NUMBER 28

Baseball and Softball

Wednesday afternoon the East Jordan American Legion team defeated the Boyne City team by a score of 3-0, before a large crowd at East Jordan in the semi-finals.

East Jordan will play Alpena at Gaylord this Saturday or Sunday for the District Championship.

GAMES PLAYED DURING THE PAST WEEK

The large crowd that attended last week's Community Softball games were treated to some good games. The best and most interesting tussle was the Bakery vs. E. J. Merchants which went into extra innings before the Bakery finally won 1-0. Before the game the merchants were not given even a remote chance of winning, but now must be regarded as a definite threat. "Hud" Sommerville pitched for the merchants and his brother, Leo, caught. "Hud" struck out 14 and allowed three hits. Chuck Gouin worked on the mound for the Bakery and struck out seven while allowing one hit. Jim Meredith worked behind the plate and scored the winning run after he had walked, went to second on a hit and came home on an error. Bill Taylor, merchant first baseman, reached third base in the sixth inning but was left stranded.

In the first game Friday night the Legion defeated the Canning factory 12-0. Bill Saxton pitched for the Legion while Bill Sturgill was on the mound for the Cannery.

Last Friday night the Legion defeated the County Road Club 17-1 and the Bakery took the Canning factory 26-3.

Because of the unexpected interest shown by spectators and players alike an attempt will be made to add another night of playing during the second round.

In the opening round of the District American Legion Junior Baseball Tournament played at Gaylord, Sunday, East Jordan defeated Cheboygan 21-2. In other games played Boyne City beat Indian River and Alpena drubbed Petoskey. East Jordan plays Boyne Wednesday. The winner of this game will meet Alpena in Gaylord Saturday or Sunday to determine the District Representative in the Zone Tournament in Bay City next week.

The East Jordan boys started fast against Cheboygan scoring eight runs in the first inning and then continued to build up the score. "Red" Evans and Glen Persons pitched for East Jordan and Al Chanda caught.

Pre-School and Immunization Clinic

AT EAST JORDAN ON TUESDAY, JULY 19th

On July 19th, Dr. Litzberger, Charlevoix County Health Doctor will hold a pre-school and immunization clinic for all children entering kindergarten this fall. Each child will be given a physical examination and booster shots or if the child has not had any immunizations they will be started at this time. If you do not care to bring your child to this clinic Dr. Litzberger advises that you take him to your family doctor for a physical examination before entering school.

The clinic will be held from 10:00 to 11:30 a. m. at the office of the Community Nurse at the grade school. In the afternoon there will be a clinic from 1:30 to 3:30 at the Latter Day Saint church on the West Side. We are asking that everyone on the East side of the Lake please bring your children to the school and those on the West Side to the Latter Day Saint church. We are holding these two clinics for the convenience of the mothers and hope that everyone will attend.

If your child is not of school age and has not received his immunization as yet you are invited to bring him to this clinic. At this time Dr. Litzberger will see those children who received their first immunizations on June 15th. Please remember the date July 19.

Dr. Mark Osterlin, Pediatrician from the Central Michigan Children's Clinic at Traverse City held a clinic on June 28th for children who needed medical care at the office of the Community Nurse. Children seen at this clinic were not receiving treatment or the family physician asked Dr. Osterlin to see them at this time.

Nineteen children were seen by Dr. Osterlin. Ten of these children will have further study done at a hospital or clinic where x-rays and blood work can be done. We are very happy that Dr. Osterlin could be in East Jordan at this time, it is the first clinic of this type that has been held in East Jordan for five years. The plans are now that we will have another clinic in the near future.

The Charlevoix County 4-H Camp opened July 6th at the Church of God Camp Grounds near Charlevoix. Mrs. Robertson, East Jordan's Community Nurse was invited to be on hand and examine each boy and girl before they registered. Each child was examined for scabies (itch), head lice, emtigo, colds, sore throats or any suspicious rash. Eighty children were examined. Mrs. Robertson called at the camp each morning to give care to any child that might need it. We are happy to say that only one boy made the mistake and tried to sharpen his thumb and not the stick for the marshmallow roast the first evening. But we are sorry to say that this was an East Jordan boy, imagine that!

Remember the Pre-school and Immunization clinic on July 19th. Please tell anyone that you think would be interested in bringing their children to this clinic. Everyone is welcome.

Mary Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sherman, was born at Summer Hill, New York, on May 25th, 1862, and departed on July 9, 1949, having attained the ripe age of 87 years.

Her childhood and early married life was spent at Summer Hill. She was united in marriage to Burdett Evans on April 3, 1878. After residing at this location for 13 years, they moved to a farm near East Jordan, Michigan, in the year 1881. They remained on this farm until the death of Mr. Evans in 1940, after which Mrs. Evans made her home with her oldest daughter, Mrs. Delia Bancroft.

Eight children were born to this family, four having preceded their mother in death: Ettie Elgene, aged 14 months; Freddie, 17 years; Herbert, 41 years; and Francis, aged 42. The remaining four survive, namely: Delia Bancroft, Ellsworth; Laura Lindenau, Boyne City; Lyn Evans and Rev. Goldie Huston, both of Detroit. She also leaves seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. One grandson, Wesley Simmerman, now of Detroit, was reared by Mr. and Mrs. Evans.

She is also survived by one brother, Dorr Sherman, of Cortland, New York, and a niece Minnie Cummings of Chicago, Illinois.

Since she was one of the pioneer residents here, she will be greatly missed by many friends and neighbors.

Comedy Returns to Center Stage

MOLIERE'S "THE IMAGINARY INVALID" PLAYING THIS WEEK

A modern version of Moliere's classic, "The Imaginary Invalid" is playing this week at Center Stage '49. Moliere, an outstanding French dramatist and contemporary of Shakespeare, wrote the play during the 17th century. However, despite its age, the play has lost none of its humor and is as funny to day as when. To add to the hilarity, Center Stage has here and there injected such modern notes as blown bubbles, yo-yos, etc.

Of much interest to East Jordan playgoers is the fact that local talent is appearing this week. Cyvia Gilbert, who directs this production cast nine year old Nancy Kidder in the role of Louison, the youngest daughter of the self-centered and egotistical invalid Argan, splendidly portrayed by Jack Rubens. For Nancy, who is the grand daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Saxton, it marked the coming true of a two year old dream, when she made her debut Wednesday evening. Mr. Rubens smilingly admits he has a job on his hands to keep the youthful Miss Kidder from stealing the scenes.

Harold Saundere, who provided much of the comedy element in this year's opening production, "Hay Fever," is again screamingly funny as Dr. Diaforus, and David Renard is equally comic as his son, Thomas.

Completing the cast are Bernice Loren as the outspoken, bold servant of the Argan's household, Marilyn Lief as the scheming and haughty Belline, Angela Castle as the sweet and appealing eldest daughter, David Stanley as her devoted swain, and Dolph Attianese as Argan's brother. Mr. Attianese, who designed the charming and whimsical setting for the play, is making his first appearance of this season on the Center Stage cast.

The "Imaginary Invalid" plays through Saturday evening, followed next week by Arthur Laurents' "Home of the Brave."

Lakeview Convalescent Hospital

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY HAS NEW ADDITION TO HOSPITAL SERVICE

Charlevoix county has a new hospital, to be known as Lakeview Convalescent Hospital. It is the outcome of much planning and hard work by Roy Gregory and the board of supervisors of Charlevoix County. The name fits the new hospital very well, as you stand in the ward on the south side of the building and look out of the many windows you see a beautiful view of the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix, it in itself is enough to make anyone want to get well. We all know of course that it takes much more than this and as we look around we can see that those who planned this new hospital knew it too.

The second floor of the Charlevoix County Infirmary has been remodeled to make possible the new hospital for Charlevoix County. They have moved partitions, new plastering has been done, painting, and a great deal of new equipment has been installed. A new diet kitchen with plenty of cupboard space has been built on the second floor with a dummy waiter from the kitchen on the first floor to make the handling of food easier. A new bedpan sterilizer and autoclave have also been purchased and installed. Nurses quarters have been remodeled and made very attractive and comfortable.

Beds for twenty patients are now available and the plans now are to add more beds soon. There is one large ward with six beds, 4 semi-private rooms and eight private rooms. They are all nicely furnished with regulation hospital furniture except one room that has two beds of home height for the patients who are able to be up and around, making it easier for the patient to get in and out of bed.

Mrs. Hilda Hartlep, R. N., of Boyne City, has accepted the position of Supt. of the hospital. Mrs. Hartlep is a graduate nurse of Hurley hospital, Flint, Michigan. She will have working under her four practical nurses and one nurse aid. The doctors staff will be Dr. A. Litzberger, Charlevoix County Health Officer; Dr. J. VanDellen and Dr. J. Savory of East Jordan.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like at this time to say a simple but sincere thank you to all the kind friends and relatives who helped make Mrs. Schroeder's long illness a more pleasant one for her by their gifts of flowers, cards, food and personal visits, all of which she deeply appreciated. Also to thank everyone for the many thoughtful acts of kindness shown to us at the time of her death and funeral.

"Sister," said the deacon severely, "you should avoid even the appearance of evil. For instance, on your sideboard, you have several cut glass decanters, each half filled with what appears to be ardent spirits."

"But, deacon," she protested, "it isn't anything of the kind. The bottles look so pretty on the sideboard that I filled them half way with a mixture of floor stain and furniture polish just for looks."

"That's why I'm cautioning you, sister," said the deacon. "Feeling a trifle faint, I helped myself to a dose from the big decanter in the middle."

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Truman Asks 45 Millions to Spread U.S. 'Know-How' Throughout World; A-Bomb Urged as Defense Weapon

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

U.S. KNOW-HOW: Share for World

Back in January, President Harry Truman delivered in his message to congress, a multiple-point program. In that program was mentioned "point four" — one of the proposals he made and one which raised some eyebrows and set off no end of speculation on "when and how."

"POINT FOUR" was a proposal to share United States "know-how" in varied fields with other friendly nations of the world. In that proposal, the President asked congress to go along with a plan to let such nations in on how the U.S. does things economically, mechanically, industrially.

After speculation died down there was nothing more said about "point four" until recently. Then, President Truman told congress exactly what he wanted. First, he asked for 45 million dollars to help the backward countries of the world through U.S. aid.

CALLING that a first step, he listed some other factors also as "preliminaries." These included:

Technical assistance to be provided through the United Nations or directly by the United States. Private investment to turn undeveloped areas into producing for the world economy.

Authority delegated by the congress to the President to give him power to administer the program and authority to delegate it to the secretary of state and to other government officers as he deems appropriate.

"We are here embarking on a venture that extends far into the future," he told congress. He added that "grinding poverty and the lack of opportunity for many millions of people in . . . certain regions . . . constitute the greatest challenge of the world today."

A-BOMB USE: Limits Asked

How would idealism fare against expediency in the matter of atomic bomb use in a war crisis?

That was a question with which congress was being asked to deal. Senator Flanders (R., Vt.) asked congress to declare the atomic bomb as a weapon of defense only for the free nations—not to be used unless an aggressor hurls it first.

TO RISK a masterpiece of understatement, that could be a most dangerous policy as even a child could see. Give an aggressor first shot at us with the bomb before we retaliate? Some critics of such a plan might reasonably demand: How silly can you get?

An enemy equipped with enough bombs, and permitted first drop, could put this nation, or any nation, in such a fix that there'd be no use and no opportunity to retaliate with the bomb.

From here it looks as though Senator Flanders may have nothing but his trouble for his work.

FLANDERS explained his plan as one which he believed might speed the United Nations' efforts to write an agreement on world-wide control of atomic energy.

Asked whether his plan might not arouse criticism that this country is denying itself its foremost weapon, the senator replied, "I don't think we should sell our immortal souls to the devil."

But in the American concept, stemming from 1776, to sell one's freedom to an enemy through non-use of the bomb might be tantamount to the situation which the senator finds distasteful.

ECONOMY: Warning Sounded

President Truman's administration was coming in for some criticism as a result of the current bipartisan economy drive in congress. Senator Aitken (R., Vt.) warned that if the drive succeeds, it will put a powerful political weapon in President Truman's hands—and in an election year, at that. Aitken argued that it would be tantamount to handing the President a two billion dollar campaign fund for the congressional elections next year.

FIFTY-SIX senators — 21 Democrats and 35 Republicans — have signed a petition to take up a resolution which would force Truman to balance the budget by cutting federal operating appropriations from five to 10 per cent in the fiscal year.

DANGER OVERLOOKED

Plaster of Paris Held Infection Source
Paris, in use all over the world for decades without sterilization, contains actual germs of infection, according to Prof. E. G. D. Murray and Dr. G. D. Denton of McGill university.

The familiar white material used primarily as a cast for broken bones has long been overlooked as a source of infection, the university men said. A man in a Montreal

Top Teacher

Sarah Churchill, left, daughter of England's Winston Churchill, had the best possible coaching for her stage role in "The Philadelphia Story." Her tutor, at right, was Tallulah Bankhead, famed stage and screen actress.

TRADE PACT: Britons Jump Gun

In matters affecting its own welfare, Great Britain never has taken any but the realistic view, hence the signing of a five-year trade pact with Argentina — a pact to which the United States has vigorously objected.

THE PACT, calling for exchanges totaling 500 million dollars the first year, and looking to at least an equal volume the other years, commits the two nations to virtual barter.

The U.S. objected to the pact on the grounds that it violates the spirit of free competitive international trade.

Argentine President Juan Peron rapped outside criticism in a speech at ceremonies marking the end of negotiations which lasted more than five months.

"It is not possible," he said, "to hide the evil intentions and evil designs behind this criticism. This type of economic warfare is a sign of incapacity."

OPEN criticism of British action came from Senator Wherry (R., Neb.) who accused Britain of "selfishly promoting her own economic interests at the expense of the U.S. and European countries." He contended that the pact "defeats the very purpose of recovery and free exchange of goods in the world."

Paul G. Hoffman, U.S. economic cooperation administrator, also was concerned. He said he was strongly opposed to this type of "bilateral agreement" and that he would use every influence to discourage such two-way pacts.

LANDLORDS: 'Freeze' Is Out

Landlords would breathe with some relief as they read the latest announcement by federal housing expeditor Tighe Woods.

Woods said "the freeze principle of rent control is now a thing of the past."

FOUR new rules easing rent controls would indicate that was the situation, but a closer look might raise some doubts.

First, owners putting more value into their property would be in line to collect increased rents. Then, local rent officials would have more leeway in adjusting rent ceilings in harmony with local real estate principles. Third would be the elimination of the "freeze" principle, and, fourth, making an "opinion" as to probable rent hike limits available to landlords before they actually repair or improve their property.

BUT—and there were three of these—the tenants still have protection. The proposed repairs or improvements can only be made with the tenant's permission, however, with these conditions the tenant may be overruled:

1. If the improvement is needed to maintain the property.
  2. Where the improvements are consistent with local "practices and customs" or property management.
  3. If the change is such as would increase the rental value in a normal market where free bargaining prevailed.
- The rules were dispatched to all rent offices, Woods said.

BONUS BILL: Idea Won't Die

Tennessee's Representative Rankin was nothing if not persistent. The Democratic legislator again was planning a measure to obtain a bonus for U.S. war veterans.

THE chairman of the house veterans committee disclosed that he was grooming a multi-billion dollar bonus bill as a follow-up to veterans' pension legislation. He indicated he might seek action at this session.

Whether he knew it or not, he was in for some rough sledding, for even as he discussed the proposed measure, some members of his committee voiced the belief there would be no more major veterans' benefit bills reported out of committee at this session.

COMMENTING on his measure, Rankin said he regarded adjusted compensation — or bonus — as a possible solution to the whole question of veterans' benefits.

He has managed to bottle up measures to extend the "52-20" GI jobless pay beyond the July 25 expiration date, terming unemployment payments "rocking chair money."

The bonus bill, Rankin argued, "would deduct from the compensation all this sit-down money, on-the-job-training and college benefits."

AIRLIFT: An Anniversary

The winged boxcar flew into Berlin's Tempelhof airdrome. It landed five tons of steel wool and textiles on the concrete airstrip at exactly 12 o'clock.

THE LANDING was accomplished in magnificent solitude. However, it was an event of a sort that seldom goes unnoticed.

For that landing rounded out one solid year of "Operation Airlift" the hottest weapon in the cold war.

Despite that, it was probably one of the most unattended birthdays in history. The American twin-engine C-52, nicknamed "the flying boxcar," trundled to a loading station like any other plane.

THE FLIGHT, made by Lt. Michael B. Seeley, Bakersfield, Cal., was the 235,314th of the 365-day airlift. His load brought the total to a million, 943,655.9 tons of food, coal, machinery and other supplies that kept Berlin going during the Russian blockade.

The combined British-American task-force was dumping an average of 8,200 tons daily into the city with such ease nobody paid much attention to it any more.

WAGES: Hike on Way?

A bill to increase the present minimum wage in the United States from 40 to 75 cents an hour had cleared its first hurdle and was on its way to further consideration.

THE measure was approved unanimously by the senate labor committee.

Senator Pepper (D., Fla.), a committee member, said the labor department figured that if the bill became law it would mean pay raises for about 1.25 million workers who in interstate commerce now make less than 75 cents an hour.

However, the senate committee did not go along with the idea that the law should be broadened to include many workers not covered by it now.

PEPPER said that the bill had been broadened so that it included only an additional 100,000 non-farm workers. These, he said, are engaged in processing agriculture products in so-called "areas of production."

"Farmers," he pointed out, "still would have the exemptions they now have."

Recovering

Eddie Waitkus, star first baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies, who was shot by 19-year old Ruth Steinbagen, was up and around again. It was believed he would be able to re-join the team and play some more ball this season.

SEARCH: Keep It Legal

The United States supreme court ruled that search and seizure must always be within the law and that states as well as the federal government must guarantee citizens protection against illegal practices.

BUT there was a difference. The court held that evidence illegally secured may be used in state courts, if state law so permits, but such evidence still cannot be used in federal courts.

Michigan is not getting all of the federal aid for state highways it is entitled to receive.

Because Michigan now pays to the federal government about four times more in taxes than it gets back, it is the judgement of Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner, that Michigan is missing a good bet.

"There are about $11 million of federal funds available since 1948 on which contracts have not been let because we have no state funds to match these federal funds," said Commissioner Ziegler.

We won't lose this money, but the people of the state will lose one year's use of badly needed highway facilities which these funds would permit. We also have an additional $12 million of new federal funds becoming available in July. No contracts can be let against this new money during 1949 because we have no matching money.

"Without additional state funds we will be unable to avail ourselves of all federal aid allocated to Michigan as rapidly as need dictates. If federal aid funds are not matched by state funds and used for highway construction within a limited period, they revert for reallocation to other states which are financially able to match funds."

The problem of state highways has a familiar ring to it. It is an echo of the problem which exists today in every activity of government—local, state and federal. Costs have gone up tremendously during the postwar inflation period. A dollar of revenue buys only 50 cents in prewar value. Something must give way. Services must be curtailed or taxes must be increased. You can't have better highways without paying more for them.

When Commissioner Ziegler points to the dollar deficiency in explaining why the state highway department is lagging in its progress program, he believes he does so with a good conscience. Ziegler is proud of his record of economy—"getting the most value from the funds at our disposal."

Ziegler maintains that he had weeded out "non-producing employees" to the extent of 475. The annual saving is estimated at $1 million. This economy is in addition to 650 employees who were dropped when the state department contracted with county road commissions to maintain state trunk-line routes. Ziegler considers the 475 total as the "net" reduction.

A second economy is claimed by Ziegler by elimination of duplication caused by two organizations—state and county—doing the "same work" in counties. Ziegler puts the annual savings at another $1 million.

Another dollar-stretching policy has been to salvage old trunkline roads by surfacing them with two and one-quarter inches of asphaltic concrete at a cost of about $20,000 per mile. About 1,000 miles of old pavements have been so treated.

Another economy is claimed by Ziegler in the lower cost of building state roads in Michigan—15 per cent cheaper than the national average and well below our neighboring states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania.

"Four important factors enter into these comparatively low prices," said Ziegler. "First, contractors in Michigan do not buy jobs, but receive contracts based on the low qualified bids. Second, Michigan contractors are exceptionally well-equipped to perform the work required and have highly-qualified personnel.

Third, the gamble of lost time from labor disturbances is out of the picture due to the fine relationship existing between the department and the road construction unions.

"Fourth, we pay contractors promptly every two weeks as work progresses, less 10 per cent reserve, which enables them to meet payrolls promptly and to discount material purchases."

Michigan's state gasoline tax is much lower than the average tax of the other states.

Michigan motorists are paying less than those in other states to finance new roads and maintain old ones.

Such being the case, they are "saving" money and are getting "their money's worth"—but at the expense of improved highways. As we pointed out last week, better roads and higher taxes go hand in hand. Which do you prefer?

GRAIN BINS NEED GOOD CLEAN.

Good housekeeping on the farm now means a thorough cleaning of grain storage space, say agricultural specialists at Michigan State College. They predict better results in protecting grain from damage by insects if bins are well cleaned. Insects can live over from crop to crop in cereal material that remains in emptied grain bins. They start trouble when newly harvested grain is stored.

An empty bin should be the signal for housecleaning, the specialists advise. The earlier in the season it is done and the bins sprayed, the more hold over insects remaining in the bins will be killed.

Clean bin insurance involves two stages—cleaning and spraying.

Physical cleaning of the emptied bin includes vigorous sweeping and any necessary scraping of walls, floor and corners. Cracks and crevices need cleaning and get out old grain. Steel bins should be caulked to make them waterproof and wooden bins repaired to make them as tight as possible. Roofs should be waterproof.

The accumulations of grain, feed, bran, or screening in and around the bin and feed rooms should also be removed and destroyed.

Treatment with an insecticide helps to kill remaining insects. County Agr'l Agents can give advice about materials to use for this job. Thoroughness is needed and care should be used in the job.

FERTILIZING ESTABLISHED SEEDINGS OF ALFALFA

A. G. Weidemann of MSC soil science department reminds us again that even though alfalfa is a soil building crop, it needs fertilization to supply some of its wants. It adds organic matter and nitrogen to the soil but takes plenty of mineral material from it. He says so long as a stand of alfalfa remains good and you wish to continue it for hay it should be top dressed at least every second year. This top dressing can be done in the spring or fall or it can be done now in mid summer.

Top dressing should be at the rate of 250 to 400 pounds per acre depending on the grade of fertilizer used. For heavy, well managed soils, especially those recently manured, 0-20-0 can be used. If the soil has not been so well managed, a fertilizer containing some potash, such as 0-20-10 or 0-14-7 should be used. On the loam or sandy loam soils more potash should be used, such as 0-20-20 or 0-12-12. In the lighter types of sandy soil even as 0-10-20 or 0-9-27 would be good. Weidemann recommends applying the fertilizer with a disc drill that will put it well into the soil.

Irrigation Serves as Frost Protection

Irrigation is being cited as a practical and economical method to prevent frost damage to crops in addition to serving as a protection against dry weather.

According to Jerry Mandigo, district horticultural agent in Berrien county, the strawberry growers there reported nearly 100 percent success against frost on those crops kept covered by sprinkler irrigation systems this spring.

From data collected by these growers on freezing nights, it was found that temperatures inside the irrigation systems were about five degrees higher than those outside the irrigation. When the temperature rose above the freezing point, there was a slower rise in temperature inside the irrigation, thus protecting against injury from too warm a morning following a freeze.

The growers found the following factors seemed to give the best results in the irrigation operation according to MSC horticulturists:

1. The water should be turned on when the falling temperature reaches about 33 degrees.
2. Six to 10 galloons per minute per sprinkler head is the most favorable rate of operation. Regular sprinkler nozzles can be used by plugging large opening and putting proper sized disc in small opening.
3. Water can be shut off when temperature is rising and reaches 29 degrees. The pipe should not be moved to new locations during the night.

Bill: "The wages are OK but I'm keeping a horse out of a job."

Californian: "Stop fingering that grape."

Is Michigan slipping as a tourist state? James Welsh, the "Old Traveler" of the Automobile Club of Michigan, thinks so.

In fact, he provoked quite a controversy among Michigan newspaper editors by saying just this at a summer meeting of the Michigan Press Association at Hotel Top-in-a-bee on Mullet lake, Cheboygan county. "I know what I am talking about," he declared. "I travel about the country constantly. Each month I write a travel article on some Michigan city or region for the Motor News, monthly magazine of the Automobile Club. Michigan is not keeping up with the progress made by other states in attracting tourists. We are definitely slipping."

It is the Welsh contention that Michigan people lack pride in their home state. They fail to brag (or even talk) about Michigan's wealth of natural resources, its air-conditioned summer climate, its thousands of white-sand lakes, leadership in hunting and fishing, and such unique scenic attractions as Mackinaw Island, Porcupine mountains amid a forest wilderness, and the Taquamengon Falls.

Why, Michigan people are too complacent. They neglect to greet outstate visitors with warm friendly hospitality and say, "Be sure to see (Continued on page 5)

BUILD FOOD STORAGE TO PREVENT SPOILAGE

Those canned foods you have worked so hard to prepare deserve good storage space to prevent spoilage. Good storage space, according to Olivia C. Meyer, extension home management specialist at Michigan State College is cool, dry and dark. Insulation and ventilation will help keep the storage cool in hot weather and protect against freezing in cold weather.

Ventilation helps to cool the storage and ventilators should be located at the bottom and top of the food storage. Shutters make it possible to open or close the ventilators as needed.

Food storage may be either a cabinet or storage room, depending on the amount and kind of food and the space available. It should be located near the kitchen center which may be in the kitchen or basement. Cabinet type storage is often best suited to the kitchen.

Cabinets with inside depth of 12 inches are best and two rows of jars can be placed on each shelf. A cabinet with an inside depth of six inches will take care of one row of fruit jars.

Storage rooms usually are best for basement use. At least two square feet of floor space should be allowed to provide room for one person to enter and set cans on the shelves or remove them. You can plan the amount of shelf space for each five cans of any size. Allow 20 feet of shelf space for 100 cans.

Top shelves should not be more than 72 inches above the floor. If shelves are more than three or four feet long they should be supported at 32-inch intervals. Place canned meats on the lower shelves, vegetables next, and fruits near the top.

Usually incompatibility results when a husband loses his income and a wife her patability.

For a Trouble-Free Vacation, Make Certain Your Car Is Ready

Assure yourself of a safe, trouble-free vacation by making absolutely certain in advance that your car is ready for the trip," advises E. L. Harrig, director of service for the Chevrolet Motor Division.

"The best way to avoid accidents and mechanical delays on the way is to have the car thoroughly checked for safety factors and to have to have a motor tune-up and lubrication before you start," Harrig continued. "Chevrolet dealers have special equipment for doing this job on all Chevrolet cars now in operation. The cost of such a pre-servicing plan will be repaid many times."

Depending on the age of the car and the number of miles it has been driven, the owner may want to have the dealer give it a complete clinical diagnosis with a checkup of everything from front to rear.

But in all events, a vacation-bound car should have a safety check on steering, lights, brakes, tires and glass area. Oil should be changed and the chassis lubricated. Unless it has been done recently, there should also be a lubrication of the front wheel bearings, drainage and refilling of transmission and rear axle, and a motor tune-up.

Advise Nitrogen for Asparagus, Rhubarb

An application of nitrogen fertilizer to asparagus and rhubarb is advisable now, says Jack Rose, Michigan State College horticulturist.

Harvest of asparagus should stop as soon as spears begin to come up small and spindling. Rhubarb harvest should stop when growth appears to be weakening. The harvest season on both crops usually ends in late June.

The nitrogen fertilizer application following harvest will stimulate foliage growth. Next season's crop depends on food manufactured by the foliage growing this season.

Nitrogen can be applied to asparagus by using 300 pounds per acre of granular cyanamide or 400 to 500 pounds per acre of ammonium nitrate. The cyanamide is also effective in controlling weed growth. For home garden use, applications of 400 pounds per acre are the equivalent of about five pounds per 100 feet of row.

Cyanamide should not be used on rhubarb. Ammonium nitrate at the rate of 400 to 500 pounds per acre is recommended for this crop.

WATERING YOUR SHADE TREES

When you get thirsty working around the yard, it should be a good reminder that your shade trees do too. Michigan State College foresters say large trees may be thirsty enough to use 20,000 gallons of water in one year. If there is not enough water the tree cannot absorb the food elements which it needs from the soil. In watering the tree, apply the water slowly, letting it soak in over a long period of time so it will penetrate to the roots. Generally a thorough watering every three weeks is sufficient in dry weather.

this-and-that before you leave!"

While the prodding "Old Traveler" may have a good point or two, his general thesis of a decline in the Michigan tourist industry was immediately challenged by many booster-minded newspaper editors.

Robert Furlong, secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council, added his conviction to the controversy:

"All available statistics about Michigan's role in the tourist field contradict and deny Welsh's contention that Michigan is falling behind.

"Traffic at the Straits of Mackinac from July 1 to 5 inclusively was 20 per cent higher than one year ago.

(Delayed from last week)

More than one million people — men, women and children — can't be wrong!

Fishing in Michigan has become "big business". Nearly one-third of the million plus fishing licenses to be issued in 1949 will go to non-resident tourists. Fishing and Michigan are one-and-the-same to several hundred thousand summer travelers.

All of this is timely. Saturday (June 25) opens the traditional bass and panfish season on lakes otherwise closed to year-around fishing.

This point bears emphasis for the legislature permitted the state conservation department, beginning in 1947, to designate 20 lakes for year-around fishing. The latest lake on the experimental list is Hess lake in Newaygo county. Anglers may fish at any time, summer or winter, for bluegills, sunfish, perch, rock bass and calico bass.

The 1949 legislature weighed evidence submitted by fish management experts and voted to liberalize the rules still further. Effective Sept. 23, the six-inch size limits on panfish will be removed. The legal limit continues at 25 in any combination per day. The bluegill and sunfish season will be lengthened one month, ending March 31 instead of Feb. 28.

Why this change in thinking on conservation of fish? Year-around fishing and removal of size limits are complete reversals of the sportsman's traditional attitudes.

The answer is simple. "We have reached that stage in believing that continued stocking of young bass, perch and bluegills is not the answer to better fishing," says F. A. Westerman, chief of the fish and fisheries division, state conservation department.

"What other state in the Mid-West can boast of 58 state parks? What other state has created the recreational area plan for a metropolitan area on such a vast scale as Michigan? And don't forget our 62 roadside parks and 300 roadside picnic tables, provided and maintained by the state highway department!"

It is Furlong's belief that Michigan citizens, particularly those living in the tourist regions, cannot afford to rest "on their oars". Forty-five of the 48 states now compete to attract tourists. Eight states joined the ranks in the past two years.

The state legislature this year turned thumbs down on a bill, sponsored by the conservation department, to grant blank-check authority to build and operate hotels and cabins on any state land. Strangely enough, most members of the conservation commission privately frowned on this latitude. So did the state legislature!

The bewhiskered "Old Traveler", now promoting Michigan attractions for ten years, started something when he prodded newspaper editors at Top-in-a-bee. An intelligent gent and prolific writer, he may have done it deliberately. The result has been a re-appraisal of Michigan's tourist resources and perhaps a reawakening to the need for every citizen to be a friendly host this summer to millions of visitors.

The answer is simple. "We have reached that stage in believing that continued stocking of young bass, perch and bluegills is not the answer to better fishing," says F. A. Westerman, chief of the fish and fisheries division, state conservation department.

"Our lakes appear to have a considerable reserve of catchable fish, not taken by present inefficient methods of angling. Our populations of warm-water fish are still not being taxed to their limit to produce. Fishermen can still take more of the crop of warm-water fish, at least of the pan fish."

The idea that fishing can be improved if more fish are removed from the lake is one of those things that confound the sportsman. At first, it doesn't seem to make sense. Then the fish management expert brings in factual proof. Tests show that most lakes have countless thousands of the young game and pan fishes. Often the fish population is so great that fish have trouble growing up to adult size. Stunting follows.

What counts is the availability of food and protective habitat. Brush shelters are placed along the shores of lakes. Trout streams have been improved by planting of 50,000 white and red pine, mountain ash, hawthorne, rosa multiflora and willow. These were planted primarily to provide shade and to prevent erosion. This work is financed by 40 cents out of fisherman's license fee.

To provide access to fishing lakes the state has acquired nearly 380 fishing sites, 261 on lakes and 118 on streams. Some land obtained due to tax reversion; others were purchased from private owners.

Because fish ladders at dams have not proved to be entirely satisfactory, the department has transferred thousands of walleyed pike and rainbows to power dam ponds above.

Dams to provide trout ponds have been built in southern Michigan at Spring Creek near Pontiac, Sylvan Creek in the Waterloo area, and a tributary to the Dowagiac River near Summerville.

Noxious fish, such as carp, have been removed by netting them in 15 lakes. The waters were then stocked with trout.

While the bass and panfish prospects are steadily improving, the brook trout continues to present a problem. The pressure is greater than ever as more fishermen turn to fly casting. Overfishing is depleting the trout population in Michigan streams.

Year-around fishing for panfish, now on a limited and experimental scale, offers the best hope for better fishing in the future.

Michigan lakes contain more panfish today than 50 years ago. If properly managed, they may continue to attract thousands of summer visitors to Michigan and to provide healthful recreation for Michigan residents.

Dan Goodman Passes Away at Chicago

Word was received here Friday of the death, Thursday, July 7, in a Chicago hospital, of Dan Goodman, a pioneer of this region.

He was born December 13th 1863, in Niagara County, N. Y. In 1876 he came to East Jordan with his parents, Fred and Doris Goodman, from Lockport, N. Y. The family settled on a farm three miles north of East Jordan on the Boyne City road.

In 1891 he was united in marriage to Miss Anna Keat, daughter of Judge and Mrs. James Keat, the first Judge in this area; she died Dec. 24, 1913. About two years later he married Mrs. Nellie Sweet, widow of Dr. C. A. Sweet, who survives him. Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Louisa Fox of Seaside, Calif., and a brother, Herman, East Jordan; two step-daughters, Mrs. Mildred Franzen and Mrs. Elizabeth Melcher, both of Chicago, and a step-son, Gordon Sweet, Kentucky. R. Sinclair Sales Building now stands, and later moved his hardware to the Loveday building. He sold out and retired about 14 years ago and since then has lived with Mrs. Elizabeth Melcher, at 2546 Farwell Ave., Chicago.

MAKE YOUR COTTONS LOOK FRESH LONGER

A few laundering hints may be the secret to keeping your cotton dresses looking as they did when you first bought or made them advises Florence Rann, extension clothing specialist at Michigan State College.

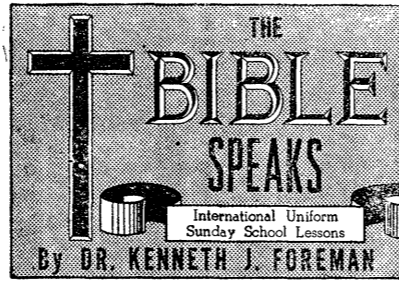

All that truly washable cottons require is warm water and a good laundry soap. Wash dark colored cottons alone or with other dark colors. This will prevent having unattractive lint spots on a dark cotton. If your cottons do not have a permanent crisp finish, a light starch solution will do wonders.

Rinse your cottons well because little soap particles make fabrics look scorched when ironed and tend to weaken the fibers. When hanging on the line, first shake out the dresses to remove large wrinkles and then pin by the hem at the side seams.

Good sprinkling means good ironing. One of the secrets of good ironing is knowing how much moisture to use. Too little moisture makes it difficult to remove wrinkles, while too much adds to the ironing time. A fine spray sprinkler top distributes the moisture evenly.

Always iron absolutely dry as you go along. This will keep the fabric from wrinkling and puckering at the seams. Avoid shine on dark cottons by ironing on the wrong side. Use a pressing cloth to touch up double thicknesses on the right side. Move the iron in unhurried rhythmic strokes so the heat will have time to work. Iron around buttons. To press a pocket turn the dress to the wrong side and press the pocket carefully. Go over the pockets on the right side if necessary.

Seems like Europe has always been a jigsaw puzzle with a "peace" missing.

Why Church Music?
Lesson for July 17, 1949

WHY church music? Hymn books are expensive, learning new hymns is a bother, choirs are a lot of trouble. Most preachers need more time for their sermons; why not cut out the music and let them have fifteen minutes extra? No sir; it won't do. Say what you please, the average church-goer knows better than that. He may never have thought it out and he might not have heard of the word "hymnology," but Mr. Average Churchman likes music in the church, even if he never opens his mouth himself.

Dr. Foreman

Liturgy

SINGING in church was not invented yesterday. In the Psalms, as in our own hymnals, some of the poems were originally written and intended for use in public worship. The word "liturgy" simply means the order of manner of service, and all churches have liturgies whether they give them that name or not.

Our familiar "Holy, Holy, Holy," was written for use in an early morning service; "Bread of the world" was written as a Communion hymn; "Break Thou the Bread of Life" while often used at Communion was not so intended, as you can tell by reading it carefully; it was meant for use just before the reading of the Scripture.

"Day is Dying in the West" is best used in an out-door service, "Ivory Palaces" was written one Sunday afternoon in North Carolina for use in an evangelistic meeting that night. It might interest you to leaf through your own hymnal and see how many hymns were written purposely for church use.

Songs of the Temple

THREE liturgical Psalms are our lesson selection. Use your imagination when you read them. As you read Psalm 24, think of a great procession marching through the streets of Jerusalem on a holy day and approaching the tall temple shining on the city's highest hill. Singing as they climb, perhaps one part of the congregation sings the question: "Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? Who shall stand in his holy place?" Perhaps another group of voices takes up the answer: "He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart..." As the great gates swing open, the chant rises: "Lift up your heads, O ye gates!" for the King of Kings, the Lord of Lords, is marching.

The little kings (in Israel and over the world) have come and gone; only the Lord of Hosts is the King of Glory. Singing the glory of God brings it before the mind far better than reading about it in a book!

Then the 84th Psalm is taken from what they called the "Chief Musician's Collection," evidently a part of what we now would call the choir library. It is the song of a man who loves the church and loves the people whom he finds there. Psalm 95:1-7b is also obviously a song for public worship, and still is sung every morning in churches around the world.

The Best is Not Too Good

IF in ancient times when God's people were learning to sing, the noblest poems of inspired men were set to the best music available and used for the honor of God and the help of man, then surely Christians ought to do no less.

If you had a friend coming to see you, one whom you respect and wish to honor, you certainly would not set the table with all the chipped-up old kitchen china and you wouldn't put wilted flowers on the table and you certainly wouldn't keep the radio tuned to the tin-pianist trash you could find on the dial.

No, if you have anything for him you want it to be of the very best. Why not so with God? The house of God is no place for cheap, bad music, jingly meaningless rhymes instead of noble hymns and psalms, tiresome grind-organ tunes or jazzy swing stuff instead of music that has real power and beauty. If nonsense is bad in a sermon, it is worse in a prayer and worst of all in a hymn. If mere noise is bad in a sermon, it is worse in a prayer and unbearably bad in a hymn.

Windy Sure "Stopped The Show!"

The other night a bunch of us were over at Judge Cunningham's watching a swell vaudeville program on his new television set. It came in fine, but just once, the screen got a little streaky.

Before the Judge could touch the knob to bring it into focus, old Windy Taylor starts fooling around with the antenna connection. "I can fix that!" he says.

Windy fixed it all right. He "stopped the show" for us, and Buzz Ellis had to come over and do a $20 repair job. I understand

Windy feels so bad, that he's paying the bill and has apologized to the Judge for acting so smart.

From where I sit, it pays to practice a little restraint whenever we get the urge to meddle. Whether it's television or a person's right to enjoy a temperate glass of sparkling beer now and then—let's get a good clear "picture" of the real situation before we cause more harm than good.
