Fire Prevention Inspection Day

PLANS MADE FOR FULL DAY PROGRAM TUES., MARCH 2nd.

East Jordan's ambitious fire inspection and fire prevention program will reach its climax next Tuesday with a full day of planned activity. The inspection schedule will start at 9 A.M., when the 7 Inspection Squads begin a building-by-building survey of the entire commercial section of the town. Each of these Squads will be headed by one of the following specialists: Lynford Smith of the State Fire Marshalls office, Carsen Bond of the Michigan Inspection Bureau, Vincent P. Dunlap of the Home Ins. Co., Wayne L. Barr of the Hanover Fire Ins. Co., G. Seaman of the Continental Ins. Co., Ernest Evans past Capt. of the Detroit Fire Department and W.D. Voorhees of the National Fire Ins. Co. In addition to the above each Squad will include an East Jordan Fireman and two Boy Scouts.

At 6:30 in the evening the sponsoring organizations (Rotary, Chamber of Commerce, Boy Scouts, American Legion, Fire Department) and all interested citizens will sit down to a banquet in the Rotary rooms in the basement of the Presbyterian Church with Sam Grey of the New York Underwriters as guest of honor and principal speaker. Tickets for this dinner will be on sale by the committeemen and at the Bank and Chamber of Commerce.

This is a program long over due in East Jordan and one that merits the support of every member of the community. Do YOUR part now and East Jordan will be a better and a safer place in which to live.

Fire Bureau Condemns the Antrim County Jail

A Special session of the Board of Supervisors for the County of Antrim was called for Wednesday, February 18th, prompted by a letter received from the Fire Bureau Chief of the Michigan State Police Department, which concerns the condition of the jail located at Bellaire. The building has been a fire hazard for some time and if some move isn't made to correct the situation either by building a new jail or repairing the present building, it will be condemned which will mean transporting prisoners to some other jail. This will mean an enormous expense to the County.

The Board voted to take necessary steps to build a new structure and to call a Special Election to vote on a bond issue to finance the project, not to exceed $80,000. No date has, as yet, been set for the Election. The Committee on Building will confer with the Prosecuting Attorney in order that the proposition may be placed on the ballot in proper form. Laura M. Mohrmann, Clerk.

Rebekah Lodge Activities

The Jasmine Rebekah Lodge held their regular meeting Wednesday, Feb. 18, with 51 members present. A question box was conducted by Past Noble Grand, Irene Wright, the questions being answered by other Past Noble Grands. This should be a very interesting and enlightening feature, so if there is some point of information any member would like cleared up regarding Rebekah procedure turn your questions into P.N.G., Irene Wright, and they will be answered at some future meeting.

Lodge was followed by a game period which consisted of a cake walk. Cakes were donated by Meta Robinson, Glenda Maxwell and Vivian Atkinson, and were won by Bea Kopkau, Elsie Grothro and Julia Gunther. Other games were played and a small fee was charged which is to be turned over to the March of Dimes. Everyone had lots of fun and expressed the desire to have more such game periods.

Next meeting to be March 3, 8:00 o'clock, at the I.O.O.F. Hall. Come.

Two years ago new shelving was installed together with a meat display case and other equipment. In a short time an addition will be built, allowing more room.

To celebrate the event they are putting on a special sale, and the thrifty shopper should take advantage of their offering elsewhere in this issue.

WITH THE ANTRIM COUNTY AGR'L AGENT W. Kirkpatrick, Extension Agent

FARMERS TO STUDY IRRIGATION

Antrim County farmers interested in learning more about Farm Irrigation are being urged by Walter G. Kirkpatrick, Antrim County Agricultural Agent to attend the State-wide Irrigation School being held at Michigan State College, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 2 and 3.

The program is planned for farmers anticipating the use of Irrigation and those already using irrigation equipment, according to F.W. Peiker, Irrigation Specialist at Michigan State College. Sessions will be held in the new Agriculture building.

The program for Tuesday, March 2nd., will be devoted mostly to planning for an irrigation system. The second day program will feature discussion on Water Supply Use on Irrigation and Research.

Farm Irrigation plants cost many thousands of dollars and farmers should know many facts concerning source of water, size of pipe, type of system, possible increase returns and many other pertinent facts before investing such a huge amount of capital. A few days spent securing information may save interested farmers many thousands of dollars.

The average tonnage per acre for the one hundred eighteen growers in the two counties was 6.4 tons per acre.

A summary of tonnage per grower is as follows: 15 growers produced under four ton per acre, 33 growers produced between four and six tons per acre, 49 growers produced between six and eight tons per acre, 18 growers produced between eight and ten tons per acre, three growers produced between 10 and 12 tons per acre.

The three highest producers in the counties were Harry DeGreat and Bernie DeYoung of Ellsworth and Bill Shepard of East Jordan.

Potter Doesn't Like Lobbyists

HAS DEFINITE IDEAS ON MAIN ISSUES IN CONGRESS

(By Wm. F. Pyper in Grand Rapids Press.)

Washington—Eager to learn whether the lobbyist are right, Rep. Potter, Michigan Republican, expects to run for re-election in 1948 to his Eleventh district seat in congress.

He's hoping the lobbyists are wrong. For they've told him his ideas don't coincide too well with those of his constituents in 16 rural counties if northern Michigan.

A veteran who walks on artificial legs with the aid of two stout canes, elected only last fall, Potter is new at dealing with lobbyists and with the special interests, but he's let the lobbyists know in no uncertain terms that he doesn't intend to do whatever he's told.

Against Oleo Tax.

There is the instance of a farmers' organization which was soliciting the house in the interests of retaining the tax on oleomargarine as a protection to the dairy industry. Fancy the surprise of the solicitors upon learning that a man from a rural area was against the tax! But Potter was and he didn't spare the horses in letting the dairy lobby know where he stood.

"I don't believe in taxing one group to benefit the business of another," Potter explained. But he added that the lobbyists "didn't like" his explanation.

Potter says he intends to vote for retention of rent control, though there is little in the way of a housing shortage in his district. He said he was convinced by testimony as to what would happen in large cities, however. But he says that from what the real estate lobby has told him since he made his views known, it seems the only persons interested in his district are those associated with rear estate interests, so he thinks he may be on the wrong side again.

Angry at Students.

The Cheboygan representative became angry when a student group buttonholed him to argue against universal military training. It seems they overlooked the fact of his recent service to his country, and somebody suggested he'd be less militaristic if he had to do the fighting. He roared that he was for UMT and always would be.

"I also told them I didn't care whether they liked what I was telling them, and that I didn't like student movements with a Commie complexion," Potter explains. "Then I guess I told them to get out. Bad politics."

Turn on Vets, Too.

He even turned on some of his fellow veterans when they were down here seeking larger allowances for themselves as students. He finally voted for an increase, but not until he had spanked them for their campaign of plastic snowballs and for their tendency toward selfishness. He says he dreads the day when the public will be fed up with spoon feeding of the vets and there won't be any funds to take care of worthy cases.

So Rep. Potter expects to lose all the farm vote, the veteran vote, the youth vote and the real estate vote if what such special interests tell him is true. But he's going to try it, anyway, in the hope the lobbyists are wrong.

The Trestleboard

Did You Know that the Grand Chapter of the O.E.S. was the first to be organized in the U.S.A? It came into being Oct. 3, 1867. New Jersey followed with a similar organization three years later July 18, 1870.

At present there are 469 subordinate O.E.S. Chapters in Michigan. The principles or tenets of the institution are truth, loyalty, charity and loving kindness.

In 1927, sixty four or 66 and two thirds per cent of the U.S. Senate were Masons, 304 or seventy per cent of the House of Representatives belonged to the craft. Only four States sent no Masons to Congress. Thirteen States sent all Masons. Twenty two states sent Masons to both houses, while from six states all delegates to both houses were Masons.

Henry Clay was a well known Mason. He was Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky in 1820. Stephen A. Douglas, another famous American, became a member of Springfield Lodge No. 26, Springfield Illinois, April 21, 1840.

Perhaps you have heard of Henry Ford. He was a member of Palestine Lodge No. 357, Detroit.

PRE-SCHOOL CHILDREN

Whooping cough, diphtheria, smallpox and tetanus (lockjaw) are perils that every child must face from birth. Fortunately, medical science has provided a safeguard against these dreadful dangers through the means of immunization. Governor Kim Sigler has proclaimed February as the month for all of Michigan to give special heed to the importance of giving our children this vital protection. Remembering that "It's never too soon, but it may be too late," the child should have its first immunizations during pre-school years, preferably before the first birthday. The recommended immunization schedule for your child is given below. It is officially approved by the American Academy of Pediatrics (Michigan Branch), the Michigan Department of Health, and the Michigan State Medical Society.

Whooping Cough — at 6 months, and again at school age
Smallpox — once before first birthday, and every 3 years thereafter
Diphtheria — at 9 months, and again at school age
Tetanus (lockjaw) — at 9 months, and every 4 years thereafter

U. N. Group Sees Partition Failure In Palestine if Armed Force Absent; More Military Aid to Greece: Truman

Released by WNU Features.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

U. N. ARMY: Palestine

The problem in Palestine is starkly simple, according to the United Nations' commission making an on-the-spot survey of Holy Land conditions: The U. N. plan to partition the strife-torn country is foredoomed to failure unless adequate armed force is provided to enforce the partition.

This was what the U. N. group suggested in a strongly worded report: "The commission has decided to refer to the security council the problem of providing that armed assistance which alone would enable the commission to discharge its responsibilities."

In short, it was up to the security council to put teeth into its own decision to divide Palestine into independent Arab and Jewish states.

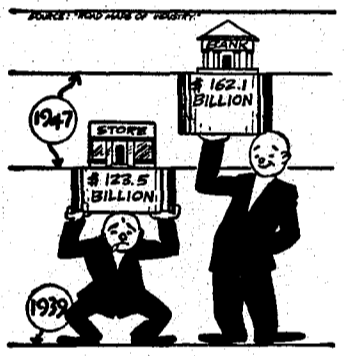

But where the council would get any kind of military force was another question. The U. N. charter provides for permanent army, navy and air force contingents, but they never have become realities, primarily because of disagreements between Russia and the U. S.

It was, everyone agreed, by all odds the most difficult task the U. N. had faced during its brief, postwar career. If partition were to fail it might mark the death blow of any confidence in the U. N. to preserve the tippy peace.

PENNY SAVED: Diminished

Inflation has had its effect on U. S. citizens not only in their day-to-day living but also with regard to the personal savings that they managed to sock away in the bank.

From 1939 to 1947 Americans had accumulated total savings of 162.1 billion dollars, assuming that the dollars saved each year were kept intact. But because of inflationary price increases the aggregate savings in 1947 actually would have been worth only 123.5 billion dollars in terms of purchasing power.

Chart (above) shows difference between the levels of savings at the bank and at the retail store. In the final analysis, the 1947 dollar bought approximately 40 per cent less than the 1939 dollar.

GREECE: Sore Spot

In a world riddled with areas of Communist infection, Greece is coming more and more to be a sore spot, President Truman told congress, and as a consequence additional American military assistance should be concentrated there and in Turkey.

He said he would request further military aid for the two nations—but particularly Greece—"at the appropriate time." Presumably that meant before June 30, because he explained that the request would be made under the Greek-Turkish aid law, which expires July 1.

What the President was doing was officially recognizing a fact of which the public long has been aware—that the 400-million-dollar "Truman doctrine" has been, so far, virtually a complete failure.

The "Truman doctrine," as formulated last spring, had been intended to provide Greece with the military materials and equipment to fend off Communist guerrillas and, incidentally, to furnish some economic aid to help the country toward recovery.

To date the program has accomplished almost nothing in either of those fields, although the major effort has been concentrated on the military aspect.

One of the chief criticisms of the "Truman doctrine" as an instrument of U. S. foreign policy is that, while it purports to accomplish in Greece what the Marshall plan is intended to do for western Europe—that is, the containing of commu-

LUCIUS CLOBB

On Low Prices

Lucius Clobb, elder statesman of Pawbwooley county, turned briskly at the door of Jupiter Hammerloop's "Slightly-Less-Than-Supermarket" (as he advertised his store in the weekly Pawbwooley Prattler) and paused in front of a sign reading "Butter—65 cents."

"Jups," quoth Mister Clobb to the proprietor, "you are this city's leadin' proponent of what the experts been calling 'a healthy adjustment' of prices trending away from inflation."

"Um," rejoined Jupiter. "Mebbe so, but I lost $1.30 on that case of butter I had on hand when prices first dropped."

Mister Clobb grinned broadly. "But think o' how much more cheerful and sociable all us bag-ridden consumers are now when we come into the store and find things cheaper'n they used to be."

"Nobody's so darn cheerful. Now they're all afraid a depression's comin'. Everybody except you, and you're either too dumb or too rich to care," grumbled Jupiter, exhibiting a touch of the typically envious scorn that the bourgeois can display toward the landed gentry.

"Well now, Jups, I say that's silly. You tell those people this whole thing is an account of the law of supply is gradually catching up with the law of demand. Or at least it's puttin' on a show of speed in the back stretch."

"Crops look to be better in Europe this year, and our own wheat is comin' along the way God intended wheat to grow."

"Sounds too simple to me," sneered Jupiter, who was addicted to reading the newspapers.

"Yep, it is simple—maybe overly so," returned Mister Clobb benignly, "but here lately every dang-danged thing you turn your head to has been so complicated that it's a pure pleasure to find something I can reduce to two-syllable words, even if I do oversimplify it."

"Um," said Jupiter Hammerloop as he straightened out the "Butter—65 cents" sign which had fallen over.

ISMS EXPOSED: Education

American school children, concluded the U. S. office of education, are not fully aware of the fallacies of communism and fascism, nor do they understand democracy as well as they should.

So the office has undertaken a long-range education program, scheduled to get into full swing by next fall, to bring the nation's 32 million school kids up to date on their political and moral philosophies.

Said Dr. John W. Studebaker, U. S. commissioner of education: "For a long time in teaching history we have explained the nature of ancient despotism. Now we ought to have a clear and accurate examination of the nature and tactics of modern dictatorship and despotism."

It is important, he declared, to give youth of the nation a true insight into how the so-called "pleasant utopias" of communism and fascism really operate.

"Through the program we want to explain what they have done to farmers, business and opinion-making media . . . what the iron curtain really is . . . and how dark it is behind that iron curtain."

"Once the student recognizes the benefits of American democracy, we think he can make an intelligent choice whether he wants to move to the right, to the left or down the middle."

nism and furtherance of economic recovery of non-communist states—it actually is working in disharmony with the more important Marshall plan.

For the Marshall plan, or ERP, would accomplish its ends by maintaining and preserving peace, while the "Truman doctrine" is based on the theory that military action is necessary to keep communism in check. The result has been a schism in policy that has done U. S. prestige abroad little good.

Greeks themselves have been antagonized by the "Truman doctrine" because they have been able to see money and supplies being diverted for military purposes while they, at the same time, have had to remain in economic ignominy.

Mr. Truman summed up his viewpoint this way: "If the guerrilla menace should increase as a result of greater outside assistance (Russia) a new situation would be created which would have to be dealt with in the light of circumstances prevailing at the time."

HIGHEST MOUNTAIN

They Won't Climb Mt. Everest This Year

Because the sacred astrologer of Tibet saw in the stars that danger was ahead for Tibet's 14-year-old Dalai Lama, Britain's Royal Geographic society probably will have to call off its projected expedition to climb Mt. Everest, world's highest peak, this year.

Since the astrologer made his prognostication last December, Tibet has closed its borders, to all foreigners until 1950. And Tibet is the place from which the unconquered 29,000-foot Himalayan mountain can most easily be assaulted even though the peak actually lies in the neighboring state of Nepal.

Both the society and the British foreign office have been trying to get the Dalai Lama and his advisers to relax the ban against outsiders, but to no avail.

Condenser Condensed

Dr. Cleo Brunetti, chief of engineering electronics section of national bureau of standards, holds sub-miniature radio transmitter which also can be converted into transmitter and receiver by rewiring a switch. Transmitting and receiving radius on a set like this would be about 10 miles. Small though it may be, the set still picks up commercials and soap operas.

DEFENSE: All Levels

The myth of a third world war has received still another sanction.

Plans are afoot, Defense Secretary James Forrestal told the nation, to meet the threat of atom bombs, guided missiles and bacterial war with a national civil defense organization.

Forrestal was acting on the recommendations of an army board report that warned of the danger of attack on the U. S.

"In the event of another war," the board found, "widespread destruction can be anticipated in industrial areas and centers of population. The populace should be organized into small groups under leaders and trained in fire-fighting, rescue and first aid."

To cope with the horrific possibilities of an atomic attack a civil defense organization will be set up to reach into every level and fiber of American life.

In the plan offered by the army civil defense board, headed by Maj. Gen. Harold R. Bull, were the recommendations that:

1. Self-defense be taught to every U. S. citizen.
2. Mutual aid be fostered among citizens, groups, cities, counties and states.
3. Organized mobile reserve units of fire fighters, atom bomb damage control, first aid and bacterial warfare control be set up.

Administering the coup de grace to whatever feelings of security the American people might have had left, the report warned that any future enemy would attempt to cripple the U. S. industrial effort with surprise attacks by air and "destroy the will and ability of the people to resist."

And, of course, "The enemy may use weapons of mass destruction if he considers it to his advantage." These were the possibilities that the American people might have to face up to on some future day.

TOO WEAK: Ike's Good-by

True to the tradition of his calling, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower sang no lullaby of love and peace as he bowed out of his position of army chief of staff.

Instead, he sounded an alarm. America is not adequately prepared to defend itself now, when there is "no real assurance of peace."

He did not name Russia as a potential aggressor, but he said that if a "despotic colossus" is allowed to gain control of western Europe and the Mediterranean, "war . . . would be close to us."

The U. S. army, with roughly 10 infantry divisions dispersed all over the world for occupation duty, is too weak to do much fighting, he said.

"Our present security measures are inadequate and unless remedial steps are taken, the army may, in crisis, prove too weak for its defense mission. It is not ready to respond to an emergency call because its global distribution not only leaves it weak in every sector but prevents the concentration of anything beyond the merest handful for tactical use. Military weakness on our part cannot be hidden."

If western Europe came under the domination of a "militant political party," he said, "we would find ourselves facing across narrowing ocean and Arctic barriers, a despotic colossus spread over a territory larger than that of the Roman empire, ancient Persia, Germany at its peak and the Mongol Khans combined."

Then Ike prepared to sit down as president of Columbia university.

BAD TIME: To Buy Farm

If you are thinking of buying a farm now, don't do it, was the warning Prof. L. J. Norton, University of Illinois agricultural economist, gave to young farmers attending the 47th farm and home week program at the university.

"Regardless of what happens to today's or tomorrow's prices, we are close to the peak of the present price cycle," he said, adding that debts should be kept "to a minimum."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Where Does Your Money Go?

Read the other day where country folks and farmers spend more money, proportionately, on their homes than city dwellers do.

Doesn't seem hard to believe when you think it over. Take the folks in our town, for instance: They're home-loving people—who'd rather spend an evening by the fire with a mellow glass of beer than go out in search of entertainment or diversion.

So it's only natural they put more into what means most to them and to their children: their homes. They may not have too much to spend—but it goes for those permanent, abiding comforts that make home a nicer place to be.

And from where I sit, that budget calls for some of the niceties of home life too—like cider and popcorn for the kids from time to time, and a friendly glass of beer for Mom and Dad . . . things that belong with what we mean when we say "Home."

Offers Free Listing of Lands For Sale By Conservation Dept.

Lists of northern Michigan state-owned lands for the sale still are available free if ordered directly from the conservation department's lands division; the department is telling letter-writers this month.

The department has been answering inquiries about postcard advertising of a private agency asking $3 for lists of "Michigan tax lands"—"thousands of acres and lots" available at "$2 an acre and up".

To make the department position emphatically that none of the private agencies advertising state land lists are in any way connected with the conservation department, that the department has very little land on the market at $2 an acre, that there is little farm land, very little water frontage available. No intermediary is needed in buying state lands from the market list; the purchaser simply pays the list price. There are no other fees.

Some of the land available is suitable for addition to existing farms and some is suitable for cabin sites, but the department recommends in every case the buyer see the land with his own eyes before buying it.

Prospective buyers are urged to write directly to the department for land list that are up to date. Ordinarily buyers need the lists of lands in only one or two counties. When lists for more than five counties are ordered, the department charges 10 cents per list.

Farm Training For GI Vets

CLASS of AT LEAST 80 TO START STUDY MARCH 9th.

A program, designed to help the veteran and the entire county, will be launched March 9 when some 80 veterans meet at the Charlevoix County Court House to fill out forms for the new on-the-farm training program.

This March 9 session is the result of the offer made two weeks ago, asking veterans who would like to have a farm training program under the GI Bill to turn in their names. Some 80 did so. Then on Feb. 18 John Hall of the State Vocational Education Board was here and mapped out the next steps in the program.

The farm training will work just as any other GI on-the-job program works. The veterans receive subsistence pay, have to spend 100 hours a year (in the farm set-up) in classroom work, and 200 hours in supervised practice. In addition he must work on a farm.

An advisory committee is being formed now to plan the work for the county, advise the applicants, hire qualified teachers and see that it gets off to a good start. Those named so far are Ed Rebnan, county agent; Karl Festerling, club agent; John C. Young of Gaylord, the Farm Security Administration; C.B. Meggison, Veterans Advisory Board; Fred Willis, of the Charlevoix Board of Education; and Max Novak, director of the county's only Veterans Institute.

On March 9 this group will meet with the veterans and help them to fill out the required application blanks. Previously, notice cards will be sent out to all those who turned in their names.

One big problem now is facing the Veterans Institution at Charlevoix. Qualified teachers, despite the good salary offered, are hard to find. Further, one instructor for every 20 enrollees is required.

Veterans must bring a photostatic copy of their discharge papers to the March 9 meeting, as well as a certified copy of their marriage certificate if they are married, Novak says.

Of the group who applied for training, many now own farms. Others are renting or working on them. Most want to learn modern methods in order to make a greater success.

As Hall pointed out at last week's meeting, not only will such a program help a group of veterans, but it will benefit the entire community by increasing its farm value and wealth.

State Trapper Instructor Services Available To Residents of This Area

Mr. Jesse Baird of West Branch, Trapper Instructor, Michigan Department of Conservation, is now assigned to this portion of the state. His area covers seventeen (17) counties, including Charlevoix.

It is his duty to investigate complaints of damage caused by predatory animals such as fox, coyote, bear, etc., and to teach those who are suffering damage from such animals the proper methods to control the damage.

This instruction would include the art of trapping or other means of controlling these nuisance animals. Mr. Baird is also available to give trapping instructions to individuals or groups of individuals who are interested in predator control. He will gladly appear before farm groups, 4-H Clubs, Sportsmen's Clubs or any other group to outline his program and give demonstrations of trapping techniques.

Those who suffer damage from predatory animals and desire the assistance and advice of Mr. Baird, or those who otherwise wish to avail themselves of what this program has to offer, as outlined above, may do so by making your request to Conservation Officer Julius O'Brien of Ellsworth, phone 4F32. Request for Mr. Baird services can also be made to District Conservation Headquarters, Gaylord, Michigan and to the Regional Conservation Headquarters, Roscommon, Michigan.

Soil Conservation District Receives a Boost

Soil Conservation in Charlevoix County received a vigorous boost last week when some forty farmers attended last week's regular Rotary Club meeting and dinner and enjoyed the informative talk by Mr. Guy Springer who is heading the Michigan State Soil Conservation program in the eight northern counties. Mr. Ed Rebman, Charlevoix County Agriculture Agent and Mr. Walt Kirkpatrick, Conservation Officer of Antrim County, also participated in the discussions that developed.

Much thought has been given to the plan of organizing a Soil Conservation District locally and the importance of effective Conservation measures, to take care of the problems of erosion and soil depletion, is becoming progressively more apparent. In as much as a Soil Conservation District is organized only at the request of local people and only if a majority of those voting at a referendum favor such an organization, it would be well to give the problem some serious consideration. The necessity and importance of this work cannot be over emphasized and it is to be hoped that sufficient local interest in manifest to keep this Soil Conservation ball rolling.

World Mission of Church
Lesson for February 29, 1948

JOHN WESLEY said, "The world is my parish." Many another Christian has entertained this great concept, and that is precisely what Jesus wants us to understand concerning the sweep and scope of his Kingdom.

Sunday's lesson brings us to consider three great passages — Acts 16:9, 10; Romans 10:8-15; Ephesians 3:8-12. Read these carefully, and you will feel the winds of God lifting up the flaps of the tent of your small habitation until you will catch glimpses of the far horizon.

CHURCH AROUND THE WORLD
"GO YE into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation," said Jesus, Mark 16:15. There is no backyard definition of the mission of the church in these great words of Jesus. Just as Paul was summoned to cross over into Europe with the Gospel, so are we commanded to make Christ known to all lands. He loves everybody.

"Jesus loves the little children,
All the children of the world;
Yellow, brown, or black, or white,
They are precious in his sight,
Jesus loves the little children of the world."

REACHING THE WORLD
JUST as Paul went from one land to another, so may every Christian boy and girl do. Each church can reach out hands of blessing to all the world.

How? Through our gifts. Our gifts for missions, joined with the gifts of all the other members of our local church, joined with the gifts of many other churches, go out in multiplied blessing through the missionaries to make Christ known around the world.

How? Through our prayers. As we pray for the redemption of the world, we fortify the missionaries — teachers, doctors, preachers — in all the parts of the world.

How? Through our sympathetic understanding of the conditions under which people live in other lands. Just now we are giving clothes and food to help the stricken peoples of the war-ravaged lands. These gifts of material things bear their message of our Christian concern for all who suffer. Thus we are extending the reach of our individual lives and the reach of our churches to the ends of the earth.

PUBLISHING SALVATION
"HOW beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth glad tidings, that publisheth peace . . . that publisheth salvation," Isaiah 52:7.

The world mission of the church is here pictured in the exquisite language of the ancient prophet, with which words we may link the declaration of the great apostle, "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved," Romans 10:13.

Publishing salvation is the chief task of the church of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the objects of this universal message are the souls of all men. There is universal need, and here is the adequate and available answer.

See how this conception of the world mission of the church brings into focus the one hope for civilization. The only voice that carries across the barriers of this troubled world is the voice of salvation through Jesus Christ. Let that word be sounded in any spot on this earth, and some waiting heart will be lifted up.

THE UNSEARCHABLE RICHES
AND what are we to say about the message we have to publish? Paul puts it well in Ephesians 3:8-12, when he declares:

"Unto me, who am less than the least of all the saints, is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ. . . ."

In another place we read about the "unspeakable gift of God," II Corinthians 9:15. The message, then, is one of unsearchable riches, an unspeakable gift.

In this message is healing for the peoples of the earth. If the true mission of the church is understood and voiced in all of the ways by which the Gospel may today be given to the world, we shall see the fulfillment of the dreams of the prophets, and the angels about the throne of God will shout for joy.

As Paul changed his course in the long ago, heeding the Macedonian call, so may we today find ourselves turning about in our response to the Holy Spirit's leading; but let us not be afraid so long as we are sincerely seeking to publish glad tidings to all men.

Mid-winter Memories of Michigan travel!

How Col. Karl Detzer, roving editor of the Reader's Digest and now publisher of two Michigan weekly newspapers, made a vigorous plea to Michigan newspaper editors for support of Secretary of State George C. Marshall and Senator Arthur Vandenberg. Detzer spoke at Traverse City. "Joe Stalin is scared of Marshall," said Detzer.

The week-end at Traverse City (June 21-22, 1947) was delightful. A perfect setting for an afternoon beach and lawn party at "Rosedale", the East Bay home of Austin Batdorff, newspaper publisher.

How I tip over my canoe, trying to carry an outboard motor and to balance myself, both at the same time, and take a dunking in the AuSable river, north of Lucerne. The missus, without saying a word, brings me a bathing suit.

How we travel over a winding wood trail, a mile and three-quarters, to the river cabin of Schuyler L. Marshall, member of the state public service commission and former publisher at St. Johns. No traffic noise here. Cabin has loft for bunks; huge stone fireplace and glass-enclosed porch overlooking the main stream of the AuSable, near Grayling.

How it costs $1.25 for our automobile and $1.50 for our trailer coach, plus 25 cents each for two passengers, to cross the Straits of Mackinac on one of Charles Ziegler's ferry boats. Total: $3.25.

How James Darcy, a former lumbercamp chef, prepared trout at his restaurant and overnight cabins at Silver City, near Ontonagon. Darcy began cooking at the age of 14; when he was 20 he was in complete charge of meals at a bustling lumber camp. "I always taste everything before I serve it," he said. Why is it that good food is so hard to get?

How 1948 reservations for the Porcupine mountain cabins may be reserved in advance by writing to Knox Jamison, park superintendent, Ontonagon. Three of these cabins are at Mirror Lake, accessible by foot trail.

How we were surprised to learn that Lake of the Clouds is only 15 feet deep, just a wide spot in the Carp river. . . . How cold the night air was at Mirror lake, whose elevation is higher than the highest point of the Lake of the Cloud escarpment.

How we spent an enjoyable rainy Saturday in a Huron Motor Court cabin at East Tawas on Lake Huron. Hot water. Shower. Electrical stove and refrigerator. Oil heater. Comfortable chairs. Wood panelled interior. What more could a traveler need?

How we continue to be thrilled at the discovery of lakes in nearly every section of Michigan. Truly, Michigan is the "lake state"!
