial mess of no mean size. Voters had thumped approval of a constitutional amendment which deprived the state treasury of a big share of sales tax revenues, including 44.7 per cent of the previous year's collections which must be allocated to the public schools.

A continuing inflation in prices has resulted in a constant rise of sales tax receipts. Year after year the state financial experts were caught with unanticipated surpluses. Newspaper readers who skim the headlines and fail to get into the details had arrived at a conclusion that Lansing was literally rolling in wealth. They had a tolerant attitude toward government, either federal or state, being reconciled of a belief that it never would be as efficient as private business and hence would always contain a percentage of waste.

Admonished by State Treasurer D. Hale Brake and others in his official family of the "truth of the consequences", Governor Sigler finally

FARMERS' WEEK COMES BACK AT M.S.C.

Approximately 30,000 farmers and homemakers from Michigan are expected to attend the Farmers' Week program at Michigan State College, East Lansing, January 26 to 30. At top is shown a previous Farmers' Week general program session in Jensen Fieldhouse attended by more than 10,000 farm people. Left below, Gov. Kim Sigler is shown with O. J. Richards, Port Huron, and the grand champion steer at the 1947 livestock day program which was held in lieu of Farmers' Week. Richards has entered another steer in the 1948 feeding contest.

The show and sale will be held Thursday, January 29, during the Farmers' Week program. Lower right is the world's championship lightweight pulling team which will put on a demonstration on Tuesday morning, January 27. The team is owned by Charles Roehl and Son, Smith Creek, and is driven by Harry Roehl. A complete program of Farmers' Week activities is available from county agricultural agents or the Institute of Short Courses, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

came out with an appeal to the state legislature to put a repeal ballot on the spring election. The legislators carried. The repeal move was defeated. Finally, in the closing days of the general sessions, legislators voted to put the repeal ballot to the voters at the November general election in 1948.

So far so good. At least, the logic of the state's financial plight was in a position of full consistency. The State of Michigan faced bankruptcy unless it was removed from the strait-jacket of a disastrous constitutional amendment, or unless it could discover a new and added source of taxation. The emphasis for 1948, an election year, was naturally upon the first. Let's repeal this obnoxious, impossible amendment. Let's revise the state constitution.

Then came a new issue for 1948: Lack of responsibility in the power of the governor. The state executive was little less than a "glorified clerk". A remark was made about "the crummiest job in the country."

Governor Sigler's new thesis was that Michigan was plagued by a multiplicity of invisible government -- the legislature to abolish "about a dozen" of these state bureaus!

If the Michigan Education Association wanted to obtain new ammunition for its campaign to defeat repeal of the sales tax amendment, we can think of none better than this. The governor's new position, as we see it, confirms the suspicions of many voters that Lansing has too much money for its own good, that the State of Michigan could get along nicely with a lot less if someone would only streamline things and cut out inefficiency. The words sound familiar.

On a heavy-duty job, give me new Advance-Design CHEVROLET TRUCKS and here's a "load" of reasons why...

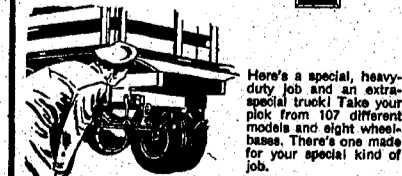

Only Advance-Design Trucks Have All These New and Finer Features:

- ★ Cab that "breathes"
- ★ Flexi-Mounted cab
- ★ Uniweld, all-steel construction
- ★ Larger, more durable, fully adjustable seat
- ★ 22% greater visibility
- ★ New, rear-corner windows
- ★ Stronger, new frames
- ★ Full-floating hypoid rear axles
- ★ Specially designed hydraulic truck brakes
- ★ Valve-in-Head Thrift-Master or Load-Master engines
- ★ More efficient loading (stake and high-rack bodies)
- ★ New, thorough sealing insulation
- ★ Standard cab-to-axle-length dimensions permitting interchange of bodies
- ★ ... and MANY more!

Brother, how these stronger, new frames stand-up! Wheel-bases are longer, too, for better load distribution. And the brakes are exclusively designed for greater brake-lining contact!

There's nothing like the cab that "breathes" for comfort! ... fresh air is drawn in from the outside—heated in cold weather—and used air is forced out. The cab is cushioned on rubber-Flexi-Mounted—with 12 inches more foot room and eight inches more seating space. There's 22% greater visibility, too, they tell me. The seat is fully adjustable. Man, this is it!

Look—rear-corner windows! Now it's a cinch to back up without jacking-up. Yes, air, these trucks are brand new—really different with Advance-Design. And they're packed with power. In the world's most economical engine for its size—Chevrolet's Value-in-Head engine. *Fresh air heating and ventilating system and rear corner windows optional at extra cost.

Come in and see these trucks—today! There's a Chevrolet Advance-Design truck to meet your specific needs and offer you TRANSPORTATION UNLIMITED!
