First Contour Orchard Set

AT THE CLAYTON HEALEY FARM NEAR EAST JORDAN

E. B. Watkins, farm planner for the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District announced last week that the first cherry orchard to be set on the contour was the farm of Clayton Healey of East Jordan.

Joe Leu, also of East Jordan, has received assistance on fifteen acres of his farm. Contour strips were planted on these 15 acres. Kenneth VanHoesen of Charlevoix has two acres of cherry orchard that will be laid out on the contour as soon as possible.

Herman Webber, soil scientist for the Soil Conservation Service in Traverse City has completed soil surveys on the following farms: Clayton Healey, Joe Leu, Perry Looze, Art Nicloy, Orvel Bennett Clarence Staley, Lyle Peters and Geo. Klooster.

The Charlevoix District received 16,950 trees which were placed on the farms of those cooperators who had signed up in the program. These trees included 9,900 white pine, 4,525 red pine, 1,000 scotch pine, and 1,125 white spruce.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors a new policy was adopted in regard to new applications for soil conservation work. The board has stated that anyone wishing to sign up for assistance should first contact the leader of the organized group in their community, or if there is no organized group they should attempt to form a new group.

Irving L. Kinner Gets Consent Judgment In Circuit Court

Consent judgment of $5,000 was awarded in Charlevoix circuit court Monday afternoon to Irving L. Kinner of East Jordan against the Rouse & Sons Co. of Boyne City.

The judgment, which was settled out of court, was result of a kerosene stove explosion which fatally injured Kinner's wife, Dorothy, and their 19-month-old son in July, 1947.

Kerosene purchased from the Rouse & Sons Co. was charged to have an octane rating above the legal limits and exploded when Mrs. Kinner attempted to light the stove.

Fair Premium Book Out Soon

DATES OF CHARLEVOIX COUNTY FAIR ARE SEPT. 7-8-9-10

Final plans for printing the 1949 fair premium book for the Charlevoix County Fair was discussed last week at a meeting of the board of directors.

The program for this year will be somewhat similar to last year. Horse racing will be in the afternoon of the first three days, Sept. 7, 8, 9 and horse pulling will be on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 10, according to Ed Rebman, County Agr'l Agent.

Saturday will also be children's day. Special programs will be planned and prizes offered for contests. The Carnival Company has very graciously consented to go along with this idea and have agreed to reduce the prices on rides for children's day.

Persons wishing to obtain copies of the premium book may obtain one by writing to Ed Rebman in the Federal Building, Boyne City. Also business men who have advertised in the premium book will have copies for distribution in East Jordan, Charlevoix and Boyne City.

A reception was held May 11th at the South Arm Grange Hall for Mr. and Mrs. Howard Murray. Shirley Walker and Suzanne Whiteford were hostesses. A four tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the refreshment table which was served with ice cream.

Present the couple are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Richard Murray.

The Story of the Poppy

THE ORIGIN OF THE LITTLE WILD FLOWER

The idea of the poppy as a Memorial flower for the world war dead sprang up as naturally as the little wild flower itself. In the days of World War I the little red poppy was the one touch of beauty which survived amid the hideous destruction of war.

There are none who do not remember the immortal poem of Col. John McCrae who was soon to join his comrades lying beneath those poppies. He was the first to call attention to the poppies growing between the crosses in Flanders Fields. Returning soldiers brought with them a vision of those crosses and poppies. It was to be engraved indelibly in their hearts with the memories of comrades left on the battle fields.

Miss Michael of Athens, Georgia, was perhaps the first to wear a poppy for a Memorial purpose. She was serving with the YMCA overseas headquarters in New York. On Nov. 9, 1918 she received a check from a YMCA Conference being held that day.

Her great admiration for the American Legion led Miss Michael to induce its members to adopt the poppy as its official flower of memory. This was adopted at the American Legion National Convention in Cleveland in 1920.

The crepe paper poppy was selected because it provided maximum work for disabled men, with a minimum expenditure for materials.

A generation later, American soldiers again saw poppies growing on the battlefields of another war. Again they marked the crosses row on row. This time they bloomed in Tunisia and Italy as well as France.

Whether they fell at Bataan, Guadalcanal, IwoJima, Flanders, Normandy or Tunisia; whether they died in prison camp or in hospital beds from the ravages of war, the little red poppy is to us always a symbol of their sacrifice.

Poppy Day will be observed in East Jordan May 26-27-28.

Children begin by loving their parents; as they grow older they judge them; sometimes they forgive them.

Our Boys Win Championship

WIN VICTORIES OVER HARBOR SPRINGS AND PELLSTON

East Jordan came through with victories over Harbor Springs and Pellston Friday to cope the Northern Championship. Boyne City finished second and Pellston third.

HARBOR VS. EAST JORDAN In the game Thursday against Harbor, the Red Devils trailed, going into the last of the fourth 6-1. Proving that they could come from behind, the boys scored ten runs in the next three innings to finish on the long end of a 11-6 score.

PELLSTON VS. EAST JORDAN In a thrilling game, Friday, East Jordan banged out sixteen hits off Pellston's Darcy Stark to wrap up the Northern Division Championship. The final score was 18-4.

The boys truly looked like champions as they fielded and hit the ball. Boring and Sommerville both lashed triples to deep left field to pace the heavy hitting while Thomson drove out three singles.

It was a well played game as both teams played good heads-up baseball. Outstanding defensive play of the game was an East Jordan double play when Pellston had the bases loaded with one out in the sixth.

"Red" Evans again worked on the mound giving up but three hits and three walks while striking out six.

This game ended the regular playing season. Remaining is the play-off game today (Thursday) with Mancelona.

The East Jordan team deserves a lot of credit for their spirit and hard work. They played very good baseball, sometimes in weather more suited for football.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS
Gen. Clay Out as Berlin Chief;
New Rent Curb Formula Attacked;
Taft-Hartley Bill Wins in Test

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

BERLIN:
Clay Is Done

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, stormy petrel of American administration in Berlin, was relieved of his post as military commander in Germany. The action was taken at the general's own request.

CLAY, who has been widely criticized for his apparent "soft" attitude toward German war criminals, notably in the case of Elsa Koch, the "witch of Buchenwald," notorious German horror camp, had frequently asked to be relieved of his command. He said he wanted to return to his home in Marietta, Ga., and "go catfishing."

Clay's leaving would open the way for appointment of the first civilian high commissioner for Germany, something the army has been waiting for a long time.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, in making the announcement Clay was to leave, said the general deserved the thanks of the American people for his execution "of one of the toughest tasks and accomplishments of American history."

It was no secret that the President and Dean Acheson, secretary of state, were trying to persuade John J. McCloy to take the assignment in Berlin. McCloy is now head of the international bank for reconstruction and development, a position which carries a $30,000, tax-free annual salary.

Pending the appointment of a civilian commissioner, President Truman announced military government deputies and two generals would carry on Clay's work.

The United States, Britain and France have agreed to arrangements for turning over civilian control to the Germans when a provisional government is established for the western zones.

Meanwhile, hope continued for an end, through four-power negotiations, of the Berlin blockade by the Russians.

HOUSING:
Nobody Pleased

The government, it appeared, couldn't please anyone in its efforts to implement the newly-enacted rent control bill.

Scores of landlords and tenants in New York turned out in angry confusion after Federal Housing Chief Tighe Woods announced a program for putting the new law into operation. Woods had come up with a plan which he hoped would provide owners of rental property with a "fair net operating income." This was one thing the new law said should be done.

BUT WOODS, in a personal appearance in the nation's largest city, stepped personally into a hot-bed of landlord's inquiries.

Landlords assailed the Woods formula as giving inadequate relief to hard-pressed property owners.

The formula was confusing because it contained so many indeterminate factors. It was intended to produce a "net operating income" of 25 to 30 per cent of gross income on some 14 million dwellings throughout the nation still under federal rent control.

As Woods expressed belief both landlords and tenants would be happier under the new formula, a surprised murmur of laughter swept the audience which overflowed the 869-seat hall. Woods dashed from the meeting, where he answered some 50 questions, to a conference with New York's Mayor William O'Dwyer.

WOODS SAID the new formula "goes right down the middle, protecting landlords against rents that would deny them a fair profit and protecting tenants against being charged a higher rent than the fair net operating income allows."

Meanwhile both property owners and tenants seethed, each fearing they were being put upon by the Woods formula; landlords obviously resentful that specific rent increases were not allowed, tenants bitter because of a "mixed-up" formula which they feared held nothing but bad news for themselves.

One most probable result of the formula was that local governmental units would be disposed to let existing conditions alone without petitioning their governors or state legislatures for lifting of rent controls in their respective areas.

NEW DRUG DISCOVERED

Anti-Allergy Medicine Battles Colds

There was new hope for cold sufferers.

An industrial physician reported that an anti-allergy drug has been found effective in controlling common-cold symptoms.

Radio actress Mrs. Ted Steele is shown just after she was chosen as "Miss Loyalty of 1949" in ceremonies on the steps of the U.S. subtreasury building in New York.

LABOR LAW:
Rough Going

If a big league scout were reporting on Harry Truman's performance against congressional moundsmen, he would have to say: "The President simply can't hit fast ball pitching."

And that certainly appeared to be the case. Mr. Truman had been to bat twice already. In his turn during the Mon. C. Walgren appointment to head the national security resources board, he had struck out. Next up with his civil rights program for a bat, he struck out again. Now, with his espousal of repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law, he was at the plate again and, with the house of representatives pitching, there were two strikes on him.

FOR THE HOUSE, by a vote of 217-203 approved the Wood bill which retained most of the features of the Taft-Hartley law.

Administration forces were plunged into gloom. But a coalition of southern Democrats and northern Republicans were jubilant. They were bent on retaining the Taft-Hartley law largely intact, and at the moment they were victorious.

The Wood bill would repeal the Taft-Hartley law on paper, but would re-enact most of its important features. For instance, it would retain the 80-day injunction in "national emergency" strikes. It would keep the present non-Communist oath requirements, but would apply them to company officers as well as union officers.

It would ban closed-shop contracts, but permit them in any state which took affirmative action to permit them by state law.

SPEAKER SAM RAYBURN had made a plea to the house for a compromise bill he put forward in an effort to salvage part of the administration's program, but his speech was in vain.

Whatever else congress might be doing, and whatever good or ill might result, lawmakers were serving notice on presidential candidates that campaign promises to enact or repeal this or that law ought to be conditioned, with the candidate making such pledges adding a word to the effect that those pledges would be kept "provided congress cooperates."

LEOPOLD:
Wants Throne

Disliking the common life, exiled King Leopold III of Belgium has made it clear he wants to return to the throne of his country.

THIS was made know in a letter to his brother, Prince Charles, Belgium regent, in which Leopold said:

"I am convinced you are sharing my views that the time has come for a return to constitutional normalcy." That would mean, of course, an end to the regency and return to kingly rule.

HOWEVER, the outlook for any such development appeared dim. Leopold surrendered the Belgian forces to the Germans early in the war and became a prisoner-of-war. His action in that respect was criticized by many Belgians. The ex-king has not returned to his country since the war. He has been living in exile in Switzerland.

GRANDMAS:
Enough's Enough

Grandma was getting fed up. Enough was enough. And she was becoming vocal about it.

Mrs. Lyn Greene, president of the New York chapter of the National Grandmothers' club, was the spokesman for the grandmas, the spearhead of a drive to make grandma a respected member of every family.

MRS. GREENE and all the other grandmas were up in arms against all the corny gags about grandmas and mother-in-law, too. They were in a crusade to ban such alleged humor from the face of the earth forever. And they held some powerful weapons in their arsenal.

For instance, if the jokes aren't banned, the grandmas said, there would be no more baby-sitting, no more crocheting, no more cookies and cakes. That was the grandmas' ultimatum.

Also knitting needles would stop, not one lullaby would be hummed and daughters "going home to mother" after a tiff with their husbands would have to find hotel rooms, instead.

THE GRANNIES were tired of being made to appear as jabbering, ridiculous troublemakers. But the grandmas were fair about the whole thing. In return for a new status as a "sweet, lovable old dear" they would agree to mind their own knitting.

Mrs. Greene, a professional artist, philanthropist, mother of two sons and grandmother of four small children, believes she is just the person to take the giggles out of references to grandmas.

"THERE ARE STILL a few rocking-chair grandmas, bridge-table grandmas, and drudge grandmas who need to be reformed," she said, but contends this reformation will never come about through silly radio and movie jokes and sillier cartoons.

Eventually Mrs. Greene and the thousands of other grannies in the national organization hope to win so much respect that October 10 will be proclaimed as national Grandmothers' day.

HEADACHES:
Stop Worrying

Have a lot of headaches? Well, stop worrying.

That, according to a Columbia university headache study will cure your noggin knocks.

THE STUDY was conducted with 531 men and women as subjects. These sufferers were given three kinds of treatment. One made use of drugs supposed to help headaches; another "make believe" drugs, and a third a technique in which doctors spent quite some time talking to patients about their worries.

In the first two treatments, the "make believe" potions worked almost as well as medicines designed especially for aching heads. The patients never knew which kind of drugs they were taking.

It was learned in the study that best results came from combining drugs with conversation about worries. The conversation-type of treatment is known as psychotherapy. Its purpose is to discover emotional and mental conflicts. In many cases the sufferer does not realize he has these conflicts and is likely to get better when he learns about them.

HOWEVER, mere knowledge of the conflicts isn't sufficient. The patient needs faith in his doctor to make this knowledge work. Sometimes this relief depends on how often the doctor sees the patient.

TRUMAN:
Good Friend

President Truman had some better friends than he thought. David S. Wright, 84, proprietor of a feed store in Dunkirk, N. Y., offered to advance cash to President Truman on his salary check.

Reports had said Truman received only part of one month's check because of a congressional deadlock over a deficiency appropriation bill.

The Lord's Supper

Lesson for May 22, 1949

LET US CLEAR UP some very common misunderstandings of what the Christian religion is. Some (both enemies and friends) think it consists in turning one's back on the world, living in a sort of happy wonderland where the evil of the world is altogether shut out and forgotten. Another notion is that Christianity presents an angry God (or one who can very easily be made angry) laying down the law to mankind. Another is that Christianity is a purely individual affair. And still another is that Christian religion consists of the teachings of Jesus and that is all it is. Every one of these misunderstandings vanishes in the light that shines around the Lord's Supper.

Dr. Foreman

Betrayal

PEOPLE SOMETIMES think that religion shuts men's eyes to the ugly realities of life. Some religions try to do so; but not the religion of Christ. He knew the kind of world this is; he never let his disciples forget it.

On that last night, dark forces were abroad. Jesus' enemies were closing in on him. One of his own circle would betray him. Yet it was in that sort of atmosphere, heavy with betrayal and hatred, that Jesus began this sacrament of faith, hope and love.

The true Christian does not live in a fool's paradise, he does not imagine that everything is lovely in the nicest possible words. The sacrament which is the heart of his worship is itself a reminder of the ugliness of the world which man's sin creates.

Blessing

AND HE BLESSED the bread. . . . If Christianity consisted mainly of condemning wickedness and denouncing sinners, then at the center of our worship we would have some symbol of dread and awe, like fire and brimstone, a consuming flame.

But no—at the heart of our worship is a thing as simple, plain and friendly as a loaf of bread, bread on which the blessing of God has been asked. Blessing, not cursing; invitation, not threatening, is at the heart of our religion.

Whenever you see some one whose chief idea of being a "good Christian" is going around proclaiming the meanness of the world, cawing at everybody and everything.

Breaking

AND BROKE IT, and gave. . . . Artists have tried in a single picture to express the meaning of Christianity. Some of the pictures are beautiful, but many of them miss an important truth. What shall it be? A picture of a shipwrecked woman clinging to a rock? Of a saint praying in a long solitary vigil? These leave out something vital. For Christianity is a fellowship. No Christian is complete by himself.

At the heart of our religion is a Communion. Few if any Protestant churches allow any one even a minister, to give the Holy Communion to himself, by himself.

The true Christian never finds himself, his true self, alone; only in fellowship. A Christian belongs with other Christians as much as one coal in a bed of coals belongs with all the rest.

Blood

JESUS TEACHINGS are so important, so full of wisdom and of living power, that often some one will say that Jesus was a teacher and only a teacher, and that following his teachings is all that Christianity is. Jesus did not think of it in this way.

True, his teaching is of the utmost importance; but that was not and is not all. As Middleton Murry said years ago, Jesus was the only teacher who has died for his teaching. But he did more than that: he died for those he taught.

The cup at the Holy Communion reminds every one who partakes of it that Christ was not only a teacher, he was a sacrifice.

The issue of new taxes or economy is now headed for a showdown in the Michigan state legislature due to adjourn May 20.

Indications are that the latter choice will be taken by Republican legislators who are in majority control. They will soon learn whether their economy cuts will be popular. No state agency wishes to have its funds reduced. This is natural.

The situation is further complicated by the stern reality of increased state aid to local governments under constitutional earmarking of revenue funds. The state budget office estimates that 67 percent of total state revenue will be returned to local units—schools, cities, counties, townships, etc.—during the coming fiscal year, starting July 1.

Can the legislature economize on the remainder of state funds without impairing vital public services? That's the question. As we have said many, many times in this column, real economy must come from curtailment of public services—less service for less money—rather than from the mirage of consolidation of state agencies.

Some administrative officials are already wondering how the voters are going to receive the economy program of the legislature. Time will tell.

Governor G. Mennen Williams, the youthful and smiling chief executive, has already hinted that his platform for 1950 re-election will be the so-called "do-nothing" state legislature of 1949. Williams will try to put the Republicans on the defensive. He will attack the Republican "failure" to do something for social needs—public housing, fair employment practice act, better pensions and payments for workers and so on. The "vested interests" who "control" the Republican party will come in for verbal assaults. Williams believes he has a ready-made campaign issue.

Actually, the 1949 legislature has not been any more tough on the Democratic governor than the 1947 and 1948 legislature was on Republican Governor Kim Sigler. Sigler also fared poorly, considering the over-all picture. The same might be said about other governors regardless of party control. The state legislature in Michigan is not apt to be a "rubber stamp" for a governor's recommendations. Legislators do their own thinking; they call 'em as they see 'em.

The William strategy to put the G. O. P. legislature on the defensive came out into the open the other day. Democratic solons said they were rebellious over Republican failure to report out important bills from committees. They brought legislative action nearly to a standstill by parliamentary moves to require reading of all bills and other time-killing tactics.

Of course, if the Democrats had been in control of the legislature, the same thing would have happened to Republican-sponsored measures which did not meet approval of the party in power. This is the political way of getting things done—denying the opponents any opportunity of achieving their goals.

Interesting situation: Judge Paul R. Cash, Gratiot county jurist and a Democratic appointee of Governor Murray D. VanWagoner, selected Kim Sigler for appointment as special prosecutor to try Ivan A. Johnston, ex-Macomb county prosecutor. It was the Johnston indictment on graft charges which contributed to Sigler's primary victory as nominee for governor.

The post of superintendent of public instruction will remain a constitutional office, subject to election. A move to make the official an appointee through a constitutional amendment failed 17 to 14 in a Senate test.

Adopted unanimously by the Senate a month ago, a bill to forbid betting on harness or running races in Michigan after Dec. 31, 1949, was killed by the House committee on state affairs. Approximately $3 millions in state revenues were involved. A similar bill met the same fate two years ago.

Michigan faces a shortage of 2,800 public school teachers this fall, according to the University of Michigan bureau of occupational information.

Five ferry boats are now available for operation by the State Highway Department between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace at the Straits of Mackinaw. The new boat, the S. S. Sainte Marie, will permit a 15 percent additional carrying capacity according to Chas. M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner.

PASTURE, PROFIT, AND GRASS DAYS

The agr'l specialists at Michigan State College have planned another series of Grass Days this year for lower and upper Michigan. We think most farmers will agree with them that more grass and legumes in our rotations will be good for the soil. However, any crop on the farm has to pay its own way and for that reason we've asked Larry Johnson, Michigan State College Extension dairyman if grass can pay its own way. Here's his story and it's about grass for pasture:

There are different ways to measure the value of a pasture. The most important is its capacity to produce milk. At the Kellogg Experiment Station a couple of years ago they found an acre of good pasture produced about 4,000 pounds of milk. If we figure milk at four dollars per hundred we'll find that pasture brought in a cash return of $160.00 an acre. Johnson thinks on that basis, pasture can pay its way and also compare very favorably with the top cash crops grown in Michigan.

To find out more about farming with profit by using more grass, you are invited to the Grass Days in June. The date is June, in Cheboygan Co. Ed Rehman, County Agr'l Agent.

NURSERY SCHOOLS INCREASE IN STATE

Michigan parents are becoming more and more interested in nursery school education as they realize that they benefit from it as well as their children.

In the fourteen cooperative schools in the state, parents who help with the nursery schools are able to see their children in relation to others of the same age and learn how to help their children grow.

Indications of current interest and progress in nursery schools are pointed out by Bernice Borgman who is in charge of the nursery school at Michigan State College.

Laws are being sought which will help promote the nursery school movement. A resolution has been introduced in the legislature to study the nursery school program in the public schools. One group is working for laws which will make state funds available to public schools for education of children of three and four years old.

Licensing of new nursery schools is a good indication of their popularity. Sixteen new units have been licensed in the last few months by the department of social welfare and 28 more will be licensed by September.

Special study will be given to nursery school education when the mid-western conference for nursery education meets at Detroit this week. Outstanding people in the field of child growth and development will participate in discussions. Teacher training for this specialized field will be studied.

In preparing rhubarb for sauce or pie, wash the stalks well and cut off the leaves and woody ends. Don't remove the red skin as it will give the cooked fruit a more attractive color than it will have otherwise. A bit of grated orange peel will enhance the flavor of rhubarb pie.

Fresh asparagus breaks easily at the point where the tender, edible portion joins the tough, woody stalk. Bend the stalks near the cut end and discard the tough portion the breaks off.

"When I get through at Lansing, I trust no one will say, 'Williams slept here.'"

G. Mennen Williams, Michigan's youthful governor and Democratic protégé of former Governor Frank Murphy, tossed off the words crisply. The newspaper editors laughed heartily. The governor was appearing at their traditional "State of Michigan Press Conference" to answer written questions. The moderator, Senator Don VanderWerp of Fremont, had previously introduced State Treasurer D. Hale Brake with a humorous reference to Brake's boyhood days in Newagow County. Fremont could well put up a monument, "Hale Brake Slept Here," said VanderWerp. All this happened in January, 1949.

The state legislature has two weeks left before adjournment May 20.

Many weeks have gone by since Governor Williams presented his program of social reform. He had proposed public housing, liberal workers' compensation benefits and extension of medical care and disability payments. "Injured workers should be allowed medical care as long as necessary."

Unemployment benefits should be increased, and coverage should be extended to all employers and employees. (Now limited to eight or more.) Also fair employment practice law modeled after the New York statute.

More state aid for higher education and for vocational education. Old age assistance benefits should be increased from $50 to $60 monthly maximum. Michigan farm produce would be offered to consumers with a "Michigan Seal of Quality" supported by strict grading and marketing research.

Stream pollution laws would be tightened, and money provided whereby state institutions might eliminate pollution of public waters.

To finance all this and to bridge the growing gap in the treasury caused by sales diversion, Governor Williams proposed a tax on corporation profits. He condemned Michigan's present tax system as "soaking the consumer."

What does Governor Williams think now — four months after his inauguration — about all this? At a luncheon of the Detroit Economics club, he panned the legislature for shelving much of his program. "We are like a bunch of crows flapping over the carcass of the past when we ought to be eagles soaring to meet new horizons," he declared. Michigan's state government was "10 years behind the times."

The state's labor legislation, he said, was inadequate. The legislature, controlled by the Republican party, was obstructing progress. And so on.

There is a strong note of frustration in Governor Williams' words. If he had once hoped to accomplish these reforms through bi-partisan action, now he was in doubt.

Prior to the spring election, Governor Williams had urged the voters to make a clear-cut choice between the Republican record of "inaction" and the Democratic path to social justice. The April verdict, a whopping victory for the G. O. P., was a "disappointment" to Williams. He continued to insist that his November victory was a popular mandate for his spending program.

In the meanwhile, Republican leaders are seeking to transform parts of Williams' proposals to G. O. P. accomplishments, while avoiding imposition of new or higher taxes for state needs. Economy and revenue adjustments would plug the major part of the deficit.

If the state incurs a deficit — as seems inevitable in view of the 78 per cent ear-marking of state sales tax revenue — Governor Williams is likely to blame the legislature for it.

Does Williams hope to win re-election in 1950 by taking a cue from President Truman's successful attacks on the 80th "do-nothing" Congress? Kim Sigler criticized the 1947-48 legislature for blocking his program of centralized streamlining of state government. In 1949 Governor Williams is also critical. His reference to "a bunch of crows" reveals his impatience.

In a few weeks the legislature's record will be written. We intend to review the results in this column.

Beaver Had Right of Way

That little white line down the middle of the pavement is not reserved for motorcyclists — or beavers.

The conservation department reports that a belligerent beaver held up traffic on M-55 east of Prudenville by insisting on the right-of-way down the middle of the pavement. Several times motorists were forced to stop and carry the plodding animal off to the side of the road only to have him return to the middle of the middle of the concrete and continue on his way.

Finally one exasperated local motorist pulled a bag out of his car trunk and with the help of others removed the animal to a beaver pond a short distance from the highway.

Chopping and Baling Custom Rates Listed By MSC Economist

Many farmers are now making plans for custom work with field choppers and balers. Some plan to hire work done and others will use their equipment to work for others.

A recent survey by B. R. Bookhout and R. W. Christian, agr'l economists at Michigan State College, shows many of the common rates charged for custom chopping and baling.

Most of the rates reported for field chopping were on an hourly basis. The rates varied with the amount of power and equipment furnished by the custom operator. One group of farmers furnished the field chopper and blower, one tractor and two wagons. The usual charge for this group was $8.00 per hour for chopping hay, straw, or corn for silage.

The next group were custom operators who furnished the field chopper and blower, two tractors, two or three wagons and an extra man. The most common rate for this group was $10.00 per hour.

For chopping corn for silage, a few farmers reported a charge per hour for the use of the chopper in the field. To this charge was added a rate per foot of silo height for the use of the equipment at the silo. The usual rates were $6.50 per hour for the field work and $1.00 to $2.00 per foot, depending on silo width.

Automatic string tie balers for baling hay or straw were charged for at 12 cents per bale without a towed wagon. Addition of the wagon added one cent per bale.

Three man wire tie balers were charged for at 14 cents per bale when no wagon is towed. One cent per bale was added for each wagon.

Early Tomatoes Need Phosphate

Slow growth in early set tomatoes often comes from the lack of the mineral phosphorus, according to S. H. Wittwer, of the MSC department of horticulture.

He points out that cold and wet soils early in the season are often responsible for the phosphate and nitrogen not being available. Under these conditions it is important to apply a high concentration of soluble phosphate and some nitrogen in the immediate area of the roots.

A number of high analysis, soluble fertilizers have been placed on the market. Analysis will run from 13 percent nitrogen, 26 percent phosphate and 17 percent potash. The latter materials — high in phosphate — are the most desirable to use. Plants treated with these fertilizers make fair growth in spite of cool weather.

The high analysis fertilizers may be dissolved at the rate of six to eight lbs. to 100 gallons of water or one oz. to one gallon. One-fourth to one-half pint of the solution is applied to each plant when the plants are transplanted to the field.

Wittwer suggests that an easier method is to water the plants with the solution before field setting. He recommends watering plants 24 to 48 hours before transplanting and again immediately before field setting. The solution used should be at the rate of ounce to one gallon of water.

When treated this way, the plant roots and soil are abundantly supplied with phosphate and nitrogen in a readily available form. Good growth and earlier crops are the advantages of such treatment.

In Boston there is an old and stinging gentleman whose improvident nephew constantly yearns for a small advance on the large fortune he is to inherit when the old boy dies.

Recently a friend of the family said to the old miser, "Pete, I hear your nephew is going to marry. On that occasion you ought to do something to make him happy."

"O. K.," was the generous rejoinder; "I'll pretend I'm dangerously ill."

Record Crowd At County 4-H Achievement

Approximately 600 4-H club members, their parents and friends attended the one day program in the Boyne City Gym on May 5, 1949.

Exhibits from 350 members, which totaled about 1,300 articles, were set up on Wednesday, May 4th. Following a supper at the Hotel Dilworth, the group returned to the Gym and judged the show themselves. All exhibits were given placings of A-B or C.

Largest club was a knitting group of 58 led by Mrs. L. B. Karr of East Jordan. In the handicraft exhibit some rather fine desks were made by the boys of the Marion Center group, under the leadership of James Rayman and the Charlevoix group led by Dick Jolliffe. Walloon Lake and Clarion brought in a fine exhibit for the short time that they were organized. The boys had not quite completed their handicraft. The two communities made a splendid showing of girls work, including knitting and sewing.

The festivity on Thursday started off with a feature movie. A hot lunch was served to nearly 200 members by the Boyne City hot lunch cooks. This group was fed in addition to the regular 135 Boyne City students. The highlight of the afternoon program was the style revue in which 100 girls modeled the garments they made. Even those who made aprons participated.

Ira Bowman of Boyne City judged the style revue. Twenty-three girls were selected as a style revue roll of honor. These are as follows:

Yvonne Hulse, Wilma Sheldon, Nancy Erber, Janice Capelin, Caroline Nessen, Beverly Flora, Elizabeth Richardson, Betty Warner, Reta Boss, Pat Murray, Joyce Murray, Nita Brumm, Ruth Sloop, Barbara Peacock, Marg Keller, Eileen White, Lois Ann Wagner, Sally Swafford, Coral McPherson, Pat Jablinski, Corrine Curtis, Natalie Crawford, Marjorie Erber.

Outstanding and selected again this year to represent Charlevoix County at Gaylord Camp was Nita Brumm of Charlevoix. Alternate was Pat Murray also of R. 1, Charlevoix.

Over 125 business men, School board members and interested parties attended the meeting. Supt. Ford and H. C. Meyers of Boyne Falls answers any possible objection to consolidation. Thirteen or fifteen rural districts were represented. Mr. Ford said "East Jordan has one of the best school buildings and schools (for the building is only the beginning of a good school) anywhere in this section. And it is all paid for." East Jordan will receive a very substantial aid from the State. Mr. Ford said that "East Jordan School District was like a businessman buying his store building and asking a man ing, filling the shelves with goods and asking a man who had invested nothing to come in with him and share the profits." Some people objected that the roads cannot be kept open. Some objected their children would freeze waiting for a bus. After a great deal of discussion on the subject practically everyone who attended the meeting agrees that it is the best solution of a serious problem.

Owing to the heavy gale from the north Thursday morning, water in the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix, washed against the embankment of the highway connecting East Jordan's east and west side with such force as to undermine part of the cement walk.

are they planning to make your pay check look like this?

Bureaucratic planners talk glibly about "free" medical care under the compulsory government plan — but it's pure poppycock. There is no such thing as "free" medicine. Your doctor, your hospital, your nurse, your prescriptions will all be paid out of your weekly wage. Deductions will be made from your pay check to cover the cost — up to 4% — maybe more — and you'll have a take-home pay that has shrunk considerably. So stop a minute and figure out the cost when sugar-coated promises are made to you about getting medical care for nothing.

Remember: It won't be the doctor who pays for compulsory health insurance; it will be YOU — forever and ever! Visit with your doctor about this matter and get the practical side of it as well as the pretty promises.

Gives Simple Directions For Pasteurizing Milk

Though many Michigan families produce their own milk supply, they can have pasteurized milk with very little trouble. Good milk is an important food for everyone from baby to grandmother and it should be safe to drink.

Two methods of pasteurization are suggested by Roberta Hershey, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State College. These directions are approved by the State Health Department.

Pour 4 to 6 quarts of clean fresh milk into a kettle and place a floating thermometer in the milk. Do not use tin, iron or chipped enamel utensils or a candy thermometer which is part copper. Heat the milk rapidly, stirring constantly, until a temperature of 160 degrees Fahrenheit is reached. If you heat it above 160 degrees the milk will taste cooked or boiled.

Place the kettle immediately into a large pan of cold water. Keep the kettle covered to prevent scum from forming. Cool the milk quickly to 60 degrees or lower. Change the water in the pan often. Store well covered in a cold, clean place.

Here is another method suitable for pasteurizing one or two quarts of milk and no thermometer is necessary. Place one to two quarts of milk in top of double boiler. Cover. Place 1 quart of water in bottom part of cooker. Boil water vigorously for 10 minutes. This method was worked out by the departments of dairy and bacteriology at Michigan State College.

NOTICE to Business Men:

It has come to our attention that, in certain Michigan Bell exchanges, advertising is being sold which is to appear on a "false cover" for telephone directories.

In that connection, we would like to call attention to the following provision of our tariff on file with the Michigan Public Service Commission:

"Directories regularly furnished to customers are the property of the Telephone Company and are loaned to customers; they are to be returned to the Telephone Company on request. No binder, holder or auxiliary cover of an advertising nature, except such as may be provided by or with the consent of the Telephone Company, shall be used in connection with any directory furnished by the Telephone Company."

In order to render good telephone service, it is necessary that we retain full control over our directories, which are an essential part of telephone service. We consider the above tariff to be a statement of a sound and necessary business policy and one which must be enforced.

Legal action has been taken to enjoin two persons who have sold advertising on and distributed such "false covers" for telephone directories.

Rheumatic Fever Crippler of Hearts

THE LEADING CAUSE OF DEATH AMONG MICHIGAN CHILDREN

By F. S. Leeder, M. D., D. P. H., director Division of Disease Control, Records and Statistics Michigan Department of Health.

"Sure we know that rheumatic fever is the leading cause of death among Michigan children of school age, and that it cripples the hearts of many others for their entire lives.

"But what we need to know is what it is, what causes it, how and when we should suspect our own children of having it and how we can prevent it."

Rheumatic fever is a childhood disease which is serious because it may affect the heart. The disease was recognized by Hippocrates as early as 400 years before Christ, but as yet the cause of the disease is not surely known. Rheumatic fever is not contagious as measles and mumps are contagious, but it often follows streptococcal sore throat or a "bad cold."

It occurs most often in families where there is a history of rheumatism. There is no known preventive for the disease and a child who has had one attack develops no immunity, but is likely to have another attack.

These Are Symptoms
Children of 5 to 15 years are most apt to contract rheumatic fever. The disease flourishes in cold, damp weather, under crowded living conditions, and among children who do not eat proper foods.

Symptoms which cause parents to take their child to his physician for an immediate medical check-up for the disease, particularly when members of his family have had rheumatism are these:

1. Low, unexplained, continuing fever.
2. Pain, particularly in the joints and muscles, or possibly in the abdomen or arms and legs. (There is no such thing as "growing pains.")
3. Rapid heart beat.
4. Repeated nosebleeds without apparent cause.
5. Paleness.
6. Poor appetite.
7. Loss of weight or failure to gain weight.
8. Jerky, nervous movements.
9. Frequent sore throat.
10. Tiredness.

In many cases these signs or symptoms may be so slight that the physician may have to test the child for months and call in specialists for consultation before he can be certain. A great many cases of rheumatic fever go undiagnosed because symptoms are so slight that parents do not suspect their cause.

Early Diagnosis Is Urgent
Remember that early diagnosis and treatment of the illness is of the utmost importance in protecting the child's life and future health. There are 50,000 people in Michigan who are suffering the crippling heart defects of the disease. Rheumatic fever is much more common than is thought.

To assure adequate diagnosis and to afford consultation to practicing physicians, the Michigan State Medical Society has set up 30 rheumatic fever diagnostic centers in 15 cities of the state.

These centers are operating in Alpena, Ann Arbor, Bay City, Detroit (16 Centers), Grand Rapids, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Marquette, Pontiac, Saginaw, and Traverse City. They are being completed in Battle Creek, Muskegon and Port Huron.

The child's physician when he suspects rheumatic fever, may take the child to the nearest center.

Rest Is Major Treatment
If the child has rheumatic fever, the doctor will probably recommend complete bed rest. The rest period may involve weeks, months, or years, but it is necessary if the child is to regain his health and escape heart damage.

Thorough cooperation and good care in this rest period may determine the length of the child's life, or at least, his health status for the remainder of his life.

The resources of the entire family, neighborhood and community are often needed to make it possible for the child to observe a complete bed rest prescription. A hospital bed, a window with a view, bed trays, a bedside table, book holders, a small radio, someone to teach cutouts, coloring, painting, and embroidery, someone to make scrapbooks and to send cards, letters and surprises are not usually all available in one household.

The school, children's clubs, outside members of the family, and many others can help, and usually will. The public health or visiting nurse will be of invaluable assistance to the family in showing them ways to keep the bed-ridden child happy, and in limiting the child's activities while he is recuperating.

Recurrence Is Dangerous
The child who has one attack of rheumatic fever is apt to have another. Prevention of recurrence is of the utmost importance. The child who has once had the disease must follow medical instructions and have frequent medical check-ups, get plenty of rest, outdoor play and sunshine, and eat proper foods.

He should be warmly clothed for winter and cold weather. He must keep his body and feet dry, and sleep in a warm bed.

He must not get over-tired. He must be kept away from any person with respiratory illness. He should be taught how to protect his health and the reasons for doing it.

Until the cause and a preventive for rheumatic fever are found, these are the things which parents can do to protect their children from its dangers. Keep children at optimum health through adequate diet, rest, clothing, housing and protection from childhood diseases. Suspect any symptoms which might indicate rheumatic fever. Take the child immediately to a physician and follow his instructions most carefully.

Early diagnosis and good care are the primary defense against the damage of rheumatic fever at this time.

4-H LEADERS PLAN SUMMER PROGRAM

All 4-H club leaders of the county have been invited to attend a session on 4-H summer projects to be held at the new community building at Whiting Park on Wednesday, May 25, from 2 to 4 p. m. Leaders are meeting with Kenneth Ousterhout and Mrs. Ruth DeRoss, Assistant State Club Leaders, who will discuss summer work, help plan a summer program, and give a model demonstration.

The achievement day for winter club work held at Boyne City May 5 showed the 1949 winter program the best since 1941 — it is hoped that the summer work will make as good a showing. All projects will be displayed in the fall at the Charlevoix County Fair, Sept. 6 through 10th. Any adult interested in club work or in leading a club is invited to attend.

The Charlevoix 4-H members will again have the privilege of attending county 4-H camp. Dates have been set for July 6-7-8-9. The Church of God camp grounds, south of Charlevoix has been made available for this camping period.

SLIP COVERS COMPLETED

Twelve members of Antrim County Home Extension groups have attended the Slip Cover school held May 10, 11, 16, 17, 18, at the Grass Lake Grange Hall under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Foster Extension Specialist in Home Furnishings, Michigan State College and Mrs. Virginia Vance, District Home Demonstration Agent. The ladies made slip covers at the school and most of them have other chairs or davenport that they want to cover at home.

The first day they learned to cut out the various pieces to fit the chairs according to the individual measurements of each chair. No patterns were used and the pieces were fitted, pinned and slip basted on the right side of the goods. After the first day, each chair was an individual problem and was fitted accordingly.

After all pinning, fitting and basting was completed, the covers were removed from the chairs and stitched with plain seams on the wrong side of the goods. The covers were then put on the chairs and re-adjusted.

The making of slip covers is a special interest lesson and only a few chairs can be covered at one school. Other schools may be conducted in the future, as they are requested, says Home Agent, Virginia Vance.

BOWLING

May 17, 1949

The men's bowling season comes to a close with high scores being posted in all divisions of the City Tournament which ended Friday night with Carpenter's Hdwe. taking the team championship on a score of 3003. Thorsen's Lumber, the runner up team, had 2983 as Norm's Tavern bowlers topped 2980 pins for third place.

In the Doubles, Chas. Dennis and Bill Bennett took the scoring honors and championship with a 1283 count, while Max Damoth and John Atkinson were second with 1272 followed by Cy Dolezel and Barney Adair, who were third with 1270.

In the Singles Leo Sommerville scorched the maples to the tune of 720 for the championship while Tony Shooks shot 691 for 2nd place and Greg Boswell got 664 for third.

Charles Dennis won the All Events crown with 1934 for the nine games. Oscar Weisler topped 1913 in his total of 9 games and Abe Cole took 3rd with 1891. Alex Sinclair had high single game for the tournament, a big 268, one pin better than Joe Wilkins.

The Ladies League wound up in a tie for 1st place as the State Bank girls won three points from the Recreation as Quality Food, last years champions, came from behind in all three games to take the Metal Products team for a clean sweep. The roll off for the championship will take place on Thursday at 8:00 p. m. Betty Jo Strehl added her name to the long list of girls that have bowled over 200 as she rolled 203 middle and a 540 series which tied Betty Boswell for the three game total for the ladies for the year.

The East Jordan Recreation traveling team won the Northwest Michigan traveling League championship, taking the necessary 3 points from Look Out Tavern of Fife Lake. Going into the last two matches of the year the Recreation had a 3 point lead, and after getting away to a flying start in the afternoon match they dropped the last two games and total pins to narrow the margin to 1 point. In the evening, with the local boys needing 2 points to get the championship won the 1st game by 65 pins with a 900 count. Then came the big game with everything depending on the final count. The Recreation and Look Out Tavern teams put on a show that will long be remembered as both teams matched strike for strike and spare for spare to give the winners the game by a single pin as the Recreation rolled 940 to Look Out's 939.

The men bowlers of East Jordan held their annual banquet at Cal's Tavern and after a big chicken dinner elected Basil Cummings, president; Wm. Taylor, vice-president; and Wally Peacock, secretary for the season of 1949-50. Prize checks were awarded and the Big Trophy given to St. Joseph, for having won the Championship in the Merchants league. The E. J. Barber Shoppers sang for the boys then two reels of bowling pictures, supplied by the American Bowling Congress, were filmed.

FARM FACTS from your County Agricultural Agent

IMPROVING GARDEN SOILS

The home gardener is often unfortunate in the type of soil which his lot provides for a garden site. Here are a few steps in soil improvement. Whether the soil is sandy or nothing but clay, you need to get a large amount of organic matter into it. One method is to use a compost pile. It can be made of leaves, lawn clippings, weeds, vegetable tops, straw, corn stalks, and any other type of waste vegetation. Applying fertilizer will hasten the decomposition. A sheet of directions for making a compost pile is yours for the asking.

The home gardener can add organic matter to the soil by using "plow-down" crops. A suggested plan is to plant oats in the spring on an unused part of the garden. When they are about to head spade them under. Then come along with a seeding of buckwheat which can be spaded under in the late summer or early fall. Follow this with a fall planted crop of rye to be spaded under the next spring. Of course, be sure to use fertilizer when planting these so-called "plow-down" crops.

The home gardener should use fertilizer out of the sack with a liberal hand. Around two pounds of fertilizer per 100 square feet is a good guide to follow. Additional fertilizer can be placed beside the seed rows in a shallow trench. For complete information you're invited to get a copy of Extension Bulletin 159 from your County Agent.

VENTILATE HOTCAPS ON EARLY PLANTS

Tomato plants can be set out two weeks earlier and vine crops can be seeded three or four weeks earlier than normal through the use of waxed paper covers. Melons, cucumbers and squash can be seeded earlier if the hills are protected with covers commonly known as hotcaps. Tomato plants may be set out at the same time if protection is provided.

Several precautions are necessary in using the caps. Caps should set firmly and edges well covered with soil to hold them in place.

Plants growing under caps must have ventilation. When set over transplants or as soon as seed has come up under the caps, a two-inch slit should be cut in the side away from the prevailing wind.

As plants grow too large for the caps, the tops of the caps can be torn out to let plants grow through. The sides of the caps remaining in place continue to protect the young plants from the wind.

GRADING IS GUIDE TO TOP QUALITY EGGS

Eggs are near the top spot of plentiful foods for this month and are a good buy. However, the best guide to buying eggs is the information on the carton.

Federal grading on egg cartons reads U. S. AA, A, B, or C, while commercial companies' grading will not contain the "U. S." with the letter grades. The size of the egg will appear on the carton also, advises Isabelle Beattie, department of foods and nutrition, Michigan State College. Eggs range in size from jumbo to pee-wee and are priced accordingly.

When the egg supply is plentiful, medium or small size eggs are sometimes just as good or a better buy than the larger eggs which cost more. Some egg cartons may have the date of grading on the label. This insures the consumer that the quality of the eggs has been determined recently.

Keep the cooking purpose in mind when buying eggs. High quality eggs are more desirable for poaching, frying or cooking in the shell. If the eggs are to be scrambled or used in baking or for sauces, the lower grade of eggs can be used to advantage.

Do not be misled by the shell color. Eggs have the same cooking quality and nutritive value regardless of the shell color.

To get a good buy in eggs consider the quality, size and intended use in relation to the cost.

HOMEMAKING HINTS

Fresh pineapple is easily separated into points. Directions are given by Annanell Jubb, Michigan State College home economist. Loosen each "eye" of an unpeeled pineapple by prying around it with a fork. Pull gently to remove from the core and cut the peeling from the outside end. These points may be dipped in sugar at the table or cut into small pieces, sprinkled with sugar and chilled. Pineapple points are good fruit for picnics as they are "finger" foods and require no advance preparation. Strawberries are not only good, but good for you. A serving of the fresh fruit will supply one half of the day's need for ascorbic acid (vitamin C).

Farm Land Prices Decline First Time In Decade

After 10 years of almost steady climbing, farm land prices in the country as a whole appear to have reached the postwar peak, says Dr. Karl T. Wright, Michigan State College agr'l economist.

Land prices in Michigan are down two percent from November. Values in this state are still 129 percent above the prewar average of 1935-39.

Referring to recently released government reports, Dr. Wright points out that United States land prices turned downward one percent during the last four months ending Mar. 1. This, he said, is the first decline in these prices since the late thirties, though, for the country as a whole, they are still more than double the average in 1935-39.

During the past 12 months, the prices of land purchased in Michigan have continued to rise a little. However, the two-percent rise in each of the past two years is a slowing down from the 17-percent rise for the previous 12-month period and the average of about 12 percent a year in the war years.

Wright explains that it generally takes most farmers 10 to 20 years, on the average, to pay for a farm. It is a long-time proposition and unless the farmer has considerable cash, he must evaluate what is ahead in farm earnings in order to calculate whether or not he can pay for the farm.

The Sea Lamprey

The parasitic sea lamprey, stimulated by higher water temperatures, has started spawning migrations in Michigan's lakes and streams.

Vernon Applegate, lamprey investigator for the conservation department, reports 5,200 of the parasites already have been trapped in the weir at the mouth of the Ocqueoc river on Lake Huron. Menace to Great Lakes food fishes and to game fish in the state's inland waters, the lamprey also has been observed in large numbers in another Presque Isle county spot, the Carp creek weir.

"Should the water temperature drop to about 35 degrees," Applegate says, "these runs would stop. Successful sea lamprey spawning calls for water temperature of 50 degrees or slightly higher."

The lamprey attaches itself to any number of fish during its lifetime span. Once attached, the lamprey sustains itself by sucking blood from a fish until hunger is satisfied. A single attack by the parasite may kill a fish.

A weir trap also is maintained in the Carp river of Emmet county. These weirs will trap adult lamprey on their way upstream to spawn in the spring and immature ones that come downstream in the fall.

Two years of sea lamprey investigation by the department's institute for fisheries research has produced some definite facts about the parasite's life cycle, but little so far that would help control it.

The institute has verified the presence of lampreys in 108 Michigan streams. The species is established in several inland lakes, Lake Michigan and Lake Huron. Spent or migrating lampreys have been recovered or observed in several Lake Superior tributaries.

Ground Levels Rising

A marked hike in ground water levels of .9 of a foot brought the April measurement up to 2.6 feet, the conservation department reports, but still below the April 10-year average of 3.15 feet.

Tests conducted last month at shallow wells in the northcentral part of the lower peninsula bear out the department's prediction that the upward trend started in February would continue. The rise is expected to continue this month, but at a lower rate.

During the 14 years of record the spring high came in March once, April four times, May seven times and June twice.

The record high for any month was set in June, 1943, at 4.51 feet. The record low for any month was set in March, 1940, at 1.28 feet.
