First Presbyterian Church Edward O. DeHaven, Pastor

This week is the most outstanding and important week in the Christian Calendar. For centuries now this week has been the high-point of Christian thinking and living. For this week we come to the realization of the fact that has changed history, and whether or not we think too long on it, it still remains true that you and I are what we are today because of this fact of life. Namely, that God was in Christ Jesus, reconciling the world unto Himself.

This week we commemorate the ultimate giving of His life that we might know and believe and thus for ourselves find a way of life that answers for us our deepest longings and summons from our best efforts. Let's forget the bunnies and bonnets of Easter and set our thoughts on the real message of this week. Let's forget the pagentry and parade and think what it means to each of us. The churches of our community will bring you this message this week in the services they have planned. Though they be traditional in their keeping, yet in each of them there is but one purpose, and that is that you, personally, shall find a renewal of your faith and an answer to your need. Let us come in this spirit and there will be blessings for you.

On Thursday, April 6, Holy Communion will be celebrated in the Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p. m. Even as Christ called His disciples to eat the Passover feast with Him, so He calls us to this sacred remembrance of His giving Himself that we too shall be delivered from the bondage of sin. The theme for our meditation will be, "Thou shalt find a room, furnished."

GOOD FRIDAY SERVICE

On Good Friday, April 7, the churches of this community will unite in a Good Friday service to be held in the Presbyterian church beginning at 2:00 p. m. This service is in sacred remembrance of His death on the Cross. The theme of this service will be, "I Find No Fault In Him".

SUNRISE SERVICE

The Youth Fellowship of the Methodist & Presbyterian churches are presenting an early Sunrise Service in the Presbyterian church Easter morning at 7:00 p. m. This will be a devotional service. We very often hear only fragments of the Easter Story and seldom do we hear the entire story as recorded in the Gospels. This Sunrise Service will present the entire story together with music and devotional services. This can easily be the beginning of an inspiring day of services in our churches. You are invited and urged to attend this service.

EASTER WORSHIP SERVICE

Following the Sunday Church service, the Easter Worship Service begins at 11:00 a. m. During this service the sacrament of Baptism will be administered to infants.

SECRET CANTATA

The Choir will sing a sacred cantata entitled, "Housanna", Sunday evening at 8:00 in the church. This is a fitting conclusion to a joyous Easter Day.

Third Annual Minstrel Show at H. S. Gym Wednesday

EAST JORDAN ROTARY AGAIN SPONSORING THE EVENT

Next week on Wednesday night East Jordan's Rotary Club will draw the curtains on the third annual sorties in the realm of minstrelsy. This year's production bids fair to top by far all previous efforts and promises an evening of unusual and entertaining fun. This year the Rotary has joined forces with the Charlevoix Chapters of the SPEBSQSA, including Barber Shoppers from Boyne City, Charlevoix and East Jordan, and the combined talent of all these groups provides top talent for each of the key spots. It is safe to predict that this will indeed be a show to remember.

In addition the standbys of the oldtime minstrels—the Interlocutor, the endmen, the specialists and the soloists—1950's production will feature SPEBSQSA's splendid ensemble, The Snowbelt Chorus, under the able direction of Loton Willson. This group has received enthusiastic acclaim at every appearance and their growing fame is fully merited.

Rotary has ear-marked the proceeds of the engagement for the advancement of their East Jordan Youth Project which they hope will soon become an important full time factor in our community's development and growth. Certainly it is a cause that we may all heartily support and help in making it a reality. Tickets are now on sale by all Rotary members or may be bought at the box office on the evening of the show at the High School Auditorium.

Rigid Enforcement of State Open Fire Law Conservation Dept. Warns

Rigid enforcement of the revised state open fire law will start with the spring forest fire hazard period, the conservation department warns.

The law now provides that a person who willfully or negligently causes a damaging fire is liable for all expenses incurred by the state in suppressing, over and above services of regular personnel and equipment.

The law still specifies that a person who starts a brush, grass or any other type of open fire, except for domestic purposes, without a permit, is subject to a maximum fine of $100 and/or 90 days in jail. The department's forest fire service also calls attention to the fact that a burner may be sued for damages in event a fire spreads to another person's property.

Permits are required as soon as snow leaves the ground, creating general hazard conditions. Conservation and forest fire officers are required to use their own discretion as to when to issue burn- ing permits in a given area.

Besides reducing the grass and forest fire toll, the service hopes to cut down on needless, expensive fire runs. When an officer is aware of a small, controlled fire under permit, fire fighters will not be rushing out on unnecessary calls and will be available for real emergencies.

Cancer Control Month A PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR

Whereas: The fearsome disease, cancer, represents a serious problem in the City of East Jordan, as it affects on the average one of every two families in our city;

Whereas: It is known measures can be taken to cut down the present cancer death-rate, easing the tragedy for individuals and lightening the community burden of the great social and economic losses resulting from this high death rate;

Whereas: Cancer Control, to be effective, must be the vital concern of each and every one of us, therefore, I, Marvin R. Benson, Mayor of the City of East Jordan, hereby proclaim April as Cancer Control Month and request that the citizens of this city observe it as such. I request that all individuals—for the protection of themselves and their loved ones—learn the essential facts about this disease. I further request that all individuals, institutions, businesses, and organizations support, cooperate with and assist the American Cancer Society in the 1950 Cancer Crusade.

In the Merchant's league, Somerville's Grocery, top average team in the league, broke all season records when they topped the pins for games of 938-961-993-2892. Their last game of 993 is tops for the league as well as the 2892 being top series. Leo Somerville had high single game in the match with the Legion finishing with 234 for an even 600 series, while Chris Taylor opened with 203, then came in with a 230 and ended up with 191 for 624, which was tops for the night. Spin Cihak added another 600 series to their cause, getting 222-170-210 for 602. Brother Monk Cihak had 574, finishing with a 200, and Whizzer Gee, suffering from a severe cold, added 492. Oddly enough they took high team game and high team series from the Legion, the team they were taking all four points from Monday. The Legion didn't give up too easily as they had a 955 middle game when Jay Hite had 202 and Cy Dolezel, 203. Cy added 195 and 198 to get 596, top series for his team. The 4 point win put Somerville's in the running for first place as Thorsen's Lumber dropped 3 points to Brock's Turkey Farm as they lost the last game by four points and total by five pins. "Andy" Anderson topped the Lumberjacks with 528, while Brock Peacock had 525 for the Turkey Growers. Hillman's Insurance moved into a tie for first place with a 3 point win over Monarch Finer Foods, as John DeYoung had 591 for Hillman's and Ike Rood had 526 for the losers. Ike's middle game of 244 was top single game for the night.
Rev. J. J. Malinowski led his

St. Joseph team to a 3 point win over the Recreation with a 581 series on Games of 187-204-190. Barney Adair topped the Recreation with 572, while Cliff Bradshaw added 563 with a 231 middle game. The E. J. Canning Co. added 4 points to their win column as they downed Ellsworth Electric with consistent games of 868-863-882. All but John Atkinson had 500 for the Cannors and he was only 3 pins short, while Alex Sinclair, just back from Florida, had high series with 537. Pat Bartsch was high for the Electric's, narrowly missing triplicate scores as he shot 184-184-186. Bill Swoboda led the Bankers to a 3 point win over Cal's Tavern as he sandwiched 221 between games of 174 and 183 for a 578 series. Greg Boswell finished with a 233 game to give the Bankers a 963 game. Every member of the Bank team had over 500. Joe Wilkins was tops for Cal's with 518, which included a 224 starter.

With only 5 more nights to go, it looks like every Monday night will be a big one with plenty of excitement for the bowlers and spectators.

Metal Products added 2 points to their lead in the Ladies league as they won 4 points from St. Joseph's, while the best Dress and Gift Shop and the State Bank could do was to split points with Rainbow Bar and Central Lake Torch. Bachmann's, Central Lake, dropped Cal's Tavern with a four point win to move up to fourth place, 8 points off the lead. Quality Food won 3 points from Norm's Tavern and Home Modernizing, the cellar dwellers, continued their winning ways with a 3 point win over Art Cleaners. Marge Gee won high game honors for the week with a big 210, while Minnie DesJardins had high series which included games of 115-168-209 for 492.

Ladies League Standings:

The Recreation continues to lead the Inter-City league as they downed Howard's Service, Central Lake, while Wolf's Refrigeration, Charlevoix, took 3 points from Chris's Men's Wear. Ray's Barbers won all four points from their Central Lake rivals, Faas Foods. Barney Adair had high series for the league, a 589, while Jim "Rocket" Lilak had a high single with 221.

Bowling in the Traveling league was featured by the 265 game of Greg Boswell. This is high single game for the year. His big game came right after Barney Adair had tied the previous high game with 257. Both local teams won 6 out of 8 points from the visitors, Ferris Beverage, Ludington, and Home Oilers, Scottville. The Recreation Travelers took Scottville in the afternoon and Ludinton in the evening, while Norm's Tavern reversed the schedule and continued to make their bid for the championship of the league, as Evert Merchants dropped 4 points to Reed City and Big Rapids. Since all the scores have not yet been received it is impossible to give the standings at this time, but as it looks now the Recreation will move up to 4th place, only 7 points behind Norm's Tavern in 1st place. Greg Boswell topped the scoring for the week with his 640 series which included the 265 game, but for consistent shooting John Gudas from Scottville took the honors with 607 in the afternoon and 611 in the evening.

Keeping Michigan industry in Michigan has become one of the biggest post-war problems before the Michigan Department of Economic Development, a new promotional state agency set up by Kim Sigler.

Because of the interest taken by this state news-letter in the development of new industries for Michigan small towns, the "Michigan Mirror" writer was privileged recently to view a presentation made by the state department in the interest of a proposed $250,000 industrial advertising fund to be raised by industry itself.

A group of 50 business leaders gathered recently at Michigan State College with the State Economic Development Commission to study the problem. Other states are spending large sums of money to woo industry into their borders. While the Department of Economic Development, cooperating with local chambers of commerce and utilities, has been successful in attracting many new industries to Michigan, there has been a noticeable migration of industry from Michigan to other states.

Don Weeks, acting director of the state department, presented the program to the group in the form of large charts. The group is headed by Walker L. Cisler, executive vice-president of the Detroit Edison Company. Dan Gerber, president of the Gerber Baby Food Company, Fremont, presided at the meeting. Cisler's group includes representatives of manufacturing, banking, public utilities, organized labor, retail business and community groups.

"One of the biggest problems is keeping Michigan companies in Michigan," said Weeks in presenting the charts.

"In recent years and in recent months Michigan has suffered severe losses."

industries which have moved away from Michigan is taken from the official record of the State Department of Economic Development, as presented to the citizens' group:

American Lady Corset Co., moved from Detroit to Greenville, N. C.

Diamond Power Speciality Co., moved from Detroit to Lancaster, Ohio.

Ampco Twist Drill moved from Jackson to Greenfield, Mass.

Armour Leather Co., moved from Holland to Chicago, Ill.

Fruehauf Trailer Co., moved from Detroit to Avon Lake, Ohio.

Helms Industrial Company moved from Grand Rapids to Birdsboro, Pa.

Mendon Company moved from Mendon to Ligonier, Ind.

Koppers Company moved from Reed City to Virginia.

Lake States Products moved from Jackson to Cleveland, Ohio.

Potts Machine Company moved from Jackson to Chicago, Ill.

Hyde Spring, Lisbon, Ohio, still operating in Detroit.

Clayton-Lambert Company moved from Detroit to Louisville, Ky.

Eureka-Williams Corporation moved from Detroit to Bloomington, Ill.

Crest Industries moved part of their operation to South Carolina.

Heywood - Wakefield moved from Menominee to Mass.

Chicago Pneumatic Tool moved from Detroit to Utica, N. Y.

Aluminum Fabricators moved from Charlotte to Rome, Georgia.

Precision Parts moved from Ann Arbor to Geneva, Illinois.

Detrola Company moved from Detroit to Kentucky.

"Today 21 other Michigan companies are known to be considering locations in other states," pointed out Mr. Weeks. "In each known case the state department is making every possible effort to hold the company in Michigan."

In reviewing the situation of attracting industries to Michigan, it appears that little attention is given to the problem of keeping industry in Michigan, as illustrated by the above examples of industries which have migrated to other states.

Why have these industries left Michigan?
What were the reasons which promoted manufacturers to close up their Michigan plants and seek employment elsewhere?

In view of the state corporation profits tax, now pending before the state legislature, it would seem that answers to these questions are pertinent to 1950 political issues.

Industries mean payrolls; payrolls mean purchasing power in the community. It is obvious that the industrial prosperity of Michigan must depend to a large degree upon making Michigan an attractive place to work and live.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Billion Dollars Cut From ECA Fund By House Foreign Relations Group; Truman Plans Speaking Campaign

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

FOREIGN AID: Billion Lopped

Whether it portended a more realistic view toward European recovery needs, or was just symptomatic of a seasonal purse-tightening effort on the part of some congressmen, there were major headlines in the fact that the house foreign affairs committee lopped a billion dollars off foreign aid requests for next year.

Slashing a proposal made by President Truman, the committee went on to recommend that the existing gap in foreign relief be filled with U.S. farm surpluses.

THAT WOULD make sense to most Americans, probably, except those so energetically and enthusiastically committed to foreign aid without any limit or restrictions, that they brand as narrow isolationists anyone who argues that U.S. welfare ought to be considered along with welfare of other nations.

Paul G. Hoffman, foreign recovery administrator, was unable to say immediately what effect the foreign aid plan slash would have. He said he would prefer to study the proposal and ascertain what kind of farm surpluses the government has in its bins, and whether Europe needs them.

HE SAID he already knows these surpluses include wheat, cotton and tobacco. A house committee member also named these three and added corn, oats, barley, fats, oils and dairy products. No mention was made of the huge surpluses of potatoes and eggs which America also has on hand.

Hoffman, who most likely would end up opposing surpluses in lieu of cash, would be hard put, it appeared, to make the average American believe that a war-ravaged Europe couldn't use, or didn't need, such items as eggs, potatoes, corn, fats oils and dairy products. There are many American families right here at home who would be delighted if they ever had a sufficiency of any of these items.

RED CURBS: Caution Urged

The federal justice department has warned congress to "move with caution" in acting on anti-Communist legislation, some of which, the department said, would "inflict punishment on named groups without jury trial."

THUS the nation is treated to the ironical paradox of having the restrictions of its own constitution prevent an action designed at preserving and protecting that constitution.

As an example, Peyton Ford, assistant to U.S. Attorney General McGrath, told the house un-American activities committee "it is by no means certain" that the constitutionality of such legislation could be upheld.

AS ALMOST every schoolboy knows, the constitution was kicked around plenty during the days immediately preceding World War II on the pretext that such violations were for the "safety of the nation."

It seems regrettable, then, that a little leeway couldn't be taken by these same patriots when it comes to preserving the "safety of the nation" when war again is openly talked and envisioned.

RENT CONTROL: Soon to Go?

Federal rent controls soon would be a thing of the past, if a particular action of congress could be construed as an indication—and it was so construed by everyone in Washington.

CONGRESS gave the President a broad hint that there may not be any rent controls after June 30, when it sent to him a money bill that included funds earmarked to pay off employees of the rent control agency.

The senate completed legislative action on the measure—a 783 million dollar deficiency bill—to provide extra money for various federal agencies for the year ending in June.

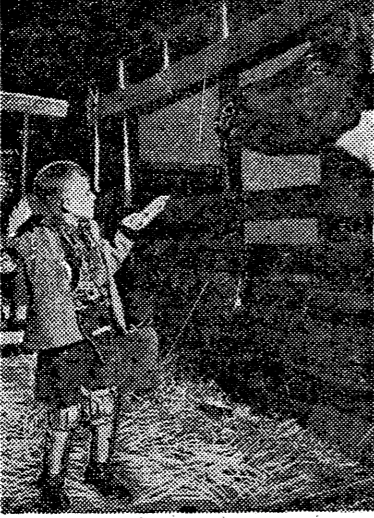

INCLUDED in the measure was four million dollars for the office of housing expeditor Tighe E. Woods. Of that amount, more than two and one-half million was to be used to pay for the terminal leave of employees. The other 1.25 was for operating expenses for which Woods had asked 3.6 millions.

LEOPOLD: Storm & Strife

The future appeared rugged for ex-King Leopold of Belgium and almost as rugged and surely as uncertain for his troubled country. The fight to restore Leopold to the Belgian throne, which he abdicated when the German hordes overran Belgium, had become a bitter one.

The monarchists won a victory at the polls on a referendum on restoration of the monarchy.

Easter Seal Child

Six-year old Russell Miller, Columbus, Ohio, the 1950 Easter Seal Child selected by the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, feeds a horse on a neighbor's farm. Russell, has had cerebral palsy since birth.

EASTER SEALS: Help a Child

The generosity of the American people during the 1950 Easter Seal campaign, which ends April 9, will help bring new life and hope to many crippled children.

SIX-YEAR-OLD Russell Miller knows that, as does his family, for Russell, who has had cerebral palsy since birth, is now able to start walking by himself—because of the help and treatment he received through the auspices of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults. He was chosen the "Easter Seal Boy for 1950" because he typifies the thousands of crippled children who have been similarly helped through this organization.

This year's Easter Seal, which symbolizes the conquest of a handicap by a crippled child, shows a small boy abandoning his crutches and starting to walk by himself.

RUSSELL is a handsome boy, with bright and friendly eyes. He is eager to learn and does everyday chores, despite his handicap. At home he is an accepted member of the family and does not expect or receive any special privileges.

But, if it were not for the guidance of medical specialists, the determination of his mother that he would walk and play again like other children, specialized care and other Easter Seal services he received, Russell's resulting rapid progress certainly would never have taken place.

The American people were reminded that during the Easter Seal sale, no job and no contribution would be too small to do its share in helping crippled children walk again.

PRESIDENCY: All Aboard!

President Truman was getting ready to hit the trail again with his gospel of the need for electing and reelecting Democrats. It was believed his spring and fall campaign tour would match the intensity of his 31,500-mile "give-em-hell" campaign of 1948.

PLANS were for Mr. Truman to hit the road early in May for a rear-platform speaking swing that would carry him into Washington state about May 11 for the dedication of Grand Coulee dam. It would wind up with a "fighting political talk" in Chicago stadium the night of May 15 at a giant Democratic rally.

The trip will include "off-the-cuff" talks to crowds around the railroad tracks to and from the west coast, and plugs for Democratic candidates and Fair Deal measures.

For the fall campaigning, an even longer, more intensive tour is being planned, for then the President will go into a score or more of states to slug it out for Democratic congressional candidates.

MR. TRUMAN'S amazing success at this type of political fare is the chief reason, so it is again. Admittedly no orator, the President, nevertheless, did sufficiently well for himself in the 1948 campaign to make it seem logically good strategy to pursue similar tactics this time.

British Get B-29's

The first of American armed aid to Great Britain was between 70 and 80 B-29's which were started for England in ceremonies at Andrews Field, Washington, D.C. Kentucky's Sen. Virgil Chapman represented the senate armed services committee at the exercises. Defense Secretary Louis Johnson declared that the first four bombers which took off "will be followed by a growing volume . . ."

SECURITY: Cries of 'Foul!'

President Harry Truman and Generals George C. Marshall and Dwight D. Eisenhower have no apprehensions about the security status of U.S. state department personnel.

The President declared there was nothing to a rumor that U.S. Chief Justice Fred Vinson was to replace Dean Acheson as state secretary, and the two generals declared that U.S. Ambassador Philip C. Jessup was practically beyond reproach from any angle, but particularly so as regards any taint of communism.

ALL THESE manifestations of support of Acheson and Jessup stemmed from charges by Senator McCarthy that many state department personnel were Communists or leaned strongly toward communism.

Jessup hotly denounced McCarthy's charges as "utterly irresponsible—a blow at American foreign policy," and an actual aid to world communism. Generals Marshall and Eisenhower supported Jessup, Marshall, he said, was "shocked and distressed" by the attack upon Jessup's integrity. Eisenhower said no one who knew Jessup would question "the depth or sincerity" of his devotion to "the principles of Americanism."

Under questioning, Jessup, during his examination admitted that he appeared as a character witness for Alger Hiss, former state department attache convicted of lying when he denied he had slipped out secret U.S. documents to a Soviet spy ring.

BUT at the end of an hours-long session of Capitol Hill, McCarthy still was insisting that if senators could get a look at the complete files on Jessup, "the importance of taking action" would be demonstrated. McCarthy was not permitted to cross-examine witnesses.

As for Secretary Acheson, Mr. Truman thoroughly demolished rumors concerning the former's removal and declared, instead, that Mr. Acheson was running the state department "admirably."

POTATOES:
Again & Again

Another chapter in the dizzy round of potato price supports was in the making if the nation's farmers planned script were completed. For, according to reports reaching federal agricultural department heads in Washington, farmers were shaping a pattern of production that would create another potato surplus and add to an already big supply of livestock and feed grains.

ACCORDING to an agricultural department survey of producers, March 1 planting plans indicated a potato acreage which—at 1948-49 average yields to the acre—would produce 54 million more bushels more than the government goal of 335 million bushels.

Such a crop would make it necessary for the government to spend additional millions of dollars to buy up surplus supplies to support grower prices. Potato price supports already have cost the government about 500 million dollars since 1943 and have led to demands for more rigid controls on future crops.

SO UNREALISTIC was the federal program of potato price support that the cries of condemnation and censure may have some result after all. For instance, the senate had been considering a catch-all farm bill which, among other things, would deny price supports to potatoes grown outside a strict quota system in 1951.

Public indignation was understandable. The pattern of subsidizing expanded potato production with ever-mounting surpluses was causing even the most blasé taxpayers to become irascible about the situation.

Ingrid's Daughter

BERLIN: Up to Reds

If there is any rioting or violence in Berlin during May 27-30, while a Red youth rally is being held, the Communists themselves will have to shoulder the blame and answer for the accounting. That was the word of John J. McCloy, U.S. high commissioner for U.S.-occupied Germany. He declared he saw no need for extra troops, but "we are prepared for trouble, even though we are not seeking any."

Looking Backward . . .

APRIL 2, 1910

Married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Ainslee, Saturday night by Rev. F. Dewey Ehle, Frank A. Kenyon of East Jordan and Miss Clara Ainslee of Charlevoix. After a short trip north Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon will make their home at East Jordan.

The Loveday Opera House was completely destroyed by fire this Saturday morning at a loss of $6,000, with $3,000 insurance. The fire originated around the stage and was first discovered by Mr. Hilliard about 3:00 a. m. The building was owned by D. C. Loveday and under the management of W. A. Loveday. The structure was formerly a skating rink but about eleven years ago was remodeled and has for years been known throughout the theatrical sphere as one of the best show places in Northern Michigan.

Last week R. O. Bisbee, C. J. Bisbee and M. A. Honeywell, all of Bad Axe, visited East Jordan and decided to establish a new bank. The stock will be held by the gentlemen named above and by Mr. A. E. Sleeper, present State Treasurer, who has a large interest in 15 different banking institutions in Michigan. While here they purchased the Miles building on Main St. and as soon as it is vacated it will be converted into an up-to-date banking room suitable for present needs.

Dr. J. A. Macgregor left Wednesday for Grand Rapids where he takes up his new duties as Medical Director of the Keeley Institute.

The ice in Pine Lake disappeared last week and navigation is now open. Work on the steamer, Hum, is being rushed and it will be making its runs next week. Quite a general swap-around is taking place in our business realm. R. F. Steffes has moved his cigar shop to the second floor of the Kimball Block recently occupied by the Herald. Cuson Bros. Laundry is being moved into the Kenny building vacated by Mr. Steffes. Peter Weizuhm's second hand store is being moved into the building vacated by the laundry and Dan Kale has purchased the building occupied by the second hand store and moved his lunch-counter and billiard room into same. As yet the first floor of the Jepson building, occupied by Mr. Kale, has not been spoken for.

Due to long illness of Mrs. Swafford, the truancy work for some time rested with Miss Stewart. Finally however, Mrs. Swafford insisted on the acceptance of her resignation, stating that she would probably never again be able to do the strenuous work of either city or county truancy. William Harrington has been appointed in her place, has taken his oath of office and given his bonds as county truant officer.

The sale of stock in the Canning Factory will start April 5th and will continue for one week. At least fifty thousand dollars will be required and must be subscribed within a week. The Board of Trade is going ahead with the canvass of stock.

Peter Murray passed away at his home in Echo Twp. March 15, at the age of 64 years 8 months and 11 days, from an illness of over a year.

David Raney, 78, passed away at his home in this city, March 21, from bronchitis and influenza. He has been ill for a number of years. He was a Civil War veteran.

Mrs. Alfred Bancroft passed away Tuesday at her home in South Arm Twp. from heart trouble.

E. H. Clark, manager of Brezey Point farm is in Petoskey hospital suffering from a broken leg. Last Fall Mr. Clark was caught in a machine and one leg was badly injured. He was just beginning to get out of doors a bit when he slipped and fell, breaking the leg again in the same place.

Sam Richardson this week purchased the George Chapman residence on North Main St.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Holland came, Friday, from Detroit for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holland. They went to Traverse, Wednesday, to visit his brother.

Miss Martha Frieberg, who is teaching at Lansing, is home this week.

Nelson Sherwood of Traverse City this week purchased the Mrs. Bisbee tenant residence on North Main St., known as the Stone house. He plans to move here this coming week and conduct a boarding house.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Jensen celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at their farm home on March 30, 1930. They were married at Tvedstrand, Norway, Mar. 16th, 1880. Nine children were born to them:— Mrs. Joseph Hyatt, Detroit; Mrs. Ray Gunther, Fredric; Miss Josie Jensen and five sons, Thomas and Timothy, Detroit; Elmer, Lawrence and Norman, Ellsworth, were all home for the celebration. Also Mrs. Jensen's oldest brother, Anton Hanson, who was present at the wedding in Norway.

Before an appreciative audience last Monday night at the High School auditorium, the school band and Singing School, under the direction of John TerWee, presented a most excellent program of band music and vocal numbers.

The third annual Mother and Daughter Banquet, given by Jassamine Rebekah Lodge No. 365, at the High School Auditorium last Friday, March 28th, was a big success. Plates were laid for 165.

A program followed the banquet. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Frost and family who have spent the winter in Edenburgh, Texas, arrived at their home here first of the week.

Kiley Bader and family have purchased the Wm. Streeter residence on the West Side.

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Warden, who have been at Adrian for some time, returned first of the week and expect to go back on their farm near East Jordan.

Harold Price, who has been spending some time with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ruhling, left Tuesday for Rockland, U. P., where he has a position with his uncle, Contractor Harry Price.

Mrs. A. F. Wilbur entertained at her home Tuesday, Mrs. Eugene Loughry, Mrs. George Vogg and Mrs. C. C. Friend and daughters of Boyne City.

The Standard Oil Truck, driven by Kiley Bader, struck a rut near the Trimble farm, north of East Jordan, last Saturday. The truck left the highway and landed into a tree smashing the front of the truck. Mr. Bader escaped with only a lacerated hand where a piece of the windshield was driven between two fingers.

With food prices what they are today most mothers have a job feeding their families, yet the government is destroying or throwing away food. For the story of how the government is purposely making food expensive, read "Mother's Taxes," in The American Weekly, great magazine with this Sunday's (April 9) issue Detroit Sunday Times.

Forest Fire on the Lower Michigan National Forest

BY JOHN O. WERNHAM, ASST. FOREST SUPERVISOR

The major timber management job on the Lower Michigan National Forest is to bind the wounds resulting from past forest fires. The fires which occurred in the white pine logging days, from about 1870 to 1910, were the primary cause for damage to residual timber and future timber production.

Fire control has been effective with increasing success for the past three decades. Reasonable control of forest fires is accomplished when less than one-tenth of one percent of the forest land in need of protection is burned annually.

The present annual allowable burn prescribed by this policy amounts to 1,604 acres. In 1949, one of the best years for good control results on this forest, 684 acres were burned over by 101 fires within the fire protection area. The fire control goal for 1950 is to restrict the number of fires to 125 and the area burned to 900 acres. About 99 percent of the fires on this forest are man caused because of carelessness. Natural causes such as lightning occur infrequently; it is readily evident that fire control is best secured by a good program of fire prevention. The best forest fire is one that never started. We must make every effort to enlist the assistance of every forest visitor to be careful with fire. A single fire can easily burn over an area many times larger than one or more annual allowances.

Present fire control equipment and know-how have come a long way since the days of wagon transportation and use of only such tools as the shovel and axe. Additional strides in fire equipment development and fire fighting techniques are continually coming about and more are needed. Regardless of the availability of tractors, mobile water and chemical tankers, aeroplanes, flame throwers, high capacity water pumps, hydraulically controlled, fire line plows, power saws, radios, good trucks, fast detection and highly trained fire fighters, some fires will continue to give real trouble and will threaten to burn large acreages.

The original virgin forest in this part of Michigan consisted of mostly pine or upland sandy soils. The large fires, which followed by early day logging, the primary responsible or the denudation that has required the quarter million acres of man made plantations already established on the Lower Michigan National Forest and the 100,000 acres still in need of planting.

Fire has resulted in reducing productive soil quality for timber growth. All lands, except a minor acreage in the deeper and wetter swamps, have burned on the site of the present National Forest area. Timber grows more slowly and to smaller size on most fire damaged sites. Poorer species of timber are in evidence today than were present in the virgin forests. Results of past forest fires affect the economy of this territory in many ways other than only by reduced utilization of wood products. Later recovering from the ravages of fires, which support scattered and scrubby timber growth, appear less to the aesthetic interest of most recreation seekers than do lands supporting normal healthy timber stands. The romanticism of a cabin in the pines as compared to the lesser beauty of a castle among scrub oaks is obvious. Maintenance and improvement of forest aesthetics means greater dollar income to the recreation industry. Fires destroy woodland aesthetics.

Fires decrease water holding capacities of forest sites. Surface soils are accordingly drier and support poorer tree growth after severe fires. Stream-flow is more intermittent where watersheds have suffered severe fire damage. Barren watersheds and unshaded stream banks yield poor fishing. Lands denuded entirely of timber growth, because of fire, provide unsatisfactory habitat for most animals in which the hunter is interested.

Funds required for fire control work would be useful for developing the forest to obtain greater future production of better timber growth. Until man caused fires are reduced to a negligible minimum, it is essential that large financial expenditures must be continued for fire control work.

It is expected that at least a century must yet elapse before the timber stands on the Lower Michigan National Forest will have recovered from past fires to a point where they will be satisfactorily stocked with acceptable species of commercial value and growing at reasonable rates. In the interim period, timber growth is accelerating and allowable sustained yield timber cutting is expected to increase about one million board feet per year from the present total annual base harvest cut of 15 million board feet.

Technically Innocent
It Ain't What You Say
Living Obligation
By Will Bernard, LL.B.

State laws vary. For personal guidance, see your local attorney.

If You Take Somebody Else's
Gloves By Mistake, Are You
Technically a Thief?

After seeing her husband off at a depot, a woman noticed a pair of gloves lying on a bench. Mistakenly thinking they were her husband's she took them home. The next morning she saw a lost-and-found ad in the newspaper, describing the gloves she had picked up. She thereupon returned them to the owner. Now, it so happened that the owner was a very crotchety individual. Instead of being grateful, he had the woman arrested on a charge of stealing. The man insisted that, technically speaking, anybody who takes someone else's property is a thief. But the court felt otherwise and found the woman not guilty of the charge. The judge said that her "crime" lacked one necessary element: criminal intent.

Should a Person Be Judged
By What He Says—
Or By How He Says It?

A cabbie was hurt in a collision, and sued the other driver for damages. When the motorist was held liable, his lawyer appealed the case to a higher court. The lawyer pointed out that his client had told a smooth, logical story—while the cabbie had used awkward, halting phrases. But the court was not impressed and turned down the appeal. The judges said that even more important than the words themselves are "the furtive glance, the blush of shame, the hesitation, the sneering tone, the yawn, the sigh, the brazen face of the liar, the honest face of the truthful one. A witness may give testimony that reads, in print, as if falling from the lips of an angel, and yet not a soul who heard it believed a word. Another may testify so that it reads brokenly in print, and yet something about him carried the conviction of truth to everyone who heard him speak."

If a Man Dies, Do His Obligations Die Too?

A wealthy broker decided to give his wife a custom-built car, tailored to suit her taste. He placed the order, at a price of $7500, but shortly before the gift was delivered the broker was killed in a plane crash. The executors of his estate flatly refused to pay for the car, arguing that the man's death made it "impossible" to carry out the contract. However, the court disagreed and ordered the auto maker paid in full. The judge pointed out that all the broker had contracted to do was to pay $7500—and his executors could do that just as well as he!

Must You Be Considerate
Of Your Neighbor's Likes and Dislikes?

A young couple who lived on the outskirts of town kept a small hen house in their back yard. As it happened, the lady who lived next door was a very nervous person. The noise and smell from the hens bothered her so much that she finally went to court for a stop-order.

However, the court turned down her request. The judge said the hen house was perfectly lawful in that district, so long as it wasn't offensive to ordinary folk. His Honor added that a home owner need not curb his own activities, just because he happens to have a neighbor who is ultra-sensitive.

A manufacturing firm announced plans to erect a huge electric sign alongside a busy highway—right in front of a sharp curve in the road. The highway commissioners retorted that, if the sign went up, they would build a screen right in front of it! They explained that they didn't want motorists' minds taken off their driving. The manufacturing firm promptly took the matter to court, but the judge ruled that the commission was justified in taking such a step, as a matter of highway safety.

Rain Makers

Back to Laboratories

NEW YORK. — Scientists can make it rain—but they agree that they can't make it any time, any place. So they are going back to their laboratories to see what they can do about it.

The making of rain with dry ice, experiments with which began some three years ago, cannot be done just with any old cloud or at any old place.

The United States weather bureau has recently concluded three rain-making experiments with negative results they got more than a year ago in tests over Ohio when 150 attempts failed to show how to make rain of economic importance to farmers.

Scientific rainmaking, however, has proved one new point beyond doubt — namely, that clouds, their structure, why the rain and why they develop the power to cause disasters are a lot more intricate than has been supposed.

Glenn establish a home and saw mill, later known as Glenn and Porter and still later the East Jordan Lumber Co. His father cleared away stumps and trees and built the John F. Kenny home, where the family lived for a while, then built a long shanty roof building south of the present Sam Colter home on Second St. to live in while he constructed the square upright part of the present Vern Whiteford home, later the lower part of the wing with the help of his four sons finished the home where they lived until in 1906 when the parents and three sisters moved to Washington state.

On Oct. 8, 1906, Ira married Miss Grace Kowalske. They have two sons, Norman and Bruce; and two daughters, Lucille and Virginia. A daughter, Byrnee, died at the age of 17. In 1908 Ira was elected to the Board of Education, serving as chairman and president for 13 years, during this time the schools consolidated.

Ira has been a member of East Jordan Masonic Lodge and the Knights of Pythias for a good many years. He served as District Deputy Grand Chancellor of the Grand Domain of Michigan, K. of P.

He received his entire school education in East Jordan, attending primary school in the first frame school building, located on the corner west of the Presbyterian church, and finished high school in the old "High" building, which was demolished and a one-story Ag. School constructed. This building was burned to the ground and the two-story building replaced it.

In 1895 he became interested in honey production and continued in this interesting work for more than 50 years. He started with a honey extractor that had served several earlier bee keepers, paying for it the sum of $2.00 and a round pump. When he retired in 1945 he had the fastest and most up-to-date equipment in the state. With his three 50-frame radial extractors and his Kellar uncapping machine honey pump and large storage and setting tank, he could load a R. R. box car in 3 days if necessary. During this period he wrote many articles for the trade journals, was called upon to judge the Bee and Honey Exhibits at the Detroit State Fair and gave talks on various phases of bee culture to students at the old MAC at East Lansing.

He became interested in athletics. He took physical magazines and advice on physical education. He did considerable swimming, skating, boxing, bag punching, running, jumping and chest and lung building exercises. He said it wasn't long before he could lift a 90 lb. dumb bell over his head with one arm, tear a pack of cards in quarters, turn hand springs with either hand, leap over a pole or fence five feet high and several other stunts. He says the great out doors was their playground and the sawdust piles the arena and training spots.

Truth About Easter

Lesson for April 9, 1950

"UP THIS WAY," writes a friend in a great city, "the hats and the bunny-rabbits have run away with Easter." The fact is, the world has stolen Easter and made something silly out of it. The world will not believe the truth about Easter, yet the world wants a holiday.

The Man from Mars, visiting our planet at Easter time, would have a hard time guessing what the festival means. Rabbits? New clothes? A Dr. Foreman day off? The return of spring? Not at all, nothing of the sort. Bunnies and hats are gay; but the right word for Easter is not Gaiety, it is Glory.

God's Victory

EVEN IN churches you will not always hear the whole truth about Easter. You may hear that it is the festival of Returning Hope, or that it symbolizes new life, or that it stands for the triumph of faith over despair, or that it expresses our belief in immortality. In a way, all these ideas about Easter are true, but if that is all, then we have not yet got down to the truth about Easter.

The fact is—the fact which gives a solid ground for all these other facts—the first Easter was the day when God raised Jesus Christ from the dead. It was the day of God's victory over death, when the gates of death swung backward and the bars of death were broken.

The truth about Easter is that something happened on that day that never happened before and never will happen again. Because never before had the Son of God risen in personal triumph from the grave, and never will that have to be done over again.

If it were not for that fact, Jesus might have been remembered as a long-dead Jewish teacher, a hopeful but mistaken and defeated teacher, a name to be found only in encyclopaedias. But the truth about Easter is that Jesus is not dead, his hopes were not mistaken, he was not defeated, his Name is above every man! He is the Christian's living Lord.

His Power in Us

THAT STRANGELY TWISTED man Kierkegaard called Christianity "God's attack on man." You could not get that idea from the New Testament.

Marvelous as it is, Christianity is God offering to man the power to rise out of our dead selves, to do for us what we could never have done for ourselves. What has this to do with Easter? Just this: That when the Apostle Paul wants to explain what the power is which God sets at our disposal, what it is like and what it will do, he tells us it is the same power with which God raised Christ from the dead. (See 1 Cor. 6:14; Eph. 1:19,20; 2:6; Phil. 3:10.)

You see the truth about Easter is that it is the day when the Christians celebrate the most tremendous act God ever performed on this planet, or rather that day when God brought to a climax the whole mighty action of the coming and the life and death of Christ. And that is the power which is available for the Christian.

A Christian Is Supernatural

IF ALL YOU WANT of God is to have him do something for you, then you are rather like a baby who keeps crying for someone to bring him more toys... but he stays a baby. If your want of God is to have him do something with you, in you and through you, then you are like a child who really wants to grow up.

The Christian is a supernatural being. As C. S. Lewis puts it, we are not God's little toy soldiers, we are intended to be his sons and daughters.

But if the Christ is the "first-born among many brethren" then here in this life those who accept him have access to the same power that wrought in him. And at the end of life we shall not be afraid, knowing that we belong to the same God who raised our Lord from the dead.

The glory of Easter is not something merely to be remembered or sung about; it is something to be experienced. The same God who conquered death "giveth us victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Winner, Fifth National A.A.A. Traffic Safety Poster Contest

Over 500 young bicycle riders were killed last year in collisions with America's cars, and 30,000 more were injured. Carelessness of the rider and faulty bike mechanism were the two greatest accident causes. In an effort to help cut down child fatalities, Automobile Club of Michigan has distributed 9,000 of the above posters to Michigan schools for use during April. The poster, "Keep Your Bike Repaired," was drawn by a 17-year-old Chicago boy and was a prizewinner in the Fifth National A.A.A. Traffic Safety Poster Contest. Along with the posters went 26,000 safety lessons which will bring bicycle safety education into Michigan classrooms.

Plants In The Home
(By Vaun Ogden)

While it is true that the lily is the Easter flower, Azaleas are becoming more and more popular around this time of year. Lilies show up to great advantage in a church or a large livingroom, but Azaleas fit into a more homey atmosphere. They give you more color; if cared for, they will outlast a lily by far, and they are more symmetrical. This doesn't mean that I don't like Easter Lilies, but I think a nice potted Azalea is one of the prettiest plants for the house. Imagine what whole plantations are like in the south.

There are two main types used for forcing—the Indian Azalea and the Kurume varieties. It is best to buy the plants in the fall. They should be potted in soil composed of half peat and half garden soil, rich in rotted manure. The soil must be acid at all times. Keep the plants cool, from 40-50 degrees, in a light room, and water when dry. In February gradually bring them into a warmer room. They should reward you with a mass of red white or pink blooms.

Last fall Glen Trojanek sent his mother two Azaleas from a West Virginia nursery. They were of the Kurume variety (Hinodegure). One died, but the other is now in full bud. The flowers and leaves will be somewhat smaller than the kinds I get, but there will be more of them.

If you get an Azalea for Easter, keep it as cool as possible, water it quite heavily, spray the leaves every day with clear warm water but try not to spot the blossoms. When it is through blossoming, keep it growing until you can sink it in the ground, where it should be watered every day, and sprayed with water in the evening to discourage red spiders. In September return it to the cool indoors until February again. If the leaves turn yellow, there may be a lack of iron. Place a rusty nail in the soil.

Whether you raise it or buy it, you will get more oh's and ah's from your friends over an Azalea than from any other forced plant I can think of.

CAN FOREST FIRES BE PREVENTED?

LOOK AT THE FACTS. 9 OUT OF 10 FOREST FIRES ARE STARTED BY PEOPLE LIKE YOU! THE MAJOR CAUSE IS CARELESSNESS. SO FOREST FIRES CAN BE PREVENTED IF YOU—AND EVERY OTHER AMERICAN WILL FOLLOW THESE 4 SIMPLE RULES:

Eavesdropping Habit
By Will Bernard, LL.B.

State laws vary. For personal guidance, see your local attorney.

May You Tell a Lie—Without Saying a Word?

A farmer's horse developed a disease that showed no external symptoms but was always fatal. Promptly the farmer decided to sell the animal for "whatever it would bring." Soon he found a likely buyer and gave him a rousing sales talk about the horse. He praised its appetite, its disposition, and its appearance—everything, in fact, except its health! About that, he didn't say a word. The other man was duly impressed, and made the purchase. But a few weeks later the horse died. The buyer realized he had been "taken in," and sued the farmer for fraud. At the trial, the farmer argued that he couldn't be blamed for something he did not say. However, the court disagreed and held him liable. The judge said that, in a situation like this, the farmer's silence was really the same thing as an outright lie.

May a Man Complain About His Wife's Drinking—
If He Too Drinks?

An actress wedded a stock broker, but their marriage soon ran into difficulties. It seems that the actress was fond of liquor, and on several occasions she publicly embarrassed her husband by imbibing too much. He never rebuked her, but inwardly became more and more disgusted. One day, he suddenly announced that he was through. He went to a lawyer and filed suit for separation. However, at the trial the broker admitted that he generally drank right along with his wife—and never tried to discourage her. Under the circumstances, the court refused to grant him a decree. The judge pointed out that the husband had no kick coming, since his own conduct actually encouraged his wife in her bad habits.

Is Eavesdropping a Crime?

A man came home late one night and parked his car in the garage. Returning to his apartment, he happened to walk right under his neighbors' bedroom window. Hearing them quarrelling, he stopped and "got an earful." Unfortunately, a passing policeman noticed what the man was doing and promptly placed him under arrest on a charge of eavesdropping. However, the court ruled that the man was not guilty. The judge said that eavesdropping may indeed be a crime—but only when it is done habitually, and when the eavesdropper repeats what he overhears!

May a Clever Advertisement Be Copyrighted?

A circus owner hired a commercial artist to draw posters advertising some of the acts in his show. He liked the posters so well that he applied for a copyright on the drawings. A few months later, he was dismayed to see the very same pictures displayed by a rival circus! When he sued for infringement, ment, the other company argued that mere poster drawings are "not artistic enough" to be copyrighted. But the court disagreed and ruled that this was indeed an infringement. The judge said that art which appeals to the common people is just as deserving of protection as art of the "highbrow" variety.

A woman rented a tavern, and spent a lot of money redecorating the place. When her lease expired, she determined to take out whatever improvements she had put in. But the landlord put up a fight—especially as to a six-foot mirror which the woman had nailed over the bar. However, when the dispute was taken to court, the judge ruled that the tenant was indeed entitled to take the mirror along with her. The judge said that a mirror, when easily removable, is like an article of furniture.

Old Indian Village
Is to Be Restored

By Wisconsin State

AZTALAN, WIS. — Today about 850 persons live here at Aztalan where five hundred years ago about 1,000 Indians dwelt in a thriving village. The Indian inhabitants vanished about 1500 and now the site of the once busy Indian village is a big, bumpy field knee-deep in weeds; but the state of Wisconsin plans someday to reconstruct the village to look just as it did centuries ago.

The state of Wisconsin has purchased the site for a state park. But no construction of the village can be done until the topsoil is carefully scraped away and the undisturbed ground below the plow zone scrutinized.

Ten brawny, sun tanned archaeologists are spending the summer in the middle of the field, carefully scraping the soil off and cataloging everything they find. The expedition, headed by Chandler Rowe, assistant professor of anthropology at Lawrence college, has uncovered many broken jugs, bird and deer bones, shell hoes and an occasional sharp bone used by the Indians as a shuttle in weaving.

From the materials found, the archaeologists reconstruct the culture of the Indians who lived here. Rowe pointed to a circular blackish area about six inches across, and explained that it was a decayed post. Series of such post holes have indicated the exact location of a stockade that surrounded the village and the size and shape of the houses. When the conservation department restores the village, it will be able to sink posts in the exact places where the Indians did.

Archaeologists have been excavating Aztalan off and on since 1919. Their discoveries show pretty certainly that the Indians were from the middle Mississippi valley.

Chinese Runs Sum of $10
Into Enormous Fortune

SAN FRANCISCO.—A 66-year-old Chinese who came to San Francisco 49 years ago with $10 in his pockets has run his worldly fortune into several millions by building a herbal empire, buying real estate, and selling spicy night-club entertainment.

He is fabulous Fong Wan, known mainly as the "king of the herblists in North America." He acquired his title by treating thousands who claimed to suffer from almost every ailment known to man.

Although his main business has been herbs, Fong is making thousands in real estate and income from two hotels he owns in San Francisco plus restaurants and night clubs.

Do You Want To Cut
Your Federal Taxes?
Overlapping Bureaus

The Executive Department of the Federal Government has grown from small beginnings into a mighty colossus composed of 1,812 separate bureaus and agencies employing 2,090,554 civilian workers with an annual payroll of more than $6,000,000,000.00.

This growth was haphazard. What happened was that when a job needed to be done, an agency was hurriedly set up by executive order, or created by Congress. We are now paying for all these mistakes.

On July 7, 1947, Congress authorized, by unanimous vote, the launching of the greatest effort yet made to plan an efficient, economical government reorganization. With the approval of President Truman, a bi-partisan, twelve-man commission, headed by former President Hoover, was established. This Commission found many discouraging examples of the confusion in our government machinery, and has made concrete suggestions to correct these ills.

As matters stand, when you attempt to deal with your government, you will find 34 agencies engaged in obtaining land, 10 in Federal construction work, 9 in credit and finance and 50 in gathering statistics. A rancher desiring to pasture his livestock on public lands must obtain separate permits, each containing different terms and conditions, from both the Department of Interior and the Department of Agriculture.

The Army Engineers and the Reclamation Bureau cost the taxpayers untold millions of dollars through duplication of effort on water resources development. As an instance of this wasteful duplication, the Hungry Horse Project in Montana was estimated to cost $63,300,000. The actual cost was $93,500,000.

In New Orleans, there are 5 Federal hospitals operated separately by different branches of the government. Their joint capacity is 1,820 beds. When surveyed, they had a total of 913 patients.

If you want this waste and inefficiency stopped, write your Congressman. Write the Citizens Committee for Reorganization of the Executive Branch of the Government, 1421 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia 2, Pennsylvania, for further information. Get your neighbors to work with you in this crusade.

FARM FACTS
from your County
Agricultural Agent

LET'S CLEAN UP:

Poor farm "housekeeping" causes a great share of rural fires and Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent, suggests April is the time to clean up. The Michigan State College Cooperative Extension service is working with the Michigan Rural Safety Council in promoting the April program. A day spent looking after "housekeeping" details may save thousands of dollars and perhaps lives. If it's done before the rush of spring work begins, it will be easier to find things and do a better and more thorough job of farming, he thinks.

The agent outlined this 12-point fire prevention program for local farmers:

1. Remove all rubbish and oily rags which may ignite spontaneously. Burn them or store them in closed metal containers.
2. Examine heating systems for cracks, soot clogging and defects and see that no combustible materials are directly exposed to heat.
3. Examine wood shingle roofs, if old, replace with fire retardant roofing.
4. Keep ashes in metal containers.
5. Replace frayed electric cords and have defective electrical equipment replaced or repaired by a competent electrician.
6. Remove rags, paper, boxes and old furniture from attics, barns and other buildings.
7. Chimneys and flues should be inspected and cleaned once a year.
8. Cut down and burn dead vines brush and weeds along fence rows and near farm buildings.
9. Remove cobwebs and dust from switch boxes and clean lamps.
10. Install lightning rods.
11. Keep furnace clean and keep stoves a safe distance from walls and wooden boxes.
12. Keep in a very handy place a ladder, long enough to reach the roof of the highest farm building. "Remember, if you clean up your farm today, it won't burn up tomorrow. A clean farm seldom burns."

FORESTER DISCUSSES RAISING TREES

Lester Bell, extension forester from Michian State College met with a group of interested folks to discuss the program of raising their own pine trees from seeds. The reason for this was that many people wanted Scotch Pine and Spruce which at the present time are not available from any other source. The directors of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District, the farm planner and the superintendent of the East Jordan school all are interested in this project.

Mr. Bell suggests that the people start slow. Take a bed three foot by four foot that will grow approximately 1000 trees. Sandy loam soil is best and must be well drained and free from weeds. This soil is carefully fitted and leveled like a table top. The seeds are planted on top of the soil and covered with sterile sand. The summer is spent weeding, watering and watching for disease.

There will be some demonstration beds put in this spring. Growers who are interested in this and would like more information may obtain this by writing the county agent.

Ed Rebman,
Co. Agr'l Agent.

Most Room! Best Ride! Safest!

It's here for you now... a delightful, new way of motoring... the direct result of Hudson's exclusive recessed floor ("step-down" design).

Low-built design instantly telegraphs the fact that Hudson has the lowest center of gravity in any American automobile.

You quickly see, too, that Hudson has full road clearance and more seating room and head room than in any other car—thanks to "step-down" design with its recessed floor.

You know instinctively, as you view this low-built beauty, that it hugs the road more tenaciously and is therefore America's best-riding, safest car.

You command your choice of three great Hudson high-compression engines... the economical Pacemaker Six... the Super-Six, America's most powerful Six... or the even more powerful Super-Eight!

There are many other Hudson features that combine to make this car of such outstanding quality that it is a leader in resale value, as shown by Official Used Car Guide Books! Come in, try "The New Step-Down Ride"!

Mower Trouble
By Will Bernard, LL.B.

Is it a Crime to Pester A Woman For a Kiss?

A bachelor got a little drunk one night, and decided to pay a visit to a certain young widow friend. As she opened the door, he asked for a kiss. She refused. He stepped inside and repeated his request. Again she said no. Then he got down on his knees, beside her chair, and begged for a kiss. She said no once more, and moved to the couch. He followed her there, asked again, and was turned down again. Then they returned to the chair—and went through the same routine. In despair at last, the man left. The widow later had him arrested on an assault charge, but the court found him not guilty. Pointing out that the poor fellow hadn't even touched the woman, the judge decided that he had already been punished enough!

Does the Dictionary Have the Final "Say" As to What a Word Means?

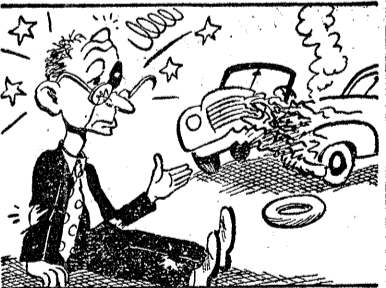

A motorcyclist was killed in a crack-up. His family tried to collect on his accident insurance, but the company flatly refused to pay. It seems that the policy covered accidents in automobiles, but said nothing about motorcycles. The family sued. They argued that the dictionary definition of an automobile was a self-propelled vehicle—and that included motorcycles. But the court denied their claim anyway. The judge said that, while dictionaries are helpful, they don't always have the final "say" in a court of law. The judge pointed out that "automobile" and "motorcycle" mean two very different things—in the everyday language of everyday people.

When Pushing a Lawn Mower Along the Street, Must You Obey Traffic Rules?

A man borrowed a lawn mower and shears from a friend. He tied the shears onto the handle of the machine, wheeled it onto the left side of the street, and headed for home. Soon a youth drew near on a bicycle, coming from the opposite direction. Both parties swerved toward the curb at the same time, and as a result the mower and bicycle collided. The man was cut by the shears, and later sued the cyclist for damages. But the court rejected his claim, saying that he should have been pushing the mower on the right side of the street. The judge said that a lawn mower is enough of a "vehicle" to have to obey the laws of the road.

Does the Law Ever Encourage "Back Seat Driving?"

A man took an out-of-town friend for a ride one Sunday morning to show him the sights of the city. Soon they came to a busy intersection. The motorist, not noticing the red signal on the corner, kept right on driving at full speed. His passenger realized the situation, but didn't say a word. Sure enough, the car crashed into another automobile that was just emerging from the side street. The friend was injured in the collision and later sued his host for damages on grounds of careless driving. However, the court ruled that the friend had been equally at fault—for not speaking up. The judge said that, under the circumstances, a little "back seat driving" was definitely called for!

A man sued his wife for divorce on grounds of adultery. At the trial, a private detective took the witness stand and testified as to the wife's misconduct. But he didn't stop there. He added that he had discovered, in the course of his investigation, that the husband was guilty of the same thing! The court thereupon refused to grant a divorce to either party, saying: "The divorce laws were intended for the relief of injured innocence—not to encourage persons of loose morals to live in scandalous way."

KINDERGARTEN

The boys and girls who stay all day walked down town last Friday afternoon to see the Easter things. We looked at Healey's window. It was so pretty. Mrs. Healey gave us each a chocolate Easter egg. We saw Whiteford's window and walked through the store. There were so many nice things to see.

We are making baskets for Easter and hope to take them home on Thursday.

We have had some nice Easter books. Mary Ellen Malone brought one that we like to hear over and over.

We can write our numbers from 1 to 7 now.

FIRST Grade—Marguerite Stokes

We are making Easter baskets and dyeing eggs to put in them for Easter.

FIRST Grade — Mrs. Brooks

"Oh you pussy willows; Pretty little things!"—How much we enjoy having them in our room.

We are learning spring poems and Easter songs.

The boys are so busy playing in our sand box this spring that we did not plant seeds as we usually do.

SECOND Grade — Agnes Johnston

We had twenty-three entries in the kite contest last Thursday. There were nine children who made their own kites and fourteen who bought kites and assembled them at home. Each child named his kite. We had some very interesting names such as the Flying Saucer, The Soaring Swallow, The Red Sun, Thunderhead and many other very appropriate names. Susan Gibbard won the prize from our room for having her kite go up the highest and stay in the air the longest time. Her prize was the book, "The Peddler of Colored Threads". Each one who entered the contest received a candy bar. We thought it was fun to take part with the other second grades, as well as the third grades.

We are coloring eggs this week for Easter. Each one made an Easter basket. Thursday we are going to have an Easter egg hunt.

Mrs. Johnston read to us an interesting story about "The Sparrow Who Had No Tail". We enjoyed the story because we are studying about the different common birds found around East Jordan, and the sparrow is one of them.

Susan Gibbard had a birthday last Thursday. She was eight years old.

SECOND Grade — Cora Seiler

We took a walk to the library. Mrs. Collins told the children how they could take books from the library. She gave them library cards to take home to be signed. The children are enjoying the books they take from the library.

The kite contest kept us very busy last week. First, we had to make our kites and then learn to fly them. On Thursday afternoon we went out on the school grounds to fly our kites. There were seventeen who entered from our room. George Scott, our new boy from Pontiac, was the winner over all in our room.

We liked the contest so much that we hope there will be one next year.

On Friday we had our spell-down with Mrs. Bowerman's second grade. They won from us. They had seven left standing and we had four who were unbeaten. Next time we hope to win.

SECOND and THIRD Grades — Adeine Bowerman

Approximately ninety children participated in the kite flying contest. The weather man favored us with an ideal day. With many colored kites of various descriptions, our parade was very colorful. Billy Malpass' box kite and his sister, Carolyn's five-foot nylon kite were unusual. Jane Campau, with her "Uncle Sam", won the prize for our room. The contest was run off by rooms then the five winners competed again for the cash prize. Bobby Johnson from Mrs. Hager's room got his up the highest for the first prize and George Scott from Mrs. Seiler's room, who had made his own kite and got it up nearly as high as Bobby's, was awarded the second prize.

On Friday our second grade had a spell-down with Mrs. Seiler's room. Larry Hayden, Christine Thorsen, Bruce Ogden, Roger Sweet, Dickie Clark, Sandra Gibbard and Bobby Sherman stood up for our room and four girls in Mrs. Seiler's room could not be downed.

Donna Neumann will have her birthday on April 6th. Since this is the day for our Easter party, she and Mary Carol Hastie, who will celebrate her birthday the day after Easter, will be honored guests. The country boys and girls will be hosts and hostesses for this party.

THIRD Grade — Jessie Hager

We are glad to have Eleanor Meyers back after a week's absence because of bad roads.

The following people had 100 in spelling last week: Alice Sumner, Paul H., Loren Wykoff, Earl Parks, Jackie Gee, Anita Petrie and Gary Cihak.

These people had 100 in numbers: Dannie Bennett, Gary Cihak, Bobby Johnson, Anita Petrie, Alice Sumner, Earl Parks, James Kenny and Richard Sloop.

We are working hard on our multiplication tables.

FOURTH Grade — Mrs. Galmore

Our grade is studying about the Congo. Little brown men around four feet high live there.

— Stanley Scott.

We are making Easter bunnies and chickens. They look very nice. Mary Detloff brought some pussy willows. They make the room look cheery.—Glendara Cihak.

We saw two movies this week. They were "Scrub Game" and "Fred Meets A Bank". We learned that there are two kinds of bank accounts the checking account and the savings account. In the scrub game we learned that if you don't wash enough you can get awful sores.—Rhea Jean Zitka.

This week we read in our Weekly Readers that the red-winged blackbirds were back three weeks early this year. Friday morning we were going to school and I saw one flying in the sky.—Luella Pinney.

When we were on the bus we saw a red-winged blackbird. He stopped at a swamp and got a drink and then sat down. A robin came and got a drink and went up a tree.—Neil Misner.

Thursday Georgia Derenzy and I found that there were buds on the bushes. I brought some to school.—Mary Ann Martinek.

In our Health lesson Friday, we put down what we ate the day before out of the seven groups of foods. I had one out of each of the seven groups except group I.—Albert Hayes.

There was a kite contest and we all liked it. We were disappointed because we had to go in when the recess bell rang.—Betty Lou McRoberts.

Thursday morning we saw the Trampoline Assembly Program. The men did a lot of tricks and it was fun to watch.—Jean Kaley and Suzann Seaman.
