Urge Farmers to Return Ballots

AAA COMMITTEE VOTES MUST BE RETURNED BY DEC. 22.

Farmers who have received ballots through the mail for use in electing community AAA committee men and delegates to the county AAA convention at which the county AAA committee for 1949 will be elected, are urged to mark their ballots according to their choice and return the marked ballots to the county AAA office, either by mail or in person.

Melvin J. Somerville, present chairman of the Charlevoix County AAA committee, said that farmers will have until December 22 in which to vote and return their ballots. The votes will be counted on December 23 by an impartial election board and any ballots received after December 22 cannot be counted.

Mr. Somerville said that farmers who wish to mail their marked ballots in to the county AAA office may do so with the assurance that the secrecy of their ballot will be maintained. Adequate provision for secret balloting has been made and the instruction for mailing in a secret ballot are contained on the ballot form itself.

The community committeemen elected in the balloting will take office immediately upon election and will serve for one year. The delegates elected from each township will meet in Charlevoix County AAA office, Boyne City, Michigan on December 31 at which time they will nominate and elect a county AAA committee to serve for one year.

WITH THE ANTRIM COUNTY AGR'L AGENT
W. Kirkpatrick, Extension Agent

ABOUT 130 PRESENT AT HOME EXTENSION MEETING IN GAYLORD, DEC. 1st.

Twenty Antrim County Home Extension members attended the District meeting held at Gaylord, Wednesday, Dec. 1. Ten northern counties were represented at this meeting with about 130 present.

Mrs. J. Clark from East Jordan, District Chairman gave a very fine report of her recent trip to Oklahoma where she attended the annual meeting of the National Home Demonstration Council. This Council represents three million members from 38 states and 3 foreign countries. The women attending the conference learned what women in various states are doing to carry on Home Extension work. It was emphasized that farm families form the keystone of American living. It was suggested that emphasis for 1949 programs be placed on food, religious life, living together, problems of young mothers, leadership through 4-H work and cooperation with health programs.

Mrs. G. Lilly of Dearborn gave a description of her experiences while attending the conference of the Association Countrywomen of the World at Amsterdam this fall. The theme for the conference was "The Rural Woman - A world citizen." The thought which was carried throughout this conference was "to learn to live together gracefully." Representatives from 35 countries attended this conference in 1947. Although many of the women could not understand one another's language, they made their thoughts understood. There were differences of opinion in minor matters, but on the whole, all the women were interested in working towards the peace of all nations.

After the conference, the women were divided into three groups and were shown various sections of Holland. They stayed several nights in homes of the common people. Mrs. Lilly mentioned that the delegation from U. S. was accepted eagerly and were very well entertained. By staying in homes, two or three women in each home, they could see the conditions as they were and found the people of Holland extremely grateful for clothing and food sent by the United States.

Group singing and several readings were presented by the ladies present. Miss Rachel Markwell, State Home Demonstration Leader and Miss Margaret Harris, Assistant State Home Demonstration Leader were also present at the meeting.

Laingsburg Citizens Construct $30,000 School Building for $10,000

Our hats are off to Laingsburg, Mich., a town of 980 population, located about 20 miles north-east of Lansing. Apparently there is a breed of citizenry that believes in getting things done by doing them themselves.

Like a lot of cities and towns, Laingsburg was lacking adequate school facilities. An addition to the high school was desperately needed. And there was no money in the school board treasury to build one.

So, instead of moaning about not getting sufficient State aid, or expecting somebody else to bail them out of their difficulties, Laingsburg took off its coat, rolled up its sleeves and went to work.

Townpeople pitched in. Some donated dollars, others contributed materials and labor. The result was the needed addition of 2 classrooms. The total cost will be about $10,000 for a structure worth $30,000.

We could go on at great length about the pioneer spirit still being alive, and about how people can do things for themselves if they want to, but we think you catch the idea.

The only point we want to make is that a lot of other communities in Michigan could accomplish a great deal if they'd just pitch in and do it. Laingsburg seems to have what a lot of other places lack — community spirit.

(Laingsburg is the place where Mr. and Mrs. Delos Poole and family, former East Jordan residents, are now operating a successful super market.)

All of the above brings us right back to East Jordan. Although fine co-operative spirit was shown in cleaning up the remains of the Legion Hall and the fire house, but what about co-operative effort in BUILDING?

We mean by this of course, not these one-day projects, which have their value in a community, but large long-range projects. For instance, the school board has been crying their eyes out for a new school garage which is badly needed. A proposition to bond the school district to construct this garage was voted down at a recent election. Why?

If the town of Laingsburg, half the size of East Jordan can construct a $30,000 building for $10,000, why can't East Jordan construct a $40,000 building for $13,333. No funds would have to be raised as at the time of the election in June it was stated that the school district already had $15,000 available for this purpose.

If it can be done in Laingsburg it can be done here. If not, why not? The Herald will be glad to publish any signed "Letters to the Editor" on this subject. — Let's hear from you!

"Deerburgers" The Latest

The making of "Deerburgers" may be one solution for housewives confronted with the task of preparing meat dishes from unfamiliar cuts of venison.

To make deerburgers one simply adds suet, moist bread, onion and seasoning to ground lean venison, according to a recipe in "Venison," a booklet available from the conservation department of Michigan State college. The booklet has other recipes and complete directions for the beginner on how to cut up a deer carcass.

Odd pieces less in demand, while venison steaks are available, are said to be excellent for making mincemeat and other dishes.

Marriages

VanDeventer — Wieland

Approximately 200 guests were present, Friday evening, Nov. 26, at the Methodist church, to witness the marriage of Miss Doris VanDeventer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. VanDeventer, to J. Richard Wieland, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wieland of Ellsworth. Before the altar, decorated with large baskets of white and pink mums and candelabra on each side, Rev. Howard Moore officiated at the candle light double ring ceremony at 8:00 p. m.

The bride, given marriage by her father, was lovely in a white slipper satin gown, princess style, with a net yoke and overlay of lace. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a coronet-halo. She wore a three-strand pearl necklace, gift of the groom, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, centered with red rose buds, and tied with a white tulle bow.

Mrs. Edward Fielstra, of Grand Rapids, sister of the bride, attended her as matron of honor, and wore a pastel pink net formal. Another sister, Elzina, was bridesmaid, and wore a pastel blue taffeta formal. Both carried bouquets of white and pink mums tied with tulle to match their gowns. They also wore pearl necklaces, gift of the bride.

Ton Wieland of Ellsworth, brother of the groom, and Bob Steenhagen of Grand Rapids, cousin of the groom, acted as his attendants. David Howe, Royal Oak, and Don Steenhagen of Muskegon, cousins of the groom, were ushers. The men wore carnation boutonnières.

Mrs. Howard Moore, pianist, played the traditional wedding music throughout the service. Miss Arlene Steenhagen of Grand Rapids, cousin of the groom, sang three beautiful solos. "Because," preceding the entrance of the bridal party, "I Love You," before the vows were spoken; and "The Lords Prayer," at the conclusion of the ceremony as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride's mother chose a wine colored crepe dress, with black accessories, and her shoulder corsage was of white rose buds. Mrs. Wieland's dress of teal blue crepe, with black accessories, and her corsage was of red rose buds. Mrs. Steenhagen, grandmother of the groom, wore black crepe with black accessories.

The reception, following the ceremony, was held in the church dining room, under the supervision of the W. S. C. S., with Mrs. Vernon Vance acting as chairman. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sinclair, presided as master and mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Sinclair, aunt of the groom, cut the four tiered wedding cake, which was iced in yellow and white, and topped with wedding bells and a miniature bride and groom. She was assisted in serving by Mrs. Fielstra and Elzina VanDeventer, Mrs. Calvin Bennett, great aunt of the bride and Mrs. Homer Waring of Kewadin, aunt of the groom, presided at the coffee service.

For going away Doris wore a grey suit with black accessories and her corsage was of red rose buds, taken from the bridal bouquet. After Dec. 10 they will be at home on their farm located west of Ellsworth.

Doris is a graduate of the East Jordan High school and for the past 2 years has been employed at the State Hospital in Traverse City. Dick is a graduate of Ellsworth High school and since his graduation has assisted his father in farming.

Cherry Industry in Cherry Pie Order

A recent report of the Michigan Cherry Commission indicates that 1948 was not only a successful year in volume of cherries produced, but practically all the cherries processed have been marketed. It is the first year the Cherry Commission has functioned under Public Act No. 288 of 1947, and it appreciates the cooperation it has received from both the growers and the processors of the cherry crop.

The eleven-man commission, according to Acting Secretary Lawrence O'Neill, Michigan Department of Agriculture, is working with the National Cherry Institute in bringing before the public the importance of Michigan's annual crop. Mr. O'Neill reports approximately $103,431.00 has been secured from the growers, at the rate of one-tenth of one cent per lb. on cherries harvested and processed. Considerable of this fund will be available to be used for this coming year's cherry crop.

The Cherry Commission urges all cherry growers to attend the State Horticultural Society Annual meeting at Grand Rapids especially on Thursday, Dec. 9, at which one of the special features on the program will be on the National Red Cherry Industry.

Ordered For Induction In Armed Forces

The following men have been ordered to report at the Local Draft Board, Court House, Charlevoix, Michigan, at 8:00 A. M. Dec. 16th., for transportation to Traverse City where they will be inducted into the Armed Forces.

Wm. Earline Baumgardner, Charlevoix, Michigan.
Gerald Leroy Fineout, Boyne City, Michigan.

Baumgardner's induction for Nov. had been postponed until the Dec. call.

Lansing — Governor-Elect G. Mennen Williams — informed President Truman, during a White House conference, that he intends to ask the state legislature in 1949 to do something about old age assistance — better security for persons 65 years or older.

From W. J. Maxey, director of the state social welfare commission, we gathered the following facts:

The average monthly retirement benefit to 62,497 insured workers in Michigan was $22.96 last June. This amount is paid by the federal government out of old age insurance funds, financed jointly by workers and employers by a 1 per cent payroll tax.

The average check for old-age relief (granted only to needy persons, regardless of whether they are eligible for old-age retirements) was $42.17 in Nov. This payment is financed jointly by state and federal funds. The legislature appropriation for the current fiscal year (ending July 1, 1949) was approximately $19,000,000.

Because the $22.96 old-age retirement benefit does not fully cover post-war living costs, approximately 10 per cent of these retirement recipients have had to petition for old-age relief. Furthermore, (and this is hard to believe), the federal law now says that a retired insured worker can earn only $14.99 a month in addition to his earned $22.96 monthly retirement benefit. This restriction has had the effect of compelling most insured workers, otherwise eligible to draw insurance benefits, to stay at work.

Michigan ranks 26th among the states in population rate of old-age citizens who are receiving old-age relief. We rank 22nd among the states in point of the average monthly old-age payment ($42.17). Among nearby states which outdo us are Ill., Ohio, Iowa and Minn. New York pays $49.45 a month; Colorado leads with $78.43.

Governor-Elect Williams campaigned against the 1947 legislative enactment which requires the state welfare department to file a claim against the estate of a deceased relief recipient to recover the amount of public paid.

President Truman has proposed liberalization of social security retirement benefits, advocating "at least 50 per cent" increase for retirement payments. Oscar R. Ewing, federal security administrator, favors a 100 per cent increase. Why? Because the cost of living has gone up 75 per cent since the formula was first adopted, and the result (quoting Ewing) is "an outrageous situation." This is the situation in a nutshell.

PLANS PRACTICAL GIFT FOR THE FAMILY

If You're looking for a Christmas present for "the family" or "the house" that is needed and not just a passing fancy, have you considered a good desk or study lamp?

Even many well-furnished homes lack good lighting and a good lamp will give year around pleasure believes Jessie Marion, home furnishings specialist at Michigan State college.

The lamp should be tall enough to spread evenly over the work on the desk. Avoid a lamp that is so tall that you look up under the shade and see the light source.

If you are planning a lamp that will be used by children, remember that they should be seated so that their eyes are not less than 14 inches above the desk and buy your lamp accordingly. Remember to place the lamp to one side so that there are no harsh shadows from the hand when writing.

A study lamp should use at least a 100-watt bulb and a diffusing bowl. The shade should have a white lining to better reflect the light. With your gift you may want to include a light colored desk blotter. It will cut down the glare from a shiny desk top.

A similar blotter tacked on the wall above the desk will reflect 20 percent more light than the wall if is dark colored. Children would love a pin-up board which would serve the same purpose and also give them a place to tack favorite souvenirs, pictures and other items.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Brown and children left last week for their home in Detroit, after spending a week here deer hunting.

Lets All Pitch In And Help

ONE CHARITY DRIVE FOR ALL CAUSES FAVORED BY MOST

The Charlevoix County Chapter of the United Health & Welfare Fund of Michigan plans to have a drive the latter part of January, or the first of February, for National and State health and welfare organizations.

The local chapter hopes to include all agencies, so you will not be asked for more money for any welfare fund. The ultimate aim of this drive is to save expense, annoyance and effort of the many fund raising groups, such as Tuberculosis, Polio, Red Cross, USO, Crippled Children, Michigan Children's Aid Society, Heart Services, etc.

If you want to help unite these drives into one, you will tell any solicitor for funds for Christmas gifts, seals, or any other fund raising group, that you will give to them through the United Health & Welfare Fund of Charlevoix County? You can then include these in your gift in January, and if desired, specify the purpose for which it will be used.

You need not give all the money at once, but may make a pledge to pay throughout the year at specified times.

This fiscal year, we are having two drives — the one in October for local funds, just finished, and the coming one for State and National funds. It is planned to have one drive for all purposes next year.

There will be an opportunity for those interested in one particular agency to work on publicity for that agency alone.

A report received by the Charlevoix County N. H. & W. Fund indicates that other communities feel on the subject of not combining all drives into one.

On Aug. 30 the Community Chest at Garden City, Kan., sent out letters to 675 Chests in cities under 50,000 population. Three questions were asked. Replies were received from 200 of the 675.

The questions and answers received were:

1. Do you feel that the American Red Cross should cooperate with your local Community Chest? No, 30. Yes, 165, 82 1/2 percent in favor.
2. Do you feel that the Infantile Paralysis Fund should cooperate. No, 27. Yes, 173, 86 1/2 percent in favor.
3. If a majority of the 675 Community Chests receiving this letter favor one drive for all organizations, are you willing to be a party to try to change the policy now being followed by the Red Cross and Infantile Paralysis Fund? No, 30. Yes, 170, 85 percent in favor.

Remarks accompanying the replies indicate that folks in a majority of the states believe that separate drives is turning the public against those causes.

Artificial Breeding Association To Hold Annual Meeting

The Boyne City Artificial Breeding Association will hold its annual meeting this Friday evening, December 10th, at 8:00 p. m., in the Study Hall, at the Boyne City High School. Among the new business that will be brought before the meeting will be the election of two directors for three year terms. The two directors whose terms expired are Bob Reidel and Peter Winnick. The Nominating Committee has nominated the following members: Bob Reidel, William Blekken, Peter Winnick, and Lester Umloer.

The main feature of the program will be a discussion and talk by Dr. Glen Reed, Extension Specialist in Animal Pathology from Michigan State College. Dr. Reed will give a very informative talk regarding reproduction in dairy cattle. He will also attempt to answer any questions regarding this problem.

County Agricultural Agent, Ed Rehman, urges farmers, whether they are members or not, to plan on attending this meeting.

The Antrim-Charlevoix Artificial Breeding Association meeting will be held in the afternoon, at 2:00 p. m., at Ellsworth. Those who are unable to attend the Boyne City meeting are very welcome at Ellsworth in the afternoon.

Letters in the Bible
 Lesson for December 12, 1948

A LETTER in the mail! Those are exciting words. It was so when the Babylonians chipped open their dried clay envelopes, it is so when we rip the end off our paper envelopes, it was so when the marooned and homesick Timothy broke the seal on the papyrus notes that his old friend and teacher Paul sent him. Most letters reach the wastebasket, and we know that some of Paul's did. But fortunately his friends thought enough of about a dozen of his letters to save them and copy them and file them with some others and pass them around. And so we got more than a third of our New Testament, and perhaps a good deal more than a third of our theology.

Dr. Foreman

Yesterday in Television
 THESE letters that have come down to us from so long ago are not only keenly interesting, they are immensely valuable. An honest informal letter is like an open window. We see into the writer's mind and life, we see the life of his times. Any historian feels lucky when he lights on a packet of old letters. Here is yesterday in television.

The letters of the New Testament, especially Paul's, are not propaganda literature. Paul was not writing for publication or for posterity. He would be bothered by a problem; he would think and pray about it, and then he would sit down and write about it.

However trivial the problem might seem, such as a local church quarrel, Paul never wrote trivially about it. He would pour out his mind on papyrus, usually dictating his letters to a secretary and sometimes so fast that the secretary obviously had a hard time keeping up.

If you want to know how an Apostle's mind worked, here it is. If you want to know how an inspired religious genius, one of the great of all time, planned and grieved and hoped and rejoiced, read these letters. Further, these letters tell us the early Christian church. This is not a view of the church on parade, this is a glimpse of the church as it was "on the hoof," struggling, quarreling, ignorant, scarce one step removed from raw heathenism, and yet with the root of Christian faith in its heart, the seed of the great church that has grown up through the centuries.

Friend to Friend
 THE letters in the New Testament are of various kinds. The letter to the Philipians from Paul was written, from prison, to some of his best friends. Recently they had sent him not only money but a man named Epaphroditus to stay with Paul and help him, Paul being in constant bad health. But Epaphroditus himself had fallen ill, and when he grew better he was still homesick.

Paul, generous as always, decided to send his sick friend home to convalesce, and by his hand sent the letter which the Philipian church loved, saved and copied, so that it eventually made its way into the New Testament collection.

There is some high theology in the letter; but there is also some warm human friendship, and some of the best advice Paul ever gave. It is in this letter we discover Paul's secret of happiness. I have learned (he wrote) in whatsoever state I am, therein to be content. (See chapter 4.)

When you read those paragraphs, simply glowing with happiness, remember they were written by a sick man, in jail, facing a serious charge on his forthcoming trial. Paul had actually discovered a joy which is trouble-proof.

Father to Sons
 PAUL knew he would not live forever on this planet and could not live everywhere. So he spent much effort training helpers and successors. Some of these disappointed him sorely; but he was never disappointed in Timothy.

His letters to Timothy are personal, but they are more than that. They are advice from an older minister to a younger one, from a veteran missionary to a fresh recruit.

In I John we have another kind of letter, from an old, perhaps retired minister to a congregation he knows and loves. Again in I John the reader gets the impression of reading a family letter from father to sons and daughters.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

President Hints Controls on Way As Cost of Living Drops Slightly; Western Mutual Aid Pact Prepared

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

DILEMMA:

Sharp-Horned

Perched uncomfortably astride a dilemma having the sharpest horns ever to plague a sinner, President Truman ponders ways and means of getting off. The situation is as clearly defined as it is bothersome.

IN SHORT, the president must work the seemingly impossible miracle of knocking prices down while keeping wages and farm prices up. Mr. Truman is indubitably committed to the former, and it was a great majority of opinion that he could do just that which helped account for his victory. That he will also do the latter is a campaign pledge he must exert every effort to keep.

No less a personage than Henry Ford II has sharpened one of the horns. The industrialist touched off the "fourth round" of wage increases, with consequent high-prices maintenance, when he announced a wage hike for all his workers. Then, Mr. Ford delivered himself of the observation that wages generally must go up and that prices must do likewise.

THE PATTERN is clear. Industry raises wages and the cost of its products goes up. Wages must increase if these products are to be purchased. Labor comes in to ask for more money in order to buy these products. And so the circle continues.

Meanwhile, it is obvious that Americans expect the President and congress to do something about getting the cost of living within reasonable bounds—and to do it quick. On the other hand, labor, which backed Mr. Truman at the polls, and farmers, who generally supported him, are expecting action as swift on legislation favorable to them.

As administration leaders sought a course of action to satisfy all groups, congress said little for public consumption. Methods of price control, if any have been conceived, have not been discussed.

ONE THING, however, is clear. The situation poses the major test of how effective in solving the problem will be the cooperation of congress and the President.

From Capitol Hill came persistent whispering that Mr. Truman's thumping victory did not necessarily arm him with the equivalent of a magic wand which he might wave over congress to bring about legislation in any form he may desire.

Solution?

Then there was a break on the inflation front. Americans who had come to accept the inevitability of the high cost of living raised their eyes with surprise over the development—although it amounted to only the merest chink in the price barricade.

TWO THINGS happened almost simultaneously:

President Truman ordered administration agencies to work out a "definite" anti-inflation program to be presented to the Democratic congress in January, and the bureau of labor statistics reported a dip of one-half of 1 per cent in its cost-of-living index for October.

The significance of Mr. Truman's proposal for anti-inflation legislation was established; it was something to look forward to. But how much real importance should be attached to the almost infinitesimal break in the price line would remain to be seen.

FOR ONE thing, the price dip—unless it grew to miraculous proportions—would not cancel out any anti-inflation measures, such as "standby" price control and rationing, which might be imposed.

Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's council of economic advisors, opined that a lowering of prices, washing out the need for drastic controls, would be "swell." But he didn't predict it would happen.

Another top fiscal official said he believed inflationary forces still had the upper hand. And Chester Bowles, one-time OPA boss, stated that congress "unquestionably" would act against inflation.

The precise nature of the program President Truman will lay before congress in January was not yet known—probably not yet determined. Its general outline probably will be made public when he delivers his "State of the Union" message in January.

But there was little doubt that a return to more or less stringent economic controls was in the cards for 1949.

Atlantis Debunked

If you take the word of Dr. Maurice Ewing of Columbia university, everyone who's been waiting around for the fabled "lost continent" of Atlantis to show up may now relax. Dr. Ewing says he has mapped, photographed, probed, sounded and visited the ocean floor since 1938, and there just isn't any evidence of the mysterious continent. Atlantis was believed to have sunk in a great prehistoric cataclysm.

Global Christmas

People of the nations of the earth are going to see Christmas from an American viewpoint this year through the medium of typical American Christmas greeting cards being sent by the state department to U. S. embassies and consulates throughout the world. Here Miss Frances Kane, state department employee, sits before an enlarged photograph of the cards.

TREATY:

Mutual Aid

The cold freeze being turned on Russia by the western nations plummeted several more degrees when Great Britain, France and the three Benelux nations, after long negotiations, agreed on a 17-point mutual assistance pact.

THAT the U. S. is involved in the agreement goes almost without saying, for without American sanction and at least an implied willingness to help out militarily in the event of aggression no western Atlantic treaty would be worth a "whereas" or even a "hereinafter."

SECONDLY, it provides that the pact be left open to membership of certain other nations. It calls, also, for the setting up of military and political boards—immediately after the pact's signature and ratification—to make the treaty operate.

Containing 17 points in all, the program of "agreed opinions" has been presented to the U. S. and Canada for consideration. There was no immediate reaction from the two governments on the matter, but it seemed logical to presume that the idea for such a treaty had received their prior blessings.

ALTHOUGH the pact in its present form refrains from designating a fixed period of years for its life, it does recommend "a long duration." Actually, the five European governments have been thinking in terms of a 50-year period, but the decision on that is being left to the last stage of negotiations.

RUSSIA as a nation—peaceful or belligerent—is scrupulously ignored in the document. Nowhere is any mention made of the Soviet Union. Nevertheless, the treaty itself offers grim proof of the fact that the western democratic nations have seen fit to construct the nucleus of a great regional defensive alliance against Russia and the spread of communism.

PEACEABLE:

Party Line

The official "line" of the Communist party has gone off on a new tangent in a tactic described as a "peace offensive" by U. S. intelligence authorities who reported the switch.

WORD IS that the Kremlin has ordered peace propaganda and demonstrations of various kinds as the official party line for all Communist parties, organs and front organizations. The intelligence boys claimed that this ostensible about-face would become apparent in the near future.

Soviet rulers are supposed to be setting the stage for a world-wide "peace" maneuver as part of their cold war strategy to embarrass the United States and its western allies in the clash over the Berlin situation.

How much will this spurious peace offensive mean? Literally nothing, as far as any genuine desire or effort for peace is concerned. The Russians haven't undergone a change of heart; their aims are the same as always.

KEEP DIGGING:

No Tax Cut

All hope for an income tax cut in January may as well be ruled out now. This is on the authority of Sen. Walter F. George (D., Ga.) who is returning to chairmanship of the senate finance committee. He has said that increased aid to Europe and additional funds for national defense would bar any reductions. He estimated that ERP would get an additional one or two billion dollars.

ARTERIAL:

Kingly

Great Britain's royal family was keeping well in the forefront of world news. First it was Princess Elizabeth's baby, then it was King George's leg.

But while the first was an event of hysterically happy proportions for all Britons, the second most certainly was not. The king, apparently, was in a relatively serious condition. The royal family's projected trip to Australia and New Zealand next month had to be cancelled.

IT WAS suspected that 52-year-old George VI was suffering from a disease known to doctors as thrombo-angitis obliterans, more easily referred to as Buerger's disease, an inflammation of the linings of the arteries. There was some speculation, also, to the effect that the king might have diabetes or hardening of the arteries.

But the king's doctors weren't committing themselves. The five physicians described his symptom as "an obstruction to the circulation through the arteries of the legs."

THERE IS no known permanent cure for thrombo-angitis obliterans. Anyone suffering from it might be expected to live out his normal span of years if he were careful, stayed off his feet and led a sheltered life.

It was pointed out that standing and walking for hours at a time, which has been part of the king's job as figurehead of the empire, has aggravated his condition. Part of the treatment will be to cut out this important part of his duties and assign the walking and standing performances among other members of the royal household.

Atomic Researcher

Dr. Frank D. Fackenthal, until recently acting president of Columbia university, has been named as head of Associated Universities, Inc., which operates Brookhaven national laboratory at Upton, N. Y. The laboratory is financed by the U. S. government to provide facilities not available at universities, but essential to nuclear research.

WAR RULES:

Atomic

The need for this sort of thing is purely speculative at this point, but the International Red Cross is preparing to propose a new set of war rules that would compel nations to establish safety zones to protect civilians in the event of a future atomic war.

THESE zones would be set up in the rear of combat areas of each battling nation. Belligerents, theoretically, would recognize them as shelter areas and would spare them from atomic attack.

Treaty conventions outlining this new security zone principle now are being circulated to all nations prior to submission to a general diplomatic conference in March.

Red Cross officials say they conceived the idea for large shelter areas as a result of their experiences in setting up neutral zones in Palestine.

WOUNDED and sick persons, whether combatant or non-combatant.

CHILDREN under 15, expectant mothers or mothers of children under seven, and the aged over 65.

PERSONS entrusted with the control and management of the zones and the care of those in them.

Although these proposals cannot be formally binding until after approval by the diplomatic convention, officials view them as so extremely important that they are urging all countries to abide by them morally without waiting for formal treaty signing.

In addition to the atomic security zone proposal, other projected war rules would cover treatment of prisoners, prohibit kidnappings and the taking of hostages. Also, the Red Cross wants to outlaw the current Russian practice of living off the land in occupied areas.

What, No Brass?

A noted industrialist, who was a war-time brigadier general, has come up with a proposal that military brass hats should divest themselves of insignia, and that West Point and Annapolis should be converted into postgraduate schools open to all ranks.

Fair Warning

East Jordan will soon put its Holiday attire. This as per usual, and as per usual, some miscreant will swipe the bulbs off the Christmas tree. Last year 40 lights were taken, and this year it will probably be as per usual. They are absolutely worthless to the one taking them.

The only thing not as per usual is that Chief of Police Simmons has become tired of this annual, needless swiping of tree lights and intends to prosecute the offender if caught. So take warning, avoid the Chief's wrath.

The theme of the play is explained in the title. The public is cordially invited to attend this program.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Yes Sir, Insomnia's Contagious!

When Bud Swanson had trouble sleeping nights, and tried to get over it by turning up the radio full blast, he started an epidemic of insomnia all down the block!

Folks finally dropped a hint to Bud that he close the windows or turn the radio a little lower. Bud did—and that was the quickest cure for other folks' insomnia I've ever heard of!

Not that any of us object to the radio, or swing bands, or anything else that helps another person relax of an evening. (Myself, I like a glass of beer with a bit of cheese before I go to bed. I can't speak for you.)

From where I sit, good neighborliness means nothing more than simply respecting the other person's tastes and rights—without forcing your own tastes or opinions down his throat. And that goes for Bud's radio, my glass of beer, or whatever temperate pleasure you happen to enjoy.
