With special emphasis upon worldwide missions next Sunday, September 12, the Lutheran parish of Boyne City and Wilson Township will observe its annual Mission Day. In addition to the usual morning services in which the Pastor will preach, the parish has scheduled a special 8 o'clock vesper at Christ church, Boyne City, in which the Rev. Louis Linn of Rogers City, circuit visitor, will preach the sermon.

Of local interest is the fact that Miss Lorraine Behling, formerly of Wilson Township, is presently enroute to China to act as a teaching missionary in the Chinese Lutheran parochial school system.

Application has been made to the State Soil Conservation Service for assistance and that a farm planner be stationed in this district.

Carl Moblo Home Badly Damaged By Fire, Sunday

The Fire Department answered an alarm at 11:25 a. m., Sunday, for a fire at the Carl Moblo home on the West Side.

The fire was caused by a kitchen kerosene oil range exploding. Mr. Moblo was away from home at the time; Mrs. Moblo and children were at home. The fire spread rapidly and the rear of the house was a total loss. The main upright part of the house and contents suffered heavily from heat, smoke and water. A small amount of insurance was carried on the building.

County Picnic Brings Crowd

ANNUAL WHITING PARK EVENT BRINGS OUT LARGE ATTENDANCE

A large crowd of about 900 folks attended the 25th annual Charlevoix County picnic at Whiting Park on Labor Day, according to Ed Reberman, County Agr'l Agent. Free coffee was served at 1:30 p. m. and at 2:30 the children's contest got under way. K. C. Festerling, Coach Brotherson, and Ed Reberman were in charge of these contests. This picnic was sponsored by the Charlevoix County Chambers of Commerce.

The oldest lady to win a prize at the picnic was Mrs. Miller of Muskegon and she was 81 years old. The oldest gentleman was L. Henderson of Boyne City who was 76 years old. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Florenaki of Boyne City won the $5.00 worth of groceries by having the largest family in attendance at the picnic.

Taxpayers to Vote Tuesday on $18,000 Fire Hall Bond

EAST JORDAN TAXPAYERS ARE URGED TO VOTE "YES" TO FACILITATE RAPID CONSTRUCTION OF BADLY-NEEDED FIRE HALL

Last spring the voters of East Jordan voted, by a large majority, a 5 mill tax for three years, to build the new fire hall. A five mill tax, with our present valuation, would raise about $6,000 each year. The estimated cost of the fire hall is about $18,000.

The plan was to use the $6,000 collected this year, and borrow $12,000, which loan would be paid by the taxes collected in 1949 and 1950.

All loans made by the City, or any bonds sold by the City, must first have the sanction of the Municipal Finance Commission. The MFC told the Council some time ago that we could borrow against next year's taxes. The MFC later told us that we could NOT borrow this money because of a slight technical error in the wording of the ballot that was used in the election in April.

Plans are complete for the new building, and bids for construction of same could be advertised at any time. All that stands in the way of construction is a little matter of $18,000.

The people who have paid this year's taxes, and have thus paid the first 5 mill tax, will either be refunded the amount of the 5 mills, or given credit for same on next year's tax. The disposition of this money is also up to the decision of the Municipal Finance Comm., and as soon as they advise, taxpayers of the City will also be advised.

The City is indebted to the Conservation Department for the loan of a fire truck. Thus we have two trucks, for the protection of the City and the Townships adjoining that contribute to the upkeep of the fire equipment.

These trucks must be stored in a heated building, as they are both equipped with water tanks.

The City is also indebted to the men who comprise the Fire Department, for their efficient work. To be sure they get paid for the hours worked — but that hourly pay does NOT pay for rolling out any old time of the night, regardless of weather conditions.

It is up to the voters of the City to provide a home for the fire trucks, and also an efficient and convenient place for the equipment with which the men must work.

Vote YES on Sept. 14 for money to build a Fire Hall.

Dr. Bechtold's Mother, Dies at Bellaire

Funeral services for Bellaire's oldest resident, Mrs. Maximiliana Kister Bechtold, who died at 95 in her home Saturday, were held at 2:00 p. m. Wednesday at the home. Burial in Lakeview Cemetery.

Born Oct. 10, 1852, in Munich, German, she came to this country as a child and married Frederick Bechtold in 1873. Her husband, who died in 1915, owner the Bellaire Wood-ware Co. and he purchased the Bellaire bank in 1906.

Surviving among the six of the twelve children is Dr. Bechtold of East Jordan.

BOWLING

BOWLING SEASON TO OPEN MONDAY

The East Jordan Merchant's League opens its schedule this Monday, Sept. 13th. The first shift goes on the alleys at 7 p. m. sharp as usual.

Cal's Tavern, last year's league champions, are not entered this year, also Bader's Standard Service and Sinclair Sales have dropped from the league. These teams will be made up with new sponsors this year.

Secretary of the league, E. K. Reuling, states that league schedules will be posted on the bowling board not later than Saturday afternoons.

The only major change in the rules this year is the new ruling on bowling with a member short. Any team bowling with a man short will be penalized 10 points from his average.

Norm's Tavern looks like the class of the league, acquiring most of their players from Cals, State Bank and St. Joseph are always strong with the E. J. Canning Co. looming as a dark horse this year with two new bowlers.

So let's go Monday night with full teams. Set 'em up on the other alley — the show's out.

Your's for better bowling.
Bill Taylor.

Information available through the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce.

Percy Penfold and Oscar Weisler spent over Labor Day week end on Big Summer Island.

Regular communication of East Jordan Lodge No. 379, F. & A. M., Tuesday, Sept. 14. Special business. A full attendance desired. Work in the M. M. degree.

The Man for the Job
Lesson for September 12, 1948

HISTORY KNOWS some men only by their nicknames. Stalin is a nickname, so was Charlemagne. And so is Barnabas, one of the best of the early Christians. The apostle nicknamed him "Barnabas" and the name stuck, for it means "Son of Encouragement," and Barnabas' specialty was encouraging people who badly needed it.

Barnabas was not a brilliant man, perhaps not even a strong one, though he had an impressive "front." On a journey in the back districts the natives would take him for Zeus, king of all the gods. But it was not his looks that were important, it was his big heart.

When Saul was converted, there was an awkward situation when that young convert went back to Jerusalem. The little society of Christians there knew Saul for a tiger. They had suffered at his hands, they had seen their friends dragged off by his henchmen. So when Saul showed up among the very people he had terrified, when he not only showed up but claimed to be one of them, no wonder they were frightened.

All but Barnabas. Somehow or other shall we say it was God's Spirit in him? Barnabas was not afraid. He took Saul the Terrible by the hand, he introduced him to the church leaders, he told them his story, he sponsored Saul as we would say.

An Eye for God

AFTER THAT EXPERIENCE with Saul, Barnabas' friends came to think of him as a man who could probably see the good in any man or situation if there was any good to be seen. So when the headquarters church in old Jerusalem heard of a novel sort of church down in Antioch, they sent this "Son of Encouragement" down to see what was on. It was certainly no church on the Jerusalem pattern; was it a good one, or even a genuine church at all? Barnabas would know. And so he did.

Other men could see the large number of church members in Antioch; others could give you statistics about its rate of growth; others could tell you it was bi-racial, a daring experiment then as now. Some applauded, some raised their eyebrows.

But we read that Barnabas had eyes in his soul as well as in his head. What he saw, as he looked at that stirring new church with its new ways, was "the grace of God." All of us can see things on the surface, we can count noses, we can make reports for the papers. But seeing underneath, seeing the grace of God (or the need of it)—that is not so easy. Wanted for every church: A Barnabas!

Round Peg—Round Hole

WHEN BARNABAS had taken stock at Antioch he knew the place needed a man, and he knew the man for the place. Off he went across the Taurus mountains to Tarsus, where Saul was doing nothing particular, and he brought Saul to Tarsus and set him to work. Saul turned out to be, as Barnabas expected, the round peg for the round hole.

That team was a "natural"—but only Barnabas would have thought of it. Paul fitted in with the church, too. A tireless worker, he was just the man for that vital growing congregation. Getting the right people for the right jobs is still one of the big problems of the Christian church. Many a Sunday school class, for instance, now is withering on the stalk, only because the Sunday school superintendent has never found the right teacher.

The Hands of the Church

THE TIME came when Barnabas and Saul were sent out by that same Antioch church to be the first foreign missionaries ever deliberately sent out by any Christian church. The hands of the church were laid on them before they left.

To this day, when a man is set apart, by ordination, for a particular work in the Christian church, hands are laid upon his head. This is more than an antique ceremony, there is more than magic in it.

The laying on of hands may mean different things to different churches, but this at least it always means: The men so ordained are now the hands of the churches they represent.

Days are getting shorter — but not for farmers who hire me to look after their LIGHTING. Don't let nature cut down your productive time or your right-to pleasant, brighter evenings.

Yep! Modern farmers not only have me working from sunup to sundown, but for hours after nature fails to provide GOOD LIGHT in their homes and farm buildings.

You can cut down one of the causes of costly accidents and also save your eyesight. Sure, you work outdoors and sunlight's good for your eyes—but don't spoil it with dim, inadequate lighting.

Rural Tele-news

THE RINGS YOU CAN'T HEAR — Many improvements in telephone service come about so gradually that it's sometimes easy to overlook the results. Take the matter of ringing on rural lines, for example. Ten years ago, nearly every rural-line telephone customer served by Michigan Bell heard the rings of all other parties on the line. Today 87 out of every 100 hear the rings of no more than half the parties on their line.

METAL MUNCHER—Squirrels occasionally gnaw holes in the lead sheathing around telephone cables. To prevent damage from moisture reaching the wires through these and other types of punctures, many cables are kept filled with gas. When the gas escapes, lowered pressure sets off an alarm in the telephone central office. Sensitive devices help tell where the break has occurred and a repairman can go out and clear the trouble, in most cases before service is interrupted.

DIAL DECADE—Ten years ago only one-tenth of the telephones on Michigan Bell's rural lines were dial. Today, even though the war years temporarily halted the extension of dial service, nearly two-thirds of the rural-line telephones are dial. Michigan Bell's $13,500,000 5-year postwar rural expansion and improvement program will mean still more rural dial telephones as time goes on.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U. S.-Russia Events Reach Climax; Moscow Parley Continues Uneasily; Soviets Sever Consular Relations

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Discussion

THE AX WAS THERE

RUSSIANS: Climactic

Virtually every avenue of public thought in the U. S. was teeming with Russians, shadows of Russians and a few Red converts.

There was a feeling, however, that the international commotion had reached its climax and was ready to start subsiding, partly because public interest, flattered into a state of high excitement, couldn't stand the stress and strain of it all much longer.

Nevertheless, events having to do with Russia remained for the time being, at least, reasonably climactic: The Moscow talks were ready either to pay off or break down; Russia had broken off consular relations with the U. S.; Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina, the widow-jumping Russian schoolteacher, had told the story of how she had been strong-armed.

Moscow
In the Kremlin, where the three western ambassadors were trying to pound out some kind of tentative basis for negotiations with the Soviet Union, the Russians were playing their familiar game of hit-and-run.

U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith, British Representative Frank Roberts and French Ambassador Yves Chataigneau had been dragging through a series of meetings with the implacable V. M. Molotov, Soviet foreign minister.

Molotov, as usual, was hard, tough, adamant in his adherence to current Soviet policy on the Berlin and German problems. No progress was made; the three western representatives were dispirited, although they kept to their chore. The word was whispered about that this conference might break up in total failure.

Then came a break, or so it appeared. Premier Stalin would meet again with the three envoys. In the ensuing discussions with Stalin hopes again were raised that the western powers might succeed in at least partially lifting the Berlin blockade and perhaps effect an area of agreement that could be used for a subsequent top-level meeting to iron out some of the major East-West differences.

But there were some who still could see the ax on the peace table. Somehow, there was a familiar pattern behind these negotiations that went something like this:

After Molotov had subjected his fellow conferees to hour after hour of his case-hardened refusals to come to terms, attempting by those tactics to wear his diplomatic opponents down, the scene was set for Stalin's return.

Stalin came on with his air of geniality and good will, apparently not only willing but eager to reach common ground. His attitude was so manifestly different from Molotov's that hopes again soared.

There was the danger. Lulled into optimism, the western envoys might be trapped into making concessions that should not be made. This same kind of Molotov-to-Stalin play had worked before.

Hit the Road

Jacob H. Lomakin, Soviet consul general in New York, had conducted himself improperly and discredibly in the affair of the Russian schoolteacher, Mrs. Oksana

Watch That Credit

Prospective home buyers who might plunge beyond their means simply because down payments are lower under the new housing law have been warned by government housing experts to avoid that trap.

"Our only worry," one expert said, "is that the lower down payments will encourage people to buy homes they can't afford. When you reduce the down payment, the monthly payments are more."

Kasenkina, the U. S. state department pointed out as it ordered him out of the country.

It was a sensational turn of events. In a note to the Soviet embassy the state department asserted that Lomakin had, in effect, misled his own government with regard to the Kasenkina case so that the protests which the Soviets made to the U. S. were "based on misinformation."

In addition, the note charged that the consul general had "hindered the investigation of the competent police officials by refusing to allow them to interview Mrs. Kasenkina" while she was under control of the Soviet consul.

Then, even as Lomakin was packing his bags and preparing to leave the country, Russia countered sharply by formally severing consular relations with the U. S. and repeating its accusations of bad faith.

That seemed to prove that Lomakin's actions in the Kasenkina affair were not so much the expression of his individual initiative as they were a direct reflection of Kremlin policy.

However, no one was worrying too much about the breaking off of consular relations. The move did not mean that diplomatic relations were severed.

Soviet consular activities in the U. S. were limited to arranging for mutual trade and travel between the two nations. Since there is practically no trade or travel exchange taking place, the presence or absence of a consul wouldn't make too much difference.

To Escape

Lying weak and ashen-faced in her hospital bed in New York, Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina finally got around to telling the story of why she leaped from the third-story window of the Soviet consulate.

"I jumped to escape, not to kill myself," she said.

She said that her "rescue" from the Tolstoy foundation's Reed farm was not a "rescue but an arrest," engineered by the Russian consul-general.

She did not want to go back to Russia. Although she loves her people, she stated that "I don't agree with the policies of Josef Stalin. I cannot agree with the regime in the Soviet."

VIEWPOINTS: Religious

It couldn't be called schismatic: It was thoroughly democratic.

In such a way delegates to the first assembly of the World Council of Churches might have assessed the first two addresses, which officially opened the historic sessions in Amsterdam.

John Foster Dulles, U. S. lay leader in many religious activities and internationalist-minded statesman, and Czechoslovakia's Joseph L. Hromadka of the Evangelical Church of Czech Brethren, speaking in a section discussion on "The Church and International Disorder," between them managed to strip much of the camouflage from the growing philosophical and spiritual rift separating the East and West.

Total result of Dulles' and Hromadka's addresses, taken together, was not to prestage a religious split between the two blocs of nations but rather to define the problems at the root of current international disorders for those who are courageous enough to attack them with spiritual weapons instead of guns.

DULLES . . . "Peace can never be stabilized except by institutions that seek to reflect moral law and that respect the dignity of the individual. And the present methods of communism are incompatible with peaceful change."

"Collective action may at times be required, pursuant to the United Nations charter, to protect member states or individual human beings in their charter rights."

"Those who believe in moral law and human dignity must be concerned to make social institutions reflect those ideals."

HROMADKA . . . The world is seeing "the end of western supremacy within the realm of international order."

"Now, three years after World War II, the western man hasn't yet recovered and is losing more and more the last remnants of his world leadership."

He "hasn't much to offer along the lines of moral, philosophical or spiritual leadership."

OUTPUT: Upshot

Total national output of goods and services, stimulated by inflationary forces which have been growing stronger since early summer, hit a record-breaking rate of 248.2 billion dollars in the second quarter of the fiscal year, the commerce department has reported.

That figure is 4.4 billion dollars above the peak reached in the first three months of this year, according to the department.

FUEL OIL: Plentiful

Last winter's serious fuel shortage in homes and industries probably will not be repeated this year, according to present predictions.

The supply of fuel oil is becoming so plentiful that there apparently is no need for an elaborate distribution system to be set up for the purpose of doing it out.

Stored supplies are 60 per cent ahead of last year at this time and crude runs from distilleries are half a million barrels ahead of a year ago. New refining facilities are largely responsible for eradicating the shortage.

Moreover, oil industry officials say, there now is an ample supply of gasoline. Only thing that could put a crimp in that would be a national emergency or a transportation stoppage.

Most of the major cities are well supplied with oil, and while there might be spot shortages in rural communities during the winter they probably would be only of a day or two duration.

"Last winter," said one industry member, "part of the trouble was caused by snow tying up the railroads." That happens and attention is focused on it when there is an oil shortage. It could happen again.

RADAR NET: Inadequate

What with one thing and another, Americans can't help now and then wondering what would happen if this country suddenly were to be attacked from the air.

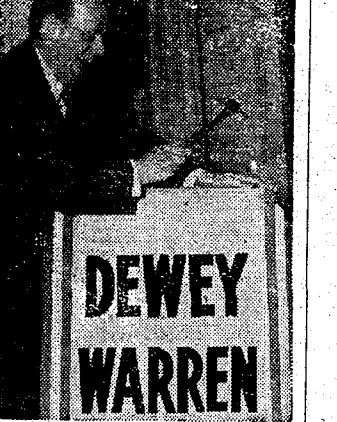

Biggest question in this connection is whether a warning of such an attack would be given in time for the population to evacuate probable centers of attack.

Air force officials say they are doing the best they can with what they have to provide the nation with a radar warning network.

What they have, however, is at best inadequate, they say. The present radar system is not capable of detecting all approaches of foreign planes.

Currently, a committee of leading scientists, headed by Dr. Vannevar Bush, is carrying out a careful study of improvements in radar that could lead to an adequate air warning system.

Political Pounding

Bubbling toothfully with confidence, Herbert Brownell Jr., campaign manager for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, nails up the sign which proclaims that the Washington, D. C., headquarters for the Republican campaign ticket of Dewey and Warren is open for business. Brownell also has the idea that business will be good.

INSTALLMENTS: Regulated

Just exactly what effect the newly imposed restrictions on credit buying would have on the hog-wild inflation that has been devastating the nation's moral fiber was not quite clear.

Acting under authorization of the 80th congress, the government put the brakes on installment buying and extended the ceiling on its new regulations to $5,000 to control wild-cat buying of expensive new automobiles. This new order goes into effect September 20.

From that day forward the law will require that the buyer of a new car pay one-third down in cash and take not more than 18 months to pay off the balance in installments of not less than $70 a month.

Other hard goods—stoves, refrigerators, washing machines and related household articles—call for a 20 per cent down payment with the balance to be liquidated in not more than 15 months.

The order exempts anything costing less than $50 or more than $5,000—a rule which set many Americans to asking caustically what they could find to buy for less than $50 and where they could get the money to purchase anything over $5,000.

Actually, however, the credit curb seemed to amount to little more than putting the government's stamp of legal approval on a practice which has been followed voluntarily by a considerable number of retail merchants.

Many astute businessmen have been following the one-third down payment rule all along, as a protection both to themselves and the prospective buyers.

Upshot of it all was that few people believed the federal regulation would do much to clear the inflationary atmosphere.

Ward — Sommerville

The Presbyterian church at Harbor Springs was the scene of the wedding of Miss Doreen Rae Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denton Ward, of Harbor Springs, to Jack Sommerville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Sommerville of this city, on Sunday afternoon, August 29.

Rev. Luren E. Brubaker officiated at the single ring candlelight ceremony at two o'clock. Huge baskets of gladioli and other fall flowers were alternated with evergreens to form a background for the ceremony. Mrs. Jean Burt played traditional bridal music on the organ, and Tom Newman was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white satin, fashioned with a bustle and a long train, a sweetheart neckline and long fitted sleeves. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion fell from a madonna crown, and she carried an arm bouquet of white lilies.

Miss Frances Sommerville, sister of the groom, was maid of honor in a floor-length gown of pale blue crepe, and she carried a colonial bouquet. Miss Theresa Greener of Harbor Springs was bridesmaid in a pale pink crepe with which she carried a colonial bouquet. Junior bridesmaids were Jean Howse of Harbor Springs and Jacqueline Reed, of Alanson, who were gowned in pale blue and pink, respectively. They carried miniature colonial bouquets. Little Arnold Howse, cousin of the bride, carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

Carl Petrie assisted the groom as best man, and ushers were Max Sommerville, brother of the groom, and Leonard and Robert Ward, brothers of the bride, of Harbor Springs.

Mrs. Ward chose for her daughter's wedding a floor-length gown of black sheer with which she wore white accessories and a corsage of pink asters. Mrs. Sommerville, mother of the groom, was attired in a light blue sheer with black figures, black accessories and a pale pink aster corsage.

A reception for 150 guests was held following the ceremony, on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Greener, of Hoyt St., Harbor Springs. A large square wedding cake inset with five tiers, was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The bride attended the Harbor Springs high school, and the groom was graduated from East Jordan high school in 1945. He attended Albion College and served in the communications department of the U. S. Army. He is now attending college at Mt. Pleasant.

Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and other points, the newly weds will make their home in Mt. Pleasant. For traveling the bride wore a grey gaberdine suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink asters.

Wind Destroys Garage and Silo on the Ben. Smatts Farm

A destructive wind, believed to have been a "small tornado" Monday evening about 7:00 o'clock, blew down several trees in the cherry orchards owned by Porter and Jensen, and destroyed the silo and garage in which a car was destroyed on the farm of Ben Smatts about three miles north-west of town. A bed as well as other articles were blown off the porch at the Smatts farm.

The storm was of a few minutes duration. No one was injured in the blow which was accompanied by a severe electrical storm. It is reported to be the 12th silo to be hit during the storm all within a small area.

Primary Election September 14, 1948

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

One Great American Trait

I always think it does a newspaper editor good to get out from behind his desk and see how folks in other parts of America look, and think, and act.

And that's what I've been doing these past weeks, touring the country from Michigan to Texas, California to Maine. It's a mighty encouraging experience. Not only because of the different points of view you run into—but because of the tolerance which reconciles those different points of view.

I mean the tolerance of a Pennsylvania farmer for the habits of his city cousin; the tolerance of folks who vote one way towards those who vote another; the tolerance of those who prefer spring water towards those who enjoy a moderate beverage like beer.

From where I sit, it's that great American trait of tolerance—respect for individual tastes and liberties—that makes this country strong. Let's never lose it!

TO THE VOTERS

OF

Antrim County

Next Tuesday you will decide who will be your next

COUNTY CLERK

Mr. and Mrs. Mohrman served you faithfully for 25 years. Her daughter, the other candidate, has pointed out the duties of that office, which duties we can conscientiously say Mort is fully capable of performing.

After an office has been held 25 years by the same family, we see no real reason why a man of Mort's calibre and qualifications should not also have a chance to serve.

He is married, has a wife and two children, and has been a continuous resident of Antrim County for the past eight years.

PREPARED AND PAID FOR BY SPONSORS

To The Voters of our Senatorial District

This is a plea to our voters to turn out and renominate Senator Otto W. Bishop for State Senator. Mr. Bishop's successful service in the past qualifies him to ably serve us at this time when our state needs courageous hard-headed business men to represent us in the complicated affairs of state government.

Born on a farm near Alpena, Senator Bishop has by hard work and honest business methods become one of Alpena's most respected and successful business men. These qualifications served him well when he entered the Senate where he rapidly rose to Senate leadership.

During my ten years as Senate Postmaster, Senator Bishop has been the author of more important bills than any man in the Senate. Many of these bills have saved our taxpayers millions of dollars, among which are bills compelling our department to live within its budget, making it a felony for departments to create an overdraft. He secured the passage of our Anti-Chain Bank Bill, etc. He has also introduced our resort advertising bills so vital to our own community, and he also secured state aid for our 4-H Club Fairs, agriculture, farm products advertising and created a $50,000,000 dollar reserve for disabled veterans.

At present he is Chairman of the most powerful committee in the Senate — Finance and Appropriation — and as such has saved our people millions of dollars.

He is on our State Highway Committee. We are getting new roads and bridges as well as increased service at the State Ferries. He is also on the Senate Business and Interstate Committees. No Senator during my time in Lansing has rendered more service to his district or state.

A change in Senators, regardless of his ability, means a loss of this valuable experience as he would be forced to take lesser committee appointments.

I also believe in a spirit of fairness to our district. When a successor to Senator Bishop is chosen, he should come from the West end of the district.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14th, PRIMARY DAY

THE PRIMARY — not the November election — will determine who will be our Senator.

DON'T FAIL TO VOTE AT THE PRIMARY! ! !

John A. Lake
Senate Postmaster.
