EAST JORDAN, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, JUNE 30, 1950

NUMBER 26

The Big Rain of 1950

The rain of last Saturday morning may stand as a record for many years. More water came down in an hour than has fallen in any 24-hour period during the 24 years of record by the local weather observer. Saturday's rain totaled 2.48 inches. Once before we had 2.40 inches in one night, which came in two or three storms. The rainfall for June is thus slightly over average, although much of this downpour ran off, due to the dryness of the soil and the rapidity with which it came.

Annual School Meeting

The annual school meeting of the East Jordan Rural Agr'l School District No. 2 will be held at 8:00 p. m., Monday, July 10, 1950, in the auditorium of the high school building for the transaction of such business as may legally come before this meeting, and to vote on the following question:

Shall the Board of Education purchase a parcel of land at a cost not to exceed $1,500 for the purpose of constructing a playground and athletic field for the East Jordan Rural Agricultural School? W. G. BOSWELL, Sec'y of Board of Education, 26-2

Driver Has To See The Need To Stop Before He Can Start Stopping

The faster you drive, the longer it takes—to stop, that is! Good drivers know that the higher the speed the more distance required to stop, according to Chief Harry Simmons. The question, Chief Simmons said today, is: Do you know how much distance is required to recognize the need to stop, apply the brakes, and come to a full stop at any given speed? And, more important, do you always drive with the full realization that you must be able to stop in an emergency? "We'd all be safer drivers," Chief Simmons said, "if we'd remember three things: the driver has to see and recognize the need to stop before he can start stopping. After he does that, there's a half second or more interval called 'reaction time' before he is actually doing the third thing, putting on the brakes. All this time—until the brakes finally stop the car—the car is moving toward the thing the driver doesn't want to hit!"

Here are the figures from the National Safety Council on how long it takes an average driver to see an emergency, react, and stop an average car:

- At 20 miles an hour — 43 feet (including 22 feet of reaction time).
- At 30 miles an hour — 80 feet (33 feet of reaction time).
- At 40 miles an hour — 128 feet (44 feet of reaction time).
- At 50 miles an hour — 186 feet (55 feet reaction time).

"You see," said Chief Harry Simmons, "the faster you go the longer it takes! and that's simply because the car is moving faster while you are seeing and reacting to the need to stop, and the greater the speed the longer it takes for the brakes to counteract the energy of that speed. Safe, experienced drivers know that. All drivers should remember it!"

Safer speeds are the goal of the Michigan State Safety Commission's program this month, a part of East Jordan's continuing traffic safety program.

Wheat Allotments For New Farms

Farms on which no wheat was seeded for harvest in any of the years 1948, 1949 or 1950, may apply for a 1951 wheat acreage allotment, according to LeRoy Hardy, chairman of the Charlevoix County PMA Committee. On the basis of the present supply outlook, it is expected that acreage allotments will again be established for the 1951 wheat crop. To be considered for an allotment on a new farm the farmer must apply in writing to his county PMA Committee by July 10, 1950. The application must contain evidence that the land for which an allotment is requested is suitable for the production of wheat and that the operator will be largely dependent for his livelihood on his farming.

CROP—A FRIEND IN DEED

C. V. Ballard, (right) Director of Extension Services at Michigan State College and State Chairman for the 1950 Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP), is shown pointing to the area in which CROP's wheat campaign will be waged. With him is State Director Russell Hartzler. Ballard and Hartzler are making plans for the canvass collection of Michigan's quota of 85 carloads of wheat, beans and milk to be distributed to the needy overseas. Millions of people in Europe, Asia, and Africa are in dire need of food and must depend upon the generous hearts of the Americans for sustenance. CROP distributes donated commodities to the orphans, homeless, sick, and aged regardless of race, creed, or nationality. CROP's sponsoring agencies, the Catholic Rural Life, Church World Service and Lutheran World Relief request the aid of all Michigan farmers in their drive to help feed the "have nots" in other lands.

Methodist Church

Church 10:00 a. m. Sunday School 11:15.

Our new minister, Rev. Robert Moore, will be in the pulpit next Sunday. He is a native of the east but now resides in Traverse City. The family will move into the parsonage in about a month. There are two children, a boy and a girl.

There will be a special meeting of the MYF at the church school hour. Curious? A new project! The WSCS Evening Circle met at the country home of Mrs. Mary Lord Tuesday evening.

Rev. Scott Bartholomew preached last Sunday morning. Rev. Bartholomew is retired but is always ready and willing to fill in when needed. We appreciated his sermon very much.

Mrs. Mattie Palmiter was assisted by Martha Lord in the Nursery Church last Sunday morning.

Your Charlevoix Soil Conservation District

What is a conservation farm plan and what is its value? No two acres of land are identical as to slope, kind of soil and degree of erosion, that's why you cannot order a conservation farm plan from a catalog. It must be designed to fit your farm, acre by acre, whether it's in crops, woodland, range or wildlife area.

A conservation farm plan has an aerial photograph or map of your farm showing the soil, slope, degree of erosion and classes of land. It also shows the different fields, field acreage, and use, whether it be cropland, woodland, pasture, etc.

This land use is decided upon by you, with the help of the farm planner, after studying the soil, slope and erosion. In the plan is also a plan of conservation operations. This is a write up of the whole program. It shows the fields in equal units. (One unit may be one or more fields). The purpose of this is to balance the acreage so that each year you will have the same acreage of each crop. The number of livestock kept can be determined from the amount of feed raised. This also appears in the plan of operations, as does the fertilizer recommendations, conservation practices, orchard management, woodland management, and wildlife management. A cropping sheet shows what crop is in each field each year, and the crop rotation to be followed.

Your conservation farm plan should serve as a blueprint for your farming operations for many years. Since it is written, you do not have to trust to your memory. If changes in markets, prices, or other conditions make it desirable to change the plan, this is quite easily done. Any aid you need in establishment or changing your plan, you can get through your Soil Conservation District.

More than a half million farmers in the United States now have conservation farm plans, assisted by one of over 2,000 Soil Conservation Districts in the nation. On these conservation farms, erosion it held at a minimum, yields have increased, and income has increased as much as five dollars per acre. Remember, soil conservation doesn't cost, it pays.

CHILDREN'S SUMMER COLDS NEED CARE

End of wintertime and beginning of summer does not necessarily mean that your worries about children's colds are over. Summer means runny noses for many children.

Elizabeth Page, director of the Spartan Nursery School at Michigan State College, says that physicians report that over 50 percent of illnesses in children are due to the common cold. They advise that children who have a nasal discharge should be kept from other children until it has cleared up.

Parents should expect to spend a great deal of time with a sick child to see that he gets rest. He should be kept interested in something that will keep him quiet. Greater activities increase cold symptoms.

Be careful not to blow a child's nose too hard. Openings to the ear lead to the nose. You may blow infection into an ear.

Allergies in which the nose drains are determined only by observations over a period of time. The average person has three colds a year of one to two weeks' duration. Try to keep your child's resistance high with adequate rest, food and happy activity. Multi-vitamin preparations and cod liver oil will assure you the needed vitamins A, C and D for children.

Remember that if your child's temperature is above and beyond the temperature of an ordinary cold it is time to think of something else. If the temperature doesn't come down look for bacterial infection and call your physician.

The right to reject any or all proposals, is reserved. Thelma Hegerberg, City Clerk. adv. 25-2

Wife: "Don't you think, dear, that a man has more sense after he's married?" Husband: "Yes, but it's too late then."

"My wife talks to herself." "So does mine, but she doesn't know it—she thinks I'm listening."

May a Father Mix into the Affairs Of His Married Daughter?

Despite parental objections, a co-ed ran off with a garage mechanic and got married. She soon found out that married life wasn't as pleasant as she had expected, and in three weeks she had moved back home. Her husband thereupon sued her father for alienation of affections.

... claiming that he had talked the girl into believing she had made a mistake. But the court refused to hold the father liable. The judge said that parents have a right to "butt into" their daughter's marriage, if they do so sincerely—out of love for their child, not hate for her husband. "From whom should a girl seek advice," exclaimed His Honor, "if not from her own parents?"

Does It Help to Say You're Sorry—After Shooting Somebody?

A man and his wife began arguing about household expenses one evening, and the fight waxed hotter and hotter. Finally the wife seized a gun and fired. The bullet missed her husband, flew out the window, and felled the man next door, injuring him fatally. The woman was arrested and brought to trial on a homicide charge. In an effort to minimize her guilt, the woman told the court that she had apologized to the neighbor's widow—and even offered to pay the funeral expenses. But the court ruled out this "irrelevant" evidence and found the woman guilty as charged. The judge said that repentant words don't help at all—after the criminal deed is done.

Lodge and P. N. G. Club Doings

On June 21st Jassamine Lodge entertained Idea Lodge No. 180. We had 25 here from Mancelona, 2 from Ellsworth and 58 from our local lodge. We initiated three candidates at the meeting. We had visitors also from Berkley and Onaway.

We voted to send two boys to Camp and four girls. Six girls are going but two are paying their own way.

Next meeting each member is to bring a tin can of vegetables to send to the Home. On Thursday, June 22, a Tri-County P. N. G. Club Association was formed. The local club was host to Antrim, Charlevoix, and Kalkaska counties. All were well represented. The luncheon was at 1:30. All sat down to beautifully decorated tables. Pink and green lighted candles, and at each place was a basket favor tied with pink and green ribbon. The officers elected were: President, Emma Nestle of Mancelona; Secretary-Treas., Dorothy Sommerville.

The Club will meet every other month. Next meeting will be at Boyne City on August 17th, at 1:00 o'clock. Pot luck lunch. By-laws will be decided on at next meeting, also a better name. A lady from Mancelona won the handkie raffled. At this meeting the Club card table was raffled and won by Leo Sommerville.

June 26th the P. N. G. Club elected officers for the coming year:

President — Irene Kiser.
Vice-Pres. — Mary Hitchcock.
Secretary — Irene Wright.
Treas. — Helen Bartholomew.
Chaplain — Anna Keats.
Ass't Sec'y — Alma Bowerman.

At this time the club was presented with a nice brown leather zipper ring note book by Eleanor Scott.

Broilers Grow Big in Michigan

TODAY'S CHICKEN-OF-TOMORROW looks as large as yesterday's old hen. William Aho, Michigan State College extension poultryman, holds three of the White Rock broilers which won the 1950 Michigan Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest for Lial Gifford, St. Johns hatcheryman. The contest program, sponsored in Michigan for the past five years by A&P Food Stores and Michigan Allied Poultry Industries, encourages production of superior meat-type chickens which gain weight rapidly on a minimum of feed. Gifford's 12-bird entry, averaging 4.8 pounds alive at 12 weeks of age, and two others will participate in regional contest at Chicago June 28-29 for awards of $600 and possible nomination for the national competition next year in which the first prize will be $5,000.

May a School Superintendent Be Fired If Involved in a Scandal?

A school superintendent in a certain town was indicted on a charge of immorality. Without waiting to see if he would be found guilty, the school board removed the man from his position. He promptly challenged the validity of this move, on the ground that a person should be considered innocent until found guilty. However, the court upheld the board's action. The judge said that the scandal alone, whether justified or not, was enough to impair the superintendent's usefulness to the community. "Not only a good character," said the judge, "but also a good reputation is essential in such a position."

May You Denounce An Auto Dealer For "Selling Lemons"?

A woman bought a car from a dealer. Although the car worked all right, she soon decided that she didn't like it. One morning, the woman hung several lemons on the sides of the vehicle, along with signs warning the public against buying other "lemons" from this particular dealer. Soon the man filed suit for a stop-order. At the hearing the woman insisted that she couldn't be prevented from speaking her mind, but the court ordered her to cease her campaign. While admitting some judicial disagreement on the point, His Honor decided that he should stop the woman's deliberate attack on the dealer's business.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

J. Edgar Hoover Says Potential Fifth Column of 540,000 in U.S.; Wheat Crop to Miss Billion Mark

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

FIFTH COLUMN: 540,000 in U.S.

Of all the men in high government security posts, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the F.B.I., possibly commands more respect than any other. For that reason, his statement that the Communists have a potential fifth column of 540,000 people in the United States, made public some four months after he testified before a senate committee, gave Red conscious Americans a shock.

He was explicit on two points: (1) Communists are seeking American atomic, military and industrial secrets with every trick and means at their disposal; (2) Subversive Communists are more active now than the Nazis and Fascists ever were during World War II.

The "orbit of Communist control," he said, has increased from one seventh of the world's population in 1917 to one third of the world's population today.

"The intensification of communism and underground activity in the United States has increased proportionately. If we are to preserve our internal security in times of emergency, it is incumbent that the identities of those who work against the peace and security of America be established."

The F.B.I. chief revealed that native-born Communists and sympathizers are after information on atomic research, radar, jet propulsion, coastal maps, military airports, biological warfare, and industrial resources.

His agency is handicapped in dealing with them because present espionage laws are intended mainly for aliens.

Hoover also reported, "To counteract the F.B.I.'s penetration of the Communist party, its leaders have established a far-reaching and vigorous loyalty program of its own, calling for establishment of investigating committees in each state and a thorough investigation of each member of the party as to personal history, activities, associations, contacts, and length of membership."

SENATOR TAFT:

War if Necessary

Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, the Republican policy chieftain who has as good a chance as any for the GOP presidential nomination in 1952, has issued a frank and complete, if somewhat startling, one-package statement on U.S. foreign policy.

The main points: (1) The United States should go to war if Russia moves into western Europe; (2) He doubts there ever can be a complete bipartisan foreign policy to cover all areas of the world.

The senator, however, did not entirely abandon the music of isolationism with which he has often been associated. He added that he believed the U.S. can contribute most to meeting the challenge (of Russia) if it maintains "a free hand" and avoids any commitments, such as arms aid, now or "land-mass fighting in Europe" if fighting breaks out.

On the bipartisan foreign policy problem, Taft was not jumping completely to either side of the fence. He wanted it understood he believed a bipartisan policy could be achieved on "specific projects" when there is advance consultation with "elected Republicans in congress."

He was critical of two recent developments, particularly the "balanced collective forces" concept agreed upon by the Atlantic pact foreign minister in London, and the $1,222,500,000 second-installment arms-aid program. He said the building up of European forces might incite Russia to attack on grounds that it constituted "aggressive action."

NEW CAMERA:

26 Miles in Picture

The Air Force has announced the development of a camera that will take 26 miles of picture from 10,000 feet. The picture can be taken in two seconds.

The air force said the camera tests to determine its value in reconnaissance. Whether it will be installed in new aircraft was not disclosed.

The distance can be increased by a corresponding elevation of the plane, the air force reported.

INVASION:

Red Youths Threaten

Ever since the gigantic Red youth rally in Soviet Germany it has been apparent to observers that the Communists were not satisfied at all with the results of that rally.

Now East Germany threatened to send its blueshirted Communist youths marching into West Germany. And western leaders warned they would "shoot if necessary" to keep them out.

Jailed

John Howard Lawson (left) and Dalton Trumbo (right) are shown on the way to jail to start a year's imprisonment for contempt of congress. Hollywood writers, they refused to tell the house committee on un-American activities whether they were Communists.

WHEAT CROP:

Miss Billion Mark

For the first time in seven years, the nation's farmers will fail to harvest a billion-bushel wheat crop this year, the agriculture department has predicted.

This means, the government forecasters said, the income of wheat farmers will be down some $400,000,000.

The government predicts a harvest of 944,514,000 bushels as the result of voluntary reductions in plantings under the government's acreage allotment program, and from bad weather and insects.

The record crop was harvested in 1947 and amounted to 1,367,186,000 bushels. Last year 1,146,000,000 bushels were harvested. The forecast, incidentally, is well under the 10 year average of 1,032,000,000 bushels.

Observers pointed out it means the government may have to dip into its big price support wheat surplus to meet the combined domestic and export needs in the year ahead. The government now has approximately $4,000,000,000 invested in farm surpluses.

The agriculture department said prospects for the corn crop now generally are favorable. Plantings are expected to be smaller than a year ago because of the acreage allotment program.

The report forecast an oat crop of 1,380,000,000 bushels, four percent more than last year. Rye production, forecast at 22,400,000 bushels, would be 20 percent larger than last year but still smaller than average.

DISARMAMENT:

U.S. Just Talking

Sixteen outstanding scientists, educators, and clergymen have issued a five-point program calling for total disarmament and accusing the United States of just paying lip service to disarmament while actually discouraging such a step.

The five points: 1. An immediate halt to atomic bomb production, with stockpiles to be taken over by the U. N. pending further negotiations. 2. Acceptance of the Soviet proposal for national—rather than international—atomic ownership, under an agreement blocking large-scale production.

3. Acceptance of the American proposal for international inspection of atomic resources and production. 4. A compromise in the U.S.-Soviet disagreement over whether atomic stockpiles should be destroyed before or after international controls go into effect.

5. Abolition of all armies and conventional armaments at the same time atomic weapons are destroyed.

The report was signed by Albert Einstein and novelist Louis Bromfield, among others, and said in part: "Officially appointed representatives to the UN tell the world that the U.S. wants disarmament and only Russia stands in the way. Yet other American officials do what they can to discourage disarmament."

Most observers agreed the program proposed was idealistic, but hardly practical in the light of world events.

10 Million to 1

While much of the nation was reading about methods to curb gambling, a story from Las Vegas, Nev., reported a gambler made 28 passes at the dice table, something that happens once in 10,000,000 times.

The gambling casino said it lost $150,000 and the gambler, who won only $750, could have taken $268,435,436 had he let his bets accumulate.

CONSUMERS:

Buy More Heavily

The commerce department has announced consumer incomes, the main spring of retail buying, rolled up to $212,800 million a year rate during April.

The April showing constituted a $600 million annual-rate gain over March and was the second consecutive monthly increase.

The gain "reflected an expansion in payrolls that was largely offset by declines in proprietors' income and transfer payments", the department said.

The decline in proprietor's income occurred chiefly in farm income as livestock marketing receipts declined in a season when they normally rise.

"The net income of farm operations for the first four months of 1950 was about one-fifth less than in the same period last year," the department said.

"The rise stemmed primarily from increased activity in the durable goods and manufacturing industries."

Higher employment and a longer work week in factories producing transportation equipment, machinery, and other fabricated metal products were mainly responsible for the advance of total wages in durable-goods manufacturing."

POTATOES:

Shootin' Bug Dust

Now it can be told. A hundred million pounds of surplus American potatoes have been sent into Soviet Germany to feed victims of the potato bug fantasy.

Recently the Soviet controlled radio and press went into a song and dance about American planes dropping potato bugs in the Soviet zone. The Communist propaganda said the United States sewed insects to blight the east German crop, to test out germ warfare, and sell capitalistic bug poison.

American officials called the charges ridiculous and said the Communists apparently were trying to condition the people for crop failure.

The continued broadcast by the Communists on the potato bug theme and the silence maintained over the shipment of unbranded American potatoes were looked on as evidence of a campaign to cover up production failures.

The potatoes were shipped by a New York broker to a Swiss firm in Hamburg. Another deal was reported underway to ship 18,000 tons to Frankfurt in Western Germany. In both cases, state department officials suspected that the potatoes were going to the Communists.

RENT CONTROL:

Senate Extends

With what observers called an eye for the November elections, the senate passed, 36 to 28, a 6-month extension of rent control. The law is due to expire June 30.

Many of the Democrats who voted for extension did so frankly in response to an appeal made in party caucus by majority leader Scott Lucas. He told his colleagues his chances to defeat his Republican opponent in Illinois, Everett Dirksen, hung on Democratic support for rent control.

The following day the house voted 202 to 163 to extend the rent control measure. The house measure, however, would extend rent control seven months.

Now the two chambers must appoint a committee to iron out the length of extension before the bill can be sent to President Truman.

Like the senate bill, the house measure provides that when extended federal law again runs out—on December 31, 1950, or January 31, 1951, depending on which version is adopted—the governing bodies of municipalities can vote an additional extension until June 30, 1951.

Primary Winner

James Roosevelt gives out with the famed Roosevelt smile after winning the Democratic nomination for governor of California. He will meet Governor Earl Warren, Republican nominee, in November.

REMINGTON:

Resigns Post

William W. Remington, commerce department employee, who with Michael Lee, another $10,000 a year man in the department, were handed a "quit or be fired" order last May, has resigned his post.

Remington is under indictment for perjury. He is accused of lying when he denied ever being a Communist. Lee has refused to resign until the loyalty board has ruled on his patriotism.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Maybe This'll Wake Us Up!

Drivers a couple of thoughtless drivers threw a newspaper out of their car yesterday, Miss Gilbert, our school principal, nearly had a bad accident.

She was following them on the highway and the paper flattened over her windshield, so she couldn't see. In a minute her little coupe was across the line—right in the path of an oncoming trailer-truck. It missed... but only just!

The parties were recognized and soon as I heard about it I ran over to Sheriff Harper—demanded they be brought up on charges. But

Harper says: "Hold on, Joe, Let's talk this out, over supper and a glass of beer at Andy's."

He pointed out that those men aren't criminals. Just careless, like a lot of us seem to be getting these days, judging from the trash you see along roadides. From where I sit, this near accident may be the lesson we need to make us stop littering our roads—and start showing a little tolerant consideration for our neighbors!

Black and White

Lesson for July 2, 1950

A GROCER in Minneapolis received a letter from a former customer who had left the city owing a large grocery bill. "I have been converted in a revival here," the letter said, "and I want to make everything right in my life that has been wrong." Enclosed there was a certified check for the old bill. The grocer wired back: "Who was the evangelist who converted you? We need him in Minneapolis."

Dr. Foreman

Conversion is God's operation on the heart. No one can actually see the heart, but if the operation is successful, the symptoms of disease will disappear and the symptoms of health can be seen by any one. The patient is a new man.

Jacob Black

PERHAPS the most notable case of conversion in the Bible, aside from the Apostle Paul, is the man named Jacob. His life is a study in black and white; up to a certain point hardly anything good could be said of him, but after that point he can hardly be accused of anything bad.

All his younger days he was principally noted for giving trouble to other people and "doing them out of" something he wanted for himself. First he tricked his older brother into selling him the family birthright, for the ridiculous price of a bowl of soup (pottage).

You would not think any one would sell his birthright; but Jacob caught Esau when he was dog-hungry. Then we see him outsmarting his brother again by birthright; Jacob was by that time a shameless liar and thief. It became so hot for him at home that he had to leave town.

We have a glimpse of him on his journey, dreaming about a ladder to heaven. Evidently his conscience did not trouble him. Indeed, he proceeds to bargain even with God; if God will prosper him, he says, he will see that God gets ten per cent. God did indeed prosper him; but he grew no better for it.

The rest of his life, for the next twenty years, is one piece of trickery after another, he and his uncle Laban taking turns trying to outsmart each other, with Jacob usually coming out ahead.

Jacob White

THINGS came to a climax on the night when Jacob, fearing death at Esau's hands, arranged his family to go ahead of him, keeping himself in the safest place in the rear . . . and there at last he came face to face with God.

The story of his all-night struggle at the brook Jabbok is a strange one; but one thing is certain. After that night even his name was changed, for the man himself was a new man.

He is patient in trouble, no longer resentful. He is not only a good man himself, he does his best to help others. He conducts what can only be called a family revival; he persuades one and all to give up the idols they had been worshipping and turn to the one true God. He offers sacrifices, like his fathers before him.

He goes down into Egypt at last, a humble man, no longer the conceited young crook he had been when he went to Padan-Aram. He depends now on God and not on himself.

The God of Jacob

A FAMILIAR Psalm carries this refrain: "The God of Jacob is our refuge." Why the God of Jacob, not Abraham nor Isaac? Well, if it were only the God of Abraham, most of us might as well give up. For Abraham was a great genius, a man such as appears scarcely once in a century. Or if he were the God of Isaac only, we would be led to think of him as caring especially for the weak-minded, the lame and the lazy. But Jacob—just a plain man full of meanness? Yes; the same God who changed him can change the meanest of us. The real test of religion is not what support it can give to noble souls, or what comfort it gives to the weak. The real test of religion is: Can God turn black into white? Can God take an ordinary, conceited, slippery customer and make a good man of him? The God of Jacob can do this; and he is the God most of us need.

Handwriting On The Wall—1950!

To Belshazzar, king of ancient Babylon, the fearful warning on the wall of his banquet hall came too late. That very night he and his kingdom were destroyed.

Here in America there's handwriting on our own walls today: "EXCESSIVE DEBT LEADS TO DISASTER!"

Our public debt . . . national, state and local . . . staggers the imagination. Worse yet, through the so-called policy of "Deficit Spending," we are plunging deeper and deeper into the red. We are spending money we don't have.

These spending policies now endanger the security and prosperity of all American business and industry, both large and small, and of their employes, stockholders and customers. That means, of course, that the security and prosperity of you and you . . . and everyone else . . . is at stake, too!

Take a look at the record. During America's first 152 years (1789 to 1941), the federal government spent a total of 180 billion dollars. Now, in the five years ending June, 1950, it will have spent 217 billion dollars. That is 37 billion dollars more, spent in the last five years alone, than was spent during the first century and a half of our nation's existence.

Any man can create a false and temporary prosperity for himself by living beyond his income and by borrowing money to make up the difference. Would you handle your own family finances that way? Of course not. Nor would any sensible man handle his company's affairs in a such a manner. A day of reckoning always comes. Debts must be paid.

The policy of "Deficit Spending" has now increased the federal debt to 256 billion dollars. Your share of this debt burden is $1700. Your wife and each member of your family owes that much, too. So does every person in America. Each of your children must face the future, carrying a $1700 mortgage, as of today. It may be more next year.

There is one answer to this frightening problem . . . SIMPLE, SENSIBLE, DAY-BY-DAY ECONOMY. Most of us practice that kind of economy in our private lives. Isn't it time we started to practice that kind of economy in our national, state and local governments, too?

May a Stage Star Demand A Raise—Just Before The Show Goes On?

A theater owner hired a well-known actress to play the lead in a new production, and spent a lot of money advertising the show. A few hours before curtain time, the actress decided she wasn't getting a big enough "cut." She went to the owner and told him to raise her salary "or else get along without me!" In a panic, the man agreed—and the show went on. After the play finished its run, the question arose as to whether the actress was entitled to the extra salary. The court decided she was not, ruling that she should get only the amount originally agreed upon. The judge said that the actress' ultimatum, coming when it did, was illegal coercion.

Do You Assume Any Obligation To Give Your Car a Push?

A woman driver skidded into a shallow ditch. A farmer noticed her predicament and hurried over to help her. The woman asked him to get behind the car and push, while she sat inside and spun the wheels. Soon he had the car almost out. But just then the woman decided to shift from first to second gear. In her haste, she went into reverse instead! The car backed up abruptly, and the farmer was lucky to escape with just a broken wrist. Understandably angry, he later sued for damages. The woman protested that he had helped her of his own free will, but the court held her liable anyhow. The judge said that having invited the man to assist her, she should have been more careful of his safety.

Is a Doctor Liable For Using A Hypodermic Needle On the Wrong Patient?

A man had a medical examination, and was told to come to the doctor's office the next week for a report. When he arrived, the nurse mistook him for another patient who was supposed to get a spinal puncture test. She beckoned him into a small room, and prepared him for the doctor. Soon the doctor came in, hypodermic in hand, and performed the test. Later the man sued for damages. The doctor tried to put the blame on the patient for not speaking up in protest. But the court held the doctor liable for the mistake. The judge said: "Most patients place implicit trust in their physicians. They do what they are told to do. Questions by the patient are usually not in order!"

May Your Car Isn't Working Right, Must You Warn Your Passengers?

A college student took his car to a garage for a checkup, and was told his steering wheel was dangerously defective. "I'll be back in a few days," said the young man. The next morning he took a fraternity brother for a ride—without mentioning the trouble in the wheel. Sure enough, the car veered out of control and crashed into a billboard. The friend was injured, and later filed a suit for damages. The driver argued that a passenger accepts a ride at his own risk, but the court nevertheless granted the victim's claim. The judge said that a driver, in a situation like this, has the duty to forewarn his passengers—because they can't possibly see the danger themselves.

One Sunday morning, a minister delivered a spirited attack in his sermon, he used profane expressions that shocked some members of the congregation. Outraged, they had him arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace. At the trial the minister explained that, in order to attack sin properly, he first had to describe it! But the court found him guilty nevertheless. One will not be permitted to commit a breach of the peace, under the guise of preaching the gospel.

Are You Bound by a Promise Made Under Great Emotional Stress?

A sudden fire trapped a woman in the attic of her home, and firemen were unable to reach her. In the midst of the blaze, the woman's husband returned from his office. Frantically, he cried: "I'll pay $5,000 to anybody who brings out my wife—dead or alive!" A bystander rushed into the flaming house, fought his way upstairs, and carried the woman out. Unfortunately, she had already died from suffocation. Later the rescuer demanded the $5000 he had been promised. The husband pleaded that he should not be bound by a promise under such circumstances, but the court ruled that he must indeed pay the full amount. The judge pointed out that the bystander had risked his own life to fulfill the husband's plea—and therefore was entitled to his reward.

Could You Prevent The City From Changing The Name Of Your Street?

For many years, a wealthy dowager lived in a large house on an exclusive residential street. One day the city notified her that, because of a rearrangement of traffic routes, the name and house numbers of that particular block would have to be changed. The dowager was outraged, and decided to fight the change. She battled all the way to the state supreme court, insisting that the city had no right to change her address without her permission. However, the court didn't see it that way and upheld the city's action. The judge said that, no matter how long a person has an address, it still never becomes his "private property."

May an Automobile Be Classed As a "Deadly Weapon?"

A young woman was driving along the highway one day when a sedan passed her. Annoyed at this impertinence, she immediately speeded up, determined to regain the lead. As she was passing the sedan, she cut in sharply—side-swiping it neatly into a ditch! The other driver was injured, and the girl was arrested on a charge of "assault with a deadly weapon." At the trial, she protested that she may have been guilty of negligence—but nothing worse. However, the court found her guilty as charged. The judge said that handling a car in such a reckless manner is indeed an "assault with a deadly weapon."

May You Stop The Neighbor's Dog From Howling?

A doctor fitted up a room at the back of his home, and began using it as an office. All went well until a new family moved in next door—with a dog. Every morning the neighbors would go out for about two hours, leaving the dog locked in a bedroom. During that time, the animal would give vent to such a howling and yelping that the doctor could hardly examine his patients. At last he went to court for an injunction. The neighbors argued that there is nothing unlawful about the barking of a dog, but the court granted the doctor's request. The judge said a dog's noisemaking is ordinarily permissible, but at least must be kept within reasonable bounds!

A woman wrote a magazine article maliciously—and inaccurately—attacking the character of George Washington. Acting on the protests of outraged citizens, the police arrested the writer on charges of defamation. At the trial, she argued that her attack couldn't do any harm—because Washington and his family were all dead anyhow! But the court found the woman guilty as charged. The judge said that it was wrong to maliciously blacken the name of a person who still lived in the memories of his countrymen.

The court said that drunkenness is a habit when it happens this often—even though there may be intervals of sobriety!

From now until November election day, Michigan bi-partisan government will be somewhat of a farce. The governor's efficient press secretary, Paul Weber, is preparing a constant line of attack to run down Republicans claims and to promote the Williams campaign for re-election. You may safely expect plenty of righteous and angry statements from both sides. Remember, 1950 is an election year.

After vetoing the $10,380 Louis A. Kunzig salary from the civil service budget, Governor G. Mennen Williams staged a friendly rescue act for the civil service commission's full constitutional allowance. He vetoed a legislative cut of $40,500, explaining that the state constitution required one percent of the state salary total for maintenance of the civil service department. The $40,500 reduction would have been unconstitutional, said Williams. The commission had previously agreed to the cut.

The governor signed the legislature's $271,000,000 omnibus appropriation bill quite reluctantly. He said he was forced to sign it to prevent "financial chaos" although the amount was $70,000,000 less than he asked for and $14,000,000 less than the current year's total. Operations and payrolls of Michigan's metal hospitals will have to be trimmed after July 1, according to Charles F. Wagg, state mental health director. New vacancies will remain unfilled to the extent of 200 to 250 jobs. While cutting $1,376,000 from the hospital budget, the legislature added $100,000 to hire additional psychiatrists and adjust pay of those already in service.

Legislative bills to remedy so-called waste of public funds in welfare administration were permitted by Governor Williams to become law without his signature. The senate committee on social welfare, headed by Colen Smith, reported Jan. 12 that "millions of dollars have been wasted" due to lax administration, especially in Detroit. The state puts up 50 cents of each relief dollar expended. The legislative bills were aimed at a tightening of practices which have contributed to higher welfare expenditures.

Stewart-Woodfill, president of Mackinaw Island's Grand Hotel, offers this bit of convincing logic why a bridge should be built at the Straits: Assuming that no federal aid should be used, the bridge would pay for itself on the $1,000,000 annual loss to the state due to ferry operation deficit, depreciation of ferry and dock equipment, and interest on invested funds lost to the state. In 1949 the ferry fleet lost $613,500. This amount, if used to finance the bridge, would retire the bridge bond issue and leave the crossing then toll-free. The legislature authorized a study commission.

Add to the list of total losses from the University of Michigan fire that destroyed Haven Hall, the results of months of research for the state reorganization study.

One of the 27 state government functions now being studied by experts are state agencies dealing with labor, workmen's compensation and unemployment compensation.

Assistant Provost John A. Perkins, former state controller who is director of the project, Robert S. Ford, who is head of the university's Bureau of Government and Gordon Gary of the Bureau of Government had just about completed their report when poof!—it all went up in smoke.

Perkins, Ford and Gary are now trying to put down on paper as much as they can remember.

Michigan 45,000 dairymen are observing June Dairy Month by pointing to these facts. Cash receipts of milk products were near $200 millions in 1949 for 30 percent of Michigan's total farm income. The investment in production, processing and delivery exceeds a billion dollars. Agricultural economists of Michigan State College forecast "slightly lower" farm produce prices in the second half of 1950, as compared with 1949. Farm income nationally is down 20 percent from the 1948 peak. Michigan automobile industry, and GM's five-year peace pact with CIO, is leading the nation's prosperity parade at present. Car output is forecast at seven million (including trucks). Retail trade is due to be better than 1949. However, consumers are still calling for reduction in prices, and the dependency of the 1950 boom on automobiles and housing has prompted several economists to recommend caution.

New telephone rates for Michigan Bell customers

THE Michigan Public Service Commission has authorized increased local rates for Michigan Bell telephone service, beginning June 20, 1950. The increase was granted after a thorough 18 months' study of Michigan Bell's application, which was filed in December, 1948. It does not change the long distance rates now being charged.

The revised rates represent increases of from 25c to 75c a month for residence service. Increases for business customers range from 50c per month upward.

Each Michigan Bell subscriber will receive specific information about the new rates with the first telephone bill dated on or after June 20.

The reason for the new rates is a very simple one. The costs of providing telephone service have climbed much faster than revenues. And the rate increases granted have lagged far behind the increases in costs.

In the last ten years, for example, general increases in basic wage levels alone have added $35,000,000 a year to operating costs. But during the same period, telephone rate increases, including the present one, will have added only $21,000,000 a year to revenues. Only recently we received demands from the telephone union for changes in its contracts which, if granted, will add still more to our expense. This, of course, is not provided for in the rate increase just granted.

Even with the present increase, the average telephone bill has risen less than half as much as the prices of things that make up the cost of living. In terms of value—in terms of the working hours needed to pay for it—telephone service is cheaper now than before the war. A telephone in the average home costs less per day than a package of cigarettes, a quart of milk or a gallon of gasoline.

Michigan Bell must keep on adding to its telephone plant in order to expand and improve its service to meet the needs of Michigan people. That requires that more money be invested. And to attract that money from investors, your telephone company must have adequate earnings.

This rate increase, although much less than the amount needed, will help to strengthen Michigan Bell's financial condition—and thus help us to provide you with the kind of telephone service you want, when and where you want it.

A financially healthy telephone company is good for everybody
