the king's chambers. Zedekiah, as the story reveals, held Ebed-melech in high esteem. He was, obviously, a most honorable man. How he had come to know Jeremiah, and to esteem him so highly, is a subject for profitable contemplation. The devotional reading, Matthew 25:31-46, offers final opinion on the value of Ebed-melech's ministry to Jeremiah. The golden text, "As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men," Galatians 6:10.

JEREMIAH'S FRIEND

FREEDOM THROUGH A SLAVE THE story of Ebed-melech's kind-ness to Jeremiah lifts to ennobling example the act of a slave on behalf of freedom. The world's benefactors are those who under stand freedom, and cast themselves in utter self-forgetfulness into the struggle for right against wrong.

What had Jeremiah done to receive such harsh treatment? He had delivered God's message to the people of Jerusalem, warning them that the city would be taken by the Chaldeans, and how they might es-cape destruction. Jeremiah was proclaiming freedom-not always a proclaiming freedom—not always a popular course. For this effort to help the people, he was thrown into the muddy dungeon. This servant of the king was the only man in Jerusalem who understood the purpose of Jeremiah.

A FRIEND INDEED

GRANTED permission from the king to rescue Jeremiek, Ebedmelech devised prompt methods of letting down old pieces of rope and rags, telling Jeremiah how to fasten then under his arms, and with the aid of thirty men drew him up from the mire, and brought him into the

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Berlin Crisis Nears Showdown: First Peacetime Draft Begins; Special Session Opens Campaign

-By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer-(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

NOT YET-BUT SOON Josh sergeant now-but just wait a few months!

BERLIN: Showdown

The old familiar pattern of just one crisis after another in the cold war between Russia on the one hand and the western Allies on the other was being repeated again in the Berlin showdown. But an un-easy world watched anxiously, fearful that at any moment some crisis might explode into actual warfare.

Urgency of the Berlin crisis resulted in the recall of Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. military commander in Germany, and his top politi-cal adviser, Ambassador Robert Murphy, for a first-hand report on

Clay conferred with President Truman, State Secretary Marshall and Army Secretary Royall on means of carrying out the American government's intention to stay in Berlin despite the concerted Russian drive to force the western powers out. The official line was laid down by Secretary Marshall, who said that while the United States would not be "coerced or intimidated" by the Russian blockade of Berlin, the administration nevertheless will "proceed to reach an acceptable solution to avoid the tragedy of war.'

Although rumors that the Berlin blockade might prove the spark that would enkindle fighting warfare permeated official quarters the U. S. position appeared to be that this country hopes to avoid war. However, if the Russians are determined to cause more serious is determined to resist force with force. It is equally determined to avoid taking any step which might make the situation more serious as long as negotiation and other diplomatic means remain open.

There will be many more talks much painstaking deliberation among the western powers in con-nection with the exchange of notes regarding the Berlin blockade, ir-retrievably linked up as it is with the over-all German settlement.

Marking the high water mark in the deepening Berlin crisis and lending emphasis to the determination to back up its policy that American troops will not leave Berlin, the United States dispatched powerful reinforcements to its air arm in strife-torn Europe.

A big question mark still con cerned Russia's ultimate objectives. Was the Kremlin merely trying to drive the Allies out of Berlin or was this but another step in the fundamental objective of moving the iron curtain inexorably westward, country by country, until it embraced the whole heartland of Europe?

DRAFT:

Blows Strong

America's first draftees - 1948 style—are going to be whisked into uniform so fast they won't know what hit them.

The draft proceedings will start rolling Monday, August 30, when the first of 9,500,000 youths will register. Registrations will continue on 17 designated days extending to September 18.

From these millions of men, volunteer draft boards throughout the nation will select the manpower to match the material build-up of air, land and sea forces called for under the rearmament program. Military men are set to welcome the first draftees into their ranks any time after September 22. Under the law actual drafting cannot start until that date. The presidential proclamation setting the registra-tion dates did not specify when in-

Confirming suspicions which house wives have held for many months, department of commerce analysts reported that food stores easily get a bigger part of the retail dollar now than any other business. The first draftee, it is indicated, will be 25, unmarried and a nonveteran.

Registration dates specified by Mr. Truman for each age follow: The oldest group, meaning men born in 1922 after August 30, 1922, will be registered on Monday, Men born in 1930 before September 19, September 17 and 18. The proclamation stated that youths born after September 19, 1930, will register on their eight-eenth birthday, or within five days thereafter. About 1,200,000 youths come into this category yearly.

CAMPAIGN:

Advanced

With the kickoff advanced six with the kickon advanced six weeks through President Truman's action in calling congress back into special session, the American people are in for one of the most heated and intensive presidential campaigns in recent history.

The whole political calendar has been advanced this year. recalled congress signaled the initial salvo in the campaign, which will be in full swing until the November balloting.

Normally, national candidates wait until after Labor day before entering into thorough-going discussion of the issues of the cam-

The states', rights Democrats have shown their greatest strength in Alabama and Mississippi, where a combined 20 electoral votes are pledged against Mr. Truman.

There are potential stacks of money in the stacks of straw which annually go to waste on U.S. farms.
Although the paper industry offers a large potential market for the product, farmers last year burned or did not use about 38 million tons of agriculture estimates.

Recent technical advances have after walking out on their regular made possible a large expansion of party conclave, gathered in Birmingham, Ala., to enter a fourth party in the field. Principal industrial use for straw at present is in making corrugated strawboard, which is used as a liner in cartons and boxes. Some straw also is used for coarse grades of wrapping paper.

Research by the department of agriculture laboratory at Peoria, III., indicates that straw pulp can be substituted for 25 to 40 per cent of the wood pulp now used in fine and specialty papers.

The strawboard industry was established in this country around 1900; when wheat was harvested with binders and threshed. Every wheat farm then had its straw stack and the straw could be baled. When the combine harvester came into general use, most of the straw stacks disappeared. Development of pickup balers, however, once again have made straw collection on the farm a practical operation.

In normal times, it is estimated, the farmer may add 8 to 20 per cent to his cash income from wheat by collecting and selling the straw.

WAR:

Still Costs

The costs of war continue long after the battles cease. A grateful Uncle Sam already has expended 8 billion, 223 million dollars to returning veterans during the first four years of the G.I. bill of rights. Veterans' administration reports. Accounting for that total were 14 million, 300 thousand "benefits."

It is impossible to determine the exact number of World War II veterens who shared in this payment.

When you talk about crops in the Thumb, home pride runs high. It's a prosperous region, bordered to the quickie travel tour.

A dairy farmer came to Sandusky the other day and banked a $1,218 milk check for a month's milk production. Such is not out of the ordinary in Sanilac county which ranks first in Michigan for number of livestock head and milk cows. Which county was second? Huron. Third?

PARASITES CUT EGG PRODUC. TION

Lice and mites always lower egg production and should be eradicated. The two parasites have different habits and hence require different treatment. Lice live on the birds; mites live in cracks and crevices near the nest and the perches.

A forty per cent nicotine sulfate solution used full strength and painted in a narrow line along the center of each perch will get the lice. Care should be taken that all birds roost on the night following the painting day. Because eggs of the second generation will be coming up, the treat-ment should be repeated in 10 to 12

Mites need a more severe treatment. Mites come in the birds to feed only at night or when the bird is laying and then go back in their own habitat to reproduce. Any mites that happen to go on the birds at night while they are being treated for lice will be killed, but many will be left. The house should be cleaned out in late summer or early fall for the pullets and that the perches, supports, and nests be painted with some anthacine oil preparation. Examples of this product are C-A-Wood Preserver and Carbolineum. Care should be taken in applying these materials because they will burn the skin. For this reason, painting rather than spraying is the recom-mended method of application.

A friend called upon a guest at a hotel, knocked, and asked him to open the door.
