Community Chest Program

E. JORDAN JOINS "RED FEATHER" PARADE OF CITIES

For the first time this year we will see East Jordan joining the hundreds of communities that have been conducting their "Service" commitments on a business like basis and anticipating the year's budget and work in advance. It has been felt that locally it would be advantageous to join the Community Chest program and combine the money raising campaigns in one grand effort . . . but until now no actual effort to this end has materialized. The needs covered in the program are not charity but community obligations that up to now have been cared for by individual drives and solicitations and are now proposed to Health Service, Youth Service, Recreation Service, Youth Recreation, Emergency Fund, Boy and Girl Scouts, Child Guidance, Welfare Councils, Family Service, Hospitals, . . . these are all typical "Red Feather" services that will benefit everybody . . . if everybody gives.

East Jordan's "Chest" drive is scheduled to start on Oct. 18th and will run through to the 23rd with $2750.00 as the budgeted sum to be raised. A special "Kick-off" dinner will be held at the Jordan Inn at 6:30 p. m., Oct. 19th, for all committee members and solicitors and the following morning the extensive house-to-house and person-to-person campaign will really go into high gear. All workers and committee people are urged to make special note of the date and time . . . if you are carrying the ball it is up to you to be there!

The Red Feather has become a nationally known symbol with over a thousand cities and towns conducting their Community Chest campaigns under its banner, twelve hundred different agencies are receiving help from it, a million volunteer workers call on their neighbors and friends to provide the necessary funds, twenty million Americans each year contribute. . . and it still remains a community project with the entire proceeds remaining in the community and county in which they were raised. It is our opportunity to take care of these multiple needs in one program. Do your share when called upon.

Frank Phillips Retires After Fifty-Odd Years In Business

Frank Phillips, 76, got his first experience, as a barber, on Beaver Island as lad of 16, when he had to go to work to earn funds to pay his way home. After he returned to East Jordan he went to work for Steve Cummings as an apprentice. Mr. Phillips became the leading barber in town. He says times have changed. He likes to tell of the days when (all town was in the center of the lumber industry in the lower peninsula. Those were the days when many of his patrons were lumbermen, who came to town in the spring for a hair cut and shave and got another before they returned to the lumber camps for winter. And now after 53 years at barbering and 56 years in the same location on Main St., Mr. Phillips retired on Saturday Oct. 9. Many of the business men on the street gathered at the barber shop in the evening to exchange stories and presented Phillips with a $50.00 purse. Harry Simmons was the last patron present.

After turning the key in the lock for the last time, he handed it to Wm. Huckle who has purchased the building and will convert it into a studio in the near future.

Inheritance Laws at Training School

Leaders of the Home Economics Extension groups in Antrim County will attend a training meeting to be held Tuesday, Oct. 19 at the Court House, Bellaire. Mrs. Virginia Vance, District Home Demonstration Agent will be in charge of the leaders training meeting. Descent and Distribution of Property and Wills will be the subject of the lesson.

The aim of this lesson is to help everyone secure a better understanding of everyday affairs concerning the legal phrases of the farm and home. A great many people suffer undue losses because of the lack of knowledge concerning such matters.

New Farm Program Affects Farmers Support Prices

The new farm program, authorized by Congress, will have an effect on the support prices which are guaranteed to farmers, according to Michigan State college farm economists.

Support prices were originally planned to encourage farmers to increase and maintain production during the war years when great quantities of food were needed. Support prices also insure farmers against disastrous declines in prices and incomes such as occurred in 1921 and again following 1929. A modernization of the "parity" concept has been enacted to bring these support prices up to date and to correct some of the inequalities brought about by changing markets and agricultural production advances.

In effect, the new farm act lowers the parity calculation generally for grains, cotton, peanuts, and rice; and raises the level for hogs, beef cattle, milk and cottonseed.

Price supports on most farm products are to continue at 90 percent of parity through 1949 as has been the practice in the past. For crops, the support price is made available to farmers through loans or purchase agreements. Prices of dairy products, eggs, hogs, and turkeys are also supported at 90 percent of parity; however, the market price for these products will still be above the support level.

Beginning in 1950, the support level is flexible and ranges from a low of 60 percent to a high of 90 percent of parity depending upon the supply. The overall idea behind the long range program is that, although prices will be lower, farmers will get a larger total income for a larger production than for a small production. This, MSC economists believe, will encourage an abundant food supply and yet prevent a disastrous decline in prices which farmers may receive.

Traffic Deaths Drop, But October Is Worst Month

An encouraging turn in the traffic accident record reported by State Police Commissioner, Donald S. Leonard was accompanied by a reminder that through the years Michigan has had its highest monthly death toll in October.

"The fall months are the time for increased caution," Leonard said. "Oct. has been the peak month for fatalities because of extra hazards, such as fog, frosted windshields, slippery pavements, more hours of darkness, and heavy week-end football travel. The pedestrian death toll is particularly heavy during the fall and winter, and collisions with railroad trains also increase. Keep these facts in mind and drive with utmost care."

The monthly statistical report of the State Police showed 137 persons killed during August, or 12 fewer than in the same month a year ago. There were 3,855 persons injured, or two percent more than in August of 1947. While this continued the upward trend, the increase was the smallest of any month this year.

Reported accidents showed the first decrease in five months, totaling 10,569, or a reduction of four percent compared with August of a year ago.

All of these accident decrease was in the urban areas, but most of the fatality reduction was on the rural trunkline system. Rural pedestrian deaths, however, increased sharply, numbering 23 as compared with 11 in August of 1947.

The record for the first eight months of this year shows 858 persons killed, a reduction of 38 or four percent under the same period of a year ago; 25,579 persons injured, an increase of 1,864 or eight percent, and 90,231 accidents, an increase of 3,575 or four percent.

Mileage for the first seven months of this year was up nine percent over the same period of 1947, but the death rate was down 11 percent on a mileage basis.

You are cordially invited to attend "Your Hymn Sing" at the L. D. S. Church, Oct. 24, at 7:30 p. m.

Play To A Scoreless Tie

JORDAN HALTS CHARLEVOIX IN A SPECTACULAR CONTEST

Over Two thousand rabid football fans were present, Friday, to witness one of the most spectacular contests ever played in the north.

The East Jordan Red Devils fought to a scoreless tie with the three-year champions of the athletic conference and brought to a thrilling halt their string of 23 straight victories.

From the opening whistle to the climatic end of the fourth quarter, The David-Goliath battle raged not more than 30 yds. distance from either side of midfield stripe.

Coach Devine's outwheeled underdogs of the game carried the fight all ways to their opponents. The farthest advance of the Red Devils into Rayder territory was to the 18 yd. line while the Rayders penetrated only to the Jordan 30 yd. marker.

The first half was marked by strong defensive play by both teams. The removal of Charlevoix's offensive treat, Dick Jolliffe due to a knee injury was matched by the outstanding defensive play of halfback, Don Cutler.

The second half found both teams playing a determined brand of football. The Rayders in the third quarter paused and ran the ball into E. J. territory where the Red Devils held and forced Charlevoix to kick. With the ball brought out on the 20 yd. line, Quarterback, Bryan Boring called a series of line smashes which, with Fullback, Hammond and, Halfback Cutler and Somerville carrying the ball, rocked the Kipke Rayders throughout the fourth quarter and brought the ball to the Charlevoix 18 yd. line.

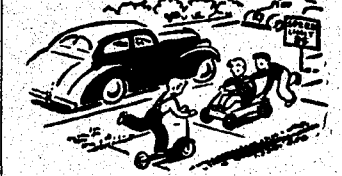

Losing the ball on downs, the Rayders launched an unsuccessful aerial attack to score. They had moved the ball to the 50 yd. line when the referee's signal announced the end of the deadlock and, thus far, the co-holders for the Class "C" Football Championship.

- The starting line up for the East Jordan Red Devils were:
- R. E. B. Cummins, senior
 - R. T. A. Chanda, junior
 - R. G. B. Saxton, junior
 - C. E. Evans, sophomore
 - L. Q. D. Thompson, senior
 - L. T. J. Meredith, junior
 - L. E. F. Holland, senior
 - Q. B. B. Boring, sophomore
 - L. B. J. Hammond, junior

MICHIGAN Motoring

It's surprising how many Michigan drivers adhere to signs saying "Speed Limit - 25" by keeping their speedometers at exactly 26. When safe, this is the lawful speed limit - unless otherwise posted. But every driver must remember the fundamental rule of speeds: ANY SPEED WHICH IS UNSAFE IS UNLAWFUL!

Sometimes the fastest you may lawfully drive will be only 10 or 15 miles an hour—even though the stated speed is 25 miles. Especially when traffic is heavy—when the streets are slippery with rain or snow—or when small children are playing near the streets . . . your reduced speed may mean the difference between life and death!

On the highway, too, the right speed may save a life. For instance: suppose you're driving along at 50 miles an hour. You see a car coming and brake to a stop as fast as you can, still keeping the car under control. Do you know how much distance you "ate up" stopping your car? Just about a full city block!

There's something even more important—do you know that your car probably travelled about 56 feet from the time you knew you had to stop until the brakes started taking hold? It took you that long to react!

Keep these safety thoughts in mind every minute you're behind the wheel of an automobile. Whether on a crowded city street . . . a country highway . . . or a village road—any speed which is unsafe is unlawful! What's more—an unsafe speed spells "danger". Drive safely—and SAVE LIVES!

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Western Allies Place Berlin Issue Before U.N. as Negotiations Fail; Two Unions Barred From A-Plants

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

'BLACK FURY':
Peace Threat

There was no war in sight, yet the East-West situation was starkly dangerous.

It was dangerous for the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia—and for the United Nations which now had to thrust its hands into the tangled skein of diplomatic threads and try to straighten out the snarls.

PRACTICALLY no optimism existed among U. N. delegations in Paris. There was no reason for any.

The United States, Britain and France had broken off negotiations with Russia over blockaded Berlin and referred the issue to the U. N. security council as a threat to peace.

No hint of appeasement appeared in the western nations' attitude. They said they would reserve to themselves the full right to take whatever measures were necessary to maintain their position in Berlin while referring the case to the U. N.

BRITISH FOREIGN Secretary Ernest Bevin told the U. N. general assembly that Russia would be to blame if a "black fury," the incalculable disaster of atomic war, strikes the world.

Immediate cause of this inflamed condition in Europe was the blatant bad faith exercised by the Soviets during the 58-day series of talks in Moscow between the three western ambassadors and Stalin and Molotov.

After the three ambassadors, Smith of the U. S., Roberts of England and Chataigneau of France, had left the Soviet capital the western allies made public a 24,000-word "white paper" charging the Russians with wenching on a secret agreement by Stalin to lift the Berlin blockade.

WHEN THE western nations discovered the disillusioning fact that Russia was literally trying to pull a fast one in order to gain control of Berlin, further direct negotiation was patently useless. Thus, the issue was turned over to the security council.

Not that anyone hoped the security council would be able to take any effective action. The Russian veto probably would nullify any efforts it might make.

MOTIVES: Russian

Washington believes the crisis centering in Berlin will continue at fever pitch at least until next spring—provided it does not explode into total war before then.

It is a bad outlook, of course, from the U. S. viewpoint. But for the Russians the coming six months loom as a golden opportunity to expand their power in Europe and throughout the world.

THEY WILL be able to do this, they believe, because American efforts and sentiment will be divided and weakened by the election campaign.

Official Soviet attitude is that American leaders will be so immersed in domestic affairs that they will be able to give only a fraction

Futility Unlimited

These are the three western ambassadors to Russia who engaged in six weeks of rigorous but unavailing diplomatic fencing with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov on the subject of Germany and the Berlin blockade. They were able to accomplish nothing and finally left Moscow to report to the heads of their respective governments. Left to right are: Yves Chataigneau, France; Walter Bedell Smith, U. S.; and Frank Roberts, Great Britain.

Bill Collector

Russia, the only nation that has not closed its lend-lease account with the U. S., has been asked to pay up pronto.

The state department, in a new note, called upon the Soviets to resume negotiations for settling its long overdue lend-lease account of 11 billion dollars.

News of the action was kept secret for two weeks for fear of upping the delicate Berlin discus-of their time to consideration of international developments.

That's why the Russians are trying to shoot the works now. It is why they saw fit to make the virtually impossible demand for control of all traffic—land, air and water—between Berlin and western Germany as one of the conditions for lifting the blockade which has throttled the German capital since June.

WHAT IS IT the Russians want so badly that they are willing to risk an atomic war to get?

Briefly, they want to get the U. S. out of Europe, and that means nothing else but that they want to control Europe themselves.

The Kremlin, some time ago, rejected a proposal that Russia and the western allies stabilize their military and political positions roughly along the lines that existed immediately after the war.

ACCORDING TO the Russian plan for domination of Europe, that arrangement would be no good because the Soviets fear the West would gain and they would lose too much.

With American help, western Europe could consolidate and strengthen its position and possibly prosper to the extent that Russia's situation in the East would be endangered. Moreover, the Soviet satellites, influenced by a free and thriving West, would be difficult to control.

IN THE RUSSIAN mind it follows, then, that America must be driven out, the European recovery program destroyed and the whole of Europe reduced to such a state of disorder and poverty that it would be unable to resist Russian demands.

ANYTHING NEW Cooler Crisis

HOTTEST QUESTION of the month in Washington for a while was not "Who will win the election?" It was not "Will we get into war?"

It was a question of who ordered 96 gleaming, new 1948 model refrigerators installed in the offices of every one of the United States senators.

Government workers were busily engaged in clamping the refrigerators to the office floors (at an estimated cost of well above $10,000) before anybody thought to ask who had conceived this ingenious scheme.

THE PROJECT called for moving refrigerators into the offices of senators who never before had had them and putting new ones into those senatorial sanctums that already were equipped with old ones.

It was a clear case of higher standards of living for solons. Senate appropriations committee staff-members denied they had approved any appropriation for senatorial refrigerators, said furthermore that there was no record of any such appropriation.

RANKING NEXT to the riddle of who put the refrigerators there was the question of why a senator should need a refrigerator in the first place.

Somebody said maybe they were intended to replace the pigeonhole as convenient spots to keep legislation proposed by the President on ice.

NO ATOMS:
Two Unions

Morally afraid of skulduggery at the atomic crossroads, the government has acted to bar unions whose officers refuse to take the non-Communist oath from its atom bomb plants.

SPECIFICALLY, the atomic energy commission issued an order telling two CIO unions to keep out of atomic installations—the CIO United Electric Workers and the CIO United Public Workers.

The action came on the heels of congressional charges that a network of Soviet spy rings tried during the war to dig up atomic secrets.

Also, the atomic energy commission said, other unions from now on will be recognized officially as qualified to work in atom plants only if they can qualify for certification by the national labor relations board.

Said David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the commission, all atomic energy facilities must be operated "in a manner best calculated to assure that those who participate in the program are loyal to the United States."

ACTUALLY, UNION activity in all atomic plants, with the exception of the one at Oak Ridge, has been curtailed sharply since the atomic bomb project was launched. Nevertheless a number of unions have tried to keep active in the hope that the curbs on union organizational work would be eased in the future.

A congressional committee had heard testimony from a self-described former Communist that the United Electrical Workers was "the largest Communist-dominated organization in the United States."

Rose Bushed

No one has yet counted up all the "Tokyo Roses," but it seems like there's one behind every bush. Latest of these is California-born Mrs. Iva Togury D'Aquino, whom the U. S. government charges with being one of Japan's most ardent wartime radio propagandists. She was brought here to stand trial for treason.

WHIZ: Rocket Plane

It wasn't the sort of subject that Stuart Symington cared to be very specific about, but the air secretary did hint in an Air Force association speech that the U. S. X-1 rocket-powered research plane might have blasted through the air at a speed of from 860 to 1,000 miles an hour.

SYMINGTON MADE this startling semi-disclosure in an off-hand manner. Enumerating achievements by the air force during the past year, he made mention of "an airplane flying hundreds of miles faster than the speed of sound, which is 760 miles per hour at sea level."

AS ORIGINALLY designed, the X-1 was supposed to reach a speed of 1,107 miles an hour at 40,000 feet altitude and 1,700 miles an hour at 80,000 feet.

AS FAR AS is known, only two X-1 type planes now are in operation by the government—one by the air force and the other by the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

Five other X-1 models are on order, and a new and drastically different design, the X-4, is awaiting trial flight.

BIG LIFT: To Berlin

Despite the smug Russian belief that Berlin could not be supplied from the air, the American air lift has been spectacularly successful.

DURING THE first 90 days of the great aerial portage American transport planes flew more than 200,000 tons of food, fuel and medicine into Berlin since the Soviets clamped on their blockade in mid-June.

Air force headquarters at Wiesbaden said its planes had flown more than 15 million miles, through good weather and bad, along the narrow air corridors from the western zone of Germany to keep the heart of Berlin's isolated western sector beating.

IN THE FIRST 90 days 28,846 flights were made, with the air cargo including 125,608 tons of coal, 68,142 tons of food and 7,748 tons of other necessary items.

A typical 24-hour period in the air lift has about 400 flights carrying more than 3,000 tons of supplies into the besieged city.

EXPORTS: Up or Down?

Predictions by the department of agriculture that U. S. grain exports during the current crop year may top last year's record by nearly four million tons was expected to give rise to a cabinet tiff over how much grain should be shipped overseas.

There are two schools of thought. Charles F. Brannon, secretary of agriculture, favors increasing exports to prevent possible surpluses in the U. S. that might lead to an expensive price support program.

SECRETARY OF Commerce Charles W. Sawyer, on the other hand, insists that grain shipments should be cut to a minimum in order to keep food prices down in this country. He argues, also, that Europe would be better off to use its dollars for industrial machinery rather than food.

According to the agriculture department, the world's big exporting countries probably will have about 10 per cent more grain to spare this year than in 1947-48 when exports topped 34.6 million tons.

THE DEPARTMENT added that the U. S. "is again likely to provide nearly half of the total world trade."

Last year the United States exported slightly more than 15 million tons—nearly 44 per cent of all the grain exported.

PEARY:

A United States expedition to the Arctic last summer found documents left there in 1905 by Rear Adm. Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North Pole, a recent state department announcement has disclosed.

The brief report contained no explanatory details. It said: "As is usual on northern expeditions, Peary's notes found in the cairn were replaced by appropriate documents."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

How to Celebrate Your Wedding Anniversary

The "Dutch" Millers celebrated their Tin Wedding Anniversary Saturday. Everything had to be tin. Folks even ate off tin plates, and drank coffee out of tin cups.

When it was time to drink a toast to the "bride and groom," out came the final touch: ice cold beer in cans. And come the Millers' 15th anniversary (Glass) I expect we'll be toasting them with sparkling beer in bottles!

And I couldn't help thinking that there was a lesson for married folks in the way Dutch and his missus have got along together—in their policy of live-and-let-live, with never a criticism of each other's differences in taste.

From where I sit, it's due to two things: Temperance—as that moderate preference for beer suggests, and Tolerance—for their own differences of opinion—and for the tastes of others, whether applied to beer, to politics, or how to celebrate an anniversary.

Crime Increase Crowds Prisons

Expanded Facilities Needed As Jail Population Soars Upward.

WASHINGTON.—The report of the Federal Bureau of Investigation of the heavy increase in crime since the war is reflected by a growing prison population which confronts penal authorities in some sections of the country with the early prospect of a full house.

In the first half of 1947, the FBI reports, the national crime rate was 12 per cent greater than in the same period of 1941 and only 2.3 per cent less than last year, which had the highest rate in 16 years.

To penal authorities these statistics mean a need—urgent in some cases—for more beds, more cells, more space and work facilities to prevent idleness among prisoners—something which every warden dreads as a leading cause of disturbances.

To meet this increasing housing problem 13 states have mapped plans for expanding prison facilities. Construction work on six of these programs is under way.

Shortages Cause Delay.

But in California and Pennsylvania, where the legislatures authorized expansion programs of 20 million dollars and 8 million dollars, respectively, building has been held up by shortages of materials.

Maryland, Missouri, Rhode Island and several other states are hampered by lack of markets, shortage of materials and the end of government war contracts in creating work to keep their prisoners busy.

State prisons now house 130,000 prisoners, a survey shows. In at least 35 states the number of convicts has been rising steadily since the war, when crime in general fell off. In some areas the number has more than doubled since the war.

In several states prisoners are sleeping in corridors or sharing tiny cells with three other men.

Since the war the prison population of five states has climbed to all-time peaks. In at least 11 states, prisons are overcrowded or close to the point of congestion.

Federal prisons contain 17,709 convicts, which is about 4,300 short of capacity. But federal prisons present an unusual situation. Two years ago they housed 18,070, but this total was caused largely by wartime offenders, chiefly draft dodgers.

Riots Are Feared.

Overcrowding in state prisons has not ignited any riots since the war, but in several cases officials have their fingers crossed.

Dr. F. Lovell Bixby, New Jersey's deputy commissioner in charge of corrections and parole, sums up the fears of many officials in other states. New Jersey's daily average prison population this year is 2,145, more than 300 over normal capacity and highest in the state's history.

Overcrowding, says Dr. Bixby, "produces a nerve-wracking effect on prisoners and staff."

"Individualized study and treatment probably are the greatest safeguards against prison disturbances. When this procedure breaks down because the staff cannot keep up the work the administration necessarily has to resort to mass treatment. This very often allows more aggressive individuals to organize and to get themselves into positions of leadership from which they can start and direct trouble."

"Overcrowding invariably means idleness, and idleness is probably the most dangerous condition leading to serious disturbances and riots."

Blind Couple Discover True Love at Seeing Eye School

NEW YORK.—Love is blind, the poets said. The poets meant love cannot see and often blunders. But for a 23-year-old Brooklyn girl and a 32-year-old veteran of the Battle of the Bulge, blind love meant something else.

Irene Cammer of Brooklyn met William Schwenck at the Seeing Eye school in Morristown, N. J., last May.

Both were blind. Irene from birth; Schwenck since a German mine blew up in his face in France.

But though the pretty brown-haired, brown-eyed Irene could not see Bill and he could not see her, they liked the sound of each other's voices. And a touch of the hand meant more than a glance. It led to their marriage.

V-2 Rocket Tests Resumed By Ordnance Specialists

WHITE SANDS, N. M.—Ordnance experts fired a German V-2 rocket nearly 100 miles above the earth as experiments, suspended during the summer, were resumed at White Sands proving ground.

The launching, twenty-seventh in a series with rebuilt missiles captured from the Germans, was described officially as a normal, routine operation.

Officials said the exact altitude would not be known for several days, pending recovery of instruments.

The rocket achieved a maximum velocity of 4,980 feet per second, or slightly less than 3,600 miles an hour. It came to earth 35 miles north of the launching site.

What Is Your Name?

"MR. JONES," began the timid-looking young man, "er—ah—that is, can—er—I will you—"

"Why, yes, my boy, you may have her," smiled the girl's father.

The young man gasped.

"What's that? Have whom?" he asked.

"My daughter, of course," replied Jones. "That's what you mean. You want to marry her, don't you?"

"Why, no," said the young man. "I just wanted to know if you could lend me $10."

"Certainly not!" said Jones sharply. "I hardly know you."

SOCIAL AMBITIONS

He could neither read nor write, but when a distant relation died and left him a small fortune he started to make a splash. He acquired a check book, but instead of signing his name on checks he put two crosses, and the bank paid.

Then one day he handed the cashier a check signed with three crosses.

"What's this?" demanded the cashier. "You've put three crosses here."

"I know," was the reply, "but my wife's got social ambitions. She says I must have a middle name."

No Suggestions

Three girls gathered in a small restaurant for lunch. "I think I'll have a chicken sandwich," said the first one.

"That's not good for a young girl," said the waiter. "You take the roast beef."

"Okay," said the girl. "Make it roast beef."

The second girl picked corned-beef hash. "Don't take that," said the waiter. "You won't sleep a wink tonight. You have a nice glass of fresh buttermilk."

"Very well," said the girl. "But termilk it is."

The third girl looked timidly at the waiter. "What do you think I ought to order?"

"How do I know?" asked the waiter indignantly. "I haven't got time to go making suggestions."

LIKES ATTRACT LIKES

The lunatic walked up to the new superintendent.

"We like you much better than the last fellow," he said.

The new super beamed, "Why?" he asked.

"Oh, you seem more like one of us."

He Keeps His Promise

"Does your husband live up to the promises he made in his courtship days?"

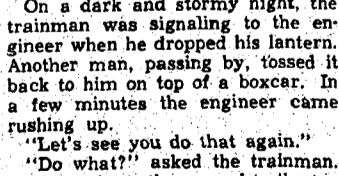

"Always. In those days he said he wasn't good enough for me, and he has been proving it ever since."

Modern Alphabet

Mother: "Now, dear, what comes after 'O'?"

Child: "Yeah."

LEAP IN THE DARK

On a dark and stormy night, the trainman was signaling to the engineer when he dropped his lantern. Another man, passing by, tossed it back to him on top of a boxcar. In a few minutes the engineer came rushing up.

"Let's see you do that again."

"Do what?" asked the trainman.

"Jump from the ground to the top of that boxcar with a lantern in your hand!"

Conflicting Opinions

Two actors met in front of a theater. One of them had his arm broken in an automobile accident, and was carrying it in a sling.

"Say," asked the first, "it's too bad about your arm. How long will you have to carry it in a sling?"

The injured man shrugged.

"There is a slight difference of opinion about that," he replied. "My doctor says two weeks—and my lawyer says twelve!"

The Michigan political campaign has reached the interesting stage of alternating doldrums and jitters.

Encouraged by public opinion polls, Michigan Republican leaders have been cocksure and confident of a G. O. P. landslide in November. Every one was happy until "inside information" recently arrived, always from persons who should know, to the effect that Republican popularity is ebbing fast. Governor Kim Sigler's re-election is in great doubt, so it is said. President Truman will get support of labor, and so on.

Some voters have even wondered who is running for governor on the Democratic ticket: Mennon Williams or General Eugene C. Black. Black has been stealing anti-administration headlines in the press with persistent regularity.

It all contributes to October jitters.

Call for a constitutional convention, five proposed amendments to the constitution and one referendum will also come before Michigan voters in November.

Disinterest exists at present regarding changes. Yet the proposals are far-reaching, and they merit thoughtful consideration.

Should a constitutional convention be called to recommend revision of the state constitution? That's the question submitted by the state legislature for voters' decision this fall. The present constitution, effective Jan. 1, 1909, has been amended 44 times. Fifty-two proposed amendments were defeated.

The present constitution, as amended, diverts sales tax uniform taxation, a bar to a scaled state income tax. For these reasons, among others, opposition to a new convention is well organized.

No. 1 of the proposed constitutional amendments would define the order of succession of state officials, as follows: Governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, treasurer and auditor general. This order of succession would prevail in any vacancy which might occur following election of a governor.

No. 2 of the proposed amendments is the controversial repeal of sales tax diversion. Such diversion was approved by a majority of voters two years ago under a campaign sponsored jointly by cities and school teachers. Cutting a deep hole in state finances, the tax diversion amendment is benefiting public schools, cities and townships.

Unless this amendment is repealed, the legislature is likely to enact new or higher taxes to offset an inevitable deficit. One plan is a 5-cent sales tax.

School teachers and city employees are campaigning to defeat repeal of the amendment. They have a pocket-book interest in the outcome.

No. 3 amendment on the ballot would permit the legislature to fix compensation of the governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, auditor general and attorney general.

At present, the 1909 constitution sets their salaries at sums so low the legislature has to authorize "expenses" for the governor and administrative board salaries for other state officials. The 1909 salary limits are obviously inadequate and obsolete. Deputies of state officials receive more compensation than do their bosses!

No. 4 amendment would remove the $3 daily salary of members of the state legislature and it would permit legislatures to fix salaries for the next term of office.

The fifth proposed amendment would liberalize the present 15-mill limitation of real estate taxes by authorizing the following: Extending from 5 to 20 years the period for which millage might be raised from 15 mills up to 50 mills; decreasing the two-thirds majority to a simple majority.

The referendum concerns the Callahan act, adopted by the 1947 legislature, which provides for regulation and registration of foreign agents. This law was aimed at Communist agitators. The referendum was sponsored by "left-wing" elements.

In less than three weeks these issues will come before voters for decision.

The deadline is approaching fast.

THUMB SUCKING BY CHILD HELD NORMAL HABIT

Your child sucks his thumb because it means security and comfort to him. Is it advisable for you parents to deprive him of this satisfaction? The answer to this age-old question is in the negative believes Ruth High-berger of the home management and child development department at Michigan State college.

Many parents feel that thumb-sucking by one, two, and three year-olds is no cause for alarm. Babies are born with a need to suck which comes to be associated with a pleasant, full, warm, comfortable feeling. It is no wonder that these young children turn to sucking their thumbs when things become difficult for them. Many children under three years of age turn to thumb sucking when they are tired, hungry, excited or afraid. As children become older they find new sources of security and become able to stand stresses and strains.

It is better to steer away from the gadgets guaranteed to end thumb sucking—the bitter medicines, bandages, cuffs and guards. If your child is finding security and comfort in his thumb, it is too bad to invest money in a device that takes away his security. Devices don't always work.

The more you try to stop thumb sucking directly, the more it is likely to continue. The child turns to his thumb to ease him over some period of strain. If you try to stop him you just increase the strain for him and along with it you develop increased anxiety in yourself.

"Why do men have hair on their chests?"
"Well, they can't have everything."

DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 19:7-14

Life and Law

Lesson for October 17, 1948

YOU, friend reader, probably know less about what is in the books of Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy than any other part of the Bible. These are the sections mostly filled with laws—

"Thou shalt . . . Thou shalt not." You either skip these entirely or you say to yourself, "Well, that has nothing to do with me." If so, you have been missing one of the most interesting sections of the Bible.

Some of these old laws are dead; but even a mummy can be interesting. Call them dead if you like; you still can learn a great deal about the times and the minds and the customs of those far-off days by reading the laws which governed people's daily lives.

But it is hardly fair to call them dead. Rather, they have been honorably retired. That is to say, they were admirable laws in their time and place, and God's will was learned through them.

The Living Soul of Law
THERE are two ways of looking at any law, or you might say there are two sides of every law, the inside and the outside, the soul and the body as it were. The body, the outside, is the letter of the law; the inside or soul of the law is the spirit or principle of the law.

The body of the law, like the body of a man, lies; it is not intended to live on and on. But the soul of the law (if it has one; some don't) lives forever. Take, for instance, that law in Lev. 19:9, 10. The body of it, the letter, says: Do not be efficient in getting in your crops. Leave some wheat in the field. Leave some grapes on the vine.

Today that sounds rather stupid, on the face of it, and no good farmer would pay attention to it. But look at the spirit of that law: the wheat and the grapes were to be left for "the poor and the stranger." There was then no Red Cross, no bureau of displaced persons, no traveler's aid, no family service, no social security, none of our many modern agencies for the underprivileged. Those who had property were bidden to have a care for those who had none.

The duty of society to see that no one starves, the duty of all to help those in need, that is the living soul of this law, and it still breathes in laws of the 20th century—laws of old age assistance, maternity assistance, pension plans and so forth.

The living soul of the Old Testament laws can be expressed this way: The love of justice and the justice of love. The best and wisest laws today are those which give this same spirit its fullest and most practical form.

Jesus' Last Word
THE Jews figured out that there were in all 613 separate commandments in all the laws combined. They used to have interesting debates as to which of all the 613 commandments was the most important.

They came to Jesus with that well-worn question. Jesus quoted only two laws, one from Deut. 6:5 and the other from Lev. 19:18. Love God, love your neighbor, he said. All the other laws depend on these two.

To this day, Christian thinkers are not entirely agreed as to just how far Old Testament laws may be binding on Christians. But all are agreed on two points: The basic principle of these laws is always good, and that fundamental principle is love.

Love Is Not Repealed
THIS is what Christians mean when they say that the laws of God are eternal. We do not mean that every law between the covers of the Bible can and should be used as the law of our land today.

What we do mean is that the spirit of these laws is immortal, for the spirit is love, and love never has been repealed.

Show me a law which helps the strong at the expense of the weak, a law which encourages cheating and selfishness and fighting, and I will show you a bad law. Show me a law which encourages and helps men to deal fairly with one another and to live together in peace, and I will show you a good law. Every law that helps you love your neighbor is a good law; indeed there is something divine about it, for God is Love.

Gentlemen may prefer blonds, but the fact that blondes know what gentlemen prefer has a lot to do with it.

There's a lot of boys of 18 who just can't believe that some day they'll be as dumb as their fathers.

The height of illegibility is a doctor's prescription written with a post office pen in a rumble seat of a second hand car.

It's a pretty good sign that the honeymoon is over when the bride starts complaining about the noise hubby makes getting breakfast.

Hosses Is Hosses

LINCOLN and a judge were having a friendly contest of wits on the subject of horses, when Lincoln said: "Well, look here, Judge! I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll make a horse trade with you, only it must be upon these stipulations: Neither party shall see the other's horse until it is produced here in the courtyard of the hotel and both parties must trade horses. If either party backs out of the agreement, he does so under a forfeiture of $25."

It was agreed, and Lincoln and the judge each left to find a horse for the joking trade, while a crowd collected to watch the fun. When the judge reappeared there was a great laugh at the incredibly skinny, dejected-looking animal, blind in both eyes, that he led. But the uproar came when Lincoln strode upon the scene with a carpenter's saw-horse on his shoulder. Relieving himself of his burden, Lincoln with a disgusted air scrutinized the judge's animal.

"Well, Judge," he said, "this is the first time I ever got the worst of it in a horse trade."

BELIEVER IN SIGNS

An elderly farmer drove into town one day and hitched his team to a telegraph pole.

"Here!" shouted the burly policeman, "you can't hitch there!" "Can't eh," exclaimed the irate farmer. "Well, why have you got a sign up there that says, 'Fine for hitching'?"

Egg Hunt

A certain city dweller was inordinately proud of his small suburban farm, from which he commuted daily. One day he was proudly conducting a visitor over his rural acres.

"You have a nice little place here," the visitor remarked. "Yes, I have," was the reply. "A nice garden."

"Yes." "And some fine chickens." "Especially fine chickens."

"You like chickens very much?" asked the visitor. "Indeed, I do!" was the enthusiastic reply. "I tell you it is fine to take a basket every morning and go out after eggs."

At this point the little daughter of the amateur farmer brought the proceedings to a close by brightly chiming in: "Yes, sir, and sometimes we find one!"

I "WIRED" FOR HELP!

OVERWORKED and short of hands? Not since I hired Reddy Kilowatt. You'd be surprised at how much of my work Reddy has taken over. He sure has speeded up the farm chores. I produce more now. Hear that jingle—that's the extra cash Reddy has put in my pockets.

Water pumping, feed grinding, milking, tool grinding, electric brooders for chicks and pigs, hay drying and barn cleaning are just a few of the things Reddy does for me—at low cost, too. Stop knocking yourself out. Take a tip from me, mister, WIRE FOR HELP!

FARM FACTS

TELL THE FARMER'S STORY

If the farmers gave away the wheat they raised it would only lower the price of that loaf of bread on the grocery store shelf by two or three cents. If the growers gave away their potatoes it would only save the average consumer from fifteen to twenty five cents each week.

What we're saying is that the consumer who points his finger at the farmer as the person responsible for his high food bills, doesn't have the facts. That consumer is forgetting that the middle man takes a large share of each dollar that is spent in the grocery store. For instance, the farmer gets only one fourth of the money which the consumer spends on bread.

The consumer is also off base when he says that high support prices for farm products keep the cost of food high. In the first place, very few farm products are being supported at the present time. Meat and dairy products, the real high cost items in the food budget, would have to drop a third to half before they get down to support price. In the second place, the consumers should also bear in mind that support price depends on parity, which in turn is set by the prices of things the farmer has to buy.

FROSTED FORAGE NOT GOOD FOR CATTLE

A word of caution about pasturing frosted Sudan grass and alfalfa was given this week by A.C. Baltzer, extension dairyman at Michigan State college.

Baltzer points out that it has always been considered wise not to pasture either frosted Sudan grass or alfalfa. Not only does the danger of bloat exist with both, but with Sudan grass, the hazard of poisoning exists. Chemists have repeatedly found Sudan grass to carry a heavy prussic acid content both when immature and following freezing weather.

The specialist advises that cows be kept off such pasture for at least a few days. If cows are to be turned on frosted Sudan grass pasture, they should first receive a full feed of hay, possibly corn silage and grain. The same caution applies to frosted alfalfa.

REED CANARY GRASS

More Michigan farmers are hearing about the value of reed canary grass on wet muckland that cannot otherwise be used in the farm operation. A number of questions have come in to the farm crops department of Michigan State college. Dick Bell of that department gives some of the answers.

As to the best time to seed, Dick says in late March or early April. Put the seed in at the rate of four to six pounds per acre on a well prepared seedbed. Now the fertilizer Muckland shouldn't require any nitrogen. Bell recommends a 0-9-27 fertilizer at the rate of 500 pounds per acre.

Our last recommendation: Do not pasture the reed canary during the first growing season.

DATE SET FOR TURKEY SHOW

Plans for another Dressed Turkey Show and Festival at Alma, Michigan, are being set for December 7 and 8. Last year's show was such a success that the turkey industry plans to make it an annual event. Classes of birds will be open to anyone. No entry fee will be charged and classes will fit any turkey grower or breeder.

Attractive trophies and ribbons will be offered in all classes.
