Memorial Day

The return just recently of two of our East Jordan lads who gave their lives in the service of our country, brings to us more closely the true meaning of Memorial Day, a day to be set apart in memory of all our honored dead.

We humbly acknowledge our great debt to these brave heroes.

It is for them that I do hereby proclaim Monday, May 31, to be observed as Memorial Day by ceasing of all ordinary work and business.

MARVIN R. BENSON, Mayor.

Our School Transportation System

HAS INADEQUATE HOUSING FACILITIES. PROPOSITION COMING UP IN JUNE

Transportation has become one of our major school problems. At present we own a fleet of eleven buses, which represent an expenditure of approximately $40,000. To keep these rolling, we employ a mechanic and eight additional drivers. About 550 children regularly ride buses.

An accurate report is kept on each bus—miles traveled, gas, oil and repairs used and the number regularly riding it. This report is sent to the Department of Public Instruction at the close of each school year. In this report we also include drivers' and mechanics' salaries, and one-seventh of the cost of the bus. The state reimburses us accordingly. The only catch is that the District has to pay cash for new buses and gets its money back over a period of seven years.

Our biggest problem at present is housing for this expensive equipment. Our own garage accommodates five buses. At present, we are renting the room (gymnasium) back of the Post Office at $10 per month per bus from the city. This is on a temporary basis. It is difficult to get in and out, and buses must trespass on private property in doing so.

The Board saw several years ago that we were going to get caught short on storage and purchased six lots near the school in east of the Cleve Isaman property, on which to build a modern garage and bus storage. We also cooperated with the State Planning Commission and drew up plans to be used when funds were available.

The District now has available some $15,000 left from constructing our High School. At the last meeting of the Board it was decided that we ask the voters of the District at the regular school election in June for permission to spread a special tax of five mills over a period of three years for the purpose of erecting a modern bus garage and bus storage. The architects estimate the cost to be approximately $40,000. The building is planned to store eleven buses and has a modern work shop.

There will be a meeting of the District Nurses of Charlevoix, Emmet, and Cheboygan Counties on Thursday June 3rd, at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be held in the reception room of the Burns Clinic at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey. An interesting meeting will be presented—also dues for the ANA will be collected.

Pre-School Clinic

Harbor Project Ahead of Schedule

WORK PROGRESS FAR AHEAD OF THAT ANTICIPATED

Mr. Rines of the Rines Construction Company announced this week that with the addition of his new barge-pile driver work on the City dock and the boat slips will be materially speeded up and, with favorable weather, the work will be completely finished three weeks ahead of the contract date of July 3rd. Work already completed indicates we will have one of the most substantial and well built installations of its kind in the State and one that should give many years of service. In many instances the contractor is exceeding the specifications and deserves much credit for the special pains he is taking to the end that we will have facilities that we may well be proud of.

The sale of the Harbor Benefit Award tickets has been progressing much slower than the construction work—and time is getting very short. You are urged to put every extra effort possible into this campaign—buy and sell tickets at every opportunity. The entire proceeds are earmarked for this one job alone—and the $1500 worth of prizes are an added attraction that should overcome all sales resistance.

John W. Puckett

The body of Pvt. John W. Puckett arrived in Elsworth Saturday afternoon, on the north bound Pere Marquette train where it was met by R. G. Wastou and military escorts and taken to Sunset Hill. Military services were conducted at the graveside by the American Legion Post No 227, at 4:00 o'clock.

Pvt. Puckett was born Feb. 5, 1925, in Antrim Village, near Mancelona, and killed in action in France Sept. 28, 1944. He entered the service in January, 1943, and was sent overseas in May of the same year. He served in five Major invasions—Tunisia, Salerno, Casino, Sicily and An-

zio. He was wounded Feb. 17, 1944. He was awarded the purple heart when injured; the second Purple Heart Medal posthumously. He received other medals for bravery in action.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Alice Green, of Grand Rapids; three sisters—Mrs. Marjorie Gee, East Jordan; Mrs. Alice Cook, Muskegon; and Elsie Puckett Toronto, Canada.

Those from away who were here for the services were Mr. and Mrs. George Green and daughter of Grand Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Puckett and son Orville Jr., and daughter Helen and John Neumann of Newberry Mrs. Ray Collins and son Jim from Manistee.

Giant Boulder Is Moved

TOUGH JOB IS AT LAST COMPLETED

One of the largest moving jobs in East Jordan's history was completed on May 13th when the Alpine Construction Co. of St. Ignace moved the huge granite boulder from its location on the Ellsworth road to its permanent site in the new Veterans Memorial Park, on the lake front between Mill and Esterly Sts.

The rock, erected as a memorial to the nineteen East Jordan boys who paid the supreme sacrifice in World War Two, for the last year presented a seemingly impossible transportation problem. Several companies offered to do the job. One man, from a neighboring town, said he would move it for fifty dollars. He went out, took a look at it and no one has seen him since. Another firm broke a considerable amount of its equipment before giving up. A Flint firm looked it over and gave up the job.

During the winter months, the moving of it became East Jordan's $64.00 question. Many people said that it couldn't be moved and, even if it could be moved, the bridge would never hold it. Thus the thing was argued back and forth at "Coffee Time" in Andy's, and Eve & Dell's, and the evening sessions at the Temple Grill.

However, the Rock Moving committee, composed of Tom St. Charles, Cyril Doelzel and George Secord, refused to give up. Last February, Pete Della-Moretta, president of the Alpine Construction Co., with two of his men, Burton Madison of St. Ignace and Russell Mark of McMillan, looked it over and said it could be moved and they could do it. They then looked over the bridge and reported it would hold it. So they were immediately given the job.

Madison and Mark started on it May 8th but their large tractor jammed on them so they called a temporary halt. Thursday May 13th, they started work at 7:30 A. M. and by noon had it partially on the twenty four wheel trailer. Just before dinner they sheared a gear in the truck winch which put it out of commission. However, by using some small rollers under the timbers, the large bulldozer was able to finish loading it and, at 2:05 P. M. they started for the Park with it. Just six minutes were required to transport it to the waiting foundation. As word spread thru town that it was on its way, people came from all directions to watch it cross the bridge.

At this point the Charlevoix County Road Commission sent a bulldozer, trailer and crew which gave able welcome assistance. At 5:10 P. M. the boulder was tipped into position on the foundation. . . and a year's headaches were at an end.

It was a big job well done and the veterans' take this opportunity to express their appreciation to Madison, Mark and the Road Commission crew for their splendid cooperation. Concentrated effort can accomplish big things. . . and this was one of them.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Soviets Express Desire for Peace, Agree to Discussion of Differences; U. S. Seizes Railroads—Strike Off

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

OVERTURE: Peaceful

All of a sudden the air between Washington and Moscow was filled with talk of peace and desire for co-operation.

Exactly what had happened to bring about the quick flow of the milk of human kindness between the U. S. and Russia was not clear. Certainly there had occurred no basic change in the potentially explosive relationship.

It began with a U. S. statement of position, voiced by Bedell Smith, ambassador to Russia, in the presence of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Smith, apparently speaking officially, suggested that the way is clear for a discussion of differences with Russia. Said the U. S. ambassador:

"The present state of U. S.-Soviet relations is a source of grievous disappointment to the American people. As far as the United States is concerned, the door is always wide open for full discussion and the composing of our differences."

Russia's reply, as broadcast by the Moscow radio, expressed a positive attitude toward improving Soviet-American relations and stated that Russia "is in agreement" with a U. S. proposal for "discussion and settlement of existing differences."

Although these developments received a big play in the press and radio of both nations, indications were strong that the aura of mutual hostility separating the U. S. and Russia might not be dispelled by the willingness to "compose our differences."

Neither side had modified its foreign policy. Rather, each had emphasized it in the exchange of notes.

The U. S. statement said, in part: "The concern and the determination of the people of the United States have been intensified by the inexplicable hostility of the Soviet government to the European recovery program—a measure which in its inception and subsequent developments is so obviously only a measure of American assistance for reconstruction on a co-operative basis without menace or threat to anyone."

In their reply the Soviets contrasted what they termed military threats against the Soviet Union with the Russian government's pursuit of "a consistent peace policy."

At least there was a definition of terms and a preliminary agreement to talk things over. Whether or not any good would come of it was, at this stage, problematical.

There was a suspicion abroad that Russia, balked in its ambitions to expand into western Europe by the European recovery program, might be ready now to try to make some kind of deal.

ALL ABOARD: Trains Run

U. S. economy escaped being a victim of railroad paraplegia at the eleventh hour when three rail brotherhoods yielded to a restraining order brought against them by the government and called off their impending strike.

Events leading up to that climax had run a course which has become familiar to strike-weary Americans. Negotiations between the railroads and the three dissenting brotherhoods—engineers, firemen and switchmen—had been fruitless. As the strike deadline approached they remained miles away from any kind of agreement on wages and working conditions.

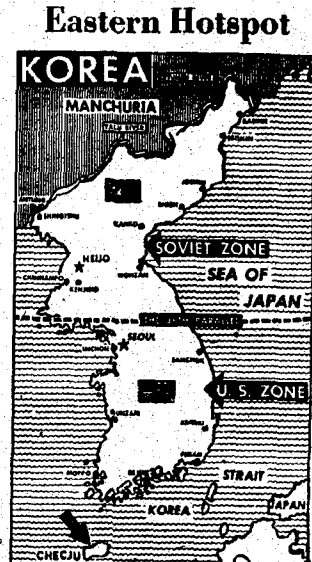

By that time President Truman had built up a full head of steam and he opened the throttle wide.

Acting under the sanction of a 1916 law which authorizes the government to take over the railroads during the time of war (U. S. is still, officially, in a state of wartime emergency) Mr. Truman seized the entire vast network of tracks and trains in the name of the federal government.

That move paved the way for a court order restraining the unions from striking for eight days. Federal District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough issued the order and the nation's trains kept running, for the time being, at least.

Possibly proving that there is no wind so ill that it doesn't blow you some good for somebody, one of the major influences leading to cancellation of the rail strike was John L. Lewis, who didn't have a word to say about it.

But Lewis had set the pattern. The Latest area to emerge as a pivotal point in the world-wide drive against communism is southern Korea where about seven million registered voters went to the polls to elect 200 representatives to what is known as the Korean national assembly. Prior to the election, Communist-trained agents were reported to have been attempting to stir up trouble in the U. S. zone to influence the balloting.

rail union leaders—Alvanley Johnston of the engineers, D. B. Robertson of the firemen and A. J. Glover Jr. of the switchmen—were uncomfortably aware of what happened to the mine chief when he disobeyed an injunction to call off his soft coal strike.

They knew that if they disobeyed Judge Goldsborough's restraining order they would be exposing themselves and their unions to whopping big fines and possible jail sentences.

It was becoming apparent that the government had hit upon a hard-fisted way of delaying crippling strikes. With labor unrest destined to grow this summer, that method, though far from ideal, might come to be the basic formula for inducing arbitration and settlement of strikes.

DIXIE: Anti-Truman

Although President Harry Truman had not held forth publicly on the subject of civil rights for some time now, the echoes of the civil rights program he advanced earlier this year were rattling around like sabers south of the Mason-Dixon line.

Alabama voters had expressed themselves as being anti-Truman. In the state's primary election they had given majorities to candidates pledged to cast electoral votes against the President because of the civil rights issue.

It was the first concrete indication that a bolt from the regular Democratic party nominee might not be unlikely next November if the nominee (like Mr. Truman) is committed to supporting the civil rights program.

And in Jackson, Miss., a "state's rights" Democratic rally was keynoteed with a flat prediction that President Truman would not be re-elected because he is not acceptable to the nation or the southern Democrats.

Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina defined the South's stand when he told the rally that the South is not in revolt against the Democratic party but against its present leadership.

Spark that kindled the political fire in the South was Mr. Truman's espousal of proposals to pass federal laws outlawing lynching, poll taxes, job discrimination and segregation of races. Legislation like that, Governor Thurmond asserted, would violate the historic principle of the right of states to determine their own attitude toward such matters.

So far it was only talk, but anti-Truman feeling had crystallized in the South to the point where party leaders were badly worried. If the Dixie Democrats carried their defection to the ultimate point of nominating their own candidate, the big-wigs might as well throw in the sponge for the '48 elections and start looking to 1952.

SMOKE, SMOKE, SMOKE

Americans Burning More Cigarettes
Cigarette consumption in the U. S. in 1947 ascended to an all-time high for the 14th consecutive year, despite spectacular wartime gains which would have made a subsequent postwar decline no great surprise to the industry.
According to an article in the May edition of "Business Comment," a bulletin of Northern Trust company, total output of 370 billion cigarettes last year was 5 per cent greater than in 1946.
"Per capita cigarette consumption in the U. S. has followed an upward trend, with minor interruptions, since prior to World War I," the bank reported. On a per capita basis consumption jumped from 166 in 1914 to 2,400 in 1947.

UNCERTAINTY: Who Won?

Just about all that anyone was sure of when the smoke from the Ohio primary elections had cleared was that Sen. Robert Taft had won 44 delegates to the Republican national convention and that Harold Stassen, the wolf at Taft's door, had captured nine.

How these results should be interpreted promised to be a thoroughly argued question by the time the Republicans convened in Philadelphia to nominate a presidential candidate.

Many held the opinion that the Ohio primary resulted in, if not an outright defeat for Stassen, at least a brusque check on the Minnesota heretofore snowballing campaign.

Stassen had competed with Taft for 23 of the state's 53 delegates. He won nine and Taft took 14 of those 23. In a pre-election statement, Stassen had said that the Ohio contest could be accounted a victory for him only if he won a majority of the 23 disputed delegates.

Thus, by his own estimate, Stassen lost in Ohio. He lost, however, to a "favorite son" candidate strongly supported in his own state by Ohio's powerful political organization.

It was hardly a victory for Taft to shout about.

In the final analysis the G.O.P. election race had not changed much. It was Taft and Dewey teaming up to force Stassen into the rail, with Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan coming up fast on the outside.

FARM ISSUE: Truman's

Rather hard put for a good, earthy issue to play upon in his coming campaign, President Truman has hit upon the farm problem as the vehicle to carry some of his convictions before the public.

He began by planning a message to congress on the subject of long-range agricultural legislation. The idea was originated by the retiring Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson who opined that such a plea to congress would put the Republicans "on the spot."

The message which Mr. Truman was preparing would ask for an "adequate appropriation" to continue the government farm program, "particularly on soil conservation," according to Alben Barkley, senate Democratic leader.

Barkley acidulously recalled that the President had asked in his budget message for 300 million dollars for soil conservation in the coming fiscal year, and that congress had cut that sum to 225 million.

Many U. S. farmers would be inclined to agree.

'X' for Taft

Sen. Robert Taft's presidential star once again was in ascendancy following the important Ohio primary election of 53 Republican national convention delegates. He won 14 of the 23 contests in which Harold E. Stassen was a strong disputant.

WHEAT: Big Crop

Word from the department of agriculture was that the U. S. would produce the third largest wheat crop in history this year.

The department stuck to that prediction even though it had reduced its estimate of the important winter wheat crop by 14.5 million bushels from the April 1 estimate.

Except in parts of the southern great plains, the crop made good progress, it was revealed in an official department report.

As of May 1, prospects were for a total of 1.117 billion bushels of wheat. Largest crop was 1.36 billion bushels last year. Production in the 1936-46 period averaged 800 million bushels.

Department of agriculture estimated the fall-sown winter wheat crop at about 845 million bushels, a decline of 14.5 from its April 1 forecast. No official estimate of spring wheat was available, but a guess was that average yields should produce 272 million bushels.

PLANT LIFE: Appetites

Atomic scientists have learned that some plants, like human beings, are finicky eaters.

This new knowledge, important commercially, is the result of exhaustive tests with radioactive isotopes of phosphorus.

Now science can tell a farmer who spends $50 to put phosphate fertilizer on his land whether the plant only nibbles or takes a bite big enough to repay his expenses.

COOKING HINTS ADDS FLAVOR AND FOOD VALUE TO MEALS

If you're looking for a way to get more milk in your family's diet in an easy way, your answer may be the use of dry skimmilk in many recipes. It is a cheap source of good protein. Using dry skimmilk gives a fine flavor to many foods and puts minerals and vitamins to your diet inexpensively, advises Pauline Paul, research professor in the foods and nutrition department at Michigan State college.

Using various amounts of the dried milk in hundreds of recipes has convinced home economists that it is a very practical item for every housewife to add to her grocery list. It is easily stored and convenient to use. Keep it in a tightly closed container in a cool place and it is ready for your use in soups, meat dishes, breads, and desserts.

Usually you can use it dry and mix it with the dry ingredients. In a few cases you will need to return it to a liquid by adding water and use as ordinary milk. Some recipes will use enough dry milk to increase the food value over six or eight times, using fluid skimmilk. One ounce is equal to one cup of fluid skimmilk. Since it contains no fat you will want to use foods to replace the fat you would get from whole milk. Using butter, eggs, cheese, green vegetables, carrots, liver, sweet potatoes and yellow corn will give you a good balance.

Dr. Paul and her co-workers in the foods department, Arlene Brill and Shirley Means, have worked out very successful recipes with the dry skimmilk. Their recently published bulletin, "Using Nonfat Dry Milk Solids", contains many of them. The luscious frosted chocolate cake pictured on the cover of the bulletin will sell you on the idea of trying this nutritional way of cooking. Get a copy at your county extension office or from the Bulletin Office, Michigan State college. Ask for Experiment Station Circular Bulletin 212.

Farm Topics

BORER CONTROL POINTS LISTED:

A five-point program for the control of corn borer is being advocated by the Michigan State College departments of farm crops and entomology. The fact that corn is a three-billion-dollar crop and is greater than any other two crops combined in acreage, dollar value, and diversity of by-products, makes borer control important.

These five points are urged: (1) Destroy old corn stalks and stubble before emergence of the moths. (2) Plant best locally adapted hybrids. (3) Plant at the best time, neither early or late. (4) Watch for egg laying and use insecticides where needed. (5) Consult the county agricultural agent for special advice.

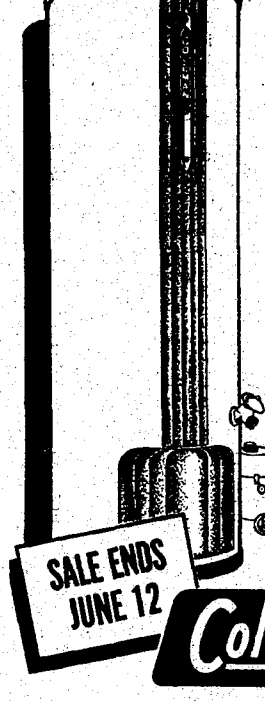

ADVISE FURTHER CAUTION ON BENZENE HEXACHLORIDE:

Ray Hutson, head of the Michigan State College entomology department, advises fruit and vegetable growers to use benzene hexachloride with extra caution because certain processors and buyers have stated they would not purchase any products on which benzene hexachloride has been used. This is because in certain cases and under certain conditions this spray material will impart an objectionable odor and taste to the product. If you are planning to use the "benny hex" this year on any crop, be sure the individual or company you plan to sell to will accept the product if "benny hex" has been used.

The Healey Hardware Now Owned by Wade and Eva Healey

March 1st, 1948 brought the dawn of a new era to the Healey Hardware, better known as the Gamble Store. On this day the two owners, Wade and Bill Healey dissolved their partnership, when Wade bought out Bill's half of the stock and building. The Gamble Store was brought into existence in East Jordan on Oct. 13, 1937 with Wade and Bill Healey in partnership. Since that time their small stock which majored in auto parts and accessories, has gradually expanded until now they handle a complete line of hardware, household appliances both small and large, linoleums etc., in addition to their original line of auto accessories.

To insure themselves of a permanent home for their rapidly expanding hardware, they purchased the building they were occupying from Mrs. Eva Votruba in 1944.

Wade and his wife, Eva are now managing the business together, and are doing a fine job of giving every customer the prompt, courteous service he is entitled to.

In addition to their regular line they have acquired the Hotpoint dealership in East Jordan, and have a complete line of these reliable appliances on hand.

Ground Hemlock Stands Thrives on Fox Island

After acre after acre of hip-high stands of ground hemlock on North and South Fox islands are cited by I. H. Bertlett and L. A. Davenport of the conservation department's game division as an example of how trees and shrubs will thrive in this region when not browsed by deer.

On North Manitou island, a few miles to the south, ground hemlock disappeared about 1938, as the deer herd there was growing to the point of overpopulation and winter starvation. Absence of new forest growth on North Manitou contrasts sharply with the abundance of forest reproduction on the neighboring Foxes, the game men report. Neither Fox island has had any deer for many years.

ANTRIM COUNTY HOME EXTENSION GROUPS HOLD ACHIEVEMENT DAY

The members of the Antrim County Home Extension Groups held a very successful and enjoyable Achievement Day, Thursday, May 20, at the Community Hall, Bellaire, with 150 people attending. A number of very fine exhibits were brought in by the various Home Extension Groups, showing the things they had learned to do in the past year through their Home Extension work.

The morning was spent in getting acquainted and in looking over the exhibits.

Upon arrival each person registered and was given a name card. These name cards and several games played helped the members to get much better acquainted with other members throughout the County.

Mrs. Harry Evans, Happy Hour Home Group, gave a reading which she composed. Pot luck dinner was served at noon with the Bellaire Group in charge of the dining room. The kitchen committee was made up of one member from each group.

The program in the afternoon included entertainment presented by the Home Extension groups.

A prize was to be given to the group having the highest per cent of members present. The Bently Hill and Tip Top Groups tied for this honor, each having 18 of their 20 members present.

There will be no further project lessons presented to the leaders until next fall, but assistance will be given to those who ask for it, by contacting Mrs. Virginia Vance, District House, Bellaire.

GRASS DAY PROGRAM

The Grass Day program set up by the Michigan State college extension service and local committees will bring Antrim County farmers complete information on hay and grass management, reports Walter G. Kirpatrick, County Agricultural Agent.

An increasing in the amount of grass farming in Antrim County would be desirable, the agent believes. The Grass Day program has been set up to show the important advantages of grassland farming.

Grassland farming is a phase of agriculture that has been neglected in the years of increased crop production, agricultural authorities believe. A well balanced system of farming, however, calls for satisfactory amounts of grass and legumes to feed livestock and to maintain fertility of the soil.

The program has been set for June 25 on the Alfred Campeau farm, located five miles SW of Traverse City, in Grand Traverse County. Extension specialists from Michigan State College prepared seedings of various grass and legume crops there last fall and this spring. These crops will be used in demonstrations of crop harvesting and to show how such crops can be used in erosion control.

Other demonstrations planned for the Grass Day included weed control, gully control, and effective use of forage. A large exhibit of machinery is expected for the display. Dealers will bring in new models of field balers, crop blowers, forage harvesters, and similar devices so that farmer may inspect them.

Michigan State College extension specialists will be on hand to explain the various demonstrations and to tell farmers how similar grass program can be established on other farms.

County Agent Kirpatrick believes Antrim farmers will gain much information at this all day event.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hurley of Royal Oak were guests first of the week of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Colter. They returned home Wednesday.

Mrs. Gael Krause of Kalamazoo is spending the week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Hickox, and her little daughter who has been staying with her grandparents.

The next regular meeting of Jasmine Rebekah Lodge will be held Wednesday June 2, at 8:00 o'clock at which time the District Deputy and Delegates will be elected. All members should try to be present at this meeting especially all Past Noble Grands.

Worst Winterkill of Evergreens in Northern Michigan

The worst winterkill of evergreens in the memory of upper peninsula old timers is causing great concern here, as residents driving extensively in timbered country since the snow disappeared are seeing more and more trees turned brown.

Don Zettle, conservation department regional forester, reports a deluge of letters and telephone calls asking that "something be done about it." As brown as if fire-killed, the needle-bearing trees affected contrast starkly with new foliage coming out on broad-leaves trees.

The winterkill struck hardest at evergreens in the extreme western counties, with the loss moderating toward the east end of the peninsula and registering only lightly in the northern tip of the lower peninsula. No estimate of the extent of the damage is possible yet, Zettle says.

Foresters attribute the winterkill to a deficiency of moisture last fall, freezing of the ground that kept moisture from getting to the roots, and warm drying winds, particularly in March, that took so much moisture from the needles they died when it could not be replaced. Exposed trees suffered more than sheltered ones; south sides of trees are most marked by the brown dead needles. Needles protected beneath the snow line are fresh and green.

Samples of winterkilled cedar, spruce, balsam, hemlock and white, red and jack pine submitted to Dr. F. C. Strong, forest pathologist at Michigan State College, were found free of either diseases or insect damage, ending doubts of some that weather alone could have been responsible.

Some of the trees with winterkilled needles may die, foresters say; some on which terminal buds of the branches survive may recover; while trees partly grown will suffer a setback in their growth.

Nurserymen in southern Michigan have reported a similar but less severe winterkill among their evergreen stocks.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

It's Leap Year, Girls!

First girl in our town to "get her man" on Leap Year was the Cuppers' daughter, Jane, who wed Bill Webster's boy last Saturday.

When I asked Bill Jr. if it was true that Janey really did the proposing, Bill said: No, but she made it plain she'd make an ideal wife. Instead of looking for diversion or excitement every evening, she was content to chat beside the fire.

"I could plainly see," says Bill, "that we'd really have a happy home life—which is just exactly what I want from marriage."

I know it's usual for older folks to shake their heads over the younger generation. (It's gone on for hundreds of years, now.)

But from where I sit, young people of marrying age today are every bit as commendable as their elders were—in their temperance (a glass of beer for instance), tolerance, and common sense. So to Jane and Bill—the best of luck!

SCRIPTURE: Daniel 1.
DEVOTIONAL READING: I Timothy 4:11-16.

Daniel Stands By His Convictions

Lesson for May 28, 1948

A mother steeled for her brood—
Socrates drinking the hemlock—
And Jesus on the road."

SUCH a picture we have before us in Sunday's lesson. All you need to do to get this dramatic picture is read the first chapter of Daniel. You will then feel anew the meaning of that cherished statement, "The conviction that convinces."

BRAVE TO DO RIGHT

WE GET the first draught of this tonic in verses 8-9, 14-15 and 17. "But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank."

Dr. Newton

He was brave enough to take a stand for what he knew was right. Which reminds me of the story told of Henry Ward Beecher, when yet a small boy. A teacher in the school he attended asked a boy a question which he promptly answered. The teacher appeared displeased, and told the boy to sit down. He asked several other boys the same question, and got the same answer. Finally he asked Beecher, and Beecher gave the same answer, but refused to sit down when the teacher frowned at him. Seeing that Beecher was going to defend the answer, the teacher said, "Boys, you were all correct, but only Beecher was sure enough to stand his ground. I was simply trying to teach you the lesson that you must stand by what you know is right."

DARE TO STAND ALONE

DANIEL knew that he was taking an unpopular position, but he was willing to be alone so long as he knew he was right. He knew that the consequences would take care of themselves. That is the quality of character which America needs today in her youth.

It is easy enough to be popular, if you run with the gang; but remember this—the gang is always heading downhill. Daniel stood by his convictions when it was costly. In the final windup, he was the head man.

ENDURING INVESTMENTS

DANIEL, winning his point, made every hour count toward victory. He not only abstained from strong drink, but used his superior strength to serve the king in such way that his talents were sought out and brought into larger fields of opportunity.

Standing by his convictions, he had won over those who at first were disposed to poke fun at him. By superb performance, due to clear thinking and high purpose, Daniel made enduring investments that paid off in big dividends. He did not do right for reward, but because he did right, the reward was inevitable. And so it will be with every young man and woman who purposes in his or her heart to do right.

GOD'S FAVOR

I WANT you to look carefully at verse 17. "God gave them knowledge and skill in all learning and wisdom; and Daniel had understanding in all visions and dreams."

It is impossible to account for Daniel's fortitude apart from his implicit trust in God. Remember the incident of Daniel opening his window toward Jerusalem in prayer?

God never fails those who stake their all on Him. He will not—cannot let them fail. It was because of God's favor that Daniel and his companions proved themselves ten times better than the young men who defiled themselves.

"Who sides with God must always win."

An answer to the eternal question—why does government cost so much?—was provided recently by Governor Kim Sigler and Thomas J. Wilson, director of civil service.

Wilson pointed out that 3,216 new employees had been added in the past five years as a result of new activities, most of which were authorized by the legislature. Another 2,300 employees were hired to take care of an added load of work due to a 16 per cent increase in population.

Governor Sigler pointed out that if people wanted increased services from the State of Michigan, they must expect to pay for it.

A good illustration of how public services expand is found in Michigan's newest state agency, the Michigan Department of Economic Development.

The legislature set up this agency at the request of Governor Sigler. In his inaugural message January 2, 1947, Sigler recommended that the Michigan Planning Commission be abolished and a Department of Economic Development be created. Here is an excerpt: "I believe we can agree that the development of the economic, social, and physical well-being of the State has become an established function of State government. . . All of the states of the Union, except three, have recognized this responsibility."

Heading the Economic Development department is Maj. Gen. Ralph Royce of Houghton county, a retired army career man. General Royce is director at $9,500 a year. Administrative director is Don C. Weeks, former head of the disbanded

Garden Planting Time With Dogs in the Loose

Every year at this time complaints come pouring into our office relative to dogs running over and digging into planted gardens.

Please keep your dog on his own premises. Your neighbors don't like your dog tramping out seed beds and young plants, nor do they want to complain against a neighbor.

If owners of dogs want to be fair to their neighbors they will keep their dogs confined to their own premises. If they THINK their dog is different they have another guess coming.

Should anyone wish, they may file a written and signed complaint with the Justice of Peace and the matter will be taken care of.

It would be much pleasanter if dog owners would keep their dogs at home instead of allowing them to run at large, causing damage and irritating their neighbors.

Approves Extended Area Service

EAST JORDAN AND BOYNE CITY TO BE LINKED, POSSIBLY CHARLEVOIX

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company announced today it will take many months to provide the necessary facilities before extended-area service can go into general effect.

C. L. Johnson, manager for the company pointed out that the Michigan Public Service Commission, in approving extended-area service recently, did so to permit the company to plan for the service while expanding its facilities to meet growth. Many additional circuits must be provided between neighboring communities, he said, to take care of the heavy increase in traffic expected to develop as a result of the new type of service.

Under the order, the company is authorized to provide extended-area service in 196 of its 241 outstate exchanges. Sixteen exchanges were not included in the company's original application, 29 others were excluded by point agreement of the company and the Commission, and a number of exchanges were re-grouped in the various extended-service areas.

The order drops Charlevoix from the list exchanges in the East Jordan extended-service area as a result of information at the hearing before the Commission, Johnson said. The revised area will be comprised of East Jordan and Boyne City.

"The new type of service will eliminate toll charges of the 10 and 15 cent type between affected exchanges," Johnson said. "Users will be entitled to unlimited calls to and from nearby Michigan Bell exchanges with the same Community of interest. For that privilege, a somewhat higher flat rate will apply at some points, depending on the value of the service as measured by the number of telephones in the extended-service area. Many users will pay no more for the privilege than under the present system."

"Extended-area service, in effect, offers the user, at a single price, a package service that permits him to use his telephone to the maximum advantage. He will be able to communicate with telephone neighbors in nearby communities—and they with him—without worrying about toll charges. Further, he will be able to call just as often and talk just as long as he pleases. In other words, for the price of local exchange service, the user's calling opportunities will be extended beyond artificial boundaries and over a wide, inter-community area."

The Commission's order left the door open for other communities to petition for the service before a final decision in the company's over-all rate case. At that time, rates to be charged in the particular extended-service areas will be determined. The Commission called the plan a "forward-looking step in telephony."

"We appreciate," the Commission said, "that the company cherishes its relations to its subscribers and to the public as a whole, and would not propose such a plan if, in its sound judgement, it were contrary to the best interests of the public for the obvious reason that any other course would lead to strained relations between the company and its customers."

"While we appreciate that in some isolated instances it may appear that inequities will result from the adoption of such a plan, yet we believe that its long-range results will inevitably benefit the public as a whole; that it will vastly improve telephone service in Michigan as well as result in substantial economies of operation, which under regulation, must inure to the benefit of the public."

The order also authorizes the creation of the Grand Rapids and Pontiac district exchanges similar to the Detroit metropolitan system.

"Since the above became effective, Charlevoix has rescinded its action and now has a petition before the Michigan Public Service Commission for that body to grant its admission to the exchange."

Time Here to Remember the Dead, Not to Join Them

The very things you enjoy the most may turn out to be the greatest handicaps to your health and even to your life on the long Memorial Day weekend, the Michigan Department of Health warned Michigan folk today.

Drive with care and avoid excesses in eating, drinking, sunning, swimming, fishing, golfing and any other form of exercise, it advised.

Roads will be flooded with traffic. Have your car checked if you plan any driving—brakes, horn, lights, tires, windshield wipers and steering mechanism. Do not plan to drive if you are going to do any drinking. Obey traffic laws and signs and give the other fellow your right-of-way.

Good restaurants will be filled to capacity. Be careful what you take in your picnic lunch. Keep perishables cold. You can bring food poisoning from home as well as get it in an unclean restaurant. Drink only water from a municipal supply and only pasteurized milk.

Take your sunning in short intervals. Remember you can burn under a cloudy sky on a cool day, and you burn more quickly near or on water. Lake water will be cold. Do not swim in swift water. Do not rush headlong or dive into extremely cold water. Do not swim alone or show off. Do not stand up in your small fishing boat. Do not go into a lake when a storm threatens. Remember that a little golfing, softball, swimming or tennis is considerable strain on the heart at the beginning of the season. Ride only a horse you can handle, and fly only with a competent pilot in fully serviced craft.

Memorial day is a time to remember the dead, not to join them.

ARCHERY

SPORTSMAN'S CLUB SPONSORS FIELD TARGET COURSE

Field archery is the oldest sport of man. Primitive ancestors used the bow, not only in warfare but for the hunt and in various field games. With the invention of gunpowder, the use of the bow declined but in recent years the knowledge of fine bow making and the technique of shooting have been revived. Now archery, especially field archery, is fast gaining a place among the leading sports of the country. Last year there were approximately 10,000 bow and arrow hunting licenses issued in Wisconsin and 7,000 in Michigan.

Archery clubs are being organized in many towns and field courses are being laid out for use by local archers as well as visitors. Tournaments are held to add interest in the sport and groups go around to the various courses.

As a tourist attraction and another source for additional revenue for the community, the Jordan River Sportsman's Club voted at a recent meeting to set up a 14 target regulation field course.

A committee selected two possible sites, then Mr. Scott of the Bear Archery Co., of Grayling came over to help decide on the best location. Keith Dressel offered the wooded hills on his farm overlooking Lake Charlevoix for the range and Mr. Scott stated this location was the best he had seen in some time. He helped to roughly lay out the course, and the job of getting the targets in place and the course marked will get under way this week.

Edgar Bowerman and his father pioneered the sport in this vicinity and will be glad to help others who are interested get started. Edd has a supply of Bear Archery tackle in his sporting goods store at Ed's Boats. He has several bows of varying drawing weights that may be used for target practice by anyone interested in this fast growing sport.
