Rebekah Lodge Hold Anniversary Meeting Sept. 15th

Jasmine Rebekah Lodge held their regular meeting Sept. 15 with 45 members present. The 20th of Sept. being the 97th Anniversary of Rebekah Odd Fellowship a short ceremony commemorating the anniversary was held. A short history of the order was read by Bernadine Brown followed by lighting the candles on the cake by Past Noble Grand Irene Wright, Vice Noble Grand, Meta Robinson and Chaplain Clarissa Goodman, while the members sang the Institutional Ode.

The anniversary proclamation was read by Noble Grand Irene Kiser. The ceremony was closed with a prayer by the chaplain. Etta Jones told of an anniversary celebration she attended of the East Jordan I.O.O.F. on April 30, 1901, and also showed the invitation that was sent out which was very interesting. Several other members told of humorous incidents involving meeting strangers in other towns who turned out to be sister Rebekahs.

A song was sung by all the members dedicated to Meta Robinson who is leaving soon. A gift was also presented to Meta by Irene Wright on behalf of the Past Noble Grands Club and the lodge. We will all miss Meta's cheerful smile and helping hands when she leaves and her memory will always be kept in our hearts and we all wish her the best of luck and hope to have her visit us often.

Irene Wright presented the lodge with six nice aluminum serving trays, a gift from the Past Noble Grands Club.

Lodge was then closed and a birthday lunch of ice cream and cake was served in honor of members having birthdays in July, Aug. and Sept.

An auction was then held on four articles which were donated by Meta Robinson, bidding was lively and $5.30 was taken in to be used for the new record player which the committee has picked out to purchase.

Everyone enjoyed a fine evening. Next meeting will be Oct. 6; 8:00 o'clock. Come.

Rally Day September 22

COUNTY EVENT AT EAST JORDAN TOURIST PARK CONVENES AT 10:00 A. M.

The extension women of Charlevoix County are preparing to begin their fall program with their annual Rally Day to be held Wednesday, Sept. 22 at the East Jordan Tourist Park.

All extension women are invited to meet at the park at 10:00 a. m. for the morning business meeting and the reports of the Farm Women delegates. A pot luck dinner will be enjoyed and the afternoon session will be the first extension lesson. This lesson is for all the members and not just local leaders. The leaders will not repeat the lesson to the local clubs. The topic is, "New Fabric Finishes" will be discussed by Miss Marjorie Eastman, Clothing Specialist from Michigan State College, and all of us will be interested to learn the latest on unshrinkable wools, water repellent, and flame proof fabrics. The lesson will begin at 1:30 p. m. but everyone try to be present at the meeting when it opens at 10:00 a. m. Remember the date, Wednesday, Sept. 22.

East Jordan Study Club Hold Opening Meeting of the Season

The Study Club of East Jordan opened its 1948-49 year with a bountiful potluck supper at the Tourist Park Tuesday evening Sept. 14th. Before everyone was ready to sit down and partake of the wonderful meal the table groaned and creaked with all the delicious dishes. Soon after supper it was the other way around, the members were doing the groaning and moaning from all the good things they had eaten. For once everyone forgot diets and new looks and had a wonderful meal. Mrs. Fray, our antique collector, will certainly be disappointed when she learns we had a real antique sugar bowl grace the bountiful table. She really missed an opportunity to "pick up" a real antique.

Mrs. Esther Porter, president, opened the short business meeting with a few remarks about the plans for the coming year, welcomed our visitors and then turned the meeting over to the program committee.

Mrs. Earl Clark, introduced some of us to the radio game "20 Questions". The evening was spent seeing how many knew if this or that was made of animal, mineral, or vegetable. It was great fun and even Mrs. Mattie Palmeters goat took part.

The one sad event of the evening was Mrs. Meta Robinson bidding the club "so-long" not good-by. We hope that she will come back and be one of us again soon.

Twenty three members answered to roll call and three visitors were present. The next meeting will be held Sept. 29th, Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Rose Adair.

U. S. Department of Labor Issues Ruling on Child Farm Labor

School administrators, boards of education, and persons employing children under 16 years of age should note a recent ruling of the U. S. Department of Labor.

The ruling states that no child under 16 years of age, working in agriculture, if he is legally required to attend school, may be employed during the time Michigan laws say that he should be in school.

This means that no farmers may ship farm products or other goods in interstate commerce if, within 30 days before the removal of these goods, he has employed a child under these circumstances on the farm where the goods were produced.

This provision of the Fair Labor Standards Act applies to a farmer whether he himself ships the goods directly out of the state or whether he delivers them to a warehouse or wholesale dealer that does the actual shipping. The ruling applies also to growers of fruits, vegetables, and other crops that are delivered to canning, processing, or refining establishments within the state if the resulting canned, processed, or refined foods move in interstate commerce.

Local school officials can advise farmers whether a particular child is required to attend school. If there is any doubt about the application of the law, inquiry should be addressed to the nearest regional office of the U. S. Department of Labor, 715 Federal Building, Detroit.

Plan Fire Prevention Week October 3 - 9

Ask yourself this question: Considering the costs of fire in losses of lives of property, lives, and food, can anyone afford to allow fire hazards around the farm?

National Fire Prevention Week will be observed this year beginning the week of October 3. A nationwide campaign for the elimination of fire hazards is planned for this week.

Fred Roth, farm safety specialist at Michigan State College, cautions that the best defense against fires is alertness. Check your farm now for possible causes of fire. Do your part to help cut the annual toll of 100 million dollars and 3,500 lives lost in farm fires in the United States.

AN APPRECIATION

And many thanks to Little Traverse Hospital, neighbors and friends for flowers, cards and kindness during my illness.
Ransom Jones

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Laird received a visit from her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Holben of Clarksville, Ark. Mr. Holben left Michigan for the south 43 years ago and this is his first visit to his home town since. He said that he hardly knew the place with the saw mills and boat dock all gone. They returned home Tuesday.

In a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Penfold, their son, DuWayne of El Centro, Calif., writes that he was sent to Santa Catalina as a delegate last week.

Traffic Re-routed on U. S. 31 North of Charlevoix

With work rapidly progressing on the paving of US-31 relocation to Bay Shore in Charlevoix county, it has been necessary to establish another temporary route for through traffic in that area, Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler said today.

Traffic is being routed from Bay Shore on county roads south one-half mile, thence west to the village of Burgess and back to US-31. It is expected the temporary route will remain in effect for approximately two weeks.

The new highway will run parallel to the present US31, southwest of Bay Shore through an underpass under the Pere Marquette railroad to a point east of Charlevoix. It will eliminate a crossing of the railroad track northeast of Charlevoix.

Paving has been completed to the north limits of Charlevoix except for three gaps which were left open so that traffic could get through. These gaps will be finished this week and then the construction crews will move to the vicinity of the grade separation is also expected to be finished this week.

The relocation is 8.141 miles in length and replaces the old highway which was built in 1921 and is badly worn. Loselle Construction Co., Wyandotte, is the contractor and the contract price is $491,851.

The project is scheduled for completion December 1, 1948.

Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Hayden, Mrs. Ken Russell and Mrs. Pauline Arnott went blackberrying at Alba Thurs. They got three cases in a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Hayden and Mr. Bill Olstrum spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Beyer of Petoskey, the men repaired the silo. Mrs. Beyer is not in very good health.

Mrs. June Russell left by bus Sunday evening to visit her husband who is at Ann Arbor Hospital for treatment. The oldest child stayed with the grandparents Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Russell and the three younger ones with grand parents Mr. and Mrs. Bert Coulter.

Sister of the late Esther Hayden passes away at Traverse City Hospital, Sept. 12, 1948, with pneumonia. Viola Allan was born in Coloma, Mich. (Berrien County) about 1864. Date not known. Heap Big Cash Due, Indian Tribes Claim

Tab Compiled for Uncle Sam on Land Compensation.

NEW YORK.—The Indians want at least $7,500,000,000 from the United States. Then they'll be willing to call it a deal and stop dunning the present owners.

The figure is an estimate by Lewis Allen Youpe, an Indian representative, of the total bill which 250 tribes will hand Uncle Sam for real estate they claim he didn't pay enough for in the first place. The tab includes accumulated interest.

The government itself invited this. Under terms of the Indian claims act of August, 1946, the Indians were given five years in which to file claims for compensation for lands they ceded to the government many years ago.

The biggest single tab, running to at least $5,000,000,000, will come from 30 tribes which make up the Northern Confederacy, according to Youpe, who is the Confederacy's legislative counsel.

He estimates that the remaining tribes, which were less populous, will bill Uncle Sam for at least $2,500,000,000.

No claims actually have been filed because the Indian Claims commission hasn't started functioning. When they are filed, many tribes are expected to pool their claims.

In all, the government made about 320 treaties of cession with the Indians. Of these, Youpe says, about 190 treaties were made with the Northern Confederacy and the Siouian tribes.

The Northern Confederacy, alone, wants to be paid for all of Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin and for big parts of Nebraska, New York and Pennsylvania.

Electronic 'Brain' to Aim Guns, Department Hints

WASHINGTON.—Electronic "brains" that snap out answers much faster than a man can think are being prepared to aim the fire of tomorrow's planes and warships, and help ward off any enemy's supersonic blow.

This was partly revealed in a report on the navy's secret "Radac" by President Truman's scientific research board.

"Radac—rapid digital automatic computation—may well be a development of military significance comparable to radar," the board said.

John N. Brown, assistant secretary of the navy for air, hinted at development of a super-gun director. He said new computing devices were being developed that could take radar signals and other information and calculate a quick answer. He did not mention Radac by name.

Vicar Calls for Funds To Restore Church Bell

NEWINGTON, ENGLAND.—Rev. A. H. Lance, vicar of Newington, defied the devil and called for funds to rebuild the belfry of his 800-year-old church and get its bells ringing again.

Traditionally, the devil hates the bells of Newington. According to legend, he once visited the parish and was so disturbed by the bells that he climbed the belfry, put the bells in a sack and jumped down.

He landed on a rock which to this day bears distinct hoofprints, the legend says, and departing left a sulphurous curse to the effect that if anyone moved that stone no bells ever would ring in Newington church again.

During the war, the church road was widened and the stone was moved to a churchyard. About the same time, the church tower fell into such a bad state that ringing of the bells was forbidden.

Now the vicar, who was a chaplain with the royal air force during the war, is canvassing Newington's 1,200 inhabitants for money to rebuild the belfry.

School Roof Falls; Pupils Saved by an Alert Teacher

MIDVALE, UTAH.—The roof of West Jordan junior high school collapsed less than five minutes after a teacher had noticed it sagging and sounded a fire alarm.

Nearly 400 students marched to safety and were standing in the school yard when the roof fell. None was hurt.

Sixty-five students were in the school auditorium for a music class when the teacher, Lowell Hicks, heard a "cracking noise" and ordered them outdoors in the belief that an earthquake was beginning.

Naturalist Takes Stroll And Finds Unusual Friend

DOYLESTOWN, PA.—Naturalist George MacReynolds took a stroll to view the wonders of nature and had the thrill of his 88-year lifetime.

A spike-buck deer popped up beside him and stepped up boldly to nibble at a piece of candy in his outstretched hand.

Deer and naturalist walked leisurely back toward town as motorists stopped to watch in amazement. MacReynolds had to hide in the bushes to lose his friend.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Nicest Compliment I've Had

One of the nicest comments I've received about this column was from an editor in the Middle West I called on. And while I don't like to give myself o'chids, I think it illustrates a point.

"Joe," he said, "it so happens I don't agree with everything you say, but I always like to run your column. Because it gets down to earth and talks about the right to disagree. And it only asks for tolerance towards the other person's point of view."

He went on to explain, by way of illustration, that he never had happened to have a taste for ale or beer. But that when I spoke of the right to enjoy a moderate beverage like beer, well, he was right there with me!

And from where I sit, that's the important thing: not whether you share another person's tastes or point of view—but whether you recognize his right to exercise a free choice in a free land.

Faith: A Family Tradition
Lesson for September 26, 1948

HERE IS a brief Bible quiz: What Christian man did Paul recommend to the Philippians as the one completely unselfish person he knew? When Paul needed a man to present his ideas to a "problem church," whom did he send? When Paul wanted reliable information about a church, on whose report did he depend? Whom did Paul call "son" more often than any one else? The answer to all these questions is the same: Timothy.

Dr. Foreman

Certainly a man whom the great Saint Paul found so congenial, so reliable, so unselfish and effective a Christian, is a man worth our careful attention. We ask this question about him: What made him what he was?

Faith at Home

SOME MEN have to leave home to find faith. But perhaps the happiest Christians, certainly the most fortunate, are those who cannot remember what it was not to have faith. It was the atmosphere they breathed as children. The first people they knew were Christians, prayer and faith were taken for granted, the name of Christ was heard only in reverence and love, never in jest or anger.

Timothy grew up in such a home. When he became a mature, working Christian he had no wasted years to regret, no wild oats to pull up. The faith of his adult mind was not scarred by the acid remains of earlier doubt. Timothy's life was all of one piece. He was born to faith, he grew up in it.

Homes can do a great deal for the children who live in them. But nothing else—physical health, poise, culture, friends, ambition—nothing else is quite so valuable a gift or quite so lasting, as faith.

In later years faith may have to be pounded into a person or shocked into him; but in childhood faith is woven in, welded in, and that is as it should be. Happy the Christian who does not have to turn his back on his childhood when he turns his face to Christ!

Book of Wisdom

"RELIGION cannot be taught, it can only be caught," is an old saying. It is partly true, for you cannot set any dozen people at random down on a bench and teach them into faith. If teaching religion were as simple as that, then every Sunday school could guarantee that every one of its graduates would become a saint. Nevertheless, religion can partly be taught, for in a book there may be crystallized the faith of many a generation. A book may concentrate and preserve the insight, the inspiration, the assurance of men and women who though dead yet speak.

Living with books of faith is like living with many families of faith at the same time. Such a book is the Bible. And it was the Bible, or so much of it as had been written. The Old Testament, which was the one Book in Timothy's boyhood home. Through the Scriptures, the boy's mother taught her son not merely her own faith but that of many a generation before her time.

In our own day, parents may feel that they come too far short of being saints, so they hesitate about urging their perhaps dimly-felt religion on their children. Yet in our Bible there is open to all fathers and mothers a means of placing their children in an atmosphere of intense faith.

Personal religious genius is rare; but even though you may be any thing but a genius, you still can bring to your child the treasures of the Bible, product of the highest inspiration and insight the world has known.

Women of the Family

TIMOTHY'S FATHER was a Greek, probably not a Christian. He and Timothy may never have understood each other. It was the women of the family who molded the boy's mind and heart, his mother, Eunice, and his grand mother, Lois.

It is always so. It is the women of a family who have most influence for faith or against it. The boy knows his mother before he knows any one else. She teaches him to talk, he absorbs her attitudes and ideas even before he understands them. If father and mother differ in religion, it is likely that children will follow mother rather than father.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

1948 Election Campaign Hits Stride
As Democrats, GOP Vie for Labor;
Soviets Aggravate Berlin Situation

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

THE GOLDEN KEY . . . Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, beams as he accepts from former French Premier Robert Schuman a golden key as a symbol of France's temporary surrender of sovereignty over the Palais de Chaillot, where the U. N. general assembly opened on September 21. What treasures of peace that key might unlock this year is a question that gives pause to the entire world.

CAMPAIGN:

Trumpets Sounded

Politicians cleared their throats as with the sound of trumpets, and the 1948 presidential election campaign swept into motion.

The first skirmish between Democrats and Republicans featured President Truman and Harold E. Stassen, who carried the word of their respective parties into the great industrial area around Detroit.

THAT INDICATED that, for the time being at least, the pivotal factor directing the policies of both GOP and Democratic campaigns would be the labor vote.

To win the election this November Mr. Truman probably will need the same proportionate amount of the labor vote that turned out in favor of Roosevelt in the 1932, 1936 and 1940 campaigns. Whether he will get it is very much open to question at this stage.

Truman

Launching his battle for re-election in the Detroit area over the Labor Day week-end, President Truman fired at will.

AT GRAND RAPIDS, Lansing, Detroit, Pontiac and Flint he exhorted all the "little people" of the U. S. to register and vote in the November 2 election.

If a heavy vote turns out, he insisted, not only will he be re-elected, but the Republican majority in congress will be replaced by a Democratic one.

"IF YOU STAY home next November and keep these reactionaries in power, you will deserve every blow you get and you can expect a barrage of body blows," said Mr. Truman. This was a repetition of an idea—that "you'll get what you deserve"—which he had expressed earlier in the year and which, at the time, was received with some animosity by the people to whom he addressed it.

"You can elect a reactionary administration and go into an era of fear, or you can elect a congress and an administration that stand ready to play fair with every element of American life and enter an era of new hope. We're in a hard, tough fight against shrewd, rich opponents. They don't count on your vote; they just don't want you to vote."

Judging from his Labor Day speeches, President Truman is planning to shape his campaign around these contentions:

1. THAT THE MAIN issue boils down to Republican special privileges as against Democratic concern for the little man.
2. THAT THE "DO-NOTHING" 80th congress, under GOP control, has done nothing to justify its reelection.
3. THAT ANYTHING EXCEPT an all-out vote by labor on election day "would be a betrayal by labor of its own interests."
4. THAT IF THE MASS of the nation's voters go to the polls on election day a Democratic victory is assured.

Stassen

Just a step and a half behind Mr. Truman came Harold E. Stassen, striving valiantly to scatter the coals of the bonfire the President had kindled in Detroit.

Apparently blessed by Thomas E. Dewey, GOP presidential candidate, Stassen's speech in the motor city was billed as the official kickoff of the Republican campaign.

Employment Record

The U. S. rounded the turn from summer to autumn with its civilian employment at the highest level in the history of the nation.

Approximately 61.5 million workers are employed, while the unemployed number only 2,227,000 as compared to more than 12 million during the gloomy depression years of the early 1930s. Personal prosperity now depends, however, on the impact of inflation.

STASSEN SPARED no words in taking President Truman to task, referring to him as a "complaining" failure who had resorted to "demagogic appeals" in seeking reelection.

Specifically, he charged that Mr. Truman had "dishonored labor with an extreme demagogic appeal to set class against class."

In thus resorting to the time-honored political device of attacking and reproaching the opponent from a personal standpoint, Stassen had gone Mr. Truman one better. In his Detroit addresses the President did not even mention Thomas Dewey.

THE DEFEATED GOP aspirant for the party's nomination declared that Mr. Truman had come not to laud labor for its record, but "as a complaining candidate for election seeking labor's vote."

"His scolding, threatening, complaining speeches" indicated that he lacks the leadership "in affairs at home and abroad so vitally needed in these next crucial years," said Stassen.

"He failed when he had a Democratic congress to work with."

"He failed when he had a Republican congress to work with."

TURNING TO THE political football which the election year has made of the issue of Communist activities in the U. S., Stassen asserted that the Republican party is "driving the red herring out of the official waters of the Potomac" by means of congressional inquiries into the Communist problem.

"Too many red herrings have been in Washington for too long a time," he blasted. "The President should help man the red herring nets instead of complaining against the fishermen."

BERLIN: More Trouble

There was, it appeared, no end to the Russian-sponsored trouble in Berlin, and it was having its grimly detrimental effect on the fiber of the peace.

Latest incident piled atop many other instances of petty Soviet encroachments, needed little more than a small flame to turn into a funeral pyre for what is left of world harmony.

IT WAS A FLAGRANT invasion of American offices in the Berlin city hall by armed Russian-controlled police who kidnapped 19 western sector policemen who had sought sanctuary in the building.

What the purpose of the raid was never became quite clear. On the surface it looked like pure terrorism carried out as part of the overall Soviet plan eventually to get control of the entire German capital.

AN AMERICAN protest by Col. Frank Howley, American commandant in Berlin, was rejected bluntly by the Soviet commander, Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov, who flatly warned the U. S. officials "not to interfere in matters which don't concern them."

Kotikov's letter followed rejection of French protests that demanded the release of another 19 anti-Communist western sector policemen who were kidnaped by Soviet police while traveling in a French convoy under a Russian guarantee of safe conduct.

In the face of these intolerable developments, how could East-West negotiations for a Berlin agreement continue? Apparently they couldn't, except under almost impossible strain.

SECRETARY OF STATE George Marshall charged that the Berlin city hall kidnappings were aimed, at least in part, at disrupting the talks by the four military governors who were, ostensibly, seeking the road to a settlement of the Berlin problem and the issue of uniform currency.

Thus, it was easy to understand why U. S. diplomatic authorities were concerned with the possibility of an early collapse of the formal negotiations. It was likely that the Kremlin would be the first to flash the red light.

CABINET:

Sil Vous Plait

They couldn't find a government in France. As a political situation that appeared slightly ludicrous from across the Atlantic, but Frenchmen were becoming sorely worried for fear that they had lost the ability or power to govern themselves.

AFTER PREMIER Andre Marie's cabinet fell, President Vincent Auriol appointed Robert Schuman as premier and gave him the usual instructions to form a cabinet.

Schuman duly gathered together an administrative body and then, 64 hours later, watched it fall apart when he was defeated on a technical proposal to postpone questioning of the new cabinet by the national assembly. In short, he failed to get the necessary vote of confidence.

Desperate by this time, President Auriol then named Henri Queuille, veteran Radical Socialist, to succeed Schuman.

WHAT QUEUILLE could do to produce some kind of order out of political confusion and economic travail no one knew. He is 64 years old, a little known political figure in France and was a wartime assistant of Gen. Charles DeGaulle.

The situation pointed up the alarmed belief, becoming more predominant in France, that no individual or group can command the working majority that will enable him to govern the nation successfully.

It is a paradox that the parties in the moderate center of the political scale in France can speak for less than 25 per cent of the people. General DeGaulle, on the right, commands 45 per cent of the vote, and Communist groups hold another 30 per cent.

Although the past few weeks have not been conducive to a coherent examination of the political situation in France, the principal trend seems to be toward a return of General DeGaulle and his right-wing beliefs to power.

ANYTHING NEW

Bloomin' Sage

That sagebrush is mighty pretty when it blooms purple, and the song-writers can't be blamed for making something out of it.

But out West they hate that sage. It swathes nearly 96 million western acres in a tough, resistant blanket, and ranchers and federal range managers alike consider it an almost complete nuisance.

THEY WANT TO REPLACE the whole 96 million acres with nutritious grasses for cattle and sheep. Some of the sage would have to be retained to prevent erosion, but most of it could go.

They were talking about the problem of eliminating sagebrush at the annual meeting at Fort Collins, Colo., of the American Society of Agronomists and the Soil Science Society.

Despite efforts to control or eradicate it, the sage continues to spread and probably covers a greater area now than before the pioneer settlers went West.

MOST HOPEFUL development is the new brush-land plow, 10 of which are being built for further trial. Also, congress will be asked next year to provide more money for range reseeding and improvement.

About five million acres of western range already have been reseeded. These pastures almost invariably carry more nutritious and abundant food for cattle than the original prairie, according to U. S. forest service officials. Animals make better gains on it.

IN THE LONG RUN that could mean more and cheaper meat.

Lip Service

First frothy by-product of the fermentation of the 1948 presidential campaign is the "Dewey duster," a false, Deweyesque mustache to tickle the fancy of stiff-upper-lip Republicans. Soon to appear on store counters across the nation, the gadget consists of a bit of black chenille clipped to the upper lip in true-blue GOP style.

POLIO:

Mice Cured

Columbia university has announced the development of a new sulfa-type drug, called Darvisul, that cures one kind of infantile paralysis in mice and is also a successful preventive to the disease in mice.

Despite extensive tests during the past summer, it is still not known whether the new drug will prove effective against polio in human beings.

Rusted Tools Can Be Brought Back To Good Condition

Have you ever had trouble with tools rusting? There are few people who haven't accidentally left a saw in the wet grass over night or had a favorite hammer grow rusty.

Carl F. Albrecht, agricultural engineer at Michigan State College, points out that prevention of rust is easier than getting rid of it but that a few steps will help bring the tools back to good shape again.

If just a light coating of rust has formed on the tool, the chances are you'll be able to rub practically all of it off with a rag soaked in kerosene or light oil. The oil will also act as a seal and prevent further rusting.

But for the real bad ones, rusted so severely that they're pitted, more drastic steps are needed. Albrecht advises starting with a mild abrasive-pumice stone and oil, for example. If that doesn't do the job, he recommends about a 240 grit emery cloth and oil. It's possible that you may need even coarser material such as a rotary wire brush, then 180 grit emery cloth and oil, then 240 grit and finally pumice and oil to complete the job and give it a smooth, shiny finish.

Preventing rust is easier in the long run, he states. For long time storage, tools should be coated with heavy oil or light grease. For ordinary shop storage, see that tools are in dry cabinets, never near salts, alkalies, or acids. Keep a rag and some light oil handy to make it convenient to apply a little oil to the tools occasionally. Don't forget to keep the rags in an air-tight container to prevent fire.

Train Five Year Olds for College

Whether your child is five or fifteen, you fathers and mothers are now preparing him for the responsibilities of adulthood.

Your five-year-old may seem a long way from college, but Ruth Highberger, instructor in child development at Michigan State College, reminds that he is not too young to be taught independence.

There's the matter of choosing friends. Parents always fear that friendship with an undesirable child will have a lasting effect. But your child was pretty much yours for those first five years and has copied behavior patterns that will always be the strongest influence in his life. He needs to know a great variety of people so that he will be able to choose friends and later a wife or husband when he is older.

Experience in handling money is important preparation for college. Children can't be expected to understand the value of money if they are given some every time they ask for it. If they are given a very small amount every week when they start to school and this is gradually increased, they will have a good beginning. They will make mistakes—but they'll make them while they're young. As children grow older allowances can be increased to include certain items of clothing. High school boys and girls need jobs independent of the family to develop a feeling of responsibility and independence.

It is likely that you and your adolescent child will have conflicts over choices of friends, places of entertainment and time for getting home. It may be impossible to avoid it—but you can keep it at a minimum by showing affectionate interest and dictating only when necessary. You will frequently have to sit back and hope that the good judgment you have established in their childhood will carry the adolescents past their problems safely.

Road Board Tells Why School Bus Routes are Risky

Complaints have been received from various parts of the country that many of the roads used by buses for the consolidated schools are not safe.

The Board of Road Commissioners, at their last meeting readily admitted the fact and issued a formal statement on the matter. It said: "Extreme caution must be used on many of the Charlevoix County roads traversed by school buses. Too often shoulders are narrow, or guard posts are missing. "With the continued consolidation of schools and increased transportation of pupils, certain new routes have been laid out by school authorities, often without consulting the Road Commission. While the commission has no authority to inform the schools that any certain road should not be used, neither is the Commission compelled by law to snowplow or maintain roads for school buses or mail routes.

Always in the past the Road Commission has tried to maintain the roads used by both the mails and schools, and will continue to do so as long as funds are available. However, the public must realize that the only funds allotted for roads are from the Gas and Weight Taxes. "Inasmuch as it is a stipulated sum from the Gas Tax, the increase in gallonage sold does not increase the allocation. The Weight Tax (license plates) has remained the same since it was reduced by half 20 years ago.

"So with practically the same income today as then, the Road Commission must operate with steadily increasing expense. Equipment and repairs have gone up 50 to 75 percent; payrolls are 100 percent higher. "It is with this thought in mind that the Commission explains its position to the public. It asks that all drivers use caution on the township roads. And it also suggests that if Charlevoix County wants better and safer roads, a word to our state legislators for more road funds will help us to have them."

Engineers Solve Crystal Problem

Synthetic Quartz Replaces Natural Product for Phone Channels.

NEW YORK. — Artificial crystals, the Bell laboratories announce, now are being produced in quantities almost large enough to supplant natural quartz, a product hitherto indispensable in long distance telephone and radio work. The artificial crystals resemble large clusters of rock candy, or ice cubes, as they grow in the laboratory in large glass tanks.

Technicians explained that as a result of this practical solution of the crystal problem, urgently-needed phone channels will go into operation much sooner than otherwise thought possible. Some circuits, it was said, already are operating with the synthetic product, notably channels between New York and St. Louis.

In the laboratory, artificial crystals slowly increase in weight and size from small "seeds" implanted in vats of easily obtained chemicals. Eventually they are expected to replace as much as 90 per cent of the natural quartz, and "do as good or better job."

The best natural quartz is laboriously mined in the mountains of South America and is now scarce.

Try Many Formulas.

The new substance is known technically as "ethylene diamine tartrate," or EDT, and was evolved by Bell chemists and physicists after more than 100 other chemical formulas were investigated, it was said. A special plant, built by Western Electric company at Allentown, Pa., now is geared to produce "hundreds of thousands" of units annually.

When the artificial crystals in their chemical growing tanks have increased about one pound, or six inches long and two to three inches in cross-section, they are removed, sawed into thin wafers, ground carefully to precise thicknesses, mounted in special holders and installed in electrical circuits.

Company experts explained that such wafers are "piezo-electric." That is, when twisted or pressed they generate an electrical voltage. Likewise, when a voltage is applied to them they generate mechanical forces by bending. Telephone engineers use these properties to subdivide a wide communication channel into smaller ones, or hold apparatus on an assigned frequency.

Television to Telephone. A coaxial cable capable of carrying a whole television program of several million cycles from city to city one instant can be quickly subdivided, it was explained, into an ideal telephone channel capable of carrying several hundred telephone conversations without mixing them up.

The new product is the direct result of research that has been in progress for more than 25 years. During the war, company experts developed another type of crystal useful in "sonar," underwater equivalent of radar. The chemical composition was different than EDT, but both were piezo-electric. More than 20 million of them, it was said, were produced. The knowledge thus gained has been turned largely to peaceful ways and large-scale EDT production is expected.

Artificial-crystal growing is a very precise process. Temperatures, for example, are held in the chemical solution to less than one-tenth of a degree variation. One crop of crystals is sawed off the parent body, leaving only a sliver to immerse again in the tank to start another crop. Harvest time is every three months.

Army Bars Russians From Ordnance Demonstration

WASHINGTON. — The army said that Russian military attaches were not invited to an ordnance demonstration at the Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds because American attaches have been barred from similar showings in Russia.

The Aberdeen demonstration is staged annually by the Army Ordnance association to show new weapons in operation.

Military attaches of other foreign powers attended the demonstration along with more than 2,500 U. S. industrialists, army, navy and air force officers and newspaper men.

A year ago Soviet military attaches and newsmen were invited. This was the first indication that the army is retaliating for discrimination against it attaches in Moscow.

Europeans Seen Starving This Winter, Missions Told

BURLINGTON, VT. — Starvation is "an absolute certainty" for hosts of people in Europe this winter, the 138th annual meeting of the American Board of Foreign Missions was told.

The Rev. Emerson G. Hagen of Meriden, Conn., recently returned from a European tour under auspices of the Congregational Christian Service committee, told a luncheon meeting:

"There are no prospects of improvement in sight. On the contrary, all the signs point to an approaching winter of even greater distress than last year."

SOUTH ARM...

(Edited by Mrs. Arnold Smith)

Silo filling has come to an end in our community this week.

Archie Murphy called at the home of Homer Nasson, Thursday.

Georgia Murphy attended a party at Bill Parson's home Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kiser were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Iaman.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moore and funeral of Mrs. Moore's nephew who was drowned.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Smith and children spent Sunday with his brothers, Lyle and Jett Smith and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Murphy and children were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Parsons and family near Norwood.

The meeting at the Ranney Sunday school was quite well attended Sunday night, but we do wish more people would come to these wonderful, helpful meetings when Rev. Buck delivers such grand messages.

There is a Missionary coming to the Bennett School Oct. 3rd, to show slides that were taken in Iran where Mr. and Mrs. Hydenburk are now. Mr. Hydenburk was the Missionary who organized our Sunday school here about seven years ago.

There will be an opening meeting at the South Arm Grange hall Sept. 30th. There will be a pot luck lunch after a full evening program. Mr. Kirkpatrick will be there with movies Flint last Tuesday to attend the Rev. and Mrs. Rouse made a trip to of his European trip last summer.

We wouldn't mind people being breezy if they gave off something besides hot air.
