Smelt Dipping in County Streams to be Supervised

Sportsmen of Charlevoix county have embarked on a project, which, if it receives the support of the citizens of the county, will do much to keep this area pre-eminent as the smelt dipping capital of the state. The "55-mile Smelt Derby" will be the biggest sports attraction in the mid-west "if" everyone cooperates. Smelt dips are no longer an oddity. There is competition in the field and plenty of it, and today we find smelt running in streams all the way from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, to the St. Clair river. So, if Charlevoix Co. wishes to remain known as the smelt dipping center of the nation, it's up to everyone to do their bit. If every civic organization would turn a hand to help with the success of this venture, then the "55-mile Smelt Derby" would be off to a good start. Dipping on the Jordan River will be conducted somewhat different than at other streams, owing to its size. The dip will start at 8:30 and continue unregulated. However, the starting time, 8:30 p. m. will be enforced. Because there are always a few "hogs" who insist on their own selfish rights and refuse to observe regulations, it is necessary that dipping on all streams be supervised. That fact is self evident in view of the success last year of the Advance dip, and the failure of the runs at other sites where there were no regulated dips. If all small streams emptying into lake Charlevoix had regulated dipping, then there would be elbow-room and smelt for everyone.

Walker - Robinson

A quiet wedding took place on Sunday evening, Feb. 20, in the Mt. Morris parsonage, uniting in marriage Miss Lorraine C. Walker of East Jordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Walker, and Ward A. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Robinson of Flint. Rev. Wesley Dudgeon performed the ceremony at 7:00 p. m.

The bride was attired in a grey gabardine suit, and wore a corsage of white carnations, tied with pink and silver ribbons.

Miss Lois Robinson, sister of the groom, attended as bridesmaid, and also wore a grey suit, her corsage was of white carnations and yellow daffodils.

Following the ceremony a lovely reception was held in the Elms Motel and Trailer Park recreation building on South Dort Highway, Flint. Fifty guests attended from Detroit, Caro, Mt. Morris and Flint.

The refreshment table was very attractive with lighted tapers and a large bouquet of snapdragons and carnations. The bridal table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake.

After the reception the young newlyweds left for East Jordan to visit her parents and family. Upon returning they will make their home in Mt. Morris where Ward is employed.

I'd like to be the lucky man
Whom first my missus wed;
So true, so kind, so courteous,
And what is more, so dead!

The men she is bored by
Are those she's ignored by.

Red Devils Win Final of Season

DEFEAT PELLSTON BY A SCORE OF 28-12

East Jordan closed out its regular season Friday night with a 28-12 victory over Pellston. The victory left the Red Devils in sole possession of 4th place in the Northern Michigan Class C Conference. Boyne City, Charlevoix and Harbor Springs finished ahead of East Jordan and four teams Grayling, Gaylord, Mancelona and Pellston wound up below East Jordan in a season that featured many close and exciting games.

Seven returning lettermen indicate the Red Devils will be a strong team again next year.

Tonight Mancelona will meet East Jordan in the district tournament at Charlevoix, which finds Charlevoix a heavy favorite to cop the district title.

Zeigler Opens Campaign

ASKS GOP TO "MEND FENCES" AS PARTY MEMBERS GATHER AT BOYNE CITY

Boyne City marked the site of the opening of Chas. M. Zeigler's campaign for re-election last Thursday night as Republicans from the top 10 counties at the lower peninsula packed the Hotel Dilworth to celebrate the occasion.

Arthur K. Rouse, chairman of the county G.O.P. committee, welcomed the assemblage and Guy C. Conkle, Jr., party secretary served as toastmaster for the event. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pearson were guests of honor.

"It will be this group and others like it throughout the state which will restore the Republican party in Michigan to the place where it rightfully belongs," Zeigler told the group in his radio address which was aired over the Paul Bunyan network.

Pleading for party allegiance, Zeigler said, "We will together mend our broken fences and keep them in repair by placing our dependence upon the party organization and not be side-tracked or led astray by persons or ideas momentarily catching the public fancy, and not endorsed by the Republican party."

Zeigler said that national surveys revealed that the highways of the United States, and Michigan's were no exception, are high up on the list of civilian war casualties, but that comparable to other states Michigan roads were well up at the top. He championed his policy of awarding road maintenance contracts to counties able to meet standards and praised the work of county road commissions.

He warned that there is an overwhelming need to retain in public office men who, by training and experience are qualified to organize, coordinate and administer public business. He said that the Republican party had always been the safeguard of good government in Michigan. Urging a big vote at the April 14th election Zeigler made pleas for active interest of the youth and women. He reminded his listeners that "the Republican party woke up too late last fall to avert defeat."

Winner, Fourth National AAA Traffic Safety Poster Contest.

Teen-ager Ray Zansick of Cleveland, Ohio, found out that pedestrians carrying umbrellas at a few angle, and icy, rain-covered or greasy windshields on cars contribute heavily to the yearly March traffic toll. So he drew the above poster for the 1948 AAA national traffic safety poster contest. Almost 9,000 copies of the poster, along with 25,000 traffic lessons, are being distributed for March use in Michigan schools by the Automobile Club of Michigan.

CORRECTION

It was Mrs. Archie Kidder who is a surgical patient at Charlevoix hospital and not Mrs. Harrison Kidder as reported in last week's issue of the Herald.

Latest racket by bell-pushing salesmen in Michigan: Salesman poses as interviewer "taking a poll". Housewife is led to believe that if she will "mail her vote" on her favorite radio program (with a dollar each week), she will receive whatever the salesman is selling. Of course, she is asked to sign a contract which may trick her into buying something which in some cases runs over $150.

Another "painless" tax solution for Michigan's financial mess is now suggested by former Lieut-Governor Vernon J. Brown. Brown would abolish the retail sales tax and adopt, as its substitute, a one per cent levy on the gross value of all manufactured products to be paid by the consumers. Opines Brown: "Michigan will have all the money it needs for itself and enough for cities and school districts. Most of it will be paid by consumers who live in some other state and in countries all over the world."

Inflation note: County supervisors are to get $8 a day, instead of $6, in a bill approved by the House of Representatives at Lansing and likely to be OK'd by the Senate.

Governor Williams plans to appoint eight study commissions to investigate state problems as higher education, state services and expenditures, aid to local governments, state and local tax structures, youth guidance, legislative reapportionment and medical services.

Several veteran Lansing observers report growing opposition among legislators to Governor Williams' proposed four per cent tax on corporation profits. Here is the reasoning: Michigan leads all states today in per capita income from manufacturing. It ranks fifth in number of wage-earners. Why invite Michigan industry to decentralize or migrate to other states when such action would only reduce employment and curtail industrial wages at home?

The resolutions committee of the Republican state convention side-stepped, by majority decision, any move to stir up the membership of the C. I. O. prior to the spring election by attacking the C. I. O. "domination" of the Democratic state convention. Political strategy will be to get out the rural vote. Legislative enactment of the colored oleomargarine bill was in line with this thinking. Legislators feared an impending referendum would cause city voters to flock to the polls.

The Michigan dairy industry, which has opposed sale of oleo colored to resemble butter, puts a valuation of $187,128,000 on Michigan's 989,000 cows which produced 2,650,000,000 quarts of milk in 1947. Production per cow was 2,679 quarts, a new record. Dairy farmers' income totaled $208 millions.

The state legislature is asked to appropriate $1,000,000 for the proposed Detroit International airport below Windsor. Airports in Michigan would get $1,889,350. Another illustration why cost of government is increasing.

Congressman Dingell (D., Detroit), member of the House ways and means committee with Rep. Woodruff (R., Bay City), believes Congress will pass down the $150 maximum monthly insurance pension to retired workers as proposed by President Truman. This amount would be paid to workers whose average monthly wage had been $300 or more for 12 years. The $100-per-month worker would get an insured pension of $80 instead of $49; $200 monthly wage, $126 instead of $88. These pensions are financed by payroll deductions.

Records of campaign contributions and expenditures should be kept on file for a minimum of six years, so recommends Circuit Judge Herman H. Dehnke, Harrisville. Dehnke served as a one-man grand juror in Macomb county to investigate Macomb gambling alliances with law enforcement officials. He said testimony showed payment of money to public officials and that campaign records were missing.

Michigan municipalities received $2,750,000 last year from liquor license fees for the sole use of liquor law enforcement. The enforcement staff of the state liquor control commission was cut recently in a move to force municipalities to assume responsibility for law enforcement, as intended by law.

It's hard to believe that electric rates of the Consumers Power Co. have not been increased in 27 years. But such is the record. This utility has applied for permission to increase revenues $6,800,000 annually through a monthly "boost, 39 to 75 cents, for small to large householders.

Herman A. Jandt, 63 years old former Muskegon resident and Brown-Morse company employe, died today in Houghton where he lived the past two years. He had been ill since November.

Mr. Jandt had been employed at the Muskegon company from 1928 to 1945. Mrs. Jandt died in 1945. He was a member of the Trinity Lutheran church.

D., three daughters, Mrs. Edward Burghuis of Muskegon, Mrs. Laurence Blade of Houghton and Mrs. Carl Hardt of Chicago and five half-sisters: Mrs. Luther Brintnall of Boyne City; Mrs. Erna Lynch and Mrs. Edith Griffenberg of Detroit; Mrs. Frieda Clutterbuck of Traverse City and Helen Kriehoff and a half-brother, Carl Bergman.

While living in Boyne City Mr. Jandt was with Al Schwensen in the bakery and another time he had a dairy business.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS LETTER

By Lewis E. Anderson

Thursday evening,

February 17, 1949

The House paused long enough during a busy week, crammed full with committee meetings, public hearings and longer sessions, to pay honor to one of its most outstanding members — John Espie, Chairman of the Ways & Means Committee — upon the occasion of his 68th birthday. Mr. Espie, thru' his 26 years of legislative service, has earned the respect and admiration of all people who come in contact with him.

A week ago it seemed almost certain, following a public hearing, that the initiative petition on oleo was doomed to die in the Senate. Sufficient votes could not be mustered to pass it. A change of heart on the part of some of the Senators over the week end resulted in its passage and return to the House, and its filing with the Sec'y of State just two hours before the midnight deadline Monday. Therefore, it will not go on the spring ballot. The act legalizes the sale of colored oleo and becomes effective 90 days after adjournment of the legislature.

Public hearings on the one-man grand jury and liquor attracted large groups of interested people this week.

As reported earlier, a bill was introduced to repeal the one-man grand jury. Among opponents of repeal were outstanding attorneys who, recognizing certain evils in the system, maintained those abuses could be corrected by amendments to the present act, and that repeal would cause the people to bow to crime and criminal influence once the most effective weapon against crime was done away with. Denying opponents claim that repeal would constitute a triumph for the underworld, its proponents (and here again were equally prominent attorneys and churchmen) likened the system to the gestapo that violated every fundamental right. A continuation of the all day meeting of last Wednesday, scheduled for Thursday, was postponed for a few days due to a conflict in meetings.

Heated debate took place in the hearing on the question of licensing women bartenders in cities of 50,000 or over. Opponents included the A F of L, Temperance groups and Church Organizations who claimed women bartenders lowered wages, displaced men, and endangered their morals.

Speaking for the amendment were the Table Top, Royal Ark Ass'n (liquor licensee groups) and many barmaids, all of whom demanded equal rights for women. Vigorously denying their morals were endangered, the women state they were decent christian women, attended and contributed to their churches and educated their families. Many of these women, having inherited their bars from their deceased husband or father, wanted to know why they should not be allowed to run their own business.

Introduced this week was the familiar boiler bill, and a full crew (railroad) bill. Also introduced was a Michigan Seal of Quality for Agr'l products to further the agr'l industry of the state. Another bill would amend the school code to set a minimum salary of not less than $2,400 for each teacher, meeting the requirements for and having a certificate issued under the provisions of law, and teaching in the primary or secondary classes in any school district of the state.

A Joint Resolution, proposing an amendment to the Constitution, passed by the Senate and under consideration in the House today, to make it easier for school districts to sell building bonds at a low interest rate, provoked a stormy and long session today. The measure would require a majority of taxpayers to approve any increase up to 4 percent for not to exceed 15 years. It would also exempt from the 15-mill limitation all taxes levied on payment of bonds issued by school districts for building purposes.

Following an unsuccessful attempt to return the resolution to committee, and after a two-hour debate, interrupted twice with short recesses of 10 and 15 minutes, a vote was taken, and lacking a two-thirds vote, was defeated. A favorable vote to reconsider the vote by which it failed to pass for the purpose of laying it on the table, keeps it alive. If a two-thirds vote to take it from the table and pass it fails to carry, it cannot go on the ballot this spring.

A heavy calendar for Friday prompted a successful motion to convene at 9 Friday morning in the expectation of a week end adjournment at noon so all Republican members can start for the State Convention in Grand Rapids Friday evening and Saturday.

POTATOES FOR LIVESTOCK FEED

Potatoes can be very successfully used in the ration of many farm animals says Walter G. Kirkpatrick, Antrim Co. Agr'l Agent.

A great many experiments show that potatoes are nearly as high in digestible nutrients as corn silage. A comparison of these feeds show that 5 pounds of corn silage or potatoes are equal to one lb. of corn grain.

Since potatoes are often unpalatable, the livestock must be taught to eat them. The potatoes should be gradually introduced into the ration and the amount limited to about 30 pounds daily.

Potatoes are very low in Protein and should be fed with a legume hay, such as alfalfa or clover. A grain ration contains a protein supplement such as Soybean or cottensed meal and should be fed for best results.

Potatoes, when supplemented with proper feeds, will not dry up the cows as is sometimes believed.

With grain selling at the present prices, potatoes wisely fed are worth seventy-five cents per hundred wt.

Dairy Cattle: Potatoes should be chopped to prevent choking and should be fed after milking to avoid undesirable flavor in the milk. Can feed up to 30 lbs. daily.

Beef Cattle: Up to 30 lbs. of potatoes per head may be fed to either breeding beef cattle or fattening steers, and will have a value only slightly less than that of corn silage. The cattle should be accustomed to the potatoes gradually and the potatoes run through a cutting box before feeding, to avoid the danger of choking.

Sheep: From two to two and one-half lbs. of potatoes per head daily are an excellent addition to the ration of breeding ewes. As for cattle, the potatoes should be chopped for the sheep.

Swine: Potatoes give excellent results as a swine feed if cooked and fed as a replacement for 1/2 of the grain which would ordinarily be fed. In replacing grain with potatoes for swine feeding, four lbs. should be cooked before feeding and salt added to the water when cooking them.

It should always be kept in mind that potatoes are low in protein vitamins and minerals. Hence these deficiencies should always be corrected in the ration if maximum results are to be obtained.

ALBA VETERANS SCHOOL TO START IN MARCH

The Alba Veterans "on the farm" training school will get under way in early March says, Wm. Bennett, Superintendent of School at Alba.

For a long time Veterans in that section of the county have been interested in getting a training school established so they too can qualify for benefits under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Jason Shinn of Mancelona has been engaged as the instructor. Jason is well qualified, having been very active in County 4-H Club work and FFA while in High School. He was a member of the State 4-H Dairy Judging Team that placed first in National competition in 1940. Since the war he has been studying agr'l at Michigan State College.

If there are additional Veterans interested in enrolling in the school they should file their applications at once with the Superintendent Wm. Bennett at Alba.

FARM ACCOUNT SCHOOL TUESDAY

Farm Account Specialists from Michigan State college will be in Antrim County on Tuesday, March 1, to assist cooperators in the project announced by Walter G. Kirkpatrick, County Agr'l Agent.

A school for interested farmers will be held Tuesday morning at 10:00 a. m. in the basement of the Court House.

The Antrim Soil Conservation Service has completed a series of group meetings held in Forest Home and Kearney Twp.

It has been the practice of the District since organized to hold group planning meetings in different neighborhoods with the farmers. Through these meetings the practices of proper land use, balance rotations, erosion control practices and a balanced livestock and feed program are discussed.

The meetings were held in the following homes: Forest Home Twp.; Delbert Lynn, Victor Crandall, Orville Miller and Harley Miller. Kearney Twp.; J. A. Koutnik & Sons, Gordon Beddels and Morley Smith.

A total of 13 farmers were represented in these two groups.

POULTRY AND FARM BUILDING MEETING MARCH 11

The Bellaire Community Hall has been engaged for an all day meeting for Antrim County farmers interested in Poultry and Farm Buildings. The event has been scheduled for Friday, March 11, says Walter G. Kirkpatrick, County Agr'l Agent.

The meeting will begin at 10:00 a. m. Building construction and insulation will be discussed and models of buildings will be on display. Motion pictures on rat control and how to build to keep rats out will be shown.

J. M. Moore, Extension Poultryman, Michigan State college, will discuss all phases of Poultry Management. He will appear on both morning and afternoon program.

Robert Maddix, Extension Specialist in Agr'l Engineering will discuss farm buildings and he too will be on both the morning and afternoon programs.

Everyone interested in either or both subjects should make it a point to attend.

HOME IMPROVEMENT TO BE STUDIED BY EXTENSION LEADERS

"Attractive Liveable Homes Inside and Out" is the subject of the lesson to be given at a Leaders Training meeting, Wednesday, March 16 at the Court House, Bellaire, beginning at 10:00 a. m. announces Mrs. Virginia Vance, Home Demonstration Agent.

Miss Lucille Ketchum, Home Management Specialist from Michigan State college, will conduct the lesson.

"First impressions are often lasting" is the theme for the lesson. The leaders will take a look at the outside and inside appearance of their homes. They will discuss the possibilities of increasing storage space, improving kitchens, workrooms and bathrooms. The location of front and rear entrances and safe, easy ways to climb stairways will also be considered. The flannel graph will be used to demonstrate ways to improve the homes.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Congress Gets Control Proposals Which Would Curb Wages, Prices; Doctors Offer Public Health Plan

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

CONTROLS: Needed or Not?

The administration at Washington has made its move for price and wage controls.

It has asked congress to place ceilings on prices which threaten to go above last December's level. It also has proposed creation of a six-man board to regulate wage increases.

Already, however, it was becoming increasingly clear to the people that constantly shifting factors are changing so swiftly that some of the major points in the administration's legislative program may become obsolete before they are called for consideration.

FOR INSTANCE, the downward trend in prices would indicate that a proposal for price control, except in some few isolated cases, might even appear ridiculous. Consequently, continuing decline in prices would naturally knock out any validity of wage hike demands.

The sincerity of the administration in this respect might be open to question, but not seriously so. Practical politicians and people who realize the need for application of politics in government procedures will understand that whether the government actually wants what it asks is somewhat beside the point.

The real point is that these measures were pledged by President Truman in his campaign, and it was as early as inauguration day that administration leaders stated publicly they meant to implement campaign pledges in every way. Now the administration is going through the motions of seeking to have adopted all the legislation the President promised the voters when he was a candidate for the office.

A QUICK RUN-DOWN of the administration's legislative-potential will show that civil rights, tax increases, outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley law and socialized medicine, all admittedly needing some treatment, are in for a rough time in congress.

That being the case, it is difficult to understand how Mr. Truman and his advisers could make price and wage controls stick should there be no apparent need for either.

PUBLIC HEALTH: Physicians' Plan

There would be discussion of motive, of course, but whether actuated by the belief that socialized medicine was an undesirable alternative, or by a sincere desire to widen their field of service, America's physicians had come up with a plan.

OBVIOUSLY, the plan was a counter move in the developing battle over socialized medicine, and in it one could see some concession to the bureaucratic ambitions which, it is claimed, motivates the socialized medicine effort.

First, the doctors through their American Medical Association's board of trustees, urge creation of a federal department of health, with cabinet status, which would be authorized to promote the general welfare by aiding and fostering programs in the field of health. This department also would contribute to individual, family and community well-being.

Briefly, the program would include: PROMPT DEVELOPMENT of diagnostic facilities; health centers and local public health units; health centers and hospital services; comprehensive health education programs; integration of veterans' medical care and hospitalization with other medical care and hospital programs; greater emphasis on the program of industrial medicine, and adequate support, with funds free from political control, of the medical, dental and nursing schools and other institutions necessary for the training of specialized personnel required in the provision and distribution of medical care.

In its scope the doctors' program read like Mr. Truman's "bold new program" for betterment of world living. But its very generalities and extent might be the factors to doom it.

MERCY TRAIN: And Kisses

Although no finished hand at the game, Kentucky's Gov. Earle Clements was not to be outdone in the amenities incident to arrival of the French Mercy train in Frankfort.

BUSSED heartily on the cheek by French representative Andre Picard, Governor Clements bussed right back displayed no chagrin.

And, in addition to the buss, Picard received a commission as a Kentucky colonel.

Absolved

William W. Remington, who was an official of the commerce department, was absolved of disloyalty charges following an alleged link to Soviet interests. He was given a new job with the department, but with salary remaining at $10,000 annually.

DEFENSE PACT: Gilded Lily

There were puzzling things going on in Washington as the proposed north Atlantic security pact came up for discussion.

As any schoolboy knows, only congress can declare war. Yet Senator Vandenberg of the foreign affairs committee was quoted as saying that if any pact were drawn he expected such a pact to "reserve to congress the complete right of decision" on what to do about an armed attack.

THAT STATEMENT of Vandenberg's amounted to nothing more than a thick coat of gilt on the lily. The pact could do no less than "reserve" such decision, because the constitution of the United States is quite clear as to what governmental body in the United States has the authority to declare war. The constitution does not relegate that power to a senate committee or to the state department.

The point is made only to highlight the trend of official thinking in federal circles. Despite the constitutional provision, Senator Vandenberg and apparently those who draft the pact, are "willing" to let congress make any decision on going to war.

There were other puzzling factors connected with the pact. Both Senator Vandenberg and Senator Connally declared that signing the pact would not commit this nation to war in the event another pact signatory were attacked.

IF THAT were the situation, the critical queried, what would be the use of the pact?

The senators had an answer for that one—an answer reminiscent of American thinking before Pearl Harbor. They pointed out that, as Vandenberg put it, "in my opinion the mere formal recognition of this community of interest in the event of an armed attack on the Atlantic community—without another word in the treaty—would be an infinite assurance against World War III."

What the senator was intimating in effect was that with the United States a signatory to the pact, any nation would be afraid to jump either on the U.S. or another member.

THE SENATOR'S MEMORY seemed to be waning. Japan wasn't "afraid" to attack Pearl Harbor. That was World War II. Germany wasn't "afraid" to sink the Lusitania. That was World War I. The "fear" bulwark hadn't done so well on two occasions.

Did Senator Vandenberg have some special information, or intuition, that it would work better to prevent World War III?

LONGEVITY: The Hard Way

So you'd like to live to be 102? There's a way—but it will appear only to the rugged.

A Westerfield, N. J., woman has passed the century mark with vitality still good, interest in things about her still unimpaired.

OF HER 102nd birthday party she said:

"It was a most wonderful party I felt just like I was walking on air. The house looked like a greenery. All those flowers and even an orchid. It was wonderful."

About reaching 102, well the lady who did it, Mrs. Katherine G. Lyon, said she was in favor of exercise and fresh air.

"It's all a matter of hewing your food properly, and getting plenty of fresh air. Anyone who is 102 years old and can't walk at least two miles ought to go to a doctor and find out what's the matter with them. I'm always ready to go."

Mrs. Lyon did not stipulate that walking two miles a day was the entire answer.

TRENDS: Dictatorial

The gentleman who was talking knew whereof he spoke. When he began to express himself on dictatorships, the public might listen respectfully for he had but lately concluded an assignment to put down one of the most vicious dictatorships the world had ever seen.

But he wasn't talking of foreign dictatorships. Instead, he was warning the Columbia college forum on democracy that dictatorship was an actual possibility right here in the United States.

THE SPEAKER was Gen. Dwight D. "Ike" Eisenhower, who was supreme commander of allied forces in the war against the dictatorships—World War II.

Discussing the supposition that this nation was in danger of falling into the hands of a dictatorship without a shot being fired, Eisenhower said he was not talking about the usual type of seizure of power by force.

He was talking, he said, about a gradual dictatorship of bureaucracy which could result from the "constant drift toward centralized government."

"There is a kind of dictatorship," he said, "that can come about through a creeping paralysis of thought and readiness to accept paternalistic measures from the government, along with a surrender of our own responsibilities and, therefore, of our control over our own lives and our right to exercise our vote."

"IF WE ALLOW this drift toward centralized bureaucratic government to continue, finally it will be expressed . . . in the actual field of operation."

"There'll be a swarming of bureaucrats over the land, ownership of property will gradually drift into that central government, and finally you have to have dictatorship as the only means of operating such a huge organization."

When a man of General Ike's stature is publicly concerned over the probability of a dictatorship in the U. S., benign or otherwise, it seems it were time the public, too, should begin to look into the situation.

MYSTERY: Biggest Run

As one southern reporter described it, it was the "biggest run in the South's history."

One moment everything was all right. The next, disaster had struck.

It happened in Jacksonville, Fla., and there was no warning of its coming. Women and girls arose in the morning, donned attractive, sheer nylon stockings and started about their business.

Then, the nylons simply started coming apart. Working girls went bare-legged to lunch, carrying their stockings—or what was left of them—in their purses.

A horrible possibility failed to materialize—the girls were spared disintegration of their nylon underwear; but there were many anxious moments as they watched the nylon stockings disintegrate on their legs.

The health department advanced a theory that incompletely-burned particles of soot carried a gas which caused the stockings to come apart.

At Wilmington, Del., a technical engineer for a nylon manufacturer said it's happened before in Washington, Chicago, Nashville and Minneapolis.

He explained that the trouble was acid-bearing soot. These tiny particles, he said, even from ordinary coal fires, contain sulphur dioxide, sulphur trioxide and other acids. When they land on a coat or hat, the concentrate may destroy a thread, but you don't notice it.

But when they land on a stocking thread—zip! And there's a story to make the nation's headlines.

Accused

Agne Smedley, 54-year-old Oklahoma born author, has been named by Gen. Douglas MacArthur as a Soviet agent in his recent report on a Russian spy ring. She denied the accusation.

METALS: Stronger

For those who use metals there was good news, Dr. J. H. Holloman, General Electric research laboratory scientist, reported that metals eventually can be made from five to 10 times stronger.

Metals are made up of tiny grains. A break always begins at a high temperature with microscopic cracks along the boundaries. It is prevention of these cracks that will strengthen the metal.

Wild Oats Harvest

Lesson for March 6, 1949

ALL RELIGIOUS teachers of Jesus' time used parables. But the great difference between Jesus' parables and those of his contemporaries, as Rabbi Klausner says, is that his were remembered and theirs were not. People will remember a story who cannot take in a lecture. Jesus almost never told "wonder-tales." His parables are not in the least like Grimm's fairy tales or Alice in Wonderland. Mostly they are about simple ordinary happenings, and practically always about living people or things.

The Kingdom of God is a kingdom of law, not of happen-so or of magic wands. Jesus was fond of comparing God's Kingdom to growing plants. Every plant is a miracle, it is evidence of God's creative power; but plants do not grow overnight, they grow by the laws which the Creator made in them.

Wild Sowing

AS WE SAW last week, the most important feature of the Ideal World, or of any world, is the quality of the people in it. So most of Jesus' parables were about people, one of the most famous being this one of the "prodigal son." ("Prodigal" of course does not mean wicked or repentant, but wasteful, reckless with money or other things.) You could find many faults in that young man. One of them—the fault that nearly killed him—was that if he had a calendar he never looked at it. If you take a good look at a calendar you will always notice that there is another day after this one—another month, another year. But the prodigal never thinks about tomorrow, only about today. He sows his wild oats because he has fun doing it. He can say "So what?" "Fast enough but he has never asked the question, '—and then what?' Childish, isn't it? Yet all about us are prodigals old enough to know better.

Some people even argue that it is a good thing to sow wild oats, on the theory that the prodigal gets it out of his system and is afterwards a better man.

Nonsense! Is it better for your education to spend several years learning things wrong? Is it better for a garden to let it grow up in weeds for the first three weeks? Is it better for a man's health to spend his childhood years on a sickbed? That's no more silly than to say that a man is morally better for having been immoral for a while first.

Prodigal Nation

IT HAS even been said that we have a prodigal-son civilization. Our generation is pretty busy sowing wild oats. We waste the natural resources of the earth. Drinking has become encouraged by law and made glamorous by the movies. We spend more on liquor than on schools. More money is spent on a single day's horse-racing at a big track than a whole state or province spends on education in a year. The ties of marriage have grown so weak, especially outside the Christian church, that it has not been long since one American city was boasting that its marriage rate had "caught up with" its divorce rate!

Wild Harvest

THE PRODIGAL son in Jesus' story went home—but he had to reap his wild harvest first. The modern prodigal, whether individual or nation, seems to misunderstand Jesus' meaning. If God is thought of at all, he is pictured as a benevolent Being who after all doesn't mind our enjoying our little fling. "He will forgive," said Voltaire, "that's his business." That is a total misunderstanding of God.

The Heavenly Father does love every one of his children, yes. But he will not hold back any one who insists on wasting his substance. He will not interfere with the man's freedom, even if that freedom is wickedly used.

He will not suspend his own law: "Whatever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." The prodigal will never get back what he threw away. Time that is killed stays dead. The poverty and pain created by personal or national extravagance and intemperance, God will not magically conjure away. MPSC Authorizes Bell Telephone to Extend Base Rate Area Here

The Michigan Public Service Commission has authorized a reduction or elimination of exchange line mileage charges for thousands of telephone users in former rural areas that are now substantial residential developments in more than 100 exchanges of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., including East Jordan.

The Commission approved Michigan Bell's program to extend or modify urban-service extensions or modifications of "locality area" charges. In effect, the company is authorized to offer better types of service at attractive rates to customers in the newly developed residential areas.

A phase of the order provides for the ultimate elimination of rural service in the affected areas in favor of urban service now provided within the communities themselves. The company emphasized, however, that such a change must await the availability of facilities, which may take as long as two years at some exchanges. Until that time, service will be furnished on a temporary basis.

Company officials said the order will permit more efficient planning in connection with future expansion of facilities.

C. L. Johnson, manager for the company, said the order extends the base-rate area here to include the following territory in which there are 15 telephone users:

An area of 1/4 square mi. on the western shore of Lake Charlevoix immediately north of the present base rate area boundary. It is a summer resort area catering to tourists.

In the territory to be added, users of urban-type services will no longer pay exchange-line mileage charges.

The company will eliminate rural service in the area when facilities become available, Johnson said. Instead, users will be offered urban-type services. The change will not increase rates for rural residence users but will involve somewhat higher charges for rural business users.

Notice to Candidates

Any person desiring to become a candidate for the office of Mayor, or Alderman, shall file with the City Clerk a statement of such candidacy no later than March 11, 1949, at 5 o'clock p. m.

The farm home of Walter Goebel in South Arm Twp. was damaged by fire this Thursday afternoon. The East Jordan Fire Department was summoned shortly before 1:00 p. m., and kept the damage confined to the roof and upstairs.

Mrs. Goebel and young children were home alone at the time the fire was discovered in the floor of an unfinished upstairs room. Volunteer helpers removed all of the downstairs furnishings except the kitchen range.

The fire departments 500 gal. supply tank on the truck was replenished by Lilak and Moore who took one of their trucks to the East Jordan Co-op. Co., borrowed a large tank, filled it with water, and returned to the scene of the blaze before the fire trucks supply of water gave out.

An auxiliary tanker to follow our fire truck with a large supply of water would be a much-needed addition to our fire department, especially at farm fires.

Lansing — Get up close and we'll whisper it to you.

A "scandalous waste of public funds" has been going on in Michigan.

These words are taken from a resolution adopted by the State Senate at Lansing the other day. A majority of Senators agreed that this "scandalous waste" was due to increasing spending by governmental units in Michigan since 1942, the first year of our participating in World War II. They proposed that something should be done about it. And what is this solution? An investigation!

This startling inaction aptly illustrates the frustration that prevails throughout the legislature today on the grim topic of taxes. Governor G. Mennen Williams has proposed that the legislature enact a tax on corporation-profits and thereby avert a deficit in the state treasury. Such a deficit, he warns, is inevitable because 76 per cent of the sales tax revenues are being diverted by constitutional amendment back to local governments — schools, townships, cities and counties.

Now is no news to record that legislators do not like new taxes. Even the Williams' formula of taxing "big business" is not welcomed. The governor's solution neatly sidesteps the agony of having to go back home and face the angry voters should a direct consumer tax be imposed. An indirect tax thus has its virtues — the chief of which is that the citizen does not know when the tax is being paid, since it is hidden in the consumer price and hence unidentified.

The corporation profit tax, which would be paid chiefly by some 22 big corporations, will be tolerated at the best by the Republican legislature only if no alternative can be found.

Hence the legislature's inclination, as illustrated by the Senate resolutions, to discover this magical alternative — something which would not add to the taxpayers' bill and yet would bridge the widening gap in the state budget.

The Senate resolution is a reflection of this kind of wishful thinking. Let's examine the wording. Legislators point out that the sales tax, enacted in 1933 to raise around $40 millions, produced $185 millions in 1948. Liquor tax, cigarette tax, use tax and other levies added $83 millions. Then the gasoline and weight tax brought in upwards of $74 millions. The grand total, contributed by taxpayers, was $342 millions — more than a third of a billion dollars!

And so you arrive at this conclusion:

"The over-all increase in the cost of government is 81 per cent from 1942 to 1947.

"The increase in cost of government in other states during the past five years has been from 25 to 40% . . . Pennsylvania, 12%; New York, 30%; and Ohio, 25%.

"The state should make some effort to find out the causes of the tremendous waste and correct same for the purpose of determining whether it is not possible to reduce expenses so that the levying of additional taxes will not be necessary."

The State Senate resolution proposes to accomplish this by appointing a committee, a good tried-and-true method for buck passing. If anything comes out of this latest investigation, a lot of Lansing observers will be greatly surprised.

As we have pointed out before, many Michigan citizens entertain the belief that the cost of State government is top-heavy; that millions of dollars could be saved by weeding out needless bureaus and firing lazy workers. This suspicion of inefficiency and an added by-product — corruption — inspired the 1946 landslide that swept Kim Sigler into office as the crusading reformer who would change it all.

It seems logical to point out that it was during the 1943-44 period of Republican rule at Lansing that the legislature created the veterans' trust fund of $50 millions — money saved during the war out of booming tax revenues. A state building program was also launched.

If there has been an "alarming waste of public funds" since 1942, where was the legislature all this time? And why didn't the Republican governors do something about it?

As we see it, the Senate resolution typifies the current frustration at Lansing. A constitutional amendment requires diversion of 76% of sales tax revenues back to local governments. Inflation has brought higher prices; higher prices require more dollars to buy the same services and products; more dollars mean more taxes or curtailed spending.

Since the legislature has no control over how most of the state revenues are to be spent, the result is a pretty pickle, any way you slice it. Somebody is going to be hurt. The only question is: Who is it going to be?

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY IF YOU EAT RIGHT FOOD

We're living longer these days and adding years to our life, but those added years mean little if we can't enjoy them. To enjoy them we have to be in good health.

How to maintain good health in later years is the current study of the foods and nutrition department of Michigan State college. Lois Jackson reports that the department has set up a program to study the everyday diets of healthy older women.

By observing what these older women eat and how nutrition is related to their health, researchers can help advise others what they need to eat to stay healthy.

How much is enough? How much of various nutrients do older people need? Studies at Michigan State College and elsewhere indicate that older people need nearly as much protein as younger people. Their calcium needs are at least as high as those of younger adults.

Not only is the right kind of food vital to our welfare but it may even help to slow up aging processes. Older persons can contribute a lot to the community in which they live from their fund of knowledge and experience. But they must be mentally alert and physically active to do this. So much in an older person's life depends upon his health and that in turn upon his food habits.

Many years of study on all age groups will be required to complete the answer to the question of how much is enough. In the meantime enough information about nutrition is available to help you watch those food habits and enjoy your later years a great deal more.

One's knowledge of love depends on the way one grasps the subject. A minute lost at a railroad crossing may save all the rest of your time.

Every child took part in dramatizing a history of mail carrying by the runners, the pony express, camel-carrier pigeon, stage coach, train, automobile, air plane and the city postman. Each one had a hand in building or painting the scenery and other things needed. We are grateful to Mr. Shoemaker for his time and efforts in making our camel and to Bruce Healey for his airplane and Duane Heintzman for his automobile.

Our first graders are enjoying their new reading workbooks and number books. The second grade spelling chart is proving to be lots of fun and helping to show each one his progress. Several have been able to maintain "highest possible scores."

We are calling this "Health Month." Seldom a day passes that we are not mindful of some health factor. But this month we are going into a little more detailed study of the "how" and "why" ways of building healthy bodies. This week we will discuss and try to improve personal appearances through cleanliness of bodies, clothes, hands, face and hair. A great deal of cooperation at home is needed for developing these habits in 6 and 7-year-old children. "Betty" is going to help us in the project with talks, inspections and posters.

SECOND Grade — Agnes Johnston

We had a spell down Wednesday between the girls and boys. Eleanor Myers spelled the entire class down. Jerome Chanda was the last boy to be spelled down.

During one of our language classes we decided to recite the poem, "Who Loves the Trees Best?" for the assembly which was given last Friday. We also demonstrated some of the activities we like to do in our second grade. We were pleased to see some of our mothers at the assembly.

Alice Sumner had a birthday last week. She is eight years old now. We all drew a birthday picture for her.

Mrs. Johnston is reading the story of The Bobbsey Twins to us.

FOURTH Grade Miss Eisen

Our attendance last week was very good. Everyone seemed to enjoy each school task and worthwhile progress is showing as a result.

Last Friday the class gave the reading, "The House With Nobody In It." by Joyce Kilmer. It was a long poem to memorize but the class enjoyed it and we received several compliments on its recitation.

The movie on "The Life of the Beaver" was very instructive.

In art class we made several clown heads and are planning several new lessons for March.

Jack Brown, who has been in Detroit since early Sept., is with us again and our class now numbers 37.

FOURTH Grade — Grace Galmore

We are making some colonial bell-ringers. We hung them up on the wall. We are making some of them for the teacher's party. — Gladys Stanton

Billy Farmer is sick. We all hope that he will be able to come to school soon. — Joanne Bader

Friday the 25th, we had an assembly program. Mrs. Bowerman's children had a play about the way they used carried the mail. Mrs. Johnston had a play on "What We Like to do Best." David Clark played three songs on the piano. They were "Old Black Joe," "You Call Everybody Darling" and "Boogie Woogie." Miss Eisen's children gave a long poem, "The House With Nobody In It." — Nancy Kidder

In our Weekly Readers there is a story about Buildings Honor Washington. It's a story of a log cabin at Valley Forge, Penn. This cabin was built by Geo. Washington. The winter was hard for Washington because some of the men did not have enough shoes or clothes. Many men had to go barefoot in the snow. Washington was more than a great general. He was a kind leader. — Sharon Hayes

The dedication of the new school building filled the first page of this issue. This took place on Friday, Feb. 19, and will stand out as one of the way-marks along the history of our growing young city. The effects reflect much credit upon Supt. H. H. Fuller and his corps of teachers: Miss Babcock had general charge of affairs, assisted by Miss Roelofs as chairman of entertainments and Miss Carlton, chairman on refreshments. Plans were drawn by H. S. Price, our local architect, and under his general superintendency. The building committee of the School Board who had charge were Messrs. Porter, Squiers and Hoyt. The building is two stories with a basement, 66x80 feet and up-to-date. It contains a chemical laboratory, boiler and fuel rooms and two toiletrooms. The first floor has four rooms for kindergarten and primary work; the second floor on which the high school is located contains an assembly room, three recitation rooms, physical laboratory, office and library. A complete heating and ventilating system is installed by Malpass Bros. When the hour arrived for opening the program the large assembly room was packed with pupils and patrons, the school board, with the superintendents and speakers occupying the "upper seats." "Robin Hood," a march by the orchestra, opened the exercises, prayer was offered by W. W. Lamport. The high school then sang DeLisle's "Hymne des Marseillais," and Superintendent Fuller gave his address of welcome. The response was given by H. I. McMillan, our general village president. Miss Hazel Stevens sang "A Gypsy Maiden," for which she was roundly applauded. W. P. Squiers in behalf of the school board gave a detailed statement of construction and cost of the building. Another song by the high school, "The Soldier's Cross" and Commissioner J. H. Milford was called upon. He said that East Jordan was now second to none in the County in equipment of school buildings, and second to none in teachers and in pupils. Miss Susan Walsh's solo "My Own United States" was so heartily applauded that she responded with "The Birds Have Been Singing About You." A piano duet "Overture to Zampa" was given by Misses Madge and Fay Nicholas. Judge Mayne was introduced as the principal speaker of the evening. Wish there was room to list the building bills paid which amounted to a grand total of $12,065.11

Contract for building the new Catholic Sisters' Residence has been awarded to contractor Harry S. Price. It is to be of solid brick, two stories and basement, size 32x36. It will be equipped with a hot air furnace, electric lights and will cost about $3,000. Construction will commence in the spring. The school building will be moved to the west and north and an addition placed on same.

LICE AND GRUBS

All dairy farmers should be watching their cattle closely this time of year for evidence of lice and grubs. Both of these insects are easy to detect. The lice usually bother the cows at the rear of the animal and also some on the forehead. The grubs will appear later in the winter and early spring, as small lumps along the back.

FARM MANAGEMENT

A very good meeting on Farm Management and Farm Accounts will be held on Tuesday afternoon, March 1, in the basement of the Boyne City Library. This meeting will start promptly at 2:00 p. m. Many questions regarding farm management plans for 1949, how to set up a farm account system, and how to keep simple farm account records, will be discussed. Any farmer who is interested in knowing whether or not his enterprise is making money should attend this meeting.

There is still a good supply of farm account books left at the County Extension Office in Boyne City. Any one who is interested in obtaining one of these books should stop in the office whenever in Boyne City. There is a slight cost of these books to cover cost of printing.
