March of Dimes Sets Record

EAST JORDAN EXCEEDS ALL PREVIOUS YEARS

Although the local committee of the March of Dimes Campaign did not set a "quota" to be attained, the final results make it obvious even an optimistic estimate would have been far short of the gratifying totals. Greatly exceeding the efforts of all previous years the report reveals to following general classifications of revenue:

Wilson Grange	$ 5.00
Rotary Activities:
Pancake Supper	150.42
Game Collection	106.13
Bowling Tournament	16.30
Peninsula Grange	53.36
American Legion Aux.	25.00
Oddfellows & Rebekahs	42.00
Farmers Union, Wil. Twp.	26.00
School Children	36.23
Iron Lung Cannisters	83.40
Theater Collections	88.83
Mailing Cards	429.40

Grand Total $1062.07
To the officers and members of all these organizations, to the committeemen and volunteers, to all the contributors and citizens of East Jordan who together have made this March of Dimes drive such an outstanding success goes the unspoken thanks of the many victims of this dread disease now battling their way back to health and a useful life. County Chairman Mrs. Walter Davis, and East Jordan Director Hollis Drew, join in expressing a sincere appreciation of the co-operation extended on every side and congratulate the community on a job so well done.

Plants In The Home (By Vaun Ogden)

The African Violet is considered by many to be the best house plant of all. This plant, which is not a violet, but does come from Africa, is about the only compact flowering plant that will withstand the hot, dry atmosphere of the average home. It likes a temperature of about 70 degrees, and it prefers moisture in the air around it. One lady in town uses hot water for watering so that the vapor comes up around the leaves. You might try this method, but never use cold water. The accepted way to water is with lukewarm water from the bottom. The violet prefers an east window, but they do well at our house in a south window behind thin curtains, during most of the year. In summer weather they need less sun, else leaves will blister.

Many tell me that their plants die soon after they are received. Have patience. I lost one after another until I turned them over to my wife, who has excellent luck. She roots new plants by taking a healthy leaf from the parent plant, inserting the stem, through a cardboard shield, in a glass of water to a depth of 1 1/2 inches. In about two months roots form at the end of the stem, then a bit later tiny leaves also appear. Plant this rooted stem in soil made of one-third each of rotted manure, woods dirt and garden dirt. Within 8 to 12 months you should have a plant in blossom. They can also be grown from seeds or plant division. Plant division is a delicate operation, however.

Never let cold water touch the foliage of violets, and never let the sun shine on a plant with drops of water on it. Ringspot results from using water which is too cold for watering. Mealy bugs, white fuzzy insects, can be picked off with a toothpick. If the plant is badly infected, throw it away.

Violets come in hundreds of varieties, and many colors. My favorite, of those I've seen, is the pink. There seems to be no yellow, in spite of many reports to the contrary. Some think violets are expensive to buy, but when you consider that they may bloom continuously for months, they are an excellent investment. Mrs. L. Malpass gave us a plant which blossomed steadily for 18 months. It became leggy, so we saved the crown, repotted it, and now it is ready to blossom a third time. For a flowering plant in a modern home, you can't beat the African Violet.

ECONOMIC GLANCE

U.S. Future Looks Bright

NEW YORK. — Despite what appears to be a general air of gloom permeating most official and expert thinking on the probable future of the United States, one agency thinks everything's going to be all right.

"That organization is the Twentieth Century Fund, a non-profit foundation established in 1919 by the late merchant prince and philanthropist, Edward A. Filene. Its purpose is to carry on scientific research and public education on economic problems."

And, amid all the reports of recessions, unemployment and declining trade, the fund has sounded a long-range note of optimism. In a statistical study of American development, past, present and future, the agency says that by 1960 the United States could be providing adequate food, housing, education and medical care for every living American.

"We now have the highest standard of living ever attained by man," said the study. "The average American earns more money, eats better food, has a better house, better clothes, schools, theaters, more conveniences than the average citizen of any other country, anywhere, at any time."

Dynamic Country

But that is nothing compared to what we can do. Right now we are just taking a little rest during the march along the road of progress. America is a dynamic country, always expanding, always going forward. Despite occasional setbacks, that is what the record shows as far back as comprehensive statistics are available.

"The whole secret of our constant advance is our ability to increase our productivity, our output per man-hour of work," says the fund.

"We have stepped this up from an average of 27c worth of goods and services turned out in an hour's work in 1850 to $1.15 in 1940 and to an expected $1.61 or more in 1960. (See chart in adjoining columns.)"

"We have done this mostly by substituting the machine for human sweat and animal power. By 1960 we shall be using 100 times as much mechanical energy per man-hour of work as we did in 1850."

"This increased output per hour worked is the only way to make possible higher wages to workers, lower prices to consumers, greater returns to managers and owners, and greater leisure for all of us."

The report points to a crucial fact: "We have made our progress up to now because we have had an expanding system. We are constantly starting new businesses, turning out more goods, new products, we build new factories, schools, hospitals, museums. We provide new services, more leisure."

Can Keep It Up

But can we keep it up? The fund says we can. And we can do this despite the rigors of inflation and deflation.

Our system is strained by our tendency to go too far and too fast in boom, and to drop too swiftly and too deeply in bust," says the study. "But we are aware of the danger. We are making efforts to level out the ups and downs of our business activity."

"For the long pull we can see that both boom and bust are passing phases in the steady record of our long term advance."

Doctor Holds Persons Need Bed to Themselves

NEW YORK.—A room of one's own is one of the physical conditions most conducive to a restful night, according to Dr. Victor G. Heiser, well known medical advisor.

It is the relationships with other people that sap most of an individual's daily energy, explains Dr. Heiser.

"Sleep is designed to rest the conscious mind," he says. "There is little rest if it is kept near the threshold of our consciousness by our awareness of another person."

Complete solitude is necessary to relax from the contacts of the day, free from the need to attune oneself to the moods and needs of another. Only then can fatigue be eased so that one is refreshed and ready for the next day.

Unfortunately, it is not always possible—especially in the crowded living conditions and small homes of today—to have a room of one's own. But, even if a room must be shared, each person should have a comfortable bed to himself.

Absolute relaxation and perfect rest are never possible if a bed is shared. Although both may sleep, each person is still aware of the presence of the other and this awareness affects the restfulness of their sleep.

Tests have shown that the average person turns and moves 20 to 45 times a night, but when the bed is shared these movements are necessarily restricted. The individual cannot move freely in such a way as to thoroughly rest each part of his body. Only in a bed of his own can he turn and toss at will, without disturbing or being disturbed by another.

A room of one's own is ideal—a bed of one's own is a necessity.

The Michigan state legislature met at Lansing this Wednesday (March 15) for a special session as called by Governor G. Mennen Williams.

The Governor's office is proceeding on the principal, as laid down by several Supreme Court decisions and by advice of the Attorney General, that the Governor himself must define the subject matter as to new legislation which legislators may consider in special session.

Accordingly, the lineup to date presents an interesting situation. Governor Williams is advocating again the State Corporations Profit Tax as a new source of revenue needed to avoid a deficit in the State Treasury, while Republican legislative leaders will probably seek to minimize a fiscal deficit by possible reductions in legislative appropriations for state aid and other functions.

As state spending is usually popular with minority pressure groups which have an axe to grind, the Republican legislators are apt to be on the defensive if they adhere to previous declarations for economy.

For example, Governor Williams has sought to put the legislature on the defensive as to additional funds needed for highway purposes. The Governor is asking the legislature to appropriate 18.5 million to be used for matching purposes in building new roads in cooperation with the Federal government. While not permitting the legislature to consider revision of the gasoline or weight tax levy, which heretofore have been used to finance highway construction, he favors inclusion of this additional state aid in revenues to be derived from a levy on corporation incomes.

By advocating the program of the Michigan Good Roads Federation, the Governor is credited with a smart political move designed to put legislators more on the defensive. In fact, it is more than obvious that the Williams strategy steadily has been to accomplish just that—by maintaining a political offensive to embarrass his critics.

To date, it has been the accepted policy in Michigan to finance highway needs from revenues paid by highway users. The Governor would go beyond this point by using the general fund in part to finance needed construction in cities, villages and townships as well as state routes outside of municipalities.

The Governor has included in the legislative call a proposal for aid to Michigan wine makers. He would change the law whereby wine makers could produce stronger wines in competition with other states such as California.

Another subject matter before the legislature is a proposal by the Governor to enable counties and townships to utilize Federal housing machinery. The Governor has also proposed special zoning authority around air ports designed to prevent hazards.

Indications at Lansing were that the Governor would also recommend revision of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Act along lines of his message in 1949.

At that time he favored minimum of $30 a week and maximum of $42 a week, the latter depending upon dependents for unemployed workers covered by the Unemployment Compensation Act. The legislature agreed upon a minimum of $24 and maximum of $32.

The Governor is known to favor an extension of the time for worker benefits, as well as a change whereby workers are disqualified from jobless payments under certain conditions.

Revision of the State Sales Tax, currently a subject of considerable controversy, is not likely to come before the legislature as the Governor has consistently opposed consumer taxes. The Governor has been assured by legal advisors that such could not be acted upon by the legislature unless authorized by the Governor.

Thus revision of the State Sales Tax is likely to be held over until 1951.

As 1950 is a Michigan campaign year, the proceedings at Lansing will bear close watching.

Hostess: "I have a lonesome bachelor I'd like you girls to meet."

Athletic Girl: "What can he do?"

Chorus Girl: "How much money has he?"

Society Girl: "Who is his family?"

Religious Girl: "To what church does he belong?"

Secretary: "Where is he?"

Dreams are those things that folks see when they are in love and later find are nightmares.

As Fertilizer Potatoes Equal Value of Manure

How much are potatoes worth as fertilizer?

After a little calculation, Paul Rood, Michigan State College soil scientist, came up with this answer. About as much per ton as average farm manure.

The question came to Rood by long distance from a farmer who said he could buy surplus potatoes at one cent a hundred. Rood figured out that a ton of potatoes would have 7 pounds of nitrogen, 2.5 pounds of phosphoric acid and 10.5 pounds of potash—worth about $1.85.

Rood put his answer this way. You have the manure in your barn and it has to be hauled out. So it costs you only the loading, hauling and spreading. Potatoes, too, would have to be loaded, and if bought some distance from the farm the hauling cost would be greater. They, too, have to be spread. You also have to pay 20 cents for the ton of potatoes.

At the same time, Rood warned, potatoes with any disease could carry that disease to the soil. It would take only 68 pounds of a commercial fertilizer to give the same plant foods of equal value to the nitrogen, phosphate and potash in a ton of "spuds."

So what you should do about buying potatoes from somewhere off your farm for fertilizer only should be easy to figure out. If, however, you grow potatoes and the government has bought them at support prices and offers to sell them at one cent a hundred, your problem is different. You have to get them out of your storage house. So it offers about the same problem as getting the manure out of the barn.

Farms Produce More Fertilizer Than Factories

Michigan farmers produce more than four times the amount of fertilizer they buy each year.

About 30,000,000 tons of manure are produced on Michigan farms annually. It contains about as much in fertilizer elements as are included in 30,000,000 hundred pound bags of 10-5-10 fertilizer. Michigan used nearly 8,000,000 bags of fertilizer last year.

A. G. Weidemann, soil science researcher at Michigan State College, says through careless handling, farmers are losing much of the value of this farm produced fertilizer.

A ton of manure contains about the same nutrients as a 100 pound bag of 10-5-10 fertilizer—that is ten pounds of nitrogen, five pounds of phosphate and ten pounds of potash.

Besides that, Weidemann reports, manure also contains minor elements such as boron, manganese and copper and is rich in organic matter.

Are You Planning to Build With a GI Home Loan?

You Can Borrow up to 100% of the Cost of House and Lot, at 4% interest with 24 years to pay

Ever since GI 4% 25 year loans were made a component part of Veterans' benefits, there has been the widespread complaint that too many localities in Michigan had no outlets for this type of financing. Now facilities have been established for providing this service to World War II Veterans who desire to purchase a new or existing dwelling.

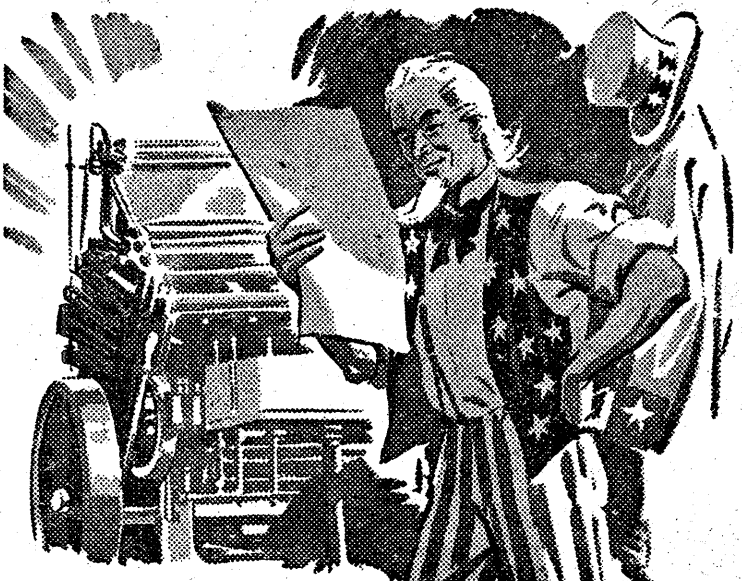

Important features of this plan include the following considerations:

1. Applies to QUALIFIED Veterans of World War II.
 2. Qualification depends on Veterans Administration approval and guarantee.
 3. Service available anywhere in Michigan's Lower Peninsula.
 4. GI Bill provides availability of these 501 loans for approximately seven years more.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

British Laborites on Rocky Road; Scientists Warn of H-Bomb Threat; Senate Spy Hunt to Be 'Witchless'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

REPORT ON MASS-DESTRUCTION WEAPONS... Sen. Brien McMahon (left) chairman of the joint congressional atomic energy committee, confers with Gen. Omar N. Bradley shortly before Bradley, who is chairman of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, reported to the senate-house group on possible types of mass-destruction weapons an enemy might use against the U.S.

BRITAIN. Close Call

British Prime Minister Clement Attlee and his Labor party were still holding the reins of British government—but it had been a mighty close call. There was a serious question of how long the Labor government could stand as a result of its meager majority in parliament. Added to that was the peril of an intra-party strife in which it was reported left-wingers in the party were planning a test of strength with more moderate leaders of Attlee's government. THE PROBLEM was an easily obvious one: Should the Labor party walk easily in the face of its hairbreadth escape from defeat in the elections, or should it strike out boldly for continuation and expansion of socialism? The primary interest in the election for Americans was, of course, whether or not the British people were committed to more socialism and resultant nationalism of industry and their way of life, or had they grown apprehensive enough concerning the direction of government to change it? The answer was clear to the extent that a bare majority of the people are "satisfied" with conditions—enough at least to return the Labor government to power. But, significantly enough, the balance of that power had waned so much in the past five years that it was almost nonexistent. WHAT DID IT MEAN? It was much too early to gauge the election's effect on the American economy or on Europe's overall recovery program, but disappointment in the U.S. was widespread and there was some concern lest the uncertainty of the Labor government's position interfere seriously with American recovery plans abroad. One American newspaper woman was able to put into print concisely and graphically the divergent British viewpoints when she reported a Conservative as saying that England would never recover until the Laborites were completely thrown out, and a poorer-class workwoman declaring that she didn't care how much she had to do without, just as long as the rich didn't have any more.

around the H-bomb. The bomb itself would turn these chemicals into the fantastic killing dust. Dust of that sort could be made so that it would remain active a few days, a few months or as long as 5,000 years. That is a frightening, appalling possibility. But there is a ray of hope. These same scientists say it will be another three years before anyone will know if the bomb can be produced. That gives mankind a little time in which to make up his mind. The decision had better be right. SPY HUNT: No 'Witches' There was to be "no witchess—no whitewash" in the senate foreign relations subcommittee's probe of alleged infiltration of Communists into the U.S. state department. That's what Sen. Millard Tydings (D., Md.) said of the investigation when he was named chairman of the committee which was to conduct it. THE NAMING of the committee stemmed from charges by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R., Wis.) that an unnamed group of Communists hold—or have held—high state department posts. But, McCarthy rather put the committee on the spot at the start when he said that if President Truman persists in his refusal to make state department employee loyalty files available, "an investigation would be useless." Mr. Truman has so persisted and declared he would ignore the senate's action in granting subpoena rights to the committee. Indications were that a court test of the President's position was in the making if the committee chose to use its subpoena rights and called upon the President to deliver the wanted records. TYDINGS DECLINED to pass on this issue at the outset, and said, instead, that he expected a "full, fair and complete investigation" of McCarthy's charges. "We will let the chips fall where they may," he said, "and this will be neither a witch-hunt nor a whitewash." The senator's intentions no doubt were good—but there might be little to worry about where the chips would fall, so long as Mr. Truman declined to pass the committee the axe they needed.

H-BOMB: More Warnings

More and more came the warnings from experts of the dread potentialities of the hydrogen bomb. True, there was some disagreement, but a poll would show at this stage that a majority of scientists who should know what they are talking about believe the bomb could kill everyone in the world. Four top scientists have issued that warning. They have declared that the bomb, if it works, could be a suicide bomb. Why? How? Here's what they say: IF THE BOMB is ever made and used, it would kill slowly by poisoning everything and everyone with radioactive dusts. The dusts would be carried around the world by the winds. The dust would be in the air people breathed. It would settle on and poison plants and trees, everything humans eat or use. THE H-BOMB, they add, could be intentionally rigged to do just that—and it would be relatively simple to do it. Makers of the bomb would have only to put harmless chemical elements signers were famed scientist Albert Einstein, author Louis Bromfield and a number of prominent church leaders. The report centered on the activities of the reserve officers training units, military science teaching, research contracts with universities, and what it sees as a trend toward putting military men in high educational places.

More than attention to name-calling and too little attention to issues. That's the way O. John Rogge, former assistant attorney general of the United States, summed up the trouble with the new Progressive party of which Henry Wallace—one-time vice-president of the United States—is the chief figure. ROGGE'S STATEMENT was made in support of Wallace, who had made a virtual demand that the party stop trying to "save face" for the Communists in declarations of policy. The party held a convention in Chicago to develop aims and objectives during which Rogge declared of the party's being called "Red baiters": "We should be as unafraid of that label as we are of the labels 'Communist' or 'Communist front.'" There were delegates who found signs of new attitudes among Soviet-friendship groups as an outgrowth of the Tito-resistance. The resolutions committee was reported to have shelved quietly an anti-Tito statement. Rogge touched on this schism briefly when he said: "WE SHALL NOT BEND reason backward in order to attempt to justify the conduct of the Cominform countries toward Yugoslavia. But when the Soviet Union offers a plan in the field of atomic energy which, with all its faults, at least offers a better basis for opening and continuing negotiations than the Baruch plan, we are going to say just that." No one doubted Rogge's stand. The Progressives, whether they were happy about it or not, were so completely tagged with Soviet-sympathy labels that there would be no confusion in the minds of the voters when its candidates offered for office.

Answer Still 'No'

President Truman persisted in his refusal to give congress confidential loyalty files on federal employees. However, he said he had promised the senate foreign relations committee he otherwise would cooperate in disproving what he called false charges made by Senator McCarthy (R., Wis.) that a Communist ring exists in the state department. He told newsmen that subpoena powers voted by the senate for committee investigators would "make no difference" to him, pointing out that it would be difficult to serve a subpoena on the President of the United States, since the government affords him protection from such services. And, indeed it would. But, it doesn't say anywhere that the President may not give information—if he chooses—to those seeking to ascertain the degree of this nation's security against subversive elements.

LOOTER: Force of Habit

Leslie C. Potter, the 40-year-old Detroit factory personnel expert who turned burglar by night was a victim of habit, he told police. Admitting some thousand or more burglaries in the Detroit area over the past seven years, he said looting homes was his "avocation." Incidentally, there was quite some profit in Potter's hobby—possibly as much as $30,000, authorities said.

SPUD TALK: Ethics vs. Dollars

It was ethics versus American taxpayers' dollars as the senate argued whether it would be honest for congress to remove the price supports already promised on the 1950 potato crop. AS ALMOST every schoolboy knew, the government's potato program was one of the most jumbled, fantastic, reason-assaulting procedures ever evolved in the U. S. Farmers were being paid a subsidy on potatoes to compensate them for market price differentials, each year the potato surplus was growing, and farmers were permitted to buy back the subsidized potatoes as low as one cent per hundred pounds for use as fertilizer. And all this in the face of world food shortages and a real need for the surplus potatoes by local relief agencies and school lunch programs over the nation. ODDLY ENOUGH, many Republicans were stringing along with the let-not-destroy-subsidies thinking, with Sen. Scott Lucas, Illinois, Democratic floor leader, sponsoring a move to cancel price supports for all 1950 potatoes not already planted. Republicans favoring retention of the 1950 subsidy plan included Senators Brewster, Maine, Aiken, Vermont, and Millikin, Colorado.

Lucas was on firm ground as far as economy and mathematics went. Already the record showed, the U.S. is in the red 100 million dollars for price support operations on the 1949 crop alone. Lucas jibed at Republicans for talking about the need for economy and then opposing his potato-curb legislation.

Too much attention to name-calling and too little attention to issues. That's the way O. John Rogge, former assistant attorney general of the United States, summed up the trouble with the new Progressive party of which Henry Wallace—one-time vice-president of the United States—is the chief figure.

OVER THE FIELDS AND FARTHER AWAY

For years, farm families have wanted to be able to call nearby towns where they deal and have friends—without paying toll charges. Michigan Bell's "extended area service" is designed to eliminate toll charges between certain towns which have developed a natural community of interest. Nearly 500,000 Michigan Bell customers in some 180 exchanges now enjoy this new service, and it's being extended to more areas every month.

THIS LITTLE PIGGY WENT TO MARKET

And the chances are, he was assisted in his journey by the telephone. For farmers find the telephone invaluable in checking the market, selling and ordering supplies. Every day the telephone saves valuable time that can be profitably devoted to the farm. Yet with all the help it gives... with all the comfort and convenience it brings... a telephone costs less than a half gallon of gasoline a day.

THE WORLD'S FAR CORNERS... IN YOUR HOME

If you were to visit the countries that provide all the materials that go into the various parts of your telephone, you'd be a world traveler. India for mica. Mexico for lead antimony. Brazil for caruba wax from palm leaves. Western Electric, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System, searches the far corners of the world for materials to give you the best possible telephone equipment and service.

Bowling News

After 46 couples finished bowling in the Annual Mixed Doubles Tournament, Ruby McDonald and Cy Wing from Cadillac were in the lead with a 1269 count, 7 pins better than the total shot by Betty and Greg Boswell, whose 1262 still holds 2nd place. Jennie and Norm Bartlett rolled a 1258 series to give them 3rd place, while Billie and Paul Burnett of Central Lake hold 4th with 1241. There will be two squads Friday night for the local bowlers who were unable to compete in the tournament last Sunday. The first squad Friday will be at 7:30 and the second squad at 9:15 p. m.  Quality Food 53 39
 Bachmann's 52 44
 Cal's Tavern 51 44

Brock's Turkey Farm, with Bill Taylor having high three for the Canners on 511, while the best effort for Brock's was Wally Peacock's 453. St. Joseph and State Bank postponed their match because of sickness.

In the race for tops in the Ladies League Metal Products is leading the State Bank by a single point. Norm's Tavern dropped the Metal Products, 3-1, while the State Bank was splitting with Bachmann's as the latter won total points by one to keep the Bankers from tying the leaders. Dress and Gift Shop can move into a tie for 2nd spot if they win 4 points from Modernizing in their postponement, while Quality Food can move within striking distance with a 4 point win over Cal's Tavern in their postponement. Only 2 other matches were bowled in the regular league schedule with Rainbow Bar winning 3 from Central Lake Torch, while Cal's Tavern and St. Joseph split 2 points each. Mickey Hamerski led the league in both departments with a 200 for high single and 515 series for high three as she added games of 169 and 146 to her 200 start.

In the Inter-City League Chris's Men's Wear were unable to bowl as Ray's Barbers could not appear, but the Recreation won 3 points over Wolf's Refrigerators so Chris's has to win 3 to stay in a tie for the league leadership. Faas Foods and Howard's Service split

The two local traveling teams will journey to Frankfort and Beulah for games with the Gamble Stores of Frankfort and Timber Products of Beulah, Sunday, March 19th.

HOW MUCH IS ONE RESCUE WORTH?

A tiny hand above the water. Then slowly, slowly it sinks. But there is time—still time—if only someone is near, someone who knows what to do. A twelve-year-old boy, a woman, an old man—anyone, if only he knows.

And the wonderful thing is that there are millions who do know what to do and how to do it. Last year alone, you—through your Red Cross—made it possible to train more than a half-million people in water safety. Another 56,600 were authorized as instructors in water safety and first aid. It is estimated that 18,000,000 have had training in first aid and water safety through your Red Cross.

Many of these people are able to save human life—priceless human life. How much is this ability worth? It's hard to say—unless it is someone you love who has been rescued.

Your contributions to your Red Cross can help carry on this training program, help take it to new areas that need it. Give now—it may save a life sooner than you think.

You, too, can help through Your RED CROSS

NEW IDEAS CAN SAVE TIME FOR BUSY HOMEMAKER

Minutes saved add up to hours saved and those hours saved quickly add up to more leisure time for homemakers. And even those jobs that you think you have simplified down to the least possible effort and time may be cut even more.

Esther Everett, home management instructor at Michigan State College, makes a few suggestions that over a period of time will add up to more free time for you.

For example, you may have used the electrolytic method of cleaning silver and thought it time-saving, but have you heard the latest about that? Putting soft water in a shiny aluminum pan with one teaspoon of salt and one of soda for each quart brightens countless pieces of non-soldered silver with one minute of boiling.

It's a quick and easy method but one must scour the pan to make it bright again. If you substitute a porcelain enamel pan with a piece of aluminum foil that can touch each piece of silver, you'll have bright silver and no pan to scour.

Even coring lettuce can be simplified. A stout rap of the core on a hard surface will break it free so that it can be lifted from the head. Loosening the leaves with tepid water makes the job a simple one.

HOMEMAKERS NOTES
Are ladders and steps around the home well-built and kept in good repair? This is an important safety measure.

Let rhubarb give your winter-time meals a flavor lift. Forced rhubarb is on the market well ahead of the garden season and will prove a real spring tonic for everyday menus. Michigan produces quantities of this crop, advises Roberta Hershey, Michigan State College home economist.

Do you avoid leaving oil-saturated or paint rags lying around? You need at least a serving daily of food groups of citrus fruits, tomatoes, raw cabbage and salad greens. This group is your best vitamin C source reports Winston Osborn, Michigan State College home economist.

As a source of vitamins, milk is not excelled by any other single food. It is an excellent source of vitamin A and riboflavin, a fair source of other B vitamins. It should be used as a part of balanced meals but not as the sole diet.

Eggs are on the plentiful list and can help your food budget these days. You can serve omelets in a variety of ways and can dress them up with sauces. To make a flat omelet, blend all the ingredients together. For a fluffy one, beat the yolks and whites separately. Eggs will whip more quickly to greater volume if they are at room temperature.

Wolverine Boy's State
Wolverine Boy's State is not a school room activity, but is designed as a practical experience for the boys who attend, in the problems of self government as is in operation in Michigan. It is not meant to take the place of the course in Civics or Government as taught in the high schools of the state, but is planned so that the boys may put into actual practice the theories of American Government as taught in the class room through the actual control of the city, county and state offices as organized under the plans of the "Mythical 49th State".

The American Legion has interested itself in practically every worthwhile activity of community service carried on by other organizations throughout the United States. Boy's State was originally and is primarily a Legion sponsored program, yet we invite every patriotic and civic organization interested in a better citizenry, to co-operate with the American Legion in developing the ideals of democracy and its relation to the individual lives of each and every citizen.

East Jordan boys who have attended Boy's State in the past are Bill Kamradt, now a student at Michigan State College, East Lansing; Bob Benson, a student at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor; Glenn Persons and Don Karr, seniors of the class of 1950 at East Jordan High School.

Due to the American Legion's building program and its large indebtedness, it will be necessary that every loyal citizen aid in financing this worthwhile project. So that every person may aid and also enjoy a pleasant evening, the American Legion will sponsor a Saint Patrick's Day Bingo at their new home Friday night, March 17, 1950. The proceeds to aid in the expense of sending two boys to Boy's State.

tipped over, and drowned. Later the widow sued the owner of the boat-house for damages, saying that he had been negligent in renting a boat to a man smelling of whiskey. However, the court held the proprietor not liable. The judge said that the man didn't have to turn away everybody who had something to drink—so long as the person wasn't so drunk as to be helpless.

A woman sued a used car dealer for fraud, accusing him of selling her a "lemon." At the trial, the woman's attorney kept emphasizing how poor his client was—and how rich the dealer was. When the jury brought in a verdict in favor of the woman, the dealer appealed the case. And the upper court threw out the verdict, ordering a new trial because of the "improper" comments of the woman's lawyer. The court said: "The law knows no such thing as rich man or poor man, but seeks to treat all alike."

Cooling Off Period

May a Storekeeper Post The Name of a Customer Who Owes Him Money?

A penny-pinching widow ran up a large bill at her neighborhood drug store—and then refused to pay. Finally the druggist decided on drastic action. He posted in his front window a huge sign, headed by the name of the widow. Below her name, the sign read: "This woman owes me $111.20 which should have been paid long ago. This sign will stay here until she pays." The widow was outraged, and promptly sued the druggist for damaging her good name. And the court granted her claim. The judge said that, even though the sign was true, it still invaded the widow's "right of privacy"—by putting her private affairs on public display.

May You Strike An Adversary—After a "Cooling Off" Period?

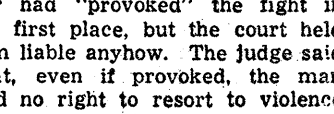

While sprinkling his front lawn, a man accidentally got a little water on his neighbor's car. The neighbor rushed up cursing, and announced he was ready for a fight. The first man turned around, walked into his house, and got a baseball bat from the attic. Then he returned to the scene of the argument and calmly smacked his neighbor over the head! Injured, the neighbor sued for damages. The hitter protested that the neighbor had "provoked" the fight in the first place, but the court held him liable anyhow. The judge said that, even if provoked, the man had no right to resort to violence after he had enough time to "cool off."

If a Boxing Fan Fails To Use His Ticket, Is He Entitled to a Refund?

A Montana farmer arrived in New York one day with a ticket to a championship boxing match. It was his first visit to the Big City, and he had come just to see the fight. But when he got to the stadium, he was utterly baffled by the many gates, ramps, and signs. After several unsuccessful attempts to get inside, the poor fellow gave up in despair and started back so Montana! Later he filed a lawsuit seeking to hold the boxing promoter liable for his frustrating experience. He demanded not only the price of the ticket but also his train fare to and from New York! However, the court rejected the claim in its entirety. The judge said that, if the man couldn't find his way into the stadium, it was just his own tough luck!

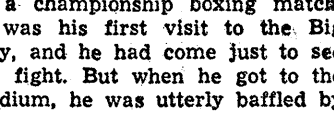

May the Owner of a Boathouse Rent a Boat to a Person Who Smells of Whiskey?

A salesman went to a beach club one afternoon and had a couple of drinks. Then he decided it would be nice to take a rowboat ride on the lake. He rented a boat at the nearby livery, and set forth alone. About 500 yards out, he stood up,

HOW TO SPRAY:
The new supplement for the spraying calendar for control of insects and diseases in orchards is now available, Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent, announced today. Copies of the supplement may be obtained from Boyne City.

The supplement replaces only pages 46 through 55 of the spraying calendar (Michigan State College Extension Bulletin 154) used by fruit growers last year. Material in the 1949 spraying calendar 1 through 45 is still valid and should be used in conjunction with the 1950 spraying schedules, the agent explained.

Issuing a word of warning to those spraying fruit, the county agent suggested that accidents be avoided and that directions on the label of each container be read before it is opened. He also suggested that no new material should be used under any consideration unless its dangers are understood and all precautionary measures are followed.

Parathion is one of the new materials that will be used extensively in 1950. Agent Rebman warns that this is highly dangerous to the user unless handled properly. Information on the time to use spray materials will be made available by the county extension office through newspapers and letters.

DAIRY QUEEN:
Charlevoix county will have its own dairy queen that will compete against queens in Antrim, Otsego, Montmorency, Alpena, Crawford, Presque Isle, Cheboygan, Emmet, and Kalkaska during April in order that the district queen may be chosen. Then in May, the 10 district queens will meet in Lansing so that the judges may choose the state dairy queen for Michigan. Any girl with a farm background, between the age of 17 and 20 years may compete in this contest. To make your application, just send your name, address and age to Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent, at Boyne City as soon as possible. Contestants will be notified later where to assemble in order that the county queen

The Living Faith

Lesson for March 19, 1950

MANY a funeral sermon has been preached over the Christian church, but somehow the corpse never stays put. What keeps it going? All sorts of explanations have been given by unsympathetic outsiders. The church (we are told) is an upper-class hobby, or a lower-class opiate; it is a social club, it is a burial society; it panders to pride, or it is a perverse form of self-torture; it is kept alive by a well-run organization. Such explanations do not explain. The truth is at heart quite simple: The church is kept alive by faith. What is Christian faith, the faith of the church? A study of the Scripture for this week, or a broader search through the New Testament from end to end, will convince any impartial reader of the falsehood of some of the notions about what Christian faith is.

Dr. Foreman

Some have claimed that it is nothing but faith in the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. Let the reader try to find this in the New Testament if he can. If you had said this to an early Christian, he would have replied along this line: That is just the problem—how can we become sons of God? How can men achieve brotherhood? Others tell us that faith is belief in a series of doctrines.

Let the reader search the New Testament and see if he can find there anything about faith in a creed. Sometimes this notion takes another form—that faith originally was a belief that Jesus' beliefs were true; in other words, that faith is accepting the "religion of Jesus."

Now the church from the beginning believed that Jesus' thoughts were true thoughts; but faith was never a simple second-hand acceptance of any one's creed, not even that of Jesus. The faith we find in the New Testament is none of these things. Still less is it faith in the saints, in Mary, or in an "infallible" church.

Faith: Not About, But In . . .
THE FAITH that broke out in glorious light in those early days of the church, and has continued shining down through the centuries, was not belief about anything or anybody, it was belief IN Some One; and that Some One was Jesus Christ.

There is a simply astonishing variety of ways in which he is spoken of in the New Testament. He is Son of Man, he is teacher and healer, he is the first-born of many brothers; he is Priest and Sacrifice, he is the Propitiation, the Reconciler of men to God; he is Master and Lord, he is the Word—that is, what God has to say to us; he is the Son of God, he sits on the throne of the universe, he will judge every man.

To put it quite bluntly, the church believed (and still believes) in a supernatural Christ and not only in a human Jesus. They believed in him as a teacher, as the Teacher indeed; but not merely as one whose teachings had been interrupted by an untimely death. They did not "play down" his death, on the contrary they played it up.

Christ crucified for us is always strongly in their minds. But they were far from leaving him as it were on a crucifix. Any form of Christianity that thinks of Jesus chiefly as a Christmas baby; or a stary-eyed idealist; or as a pathetic figure hanging on a crucifix is a perversion of New Testament ways of thought. Everywhere in the center is the Christ who "was dead and is alive forevermore."

There Is No Other
A YOUNG MOSLEM who became a Christian and is very happy about it, was asked what it was that changed him, for Moslems are hard to change. It was not an argument, he said, it was the lives of some missionaries in Iran whom he knew.

He wanted what they had—it was as simple as that. And he went on to say this: "Christianity doesn't have much in theology that Mohammedanism doesn't have. There is just one thing Christianity has that we didn't have, nor anything like it: Jesus Christ."

That is what—that is who wins men today, and that was the secret of the early church, and that is the secret today of the living church everywhere: Christ alive by faith in the lives of those who love him.

The School Bell . . .

FIRST Grade — Mrs. Brooks
Those who were not absent during the last six weeks period are: Virginia Donaldson, Judy Gokee, Francis Hayes, Cathryn Kamradt and Loretta Sineway. There are also several who missed only one day during this time. Our new period is beginning with much sickness. We are sorry to lose Janet Sutton. She, with her family, is moving to Chicago. Group I is happy to be reading "Our New Friends". Spring is coming! Bright colored robins have already come to our room.

SECOND and THIRD Grades — Adeline Bowerman
Our group is very interested in a study of Japanese people, their homes, customs, schools, their contribution to the world, etc. Some very interesting things have been brought for our exhibit including, a kimono, shoes, chopsticks, fans, flags, money, dishes, pictures and trinkets made in Japan. Many of the children have been studying about Japan in their Sunday School lessons and have pictures and stories to help us.

After reading about puppets in our reading books, the third graders had fun making heads of clay for hand puppets. Some interesting puppet conversations were carried on in language class. The third graders are having fun with multiplication and have the 2's and 3's mastered. We have spent a lot of time mastering the addition and subtraction combinations and the process of carrying and borrowing.

We are very interested in kite flying and are considering organizing a kite-flying contest for second and third grades.
THIRD Grade — Marie Hughes
Gloria Richards and Jimmy Galmore celebrated ninth birthdays this month. Jimmy brought each of us a delicious decorated cupcake to celebrate. We enjoyed the treat and sang Happy Birthday to Jimmy and Gloria.
We have ten absent most of the time lately. So many are sick. We are learning to check our own arithmetic papers. Of course we exchange papers. This causes us to be extremely careful in writing our numbers so that other children can read the figures.

FOURTH Grade — Mrs. Galmore
This week we have added four more gold stars to our multiplication chart. Albert Hayes, George Kotalik, Diane Taylor and Karen Touchstone have all their tables learned.
We have had many out with colds or flu. Linda Raymond came back Monday after being out several weeks.

A while ago one of our pupils suggested that we do a play of the story of Cinderella. We are now working on it and hope to give it March 24th. Diane Taylor is working on the part of Cinderella; Betty McRoberts, the Godmother; Armand Drapeau, the prince; Jean Kaley and Glendora Cihak, the ugly sisters; Suzanne Seaman, the stepmother; Rosemary Partee, the queen; and Donald Clark, the king. There are also horses, guards, a coachman and messenger, and all the other pupils will do the folk dance at the ball.
FOURTH Grade — Mrs. Snyder
We have had so many people absent because they are ill that we have not started much new work. We hope they will all be back soon. Three people in our room have not been tardy or absent this year. They are Wanda Gilkerson, Allen Ingalls and Robert Crowell. We think that is a very good record.
Annora Dougherty had her 10th birthday Sunday. We sang Happy Birthday to her on Monday.
We are watching the outdoors for signs of spring. One of the first is all the marble playing going on around the schoolhouse. Wherever a bare spot shows through the snow we see a group of boys intent on winning a pocket full of the treasured glassies.

SIXTH Grade — Alma Larsen
We are beginning to study Germany in Social Studies. We learned that the German people depend on their rulers and army leaders for protection. We also learned that the people in Germany never won the right to govern themselves. How lucky we are in America. Here, the people have a right to govern themselves. — Shirley Matthews and Marilyn Looze.
Last week we saw two movies. One was about "Making Cheese" and how it got its name. Another was "How Glass is Made". Things that go into glass are limestone and sand. It takes a lot of heat to make glass.—Ruth Ann Kratochvil.
In English we are studying the different uses of pronouns.—Kay Klooster.

were absent about the longest and others were absent for two or three days.—Patty Cihak.
The girls in Mrs. Joe Clark's first year sewing class went to her home for luncheon Monday, March 13th. We had a very nice time.—Jean Ann Sherman.
The children in our room sent six cents each for bird pictures and got their money back because the company said they were sending in some other bird pictures free. We are all anxious to see them. We will use them for our bird books in conservation.—Martha Galmore.
In English we are giving reports. We are learning how to look up information in the Book of Knowledge.—Jean Ann Sherman.
We are making a frieze of the "Life in Rome". There are certain committees working on it. There are pictures of horses and bridges, temples, gondolas and the Leaning Tower of Pisa. Ruth Ann Kratochvil made a Leaning Tower of Pisa and Deanna Lehrbass drew an active volcano.—Mary Lou Nyland.
In Arithmetic we are learning about the volume of a cube or box. We have measured many boxes in our room to find their volume or capacities.—Philip Raymond.
Last week for our Art period we made kite posters. Here are the materials we used: white paper, crepe paper, colored paper, string, crayons and a pencil. First we drew pictures of children and the background. Next, we cut out kites of colored paper and put string on them. The string was attached to the children's hands and the kites. Then we made the tails for the kites out of bits of crepe paper and string. They were very attractive.—Deanna Lehrbass.
John Brock, Roy Elsworth and Peggy Walton had birthdays this week. Jerry O'Brien.

From where I sit . . . by Joe Marsh
Handy and Easy Are Both Wrong
Handy Peterson and Easy Roberts got in quite an argument the other day over at Fred's Garage talking about the best spot to fish up at Green Lake.
"Opposite the old sawmill is the best spot," says Handy. But Easy "pooh-pooh's" him. "I've seen the biggest fish caught off Cedar Point," says Easy. "I've been catching them there for years."
Then Fred goes into his office and brings out the biggest mounted rainbow trout you ever saw. "Bet that was caught at the sawmill," comments Handy. "Cedar Point," says Easy. "Well," says Fred, "you're both wrong. I caught this baby right out in the middle!"
From where I sit, there are always two (or more) sides to every story. Let's live and let live in the true American tradition of tolerance. Your opinion is worth a lot, but so is the other fellow's—whether it's on politics, the best fishing spots, or whether he likes a temperate glass of beer and you like buttermilk.
